COTTON EXPORTS -- The cotton export corporation has so far exported to its customers 1.35 million bales of cotton worth $270 million out of its total negotiated deal for export of 1.62 million bales of cotton. This was stated by the cotton export corporation chairman on 2 August in Multan. [Text] [Karachi Domestic Service in Urdu 0200 GMT 3 Aug 82 BK]

MUSAVI SPEAKS ON STABILIZATION IN FOREIGN AFFAIRS

LD051416 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 5 Aug 82

[Excerpts] The Central News Unit reports that Prime Minister Mir-Hoseyn Musavi took part this morning in the joint seminar of the country's ministers and governors general, which started its work in Mashhad 2 days ago, and made an important speech about the country's present situation, war problems and the mediation issue. Our reporter has sent us a report from Mashhad to which we draw your attention. In his speech, Prime Minister Mir-Hoseyn Musavi said:

[Begin Musavi recording] It seems that the superpowers have despaired that the plots they were hatching will produce any results. As I said yesterday, our relations with foreign governments have been made abundantly (?clear).

Confidence about the stability of the country's internal situation has been increased and has an effect on the stabilization of our relations with foreign countries. This stabilization of relations concerns not only political issues, but also economic and cultural issues.

In the field of foreign relations at the moment we are experiencing (?the ever-increasing expansion) of relations. Throughout the world Iran has been recognized as a distinct and exceptional voice, as a voice leaning neither toward the East nor the West, as a new and fresh call and as a new cry.

At the same time we are beginning to gain a stronger hold over the Islamic Republic's levers abroad, the most important of which is none other than the interest of the world's oppressed in and enthusiasm for our revolution. In fact we are beginning to learn how to make use of this lever in the region in order to organize our foreign relations.

After the recent victories, the harsh situation we were facing in the Persian Gulf changed a great deal; our country has revealed itself in the form of a great and powerful force in the region. Naturally those countries which due to intimidation and fear were confronting our country, which were threatening us along with other countries and had adopted a harsh and hostile attitude toward our revolution, we now feel that every day they feel they are next to a powerful and [word indistinct] neighbor and should count on this force. We are aware of the ever-increasing expansion of this attitude in the Persian Gulf. This is both in the interest of our domestic stability and in the interest of the expansion of our relations with Islamic countries throughout the world.

At the beginning of the revolution and even until a year ago we were faced with isolation among the governments of the world due to conspiracies hatched against us, although we were not isolated among the nations. This isolation is being terminated.

At present any plot hatched in the region and any happening which takes place is in some way connected with the issues of our country. We cannot regard the Israeli attack against Lebanon as unconnected with a plot against our own order and against the Islamic revolution.

It is natural that now more than ever Iran has involved itself with the issues of the region, so much so that it is present in a tangible and powerful way in Syria, on the Israeli borders and in Lebanon. This presence is not confined only to a physical presence, it is not confined to the fact that we have sent a military force there; rather, the events taking place inside Lebanon are in a profound way influenced by the political methods we are using here and the values we announce here. We confront these issues in an active way. The same is true about all other issues. [end recording]

MUSAVI COMMENTS ON BAGHDAD NONALIGNED CONFERENCE

[Excerpts] According to a Central News Unit dispatch, Prime Minister Mir-Hoseyn Musavi, who is in Mashhad to participate in the joint session of ministers and governors general from all parts of the country, held a press conference with domestic correspondents and answered their questions on various issues.

About the nonaligned conference in Baghdad, the prime minister said: We have already declared our position. When the aggressive Iraqi regime seemed to be victorious in our country, and we knew it had been defeated, we announced that holding this conference in Iraq would be a kind of treachery against the aspirations of the Nonaligned Movement. We said holding the conference in Baghdad would be contrary to the primary principles of the Nonaligned Movement. We declared our opposition right from the start and we said this conference should not be held in Baghdad. Otherwise, it would be a great defeat for the movement and would culminate in its destruction.

The prime minister added: Unfortunately, after the victory of our combatants, we have received information that opposition has risen among nonaligned member countries against holding the conference in Baghdad. We still hope the conference will not be held there. Iraq's internal situation indicates that there is no security in that country for holding this conference.

The prime minister stated: An Iraqi official said recently that there is full security in Baghdad and about 300 fighter planes are guarding the city. This itself is an indication that this conference should rot be held in Baghdad because there is no guarantee that these planes will not crash; or they might hatch a plot themselves to bomb. [sentence as heard]

After referring to the visit of the Turkish premier, who is scheduled to arrive in Tehran tomorrow, Mr Musavi said: After the liberation of Khorramshahr, moves to secure a cease-fire began throughout the world. The motives of these moments varied, and we should not think that different countries have the same motive for their move. We have never ceased making the same demand: We want to see our conditions realized. We have acted in accordance with our values, which are acceptable to all aware people in the world. These conditions have not changed at all and remain the same as they were at the start of the war. We have said on many occasions we never wanted a war and this war was imposed on us by the aggressive Iraqi regime. We, more than anybody else, are in favor of restoration of security in the region. But we do not accept security with an American presence in the region. Security under America's umbrella is, in fact, a means of expanding U.S. hegemony in the region.

According to the Central News Unit, Prime Minister Mir-Hoseyn Musavi returned to Tehran from Mashhad this evening.

IRAQI MUJAHIDIN REPORT ON RECENT OPERATIONS

GF050710 Tehran International Service in Arabic 0400 GMT 5 Aug 82

[Text] In their communique claiming responsibility for the huge explosion in the buildings of the Interior and Planning Ministries of the Ba'thist-Zionist regime in Iraq, Iraqi Muslim mujahidin warn that if the nonaligned summit conference is held in Baghdad, the participating heads of state will be solely responsible for protecting their lives. The communique said: With the magnificent victories achieved by the Muslim fighters during the blessed Ramadan Operation, within the escalation of the Islamic revolutionary movement in Iraq and to avenge thousands of martyrs, foremost of whom was the martyred Ayatollah Muhammad Baqir as-Sadr, on Saturday morning, 31 July 1982, a group of Martyr as-Sadr revolutionaries after a fierce battle managed to destroy the Saddamist regime's Interior Ministry.

The communique said that the hero of this brave operation is martyr Abu Balal, who in previous heroic operations lost his foot and arm. He drove a car carrying 250 kg of high explosives chanting "O lord of the ages, save me," entered the Iraqi Interior Ministry and demolished it.

Reports say that dozens of ambulances were seen carrying away hundreds of dead and wounded after the explosion. The explosion was so strong that the agent Ba'thist regime in an attempt to downplay the significance of the incident admitted that a blast had taken place in the Planning Ministry, which is close to the Interior Ministry.

The Iraqi Muslim mujahidin affirm in their communique that this explosion is considered as a warning to all countries which intend to participate in the forthcoming nonaligned conference. We call to the attention of the heads of these countries that such incidents can take place at any time and anywhere. They will be responsible for any operation.

Meanwhile, a spokesman of the Iraqi Muslim mujahidin made a telephone call to IRNA and said: Following this explosion, the Iraqi masses thought that a coup d'etat had taken place in Baghdad. Due to the deaths of dozens of Saddam's mercenaries, the Ba'thist government in Baghdad was forced to issue a statement. As this incident had its great impact on the sons of the people, the regime in an attempt to calm the horrified masses declared that a simple explosion had taken place and that the number of those killed was not more than 10.

The spokesman added: We will threaten the lives of those who participate in the nonaligned summit conference in Baghdad. With God's will, we will carry out greater operations.

In conclusion, the spokesman said that two explosions took place in the military centers of the army of the Iraqi Ba'thist mercenaries on the same day, but the Ba'thist-Zionist-Saddamist information media reported nothing about them.

AFP said the Iraqi authorities strengthened security measures around government buildings after this explosion. The report said the Iraqi regime's Interior Ministry announced that 120 persons were dead or wounded as a result of this explosion.

According to a report from the Central News Bureau in London, the Iraqi Muslim mujahidin issued a communique on their military operations against Baghdad's anti-Islamic rulers. The communique said that the Iraqi Muslim mujahidin, carried out a big demolition operation in [word indistinct] in Baghdad suburbs causing great damage. Fire was seen by all Baghdad inhabitants. Thus the Ba'thist Saddamist authorities were forced to order curfew in (As-Saddah) area in eastern [name indistinct].

The communique added that some days later planes of the Air Force of the Islamic Republic flew over Baghdad and rocketed the (?refinery), causing serious damage.

The Iraqi Muslim mujahidin also announced that they attacked a train carrying 150 Ba'thist mercenaries between An-Nasiriyah and Baghdad, killing all the Saddamist mercenaries. Passengers coming from Baghdad to Kuwait reported this incident, forcing the Ba'thists to admit that the train had gone off the track.

The report added that a group of soldiers who rebelled against the Saddamist army attacked the command of the Popular Army in Basra and killed a large number of Ba'thist Popular Army agents and caused serious damage to the building. Those arriving in London from Baghdad affirmed this incident. They added that there are serious differences between Iraqi Army personnel and the agents of the ruling Ba'th Party at the Popular Army.

ARMED FORCES JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUE NO 1,007

[Communique No 1,007 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. During the past 24 hours, the combatants of Islam on the battlefronts of truth against falsehood continued their battle for the destruction and annihilation of more Iraqi Ba'thist mercenaries. The combatants of Islam continued this battle by returning the fire of enemy artillery and other heavy weapons, details of which are hereby announced for the information of our dear compatriots:

Thanks to artillery fire by our ground forces on the Salehabad and Meymak fronts, returning the enemy fire, a border post belonging to the Iraqi Ba'thist mercenaries was severely damaged. Several trenches and foxholes and one enemy truck were set ablaze and destroyed.

In the (Zin-e Kosh) sector, several enemy assembly points were destroyed and eight of their troops were killed. The combatants of Islam opened accurate artillery fire on enemy positions and units and on the (Banayn) oil installations and thus prevented the Saddamist forces from changing positions. As a result of this artillery fire, Iraqi supply movements were disrupted and part of the (Banayn) oil installations were set ablaze and damaged.

The brave warriors of the gendarmerie in the border regions of Ilam, in each sector under their protection, fiercely returned the fire of Saddamist forces. By opening timely fire on positions of the Iraqi Ba'thist mercenaries, our fighters silenced enemy fire and prevented them from constructing fortifications and installations.

On the Marivan front yesterday, sporadic exchange of fire continued between the self-sacrificing forces of Islam and the Iraqi Ba'thist mercenaries. Combatants of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran, maintaining their superior firepower, killed or wounded several Iraqi troops and destroyed several of their trenches and foxholes.

Thanks to the fire of our brave gendarmerie fighters in the Abadan sector against positions and trenches of the Iraqi Ba'thist mercenaries on the other side of the Arvand Rud, around 20 of the Saddamist troops were killed or wounded; 2 enemy vehicles and 4 heavy-weapon emplacements were also set ablaze and destroyed. Our combatants also opened fire on the oil installations in Al-Faw and inflicted considerable damage.

Yesterday several aggressive Iraqi aircraft tried to violate the airspace of two border cities in the southern and western parts of our country, but antiaircraft fire of the air defense units of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran forced the aggressive planes to flee.

'LIGHTNING' AIR RAID ON IRAQI POSITIONS REPORTED

[Text] In a lightning raid today, the fast-flying pilots of the Air Force of the Islamic Republic of Iran heavily bombed positions of the Saddamist forces on the Shalamcheh border inside Iraqi territory. A great deal of material losses and large numbers of casualties were inflicted on the enemy.

According to an IRNA report from Abadan, at 1110 today several aircraft of the Air Force of the Islamic Republic of Iran flew over positions of the mercenary Iraqi Armed Forces and heavily bombed their positions, fortifications and armored equipment. Smoke arising from the destruction of enemy equipment could be seen for a long time.

IRAQI AIRCRAFT OVERFLY ILAM 4, 5 AUGUST

[Text] According to a Central News Unit correspondent's dispatch from Ilam, aircraft of the mercenary army of Saddam's defeated Zionist-Ba'thist regime violated the airspace of the resisting city of Ilam at 2035 last night and again at 0100, 0115, 0835 and 0902 this morning. Thanks to defensive air and ground fire by the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran, these aircraft fled from the scene without carrying out any operations.

REZA'I PRESS CONFERENCE ON WAR, OPPOSITION

LD051348 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 5 Aug 82

[Text] According to a report by the Central News Unit, Brother Mohsen Reza'i, commander in chief of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps, held a press, radio and television conference this morning and answered correspondents' questions.

First, regarding the war issue and the victorious Ramadan Operation, Mr Reza'i said: Before the Ramadan Operation, our aim was to recapture the occupied lands from the mercenary enemy; but on pushing out the Iraqi mercenaries we realized that if we wanted the regime of the Islamic Republic to live and Abadan, Khorramshahr, Sumar and Mehran to be away from Iraqi artillery fire, we would have to overthrow the Ba'thist regime, and that by doing so we could rid the Iraqi people of the sinister Iraqi regime.

Mr Reza'i said further: In these operations an Iraqi colonel, who had been taken prisoner, describing the internal tension in Iraq, said: After the end of the war and my return to Iraq there will no longer be a Ba'th Party or a security organization in Iraq to put the Iraqi nation under pressure.

The commander of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps added: In the Ramadan Operation, so far we have taken 1,360 prisoners; 1,000 Iraqi tanks, armored personnel carriers and vehicles have been destroyed; and Iraq has been forced to use [words indistinct] tanks and MiG-25's instead of modern T-72 tanks. The enemy is making a lot of propaganda about the number of our martyrs, whereas the number of our martyrs is half the number of those martyred in the course of the Jerusalem Operation [bayt al-moqaddas].

Regarding the recent raids of the Islamic revolution forces on the corruption dens of the hypocrites under the Martyr Saduqi Operation, Mr Reza'i said: In the continuation of operations aimed at mopping up the hypocrites, its fourth stage, codenamed "Martyr Saduqi Operation" started on 1 August with attacks on 30 hypocrite bases. During 72 hours of operations, important individuals of these safehouses were killed or arrested. We managed to completely destroy the relations section, which was the hypocrite's most important section and was in charge of contacts abroad, with Kordestan and foreign mercenaries, was in charge of the transfer and escape of individuals abroad and also of its city branches.

Continuing his statement, he said: From the documents we found relating to the organization's internal functions, we realized that the hypocrites have openly told their executive [word indistinct] that people have been enlightened and that their task has become much more difficult than in the past.

Regarding the mopping up of counterrevolutionaries in Kordestan, Brother Reza'i said: We have arranged the establishment of a central headquarters, like the Karbala' headquarters, in Kordestan named the Hamzeh headquarters, so that with coordinated operations we could settle the counterrevolutionary matter in Kordestan.

Regarding the Mobilization forces, he said: At present one million of the Mobilization members are in organizational contract with the Revolution Guards Corps, most of our information is from this source.

PROSECUTOR ON MINIGROUP ARRESTS, QOTBZADEH TRIAL

[Excerpt] According to a Central News Unit report Mr Musavi-Tabrizi, Islamic revolution prosecutor general, today took part in a radio and television press conference and answered the questions of domestic reporters on the arrests of the members of the hypocrites and Peykar minigroups, the activities of the revolution courts and the trial of Qotbzadeh.

At the beginning, Mr Musavi-Tabrizi said: It is over a year since the beginning of the armed uprising of the rebellious minigroups, especially the hypocrites minigroup. It is over 2 years since the start of the war imposed by Iraq upon our beloved country. During this time our nation has demonstrated its capability in all dimensions and has left behind the most complicated problems. While praising the brothers from the Revolution Guards Corps and the Islamic revolution committees and those who assisted in the discovery of the plots, he referred to the deadly blows delivered against the rebellious minigroups and said:

The crushing blows which these minigroups have suffered have caused them to lose nearly 95 percent of their forces. He said: One of the most important blows inflicted upon the hypocrites during the year 60 [21 March 1981-20 March 1982] was the arrest and death of Musa Khiabani and 20 hypocrites members. The other blow was the one delivered in Ordinbehesht 61 [21 April-20 May 1982] during which a large number of the important members of the hypocrites were arrested. Once again, the organizational system of the hypocrites was completely disrupted. This forced them to issue an order that the cells should organize themselves on their own and that there was no need for liaison. This is the death of an organization. Also, on 9 and 10 June more than 32 others were arrested and killed. As a result of this blow, the officials in charge of important sectors of the hypocrites organization were destroyed and their organizational chart was disrupted.

He added: The latest blow was inflicted 2 or 3 days ago when about 65 were arrested or killed, including members below the central cadre.

Concerning the discovery of members of other rebellious minigroups the revolution prosecutor general said: Recently, Peykar and minority [minority wing of the Feda'iyan-e Khalq organization] were dealt a most crushing blow and the Marxist Kargar minigroup and the active members and supporters of this minigroup were completely destroyed.

Concerning the documents seized from the safehouses, he said: The documents discovered on 2 May showed that the counterrevolutionaries had made extensive plans for 21 July and 28 June [as heard]. These plans included causing explosions in the Islamic Consultative Assembly, the premises of Friday prayers in Tehran and provincial cities and the assassination of deputies and officials.

An 80-man group, which constituted 16 assassination teams, was arrested. Some of these teams, composed of 4 or 5 people, had assassinated 80 or 100 ordinary Hezbollahi on the streets. However, with the assistance of God, they were arrested.

Concerning the negative propaganda about the Islamic revolution courts, the revolution prosecutor general said: This propaganda has not started just recently. It has existed ever since the beginning of the revolution. According to documents seized by the students following the line of the imam from the U.S. den of espionage, one of America's aims was to dismantle the revolution courts. In general, this propaganda aims to weaken the morale of the individuals who work in revolution courts.

Mr Musavi-Tabrizi said: Recently, when I was received by the imam, he ordered that the courts should remain in their present form and that the order which they possess at the moment should be further increased so that the conspiracies may be more speedily discovered and neutralized in this way.

Concerning the reason for the delay in the trial of Qotbzadeh, the Islamic revolution prosecutor general said: Some files may be delayed by further investigation. The file of Sadeq Qotbzadeh is ready, but due to financial and moral issues, as he was active in executive organs after the revolution, certain reports have been received which require greater investigation. He added: He will certainly be tried and the sentence passed by the religious judge will be carried out. What is important to us is that these issues should not overshadow the most important issue -- the issue of the war.

'EXTENSIVE ATTACK' AGAINST 'HYPOCRITES' DETAILED

[Communique issued by the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps -- date not given]

[Text] In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. In the name of God, the crusher of the tyrants.

Iran's Islamic revolution is forging ahead mightily and is daily gaining in coordination and strength -- Imam Khomeyni.

O ever-present Islamic and martyr-nurturing nation! Following the operations of the martyr of the prayer niche, Ayatollah Saduqi, culminating in the organizational disintegration of the hypocrites organization, and in continuation of previous communiques, the following facts are hereby brought to the attention of the Islamic nation and Hezbollahi:

An extensive attack launched by the troops of the holy saint of the era -- may Almighty God hasten his esteemed advent -- on 1 August on some 30 bases of corruption and conspiracy of the hypocrites resulted in the devastation of the liaison and urban sections and the destruction of the general forgery center of the organization's supply section. The repeated blows inflicted by the Islamic revolution on the body of world arrogance and the U.S.-backed Saddam on a world scale, on the one hand, and the decay and disruption of the agents of the arch-Satan within the country on the other are indicative of the greatness and steadfastness of the Islamic Republic of Iran and are a portent of the death of those obstructing the path of God, whether infidels, polytheists or antihuman hypocrites.

The operations on 1 August, carried out with the utmost success thanks to the special attentions of the imam of the era -- may Almighty God hasten his esteemed advent -- constitute yet another warning to all counterrevolutionaries and servants of world arrogance who have no escape from divine retribution and [word indistinct] vengeance. In the wake of these [word indistinct] operations, deadly losses and blows were inflicted on the decaying organizations of the hypocrites. In view of the intelligence and security considerations of the issue, all the results of these operations were not described, but now we bring some of these to the attention of the Islamic nation and Hezbollahi:

A. The names of some of those destroyed during the latest blow are as follows: Siyavash Sheykhi, alias Hoseyn, member of the central cadre, who at first was responsible for Azarbayjan Province and later was in charge of the organization's urban section; Mehdi Za'eryan, alias Mojtaba Moqaddam, member of the cadre and of the Central Committee and deputy head of the organization's liaison section; Ja'far Pishi, alias Taqi Farshadi, a high-ranking member of the organization and a security member of the central liaison section; [name indistinct]; 'Alavi Taleqani, a junior member of the hypocrites organization in Tehran and an important and active member; Hadi Gholamifard, an experienced member and a security member of the central liaison section; Seyyed Mostafa Musavi, an experienced member and an important member of the liaison section; Shahab Rasekhi, an experienced member; Maryan Feda'isefat, an experienced and active member of the liaison section;

Kamal Akbari, a member of liaison section and a security member of the Central Committee; Ma'sumeh, alias Tahereh, the wife of Siyavash Sheykhi, a member of the urban section; Abolqasem Ayat, alias Mojtaba Akbari, an experienced member of the organization; Naser Rahmani, alias Majid 'Akkas, an official and a member of the hypocrites' special squads; Manizheh Habashi, a member of the legal section of the hypocrites liaison section; and Azar Sadiqi, the wife of Mohammad Soleymanirad, member of the liaison section.

B. The facilities and equipment confiscated from the supply and forgery center of the hypocrites organization are as follows:

A total of 120 G-3 weapons and various types of machineguns; 50 various types of Colts; radio; (?TRC) 3 field radio sets; 20 various types of multichannel radio sets; [words indistinct]; 2 MIC radio sets with special microphones; 12 radio sets and recorders converted for use in motor vehicles; 34 various large and portable radio sets, including the (?PT 200 International); 12 special communication sets used by security forces; large quantities of radio repair equipment, communication wires and other spare parts: 2 large Xerox sets; 1 tape recorder; 120 various (?books), communication plans and instructions; 3 radio accumulator charging sets; large quantities of documents, seals and material for forging state documents and documents of Embassies of the Islamic Republic of Iran in various countries.

It may be added, in conclusion, that the recent blow, apart from the fact that it was of extraordinary importance from the strategic standpoint regarding the destruction of the hypocrites who are fighting God, helped to foil a great many plots of these criminals who have forsaken God.

The Islamic Revolution Guards Corps once again announced that it will continue its efforts for the destruction of all the germs of corruption and decay and this is yet another warning to the duped elements of the terrorist minigroups who should learn a salutary lesson from the fate of their leaders and should therefore renounce their counterrevolutionary activities and return to the embrace of Islam and the revolutionary, martyr-nurturing Islamic nation.

KHOMEYNI APPOINTS KHO'INI HAJJ SUPERVISOR

LD041418 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 5 Jul 82

[Text] According to a Central News Unit report, Imam Khomeyni, leader of the revolution and founder of the Islamic Republic of Iran, has issued a decree appointing Mr Seyyed Mohammad Musavi-Kho'ini as the imam's representative and supervisor of Iranian hajj pilgrims. A text of the decree by the imam of the nation is as follows:

In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. Your Excellency Hojjat ol-Eslam Mr Seyyed Mohammad Musavi-Kho'ini, may your benefits to others continue. The hajj period approaches: This great obligation has a worshipful, political and social character, which enjoys particular aspects among great acts of worship and for which the most blessed, most exalted God has called upon the world's Muslims, in these special circumstances, to become informed of the social and political developments taking place in Muslim lands and, while performing this great duty, to discuss with each other any problem they may have and to overcome such problems as far as possible. But the political dimension, unfortunately, has been neglected by many Muslims, thanks to deviant behavior, ill-perception of certain elements or thanks to underhanded actions by profit-seeking officials.

I appoint you as my representative and supervisor of esteemed Iranian hajj pilgrims so that, with your particular political perception, you will handle the affairs of the hajj pilgrims from various aspects; that in order to revive this great divine tradition, you will invite Muslims in religious sermons and centers to unity of word and unity of direction; that you will inform them of what is taking place in dear Lebanon, in crusading Iran and in oppressed Afghanistan at the hands of oppressors and world devourers and so that you will acquaint the esteemed Iranian hajj pilgrims with their great duties in confronting aggressors and international plunderers.

Of course, the esteemed ulema going on this trip -- whether those who are making the pilgrimage at my request or others -- will support Your Excellency. The esteemed hajj pilgrims are dutybound to listen to your guidance, to obey the lines of action you chart for them and to adhere to them without deviation, so that, most exalted God willing, this great obligation may be carried out with its numerous content and dimensions.

Needless to say, those officials whose job is in any way related to this obligation and to esteemed hajj pilgrims are dutybound to cooperate with you to coordinate matters and to benefit from your guidance. It is to be hoped that the esteemed hajj pilgrims from various Islamic countries will endeavor to achieve unity of word, to bear in mind the spiritual brotherhood the most exalted God has ordained for Muslims and to avoid divisiveness, which is the work of Satan and nominal Satans. Peace be upon the true servants of God.

FOREIGN MINISTRY DEPUTY MEETS DPRK, INDIAN ENVOYS

[Text] The Central News Unit reports that the DPRK ambassador to the Islamic Republic of Iran met and conferred with Mr Kazempur-Ardabili, our country's deputy foreign minister in charge of economic affairs and international organizations. During this meeting, they discussed mutual relations and a trip which a high-ranking Iranian delegation will make soon to the DPRK.

Also during this meeting they talked and exchanged views on the possible extraordinary session of the nonaligned foreign ministers, which might be held in order to change the venue of the nonaligned summit from Baghdad. The DPRK ambassador expressed full support for the stand of the Islamic Republic of Iran, stressing the need to move the nonaligned summit from Baghdad.

The Indian ambassador in Tehran also met with Mr Kazempur-Ardabili this morning. During this meeting while they discussed relations between the two countries, they held talks and exchanged views on the possible extraordinary session of the nonaligned foreign ministers which might be held in order to change the venue of the seventh nonaligned summit due to be held in Baghdad.

AFGHAN REBELS DESTROY 'STRATEGIC' HELMAND BRIDGE

LD052258 Tehran IRNA in English 1952 GMT 5 Aug 82

[Text] Zahedan Aug. 5, IRNA -- Numerous Soviet aggressor forces were killed and their strategic bridge, which had been built on the Helmand River, was smashed with RPG-7 fire by Muslim mujahidin in a clash with the joint state and Soviet troops during the preceding 48 hours in Sarshileh, Nimruz Province.

In retaliation, the Soviet forces bombed the residential quarters of Sarshileh and its environs with its fighter jets. In this confrontation, which is still continuing, two Muslim mujahidin have so far been wounded.

MIDDLE EAST AND SOUTH ASIA REVIEW

9 AUGUST 1982

Lebanon

Israeli Position -- Up to 2,500 "terrorists" can remain in Beirut after the entry of the multinational force on condition the United States, France and Italy guarantee to either enforce the departure of the remaining "terrorists" or allow the IDF to solve the problem, Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin announced on 8 August in remarks at the National Security College reported by 'AL HAMISHMAR. In another part of his address, Begin said he has notified the United States that Israel accepts U.S. envoy Philip Habib's original idea that the multinational force enter Beirut after most of the "terrorists" have left Lebanon along with the 1,500 Syrians besieged in the city. There are grounds to assume that the "terrorists" will leave soon and that the IDF will not have to enter west Beirut, Begin said. Meanwhile, after a series of political meetings in Beirut, Defense Minister Ari'el Sharon said in remarks broadcast by IDF radio that the main problem now is the Arab countries' failure to accept the "terrorists." Since no Arab country is prepared to absorb them, he stated, there is currently no arrangement, agreement or possible deal. However, he added, the "terrorists" are on the brink of being uprooted from Beirut one way or another. In remarks reported by ITIM, Foreign Minister Yitzhaq Shamir stressed that the air force bombings in Beirut are the only way to tell the PLO that it can be removed from Lebanon at any time.

While Israel's position in the negotiations has softened, Jerusalem radio said, Prime Minister Begin has emphasized to the United States that Israel rejects the French initiative to send troops to Beirut without coordination with Israel or the United States. Earlier, senior Israeli circles cited by Jerusalem television described the PLO's stated willingness to leave Beirut after the arrival of French forces as "a fraudulent plan by a fraudulent international force." Noting that Israel had warned France not to send its troops to Beirut, the television claimed U.S. representatives had consented to the plan for the arrival of French troops without the knowledge of the White House and despite Philip Habib's promise to Israel that a multinational force would not enter Beirut until the "vast majority" of the "terrorists" have left the city. MA'ARIV subsequently said the breakthrough in the negotiations -- "made thanks to many casualties" -- might now be blocked by the French Marines scheduled to land on the Beirut coast through a "plot" conceived with several U.S. diplomats in order to spare the PLO the need to totally evacuate Beirut. Israeli circles cited by the JERUSALEM POST likewise said that by endorsing the latest PLO evacuation proposals, Habib is seeking to create a situation in which only a few hundred of the "terrorists" will evacuate, while the bulk of them remain in Beirut, sheltering behind a French-spearheaded multinational force. According to Jerusalem radio, Israeli forces took up positions in Juniyah on 8 August in order to prevent a French landing. However, Voice of Lebanon radio said the IDF left Juniyah "following contacts."

PLO Withdrawal, Multinational Force -- If the negotiations continue in the present positive atmosphere, the first batch of PLO fighters will leave Beirut on 11 or 12 August as the first part of a three-stage withdrawal process lasting 2 weeks, Beirut radio reported on 8 August citing informed political sources. The same day, a Voice of Lebanon report said the Lebanese Government might make an official request for international forces to come to Beirut within the next 24 hours." The radio subsequently reported that at a meeting of Lebanese Army, U.S. and French representatives chaired by U.S. envoy Habib, it was agreed that the PLO fighters should start their departure simultaneously with the arrival of French forces, which will constitute the vanguard of the multinational force. Citing informed sources, the radio spoke of surprise in Beirut about Israel's rejection of this plan. It also asserted that the destination of the PLO fighters has been decided.

Earlier in the weekend, Lebanese Prime Minister Shafiq al-Wazzan announced that the Lebanese and Palestinian leaders were in complete agreement about the departure of the PLO fighters and that the two sides had agreed on the withdrawal timetable with Habib, according to the radio. Noting that he had received clarifications from the PLO "which might be the final ones," Al-Wazzan nevertheless admitted that he did not know the results of Habib's talks on these matters with the Israelis.

The Palestinian-Lebanese-U.S. agreement was reached after the PLO had submitted to Habib a written document discussing a PLO evacuation by sea to Jordan's Aqaba port, overland to Syria and by air to other destinations, according to Beirut radio. Commanders of the U.S. and French multinational force contingents have arrived in Lebanon, the radio said. Meanwhile, the French Defense Ministry denied reports that French naval officers had landed in the Christian eastern sector to discuss the possible role of the French Navy in the PLO evacuation, Paris radio noted. On the other hand, the Italian Defense Ministry confirmed that two Italian Army officers had arrived in Beirut to discuss the logistics of deploying an Italian contingent, AFP reported. The French ambassador in Beirut announced that a first French contingent of 350 men might reach Lebanon by 15 August, AFP also reported.

Regarding the destination of PLO fighters, Jordanian Prime Minister Mudar Badran told the Jordanian National Consultative Council in a speech broadcast by Amman radio that Jordan will welcome all Jordanians among the PLO fighters in accordance with Jordanian law. Official Jordanian sources cited by Beirut radio likewise confirmed that Jordan will host all Palestinians of Jordanian nationality now in Beirut provided they join the Palestine Liberation Army units in Jordan. However, while Beirut radio noted an Egyptian diplomat's announcement that Egypt is prepared to receive PLO leaders and fighters, an official Egyptian source quoted by MENA reaffirmed Egypt's refusal to host Palestinian fighters unless there is an overall solution to the Palestinian issue. Noting that Syria has not officially confirmed reports it has agreed to receive PLO fighters, Monte Carlo radio said observers in Damascus believe that Syria will not abrogate its declared decision not to receive the Palestinian fighters while Israeli forces continue to occupy Lebanon.

Expressing concern that the Israelis are determined to abort any chance of a political solution, an 8 August Voice of Palestine commentary said the ball is now in Israel's court. The Palestinians have displayed flexibility in contrast to Israeli intransigence, the radio contended, and the Israelis no longer have any logical justification for risking military action in view of the important progress made toward a political solution. An Israeli military assault, which may occur within hours, would be an "horrific and avoidable crime," the radio said.

Military Situation -- Israeli planes bombed and demolished an eight-story building in the As-Sana'i' area of west Beirut on 6 August, inflicting over 250 casualties, the clandestine Voice of Palestine radio reported. Voice of Lebanon radio said a senior Palestinian official was buried amid the debris. A subsequent car-bomb explosion in the same area killed or injured 12 people and damaged the Beirut radio building, the Voice of Palestine said. Later the same day, Palestinian-Lebanese joint forces checked an Israeli advance in the Museum area, the radio said. Confirming the air attack on Beirut, the IDF spokesman said the raid was in response to cease-fire violations and was directed at a "terrorist" position, IDF radio reported.

Intermittent and limited artillery exchanges continued on 7 and 8 August, according to Beirut and Voice of Lebanon radio reports. While the Voice of Palestine accused the Israelis of violating the cease-fire, Jerusalem radio said the "terrorists" were responsible for renewing the firing. The Israelis escalated their fire during the afternoon of 8 August when they began a concentrated bombardment of the Burj al-Barajinah camp, the Voice of Palestine said. Artillery exchanges continued throughout the night and into 9 August, according to Voice of Lebanon radio. The Voice of Palestine said the joint forces returned fire by Israeli field artillery and gunboats; Jerusalem radio said the IDF shelling came in reaction to "terrorist" firing.

Citing a senior IDF officer, the Israeli paper MA'ARIV warned that a 4-5,000-strong "terrorist" force has been built up in the Al-Biqa' Valley, thereby establishing the infrastructure for a new and larger "Fatahland." Meanwhile, the Voice of Palestine reported further PLO guerrilla operations behind Israeli lines.

The IDF has lost 323 soldiers killed and 14 missing or captured during the "Peace for Galilee" Operation, HA'ARETZ reported. Damascus radio said 64 Syrians were killed or wounded in last week's fighting in Beirut.

Saudi Position -- Commenting on the Israeli invasion of Lebanon, the Saudi information minister condemned the forces which support the "aggression," especially the superpowers, who are held mainly responsible for the action, Riyadh radio reported.

Message to Syria -- Syrian President Hafiz al-Asad received a message from the Soviet leadership dealing with Lebanon and bilateral relations, according to SANA.

Inter-Arab Affairs

In a message carried by Rabat radio, Moroccan King Hasan II appealed to Arab League Secretary General Chedli Klibi for the resumption of the Fes Arab summit conference and a preparatory meeting of Arab foreign ministers. Klibi had announced earlier that a quorum had been reached for holding the preparatory foreign ministers summit in Tunisia, according to SPA. KUNA reported that the following agreed to attend the foreign ministers meeting: Syria, Bahrain, the UAE, Somalia, Qatar, the PLO, the YAR, the PDRY, and Kuwait. According to SPA, Saudi Arabia agreed to attend the Arab meetings, while Jordanian Prime Minister Badran told the National Consultative Council in a speech carried by Amman radio that Jordan supports an Arab summit which would unify Arabs regardless of their differences and ideologies. Libya's General People's Committee for Foreign Liaison issued a statement carried by JANA which said Libya would attend the Arab summit if the sole issue discussed would be measures that must be taken against the Israeli invasion of Lebanon such as sending weapons and implementing embargoes. In a related report, Libyan leader Colonel Mu'ammar al-Qadhdhafi made a statement to JANA calling for the Arabs to send 10 military units and 500 planes to Syria to use against the Israelis. He said an oil embargo should be implemented to stop any U.S. aid to Israel and that he himself is ready to lead these forces.

Meanwhile, in an interview with the Kuwaiti paper AS-SIYASAH, Syrian Defense Minister Mustafa Talas said Syria welcomes Arab armies to fight alongside it. He asked why other Arab countries have not sent aircraft to participate in the battle with Israel.

OAU Meeting

JANA reported that Libya's Colonel al-Qadhdhafi opened the "African summit" on 8 August attended by 30 African states. The report said the African leaders agreed that the United States was responsible for hindering the success of the OAU summit and Al-Qadhdhafi stressed that countries which boycotted the meeting had violated the OAU Charter, giving Libya the right to violate the charter as well.

Egypt

Interior Minister Hasan Abu Basha issued a decree releasing 646 persons detained under the emergency law, Cairo radio reported.

Iran-Iraq War

Military Situation -- Iranian forces attempted to penetrate Iraqi positions in the central battle sector but were forced to retreat and nearly 200 Iranians died, an Iraqi military communique carried by Baghdad radio claimed. The communique also said fighting east of Basra resulted in 52 Iranians killed and one Iranian plane downed. An Iranian Revolution Guards communique carried by Tehran radio said that over 200 Iraqis were killed near Qasr-e Shirin and a guerrilla attack on Iraqi forces in the Meymak area resulted in 90 Iraqis killed.

Iraqi Defense Minister Gen 'Adnan Khayrallah alleged that the Iranian Army is regrouping for another attack on Iraq, Baghdad radio reported. He said that if Iran attempted another attack, the result would be in Iraq's favor.

Positions on War, Nonaligned Meeting — In an address to a group of radio and television personnel reported by IRNA, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeyni asserted that Iranian forces invaded Iraq for defensive purposes and would continue to fight there until Iraq meets conditions set by Iran. He also said Iraq still occupies some parts of Iranian territory.

Meanwhile, Iranian Foreign Minister 'Ali Akbar Velayati rejected a proposal by a visiting Turkish delegation that an Islamic fund be set up to pay war reparations, IRNA reported. Velayati told the delegation headed by the Turkish prime minister that Iran was "too dignified" for such proposals and Iran considered Iraq solely responsible for paying reparations.

On a visit to New Delhi, Iraqi Foreign Minister Sa'dun Hammadi said Iraq expects the nonaligned foreign ministers to meet in Baghdad as planned, INA reported. Hammadi explained that Iraq wanted to consult nonaligned members before the summit begins.

SOUTH ASIAN CONFERENCE BEGINS IN ISLAMABAD

Yaqub Khan Opens Session

BK071051 Karachi Domestic Service in English 1005 GMT 7 Aug 82

The foreign minister said the peoples of the region aspire to greater economic gains and rapid social progress and they have an equal (?stake) in the preservation of peace and security in the region. Sahabzada Yaqub Khan said that he was confident that the third meeting of the foreign secretaries will build upon the commendable progress achieved at the first two meetings of Colombo and Katmandu. The foreign minister noted that during the short span of 2 years the seven countries have not only successfully explored the possibilities of evolving cooperation but have also identified and agreed upon eight specific areas of mutually beneficial cooperation.

Radio Pakistan's representative says that the meeting elected by acclamation Pakistani Foreign Secretary Niaz A. Naik as its chairman. His name was proposed by the leader of the Maldives delegation and was seconded by the delegate of Bhutan.

Speaking on behalf of all the delegates, the foreign secretary of Sri Lanka thanked the Pakistani foreign minister for articulating the objectives and expectations attached to the meeting. Besides Pakistan, India, Bangladesh, Nepal, Bhutan, Sri Lanka and Maldives are attending the meeting.

Report on Second Day of Talks

BK081650 Karachi Domestic Service in Urdu 1500 GMT 8 Aug 82

[Text] On the second day of the conference of the seven South Asian foreign secretaries in Islamabad today, it was unanimously agreed to hold a ministerial-level meeting to carry forward the work of effective cooperation among these nations. This decision was taken at an informal discussion which reviewed the practical aspects of the ministerial-level meeting.

A Foreign Office spokesman, briefing newsmen about the main aspects of today's meeting in Islamabad this evening, said that the foreign secretaries have decided to set up a committee consisting of representatives of all member countries. This committee will coordinate the practical programs forwarded by the various working groups. Sri Lanka has been appointed chairman of this committee.

Indian Suggestions

[Text] India has suggested that foreign secretaries of the seven South Asian nations hold a few more meetings at their level before recommending a ministerial meet on the regional cooperation.

Foreign Secretary M.K. Rasgotra told the meeting in Islamabad today that more meetings at the official level need not mean an unduly extended timeframe for the meeting of the foreign ministers. Foreign secretaries, he said, could meet at shorter intervals. Such frequent meetings would help enrich the content of the program of regional cooperation and enable the foreign secretaries to complete the basic work necessary to pave the way for a successful ministerial-level meeting.

Rasgotra suggested that the national media of each country disseminate information about their objectives and efforts toward regional cooperation.

On the second day of the 3-day conference today, officials of India, Bangladesh, Bhutan, Maldives, Nepal, Sir Lanka and Pakistan endorsed the reports of working groups in five specified fields. The five reports endorsed today relate to rural development, agriculture, telecommunications, meteorology and health and population activities. India has suggested economic negotiations, tourism and culture and sports.

Greater Cooperation Urged

[Text] India has called for greater cooperation among South Asian countries in the fields of trade, tourism and culture.

Speaking at the first working session of the seven-nation foreign secretaries conference on regional cooperation in Islamabad today, Foreign Secretary M.K. Rasgotra also offered to share India's experience in utilizing the sea resources on a reciprocal basis. He said these are amongst the other possibilities worth exploring to strengthen cooperation in the eight fields identified at their previous two meetings in Colombo and Katmandu last year.

Rasgotra reiterated India's deep commitment to promoting and strengthening regional cooperation.

DAWN on Regional Cooperation

GF080654 Karachi DAWN in English 5 Aug 82 p 7

[Editorial: "Regional Cooperation in South Asia"]

[Text] The foreign secretaries from the seven South Asian countries who meet in Islamabad on Saturday are expected to decide upon the implementation of the programmes of cooperation they have drawn up at their earlier meetings. The details of these programmes are not known though they cover important areas such as agriculture, telecommunications, rural development, meteorology health, transport, postal services and technology in which the scope for cooperation is by no means limited. Yet it is evident that the pace of progress has slowed down somewhat.

The five study groups set up at the first meeting at Colombo in April 1981 were able to finalise and submit their reports to the second foreign secretaries' conference held at Katmandu in November last year. The third meeting is being held now although the foreign secretaries were scheduled to meet within six to eight months of the previous meeting. It remains to be seen if there will be agreement on the date of the foreign ministers' conference which is to be held before the current year is out.

This experiment in regional cooperation which has been undertaken at the initiative of Bangladesh seeks to develop a regional approach directed towards combating poverty and bringing the benefits of economic development to the people of South Asia. Bangladesh, Bhutan, India, Maldives, Nepal, Pakistan and Sri Lanka, the partners in this project, face basically similar socio-economic problems. Multilateral cooperation can bring considerable benefit to each country. They stand to gain from an exchange of experiences as well as from a sharing of limited expertise.

It would, however, be unrealistic to expect regional cooperation in South Asia to proceed at a quick pace or for that matter to cover a wide area.

That some difficult sectors such as trade and industry have been kept out of the ambit of the enterprise so far goes to show how modest the initial scale of the effort is going to be. The political basis for economic cooperation has not been adequately prepared.

Although the presence of the will to cooperate is a vital prerequisite for ventures of this nature, it is equally important that political harmony and a climate of understanding should exist if regional cooperation is to realise its potential.

Economic integration in Western Europe, it will be recalled, made rapid strides in the post-war period when tensions had been eliminated and relations between Western European states were cordial and harmonious. This is not the case in South Asia today. Bilateral relations between some of the states are characterised by conflicts of long-standing and misgivings.

The fear of the smaller states of being dominated by the larger ones detracts from the confidence which is so necessary for building up a partnership on the basis of reciprocity and equal benefit.

IRAQI PRESIDENTIAL ENVOY ARRIVES 'UNEXPECTEDLY'

OW081921 Hong Kong AFP in English 1855 GMT 8 Aug 82

[Text] Dacca, Aug. 8 (AFP) -- A member of the Revolutionary Command Council and special envoy of Iraqi President Saddam Husayn arrived here tonight unexpectedly, official news agency BSS reported, quoting the Foreign Ministry.

The reason for Hasan 'Ali arrival and the duration of his stay were not given by the news agency. However, it only said that he arrived by a special plane and was received at the airport by Bangladesh foreign minister, Shamsul Doha.

Mr. 'Ali is the second high-ranking Iraqi official to visit Dacca since early this month.

On August 1, the state minister for foreign affairs, 'Abd al-Hamid 'Alwan, arrived here for a 3-day visit during which he held talks with Chief Martial Law Administrator Lt. Gen. Mohammad Ershad.

The arrival of Mr. 'Ali tonight was reported amid intense diplomatic offensive by both Iraq and Iran on the question of holding of a summit in Baghdad on September 6.

Iran had vehemently opposed the idea of holding the summit in Baghdad because of its 2-year-old war with Iraq.

General Ershad had sent a letter to the Iraqi president last month reassessing the situation on holding the summit in the Iraqi capital in view of resumption of fighting between Tehran and Baghdad. However, he did not suggest any alternative venue.

Calls on Ershad

BK090436 Dacca Domestic Service in Bengali 0100 GMT 9 Aug 82

[Text] Hasan 'Ali, a member of the Iraqi Revolution Command Council and special envoy of the Iraqi president, called on Chief Martial Law Administrator [CMLA] Lt Gen H.M. Ershad in Dacca last night and delivered a message from President Saddam Husayn. The Iraqi envoy arrived in Dacca earlier in the day by special plane. The message is understood to have discussed matters relating to the seventh nonaligned summit.

The discussions with the special envoy are part of the continuing process of consultations between Bangladesh and Iraq on the nonaligned summit. The envoy expressed appreciation to the CMLA and the government and people of Bangladesh for their support and understanding of the current situation.

Foreign Minister A.R. Shamsul Doha was also present during the discussions.

FOREIGN MINISTER RECEIVES SPECIAL SOMALI ENVOY

BK080956 Dacca Domestic Service in English 0145 GMT 8 Aug 82

[Text] (Abul Issak Ahmed), visiting special envoy of the president of Somalia, called on Foreign Minister A.R. Shamsul Doha in Dacca yesterday and explained to him the serious situation upholding in Somalia. The envoy has come to Dacca with a message for the chief martial law administrator, Lt Gen H.M. Ershad, from Somali President Siad Barre. The foreign minister expressed his sincere feeling of friendship and brotherhood to the guest between the two Muslim countries and hoped that the forthcoming Islamic conference would express solidarity with the government and the people of Somalia.

GANDHI RETURNS FROM U.S., JAPAN VISITS

[Text] The prime minister has expressed the hope that the new atmosphere of friendship between India and the United States will be durable. Mrs Gandhi made this observation while talking to newsmen soon after her arrival in New Delhi last night after a 9-day visit to the United States and Japan. Describing her visit as a good one, the prime minister said an important result of her visit was that she could establish personal contacts with American leaders and explain India's policies on various issues. Mrs Gandhi said that she has emphasized that differences need not come in the way of strengthening areas of cooperation between the two countries. She stressed the need for continuing efforts to strengthen bonds of friendly relations.

Mrs Gandhi said she could meet a cross-section of people in the United States besides the American leaders and was happy to find their warmth and friendship for the country. The prime minister expressed happiness that some solution has been reached on the nuclear fuel supply to the Tarapur plant. She pointed out that discussions were going on the subject for some time and there is no sudden change in America's attitude about fuel supply to Tarapur.

When asked whether the United States had agreed to India's right to reprocess the spent fuel, Mrs Gandhi said: Let us face the problem when it comes.

To another question, Mrs Gandhi said India's views on Lebanon had been made known.

Asked whether there was an assurance from President Reagan that there would be no further supply of arms to Pakistan, Mrs Gandhi said that she did not seek such an assurance.

Among those present at the airport to receive the prime minister included her Cabinet colleagues, members of the diplomatic corps, members of Parliament and a large number of Congress-I party workers.

Earlier, as she flew over China, Burma and Bangladesh on her way back home from Tokyo, the prime minister sent messages of good wishes to the leaders of these countries.

RAO, CUBA'S TORRAS DISCUSS NONALIGNED SUMMIT

BK081641 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1530 GMT 8 Aug 82

[Text] Visiting Cuban Vice Minister for External Affairs Pelegrin Torras called on External Affairs Minister Narasimha Rao in New Delhi today. He acquainted Rao with the Cuban proposal for a special ministerial meeting of the nonaligned bureau on the 21st of this month to take a final decision on the venue of the forthcoming nonaligned summit.

Torras also met Additional Secretary of the External Affairs Ministry S.K. Singh.

Cuban Proposal Considered

BK070727 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0240 GMT 7 Aug 82

[Text] A spokesman of the External Affairs Ministry has confirmed that India is now examining a proposal from Cuba for a ministerial meeting of nonaligned countries. The meeting is to discuss the question of the venue of the next nonaligned summit to be held next month. Cuban President Fidel Castro is reported to be of the opinion that the seventh nonaligned summit cannot be held in Baghdad because of the Gulf war. Iran has represented to Cuba that the summit could not be held in Baghdad bacause Iraq had violated the nonaligned principle of non-aggression.

FRANCE'S CHEYSSON PAYS VISIT TO NEW DELHI

Comments on Nuclear Fuel

[Text] French Foreign Minister Claude Cheysson, now in the capital on a day's visit, has said his country is prepared to supply nuclear fuel for the Tarapur plant under the same provisions as agreed upon with the United States.

Speaking to newsmen at Delhi airport on arrival last night, he said the recent high level contacts between Indian and French leaders would be fruitful in identifying areas of collaboration between the two countries. Cheysson will call on Prime Minister Mrs Gandhi and meet the External Affairs Minister Narasimha Rao. Earlier, he was received at the airport by Additional Secretary in External Affairs Ministry J.S. Teja and French Ambassador to India Andre Ross.

Vice Foreign Minister of Cuba Torras has also arrived in New Delhi on a 2-day visit.

Meeting With Rao

BK080907 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0830 GMT 8 Aug 82

[Text] French Foreign Minister Claude Cheysson, now on a visit to India, today met External Affairs Minister P.V. Narasimha Rao and had talks with him for more than 2 hours. The two leaders are understood to have discussed bilateral matters and international situation with particular reference to the situation in West Asia.

Cheysson will meet Prime Minister Mrs Gandhi in the evening before leaving for Paris.

News Conference

BK081429 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1330 GMT 8 Aug 82

[Text] French Foreign Minister Claude Cheysson has said France will supply nuclear fuel for the Tarapur reactor at the earliest. Addressing a press conference in New Delhi today, he said the supply will be sent as soon as the technical details and notes on this issue are exchanged and finalized.

About the Mirage deal, Cheysson said that at the present moment it is still at the stage of a letter of intent, but there is still little doubt that the deal will be finalized.

He said we look forward to fruitful cooperation with India and the recent contract on telecommunications is an example which envisages transfer of most advanced technology from France to India. A number of other contracts are also being considered, he added.

On the question of North-South issue, Cheysson said France will keep up its pressure to get the global negotiations going. Criticizing the stand taken by the United States on this issue, he said developing countries are entirely justified in their demand for a new world economic order. Cheysson disclosed that during his talks today with Finance Minister Pranab Mukherjee he has discussed ways and means on how to replenish the funds for International Development Association for the concessional borrowing after the unilateral withdrawal by the United States from its commitment.

Earlier, the French foreign minister had talks with External Affairs Minister Narasimha Rao for more than 2 hours. The two leaders discussed bilateral and international matters with particular reference to the situation in West Asia. Cheysson will meet the prime minister later this evening.

More on Conference

[Excerpts] France will supply nuclear fuel for the Tarapur reactor at the earliest. Addressing a press conference in New Delhi today French Foreign Minister Claude Cheysson said he has already had discussions with External Affairs Minister Narasimha Rao on the principles relating to the uranium supply and no difficulty is anticipated on this score.

Replying to a spate of qyestions, Cleysson clarified that France will not be asking for any special safeguards or joint determination for reprocessing of the spent fuel. The fissile material for reprocessing (?will probably be) subject to the control of International Atomic Energy Agency.

Cheysson said France has decided to enter into a continued dialogue with India on bilateral and world issues. President Mitterrand will be visiting India in November to consolidate the progress made so far in furthering the friendly ties. It may recalled that Mrs Gandhi visited France last year and extended an invitation to President Mitterrand to visit India.

In reply to a question, Cheysson said that France has agreed to join a peacekeeping force in Lebanon to ensure safe evacuation of the PLO personnel. He hoped no one will spoil the remarkable effort which has been to find a solution of the crisis in Lebanon.

He took the United States to task for seeking more time to make its committed contribution to the concessionary financing of the developing countries by the International Development Association. He said during his talks with Finance Minister Pranab Mukherjee they discussed ways and means of persuading other developed countries to make good the gap in the American contribution. France stands for such aid on moral, political and economic grounds. If the developing countries do not show economic progress, where will be the market for industrial products of the developed, he asked.

On North-South dialogue, Cheysson said this has again been stalled because of opposition from the United States. He said some decisions were taken at the meeting of the North countries at Versailles on the subject and these were welcomed by many developing countries, including India. But in the UN Assembly the United States was again raising new difficulties. This, Cheysson said, is most worrying.

The French foreign minister also called on Prime Minister Mrs Gandhi and had talks with her for about 1/2 hour.

[Text] French Foreign Minister Claude Cheysson, who left New Delhi last night, has said that France is ready to join the multinational peace force to be stationed in Beirut. Talking to the Spotlight program of All-India Radio last night, he said negotiations have reached a delicate stage.

Cheysson commended India for its progress in science and technology. He said India is the only country in the Third World to have progressed in space science. He recalled the French collaboration in launching India's experimental satellite, Apple. The French minister added that India and the European Economic Community can increase their cooperation through long-term arrangements and contracts.

Referring to the relations between his country and the United States, Cheysson described them as disputes in a family. The disputes, he said, may be hot but not serious.

TURKISH PRIME MINISTER, FOREIGN MINISTER ARRIVE

[Text] According to a Central News Unit report, Turkish Prime Minister Bulent Ulusu, accompanied by the Turkish foreign affairs minister, arrived in Tehran this afternoon at the head of a high-ranking delegation.

The Turkish prime minister and his delegation were accorded military honors at Mehrabad Airport. Later they met briefly with Prime Minister Mir-Hoseyn Musavi and Foreign Affairs Minister 'Ali Akbar Velayati. During this meeting the Turkish prime minister spoke about the existing friendship between the two nations of Iran and Turkey. He said: We are glad that our relations with Iran are very good and we hope these relations will continue to grow.

In reply, Mr Musavi said: Our cooperation begins with these friendly relations, and we hope to continue friendly relations with the brother nation of Turkey.

According to a Central News Unit report, Turkish Prime Minister Bulent Ulusu, accompanied by the Turkish foreign minister, this afternoon met with Seyyed 'Ali Khamene'i, president of our country.

During this meeting the Turkish prime minister conveyed a message from the Turkish president to Mr Khamene'i.

Later Mr Khamene'i briefed the Turkish guests in detail on topics relating to the Iraqi-imposed war situation.

Depart 7 August

[Text] Tehran, Aug. 7 (IRNA) -- Bulent Ulusu, the prime minister of Turkey, and the Turkish foreign minister, Ilter Turkmen, left Tehran at 11:00 am Saturday. They were officially seen off at Tehran's Mehrabad Airport by Iranian Prime Minister Mir-Hoseyn Musavi, Foreign Minister Velayati, and the president's advisor, Mir-Salim.

The high-ranking Turkish mission arrived in Tehran Friday and held talks with President Khamene'i and Prime Minister Musavi.

In his meeting with the president, Mr Ulusu presented a message from the Turkish President Kenan Evren. President Khamene'i outlined clearly the position of Iran in the Iraqi-imposed war for the Turkish delegation.

Velayati on Talks

[Text] In the wake of the visit to Iran last Friday of the Turkish prime minister and foreign minister, Foreign Minister Velayati took part in an interview this afternoon with a Central News Unit correspondent and commented on the reason behind the visit, the topics raised during discussions and the outcome of the visit. We draw your attention to this interview:

[Begin recording] [Question] What was the reason for the visit to Iran of the Turkish prime minister and foreign minister [words indistinct]?

[Answer] In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. As you know, the Turkish president recently sent a letter to President Khameme'i. (?Part of this letter) dealt with the Iran-Iraq war.

In reply to this letter, Mr Khamene'i sent a well-reasoned letter to the Turkish president, reiterating our already stated conditions and [words indistinct]. Following the exchange of these letters, the Turkish prime minister and foreign minister paid a visit to Iran in order to take a more active step, as it were. [passage indistinct]

Just like earlier similar occasions, this time too we held only one meeting in which the Turkish prime minister and foreign minister as well as (?Mr Khamene'i) and I took part. The Turkish prime minister repeated his request, saying he wished to (?mediate) between the two neighboring countries of Iran and Iraq.

In reply, Mr Khamene'i said: We always prefer peace to war. However, here we are concerned with another point as well. The point being that we intend to defend our revolution, that we see certain hands behind Iraq. These hands have been encouraging Iraq to harm our revolution and to fight Iran. If we have to (?make a decision) to choose between [word indistinct] and our revolution, then it is obvious that we shall defend our revolution. [passage indistinct]

We have not altered our terms at all since the very beginning. As for our terms, we have already stated them and you already know them. As long as these terms are not met we shall continue the war. So far, part of one of our conditions has been fulfilled, that being that a great part of our territory has already been liberated as a result of our fighters' efforts. What Iraq claims about [words indistinct] is a lie for it still controls some strategic positions. Had it not been (?for this), then it would have suffered heavier blows with a great many more Iraqi troops having been captured by our forces. [sentence indistinct]

Additionally, we do demand reparations, bearing in mind that these reparations do not cover our entire losses, for non-material losses cannot be recovered. No one can compensate us for the great many of our young people who have been martyred. We are talking about part of our losses, material losses, which we demand.

Moreover, in order to prevent any repetition of similar incidents in the region, it is necessary for an aggressor like Saddam to be punished. So long as these terms are not met we shall continue the war.

Mr Khamene'i told the Turkish prime minister: Why do you insist on dressing a wound which is still infected? We should first try to get rid of the infection before dressing it so that it will not recur. [sentence indistinct] Now that you see Iraq expressing despondency, posing as the oppressed party, it is because it is talking from a position of weakness. If you take a look you will see that the utterances made by the Iraqi regime's leaders since the beginning of the war, as it were, in a position of strength, till now, when they are in a position of weakness, have drastically changed. Our statements and terms since the beginning of the war have remained the same.

This very change in Iraqi leaders' utterances goes to demonstrate that one cannot rely on their promises. These are the type of people who, sensing they have the power, bully their neighbors. On the contrary, sensing their own weakness they become despondent and desperate. [passage indistinct]

We believe that the outcome of this visit resembles the outcome of other visits made by other mediating missions [words indistinct]. We have already stated that we prefer peace to war. However, we have also announced that we shall not compromise in principles. Where there is the question of defending the revolution then it is obvious that we shall not (?compromise). This is a principle which we have always explained to all the mediating missions visiting Iran. Consequently, we explained the very same point to our friends visiting our country and stands, we also discussed relations between the two neighboring countries of Iran and Turkey. These were positive and constructive discussions. [end recording]

KHAMENE'I REJECTS ISLAMIC REPARATIONS FUND OFFER

[Text] Tehran, Aug. 8 IRNA -- Foreign Minister Velayati said that afternoon that the Turkish mission had proposed the establishment of an Islamic fund for paying war reparations to Iran. Speaking about the results of the visit of the Turkish mission to Iran, Dr. Velayati further added that the Iranian president had flatly rejected this proposal and stated that the Iranian nation was potentially rich and too dignified to accept such contributions. President Khamene'i had also stressed in the sessions, continued the foreign minister, that the Iranian nation considered Saddam as having been solely responsible for paying war reparations.

Dr. Velayati said that the president had also emphasised that the Iranian nation considered it its right to safeguard the achievements of the Islamic revolution and would do so until its last drop of blood.

Comparing the Iraqi stance at the beginning of the war and its present one following its continuous set-backs, Dr. Velayati said that Iraq had repeatedly waivered in its position versus Iran, and that therefore no pledges or promises from Baghdad could be taken seriously.

The foreign minister warned that the Iraqi subservient regime would plunge the region into chaos if it should be permitted to regain power.

The Turkish delegation led by Prime Minister Bulent Ulusu arrived here on Friday afternoon and after submitting the message of the Turkish president, Kenan Evren, to his Iranian counterpart and holding two rounds of negotiations with the Iranian authorities left here on Saturday.

IRAQI ENVOY'S CLAIM OF MEETING TERMS ASSAILED

LD061022 Tehran IRNA in English 0910 GMT 6 Aug 82

[Text] Tehran, Aug. 6 (IRNA) -- The Iraqi regime is desperately trying to hold the upcoming non-aligned summit conference in Baghdad, in an attempt to strengthen its precarious political situation, said a Foreign Ministry spokesman Thursday.

However, he added, the Islamic Republic of Iran's combatants' dauntless struggles had led to some countries requests to change the venue of the conference or postpone it and hence the cancellation of the conference was quite probable.

The spokesman was referring the recent remarks of the Iraqi ambassador to Saudi Arabia to the effect that Iraq had accepted Iran's three terms for ending the war. The Foreign Ministry official said this was a new Iraqi stratagem to suggest to the world that Iraq was peace-loving and that Iran opposed peace.

The spokeman of the Foreign Ministry attributed the measure of the Iraqi ambassador to placating the current internal melee in his country. The Iraqi revolutionaries, he added, had created a very insecure environment for the upcoming conference, with the continuation of the war exasperating it.

Hence, he went on, the Iraqi regime aimed at suggesting to its nation which was weary of the war, that it was Iran which was the belligerent party. The aggressor, however, he said, was the Iraqi regime which was still continuing its incursion by occupying Iranian territory and plundering and sacking Iranian border towns.

The spokesman also repudiated the Iraqi (?ambassador's) alleging that the Iraqi troops had fully withdrawn from Iranian territory, and said Iraq still held several strategic western border areas from where it shelled the innocent civilians of Iran.

In conclusion, the Foreign Ministry spokesman said that Iran will continue to fight until it gained all its due rights and that Iraq was not competent to be a member of the Non-aligned Movement let alone preside over it.

KHOMEYNI: WAR WILL CONTINUE UNTIL TERMS MET

[From the news headlines]

[Text] The interior minister, the commander of the gendarmerie, heads of political-ideological departments, a number of Islamic Republic of Iran Gendarmerie personnel and governors general from all over the country today met with Imam Khomeyni, the leader of the revolution and founder of the Islamic Republic of Iran.

During this meeting the imam of the community, addressing those in charge of affairs, graciously said: We must think about performing our duties in a way that will satisfy God, the most exalted. Today, the good name of the Islamic Republic, which is the good name of Islam, depends on the good names of those in charge of affairs.

Referring to the fact that governors general are dutybound to supervise all those who are under their command, the leader of the revolution graciously said: Governors general must make sure that no one who needs access to a governor general is denied it.

The founder of the Islamic Republic of Iran, emphasizing the importance of judicial work and accuracy in this matter, addressed judges: They must all remember that they are servants, that their work is very sensitive and that their responsibility is very great.

The imam of the community, referring to the fact that the purpose of our current war is to defend Islam and the good names and honor of the Muslims, graciously said: Everyone should try to satisfy the need for manpower and other things on our borders for as long as necessary.

The commander in chief emphasized: Our entry into Iraqi territory to this extent is to defend Islam and the Islamic country and we must finish this job. As long as they do not meet our conditions our war will continue.

The leader of the revolution graciously said: Our conditions are the ones we set from the beginning and we are faithful to these conditions. As long as these conditions are not met we are at war; we cannot make peace with evil men.

Further Details

[Text] Tehran, Aug 8, IRNA -- Iran will continue fighting until all its terms are met (by the Iraqi regime), announced Imam Khomeyni, the leader of the revolution and founder of the Islamic Republic of Iran, this morning.

The imam, who was addressing a group of the personnel of the gendarmerie along with the gendarmerie head Colonel Kuchek-Zadeh as well as the provincial governors general and Interior Minister Hojjat ol-Eslam 'Ali Akbar Nateq-Nuri, said it was encumbent on all the nation to meet the needs of the battlefronts, be they in manpower or in other logistical needs.

The leader of the Islamic revolution said there was always a confrontation between Islam and whatever which was not Islamic. He added that all the nation was obliged to defend the Islamic Republic which was a manifestation of Islam.

In another part of his speech Imam Khomeyni repudiated the Iraqi regime's claims on having fully withdrawn from the Iranian territory and said they still occupied some parts of the Islamic homeland and that Iran had to witness for itself the full withdrawal of the Iraqi forces.

Citing the daily shelling of Abadan and other Iranian border cities by the Iraqi long-range artillery, the imam said Iran would never make peace with a country which was saboteur.

In today's meeting, first a report on the recent joint seminar of the Cabinet and the governors general, held in Mashhad, was presented to the imam by Interior Minister Nateq-Nuri and then Colonel Kuchek-Zadeh briefed the imam on the situation of his organisation. Then Imam Khomeyni provided the group with pertinent guidelines.

After stressing that all which was carried out for the sake of the Almighty would never be lost and was viable, the imam said all people who were responsible in the Islamic Republic were bound to fully abide by all Islamic canons and had to carry out their duties in a way befitting Islam.

Imam Khomeyni called on all those who held posts in local revolutionary committees, the Islamic Revolutionary Guards Corps (IRGC) as well as the Islamic judges, government employees, the ulema and armed forces to wield maximum care not to violate Islamic and humanistic codes of behaviour in dealing with the people who summoned their assistance.

The leader of the world's deprived then said: Sometimes a deed which was purely enacted for worship and for gaining the satisfaction of the Almighty Allah, could very delicately end up in a great sin. He noted that those cases were usually on the part of the people who had no intention except serving Islam and the Islamic Republic, but with a bit of heedlessness, their deeds could lead to a sin.

Referring to examples in which some people's inattention had led to the dissatisfaction and discomfort of others, the imam said it was incumbent upon all those who worked for the cause of Allah to be extremely careful as to not violate those norms of behaviour.

The imam concluded his words by imploring the Almighty Allah for granting all Muslims good health and happiness in serving Islam.

KHOMEYNI ADDRESSES RADIO, TV PERSONNEL

LD072100 Tehran IRNA in English 1925 GMT 7 Aug 82

["Islamic Republic Committed to Islam and Not to Expansionism" -- IRNA headline]

[Text] Tehran, 7 Aug. IRNA -- Iran has never taken a step for war, all has been for defending the Islamic revolution, announced Imam Khomeyni, the leader of the revolution and founder of the Islamic Republic of Iran today.

The imam, who was addressing a group of the personnel of the Voice and Vision of the Islamic Republic [VVIR] and its head Mohammad Hashemi-Rafsanjani, said the Iranian thrust into Iraq was purely for defense and that if Iraq fulfilled the terms it was expected to, Iranian troops would immediately withdraw from Iraq.

The leader of the Islamic revolution said Iran did not covet the Iraqi territory nor had it any claims on Basra or Baghdad, for, the imam said, the Islamic Iran has always been after peace and brotherhood everywhere, because, he added, this had ever been one of the primary canons of Islam. He said all Muslims had to be brothers with each other.

Speaking on the Ba'thist Party of Iraq and Saddam, Imam Khomeyni said the Iraqi nation had always abhorred those two, because they had dispatched the best of the Iraqi people, such as the late Ayatollah Hakim, a religious authority of Iraq, who was constantly harassed by the Iraqi regime.

In an implied reference to ousted President Bani-Sadr and the last prime minister of the entombed shah, Shapur Bakhtiar (now in Paris) as well as to the self-proclaimed crown prince, Reza Pahlavi, he ridiculed Saddam's claim on having "victoriously" retreated from Iran, and noted that Saddam could as well go to Paris, to join his peers calling themselves "legal president, legal shah, legal prime minister" and other legal officials and to form a "legal" proxy government there.

The leader of the revolution said no one had attacked Saddam in the beginning that he has said his invasion of Iran was to defend himself. [sentence as received]

In another part of his speech, Imam Khomeyni referred to the wave of propaganda being waged against Islamic Iran everyday in the world to defile its true visage into that of a monster and said the enemies of Islam were acting in that fashion for they saw their interests were buried in Iran. He also said Iran never entered the battlefield primarily for winning a war but, rather, for carrying out its Islamic duties.

Stressing the importance of the VVIR, Imam Khomeyni expressed satisfaction with the improving output of that organisation and other bodies after the counterrevolutionaries had left Iran.

The leader of the Islamic revolution further added that the modifier "Islamic" panicked the enemies of Islam and that they opposed the Iranian revolution precisely for its "Islamic" qualities.

In the beginning of the meeting, the VVIR head submitted to the imam a report concerning the performance of the organisation and a survey of efforts undertaken by the VVIR to better introduce Islam to its overseas audience.

FRIDAY IMAM ON AID TO IRAQ, BAGHDAD SUMMIT

LD061524 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 6 Aug 82

[Report on Friday sermons given by Hojjat ol-Eslam Emami-Kashani, Tehran's temporary Friday imam, on 6 August at Tehran University]

[Excerpts] In his first sermon, Hojjat ol-Eslam Emami-Kashani, Tehran's temporary Friday imam, talked about administrative systems in Islam.

In his second sermon, Tehran's temporary Friday imam talked about the war with the Iraqi regime. He said: Maybe some unaware people abroad and some other groups inside the country think that Iran with its 36 million people is facing Iraq, with its 14 to 15 million people. However, the nations should know, as our nation and the Iraqi nation know, that this is not true, we are facing a group of Ba'thist 'Aflaqites and a group of filthy, misled mercenaries named the Iraqi Ba'thist Armed Forces. They receive help in four forms: money, equipment, manpower and propaganda. Statistics show that when Iran was regaining its occupied territories from the Iraqi invaders, Iraq received about 55 million dollars in financial aid. Iraq also received more financial aid from the (?reactionary) governments of the region last year. On the other hand, Iran was subjected to economic sanctions.

These days, Iraq receives war equipment and modern Soviet tanks from one direction; other equipment has arrived in Iraq from the other direction, from the port of 'Aqaba right next door to Israel. Israel, this ally of Iraq, does not prevent it. From the manpower point of view, Egyptian pilots are working for Iraq. Germany has also recently given Iraq several planes, and convoys of weapons were moving along Kuwaiti highways toward Iraq. Fortunately, it appears that governments of the region want to deal realistically with the problems, and we take this as a good omen.

[Name indistinct], who is an extremist Zionist in the U.S. Senate, says: We should not support Israel in its attack in south Lebanon, but those governments which are facing Iran should be supported. More interesting are the remarks made by the U.S. secretary of defense, who says: After the Israeli attack on south Lebanon, there was no motive for Iran to enter Iraqi territory. He is saying that Iran's attention should be diverted to Lebanon so that it does not enter Iraqi territory. Now the entire world is eagerly and arrogantly waiting to see the defeat of [the current regime in] Iran, because their survival depends on what happens in Iran.

Foreign propaganda has depicted Iran as a monster facing the countries of the region. This propaganda is trying to show that Iran is an aggressor and will invade these countries tomorrow. But Iran is not an aggressor and its leader has graciously stated that it is not permissible to enter someone else's territory. Our entry into Iraqi territory is a defensive not an offensive action. Some of our territory is still being occupied by the Iraqi Armed Forces and our cities are being pounded from Iraqi territory while there is this propaganda against us. The logic of Islam is fraternity and equality and, God willing, all Muslims will unite and will liberate Jerusalem.

In connection with the nonaligned summit, Tehran's temporary Friday imam said: [Begin Emami-Kashani recording] It is highly unlikely that this nonaligned summit will be held in Baghdad. News agencies, some of the world mass media and some (?people) also (?say this). It will not be held there for two basic reasons: First, Baghdad does not have political stability or security. This is very clear and its reason [word indistinct] of the country.

Last night the Voice and Vision of the Islamic Republic showed (?one of Baghdad's streets). (?Nothing is safe) in a place where people have to move under strict security control and where the Ministry of Interior, whose task is to guard the country's security, is blown up. The explosion killed or wounded so many people that even Iraqi radio announced some of the damage.

It is obvious that a wise man will not risk his life to participate in (?Baghdad's summit). It is obvious that they will not come. The world understands this and the heads of the nonaligned countries also know this. The more Saddam explains about security [words indistinct], (?the less he will encourage the participants).

He might say: We have been building places for this summit for the past 3 years. So what? You have been building these places, but how can you be sure that no explosives are concealed in some parts of these buildings? [passage indistinct] [end recording]

RAFSANJANI INTERVIEWED ON FUTURE OF WAR

[Text] Mr Hashemi-Rafsanjani, Majlis speaker and the imam's representative to the Supreme Defense Council, touring Mashhad at the head of a delegation, spoke to our correspondent at Mashhad center, remarking on the situation on the battlefronts and his viewpoints concerning the future of the war as well as Iraq's internal situation.

During this interview the Majlis speaker said: We wish to achieve our goals without any further bloodshed. But the world is deliberately trying to help Iraq to stand on its feet and to continue to resist. In order to show the world [words indistinct] does not stem from any possible weakness on our side, we may possibly embark on dealing once again a few blows to the Iraqis. The speaker stressed: If this resistance continues we may reach Baghdad. We draw your attention to this interview:

[Begin Hashemi-Rafsanjani recording] In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. The situation on the battlefronts is as good as we might expect. We have succeeded in expelling the Iraqi forces from our country with the exception of a few heights in the west of the country which are still the hands of the Iraqis.

[Words indistinct] after we entered the Iraqi territory we thought that before our forces' arrival there, the Iraqis would have evaluated the situation and would have stopped their mischief and would submit to the fact; but they failed to do so and this forced us to enter Iraqi territory. [passage indistinct] A large number of Iraqi forces have been destroyed and this constitutes a phase in the Ramadan Operation.

As a result of this, people in the region and the world as a whole realized that we were serious in our words as well as our deeds. Now we have assumed a state of wait-and-see; if we could achieve our goals without any further bloodshed and loss of life we would prefer to maintain the current calmness, but we are not prepared to see such calmness prolonged for long. That is because the noises being made by the world propaganda machinery are aimed at further encouraging Iraq to continue to resist a bit more. They have taken our suspension of advance as resistance showed by the Iraqis or our inabilities [words indistinct].

We may be forced to inflict a few more blows on the Iraqis. Of course, here again we would prefer to inflict those blows outside Iraqi cities at the military centers. But if they fail to surrender then [words indistinct] we may be forced to extend our operations. We are prepared in the south to inflict the blows. In the west we may in the future be forced to approach Baghdad if the Iraqi resistance continues [words indistinct]. We pray to God that that situation will not arise. We do not expect and cannot see any preparation by the Iraqi forces for an offensive. If there is, then that is sheer suicide. As regards defense, of course, they may be able to gather together their forces here and there, because defense is easy. They can irrigate the desert, dig new trenches, plant a few mines and use some natural barriers. But their defensive capability is limited and cannot continue for long. In some places they even lack defenses, but on the other hand with the information we have on the Iraqi situation, we are able to hit at locations, thus making our operation even more effective. [end recording]

Continuing his remarks, Mr Hashemi-Rafsanjani then turned to the internal situation in Iraq, saying:

[Begin Hashemi-Rafsanjani recording] Information available to us suggests that the Ba'th Party is under pressure from inside and outside. We know that the majority of the Iraqi people are enemies of the Ba'th Party. The Ba'th Party has no ground among the people in Iraq as a result of its performances including torture, pressure, imprisonment, massacres and so forth. At the same time countries such as Syria and Libya and South Yemen, which are powerful, also oppose the Ba'th Party. Reactionary countries such as Jordan, Saudi Arabia and some of the small Gulf states and others who support it are either [words indistinct] or can provide Iraq with funds and can be trusted by Iraq because they too are U.S. elements. [passage indistinct]

The Iraqi Armed Forces are ashamed before their nation. They are even ashamed before friends of the Ba'th Party for their failure in performing their mission. They too are lacking any base among the people of Iraq. At the same time, the Iraqi mujahidin have increased their activities, specially the Muslims who have had extensive activities recently. As a result of these developments the Iraqi regime has been forced to make many concessions to the leftists, to release their prisoners, and to submit to some of their demands. Of course, these measures will not result in securing the leftists' confidence; they know well that these concessions have come about as a result of Iran's might and pressures brought by the Muslim forces inside Iraq. [end recording]

[Text] In His exalted name. The Islamic Republic of Iran's Ground Forces' artillery yesterday opened fire on the enemy positions west of the Arvand Rud, and the Al-Faw-Basra road, which destroyed a number of enemy artillery positions, tank emplacements and infantry bunkers.

Simultaneously with these operations, the fighters of the gendarmerie, while defending their positions along the Arvand Rud embankment, opened fire with their heavy weapons and destroyed 1 enemy ammunition dump, 11 bunkers, 4 observation posts and 1 vehicle carrying Iraqi personnel across the Arvand Rud. During this engagement as least 28 enemy personnel were either killed or wounded.

The fighters of the navy destroyed several bunkers of the Saddamist forces at the same location and killed the Iraqi troops in them.

The mercenaries of Saddam's Zionist-Ba'thist army yesterday heavily shelled Abadan's residential sectors. Some residential buildings were destroyed, one person was martyred and three were injured in the city.

Sporadic exchanges of fire continued in the operational regions on the western fronts. Our forces destroyed several [word indistinct] combat, two vehicles and five enemy bunkers. During this operation 12 Saddamist soldiers were killed.

During exchanges of fire on the Marivan fronts, our forces pounded enemy positions at [words indistinct] regions and destroyed some bunkers and weapon emplacements and killed several enemy soldiers. The enemy suffered relatively heavy casualties during this operation and Iraqi ambulances were seen in the area for a long time carrying away the dead and the wounded.

Enemy aircraft that violated the airspace over our western cities yesterday were driven off by our air defense units, forcing them to flee before taking any action.

Guards Corps Communique

LD071740 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 7 Aug 82

[Communique issued on 7 August by the Public Relations Office of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps]

[Text] In the name of God, the merciful, the compassionate. Greetings be upon the imam of the community and the heroic nation, the supporters on the battlefronts and the selfless and valiant personnel of the army of Islam. Here are the results of some of the operations carried out by the valiant combatants of Islam:

At dawn yesterday, the sons of Islam launched an operation codenamed "God's retribution" on the Qasr-e Shirin road leading to the Iraqi region of Firuz Khan and as far as the Qal'eh-ye Sefid border post. Considerable losses were inflicted on the invading Iraqi forces. Our successes include:

Liberating two strategic heights overlooking Qasr-e Shirin, [words indistinct] establishing complete security on the Qasr-e Shirin-Sar-e Pol-e Zahab road; capturing enemy supply routes between Firuz Khan and Beyshahr inside Iraqi territory; destroying an enemy command headquarters at the operational axis, inflicting heavy losses on the enemy armored forces; destroying several tanks and vehicles, an ammunition dump and killing or injuring more than 200 Iraqi Ba'thist-Zionist mercenaries.

At 0400 today, the combatants of Islam, the valiant and heroic Ilam tribesmen, the selfless personnel of the revolution guards and the Mobilization force, and the valiants of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran formed several guerrilla groups on the Meymak axis and inflicted the following losses and casualties on the aggressive personnel of the Iraqi Army:

The destruction of more than 200 foxholes and trenches, 2 large ammunition dumps, 6 heavy-weapon positions together with their occupants, 3 61-mm and 81-mm mortars, killing more than 90 Iraqi Ba'thist-Zionist personnel, injuring a large number of Iraqi personnel and damaging 2 tanks.

Joint Staff Communique 1,009

LD071748 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 7 Aug 82

[Communique No 1,009 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. The results of the battle by the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran against the Saddamist Ba'thist invaders during the past 24 hours are brought to the attention of the Muslim and grateful community of Iran:

Yesterday combat and exchange of fire continued on the Qasr-e Shirin and Mehran fronts between the self-sacrificing combatants of Islam -- the warriors of the ground forces, the brave combatants of the gendarmerie and the Guards Corps -- and the Iraqi Ba'thist mercenaries.

On every front and operational sector, the self-sacrificing warriors of Islam inflicted losses and damages on the Iraqi forces. By destroying Iraqi Ba'thist trucks and several light- and heavy-weapon emplacements, they halted the movements of the Iraqi Ba'thist aggressors. Several personnel of the forces of blasphemy were killed or wounded.

The intense fire by the ground forces on the Marivan front smashed positions and fortifications of the Iraqi Ba'thist invading forces. Combatants of Islam also silenced the fire of the Iraqi Ba'thist mercenaries and destroyed several trenches and foxholes of the Saddamists with troops deployed in them in the Tutman and Panjwin sectors. Several of the enemy personnel were either killed or wounded.

Sporadic exchanges of fire on the southern fronts continued yesterday. The victorious combatants of Islam, defending and consolidating their own positions, returned and silenced the enemy fire of the Ba'thist mercenaries. One enemy tank and one personnel carrier were set ablaze and destroyed. The warriors of Islam also killed a number of enemy troops by destroying part of their positions and fortifications.

On one of the Ramadan Operation fronts, three misled Saddamists sought asylum in the embrace of Islam and [word indistinct] their units presented themselves to the combative forces of Islam. They were welcomed by the self-sacrificing forces of Islam.

Fire by the brave warriors of the gendarmerie on Saddamist positions on the other side of the Arvand Rud destroyed nine Saddamist trenches and foxholes and killed several Iraqi Ba'thist mercenaries.

As on previous days, the city of Abadan came under long-range and heavy-artillery fire yesterday by the Iraqi Ba'thist criminals. The city mosque was damaged and four people in the mosque were wounded. Iraqi mercenary fire on the Abadan region martyred 1 of our dear compatriots and wounded 14 others.

All air attacks by the Iraqi Ba'thist mercenaries on southern and western border regions yesterday were repulsed. The timely fire of the air defense units and tactical actions of the self-sacrificing pilots of the Air Force of the Islamic Republic of Iran forced the violating planes of the Iraqi Ba'thist aggressive forces to flee.

However, the antiaircraft fire of the vigilant air defense units of the Islamic Republic of Iran forced them to flee before carrying out any operations.

Iraqis Using T-76's

[Text] Tehran, 7 Aug (KUNA) -- Commander of the Iranian Revolution Guards Mohsen Reza'i was today quoted here as saying that the Iraqi forces in the recent battles between Iraqi and Iranian forces north of Basra used modern and sophisticated Soviet-made tanks. He said that these Soviet-made T-76 tanks have not been given by Moscow to any country outside the Warsaw pact. These statements by the Iranian official have been published in the Iranian press. He also claimed that the Iranian forces have destroyed and captured a number of these tanks. Iraq has announced that its forces have inflicted a crushing defeat on all Iranian attacks in that region since 13 July.

[Text] In His exalted name. Operations by the forces defending the Islamic revolution continued over the past 24 hours. Our troops directed their fire on enemy infantry and armor positions and logistical axes. Islam's forces, enjoying superior combat capability and morale, inflicted substantial losses on the Saddamist forces on all the operational fronts, killing or wounding more Iraqi military personnel.

On the country's western fronts, our fighting units were able to destroy seven enemy vehicles, three tanks, much military equipment and three engineering vehicles. In addition, an enemy supply bridge was damaged and a number of Saddamists were killed. Combative tribal warriors returned enemy fire with strength on every front under their protection in the western part of the country; they are carrying out their missions with reconnaissance and combat operations. Activity by the forces of Islam on the Marivan front have been very effective, and our combatants prevented the Ba'thist mercenaries from carrying out deployment and movement on the Moro heights by directing artillery fire against them.

In the operational sectors south of the country Islam's forces, enjoying victory coming from God, have total operational initiative and, maintaining their control over areas under their protection, are defending their positions. There was exchange of fire in the Khorramshahr and Abadan regions over the past 24 hours and the fighters of the Gendarmerie of Islamic Republic of Iran, while preventing the enemy from deployment and troop movement on the other side of the Arvand Rud, opened fire on Saddamists' troop concentrations and killed or wounded a number of them.

Yesterday enemy mortar shelling of Abadan destroyed 15 houses, setting them ablaze. Yesterday air defense units of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran neutralized enemy violations in the southern and western parts of the country by their timely fire and forced the intruding enemy aircraft to leave the airspace of the Islamic Republic of Iran.

Successes Reported

[Text] Bakhtaran, Aug 8 IRNA -- Many logistical bridges and depots of the aggressor Iraqi forces were smashed over the 24 hours preceding Sunday as the enemy's positions and equipment in Tang-e Hammam and Tang-e Bord Ali, in Bakhtaran Province, were barraged by the Islamic defenders. In these operations, some Iraqis were killed or wounded as the Iranian forces disabled 2 enemy vehicles and damaged 8 engineering vehicles.

On the western fronts of Nowsud, Sumar, Marivan, and Qasr-e Shirin, exchanges of fire continued during this same time. The Islamic forces in the Marivan front of Kordestan Province, storming the Iraqi positions in the Moro region, halted the enemy movements, killing 5 Iraqi soldiers and wounding 4 others as well as destroying 2 enemy vehicles in the Hajji Chakur region.

Meanwhile, some Iraqi fighter planes, which violated the airspace of Ilam, Bakhtaran and Islamabad Sunday morning, were soon repulsed without carrying any mission, by the anti-aircraft fire of the Iranian defenders.

Fighting in Arvand Rud Area

LD082340 Tehran IRNA in English 2006 GMT 8 Aug 82

[Text] Abadan, Aug 8, IRNA -- The Islamic combatants stationed accross the Arvand River banks zeroed in on the enemy bunkers on the other side of the river, destroying one big munitions depot, one water reservoir, five machine gun positions, two observation posts and two group bunkers, killing several Iraqi soldiers.

The Islamic defenders in Abadan targetted the enemy positions around Saybah beyond the Arvand River and extinguishing their 106-mm gun fire destroyed two surveillance posts, one 106-mm gun and one 75-calibre gun position of the Iraqis while killing at least 15 enemy aggressors.

Iraqi aircraft violated the air space of Abadan for eight times today to bombard the residential areas but were forced to flee by the defenders of the Islamic Republic before launching any attacks.

NEW SOVIET AMBASSADOR PRESENTS CREDENTIALS

LD071810 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 7 Aug 82

[Text] According to a Central News Unit report Mr Boldyrev, the new ambassador of the Soviet Union to the Islamic Republic of Iran, visited the Ministry of Foreign Affairs this afternoon and presented his credentials to Foreign Affairs Minister Velayati.

During this meeting, the Soviet ambassador said he hopes relations between the two neighboring countries will expand day-by-day and that, as the new ambassador, he will be successful in this matter.

In reply, Mr Velayati said: We also welcome the expansion of relations with our neighbor country on the basis of mutual respect, nonintervention in internal affairs and respect for each other's sovereignty. In such conditions relations between the Islamic Republic of Iran and the Soviet Union can be the symbol of relations between two neighboring countries with different social systems.

KHO'INI ON SOVIET POLICY TOWARD IRAQ, LEBANON

[Text] Tehran, Aug 8, IRNA -- "The Soviet Union in its foreign policy...has been defeated in recent years and my view is that the Soviet officials are also making a revision and they are looking for a good chance to start," said Hojjat ol-Eslam Musavi-Kho'ini in the second part of his interview with the Persian daily KEYHAN today. Speaking on major regional topics, Kho'ini, explaining the Soviets' silence on the present Palestinian issue, said that the Soviets have suffered a set-back in the diplomatic field and entangled in an impasse. "They (the West) have seized the initiative from them (the Soviets)," he said.

In his interview, the Majlis deputy and recently appointed representative of Imam Khomeyni to the hajj ceremonies pictured the Islamic Republic as a world power which should trust in the teachings of the prophet of Islam as a source for delineating its foreign policy. "Just like when the prophet of Islam wrote letters to countries and governments during his time and demands them...to stop their pressure on the people, and to permit the people to accept the truth, so must we follow the same principle in our foreign policy and relations," he said.

The Islamic Republic, he said, should back those countries which had turned away from the U.S. even though to a limited extent only and thus it would help such countries to tread their path more confidently.

Giving Syria as an example, Hojjat ol-Eslam Kho'ini told the KEYHAN interviewer that although Syria did not adhere to the policy of "Neither East nor West" but that nonetheless the Islamic Republic should not connive at pressures being brought by other governments upon Syria especially now that it was in the forefront of its struggle against the Zionist regime. He said that if outside pressure on Syria would continue it would eventually plunge into the status of Egypt at the time of An-Nasir with all the possibilities of degrading even further into a status similar to the era of As-Sadat and his successor Mubarak.

Concerning the future of Iraq, Kho'ini said that if Saddam Husayn had not made an aggression against the Islamic Republic in a preemptive move to curb anticipated revolts at home, Iran would never try to take the initiative in toppling the Iraqi Ba'thist regime. He said "if the present grounds had not been prepared by Saddam himself this action (entering Iraqi territory to liberate the Iraqi people) would not have been logical or acceptable to the world, however much as we desired to go and save the Iraqi people."

He also added that Iraq was one of the countries which had been well invested by the Soviet Union but had slipped away into the hands of the U.S. whether the Soviets liked it or not. "We hope", said Kho'ini, "to see the emergence of an Islamic Republic (in Iraq) which would slap both the Soviets and the U.S. and throw both of them out."

TEHRAN OPPOSES PLO EVICTION FROM BEIRUT

GF081340 Tehran International Service in Turkish 1830 GMT 7 Aug 82

[Unattributed commentary: "The Zionist Regime's Attacks Against Lebanon Continue"]

[Excerpts] Dear listeners: It has been nearly 2 months since the racist Zionist regime, which is against humanity, launched its savage attacks against the Lebanese and the heroic people of Palestine. In the course of this time the people of Lebanon and Palestine have created legends through their determined resistance. Meanwhile, the usurper United States and criminal Israel have been occupied in massacring women and children with the most deadly weapons, including napalm and phosphorous bombs.

On the other hand, the compromising Arab states have continued their usual indifference, hinting through their silent attitude that they accept everything.

As for the United Nations, it has become obvious that the UN resolutions have been ignored by the racist Tel Aviv murderers. In fact, UN observers failed to secure access to Beirut from the Zionist troops during the last few days. Thus, everyone has come to understand that this organization is totally useless.

Currently, the cruel and merciless attitude of Begin and Reagan has reached such a point that a number of obervers have compared what has befallen the Muslim people in Lebanon to the disaster the Jewish people endured under Hitler, concluding that the war in Lebanon is being prolonged inhumanely with a view to eliminating the Muslim people of Palestine.

With the increasing political and military pressure of international oppressors, the massacre of the Palestinian people has entered a new phase, thanks to the silence of compromising leaders. It has become obvious that the conspiracy hatched by the leaders of international oppressors in Versailles is being gradually realized. It now seems that from the viewpoint of international oppressors the question of Lebanon is arriving at the last stop as a result of the many-sided mobilization embarked upon by compromising leaders, imperialism and Zionism.

At this historic juncture, the responsibility on the shoulders of the Muslims of Palestine and the world of Islam is making its weight felt more than ever. Obviously, the future of the Palestinian Islamic revolution and the hope for stability in the region concern only the Islamic masses.

With this view in mind, it is our conviction that the Muslim Palestinians must remain in Lebanon no matter what the cost may be. The true struggle must be waged by the Palestinian fighters. The day the Islamic world will eliminate those who have been aiding the Zionists -- in fact, those who have been helping the Zionists in the massacre of the Muslims -- is not too far off. The Muslims will eventually eliminate those who betray the sacred ideal of the Muslims and the free people of the world. The revolution will be carried on the shoulders of the Muslim masses until its target is achieved.

A generation of the Palestinian Islamic revolution is being killed in Lebanon. Meanwhile, the latter is being trampled upon by fascists and Zionists. Nonetheless, ministers who are actually businessmen are holding ceremonies and organizing entertainment on the shores of the Mediterranean. The truth is that even if only one Palestinian fighter manages to survive through this ordeal, some day he will liberate sacred Jerusalem with the help of the 1 billion Muslims of the world and remove the racist Zionists from the face of the world. In short, he will retrieve the lost [word indistinct] of the Muslims.

Lebanon

Habib Plan -- U.S. envoy Philip Habib's plan calls for, among other things, a staged departure by sea and land of about 9,000 Palestinian elements, in addition to Syrian elements in Beirut, the Voice of Lebanon and Monte Carlo radios reported. They said "D" day would begin with the receipt of a final namelist and end within 15 days. The multinational force would arrive "immediately after the departure of the Palestinians," according to the Voice of Lebanon. Monte Carlo said they would "begin to enter Beirut 8 days after the beginning of the PLO departure."

Israeli Position, Comment -- The Israeli Cabinet, meeting in special session on 10 August, decided to accept "in principle" the plan formulated by Habib but "it has proposals for various amendments," IDF radio reported. Earlier, Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin announced that Israel will give Habib more time to find countries willing to receive the "terrorists" but that this period of grace will be limited, the radio said. Begin criticized the Arab countries for their reluctance to absorb the PLO. Although Jerusalem radio reported on 10 August that Habib has said countries of destination for the PLO fighters have been found -- specifically Jordan, Syria, Iraq and Egypt -- an earlier report by the radio said Habib only had agreements from Arab countries to take up to 2,000 "terrorists." In an assessment reported by the radio, IDF Intelligence Chief Maj Gen Yehoshu'a Sagi claimed that since PLO Executive Committee Chairman Yasir 'Arafat knows that the departure of the bulk of PLO forces to Egypt and Syria is impractical because of their reluctance to accept the PLO, 'Arafat intends to use the multinational force as a buffer between the PLO and the IDF and then declare that he is prepared to leave but has nowhere to go. A related report by Jerusalem television stated that Israel considers Syria's position to be the main obstacle to the plan for the evacuation of the "terrorists" from Beirut.

In other developments, Ambassador to the United States Moshe Arens arrived in Israel for urgent consultations with the government and to report on the mood in Washington, according to ITIM and Jerusalem radio reports. Meanwhile, Foreign Minister Yitzhaq Shamir said the military pressure on Beirut is essential because otherwise the "terrorists" will retract their willingness to be evacuated, the radio reported.

Israel on Paris Attack -- Condemning the terrorist attack at a Jewish restaurant in Paris, an Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman said the anti-Israeli atmosphere prevailing in France since the beginning of the "Peace for Galilee" Operation has encouraged extremist elements to strike against Israel and Jews.

Beirut Meetings -- Lebanese President Ilyas Sarkis met with Prime Minister Shafiq al-Wazzan, Foreign Minister Fu'ad Butrus and the U.S. delegation headed by envoy Philip Habib to discuss current developments, Voice of Lebanon radio reported. According to the radio, Al-Wazzan later said the talks are "complete" and Habib is preparing his plan for implementation. Prime Minister al-Wazzan also met with PLO Chairman 'Arafat to discuss "all the topics," the radio reported.

Military Situation -- Israeli warplanes launched renewed raids against targets in west Beirut and also attacked PLO artillery positions in the Lebanese mountains east of the capital, according to statements by the IDF spokesman reported by IDF radio. The latter attacks -- against 130-mm cannons deployed within the Syrian-controlled sector in the Tarshish area -- were in retaliation for recent shelling of IDF units near 'Alayh, the radio said. The Palestinian-Lebanese joint forces military spokesman announced that 42 people were killed and 85 others were wounded in the Israeli bombardnment of Beirut by land, air and sea, the clandestine Voice of Palestine radio reported. The spokesman also claimed that the joint forces repulsed an Israeli advance in the Museum area, inflicting 30 casualties. In the evening, the Israelis intensively shelled Palestinian positions in Beirut and advanced westward from the Museum toward the Hippodrome while the Palestinians shelled Christian districts to the east and south, according to Voice of Lebanon radio. Although the radio also said WAFA had confirmed reports of an Israeli landing operation on the shores of west Beirut, a Palestinian source cited by the Voice of Palestine denied the "false reports fabricated by the Phalangist radio."

Violent artillery exchanges continued late into the night, Beirut radio reported. Jerusalem radio said the IDF responded to violations of the cease-fire by the "terrorists" in Beirut and other areas.

Egyptian Position -- In a statement cited by MENA, Foreign Ministry First Under Secretary 'Usamah al-Baz, accompanying President Husni Mubarak on an official visit to Muscat, said Egypt insists the PLO fighters should evacuate Beirut within the framework of a complete settlement of the Palestinian issue. He stressed that without such a solution, no stability will be achieved and any other settlement would be temporary.

Meanwhile, President Mubarak received a message from PLO Chairman 'Arafat on the Beirut situation and Palestinian Resistance, MENA reported.

Jordanian, Kuwait, Syrian Positions -- The Jordanian National Consultative Council issued a statement that condemned the United States for its "active" part in the Israeli "aggression," Amman radio reported. The statement called on Arab governments to reconsider their relations with the United States in view of its rolein supporting Israel.

A message from the amir of Kuwait to Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev called on the USSR to use its international position to stop the Israeli action in Lebanon, diplomatic sources cited by KUNA revealed.

The Syrian Council of Ministers met on 9 August and emphasized the need to continue mobilizing "capabilities" in the country to maintain its pan-Arab responsibility, Damascus radio reported. Meanwhile, Foreign Minister 'Abd al-Halim Khaddam received the French Government's envoy and ambassador to discuss the Lebanese situation and bilateral relations, the radio noted.

Damascus Protests -- Palestinian demonstrators in Damascus gathered in front of the U.S. Embassy to hand over a protest note on Lebanon addressed to U.S. President Ronald Reagan, but a disturbance forced Syrian security forces to intervene, Monte Carlo radio reported. The demonstrators then went to the Saudi and Jordanian embassies, entering the Jordanian Embassy and obliging Syrian forces to intervene again. Amman radio said Jordan handed the Syrians a protest note denouncing the attack and holding the Syrian Government responsible. A commentary by the radio claimed the incident showed that Syria has rejected positive moves for resolving Arab differences. A Damascus radio report on the demonstrations said thousands marched to condemn U.S. stands and sent a message to President Reagan on the Palestinian position.

Arab Summit

Eleven countries -- sufficient for a quorum -- have agreed to attend a resumed Arab summit conference in Fes, the Moroccan ambassador to Tunis announced in a statement reported by KUNA. Stressing the importance of holding an Arab summit at this moment, which requires unified Arab action, confrontation and decisiveness, Riyadh radio said the delegations to the summit must be of the highest level. However, Lebanon meanwhile requested that the Arab League postpone any Arab summit until further notice, according to KUNA.

In light of the attempt to reconvene the Fes summit, the Yemeni and Tunisian proposals for an extraordinary summit in Tunis have been withdrawn, according to reports by San'a' radio and KUNA.

Iran-Iraq War

An Iraqi military communique carried by INA claimed that two large Iranian naval "targets" were destroyed and sunk in the Khowr-e Musa area. Meanwhile, IRNA reported that Iranian artillery and naval shelling hit Iraqi positions across the Shatt al-'Arab killing over 20 Iraqis

SOVIETS DEVELOPING VAST MILITARY INFRASTRUCTURE

PM091519 London THE SUNDAY TELEGRAPH in English 8 Aug 82 p 11

[Gordon Brook-Shepherd article: "What the Russians Are Plotting in Afghanistan"]

[Text] Every since the Russians invaded Afghanistan, nearly all the news to come out of that unhappy country has dealt with the running battle between the Afghan freedom fighters and the Red Army garrison.

Yet, though that is the most dramatic story of the 30 months of Soviet occupation, there is another untold one that is far more important: The way in which, undeterred by any guerrilla fighting, the Russians are remorselessly building up a vast military infrastructure which, before another 30 months have passed, will enable them to dominate the entire south-east region -- Iran, Pakistan, the Indian Ocean and the Persian Gulf all included. Indeed, in concert with their political ally, India, the Russians could use this same network to challenge China to the east. We are thus talking about one of the potentially most dangerous shifts in the strategic East-West balance going on anywhere in the globe.

The clearest clue to the real long-term purpose of the Soviet presence in Afghanistan is their striking development of military airfields. These are being built and equipped with sophisticated defence systems on a scale that can have nothing whatsoever to do with the campaign against the mujahidin -- who anyway do not possess a single aircraft between them.

Thus six new Soviet airfields are currently under construction in the north-eastern province of Badakhshan, where the guerrillas do not even operate. The province is almost as forbidding and deserted as a lunar land-scape; but as it forms the one land link between the Soviet Union, China and Pakistan, its strategic importance is obvious. Three of the six airfields -- at the moment no more than dirt landing strips -- have been hacked out of the mountains of the so-called Wakhan panhandle, which thrusts from Badakhshan into China. The Russians have also stationed one infantry regiment, plus some anti-aircraft units, in this God-forsaken area. The 2,000 soldiers concerned, utterly bored and isolated, are reported to have one of the worst morale problems of the whole occupation army, and to be taking heavily to drugs and drink.

Major military airbases being extended are at Bagram, north of Kabul, and at Shindand, Qandahar and Jalalabad, in the south and west of the country. The Russians have brought in two regiments of SAM-8 missiles to guard them, adding to the lower-grade defence capacity of the SAM-2s, 3s and 6s already with the Afghan Army. The SAM-8 is the best low-level quick reaction missile that the Russians possess, and can only be intended to match the most modern Western strike aircraft. Completely new military airfields are either operating or under construction at Farah and Herat (facing Iran); at Serdeh Band, near the Pakistan border, and at Askargh, near Qandahar.

The Soviet air bases south of the Hindu Kush range are seen as particularly significant by Western observers. They are all safely away from the treacherous flying conditions of the mountains and in the good weather zone of the great desert belt. From here the Russians are well-placed to cover their own substantial naval forces in the Indian Ocean and also to threaten any opponents there or in the Gulf. The type of Soviet aircraft being stationed at these bases suggests that this is precisely what the Kremlin has in mind. MiG-27s, which are long-range bombers, are known to be there, as well as a long-range reconnaissance squadron of 10 MiG-25s, which can now patrol those same warm waters Peter the Great once coveted.

Both the Soviet military command structure and the Red Army's lines of communication have been shaped, since the Afghan invasion, to fit this broad capability. As part of a re-grouping of Soviet forces throughout the USSR, a southern command, under Marshal Sokolov, has been set up to control the military district of Turkestan, central Asia and Transcaucus.

It is this command, with headquarters at Tashkent, which is in overall charge of the Soviet forces in Afghanistan -- and, presumably, of anything they might get up even further afield.

The build-up of the communications and supply links between the Soviet Union and Afghansistan can only be described as spectacular over the past two years; again, the scale far exceeds the needs of a supposedly "temporary" garrison. Thus a satellite ground station (called Lotos by the Russians and Shamshad by the Afghans) was opened at Kabul on February 28 this year -- primarily for the benefit of the Soviet southern command at Tashkent. (The Kremlin has every reason to appreciate this ultra-modern facility; it is known that the Marxist coup which preceded the Soviet invasion was hatched on a special satellite link between Moscow and the Soviet Embassy in Kabul).

A permanent road and rail bridge now spans the River Oxus to replace the old pontoon structure, and the river ports of Hairatan and Sher Khan are being rapidly expanded with permanent installations. A twin oil and diesel pipe-line is being built to run from Termez (just on the Russian side of the border) down through Mazar-e Sharif and Oalagai to Kabul, and an electricity transmission line is under construction, also initially to Mazar-e Sharif. One power source, however, goes the other way. This is Afghan natural gas, 95 per cent of which goes up on a pipe-line to the Soviet Union. The Russians have placed the monitoring meters just inside their own frontier so they can produce their own import figures.

Both the gas and the oil pipelines have been attacked and temporarily cut by the guerrillas, but in general the Russians have been able to proceed quietly with their strategic development plans without any serious interference.

Nonetheless, the Russians are infuriated by the embarrassingly stubborn resistance of the Mujahidin, even if they are not afraid of it and, for their current counter-insurgency campaign, have brought in another 10,000 troops to add to their regular garrison of around 90,000. The result still seems to be the familiar stalemate of the Russians holding the towns (and of course, all their own bases) and the guerrillas controlling much of the mountainous countryside.

The cost in casualties to the 40th Soviet Army (hq in Termez), which provides the occupation forces, is hard to establish. Clearly, it varies between those years when the army goes on the offensive in major "search and destroy" operations (as in 1980 and again, apparently, now) and, as in 1981, when it keeps a low profile and avoids battles in the countryside. But an average toll of 3,000 a year in killed, wounded and sick is probably not far off the mark. It is known that at least one Russian transport plane which can take up to 70 litters, makes a weekly tour of six main air bases in Afghanistan to collect Red Army casualties and evacuate them to the Soviet Union. As for the dead, they seem to be provided for several times over -- if the report can be believed that a coffin factory in Kabul is producing 200 of the wooden boxes every day. These could only be for the Russians or their small contingents of Cuban and East European helpers: all Moslems are buried simply in white sheets.

To begin with, the Red Army tried, whenever practicable, to bring its dead back for normal funerals at home. But this practice was discontinued after relatives, taking a last look at the bodies, found some of them horribly mutilated (or, not infrequently, mixed up), As many as possible of the corpses are now interred in military cemeteries inside Afghanistan. Unlike the British Government over those killed in the Falklands, however, the Soviet authorities are not offering special compassionate visits for the families.

That is not the only contrast with the Falklands conflict, which shrinks in strategic as well as physical terms when compared with this unpublicised menace building up on the roof of the world. What, if anything, can be done about it, by the West as a whole, and by Pakistan, which is the last solid Western bulwark left in the region?

On a recent visit to Pakistan I discussed this at length with several of Pakistan's leading figures -- including President Zia himself. The man at the sharp end of all is the governor of the North-West Frontier Province, General Fazle Haq, an affable and splendidly dynamic figure.

He feels strongly that both Pakistan and the West ought to stop pussy-footing over their aid for the guerrilla fighters (many of whom, of course, are drawn in relays from the 2.7 million Afghan refugees now crowded in or around his province). Speaking in his spacious office at Peshawar -- once occupied by British generals, and with the mahogany desks and old shooting trophies of the raj still in place -- he told me:

"Our policy of no peace and no war is absurd. Either we come to terms with Kabul or we give these chaps (the mujahidin) proper arms, and enough of them and really hit the Russians. Whatever the risks we must do this before their line of communications build-up is completed.

Back in Islamabad the Foreign Office chiefs seemed all for coming to terms. "We are, after all, such a small country," one of them sighed (which sounds odd to an Englishman, until you compare Pakistan's 85 million with the 1,000 million of China or the 700 million of India), "and we must cut our cloth accordingly."

President Zia, with whom I spent nearly four hours of one memorable evening, came somewhere between the doves and the hawks. He was wary of provoking the Russian bear unnecessarily, yet quite resolute to stand up to him.

"Of course," he said, when we discussed the Soviet strategic build-up, "what they are really after in Afghanistan is to dominate everything in the region, down to the Horn of Africa and beyond. Iran and the Gulf are the supreme prizes. And also now the most tempting. Yes, we stand in their way and they try all manner of tactics to neutralise or scare us. But if it comes to it we shall fight with all we have got. We do not want American bases or American soldiers. All we ask for and need are the weapons. If 85 million Pakistanis cannot defend their country, then nobody can."

One hopes that Washington, as well as Moscow, has taken note. Britain, alas, is a bystander these days in the Himalayan great game which she once played with such zest.

SARBOLAND OUTLINES ROLE OF AFGHAN RADIO, TV

LD072312 Kabul Domestic Service in Dari 1600 GMT 7 Aug 82

[Excerpts] Dear listeners of Radio Afghanistan: According to the tasks specified in the PDPA action program, which says that the word of party and government should reach the ears of the working people, and in order to realize the resolutions of the Ninth PDPA Central Committee Plenum that the people should learn more about the objectives of social, economic and cultural plans of the party and government, and in accordance with the resolutions of the PDPA Central Committee Secretariat, a specific radio and television program has been prepared for each of the ministers.

Therefore, we now draw your attention to a speech by 'Abdolmajid Sarboland, deputy chairman of the Council of Ministers and minister of culture and information:

[Begin Sarboland recording] The main branches of mass media, responsible for the explanation and propagation of the revolutionary aspirations and policies of the DRA party and government, are radio and television, which can play an enormous role in the political education of the masses.

After the April Revolution and especially after the victory of the new development stage of the revolution, major, qualitative and quantitative changes can be seen in the work of these two branches of mass media. For example:

The creation of new political, economic and art programs such as radio the voice of people, revolutionary guards, sarandoy, worker, [words indistinct] and soldier's voice, and others, in radio and television; the increase in interviews and talks by workers, peasants and other toilers concerning their work, life and revolution on radio and television; the radio broadcast of 30-minute programs for the fraternal nationalities of Afghanistan in their own languages and music programs for the fraternal nationalities of Afghanistan on television; the broadcast of documentary reports for the provinces; the extensive broadcast and [word indistinct] of decisions and resolutions of the party and government and the provision of the PDPA Central Committee's guidelines via different programs; interesting programs introducing the socialist countries and explaining the peaceful and human policies of these countries; and preparation of programs on the Western world.

Exposing the nature of imperialism and its interference in our revolutionary country; exposing the conspiracies and the dirty faces of the counterrevolutionary rebels, thieves and murderers; the broadcast of various programs introducing the true culture of the country, and the preparation of different musical, drama and historical programs; the broadcast of party programs to strengthen national unity and strengthen relations between the party, people and government.

Radio Afghanistan at present broadcasts 17 hours a day and television broadcasts daily around 5 hours and 45 minutes. These two important means of communication, despite various difficulties arising from the budget, shortage of skilled personnel and necessary buildings, consistently continue their work for the realization of the resolutions of the national conference and the Ninth PDPA Central Committee Plenum. In order to maintain this objective, they will carry out expansion and improvement of the level of broadcasts in the capital and the provinces. [passage indistinct]

The construction of a new radio complex with the assistance of the friendly GDR, whose preliminary work is underway, and also the new television complex which will be built with the assistance of the Soviet Union in the future, will enable these two important means of mass communication to carry their great responsibilities.

CHANGES IN MILITARY SALARIES ANNOUNCED

LD071730 Kabul Domestic Service in Dari 1600 GMT 7 Aug 82

[Text] Dear listeners of Radio Afghanistan:

A monthly salary of 2,000 afghanis plus expenses for the duration of military service will be paid to soldiers and noncommissioned officers after they have completed 2 years military service.

Soldiers and noncommissioned officers with higher education will receive a monthly salary of 2,000 afghanis from the time they complete 1 year of military service.

IRAQI FOREIGN MINISTER PAYS 2-DAY VISIT

Arrival Statement

BK081435 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1230 GMT 8 Aug 82

[Text] Iraqi Foreign Minister Sa'dun Hammadi has said that the final decision about the venue for holding seventh nonaligned summit will be taken at the foreign ministers' meeting in Baghdad on the 2d of next month.

Hammadi was speaking to newsmen at the Delhi airport on his arrival this evening. External Affairs Minister Narasimha Rao received Hammadi at the airport. Hammadi said that the ministerial-level meeting of the nonaligned countries will be held as scheduled on the 2d of September at Baghdad.

INA Report

JN081344 Baghdad INA in English 1330 GMT 8 Aug 82

[Text] New Delhi, Aug. 8, INA -- Iraqi Foreign Minister Dr Sa'dun Hammadi Sunday arrived in New Delhi carrying a message from President Saddam Husayn to Indian Premier Mrs Indira Gandhi on the 7th non-aligned summit conference.

He was received at the airport by Indian Foreign Minister Mr P.V. Narasimha Rao and high officials of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

Talking to a large number of newsmen who were present at the airport, Dr Hammadi said that Iraq expects India to play a constructive role in the matter of the non-aligned summit since India is one of the leaders of the Nonaligned Movement. The purpose of his visit is to have talks with the Indian leaders about the forthcoming nonaligned summit.

Dr Hammadi answered in the negative when asked if Iraq agrees to the suggestion by Cuba to hold the meeting of the foreign ministers of non-aligned countries in Havana on 21st August.

When asked to comment on the Iranian propaganda against the nonaligned summit, he explained that being at war with Iran is one matter but to mix up the whole Nonaligned Movement with this conflict is another. Iran is trying to overshadow the whole Nonaligned Movement by its conflict with Iraq.

Dr Hammadi clarified Iraqi position on the nonaligned foreign ministers meeting by saying that Iraq's stand is that the ministers should meet in Baghdad as scheduled on 2d September.

Dr Sa'dun Hammadi also said that before taking any final decision, Iraq wanted to consult the fellow members of the Nonaligned Movement, especially India.

Before the arrival of Dr Hammadi, pressmen present at the airport were told by Indian Foreign Minister P.V. Narasimha Rao that as far as India is concerned till this time there is no change in the venue of the 7th nonaligned summit.

Foreign Minister Hammadi will meet later today with the French foreign minister, Mr Claude Cheysson, who is on a 24-hour visit to New Delhi.

Dr Hammadi is scheduled to meet Indian Prime Minister Mrs Gandhi tomorrow and he is also scheduled to have a detailed meeting tomorrow with Mr Rao.

Delivers Husayn Message

JN090824 Baghdad INA in Arabic 0800 GMT 8 Aug 82

[Text] New Delhi (INA) -- Indian Prime Minister Mrs Indira Gandhi today received a written message from President Saddam Husayn dealing with Iraq's preparation for the Nonaligned Movement's summit conference scheduled for next September.

Iraqi Foreign Minister Dr Sa'dun Hammadi conveyed the message when he met with Mrs Indira Gandhi here today. Dr Hammadi met earlier with Indian Foreign Minister P.V. Narasimha Rao and discussed bilateral relations and Iraq's preparations to host the Nonaligned Movement's summit.

Before leaving, the Iraqi envoy said that the talks the two sides held were constructive and that it has been agreed to continue the consultations in the future.

DELHI IN IRAN-IRAQ 'CROSSFIRE' OVER SUMMIT VENUE

BK071539 Hong Kong AFP in English 0530 GMT 7 Aug 82

[Text] New Delhi, Aug 7 (AFP) — Iran would welcome New Delhi as the alternate venue for the seventh non-aligned summit conference, originally scheduled to be held in the Iraqi capital, Baghdad, from September 6, an Iranian Embassy spokesman said here today.

"We will welcome New Delhi as the venue, as India is not only a leading member of the Non-Aligned Movement, but to our reckoning a truly non-aligned nation. We have made our stand very clear, now it is up to the movement leaders to decide upon a new venue", the spokesman said.

Meanwhile, the Indian news agency, UNI, said foreign ministers of the over 90-member movement will meet in the Cuban capital Havana on August 21 to decide whether to hold the summit at Baghdad in view of the continuing war between the two member nations -- Iran and Iraq.

The Indian Government refused to either confirm or deny the latest Iranian proposal to hold the conference in New Delhi.

But even if the forthcoming Havana foreign ministers meeting decides to shift the venue to New Delhi, India would not be able to hold the conference at least till late November, due to the Asian games, scheduled to start here on November 19, a highly placed government source said.

Meanwhile, Speaker of the Iranian Parliament 'Ali Akbar Hashemi-Rafsanjani is arriving here tomorrow to hold talks with Indian leaders on the summit venue, the Iranian spokesman said.

"We have been saying from the very beginning of the Iran-Iraq war that the summit cannot be held in Baghdad, but no one took us seriously...but the latest battle victory of the Iranian troops and our military abilities seem to have convinced the movement leaders that it will not be proper to hold the summit in the Iraqi capital", the spokesman said.

"Our objection is not only on the venue, but the aftermath, which would make Iraq the chairman of the movement for three years...we cannot allow that as Iraq had started and prolonged the war on another member nation for none of our faults", he said.

Meanwhile, the Iraqi Embassy here has also launched a diplomatic campaign to rope in India in their last effort to hold the summit in Baghdad.

Iraqi Foreign Minister Sa'dun Hammadi is also arriving here Sunday to impress upon India not to join hands with some other member countries in shifting the venue from Baghdad.

"We are firm on our decision that the summit should be held in Baghdad as there is no reason to shift the venue," Iraqi Ambassador Adnan J M al-Ubaydi said.

Mr al-Ubaydi said his government had made "fool-proof" security arrangements for the conference leaders.

All civilian aircraft, including the regular international airlines have been asked to stop flying to Baghdad from August 15 and there would be more than 300 fighter planes in the skies above Baghdad.

The controversy over the venue which had been going on now for some time took an official shape with Bangladesh proposing to shift the venue last month. But Iraq was firm in rejecting Dacca's proposal.

Mr al-Ubaydi, who had held a press conference here, had called Bangladesh's proposal "a conspiracy by the enemies of the Non-aligned Movement."

Fidel Castro of Cuba, the present chairman of the movement, said in a message cabled to heads of the member states earlier this week: "We suggested to Iraq that under the circumstances, it propose upon its own initiative, a change of venue and the search of an honorable solution for all this difficulty."

"But unfortunately the Government of Iraq has not yielded and insist on holding the conference under such circumstances" he added.

India said yesterday it was studying the Cuban proposal but finds itself in a diplomatic cross fire because of its equally good and prosperous economic ties with Iran and Iraq, an analyst said.

"And the latest Iranian statement that it would welcome New Delhi as an alternate venue has put India in a difficult situation, he said.

RAO REITERATES CLAIM OVER WHOLE OF KASHMIR

BK061011 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0830 GMT 6 Aug 82

[Text] External Affairs Minister Narasimha Rao has reiterated that the whole of Jammu and Kashmir is constitutionally and legally an integral part of India. He told the Rajya Sabha today that the government's attention has been drawn to the reported decision of the Pakistan Government to integrate the civil services of the Pak-occupied areas of Kashmir with those of Pakistan. Rao said all steps taken by Pakistan to integrate the civil services or to nominate people of the occupied Kashmir to the Majlis-i-Shoora [Advisory Council] are illegal. He said India has always lodged protests whenever Pakistan took steps to integrate the occupied area of Kashmir.

Replying to several supplementaries Rao said Pakistan's efforts are to keep the Kashmir issue alive. As to what step India is taking to remove irritants between the two countries, he said a series of positive efforts need to be taken.

Rao said that India believes that this view is shared by Pakistan. On its part, India is taking all necessary steps in pursuance of this process.

'HUNDREDS' DETAINED FOLLOWING TERRORIST ACTS

BK070917 Hong Kong AFP in English 0830 GMT 7 Aug 82

[Text] Islamabad, Aug 7 (AFP) -- Hundreds of people have been detained for questioning after the resumption of terrorist activities in Pakistan, following a period of relative calm, newspapers here reported.

The most dramatic recent incident was the explosion of a booby-trap car last Monday [2 August] at Lahore airport, just before the departure of a domestic Karachi-bound flight, which injured eight people and destroyed seven private vehicles outside the VIP lounge.

Two days after the blast, reportedly the first of its kind in this country, eight masked youths set fire to a Pakistan International Airlines (PIA) employees' bus by throwing explosives at it, and escaped on motorcycles.

According to reports in New Delhi, the Lahore blast was claimed by a spokesman of Kabul-based Al-Zulfiqar group, who said it was carried out because three ministers of military President General Mohammad Ziaul Haq's Cabinet were supposed to have taken the plane.

The Al-Zulfiqar group was formed by Murtaza Bhutto, son of the late former Premier Zulfiqar Ali Bhutto -- hanged on a political murder charge in April 1979 -- about two years after Gen. Zia overthrew Mr. Bhutto's government.

Nobody, however, claimed responsibility for the later Karachi incident, which coincided with numerous reports of burglary and bank robbery in Pakistan's big cities.

The newspaper reports say that over 300 people have been detained in connection with the Lahore incident and investigations have spread to other cities.

Most of those arrested belonged to the disbanded Pakistan People's Party (PPP) being led by Bhutto's widow, Nusrat, or were described as anti-social elements.

The military authorities in Punjab Province admitted that 177 Al-Zulfiqar supporters had been arrested there.

The number of arrests was expected to rise as the manhunt continued, with police in Lahore carrying out strict checks on private vehicles.

The present trouble follows the detention of about 10,000 people, according to opposition sources, after the discovery early this year of a plot to "kill important personalities" in Pakistan, using explosive-packed versions of the Islamic holy book, the Koran, reportedly brought by terrorists from Kabul.

The incident gave a bad name to the Pakistan People's Party, observers here said.

Most of those arrested then were later freed, and Minister for Home Affairs Mehmud Haroon said in June that 400 terrorists had been identified and would be tried by special courts.

According to newspaper reports, the Soviet secret service KGB was behind the Kabul-based group, while according to ammunition experts, the terrorists used a Russian-made 15-pounder high explosive time bomb.

Newspapers have also criticised acts of sabotage by "miscreants who wanted to harass the general public".

Police and security forces have meanwhile begun extra vigilance for the coming August 14 national day celebrations, newspapers said.

The regime has decided to observe Pakistan's 35th Independence Day with great pomp and show, and precautionary measures have been taken to counter any subversive move on the day, it was reported.

TERRORIST BLAMED FOR 2 AUG LAHORE BLAST

GF061311 Karachi DAWN in English 4 Aug 82 pp 1, 10

[Excerpts] Lahore, Aug 3 -- Ammunition experts in their initial investigation report have expressed the possibility of the use of a Russian-made 15-pounder high-explosive time-bomb which detonated at Lahore airport late last night.

Planted in a stolen car and minutes after the takeoff of PIA flight PK 307 DC-10, the bombs exploded in front of the VIP lounge, injuring six persons, five of them belonging to the same family. All the injured have been admitted to hospital and are out of danger.

The explosion destroyed seven cars. Knowledgeable sources told "DAWN" here today that according to a first-hand investigation report prepared by a team of explosive experts it was suspected tc be an act of terrorism.

The bomb was planted in a car and connected with an automatic device. It was fixed for a particular time for explosion. The device has the capability of retaining the sparks of a burning cord off from 15 minutes to one hour, and reaching the explosive.

All the persons who suffered injuries, one of them (a child) seriously, had come from Sialkot to see off their relatives.

No person has been arrested so far but an inquiry report says that the bomb was used by an unknown terrorist who wanted to create harassment at the airport.

A high-level meeting was held here today at the airport. Among others it was attended by the base commander and other senior civil and military officials. A high-ranking official from the Ministry of Defence flew into the provincial capital from Rawalpindi to represent the secretary of defence.

In the meantime, Punjab Governor Lt-Gen. Ghulam Jilani Khan, who was in Rawalpindi to attend the MLAs [members of legislative assembly] conference and the Federal Cabinet meeting, kept his liaison on telephone with the authorities concerned and ordered an inquiry report.

Following the meeting extra precautionary security measures have been taken. Now the parking has been disallowed in front of the VIP lounge. Airport security guards have been posted at the parking lot and have been ordered to make search of any of the suspect vehicle. Anyhow, according to PIA sources, no flight was delayed in spite of the tight security measures which required additional time for the checking in of the passengers.

PPI adds: The deputy inspector-general of police, Lahore, Mr Jehanzeb Burki, told newsmen this evening the police had not yet apprehended the culprits.

He said the incident was a sabotage activity of some miscreants who wanted to harass the general public. However, he said, precautionary measures were under way and the police force had been alerted to deal with the situation.

HAQ COMMENTS ON DOMESTIC, FOREIGN POLICIES

GF091315 Karachi DAWN in English 7 Aug 82 p 10

[Text] Lahore, Aug 6 -- President Gen Mohammad Ziaul Haq has said that steps taken by his government to introduce Islamic system, bring about economic stability, creation of peaceful conditions and arrangements for the security of Pakistan enjoyed the support of the massive majority of people.

The president stated this in an interview published in the special issue of a Lahore daily.

Since the process of Islamization of society reflected the aspirations and desires of people, he was sure no one would be able to reverse the process in the future, the president added.

He said governments remained in power only when their policies reflected the hopes and expectations of people. His government had made constant efforts to meet the demands of people, and some very encouraging results were transparently visible [as published] in all the fields.

It had been a firm commitment of his government to enforce Islamic values in Pakistan. It had initiated some measures towards interest-free banking and institutionalizing the system of Zakar [charity]. Now the government had also announced the enforcement of "usher" [tithing] from the next rabi [spring] crop in 1983.

To accelerate the process of dispensation of speedy and inexpensive justice, the president said, the federal shari'at court was in existence.

Replying to a question about the development of rural areas, the president said development of rural areas, where the majority of the country's population lived, was totally ignored in the past. The present government had decided to place considerable emphasis on direct action to alleviate poverty and satisfy the basic needs of the rural masses.

The position now was that the rural sector was seen as a partner in the development process rather than "an object of obligation on us to help them."

When asked about the major economic policies of the government, the president said the consistent growth in the economy of over six percent in the five consecutive years had been the result of appropriate policy package implemented by the government during this period. These policies covered every sphere of economic activity.

About the role of Pakistan in the international field, the president said Pakistan had consistently pursued a policy of peace and friendly relations with all countries, particularly its neighbors, on the basis of sovereign equality.

In line with our resolve to promote the interests of Islamic ummah, the president said, Pakistan had endeavoured to further strengthen fraternal relations with the Muslim world. As an active member of the Organization of Islamic Conference, Pakistan had worked to serve the larger interests of the Islamic ummah and to bring about political, economic, social and cultural cohesion among Islamic countries.

Since becoming a member of Nonaligned Movement, he said, Pakistan had made special efforts to preserve the independent character of the movement. It had always resisted great powers' pressures and steadfastly opposed colonialism, Zionism, expansionism, domination and hegemonism in all its manifestations.

President Zia said Pakistan had continued to play an active and constructive role in international forums with the overall objective of promoting international cooperation on issues of global concern such as disarmament and the North-South dialogue.

With the United States, he said, Pakistan had entered a new stage of bilateral cooperation with the signing of 3.2 billion dollars' economic aid and military sales. This package was without any string and the United States had explicitly accepted Pakistan's commitment to the Nonaligned Movement and the Organization of Islamic Conference.

He said Pakistan had made an offer of no-war pact to India since it believed that the two countries should embark on a new relationship of understanding and confidence. Pakistan wanted to live in peace and friendship with India. It was his conviction that normalization of Indo-Pakistan relations was in the best interests of both the countries.

DAWN COMMENTS ON GANDHI VISIT TO U.S.

GF091305 Karachi DAWN in English 8 Aug 82 p 6

[Editorial: "To Washington and Back"]

[Text] Mrs Indira Gandhi's nine-day visit to the United States has, in her own words, proved to be a "good" one. If the Indian leader's talks with President Reagan have not brought about a dramatic change in the state of Indo-U.S. relations, this was not really expected. Such fence-mending exercises require quiet and time-consuming diplomacy, which can only be carried out at the officials' level. However, the Indian prime minister's visit has succeeded in signalling her desire for a change.

She created the necessary impact on American public opinion and impressed her hosts with her move to strike a new balance in India's relations with the superpowers. The success or otherwise of Mrs Gandhi's visit will only be known when the new trends she has sought to set into motion crystallize.

Since Mrs Gandhi's return to power in 1980, India's relations with the United States have hit a new low. The two governments have had plenty to disagree about and, given President Reagan's and Mrs Gandhi's tough style of foreign policy, it is not surprising that the two "biggest democracies" have not been very close. Mrs Gandhi's strong opposition to the American military presence in the Indian Ocean, her reluctance openly to criticize the Soviet Union for its intervention in Afghanistan, her objection to the American arms supply to Pakistan and the American refusal to supply enriched uranium for India's Tarapur plant have soured relations between the two countries.

Mrs Gandhi now appears keen to narrow the differences. That she chose to delay her long-pending visit to Moscow in order to honour President Reagan's invitation first is significant. In Washington she made it clear that "one friendship should not come in the way of the other" and spoke of finding a "common area however small" on which to build cooperation.

To prove that they meant business, Mrs Gandhi and President Reagan agreed to set up a joint panel of scientists to evaluate research on food production, sources of energy and health. Some more areas in which to develop cooperation should not be too difficult to find. The United States is India's biggest trading partner in non-oil items and American private investment in India has increased considerably in recent months and now totals 500 million dollars.

If Mrs Gandhi's underlying motive in calling on Mr Reagan was, as has been widely implied, to change her image in the Third World and register her disapproval of Soviet policies, her American visit will be evaluated with some reservations. It is known that India's refusal publicly to deplore Soviet intervention in Afghanistan and its decision to recognize the Vietnamese-backed regime in Kampuchea have undermined New Delhi's standing in the Third World.

Whether Mr Brezhnev has received the message Mrs Gandhi's visit was designed to radiate should be known in autumn when the Indian prime minister is scheduled to go to Moscow. However, the wide network of economic and military ties India has developed with the Soviet Union over the decades cannot be trimmed down immediately. And a visit to Washington does not automatically improve Indira's credentials with the Non-Aligned Movement. Mrs Gandhi would be expected to demonstrate her support for the principles of non-intervention and independence of all states more convincingly, especially in the context of Afghanistan, if she wants to refurbish the nonaligned image of her country.

FRG EXPULSION OF STUDENTS 'HOSTILE ACT'

LD091744 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 9 Aug 82

["Text" of statement issued by Foreign Ministry Public Relations Office -- date not given]

[Text] More than 3 months after the arrest of 86 struggling sons of the Muslim nation, who were arrested for defending themselves against the enemies of the Islamic revolution and who are living under the most difficult conditions in FRG prisons, we have learned that FRG courts have issued a ruling expelling 22 of these students.

While expressing its regret, the Foreign Ministry of the Islamic Republic of Iran deems it necessary to reiterate the sensitivity of the awakened Iranian community to these unjust verdicts. This sensitivity stems from the fact that FRG judges have never in the past demonstrated a similar reaction to counterrevolutionary offenses committed by the enemies of Islam and the Islamic Republic, such as attacks on and destruction of Islamic Republic missions, injuries to Islamic Republic officials or the attack on the Hamburg mosque, which sustained major damage. In certain cases they even released some of the offenders shortly afterwards.

Thus, the Government of the Islamic Republic of Iran interprets this as a hostile act against the Islamic revolution and believes that its predictable repercussions may have a harmful effect on relations between the two countries and leave undesirable scars.

IRNA EXPLAINS PURPOSE OF RAFSANJANI INDIA VISIT

LD092216 Tehran IRNA in English 2001 GMT 9 Aug 82

[Text] Tehran, 9 Aug IRNA -- Majlis Speaker Rafsanjani is due to leave Tehran for New Delhi tomorrow (Tuesday), heading a high-ranking political, parliamentary and economic delegation. During his visit, the Majlis speaker is to explain and discuss the stands of the Islamic Republic towards the world issues, including the imposed Iraqi war, the Zionist aggression upon Lebanon, the change of the venue of the non-aligned summit meeting from Baghdad, and the expansion of mutual relations with India.

A speaker of the Indian External Affairs Ministry has welcomed the delegation's visit and considered it as a unique opportunity for the expansion of relations between the two countries' parliaments. He added that the Iranian Majlis speaker was one of the close aides of Imam Khomeyni and one of the most important figures in the leadership of Iran. The spokesman continued that Hojjat ol-Eslam Rafsanjani would hold meetings with the Indian prime minister, Ms Indira Gandhi, and other authorities.

He denied a recent report of the Iraqi official news agency quoting Ms Gandhi as saying in a meeting with members of the Indian association in New York that the statements of some of the leaders of Muslim countries would have adverse effects on the Indian Muslims.

The visit is being made at the official invitation of the speaker of the Indian house of people, Balram Jakhar. Minister of Mines and Metals Musavian several Majlis deputies, head of the atomic energy organisation, and Ayatollah Montazeri's representative will accompany Hojjat ol-Eslam Rafsanjani.

This is the highest ranking Iranian delegation to India after the victory of the Islamic revolution.

KHOMEYNI SPEECH TO GOVERNORS, GENDARMERIE

GF091452 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 8 Aug 82

[Speech by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeyni to group of provincial governors general, gendarmerie personnel and the interior minister -- recorded, duration 27 minutes]

[Excerpts] In the name of God, the merciful, the compassionate. I praise the presence of the governors general and the gendarmerie personnel here and [am happy to] see those determined faces. I thank and praise the effort of all the gentlemen, the gendarmerie who are making sacrifices for Islam everywhere and also the governors general who carry out their duties at their post.

I tell all those who are performing a service that they should pay attention to maintaining the honor of the Islamic Republic which is the honor of Islam. The honor of the Islamic Republic today is tied to the honor of its officials. Everyone, in whatever post, has responsibilities corresponding to a particular position. The level of responsibility corresponds to the position of each particular individual or organization. Pay attention so that, God forbid, things are not done which can be capitalized on by certain groups, or in performing your duty in this country you in fact are doing things detrimental to the Islamic Republic. You must dedicate all your efforts for Islam and the Islamic Republic.

Sometimes the people who want to serve do things which are not correct according to Islamic values. For example, they begin shouting and chanting slogans, praying and shouting "God is great" in the middle of the night. This causes problems for their neighbors, the ill, the handicapped and those in hospitals. They all suffer. You turn something which you think is worshipping into a great sin. If, let us imagine, a group wishes to hold unity prayers at dawn; this can be done inside their house or wherever they are. It is for God. If they use a loudspeaker, they should use it inside so that the sound is not heard outside. I sometimes see people who complain and say that some groups have completely disturbed them and they have not even been able to sleep.

This is a small matter which I mention and the principle should encompass all levels. Assume that you, dear guards and other officials, wish to take over a house you have discovered to be a safehouse. You, of course, must do that. However, investigations should be carried out beforehand to determine that without a doubt it is a safehouse so that, God forbid, you do not enter a house thinking it is a safehouse whereas it is housing a group of women and children and before you realize the mistake, God forbid, a number of the children are either killed or wounded.

You want to do Islamic work but may end up committing a great crime. All your work is performed in the presence of God and you are responsible. There is responsibility on earth too but the most important is one's responsibility to the Almighty.

All governors general are dutybound to pay attention to all those working under them so that things do not occur contrary to Islamic values. The more important ones are the judges. The judges who have control over the lives, property and honor of the people. They must pay attention and make sure that they do not send a meek one to jail or, God forbid, send him to his execution as an oppressor. Such things are your responsibilities and if you shirk these responsibility in this world, you will not be able to escape your responsibilities toward God. The judge hovers on the borders of hell. He sits right on the border of hell. The judges have control over everything, whether they are Revolution Court judges or the ordinary ones. The judges must note that they perform a service which is very sensitive and carries heavy responsibilities and should, God forbid, they slip and harm the life, property or honor of a Muslim because of a mistake or, God forbid, deliberately do so, then they will have to be tried in this world; if they escape trial in this world, they will not escape the judgment of the Almighty.

Everyone is responsible for the defense of the Islamic Republic. Today, when we have a war going on at our border, when they claim that they have left the Islamic homeland completely -- yet sometimes because of their stupidity they confess that they are still here -- we must continue to defend Islam, the honor of Muslims and their tradition.

So long as there is a need for individuals there, all those who can, without exception, should supply the necessary personnel and material at the border. Of course, this is not obligatory for everyone so long as there is a sufficient number. So long as there is a need, there is an obligation for everyone. If a group goes and does the job then the others are not needed. But so long as there is a need, the obligation applies to all people equally. However, if a group does the work then the obligation for the rest no longer holds true.

Today there is still a need. Our country needs zealous self-sacrificing people for Islam. We must finish the work at the border and the areas where we have entered Iraqi territory to defend Islam and the Islamic nation.

So long as they [crowd interrupts by chanting "Praise be the Lord"]. So long as they have not complied with our conditions our war will continue. It is not acceptable if they say they have withdrawn. We must see for ourselves that they have withdrawn. We know that they are still in our country and are still holding many places and have fortifications there. They bomb Abadan and other cities almost every day from the other side. So long as the situation is thus and so long as they have not complied with our conditions -- these wise conditions which are agreeable to all the wise ones in the world, and we are not trying to force these conditions, these conditions which were set out at the beginning and have remained the same -- we continue to adhere to them and will continue the war until they are met. We are not able to make peace with ruffians. I, God willing, am hopeful that you gentlemen and the respected clergymen who work with you gentlemen will guide [everyone] in all affairs so that, God forbid, a youth who is not paying attention to conditions does nothing contrary to the values of the Islamic Republic.

ARMED FORCES JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUE NO 1,011

[Communique No 1,011 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. This is to inform dear compatriots of the results of efforts and battles by the self-sacrificers of the Islamic Republic of Iran's Armed Forces. Yesterday, exchanges of fire between Islam's self-sacrificers and Iraqi Ba'thist hirelings continued sporadically on the country's western fronts. Fire returned by the combatants of the ground forces set ablaze and destroyed a number of Saddamist supply encampments and a number of Iraqi troops were killed or wounded.

On the morning of 7 August Islam's victorious and powerful fighters, composed of combatants of the ground forces and self-sacrificers of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps, carried out a series of surprise lightning operations against mercenary Iraqi Ba'thist positions in the Meymak and Meykhazar regions. Pounding enemy armor and positions, they returned safely to their bases. In this battle, which was backed by the powerful artillery of the ground forces at every stage of the operation, heavy blows were struck at the enemy. Enemy losses and casualties include 19 trenches destroyed, 5 observation posts destroyed, 3 mortars destroyed, 1 57-mm gun destroyed, guns damaged or disabled and more than 90 enemy personnel killed.

Yesterday exchanges of fire continued on the southern fronts. Islam's victorious combatants, returning artillery fire on mercenary Iraqi Ba'thist positions, silenced enemy fire and prevented any enemy deployment or movement.

Over the past 24 hours Islam's combatants, while defending their positions, continued to consolidate these positions as far as possible.

Over the past 24 hours exchanges of artillery and heavy-weapon fire continued on the Abadan and Khorramshahr fronts, and the warriors of the navy and of the gendarmerie pounded infantry and artillery positions of the mercenary Iraqi Ba'thists, destroying six Iraqi trenches, two observation posts, one supply post and one ammunition dump. Killing a number of Saddamist hirelings, they prevented them from carrying out any deployment or movement on the Al-Faw-Basra supply axis.

Criminal Iraqi Ba'thist hirelings yesterday continued to bring the city of Abadan under their long-range artillery fire, setting ablaze and destroying 12 houses.

Yesterday Iraqi air intrusions were neutralized.

IRAQI LOSSES IN ARVAND RUD AREA REPORTED

LD092130 Tehran IRNA in English 2021 GMT 9 Aug 82

[Text] Abadan, 9 Aug IRNA -- Firing on the enemy positions around the Iraqi region of Saybah on the other side of the Arvand River, the Islamic revolutionary committeemen of Abadan, southern Iran, smashed a great munitions depot, two watch posts and a gathering building of the enemy and killed at least 15 Iraqi troops today.

Iraqi positions on the other side of the Arvand River were also barraged by the naval combatants who smashed an observation post, a machine gun position, a group bunker and RPG-7 position, killing at least 8 enemy soldiers today.

Defending their positions and firing on the Iraqi fortifications in the Iraqi region of Al-Faw, the gendarmerie combatants destroyed a gathering building and a watch post of the enemy and killed 5 Iraqi troops during the same period.

Aggressor Iraqi warplanes violated the air space of Abadan and Khorramshahr 5 times today, but were forced to flee by the fire of air defence of the Islamic combatants.

Iraqi Ba'thist forces fired on the residential areas of Abadan, martyring 3 civilians, wounding 15 others as well as damaging a mosque and setting ablaze 12 residential units today.

CLANDESTINE ON ARMS DEALS WITH ISRAEL, DPRK

GF090930 (Clandestine) Seda-ye Iran in Persian to Iran 1930 GMT 8 Aug 82

[Text] The regime of Khomeyni and the Government of Israel have started their [word indistinct] transaction again. In a recent deal Iran bought $50-million-worth of arms from Israel. The Israeli officials are holding talks with the Islamic Republic Government on the sale of arms taken as booty from Beirut to Khomeyni's regime.

Mohsen Reza'i, the chief of revolution guards, has claimed that modern tanks made in the Soviet Union and being used by the Iranian Army were bought by the Iraqis from the Soviet Union and taken as booty by Khomeyni's forces.

However, according to exact information we have obtained, these tanks were sold to the Islamic Republic Government by the DPRK.

VELAYATI, MONTAZERI DISCUSS FOREIGN MINISTRY

LD092214 Tehran IRNA in English 2008 GMT 9 Aug 82

[Text] Qom, Aug 9, IRNA -- Foreign Minister Velayati met and conferred with Ayatollah Montazeri here today. Velayati, who was accompanied by the outgoing Iranian ambassador to Cuba and Iranian charge d'affaires to Hungary, handed a report concerning the employment of committed and capable representatives of the Islamic Republic in foreign countries.

Ayatollah Montazeri said during this meeting that the Foreign Ministry was one of the most corrupt institutions during the former regime and hence somewhat difficult to reorganise. He added also that the religious and revolutionary representatives of the Islamic Republic in foreign countries must be given sufficient elbow-room to act unhampered by bureaucratic barriers and too limited authorisation from the central government.

Ayatollah Montazeri pointed out that the foreign minister should hold meetings with the members of delegations going to visit other countries for exchanging views on politics.

KHOMEYNI, NATEQ-NURI MESSAGES ON COMMITTEES

LD091150 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 9 Aug 82

[Text] According to the Central News Unit, Interior Minister 'Ali Akbar Nateq-Nuri, while retaining his ministerial portfolio, has been appointed head of the Islamic revolution committees by Imam Khomeyni, leader of the revolution and founder of the Islamic Republic of Iran.

Following the resignation of Mr Mohammed Reza Mahdavi-Kani as head of the Islamic revolution committees, the interior minister presented the imam of the nation with a letter on 3 August, to which the imam of the nation gave the following reply:

In His exalted name. While thanking Hojjat ol-Eslam Mr Mahdavi-Kani, who will serve Islam to the best of his ability, and while regretting his resignation, I hereby appoint Mr Nateq-Nuri as head of the Islamic revolution committees of Iran. I expect all the personnel of the committees and their excellencies the clergy who serve the committees to cooperate with him. I pray for his success in the service of Islam and the Muslims.

[Signed] Ruhollah Musavi-Khomeyni, 8 August

Here is the text of the interior minister's letter to Imam Khomeyni, leader of the revolution and founder of the Islamic Republic of Iran:

In His exalted name. To the auspicious presence of the Grand Ayatollah Imam Khomeyni, may God make the Muslims enjoy his long life.

With due respect I would like to inform Your Eminence, as you are already informed, that the Islamic Consultative Assembly on 4 June 1982 discussed the subject of national service of guards who belong to committees. The Majlis ruled that the said foundations should continue under supervision of the Interior Ministry. This ministry has been entrusted with the task of preparing the committees' constitution and presenting it to the Majlis as a bill for ratification.

On the basis of the Majlis ruling, the Interior Ministry has taken steps, but some gentlemen are of the opinion that the legislation is not clear as to whether the Islamic committees should be supervised by the Interior Ministry before its constitution is approved by the Majlis.

At the same time, as you are aware, His Excellency Ayatollah Mahdavi-Kani has resigned from his post as head of the Islamic revolution committees. Therefore, the revolution committees have been left without a head, which in itself may have serious consequences.

Therefore, I request you to order whatever you consider to be advisable so that the issue can be cleared up and a head be appointed by Your Eminence for the committees.

My apologies,

[Signed] Minister of Interior 'Ali Akbar Nateq-Nuri, 3 August 1982

NATEQ-NURI ON CABINET RESIGNATIONS, KURDS

GF091744 Tehran JOMHURI-YE ESLAMI in Persian 29 Jul 82 p 12

[Exclusive interview granted by Interior Minister 'Ali Akbar Nateq-Nuri to JOMHURI-YE ESLAMI correspondent -- date not given]

[Excerpts] Regarding the recent Cabinet reshuffle, the interior minister said: Only a few ministers of the Cabinet will be replaced, one of whom is Hojjat ol-Eslam Ma'adikhah. His doctors have diagnosed him as having a heart condition; as a result, he will not be able to continue his duties.

Similarly Mr Rohani submitted his resignation some time back due to some personal problems. Brother Musavian is preparing for his Majlis candidacy and therefore he was resigned from his post as minister of mines and industries.

Concluding his interview, the interior minister expressed his opinion on the security of the area inhabited by the Kurds. He said: Praise be to God that with His blessings, we have achieved phenomenal success in the axes of the south and west of the country and in Kordestan, for example, on the Sa'in Dezh highway in Takab which has been opened after 3 years. Similarly, the Baneh-Sar Dasht highway and the Bukan dam have been purged of counterrevolutionaries.

He added: In the operations that our combatants carried out in the Kurd-inhabited areas of our country, those affiliated with the minigroups surrendered in batches to law enforcement bodies and handed over their weapons.

CLANDESTINE REPORTS OFFICIAL'S 'EXECUTION'

GF100402 (Clandestine) Free Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1500 GMT 9 Aug 82

[Text] According to a report by our correspondent, armed strugglers have carriedbut the revolutionary execution of Mohammad (Kiashemshaki), who was acting director of the regime's reconstruction crusade in Reza'iyeh. Our correspondent says the so-called reconstruction crusade, which has become one of the regime's espionage centers, is a frequent target of attack by the armed strugglers.

(Kiashemshaki) had given many reports to the regime's security organizations concerning the activities of the armed strugglers. From the point of view of the strugglers, he was doomed to execution. The sentence was carried out in Reza'iyeh some time ago.

GUARDS SEARCH HOUSE OF KHOMEYNI'S BROTHER

GF091716 (Clandestine) Free Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1500 GMT 9 Aug 82

[Text] According to a report by our correspondent quoting informed sources, the guards attacked the house of Ayatollah Pasandideh, the brother of Ruhollah Khomeyni, and following a search of his house and having insulted him, left the premises.

The guards believed that the children of Ayatollah Pasandideh and his son-in-law, who have been in hiding for some time, were hidden there.

The house of Ayatollah Pasandideh has been under surveillance for a year now and his activities are being monitored.

300 MOJAHEDIN KILLED, WOUNDED, ARRESTED

LD082338 Tehran IRNA in English 2000 GMT 8 Aug 82

[Text] Ahvaz, Aug 8, IRNA — Close to 300 members and activists of the Mojahedin-e Khalq organization have been arrested, killed or wounded here by the Islamic revolutionary committees since April 21, according to a knowledgeable source at Khuzestan Province's prosecutor's office of the Islamic revolution.

Some 60 team houses of the Mojahedin-e Khalq terrorist group has been discovered during this period, he said, adding that this was an effective blow to the Mojahedin-e Khalq in this provincial capital, contrary to an interview made by Mas'ud Rajavi (the fugitive leader of the Mojahedin-e Khalq now in Paris) two weeks ago denying these facts.

This source also informed IRNA that those arrested had admitted to illicit sexual relations between the male and female members of the group and this was a clear indication of their un-Islamic manners despite their claims, he said.

Meanwhile, the prosecutor's office here also announced the discovery of a number of weapons and munitions depots belonging to another terrorist group, the communist union of Iran, but it did not say when. It added that "hundreds of grenades, tens of RPG-7 rockets and RPG-7's, along with wireless equipment and Kalashnikovs had been among the discoveries and that a number of persons had been arrested in this connection.

EXECUTION OF SARBEDARAN MEMBER REPORTED

Lebanon

Israeli Position -- Israel approves "in principle" U.S. envoy Philip Habib's plan for the departure of "all the terrorists and the Syrians from Beirut and Lebanon," but has suggested a number of amendments to Habib, according to a 10 August Israeli Cabinet resolution broadcast by Jerusalem radio. Jerusalem television said the amendments demanded by Israel are: The Syrians must leave Beirut with the "terrorists"; UN observers should not be deployed; the multinational force will only enter Beirut after most of the "terrorists" and Syrians leave the city; the "terrorists" will return to Israel the prisoner they are holding as well as the bodies of nine Israeli soldiers; if the "terrorists" refuse to leave Beirut, the mandate of the multinational force will be rescinded and it will leave Lebanon; only the Lebanese Army and not a French or any other force should enter Beirut on the 1st day of the evacuation; the "terrorists" who leave by sea will only depart via Beirut port; and there will be no disengagement of forces or IDF withdrawal before the evacuation. According to a related Jerusalem radio report, Israel stipulates that the multinational force must stay in Beirut for only 30 days.

Israeli political sources subsequently described Syria's decision to receive PLO fighters as "a big step forward," IDF radio noted. Earlier, in a press conference broadcast live by the radio, the Israeli Cabinet secretary said the main problem was finding host countries to take all the departing "terrorists." Asked the purpose of continued Israeli military action, he claimed that all recent IDF operations were in retaliation for cease-fire violations by the "terrorists." Meanwhile, Defense Minister Ari'el Sharon told the U.S. ambassador that the IDF will continue to react to every cease-fire violation despite U.S. requests, Jerusalem radio reported. Nevertheless, Prime Minister Menahem Begin acceded to requests by some Cabinet members for restraint in military activity, according to the radio.

Foreign Minister Yitzhaq Shamir described Habib's proposals for the removal of some "12,000 terrorists" from Beirut as "reasonable," IDF radio reported.

Arab States Accept PLO Fighters -- Syria, Tunisia, Sudan, Iraq, the YAR and the PDRY have agreed to accept PLO fighters from Beirut. The Syrian Ba'th Party Regional Command said that despite its previous stand, "in light of the current circumstances" Syria would welcome all fighters the PLO command wishes to send, Damascus radio reported. In a Tunisian Foreign Ministry statement carried by Tunis radio, the Tunisian president said he would welcome the first group of Palestinian fighters to leave Beirut; in a cable to the Lebanese prime minister, he said Tunisia would receive 1,000 fighters, Voice of Lebanon radio noted. The Sudanese president cabled PLO Executive Committee Chairman Yasir 'Arafat reiterating Sudan's acceptance of 600 Palestinian fighters, SUNA reported. According to Monte Carlo radio, authoritative Iraqi sources asserted that Iraq objects to Palestinians leaving Beirut but would accept the fighters if asked by the PLO. San'a' radio reported that the leaders of the YAR and the PDRY expressed readiness to receive "a number" of Palestinian fighters.

In Egypt, an official meeting was held between Minister of State for Foreign Affairs Butrus Ghali and PLO Executive Committee member Ahmad Sidqi ad-Dajani on the Lebanon situation, MENA reported. Ad-Dajani linked a possible withdrawal of Palestinians to Egypt with a "clear reply" from the United States on the duration of the PLO's stay in Arab countries, MENA said. A subsequent MENA report revealed that Ghali reaffirmed Egypt will not accept PLO fighters unless there is a comprehensive solution to the Palestinian issue, within the framework of a U.S. commitment to the solution.

According to Voice of Lebanon radio, former Lebanese Prime Minister Sa'ib Salam disclosed that Syria will receive 4,600 PLO fighters, 2,600 of whom will be fighters and their families who come from Syria. He also said 1,000 fighters will go to Jordan.

'Arafat Interview -- PLO Chairman 'Arafat said in a LE MONDE interview that the PLO would establish relations with any state which recognized the Palestinian right to self-determination. He reiterated his acceptance of all UN resolutions related to the Palestinian question, stressing that Israel too was created by a UN resolution. 'Arafat proposed that a conference be held after the Lebanon fighting to allow Palestinian, Israeli and Arab scholars to discuss the PLO Charter and reach conclusions.

Military Situation -- Israeli planes mounted 26 air raids against southern Beirut during the afternoon of 10 August and Israeli warships also pounded the area, according to the clandestine Voice of Palestine radio. The IDF spokesman said the air force attacked "terrorist" positions in Burj al-Barajinah, where there were almost no civilians, Jerusalem radio reported. The spokesman also announced that the air force attacked and destroyed a Syrian SAM-9 launcher in the Al-Biqa' region.

The Israelis continued to shell Beirut on 11 August, according to the Voice of Palestine. In statements reported by Jerusalem radio, the IDF spokesman announced that three IDF soldiers were wounded when the "terrorists" violated the cease-fire during the night and that two Israeli soldiers were killed by a mine in central Lebanon. The Voice of Lebanon said 16 people were killed or injured by the Israeli bombing of Beirut.

Citing the Tunisian weekly AL-ANWAR, KUNA reported that Cuba has offered to assist Syria in the event of a large-scale confrontation with the Israelis. Monitored Cuban sources have not been observed to mention this.

Supplies for West Beirut -- The IDF has allowed the International Red Cross to bring field hospitals and supplies into west Beirut, Jerusalem radio noted.

U.S. Landing -- Reporting that several U.S. helicopters have landed in Juniyah, Jerusalem radio said it was not clear whether they contained elements of the multinational force or U.S. officers on an inspection tour. Earlier, ITIM reported that an Israeli missile boat was patrolling the Lebanese coast to prevent unauthorized landings.

Reaction to Paris Terrorist Attack

Israeli Prime Minister Begin said that if the French authorities do not prevent the murder of Jews, he will not hesitate to call on French Jews to actively defend their lives, according to a statement broadcast by Jerusalem radio. In Beirut, WAFA carried a statement denying that the PLO was responsible for the recent shooting in Paris, AFP reported. Meanwhile, the French foreign minister accused the Palestinian dissident group led by Abu Nidal of the deed, Paris radio reported.

Iraq

In a meeting with SFRY Presidency member Cvijetin Mijatovic, reported by Baghdad Voice of the Masses radio, President Saddam Husayn emphasized Iraq is not insisting that the nonaligned conference be held in Baghdad. He said it should be held wherever the movement agrees, even if this means the conference would be held in Tehran, where there is a "hostile attitude" toward Iraq and the nonaligned.

Iran

In a speech to a military unit cited by Tehran radio, Commander of the Ground Forces Col 'Ali Sayyad Shirazi announced a new operation in northwest Iran to eliminate the "remnants" of counterrevolutionaries in that area. On the Iran-Iraq war, Sayyad Shirazi said that as a result of the Ramadan Operation, Iranian forces captured 150 armored vehicles and 150 square km of Iraqi territory, and killed over 5,000 Iraqis.

SOUTH ASIAN FOREIGN SECRETARIES ISSUE COMMUNIQUE

[Text] The foreign secretaries of the South Asian countries have agreed to recommend to their foreign ministers to convene a meeting at the foreign ministers level between May and September next year to promote and strengthen cooperation. This has been stated in a joint communique issued this afternoon at the end of the third meeting of foreign secretaries of South Asian countries on regional cooperation in Islamabad.

The communique says the foreign minister of Pakistan has been requested to undertake consultations with his counterparts for fixing the date and venue of the ministerial meeting. The foreign secretaries agreed that the regular consultations would be held by the representatives of the countries of the region on matters of common interest relating to international economic issues. It was agreed to constitute a study group on sports, arts and culture.

The foreign secretaries envisaged that the working groups for cooperation in a number of areas would complete their tasks by November this year and submit their reports to the committee of the whole. The committee of the whole, headed by Sri Lanka, comprises senior officials of the seven countries and would meet by mid-January next.

The foreign secretaries recommended the holding of a meeting of representatives of respective national planning organizations of the seven countries in New Delhi prior to the next meeting of the foreign secretaries which would be held at Dacca in February or March next year.

COMMUNICATIONS MINISTER RETURNS FROM USSR

LD101724 Kabul Domestic Service in Pashto 1430 GMT 10 Aug 82

[Text] Mohammad Aslam Watanjar, member of the PDPA Central Committee Politburo and minister of communications, returned to Kabul this morning from the Soviet Union, where he had gone some time ago at the invitation of the USSR Communications Ministry.

He was welcomed at Kabul International Airport by Dr Najibollah, member of the PDPA Central Committee Politburo; Dr Faqir Mohammad Yaqubi, minister of education and training; the deputy head of protocol of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs; deputy ministers and some officials of the Communications Ministry; and the USSR charge d'affaires in Kabul.

Mohammad Aslam Watanjar told the BAKHTAR correspondent that during his visit he had seen the communications departments of Moscow, Belorussia and Uzbekistan. He expressed gratitude for the hospitality of the Soviet people and state officials.

KARMAL RECEIVES TRIBAL REPRESENTATIVES

LD101044 Kabul Domestic Service in Dari 1600 GMT 9 Aug 82

[Text] This afternoon Babrak Karmal, general secretary of the PDPA Central Committee and chairman of the DRA Revolutionary Council, received the representatives of the courageous Madakhel people of the Wazir tribe at the Revolutionary Council headquarters at the Gol Khana Palace, and spoke with them in a free and sincere atmosphere at a tribal assembly.

Brigadier General Gol Aqa, vice chairman of the Revolutionary Council, and Solayman La'eq, minister of nationalities and tribal affairs, were also present. After welcoming the representatives of the militant Madakhel people of the Wazir tribe, Babrak Karmal addressed them, saying: Dear brothers, after the success of the April Revolution, particularly the victory of its new development stage, there is no longer a barrier between the people and the government, as there was in the past. We and you all are as one and have one hope: that a powerful, progressive, developed and prosperous Afghanistan will be built and our people will live in peace, tranquillity and prosperity.

Babrak Karmal's speech was warmly and enthusiastically received by the audience. He added: (?Our forefathers) throughout the history of Afghanistan have fought courageously against enemies and, by creating (?firm) bastions, have manfully defended the homeland and its honor and have not allowed enemies to put their filthy feet on the soil of our dear homeland. Today, when U.S. imperialism, Chinese expansionism, Pakistani militarism and reaction in the region have unleashed an undeclared war against our country, the primary duty that you, courageous and militant Afghans, have is to support our heroic armed forces and create firm fortresses against enemy aggressions and heroically defend the independence, freedom, territorial integrity and honor of the homeland.

Babrak Karmal added: The PDPA, the DRA National Fatherland Front and our revolutionary government consider it their duty to safeguard the customs, traditions and beliefs of all tribes and nationalities inhabiting Afghanistan and to further develop and expand them. We greatly respect our Pashto brothers' traditional tribal assemblies and we would like to create local governments through tribal assemblies in the future. We must hold tribal assemblies to overcome problems and complications and pave the way for building a prosperous and blossoming society in Afghanistan.

Babrak Karmal added: Imperialism's policy against our people has always been to create and exploit discord under various names. In view of this, our people must not fall prey to the hostile propaganda of the enemies of the homeland. In the present conditions all of us have a basic duty to become united and organized under the leadership of the PDPA and our revolutionary government to work and struggle for the prosperity of the people and the freedom of the dear homeland in accordance with the tenets of the sacred religion of Islam.

In conclusion Babrak Karmal once again welcomed the arrival of the representatives of the noble Madakhel people of the Wazir tribe to Kabul, and particularly to the DRA Revolutionary Council headquarters, and asked them to express their demands in a free and democratic atmosphere.

The BAKHTAR correspondent reports that in their speeches a number of the members of the audience, on behalf of others, in their speeches thanked Babrak Karmal for meeting and talking with them. With Afghan pride and courage they pledged that to their last drops of blood they will safeguard the borders of the country against enemy aggressions and once again revive their fathers' and forefathers' names in the struggle against imperialism and reaction in the region.

AFP: KABUL DEPOT ATTACKED; GOL AQA 'SACKED'

BK101507 Hong Kong AFP in English 1431 GMT 10 Aug 82

[Text] New Delhi, Aug. 10 (AFP) -- Several dozen Soviet soldiers were killed when Moslem insurgents attacked an important Soviet ammunition depot in the Afghan capital on August 2-3, Western diplomatic sources said here today.

Insurgents fighting the Soviet-backed government of Babrak Karmal in Kabul attacked the depot in the Bala Hissar fort with rockets and machine gun fire.

They however failed in their attempt to destroy the depot, but in the process killed "dozens of Soviet soldiers," the diplomats said.

There was no independent confirmation of the incident. The Afghan Embassy here refused to comment when contacted. The insurgents also routed two government outposts in the city.

The diplomats said Kabul residents witnessed what they described as the fiercest ever gun battle in the Afghan capital on August 2-3 between the insurgents and the Soviet-backed Afghan Government troops.

Fighting took place in the Karte Parvan and Bagha Bala districts of the city and continued for about 17 hours beginning at dawn of August 2. Fighting was also reported from the entrace of the Lowgar Valley, near Kabul, the diplomats said without giving details.

There was no independent confirmation of the reports. State-owned Kabul radio regularly monitored in the Indian capital did not mention the reported fighting in the country's capital.

Meanwhile, the diplomats reiterated that Lieutenant General Gol Aqa, chief of the Political Affairs Department of the Afghan Defence Ministry, had been sacked and replaced by Lt Gen Yasin Sidiqi.

Diplomats had earlier said that the general, who belongs to Mr Karmal's Parcham faction of the ruling People's Democratic Party of Afghanistan (PDPA) was removed because he had purged a number of Khalq faction supporters in the Afghan Army.

In an apparent denial, Kabul radio last night said Lt Gen Gol Aqa attended a meeting of Waziri tribesmen with Mr Karmal.

In its Pashto language news bulletin monitored in New Delhi and Islamabad, the radio implicitly denied the report by specifically mentioning the general's presence at the official meeting.

But the diplomats here insisted that the general had been dismissed and named the official who succeeded him.

The diplomats cited unconfirmed reports circulating in the Afghan capital of an impending purge of ministers and senior government officials.

Interior Minister Sayyed Mohammad Golabzoy had not been seen in his office for about a week, the diplomats said.

They said a new conscription drive was in full swing in Kabul with Afghan Army units armed with the recently amended conscription laws rounding up people.

Many shopkeepers fearing drafting had either joined the ranks of the insurgents or fled to the countryside, the diplomats said.

MUJAHIDIN KILL 70 SOVIET, AFGHAN SOLDIERS

GF101254 Karachi JASARAT in Urdu 7 Aug 82 p 1

[Text] Kabul, 6 Aug (Radio Report) -- Skirmishes between the mujahidin and Karmal forces continued in several parts of Afghanistan. Radio Kabul has admitted that there have been more clashes in Herat and Balkh Provinces.

According to Radio Tehran, the mujahidin killed 70 Soviet and Kramal soldiers and destroyed 14 tanks in Lowgar. According to the Agency Afghan Press (AAP) the Afghan mujahidin in two separate operations captured 26 army soldiers and 22 militiamen from the Karmal forces.

The freedom fighters at a point (Qazi Darreh) 3 km from Orgun airfield made these army and militiamen surrender to the mujahidin. The mujahidin, receiving information that these soldiers were searching for them, let the Karmal soldiers approach close to their hideout and then surrounded them. Over loudspeakers they asked the soldiers to surrender. Four officers leading the Karmal soldiers were executed on the spot after they tried to rally their troops for resistance.

Of the Karmal troops, 26 soldiers surrendered willingly, while another 20 escaped. The other 22 Karmal militiamen, belonging to Wazir tribes, were captured when they were moving from Orgun to the Wazir territory. After they were surrounded, they handed their documents, arms and money over to the mujahidin.

REPORTS ON VOLUNTEERS FOR MILITARY SERVICE CITED

[Text] A number of the aware and patriotic youth of the capital and surroundings of Konarha Province yesterday submitted their names for sacred military service, following the announcement by the DRA Council of Ministers, and have left for sarandoy units in Konarha Province.

According to the BAKHTAR correspondent reporting from Asadabad city, prior to departure these youths chanted slogans and pledged their party and the revolutionary government that they will not lay down their weapons until the last remnants of the counterrevolutionaries are eliminated. They pledged that they will fight with courage and without fear against the counterrevolutionaries -- these traitors to the homeland, the people and the revolution.

According to another report, a large number of the aware and patriotic youth of Balkh Province, in accordance with the DRA Council of Ministers announcement, have come during the last 2 days to the military commissariat of Balkh Province and submitted their names for sacred military service in the spirit of patriotism.

The BAKHTAR correspondent, quoting the military commissariat of Balkh Province, reports that during the last 4 months a total of 4,538 aware and patriotic youths of Balkh Province have submitted their names to the military commissariat of this province and have been sent to the units and companies of the armed forces.

SOMALI ENVOY MEETS ERSHAD; IRAQI ENVOY DEPARTS

BK100557 Dacca Domestic Service in English 0145 GMT 10 Aug 82

[Text] The Somali president's special envoy (Abul Issak Ahmed) called on Chief Martial Law Administrator [CMLA] Lt Gen H.M. Ershad in Dacca yesterday evening. He delivered a letter from President Siad Barre to the CMLA. During the meeting with the CMLA, the special envoy apprised him of the current serious situation forced by armed attack on Somali.

The special envoy was informed that Bangladesh was deeply concerned at the recurrent acts of hostility against the Muslim country, and as a fellow member of the Organization of Islamic Conference and Nonaligned Movement, Bangladesh has always adopted a consistent stand of upholding the cause of maintenance of territorial integrity. The CMLA expressed his sincere sympathy at the sufferings caused to the fraternal people of Somalia. He conveyed best wishes to the Somali president and assured him all possible assistance to the Somali brethren. The special envoy expressed his deep gratitude at the warm appreciation of the Somali position by the Bangladesh Government.

Meanwhile, Hasan 'Ali, the special envoy of the Iraqi president left Dacca yesterday after a brief visit during which he handed over a message of President Saddam Husayn to the CMLA, Lt Gen H.M. Ershad, concerning the seventh nonaligned summit due to be held in Baghdad next month.

Before his departure, 'Ali said in a statement that his visit to Bangladesh was in consonance with the friendly relations existing between the two countries. The Iraqi envoy said during his meeting with the CMLA and Foreign Minister A.R. Shamsul Doha, he had appealed to the Bangladesh Government to make seventh nonaligned summit a success and to maintain the unity of the movement.

GANDHI RECEIVES MESSAGES FROM CASTRO, HUSAYN

[Text] India today expressed its earnest desire to preserve the unity and solidarity of the Nonaligned Movement against the background of differing proposals for a meeting of plenipotentiaries at foreign ministers level to discuss the practicability of holding the seventh summit in Baghdad in September as scheduled. The Cuban proposal to hold a meeting in Havana was explained today to the prime minister and to the external affairs minister yesterday when Cuban Vice Foreign Minister Torras met them separately. Torras also handed over a letter from Cuban President Fidel Castro to Mrs Gandhi. On the other hand, Iraqi Foreign Minister Sa'dun Hammadi met Mrs Gandhi and Narasimha Rao and handed over a message from Iraqi President Saddam Husayn to Mrs Gandhi. He conveyed to them the topmost priority which Iraq attaches at this juncture to securing a solution to the present problems in the movement. It may be recalled here that the Iraqi foreign minister on his arrival yesterday in New Delhi had ruled out the need to hold a foreign ministers level meeting in Havana. Iraq had proposed that the foreign ministers will meet in Baghdad on 2d of next month to decide the venue of the summit.

The spokesman of the External Affairs Ministry, briefing newsmen, said that there will now be further informal consultations amongst the nonaligned countries to find a solution to the present difficulties. Asked whether India could hold the summit, the spokesman said the question is completely hypothetical. The spokesman further said that the Consultative Committee of Members of Parliament attached to the ministry, which met today, also took into account the altered circumstances and material changes in the situation since the 1979 summit decided that the 7th summit will be held in Baghdad. They felt that the unity of the movement should be preserved through harmonization, procedures and practices. The members stressed that the credibility of the movement must be maintained.

RAFSANJANI ARRIVES, SPEAKS ON BAGHDAD MEETING

[Text] A high-level Iranian delegation arrived in New Delhi this afternoon on a 7-day visit. It is led by the president of the Islamic Consultative Assembly of Iran, Hashemi-Rafsanjani. This delegation was received by Speaker of the Lok Sabha Balram Jakhar and Minister of External Affairs Narasimha Rao.

Replying to questions by newsmen, Rafsanjani said Iran is not at all in favor of holding the nonaligned foreign ministers meet in Baghdad to decide the venue for the seventh nonaligned summit. If it is held Iran will not participate.

COMMENTATOR VIEWS ECONOMIC COOPERATION WITH U.S.

BK091600 Delhi General Overseas Service in English 1340 GMT 9 Aug 82

[Commentary by Arvind Bhandari, COMMERCE WEEKLY bureau chief: "India-U.S. Economic Cooperation"]

[Text] Since politics and economics have become increasingly intertwined because of the complexity of the modern-day diplomacy, much interest attaches to how far Mrs Gandhi's just-concluded American tour will pave the way for closer economic interaction between the United States and India.

The portents are encouraging. In view of India's current emphasis on technological upgradation and considering the United States pre-eminent position as a reservoir of technology, quite appropriately the decision has been taken to set up a panel of scientists and technologists drawn from both the countries to determine priority areas of collaboration. In her address to the American Association for Advancement of Science in Washington on 31 July, Mrs Gandhi broadly identified those areas as food production, improvement of environment, health and conservation of energy.

The prime minister also invited American investors to India and took the opportunity to explain the Indian policy on foreign investment. India wants foreign investment in areas of high technology and export. Foreigners can invest in other areas also, but they must be content with minority equity participation. This is what the foreign exchange regulation act is all about.

In other words, India is not opposed to private foreign investment but only insistent that it should be within the framework of the country's requirements. It is worth pointing out that those American companies which had come forward to operate within the parameters of Indian regulations have done well because of the largeness of the Indian market and comparatively inexpensive labor. A study by the Indian, American Chambers of Commerce shows that the 20 companies having American financial participation collectively enlarged their assets at an annual rate of 12 percent between 1975 and 1979. The annual growth rate for their turnover and profit after tax were 15 percent and 18 percent, respectively. In addition there are 105 companies operating with American licensing arrangements which means only technological collaboration. Thus, the total number of India-U.S. collaborations comes to 125.

Another important aspect of Mrs Gandhi's American tour is that she utilized the occasion to personally impress upon President Reagan and World Bank President A.W. Claussen the socioeconomic and humanitarian rationale of not only not reducing but actually enlarging soft-term concessional multilateral aid to developing countries. In the case of India, Mrs Gandhi said reduction of the aid would adversely affect vital programs designed to raise the standards of living of a large mass of population. The arguments put forward by the Indian prime minister would very well have been the arguments on behalf of the Third World.

While Mrs Gandhi was heard with attention and seriousness, how much effect her advocacy will have for India in particular and the developing world in general remains to be seen. Officials who accompanied the prime minister believe that the soft-term aid to India might be marginally increased in the current year compared to last year. As for the gigantic IMF loans secured by India, Mrs Gandhi received an assurance from the Reagan administration that when the third installment comes up, the United States would support it. In the case of the first two installments, the American attitude had ranged between neutrality and mild opposition. But now there are prospects of the Indian exports to the United States improving.

During Mrs Gandhi's visit, American officials spoke about the two countries cooperating within GATT. The reference was obviously to the settlement of a dispute between the two countries over duties. Last year the United States suddenly imposed countervailling duties on various Indian export items without applying the injury test, with the result that India was constrained to make a complaint to GATT. Now the United States has accepted India's position as a signatory to the Tokyo Round of the GATT agreement and agreed to apply the test. This should auger well for Indian exports because hardly any Indian item injures an American indigenous industry.

INDIA-USSR SPACE FLIGHT TO BE KEPT 'SECRET'

BK091214 New Delhi PATRIOT in English 2 Aug 82 p 1

[Text] New Delhi, Aug 1 (UNI) -- A panel comprising at least eight space pilots from the Indian Air Force has been formed for the joint India-Soviet space flight which is likely to blast off in the latter half of 1984, according to a high-ranking defense source. The pilots chosen for the proposed space journey will undergo gruelling medical tests in India. Later, they will be taken to the Soviet Union for further medical scrutiny.

After the final tests, one Indian cosmonaut will be selected to undertake the space flight and another will be stand-by. The Indian pilots, along with their Soviet counterparts, will be subject to a period of intense space stimulation program at stellar town on the outskirts of Moscow and then flown to the Soviet cosmodrome at Baykonur, located in Kazakhstan steppe.

CHARAN SINGH REMOVED FROM LOK DAL PRESIDENCY

BK091327 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1230 GMT 9 Aug 82

[Text] The split in the Lok Dal was formalized today with a number of party leaders removing Charan Singh from the presidentship. They installed Karpuri Thakur in his place. This was done at a joint meeting attended by some members of the Lok Dal parliamentary board, its national executive, state office bearers and leaders of state legislature parties. Devi Lal, whose expulsion from the party by Charan Singh touched off the crisis, inaugurated the meeting. Karpuri Thakur presided.

EXTENSION OF PRESIDENT'S RULE IN ASSAM APPROVED

[Text] The tripartite negotiations to find a solution to the foreign national issue in Assam will be resumed on the 25th of this month. This was stated by Home Minister Venkataraman in the Rajya Sabha yesterday. He was replying to a debate on a statutory resolution approving the extension of president's rule in Assam by another 6 months. The house later adopted the resolution. The home minister said the main problem is to determine who is a foreigner. Their detection comes later. A solution to this problem can be found only through a mutual give and take spirit and it cannot be solved strictly on the basis of legal positions.

Venkataraman assured the people of Assam that the government will stand by their aspirations and will preserve their identity and cultural life. Evictions from government land have been stepped up to create a suitable climate for negotiation. He said the government draft prepared at the meeting held on the 23d of August last year will be the basis of resumed discussions. He also said that the government is very keen to have elections in the state before March next.

During the discussions, members made a strong plea for an early solution to the foreign nationals issue. They said if no solution is found at the coming negotiations, the government should come forward with its own formula. They appealed to the Assam agitation leaders to cooperate with the government to solve the issue.

The house passed another statutory resolution for extension of essential services maintenance act to cover some services in Assam. The budget demands of the state for the current year were also approved. The minister of state for finance, Sisodia, said budget allocations for almost all the sectors of Assam have been increased. Earlier, the house rejected a motion moved by C.S. Jha, Janata, and some other opposition members, disapproving the extension of president's rule in the state.

SRI LANKA

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS TO BE HELD IN 2-3 MONTHS

BK091128 Colombo International Service in English 1045 GMT 9 Aug 82

[Text] The people of Sri Lanka will be called upon in the course of the next 2 or 3 months to elect the next president of the republic. This was disclosed by Prime Minister Premadasa when he addressed a public meeting in (Desinarya) electorate yesterday.

Premadasa said the candidate for the United National Party would be President J.R. Jayewardene. Urging the reelection of the president, Premadasa said that the people could assure for themselves continued peace and prosperity if the government was given a mandate to pursue for a further period the policies it had implemented over the past 5 years.

The prime minister said that the people have to decide for themselves whether they wish to have the prosperity that flowed from the policies enunciated by the present government or whether they desired a return to the pre-1977 era. The progressive and practical policies of the present government had been recognized internationally and that was why the current development program had attracted so much assistance from abroad. Premadasa added that several thousand people had secured employment both in Sri Lanka and abroad since the present government assumed office. A large number of people had in the same period been given titles to state land.

JAYEWARDENE, IRAQI ENVOY DISCUSS SUMMIT VENUE

[Text] Colombo, Aug 10 (AFP) -- Iraq will not insist on hosting next month's non-aligned summit in Baghdad if the movement decides on alternative arrangements, Iraq's special envoy told the Sri Lankan president today.

Iraqi President Saddam Husayn's special envoy, 'Abd al-Malik al-Yasin, a deputy foreign minister, told President Junius Jayewardene that Iraq had made this decision "in the interests of non-aligned unity", Foreign Ministry sources said here.

The Iraqi enovy handed President Jayewardene a letter from the Iraqi president, but repeated Iraq's demand that any decision must be taken by the non-aligned foreign ministers at the pre-summit meeting in Baghdad scheduled for 2nd and 3rd September.

President Jayewardene is understood to have agreed with this. Meanwhile diplomatic sources here said that the new flexibility in the Iraqi position indicated that the Baghdad summit scheduled for early September would not come off.

The sources said that the summit would most probably be postponed and probably held in New Delhi early next year.

FOREIGN MINISTER HAMEED LEAVES FOR VIENNA

BK081057 Colombo International Service in English 1045 GMT 8 Aug 82

[Excerpt] Foreign Minister Shahul Hameed left for Vienna last night leading a five-member delegation to the second United Nations conference on the peaceful uses of outer space. The conference will commence on Monday the 9th and will be continued till the 20th of this month.

VELAYATI ON EFFORTS TO CHANGE SUMMIT VENUE

[Text] Tehran, Aug 10, IRNA — The principal reason which has caused uncertainty over the fate of the non-aligned summit in Baghdad has been the victories of the Islamic forces in the battlefields of the Iraqi imposed war, said Foreign Minister Velayati in an interview published in the Persian daily ETTELA'AT today. He said on the other hand political maneuvres by the Iranian Foreign Ministry had also been a contributing factor. Delegations were sent to African countries which held about fifty percent of the seats in the Nonaligned Movement, influential members of the movement who had a representative in Tehran were called upon and briefed on the matter. The Iranian envoy at the U.N. had made widespread contacts with non-aligned members in an effort to persuade the non-aligned concerning the inappropriateness of the venue of the summit conference. And the third reason was threats made by Iraqi Muslim mujahidin, he added.

The Iranian foreign minister added that Baghdad might as well have been crossed off as host of the summit when the non-aligned ministers met in New Delhi in Feb. of 1981. He said one of the items on the agenda at that meeting was in connection with the summit in Baghdad and the Islamic Republic could have begun its protest then, but it did not. The lack of experience of the Iranian foreign affairs officials at that time, Velayati said, cost Iran a loss of a chance to change the summit venue.

Iran began to assert its demand more seriously a few months ago Velayati said. "Although we did not have many friends among the non-aligned", he said, "...we will make efforts in the direction which we believe is right and if the venue of the conference is changed, so much the better, and if not we shall have acted upon our religious and legal duty" all at the same time.

Commenting on efforts by peace missions Velayati said that the missions had not been all together unsuccessful and it was not fair to say that the efforts of these delegations had not borne any results. He said that the most important result of their efforts was that they had been acquainted with the conditions of the Islamic Republic and the logic behind those conditions for ending the Iraqi imposed war. He said the peace missions had to be presented with proofs of the crimes of the Iraqi regime against Iran as well as clearly informed of Iran's just demands from the Iraqis. However, he added, "we have always welcomed peace, but a dignified and just peace. Peace is important for us and we prefer it to war. But we put by far the highest premium on our revolution and its permanence."

RAFSANJANI LEADS DELEGATION TO INDIA 10 AUGUST

[Text] Tehran, Aug. 10 (IRNA) -- Majlis Speaker Hashemi-Rafsanjani left Tehran this morning for New Delhi on an official six-day state visit.

Hojjat ol-Eslam Hashemi-Rafsanjani, who was heading a delegation of parliamentary, finance and religious officials, was invited by the speaker of the Indian Parliament, Mr. Balram Jakhar. In this trip, Mr. Rafsanjani is accompanied by Mines and Metals Minister Hoseyn Musavian, Majlis representatives Hasan Rohani, Morteza Katirai and Manuchehr Motaki, Iran's atomic energy organisation head Reza Amrollahi, Deputy Foreign Minister Hoseyn Kazempur-Ardabili, Deputy Commerce Minister Hedayatzadeh, Ayatollah Montazeri's representative in India Hojjat ol-Eslam Golesorkhi, and the Indian ambassador to Tehran, Akbar Mirza Khaleeli.

The Iranian delegation will conduct discussions with the Indian officials concerning the development of bilateral relations, the positions of the Islamic Republic on world problems such as the Zionist invasion of Lebanon and the changing of the Non-aligned Movement conference venue from Baghdad.

This is the third official visit of Hashemi-Rafsanjani since he was elected to his post as Majlis speaker. His first visit was to Syria, Libya, Algeria, and Lebanon in 1980 and his second was to the Democratic People's Republic of Korea and Malaysia in 1981. This trip is the most important Iranian delegation travelling to India since the culmination of the Islamic revolution of Iran.

Prior to leaving the capital the speaker voiced optimism for the success and fruitfulness of his mission in light of the Indian Government's anti-imperialist positions and its membership of the Non-aligned Movement.

Speaking on the Baghdad change of venue the speaker said Iran insisted on the change of the Baghdad venue and that Iran would welcome it if the conference was to be held in India, keeping in mind India's history in holding these summits.

Responding to the question whether problems relating to the Iraqi imposed war on Iran would be brought up in India, Rafsanjani said Iran's policy has always been against discussing the war abroad.

The speaker of the Majlis and his delegation were seen off at Mehrabad Airport by Foreign Minister Velayati and some other officials as well as some of the personnel of the Indian Embassy in Tehran.

SOVIET ENVOY DISCUSSES RELATIONS WITH KHAMENE'I

LD101756 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 10 Aug 82

[Text] According to the Central News Unit, the new USSR ambassador to the Islamic Republic of Iran, Mr Boldyrev, met with President Khamene'i this morning and presented his credentials. During this meeting, the new USSR ambassador made some remarks conveying greetings from the leaders of his country to Imam Khomeyni, leader of the revolution and founder of the Islamic Republic of Iran, to the president and to the Iranian nation. Declaring readiness to continue and expand the good neighborly relations between the two countries and mutual respect for each other's sovereignty, the ambassador said: The Soviet Union is firmly determined to take all the appropriate steps in the future to strengthen its friendly relations and good neighborliness with the Islamic Republic of Iran. He added: We believe there are good possibilities for the expansion of cooperation between the two countries.

The new USSR ambassador then presented his credentials to the president. Afterwards, Mr Khamene'i made some remarks on the expansion of the most healthy relations between the two countries.

JOINT STAFF COMMANDER COMMENTS ON WAR MATERIEL

GF101442 Tehran JOMHURI-YE ESLAMI in Persian 31 Jul 82 p 9

["Exclusive" interview with Commander of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran Brigadier General Zahirnezhad, by IRNA correspondent on 29 July]

[Excerpts] The commander of the Joint Staff, in reference to the adverse imperialist propaganda concerning a weakening of the forces of Islam and a shortage of equipment after 22 months of war, said: War materiel consists of equipment and manpower. The manpower is the most important of the war materiel because it is the man who has to use the equipment.

It is true that we are under an economic embargo and it is true that the supercriminal oppressors support Saddam, the oppressor. However, we have a weapon that no superpower can supply to our Ba'thist enemy, and that is the zealous combatants whose sacrifice and martyrdom seeking has brought them praise from every direction.

Brigadier General Zahirnezhad added: One of our greatest advantages is the 42,000 Iraqi POW's we have captured, which is a calamity for the Iraqi Army, which has to conscript soldiers from a 12-million-strong nation. The expansion of this situation will eventually bring the Ba'thist army to its knees. With one calculation we can conclude that the presence of 42,000 Iraqi POW's in Iran is like Iraq having taken around 160 to 170 thousand Iranians as POW's. Such a calculation can show you the importance of 42,000 POW's to the Iraqi Army.

He added: We only fight with the weapons we produce ourselves and we will destroy the army of Saddam. Referring to the Ramadan Operation and the Iranian forces' entry into Iraq, he said: Following the breakdown of the siege of Abadan, I personally gave a general plan concerning the continuation of war inside Iraq to the Supreme Defense Council 20 months ago. This, of course, was not the operational plan. It was approved there and given to the relevant forces. I completely believe that if the world's oppressors and criminals are not dealt with the right way, the world will be completely in chaos. In my opinion, peace with Saddam is treachery and our defense should continue until the complete annihilation of the infidel Saddam.

COMMANDER ANNOUNCES NEW MILITARY HEADQUARTERS

[Excerpts] According to the Central News Unit, Colonel Sayyad Shirazi, commander of the Ground Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran, made a speech to the combatants of Islam in the Urumiyeh garrison this morning. During this speech, Colonel Sayyad Shirazi announced the creation of the Operation "Hamzeh, lord of the martyrs" [name of prophet Mohammad's uncle] central headquarters, in the northwestern part of the country, which will be the center for joint operations of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran and the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps for eradicating remnants of the counterrevolutionaries in the West Azarbayjan and Kordestan Provinces.

The commander of the Ground Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran, said that, before taking any action, this headquarters first and foremost provides an opportunity for the hireling domestic elements to return to the embrace of Islam. Afterwards, if they refuse to surrender, this headquarters will take action, using the latest experiences to eradicate them.

In another part of his remarks, the commander of the ground forces, emphasizing the necessity to continue the way against the Iraqi Ba'thist-Zionist mercenaries, referred to the Lebanon problem as a plot hatched by the blasphemous Saddam and his master, America, in order to divert the attention of the combative nation of Iran from the war of truth against falsehood. He said that, from the outset of this problem, we intended to rush to Syria by air in order to fight in Lebanon. But, thank God, our dear and vigilant imam pointed out to us that we should deal with that important problem after settling the issue of Saddam and should not let Saddam save himself in these circumstances.

Referring to the recent victorious operations of the self-sacrificing combatants of Islam on the battlefronts of truth against falsehood, Colonel Sayyad Shirazi analyzed the latest battle situation on these fronts and said that today we have reached the point where the filthy Saddam wishes that he would forego his punishment.

Colonel Shirazi added that, during the Ramadan Operation, more than 150 tanks and personnel carriers were taken as booty, more than 5,000 Saddamist mercenaries were killed and over 150 square km of enemy territory were captured by the combatants of Islam. And now the combatants of Islam on the western and southern fronts are prepared to destroy the last remains of the Saddamist infidels.

REPORTS ON FIGHTING IN W. AZARBAYJAN, KORDESTAN

Kurdish Unrest

GF102016 (Clandestine) Free Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1500 GMT 10 Aug 82

[Text] The widespread attack by Kurdish strugglers against Khomeyni's guards in Kordestan and West Azarbayjan Provinces [words indistinct] and epics by the Kurdish strugglers in recent days [words indistinct]. Colonel Sayyad Shirazi, the commander of Khomeyni's ground forces, who is responsible for the deaths of 27,000 Iranian youths in the Ramadan Operation, (?has been forced to) establish a base called "Hamzeh, lord of the martyrs" in Reza'iyeh. Sayyad Shirazi said: This is the last step for crushing the people of Kordestan. He added that garrison guards, armed forces personnel, Mobilization, gendarmerie, police and committee personnel participate in Hamzeh base in Reza'iyeh.

We should remind you that during the past 2 years, the Kurdish strugglers have dealt heavy blows against Khomeyni's guards and the majority of Kurdish areas in Kordestan and West Azarbayjan are under the control of Kurdish peshmerga.

Contrary to the claims of Khomeyni's regime, the armed forces personnel have avoided participation in operations to crush their brother Iranian Kurds, and many of those who were forced to participate in operations against their Kurdish brothers immediately joined the Kurdish struggling forces.

At present, thousands of the officers and NCO's of the army, police and gendarmerie are cooperating with the struggling forces in areas controlled by them. The Kurdish strugglers have sworn that they will continue their struggle until the overthrow of the illegal Khomeyni regime and the cleansing of their region of the filth of the presence of the guards. The heavy blows dealt against the guards by the Kurdish Muslim peshmerga have forced Sayyad Shirazi to establish the Hamzeh base in Reza'iyeh.

We suggest to the Muslim Kurdish strugglers and the people of Kordestan, who are bravely standing up to Khomeyni's mercenaries, that they continue their resistance against such enemies of Iran as Sayyad Shirazi and his mercenary guards and [words indistinct] that Khomeyni's mercenaries will not be able to stand up to the Kurdish fighters, as has been the case in the past.

Our correspondent in Kordestan has also reported that in an attack by Kurdish peshmerga against [names indistinct] and Mahabad bases, dozens of guards were killed and a large number wounded. In these clashes 85 guards were captured by the Kurdish fighters.

The armed fighters establish their bases in areas around cities and hard-to-cross mountains in order to stop any killing of innocent people. They use such bases to attack the bases and gathering places of the guards. The all-out attack by the armed strugglers will begin in the fall. The people of Kordestan, and even the villagers, cooperate with the armed fighters and [words indistinct] many victories for the Kurdish fighters.

Our latest reports indicate that the Kurdish fighters have intensified their attacks against the guards in all areas of Kordestan and especially in Piranshahr, Mahabad, [name indistinct] and Baneh, as well as in areas in West Azarbayjan.

Crusade Headquarters Attacked

[Excerpts] IRNA reports: The reconstruction crusade's headquarters in Piranshahr was attacked early yesterday by armed elements of the outlawed [Kurdish] Democratic Party which is considered the old enemy of the Muslim and oppressed people of Kordestan. The counterrevolutionaries set fire to the entire building [words indistinct] and stole some of the headquarters' furniture and equipment.

According to this report, before their flight the counterrevolutionaries planted several (?bombs) of the roads to be used by the forces of Islam, but they were discovered and defused in time.

Divandarreh Cleared of Rebels

LD071746 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 7 Aug 82

[Excerpts] According to the Central News Unit, a spokesman for the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps said that during operations carried out by forces of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps, the Gendarmerie of the Islamic Republic and the Kurdish peshmerga, the valiants of Islam succeeded in clearing armed insurgents from areas to the west, northwest and southwest of Divandarreh.

Also cleared by the forces of Islam is the region of [word indistinct], regarded as one of the important bases of the counterrevolutionaries.

Guards Report Successes

LD081802 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 8 Aug 82

[Text] According to a Central News Unit report citing the Public Relations Office of the Central Headquarters of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps, the corpsmen, the army and Muslim tribes carried out a combined operation in the villages of (Mazeleh), (Omid), (Golyar), (Do Seyyed) and (Khatulasti), on the Mahabad-Sar Dasht axis. Islam's courageous combatants were able to purge the village of (Golyar) of the filthy presence of counterrevolutionaries and to completely destroy their bases in the villages of (Mazeleh), (Do Seyyed) and (Omidi).

According to the report, a number of mercenary elements associated with international arrogance were killed or wounded and the mighty defenders of Islam succeeded in taking 21 of these armed duped American lackeys prisoner.

BOMB DISCOVERED CLOSE TO TEHRAN PRAYER SITE

GF101952 Tehran ETTELA'AT in Persian 31 Jul 82 p 15

[Text] ETTELA'AT news service: The awareness of the Police Department personnel resulted in the discovery of 70 kg of explosives planted in a car near the site of Komeyl prayers.

According to our reporter, the patrol unit of the police became suspicious of a white landrover parked in Imam Khomeyni Square at 0730 on 29 July 1982. Following some investigation, it became evident that the car had been reported stolen, and further investigation revealed that there were explosives inside. These facts were immediately transmitted by officers to the bomb neutralization unit by radio, and moments later the unit arrived on the scene. Their investigation resulted in the discovery of 70 kg of plastic explosives hidden in the back wheel wells of the car.

One person was arrested in the meantime and the car and the explosives were taken to police headquarters.

Our correspondent adds: The car was parked at a location used for parking by many vehicles bringing people who participate in the Komeyl prayers every week. Had it exploded, it would have caused a great calamity. However, the help of the Almighty and the awareness of the officers foiled the inauspicious plot of the traitorous U.S. hypocrites. Investigation into the case continues.

FORMER GOVERNOR ARRESTED WHILE FLEEING COUNTRY

[Text] Tehran, Aug 8, IRNA -- Taher Ahmadzadeh, one-time governor general of Khorasan Province (during the Provisional Government) and an agent of the Mojahedin-e Khalq organization was arrested and handed over to judicial officials.

An announcement issued in Tehran by the prosecutor of the Islamic revolution of the Central Province, today said that Ahmadzadeh had been sought after for some time and that he was arrested while he was attempting to flee the country, but it did not mention the date on which the arrest had been made, nor where he had been arrested. The announcement added he had disguised himself and was carrying a false identity card and passport at the time of his arrest and he was to join the so-called National Resistance Council in Paris.

LD101740 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 10 Aug 82

[Communique No 1,012 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. During operations yesterday in the Hajj 'Umran region, decisive and crushing blows were dealt to the agents of the mercenary Saddam's army.

At 1730 on 9 August 1982, the Ba'thist enemy planned to land forces in the Rayat and Hajj 'Umran region but the powerful artillery of the Ground Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran opened intense fire and prevented these operations, so much so that in the very first hours the enemy was forced to flee after suffering losses and casualties.

Some of the losses inflicted on the Saddamist forces were as follows: 10 light and heavy vehicles and the enemy command post in Hajj 'Umran were destroyed together with several military buildings in the same region; 2 engineering vehicles, 1 ammunition truck, 1 mortar and 2 vehicles carrying 106-mm rifles together with their ammunition and personnel, were destroyed; an ammunition dump in the enemy's assembly region was set on fire; more than 50 Saddamists were killed and a great many of them were wounded. During these operations, Islam's forces fortunately suffered no losses or casualties.

In other operational zones in the western parts of the country sporadic exchanges of fire took place; the intensity of fire in the vicinity of Mehran was greater than elsewhere. On the country's western fronts our combatants, using heavy-weapon fire, destroyed two enemy tanks and a number of trenches together with their personnel and damaged several vehicles. Meanwhile, defusing minefields on various roads in the western regions still continues.

In the operational zones in the southern parts of the country our forces opened fire and silenced enemy fire; artillery fire by our forces prevented enemy movements and the activities of their engineering equipment. During these operations our forces destroyed several enemy vehicles and one ammunition dump.

Yesterday the heroic combatants of the Islamic Republic's Navy and Gendarmerie opened fire on enemy positions on the opposite bank of the Arvand Rud, setting on fire and destroying two assembly points, several light and heavy weapons, four observation posts and two bunkers of the Iraqi servicemen.

Yesterday Saddam's dastardly army once again opened fire on Abadan's residential areas and as a result five houses were destroyed and two of our compatriots were wounded.

IRAQI PILOT BOMBS BAGHDAD SUBURB, SHOT DOWN

LD101834 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 10 Aug 82

[Text] According to the Central News Unit, antiaircraft batteries in Baghdad were put into action last week although no air raid sirens had sounded. The statement issued following this incident claimed that air defense units had opened fire after noticing an Iraqi aircraft flying across prohibited zones.

According to a report we have received, the antiaircraft batteries shot down an Iraqi aircraft and killed its pilot. The report says: The pilot, who was a supporter of Iraq's Islamic revolution, took to the air after refusing to obey military orders. Before his aircraft was destroyed he succeeded in dropping several bombs in the Abu Ghurayb region near Baghdad.

Moreover, according to a reliable report, last Tuesday the pedestrian walkway below (Al-Hurriyah) Square in the (Bab ash-Sharqi) District of Baghdad was rocked by an explosion.

NVOI URGES BETTER TIES WITH FRIENDLY COUNTRIES

TA102051 (Clandestine) National Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1730 GMT 10 Aug 82

[Unattributed commentary: "The Government's Positive Measures in Respect to Further Consolidating the Imam's Line"]

[Text] Dear compatriots: The visit to our friendly and neighboring country, India, by a high-ranking Iranian delegation led by Hojjat ol-Eslam Hashemi-Rafsanjani, speaker of the Islamic Majlis, and following that the establishment of diplomatic relations with revolutionary Cuba and the appointment of the ambassador of the Islamic Republic to Cuba are considered positive measures in the field of foreign policy. Predicting the results of these measures is entirely possible even now. The progress of our homeland's economy toward maintaining independence, the further consolidation of the imam's anti-imperialist line, and the further strengthening of the positions of the Islamic Republic of Iran in the international arena are the [word indistinct] outcome of these measures.

According to the acknowledgement of even the foes of the Islamic Republic of Iran, so far our revolutionary homeland has adopted a decisive anti-American and anti-imperialist stance.

For this reason, from the outset all the measures of the enemies and opponents of the Islamic Republic, including the ignorant friends of the revolution, the pseudoclergy and the court preachers were and are aimed at undermining this line and restoring revolutionary Iran to the embrace of the great Satan.

The elements and agents of world-devouring America, such as the Qotbzadehs, the Amir-Entezams, the Yazdis, the Bani-Sadrs and others, from the very first day of the revolution's victory strived with all their might to prevent the expansion of relations between liberated and anti-imperialist Iran with anti-imperialist countries. These gentlemen and their followers and associates prevented as much as they could the establishment of friendly relations between our homeland and member countries of the steadfastness front, neutral and truly anti-imperialist countries such as India, and socialist states such as Cuba. In order to promote this treacherous goal, these individuals resorted to every condemned and disagreeable act from plot to provocation, forgery, ploys and ruses. Unfortunately, they succeeded to some extent in promoting their aims. However, the alertness of the ever-on-the-scene people on the one hand, and the decisiveness of Imam Khomeyni and his committed companions in the Islamic government on the other have so far many times caused and is causing the defeat of the implementors of this imperialist line.

Currently in our revolutionary homeland and simultaneously with the efforts of the clear-sighted officials aimed at consolidating the positions of the Islamic Republic of Iran on the international scene, we are witnessing the tricks, ruses and the plots of the enemies and opponents of the revolution, the ignorant superficial and monopolist friends, the court preachers and the pseudoclergy against all the positive measures of the Islamic Republic of Iran. This wide spectrum of the enemies and opponents and the ignorant friends of the revolution everywhere, make wide use in particular, of sticking the communist label on the leaders of the revolution and the committed government figures of the revolution. As in a certain era when the opponents of true and revolutionary Islam even used to say about 'Ali 'ibn Abu Taleb that 'Ali does not pray, they portray Imam Khomeyni and his committed companions as opposed to Islam, of course the Islam of Mo'avieh and Abu Sofian.

The sincere followers of the imam's popular and anti-imperialist line and the true forces of the revolution immensely welcome the measures of the Islamic Republic of Iran in establishing diplomatic relations with anti-American Cuba and the visit of the high-ranking government delegation led by Hojjat ol-Eslam Hashemi-Rafsanjani to India. Such measures are always supported by the revolutionary forces, both religious and nonreligious.

At the same time, the revolutionary forces cannot hide their deep concern about some harmful developments, particularly about the bitter reality of the distortion of the slogan "Neither East nor West" by the court preachers and the pseudoclergy, the superficials and the monopolists and some of the fanatic government figures, and its transformation into the slogan of "Not Eastern but Western." Particularly because the outcome of the activity of these so-called friends of the revolution is nothing more than carrying out the famous directive of the Zionist Brzezinski and Carter to the effect that if you are able to strain Iran-Soviet relations you will have succeeded in dealing hard blows to the Islamic Republic of Iran.

It is a fact that for a long time now the slogan of "Neither East nor West" has been actually employed by some of the fanatic superficial government figures and authorities in line with the demands of world-devouring America and its Iranian agents and lackeys. By raising this slogan and involving socialist countries, especially the Soviet Union, and other anti-imperialist states — without any connection whatsoever — these individuals while negating the great Satan and diverting public opinion from this sworn enemy of the revolution create a hostile climate against the true friends of the Iranian revolution, and create obstacles on the path of the expansion of Iran's relations with truly anti-imperialist countries and the countries that are the friends and the supporters of the Islamic Republic of Iran. By the utmost expansion of relations with countries that are the friends and supporters of the Islamic Republic of Iran and with truly anti-imperialist countries, the plan of the implementors of the slogan "Not East but West" must be foiled.

NVOI: PEOPLE DEMAND BETTER RELATIONS WITH DRA

TA091013 [Editorial Report] The clandestine National Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran at 1730 GMT on 7 August carried a commentary, entitled "The People Are Defending the Democratic Government of Afghanistan," which stated that, despite the difficulties caused by the undeclared war of the U.S. imperialists, the leaders of Beijing and the region's reactionary regimes against the Democratic Republic of Afghanistan, the democratic government of this liberated country is taking the necessary measures toward improving the people's living standard and building a free society devoid of exploitation.

All these popular and Islamic measures by the Afghan Government have led to the thwarting of the satanic and conspiratorial plans by the counterrevolution and its masters. The Afghan people themselves and the various strata have taken up arms in defense of the democratic and popular system and their revolutionary gains against the professional killers who are trained and armed by the Americans in Pakistan and other countries and then sent into Afghanistan to engage in terrorism and subversion.

It is as a result of this total support by the Afghan people for the democratic government that today, despite all the efforts by the enemies -- imperialism and the region's reaction -- the situation in that country is being stabilized. This fact has caused the alarm of the imperialists, Beijing's leaders and the reactionary regimes of the region, such as Ziaul Haq's regime in Pakistan, and this is understandable. But what is not understandable to our homeland's people is why some of the Islamic authorities in our country, with respect to the Afghan problem, are moving on a path that is contrary to the principles of the Iranian revolution -- that is, against the anti-imperialist policy of the Islamic government.

Following the revolution's victory, the people have observed and are observing through experience that one cannot show even the slightest instance of an unfriendly act by the Afghan Government against revolutionary Iran. Officials of the Afghan Government have always reiterated the temporary friendship with revolutionary Iran and have demanded and continue to demand the peaceful resolution of all outstanding problems between the two neighboring countries. Only recently Mr Babrak Karmal once again explicitly declared his government's desire in this respect.

Our homeland's people firmly demand that the government conduct a review of its policy toward Afghanistan, which is our natural friend and ally, and clasp the hand of friendship which is being extended by this government toward us, thus paving the way for the settlement of outstanding problems and preparing the ground for the normalization of relations with that country.

IRNA REPORTS ON AFGHAN REBEL OPERATIONS

LD092102 Tehran IRNA in English 1947 GMT 9 Aug 82

[Text] Mashhad, Aug 9 IRNA -- Afghan Muslim mujahidin last week, in the region of Qandahar, attacked a column of joint Soviet-Afghan forces who were being supported by two helicopters.

In this operation, a large number of the joint forces were killed and 3 tanks of them were destroyed. One Afghan Muslim was also martyred and several others were wounded.

Meanwhile, reliable sources said that Afghan Muslim mujahidin also attacked the occupier Soviet forces in the region of Gur-e Mar recently. In this attack, 4 Russian personnel carriers, 3 vehicles carrying aircraft's bombs and ammunition were seized undamaged.

These sources further added that one of the seized vehicles was set ablaze by a Soviet MiG, when the mujahidin were transferring them. However, none of the Afghan strugglers was hurt.

Lebanon

Israeli Position -- After two meetings between Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin and U.S. envoy Philip Habib, an adviser to Begin announced that progress had been made but that Israel still awaits some replies to its conditions before it can announce final agreement to Habib's plan, IDF radio reported. While Habib has acceded to some of Israel's conditions, Jerusalem radio said, he still insists that the 300-man French unit should enter Beirut at the same time the "terrorists" start to evacuate and that UN observers should also be deployed. In an interview with the radio, Israeli Foreign Minister Yitzhaq Shamir said these two issues were the remaining points of major disagreement. After the fatal blow it has been dealt, the PLO will be liquidated and will disappear from the political arena of the Middle East, he added.

Shamir was told by his French counterpart Claude Cheysson that France has no intention of landing soldiers in Lebanon without prior coordination with Israel, according to another radio report. However, Defense Minister Ari'el Sharon claimed that through speedy action last weekend, Israel prevented the fait accompli of a French landing in Beirut that had not been coordinated with Israel. Speaking in a Jerusalem television interview, Sharon reiterated Israeli fears that French troops might become a defensive wall for the "terrorists." He said Israel has deployed forces along the coast north of Beirut both to verify that no move is made without Israel's agreement and as a further necessary measure to pressure the "terrorists," who are now willing to accept "any conditions" to leave. Concerning the removal of Syrian forces from Lebanon, he said the Syrians will have to choose between the present "uncomfortable" situation of having the IDF 25 km from Damascus or agreeing to the removal of all foreign forces from Lebanon. Israel has no interest in shelling Damascus or attacking Syria, he said. Regarding the planning of the "Peace for Galilee" Operation, Sharon disclosed that he paid a secret visit to Beirut in January 1982.

PLO Stance -- A PLO spokesman cited by AFP affirmed that the suggested Israeli amendments to the evacuation plan drawn up by U.S. envoy Habib would not slow down implementation of the plan and has not changed the PLO's determination to leave Beirut. Meanwhile, PLO Executive Committee Chairman Yasir 'Arafat sent a cable to Syrian President Hafiz al-Asad, carried by Damascus television, expressing "great appreciation" for the decision to accept PLO fighters in the current "fateful" circumstances.

Syria on Beirut, Military Imbalance -- Syria has rejected the U.S.-Israeli ultimatum to withdraw its forces from West Beirut and has told its troops there to fight on, Syrian Information Minister Ahmad Iskandar Ahmad said in an interview with Kuwait papers reported by Damascus radio. According to a KUNA report on the interview, which did not mention this, the minister admitted that there is an imbalance between Israeli and Syrian Air Force capabilities and that the Israelis have succeeded in destroying a large number of Syrian aircraft and missile batteries. However, he claimed, Syria subsequently restored the balance and shot down a number of Israeli planes. Syria's forces should be bolstered by other Arab forces, he said.

Military Situation -- Israeli planes attacked "terrorist" positions in Beirut on 11 and 12 August, according to statements by the IDF spokesman reported by IDF and Jerusalem radios. The IDF also advanced in the Hippodrome area near the Museum crossing point, capturing seven buildings, the spokesman said. The Voice of Lebanon claimed that Fatah Central Committee member Salah Khalaf has been hospitalized after being found in the ruins of a building destroyed by Israeli jets on 6 August.

Israeli forces have expanded into northern Lebanon, deploying along the coast at Jubayl and also swinging eastward toward the Al-Laquq-Al-'Qurah hills in the direction of the northern sector of the Al-Biqa' Valley, Beirut radio reported. Further south Israeli armored columns also took up positions overlooking Al-Biqa' in the Ash-Shuf and 'Alayh areas. In remarks reported by the radio, Lebanese Prime Minister Shafiq al-Wazzan said the Israeli advance in the north assumes serious security and political dimensions and raises questions about Israel's aims in invading Lebanon.

The Syrians have reinforced their positions in Al-Biqa' and on Mount Hermon, according to MA'ARIV and HA'ARETZ reports.

Egyptian Position -- On his way back from a visit to Oman, President Husni Mubarak made a stopover in Sudan and met with Sudanese President Ja'far Numayri, MENA reported. According to MENA, Mubarak asserted at a press conference after the meeting that if the Palestinians had helped Egypt under the Camp David framework, the Lebanese crisis would not have happened and the Palestinians would have been standing on "firm ground." He added that the United States must be a full partner in a settlement and that "100 percent" of the cards are in U.S. hands. Mubarak emphasized that Egypt had already contributed much to the Palestinians and would accept none of them except within a comprehensive solution to the Palestinian issue.

Jordan

In a speech carried by Amman radio on the 30th anniversary of his accession to the throne, Jordan's King Husayn spoke on the Lebanon situation and Jordanian-Israeli relations. He described the Israeli destruction of Beirut as "barbaric" and expressed disappointment that even the United Nations was unable to halt the fighting. Noting he had often warned that the Lebanese "tragedy" would lead to the collapse of Arab unity, he linked the Israeli invasion of Lebanon with the Iranian invasion of Iraq, describing both attacks as foreign aggression which demanded a unified Arab stand. Husayn stressed that a "real" Arab summit should be held and should have the "utmost" authority to adopt and abide by resolutions.

The withdrawal of Palestinian fighters from Beirut must be linked to a U.S. pledge to deal with the Palestinian-Arab-Israeli "cause" aimed at a comprehensive peace, Husayn said, adding that so far only Egypt had adopted this stand. He went on to say that Israel presents a threat to Jordan in its attempt to disrupt ties in the "Jordanian-Palestinian family." Husayn underscored that a real "organic cohesion" is necessary and that there will be no leniency with anyone who infiltrates, provokes or casts doubts on the unity and stability of the nation.

Paris Terrorism

PLO Chairman Yasir 'Arafat sent a message to the French president condemning the attack on a Jewish restaurant in Paris as an "inhuman action, " LE MONDE reported.

In another attack in Paris, a car bomb exploded at the Iraqi Embassy causing damage and fires, INA reported. Paris radio said a call was made to the media by a hitherto unknown Iraqi Shi'ite group claiming responsibility for the attack.

GANDHI MAKES STATEMENT ON TARAPUR FUEL

[Text] The prime minister has made it clear that there is no question of any additional conditions being attached to getting nuclear fuel for the Tarapur atomic plant from France. Mrs Gandhi told the Lok Sabha today that according to an understanding reached between India and the United States during her recent visit to Washington, France will supply the fuel in place of United States within the framework of the 1963 cooperation agreement. Necessary modalities for the supply are being worked out.

About reprocessing the spent fuel in the country, the prime minister said that the United States may have some reservations about it but it does not make any difference to us. She asserted that no right has been surrendered and we shall go ahead with reprocessing as and when necessary. She categorically stated that the technological breakthrough achieved by Indian scientists in evolving an indigenous fuel has not gone waste. She said it would be wrong to say that our scientists are demoralized. Mrs Gandhi said that the talks on nuclear fuel were held at the official level and she did not discuss the subject with the French or American leaders.

In reply to another question, the prime minister informed the house that the country will become self-sufficient in heavy water by the end of this decade. She said several experiments are in progress regarding peaceful uses of atomic energy. Mrs Gandhi reiterated India's commitment to use atomic energy only for peaceful purposes.

IRAN'S RAFSANJANI MEETS GANDHI, TOURS PARLIAMENT

[Excerpt] New Delhi, Aug 11, IRNA -- Hojjat ol-Eslam Hashemi-Rafsanjani met with Indian Prime Minister Mrs Gandhi here at noon today (Indian local time). During their meeting Rafsanjani said that he had looked forward to meeting Mrs Gandhi because she had records of anti-imperialist and anti-colonialist struggle. The Iranian Majlis speaker added that he and his peers had enacted the methods of struggle against colonialism as introduced in the letters of the late Jawaharlal Nehru, Mrs Gandhi's father. Rafsanjani also praised the Indian people's fight for independence led by the late Mahatma Gandhi. Mrs Gandhi welcomed Hojjat ol-Eslam Rafsanjani and said that she was honored to receive him as a dear guest of the Indian Government.

Hojjat ol-Eslam Rafsanjani, who arrived here yesterday at the head of a political, economic and parliamentary delegation from the Islamic Republic, made a visit to the Indian Parliament accompanied by Mr Balram Jakhar, the Indian speaker of Parliament. They participated in today's session of the Indian Parliament and were informed of this country's legislative procedures. During this visit the Indian parliamentarians, while welcoming the Iranian delegation, emphasised the friendly relations between the two countries and requested that their message of friendship be conveyed to Imam Khomeyni.

FURTHER ON IRANIAN DELEGATION'S ACTIVITIES

LD112206 Tehran IRNA in English 2002 GMT 11 Aug 82

[Text] New Delhi, Aug 11, IRNA -- During his 90-minute meeting with Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi here today the Iranian Majlis speaker outlined the rightful position of the Islamic Republic in relation with the Iraqi-imposed war, and the future summit conference of the nonaligned countries. He also emphasised the need for closer cooperation between the regional countries for countering the influence of the foreign powers. The two officials also deliberated on ways and means to expand political, industrial, economical and scientific cooperation between the Islamic Republic and India.

In another meeting the head of the Iranian atomic energy organisation, Reza Amrollahi met this morning with his Indian counterpart.

Also, in a third meeting the Indian under secretary of commerce, Abid Hussein, received his Iranian counterpart, Mr. Herayatzadeh. The two discussed topics relevant to the expansion of economic relations between the two countries, the elimination of intermediary agents in commercial exchanges between Iran and India and ways to use each country's existing facilities. The Indian commerce minister is to receive an invitation to Iran by his Iranian counterpart shortly.

INDIAN MEDICAL TEAM REFUSED ENTRY INTO BEIRUT

BK110821 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0730 GMT 11 Aug 82

[Text] The Israelis turned back an Indian medical team from the doorsteps of Beirut and did not allow the doctors and medical supplies to reach the war-torn Lebanese capital. This was stated by Dr R.S. Saxena, leader of the medical team, in New Delhi today on return from 2-month-long stay in Lebanon. Dr Saxena said the team waited at (Shatoor) in the Syrian-controlled Al-Biqa' Valley for 15 days for passage to Beirut, just 6 km away. The Indian team was the first to reach Lebanon and the last to leave that country.

LT GOVERNOR COMMENTS ON SITUATION IN MIZORAM

BK101024 Calcutta THE STATESMAN in English 5 Aug 82 p 9

[Text] The lieutenant governor of Mizoram, Admiral S.N. Kohli, said at Calcutta airport on Wednesday that the Mizo National Front [MNF] "has started recruiting new members very recently." According to reports received by the government "the MNF wants to add additional 400 members to its present strength of about 350," he added.

Admiral Kohli, who was on his way from Aijal to Delhi, further said that the MNF had been weakened, following the surrender of about 460 insurgents and the arrest of another 180. The MNF was now trying to replenish its strength by further recruitment.

Replying to a question, Admiral Kohli said that there was a rift among the present MNF members, following the murder of two Mizos in the middle of June. One of the two murdered was a member of legislative assembly [MLA], elected in the recent by-election and the other was the editor of a pro-ruling party newspaper. While a section of the MNF was against killing of any Mizo, the other hardliner section was in favour of annihilation of those, whether Mizos or not, whose names figured in the last of their capital headquarters. The list contained the names of the lieutenant governor, the chief minister and other ministers and MLAs, Admiral Kohli said.

He claims that the present situation in Mizoram "is well under control." Patrolling and combing operations by the security forces and the police were continuing. Some of those who had fled Mizoram, following the "quit Mizoram" order served on June 21, had returned. Other non-Mizos had been put up at various "protected camps in different towns," he added.

Replying to another question Admiral Kohli said that the "situation is now somewhat tense," because the MNF sought to enforce the "quit Mizoram" order in August. Asked whether there was any apprehension of a large-scale incident, Admiral Kohli said that at present the steps taken by the administration, security forces and the police had been "able to contain the MNF activities." Constant patrolling was being carried out, despite inclement weather.

A number of those involved in the murder of nine non-Mizos in June had been rounded up and stringent action was being taken to apprehend others, [he] added. "Those arrested in this connexion had confessed their involvement in the June murder," he stated.

NO-WAR PACT TALKS WITH INDIA BEGIN 11 AUG

BK110709 Karachi Domestic Service in Urdu 0600 GMT 11 Aug 82

[Text] The talks between Pakistan and India on a no-war pact began in Islamabad this morning. The offer of this pact was made by Pakistan. Pakistan's foreign secretary, Niaz A. Naik, is leading his country's delegation at the talks while the Indian delegation is led by Indian Foreign Secretary M.K. Rasgotra. Radio Pakistan's diplomatic correspondent understands that there will be three rounds of talks, during which matters of bilateral interest will also come up for discussion.

YAQUB KHAN INTERVIEWED ON RELATIONS WITH INDIA

[Text] Foreign Minister Sahabzada Yaqub Khan has said clearing the air of suspicion is central to the improvement of relations between Pakistan and India. In an interview to BBC, he welcomed the resumption of talks later this week on the proposed no-war pact between the two countries as a positive step. He emphasized the need of basing future relations between the two countries on an understanding that will remove suspicions and doubts.

Pakistan, he said, would be quite prepared to listen attentively to what the other side has to say. In reply to a question, Sahabzada Yaqub Khan said Pakistan has suggested to India the idea of reduction of forces or arriving at an agreed ratio of forces between the two countries.

About travel facilities and trade exchanges, he said a great deal has been done in the past 3 or 4 years in these directions. However, Pakistan was ready in the spirit of good neighborliness to join in any suggestions for improvement in these directions.

IRANIAN ENVOY DELIVERS MESSAGE TO HAQ

LD092228 Tehran IRNA in English 1939 GMT 9 Aug 82

[Text] Islamabad, 9 Aug, IRNA -- A message from President Khamene'i was submitted by the Iranian ambassador in Pakistan, Abu Sharif, also known as 'Abbas Aqazamani, to President Ziaul Haq of Pakistan yesterday.

In that meeting, the Iraqi imposed war on Iran, the possible change of the venue of the non-aligned conference and the Zionist aggression against Lebanon were discussed.

HAQ COMMENTS ON INTERNATIONAL, DOMESTIC ISSUES

BK090752 Karachi Domestic Service in English 1700 GMT 8 Aug 82

[Text] President Gen Mohammad Ziaul Haq has declared that the future political setup in the country will be based within the framework of Islamic principles as enunciated in the holy Koran and sunnah [teachings of the prophet].

Addressing a news conference in Karachi this afternoon, he said he and his colleagues were sincerely and devotedly working to build up institutions on (?sound) line to give permanence to the measures now being taken for Islamization. He said the present government had set itself at definite goals in consonance with the genius of the people and their aspirations and made significant progress toward achieving it during the last 5 years.

The president said he had already received the report of the Council of Islamic Ideology on the future political setup in the country and had consulted his Cabinet colleagues about it. However, the report would be returned to the council for some elaboration. The president added that after the political framework takes a concrete shape we will place if before the nation to elicit the opinion of all sections of the people, including politicians. He said the Pakistani nation was fully conscious of its political destination.

The president said he and his colleagues enjoyed the confidence of the general mass of the people and will remain at the helm of affairs as long as they enjoyed this confidence. He said his government had been running country's affairs with consensus and in consultation with patriotic and Islam-loving people.

Referring to the preparations for celebrating the independence day this year, the president said greater enthusiasm being shown in this regard is a demonstration of the nation's determination to uphold and defend its liberty and freedom. He said the 14th of August will remind us to keep its spirit alive.

Referring to the economy, the president said several offers have been received from Arab countries for investment in joint ventures in agro-based industries and a joint venture project with Abu Dhabi has already been approved. He hoped there would be more investments in the private sector as a result of the government's economic policy.

Replying to a question the president said he had been invited by President Reagan to visit the United States from the 7th of December next. He told a questioner that the recent visit of the Indian prime minister to America had not affected the Pak-U.S. relations in any manner. Moreover, Pakistan was not in a competition with India or any other country.

The president said Pakistan's offer of a no-war pact and also India's proposal for a joint ministerial commission will come up for discussion at the forthcoming talks in Islamabad between the foreign secretaries of the two countries.

About the Afghanistan crisis, he said efforts for finding a political solution are continuing. The number of Afghan refugees in Pakistan had exceeded 2.7 million. The Islamic countries are helping us in this regard but the main burden is on Pakistan.

The president described the situation in Lebanon as a great tragedy. He said Pakistan had done whatever it could to help resolve the crisis. It had fulfilled its duties in the Islamic Conference. He said Pakistan had every sympathy with the Palestinian people in their sufferings. He urged the people to pray to the Almighty Allah to grant Pakistan the power to emerge as a source of strength and positive assistance to the ummah [community] to defend itself and realize its objectives and aspirations.

The president said he will shortly undertake an extensive tour of Sind which was, in fact, overdue. Referring to the problems of Karachi, he said the federal and the provincial governments were fully seized of these problems. Some of them have been solved and others were in hand.

About the law and order situation he said every effort is being made to curb crime. He, however, emphasized that the people individually and collectively had to help the government in this regard. He also declared that unless the laws were brought in conformity with Islam the present-day problems of theft, dacoity and other crimes could not be overcome.

Replying to a question the president said only 835 employees of Pakistan International Airlines have been removed from service as their appointment was not in keeping with the normal procedure. Each of them had been paid 25,000 to 150,000 rupees in what he described as a golden handshake.

Later, the president laid the foundation stone of the new banknote factory of the Pakistan security printing corporation. Speaking on the occasion, he said it will not only meet the domestic needs, save invaluable foreign exchange but also serve friendly countries. The president announced the donation of 100,000 rupees for the collective welfare of the employees of the corporation.

Talking to Radio Pakistan at the airport before his departure for Rawalpindi, the president said in the context of the independence day celebrations that the Pakistan flag is the symbol of the nation and it should be honored and respected by every citizen. He said the national flag is everybody's flag and it should be held in great esteem.

POLICE LAUNCH COUNTRYWIDE MANHUNT, ARREST 16

[Text] Karachi, Aug 10 (AFP) -- Pakistan police have launched a countrywide hunt for terrorists and arrested 16 persons for involvement in recent bombings and other acts of sabotage in different cities, officials said here today.

The arrests were made by the Federal Investigating Agency (FIA) in Karachi, Peshawar, Quetta, Faisalabad and Lahore. Those arrested included a member of executed Prime Minister Zulfiqar Ali Bhutto's Pakistan Peoples Party (PPP) and four Afghan nationals.

They are suspected of links with the Kabul-based organisation, Al-Zulfiqar, headed by Mr Bhutto's son Murtuza. Al-Zulfiqar claimed responsibility for a recent bomb explosion at Lahore airport.

Meanwhile, police were reported to be preparing dossiers on the leaders and office bearers of all defunct political parties in the country.

Political activities and parties were banned under martial law in October 1979 when Pakistan's military ruler, General Mohammad Ziaul Haq, announced indefinite postponement of scheduled general elections.

Strict press censorship was also imposed.

COMMENTATOR URGES POOLING OF ISLAMIC RESOURCES

[Commentary by Fazal Qureshi]

[Text] Federal Finance Minister Ghulam Ishaq Khan has made a strong plea for exploiting the vast potential of the Muslim world to realize the objectives of common good and prosperity. The finance minister said this during his meeting in Islamabad yesterday with a two-man Arab League mission currently on a week-long visit to Pakistan.

He told them that Pakistan had abiding interest in the promotion of economic progress of the Muslim ummah [community]. He assured that Pakistan was always prepared to share with the brotherly Arab and Muslim countries whichever knowledge, expertise and institutional capability it possessed.

The finance minister expressed the view that closer mutually beneficial cooperation will be forged between Pakistan and the Muslim countries at large through various agencies, including the Arab League. The cooperation, he added, could cover broad spectrum of spheres like agriculture, industry, engineering, medicine, banking, trade, technical know-how and manpower development.

He said Pakistan was in a position to meet substantially many economic and commercial requirements of brotherly Muslim nations. He said this could be done in a planned manner by gearing our production capability on the basis of long-term assessment of such needs.

The minister said that Pakistan was handicapped in its development efforts by capital shortages and would welcome major Arab investment in various projects on bilateral and multilateral basis. It would not only benefit Pakistan but also help attain the aims of economic self-reliance of the Muslim world, he commented.

Dr (Abul Hasan Zalzala), secretary general [word indistinct] of the Arab League, who is leading the mission, said that the purpose of their visit was to exploit possibilities of achieving closer economic, commercial, technical and financial cooperation and collaboration between Pakistan and member countries of the Arab League. He said Pakistan could assist the Arab League with the implementation of the projects undertaken by it in some of the Arab countries. As stated by the finance minister and often reiterated by President Gen Mohammad Ziaul Haq, promotion of cooperation and collaboration between the Islamic states is one of the most important fundamental principles of Pakistan's foreign policy.

Pakistan came into being in the name of Islam and building up unity and solidarity in the Islamic ummah was one of foremost objectives of the Pakistan movement. That is why Pakistan has always been in the forefront for moves and initiatives to bring the Islamic ummah closer together and to launch moves to promote cooperation among them in all fields.

Today Pakistan is playing an important role in all the committees and subcommittees set up by the Organization of Islamic Conference [OIC] for more collaboration between the Islamic countries in the fields of trade, industry, banking, insurance, shipping and general exchange of technical know-how. Like other members of the OIC, Pakistan also firmly believes that among themselves, Islamic countries have more than necessary capital, manpower and technological capability to supplement each other's development and strength.

In this way, instead of looking outward, the Islamic countries can achieve outstanding results by cooperating with each other. In fact, such a cooperation, which will lead to the economic and military strength of the Muslim ummah, is the prime need of the hour. The Muslim ummah can only face the aggressive challenge of Zionist Israel and other enemies of Islam if it joins hands and draws its strength from within its own resources.

As forthrightly stated by President Ziaul Haq recently, the Muslim ummah must forget its differences and achieve unity and solidarity to achieve its real place in the world. Unless this is done, Muslims all over the world will continue to remain economically poor and continue to suffer attack and attrition such as in Afghanistan, Palestine, Lebanon and elsewhere.

IRNA: IRAQ ABANDONS IDEA OF HOSTING SUMMIT

[Text] Tehran, Aug 11 (IRNA) -- Saddam confessed to the failure of his efforts in convening the nonaligned summit conference in Baghdad and announced Tuesday that the conference would not be held there.

Saddam had spent billions of dollars for the conference and was hopeful that it would strengthen his unstable regime. His failure became evident when his agents throughout the world tried to encourage different heads of states to dispatch their representatives to Baghdad.

Iraqi radio in its news broadcast at 22:30 Tuesday announced that in his meeting with the Yugoslavian delegation, Saddam stated that under the present conditions he no longer insisted on holding the nonaligned summit conference in Baghdad, and Iraq would participate in the conference where ever it is held.

The Yugoslavian delegation arrived in Baghdad to discuss final decision to determine a new venue and date for the seventh nonaligned summit. This is the first tour of Yugoslavian officials to other countries as part of their programme to talk with members of the Nonaligned Movement about the venue issue. Yugoslavia was making a strong effort in order that the conference be held in Baghdad but new political developments concerning the change of conference site surprised that country.

KHAMENE'I SPEAKS ON WAR AT JOURNALISTS SEMINAR

[Text] Tehran, Aug 11, IRNA -- President Khamene'i today censored the world printed and broadcast media for having willfully turned their faces from much facts which [words indistinct] reflected in the media could have much enlightened the world people in connection with the criminal acts of Saddam Husayn and the Zionist regime. He said many foreign reporters and correspondents who had witnessed the crimes of the Baghdad regime especially in relation with its aggression against the Islamic Republic had kept silent in a blatant disregard of their vocational ethics.

Khamene'i, who was talking to a group of participants in a seminar of provincial reporters of the Persian daily JOMHURI-YE ESLAMI (organ of the Islamic Republic Party) in Tehran, reiterated that a principal condition set forth by the Islamic Republic for peace talks with the Baghdad regime had been "the punishment of the aggressor", and that if the "aggressor" be not punished it would not be an encroachment against the rights of the Islamic Republic only, but rather would jeopardise the region's security.

He added if the Baghdad regime should be left unpunished, it would necessarily imply that any potentially powerful government would have the right to make whatever encroachments upon its less powerful neighbours.

He said Iran's demand for war reparations was one within the specific interest of Iran, while the "punishment of the aggressors was one in the interest of all freedom-loving and independent peoples of the world at large."

BODY FORMED TO HANDLE FOREIGN PUBLICITY

LD111302 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 11 Aug 82

[Text] According to a Central News Unit report, the Ministry of Islamic Guidance under secretary for international affairs, speaking in a press, radio and television interview today, provided some information regarding the ministry's activity in international affairs, coordination in foreign publicity and the hajj pilgrimage.

Noting the importance of foreign publicity, the imam of the nation's repeated emphasis of this point and the propaganda plots by superpowers and imperialists against the Islamic Republic of Iran, he said that in our foreign publicity we are pursuing two objectives: first, to counter hostile imperialist propaganda; and, second, to offer and make the characteristics of the Islamic revolution known to free peoples the world over.

Regarding the Islamic Guidance Ministry's supervision of the activity of foreign cultural organizations in Iran, he said that we have begun an examination and review of the Goethe Institute, which is a German cultural organization.

Regarding the coordination of foreign publicity, the Islamic Guidance Ministry under secretary for international affairs said that a council, called the Council for Foreign Publicity Policy Formulation, has been formed, comprising the minister of foreign affairs, the chairman of the Islamic Consultative Assembly Foreign Relations Committee, the chairman of the Supreme Council for Publicity, the managing director of the Voice and Vision of the Islamic Republic of Iran and the minister of Islamic guidance. He called on the organizations and institutions working in this field to cooperate with the council.

Expressing his pleasure at the appointment of Mr Musavi-Kho'ini as the imam's representative in the organization for hajj and pilgrimage and the coordination achieved in this regard, he hoped that the hajj pilgrimage this year will be more successful. He added that the Saudi Government will also issue visas for all pilgrims.

Referring to Mr Ma'adikhah's resignation from his post, he said that the running of the ministry is currently a direct responsibility of the prime minister.

In conclusion, the Islamic Guidance Ministry under secretary for international affairs stated that the ministry is busy organizing ceremonies to mark the anniversary of the war and of the revolutionary occupation of the American den of espionage.

OFFICIAL SEES NEED TO OPPOSE U.S. "PROPAGANDA"

[Text] Tehran, Aug 11, IRNA -- Since the Islamic revolution of Iran aims at presenting the meaning of freedom and independence to the deprived masses of the world, the United States imperialism, being aware of this mission, has invested a great deal in propaganda campaigns against the Islamic revolution of Iran, said the deputy minister for international affairs of the Ershad Eslami (Islamic Guidance) Ministry, Asgharzadeh, in a press conference here today.

The propaganda policies of the U.S. against the Islamic revolution are being executed by the U.S. embassies in various countries as well as by the U.S. mass media, including news agencies which are mainly subservient to imperialism and Zionism.

In another part of the press conference Asgharzadeh added that the U.S. imperialism, being an enemy of the Islamic revolution of Iran, had coordinated all its military, political and cultural programmes in the region to crush the Islamic revolution of Iran and prevent the spread of the revolution to other countries.

2

In light of such a situation, he added, his ministry had a dual responsibility to thwart the poisonous propaganda, and to convey the message of the Islamic revolution of Iran to the people of the world.

ENVOYS BEING DISPATCHED TO DISCUSS NONALIGNED

LD111730 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 11 Aug 82

[Text] According to the Central News Unit, a Foreign Ministry delegation headed by Foreign Ministry Political Under Secretary Mr Sheykh ol-Eslam has left Tehran to visit Pakistan, Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, Indonesia, Malaysia, Vietnam and Nepal. During its visit to these countries the Iranian delegation will brief officials on the Islamic Republic of Iran's stance with regard to the Nonaligned Movement and the movement's forthcoming seventh summit.

Iran is also sending another delegation to tour Syria, Libya, Algeria, Guinea, Nigeria, Ghana, Tanzania, Madagascar and South Yemen. This delegation will be headed by Petroleum Minister Gharazi.

A third delegation, to be headed by the deputy foreign minister, will leave tomorrow for Cuba, Nicaragua and [word indistinct].

These delegations are carrying written messages from President Khamene'i to the heads of the countries to be visited.

ENVOY COMMENTS ON RELATIONS WITH NIGERIA

LD092246 Tehran IRNA in English 2017 GMT 9 Aug 82

[Text] Tehran, 9 Aug IRNA -- The Iranian ambassador to Nigeria, Hojjat ol-Eslam Mohammad Menhaj, in an interview with the evening daily KEYHAN today, said that the relations between Iran and Nigeria were good and further improving. Nigeria is among the countries which have a friendly stance towards the Islamic revolution of Iran.

The Iranian ambassador to Nigeria said that the Muslims of Nigeria had great interest in the Islamic revolution of Iran since they, too, had suffered a great deal from the domination of oppressors and international plunderers. At present the people of both countries are capable of pooling effectively their resources for curtailing the hands of plunderers and those seeking domination over other countries.

Although reactionary regimes such as [word indistinct] Saudi Arabia have tried to misintroduce the Islamic revolution in an unpleasant portrayal to the world Muslims, however, these schemes gave failed and fortunately the Muslims of the world continue to support the Islamic revolution of Iran.

Commenting on the plots of the superpowers against OPEC (Organisation of Petroleum Exporting Countries), of which Iran and Nigeria are members, Hojjat ol-Eslam Menhaj said that there were attempts by international plunderers to dissolve the organisation or to keep the price of oil at a low level through the reactionary members of OPEC. He further added that Nigeria had taken a progressive stance in OPEC and subscribed to a policy similar to that of the Islamic Republic of Iran. He further pointed out that in his opinion Nigeria was one of the countries which was capable of enhancing the independence of OPEC, in a joint effort with the Islamic Republic of Iran.

AMENDMENTS TO CONSCRIPTION ACT DETAILED

[Text] Various aspects of the Conscription Act were explained at a press conference by Mr Mahmud Rohani, chairman of the Majlis Defense Committee [title as heard]. Mr Rohani said that in the last regime punishment of those who failed to report for their national service was trivial; a few months in jail or a fine. Now we see that at a time of war only some of the valiant and combatant youths are going to the fronts. Others without any sense of responsibility toward their country are failing to report. Therefore, we have decided to amend the Conscription Act and the new amendments, containing 70 articles, have been submitted to the Majlis.

He added that Article 5 makes it necessary for anyone engaged in the following activities to obtain a certificate from the National Conscription Department stating that he has either undergone military service or has been exempted: applying for a driver's license; obtaining any type of loan or agricultural, industrial housing or cattle-ranching aids from government sources and foundations affiliated with the government; running for any elected position; receiving educational certificates, business registration or registration of any property at official registry offices; requesting a national insurance card; and seeking employment with departments, legal foundations and public companies and firms.

Mr Rohani also said that Article 61 stipulates that if a person does not serve his country during peacetime he is to be deprived for 10 years of the benefits mentioned in Article 5 of this amendment act. During time of war, if a person fails to serve his country Article 62 of this amendment act makes the following provisions:

A. In addition to deprivation of all allowances and benefits already mentioned in Article 5, the said person will be deprived of access to water, electricity, gas and telephone services. These services will be withdrawn from those who obtained them prior to the ratification of this bill.

B. Deprivation of exit visas, except in cases of emergency treatment abroad or compulsory pilgrimage.

C. Violators will be exposed to the public by the media as deserters of the holy war.

He added that those eligible persons who enrolled for service as of 23 September 1980 and whose names appeared on emergency, reserve or callup lists, but who failed to report at the time of their summons will be deprived for 10 years and will suffer the punishments of Provisions A, B and C mentioned in Article 62 of this act.

If absentees living in this country report within 6 months from the date of the approval of this act and undergo their service, they will only be deprived for 5 years. The deadline for absentees living abroad to report for service will be 1 year from the date this act is ratified.

Concluding his remarks, Mr Rohani said that physicians and officials who issue eligible persons with false exemption certificates will be severely punished. Private employers who violate the act by employing eligible persons will also be punished. For the first offense they commit, their firms or factories will be shut down for 6 months and for the second offense their firms and factories will be shut down permanently.

LD111730 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 11 Aug 82

[Text] In His exalted name. Our dear compatriots are hereby informed of the situation on the fronts of the imposed war during the past 24 hours:

Exchange of artillery and heavy-weapon fire continued sporadically on most of the country's western fronts from Qasr-e Shirin to Mehran, between the self-sacrificing troops of the Islamic revolution and the Iraqi Ba'thist mercenaries. While maintaining their firepower superiority, and controlling the fire of the forces of blasphemy, the self-sacrificing troops of the Islamic Republic's Armed Forces silenced the fire of the Saddamist mercenaries, destroyed a number of their emplacements and trenches, and killed or wounded a number of enemy servicemen.

Yesterday fighting and exchange of fire took place sporadically on the southern fronts. Islam's victorious combatants on each of the fronts defended their positions and returned fire on enemy positions and fortifications. Considerable losses and casualties were inflicted on the Saddamist forces and their fire was silenced. Also, by carrying out harassment operations and by dispatching tank-hunting teams, the necessary blows were delivered at the Iraqi Ba'thist forces.

During an exchange of fire on the Abadan front yesterday, our naval heroes and gendarmerie combatants returned fire on enemy positions and units on the opposite bank of Arvand Rud, set fire to and destroyed several trenches, light and heavy weapons and observation posts of the Iraqi Ba'thist mercenaries and killed a number of their servicemen.

Yesterday, as a result of fire opened by the Iraqi Ba'thist criminals, several houses were destroyed in Abadan.

Intrusions by the Iraqi Air Force into Iran's western and southern border areas were thwarted yesterday, too. Thanks to antiaircraft fire opened by the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran, the attacking aggressive Iraqi aircraft were forced to flee without being able to carry out any operations.

[Signed] The Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran

AIR DEFENSE UNITS FORCE IRAQI PLANES TO FLEE

[Text] According to the Central News Unit, the aggressive aircraft of the Iraqi Ba'thist-Zionist regime violated the airspace of Khorramshahr and Abadan at 0913, 0936, 1233 and 2010 today. However, the alertness and firepower of our brave brothers in the air defense units stationed in the region forced them to flee each time without carrying out any operations.

Also, according to IRNA and Central News Unit reports, several aircraft of the aggressive Iraqi Armed Forces appeared over the resistant and martyr-rearing city of Ilam at 2025 and 2140 last night and at 0900, 1005 and 1012 this morning, but the intense fire of the alert combatants of the air defense unit stationed in the region forced them to flee without carrying out any operations.

[Text] This is Bushehr, Voice of the Islamic Republic of Iran. Attention, attention. Dear listeners: According to the latest reports, a red alert condition has been declared for Bushehr region. Please make sure that you comply with all the safety regulations for this condition. An air raid is imminent. [sound of siren]

TURKISH DRIVERS WILL NOT DRIVE THROUGH IRAQ

GF100714 Tehran International Service in Turkish 1830 GMT 9 Aug 82

[Text] Turkish drivers transporting goods to Iraq have announced that because of lack of security in that country Turkish trucks will not cross through it. A spokesman for the Turkish drivers said in a statement on the matter that Turkish trucks ferrying goods to a number of Middle East countries were attacked in Iraq by the forces of the Saddam administration last week and that their cargos were plundered.

NVOI WARNS AGAINST PROLONGING WAR WITH IRAQ

TA062058 [Editorial Report] The clandestine National Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran at 1730 GMT on 6 August carried a commentary entitled "The Danger of Widening Military Conflicts" The imposed war on our homeland and its prolongation has caused and is causing numerous casualties and losses to our nation and the Iraqi nation. Experience has shown that this war is only to the benefit of imperialism headed by the United States. For this reason, too, its continuation has justly aroused a great deal of concern in the public opinion of the Near East and the countries of the Persian Gulf region. In particular, the danger of the prolongation of this war has deepened with Israel's aggression in Lebanon, which is directly supported by the United States. Under the false pretext of transporting the Palestinians, Washington has planned the landing of marines from the U.S. Sixth Fleet in Beirut. In this connection we must focus attention on the dual danger of the imposed war on our homeland and the aggravation of tension in the Persian Gulf, which has come about as a result of the escalation of America's military activities, as this situation has created suitable conditions for the United States to interfere in the military conflicts which it itself has imposed on our nation and the Iraqi nation.

America aims to get as close to the Persian Gulf as possible, and by exploiting Israel's aggression on Lebanon it wants to land its military forces in Lebanon and to occupy important strategic positions in the eastern Mediterranean and in the vicinity of the borders of Iran and Iraq. The noteworthy thing is that U.S. diplomacy is striving to exploit every possibility to fan the flame of war between our country and Iraq and to aggravate relations between Arab countries and our homeland. In order to scare the royal regimes in this region, America constantly raises a tumult about the danger that allegedly the revolutionary changes in Iran have aimed at these regimes, and at the same time it exploits the differences between Shi'ites and Sunnis and religious divisions to intensify this fright, whereas both Arabs and Iranians and both Shi'ites and Sunnis are all Muslims. Washington is striving to involve its so-called allies in the region, such as the regimes of Saudi Arabia, Oman and some other dependent countries in its dangerous military adventures. If the United States brings its naval force into the Persian Gulf, in that case this force will remain in the Persian Gulf for an indefinite period. America does not enter into the Persian Gulf so that it can leave after a few days...this bitter fact must be remembered forever by all the leaders of the states of our region, particularly those who might succumb to a dangerous collusion with Washington.

KEYHAN REPORTS ON SAR DASHT PURGE OPERATIONS

[Text] Urumiyeh, KEYHAN correspondent: The army brothers, guard forces and the Mobilization unit of the popular forces completed a purge of the villages of Bivaran, Rabteh and Mraghan in the Sar Dasht area. In the operations, which were carried out with complete success, over 100 counterrevolutionaries were either killed or wounded and the bodies of 9 could be seen on the battlefield. A quantity of documents were captured from these minigroups.

During the operations, the following arms were also taken as booty: 1 heavy machinegun, 1 57-mm gun, 1 40-mm grenade launcher, 10 G-3 guns with ammunition and 5 transceivers. During these operations 10 brother fighters of Islam were killed and 15 were wounded.

The explosion of a mine planted by godless counterrevolutionary elements on the road to (Darip) village near Piranshahr wounded a Kurdish couple.

NAHAVAND VILLAGERS REPORTEDLY ATTACK OFFICIALS

GF100400 (Clandestine) Free Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1500 GMT 9 Aug 82

[Text] According to our correspondent, people in the village of (Raqiabad) in Nahavand attacked a delegation which had come to gather the villagers to go to the government-contrived Friday prayer show in Nahavand that is forced on the people. In the clash the guards opened fire on the villagers and killed three of them, including an 11-year-old child. Five others were arrested and another 18 were (?severely wounded).

Following the boycott of the government-contrived Friday show prayers by the people of the country, the Khomeyni regime is sending guards and Hezbollahi to villages to force villagers to participate in the ridiculous government shows. Irrespective of this, the mullahs do not dare hold such shows in most Iranian cities. Members of the opposition have stressed that they will (?disrupt such) shows with large explosions.

RADIO IRAN: CLASHES CONTINUE IN KORDESTAN

GF111535 (Clandestine) Radio Iran in Persian to Iran 1330 GMT 11 Aug 82

[Text] Dear compatriots: As we reported in our newscast yesterday, the security forces and the revolution guards have formed a joint base called Seyyed ash-Shohada base and intend to destroy and crush the regime's opposition in Kordestan. They have started extensive operations against the positions of the members of the [Kurdish] Democrat Party in order to reach this goal. Reports indicate a continuation of clashes in the majority of Kurdish cities of our country. The latest report indicates that several villages around Sar Dasht were damaged by the artillery fire of the government forces and a number of people have been killed or wounded.

JEWS ARRESTED WHILE TRYING TO SMUGGLE GOLD

[Text] Mashhad, KEYHAN correspondent: Following repeated reports concerning illegal transfer of currency and precious goods over land borders, and after investigations by the Mobilization Department, a group dispatched by the Central Islamic Revolution [Committee] and the information unit of the Mashhad Islamic revolution prosecutor's office, a great deal of gold, jewelry and foreign currency was taken from 24 Zionist agent Jews in Mashhad.

The find consists of 8 million rials worh of jewelry, 9 million rials of cash and around $20,000, as well as 1,000 French francs, 1,000 Turkish lira, 500 Pakistani rupees, some German marks and British pounds and a great number of valuable antiques.

The investigation order of the Islamic revolution prosecutor of Mashhad has resulted in widespread activities by the information and investigation department of his office to arrest and identify the main elements who prepared the ground for the illegal export of foreign currency and to clear the details of the case.

13 AUGUST 1982

Israel

According to the Jerusalem radio version of the contacts between U.S. and Israeli officials that culminated in the telephone conversations between U.S. President Ronald Reagan and Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin, tension in relations between the two countries stepped up on 12 August and Israel "was on the verge" of severing relations with the United States. The "furious reaction" to the bombing from Washington, the radio said, continued during a "stormy session" of the Israeli Cabinet, which decided to end the bombing. The Cabinet agreed that further military action required approval of the prime minister. It was after the Cabinet session, the radio said, that President Reagan "who had apparently not heard about the Cabinet decision," called Begin. After consulting with the defense minister, Begin returned the call to say "the shooting has stopped on all fronts."

Speaking to the Knesset Foreign Affairs and Defense Committee, reported by IDF radio, Sharon described the Cabinet meeting as one of the "most tense" in his memory, though he supported the meeting's decision. IDF radio said Sharon feared that the "terrorists" would attempt to leave a "nucleus" of their forces in Beirut, and suggested that Israeli forces remain in Lebanon as long as Syrian forces are present there, although he would not propose attacking the Syrians.

Earlier, in a speech to the Knesset carried by Jerusalem radio, Prime Minister Begin informed that "great progress" was made in negotiations during the week to remove the "terrorists" from Beirut and Lebanon and the Syrians from Beirut. Begin stressed that relations with the United States are "good" and the cease-fire in Beirut will be maintained by the IDF "to the end" as long as Israeli forces are not attacked. He argued that UN observers are "useless" and should not be part of the arrangement to remove the "terrorists." He said stationing UN observers would only cause harm and went on to criticize UN positions on Israel. He stated that Israel is entitled to tell the French forces to "stay at home," and alleged that there is "ugly" anti-Semitism raging in France.

Lebanon

Military Situation — Prior to the cease-fire on 12 August, Israeli forces attacked positions in west and southern Beirut for almost 11 hours. According to Voice of Lebanon radio reports, fighting took place on the Museum, Al-Barbir, Beirut port and sourthern suburb axes, while Israeli planes hit Palestinian emplacements and refugee camps. The radio asserted that the IDF entered the parliament building and also raided the military beach. The clandestine Voice of Palestine radio denied reports that Israeli forces had captured the Hippodrome. According to IDF radio, Israeli forces had destroyed four "terrorist" headquarters in southern Beirut. The IDF spokesman reported that 1 Israeli soldier was killed and 10 were wounded in the 12 August fighting, ITIM said. According to the Voice of Palestine radio, the Joint Lebanese-Palestinian Forces Central Command spokesman stated that 800 houses and buildings were destroyed in camps and residential areas and 500 people were killed or wounded.

Artillery exchanges occurred between Israeli and Syrian forces in the Al-Biqa' Valley, while both sides reinforced their positions in northern Lebanon, Voice of Lebanon radio reported.

Beirut Talks, PLO Departure Stands -- Prior to the cease-fire, Lebanese President Ilyas Sarkis had met with Prime Minister Shafiq al-Wazzan, Foreign Minister Fu'ad Butrus and U.S. envoy Philip Habib, Voice of Lebanon radio reported. In remarks after the meeting carried by the radio, Al-Wazzan said the discussion centered on the continued Israeli raids, asserting that the attacks created an atmosphere in which talks can no longer continue. He emphasized that Habib and the United States are responsible for the violence. Another report by the radio characterized the meeting as "stormy," forcing Habib to contact Washington on his "loss of patience."

Meanwhile, Beirut radio reported that President Sarkis sent Arab Deterrent Forces Commander Brig Gen Sami al-Khatib to Damascus to discuss the situation with Syrian officials. In another report the radio said the Lebanese Chamber of Deputies speaker proposed 19 August as the date for presidential elections.

Algeria has agreed to receive some of the Palestinian fighters from Beirut, according to an Algerian Foreign Ministry declaration cited by Algiers radio. An official Iraqi spokesman cited by INA confirmed that Iraq would also receive some of the PLO fighters. Palestinians holding Jordanian passports can return to Jordan and join the Palestine Liberation Army only if they were previously in Jordan -- otherwise they must return to civilian life, Jordanian sources cited by Monte Carlo radio revealed. In an interview with the CYPRUS MAIL, the Cypriot foreign minister announced that Cyprus had accepted the French request to use Cypriot ports for vessels connected with the PLO withdrawal and the multinational force.

Libyan Position -- In a message carried by Tripoli radio to Palestinian leaders and Arab sides connected with the PLO withdrawal, Col Mu'ammar al-Qadhdhafi declared that the departure of the PLO is a "betrayal" and all sides should annul the "conspiracy." Al-Qadhdhafi also sent a message to Arab leaders concerning his proposal to dispatch troops and planes to Syria, JANA reported.

Iraq

Ship Warnings -- Iraq has warned ships operating on routes to Iran that they will be attacked if they are in the designated restricted military zones, INA reported citing an Iraqi military spokesman. He said this warning came as a result of reports on the Iraqi attack on a Greek vessel and the difficulty of distinguishing friendly from enemy vessels.

Group on Paris Bombing -- According to a statement by the Iraqi Islamic Action Organization carried by Tehran radio's Arabic service, the group claimed responsibility for the car bomb explosion at the Iraqi Embassy in Paris and warned Egypt and other "reactionary regimes" not to support the Iraqi Government. The statement said the Paris explosion was a warning to France not to aid or dispatch military advisers to Iraq. According to IRNA, the group said the Paris explosion was in retaliation for Iraq's treatment of political prisoners.

Iran

The trial of former Foreign Minister Sadeq Qotbzadeh will begin on 14 August, IRNA reported.

KARMAL SPEAKS ON STRENGTHENING MILITARY

LD130714 Kabul BAKHTAR in English 0438 GMT 13 Aug 82

[Text] Kabul, August 12, BAKHTAR -- Babrak Karmal said today that the Afghan people had become fed up with the violence, (?tyranny), theft and plunder conducted by the miscreants, longed for a peaceful life and demand a speedier elimination of the bands of miscreants. The immediate and prime tasks, therefore, he added, was to ensure a peaceful life, elimination of counterrevolutionary elements and reliable defence of revolution.

Addressing a meeting of the leading body for guiding and administering the Army of the DRA, the general secretary of the PDPA CC [Central Committee] and president of the Revolutionary Council said: "It must be realized perfectly well that the counterrevolutionary elements enjoying extensive economic and military support of international reaction are trying to make the condition in our country tense, carry out economic subversion, create difficulties in respect of the supply of foodstuffs to people, transportation and commerce." That is why, he added, the existing conditions make it imperative that we raise the vigil, readiness and the might of the army and the people.

Babrak Karmal said the PDPA CC and its Politburo have adopted concrete measures for the consolidation and expansion of the state power and are devoting constant attention and care to the consolidation of the defence might and ensuring high combat preparedness of the armed forces.

In the present day condition, he continued, military problems constitute one of the most important spheres of our activity. Their solution would create favourable conditions for the implementation of social programmes and the construction of new life in Afghanistan.

The leadership of the party and state of the DRA, declared Babrak Karmal, would continue the policy of suppressing and eliminating the counter-revolution and improving the level of socio-economic life of the people and the development of national culture.

Lauding the role of officers of the army, he observed that they formed the backbone of the army and that the improvement of the conditions within the army and the solution of the problems of the defence of revolution and consolidation of the state power were unbreakably linked with the loyalty of officers to the ideals of the party and the people and to their devoted and consistent struggle.

Noting that the fundamental tasks of the army in the present phase were the defence of the country against aggression, putting an end to the plots and armed provocations of the counterrevolutionary elements and decisive suppression of the criminal bands, Babrak Karmal said: "It must be said with complete satisfaction that these historical tasks are being fulfilled with pride as is evident from efficient combat operation in the vitally important regions of the country."

Babrak Karmal said the Politburo of the PDPA CC is fully confident that the Armed Forces of the DRA would score new victories in fulfilling the task set to them by the countrywide conference of the PDPA.

Those present at this meeting held in the hall of the Ministry of National Defence included members of the Politburo of PDPA CC, secretaries and members of the Central Committee, some of the members of the Revolutionary Council and the commandants responsible for guidance and administering the Army of the DRA.

Other speakers at the meeting included General 'Abdol Qader, caretaker of the Ministry of National Defense, and a number of commandants.

In their speeches, they assured the party and the state of the determination of the officers and the men of the army to display extreme devotion and sacrifice for the defence of the country and revolution.

KESHTMAND SPEECH TO COUNCIL OF MINISTERS

LD062146 Kabul Domestic Service in Dari 1600 GMT 3 Aug 82

[Report on "shortened version" of closing speech given by Soltan 'Ali Keshtmand, member of the PDPA Central Committee Politburo and prime minister of the DRA, to a session of the Council of Ministers -- date and place not given]

[Text] [Begin Keshtmand recording] Esteemed comrades: In the second part of today's session of the Council of Ministers, we heard important reports concerning the implementation of the DRA economic and social development plan in the first quarter of the year 1361 [21 March 1981 - 21 June 1982] and the results of the implementation and execution of the DRA budget in the same quarter; in this regard we pointed out in an important resolution the duties and responsibilities of the State Planning Committee, the Ministry of Finance and other ministries and government departments in the area of complete implementation of the plan and the government budget. In evaluating the implementation of the plan and budget, we warmly welcome this positive assessment by Comrade Babrak Karmal, general secretary of the PDPA Central Committee which says that [word indistinct] construction of the state administration organs is getting (?under way), the standard of leading economic sectors is improving, planning is getting better and the control over the activities of the ministries and departments in relation to the implementation of the economic development plan of the country and the decisions of the party and government has strengthened. Also, the criticism leveled at the government, which is specifically stated in the plenum report, will be strictly considered; necessary measures will be adopted to correct mistakes and eliminate deficiencies and shortcomings.

The PDPA, as a governing party, attaches huge importance to its economic and social duties and to the development of the country's economy on the basis of a single plan. The PDPA action program which was approved at the [word indistinct] of the national conference stressed the need to enhance the role of economic and social development plans in leading the national economy of the country and in strengthening the responsibilities of the ministries, departments, government enterprises and party and social organizations for the complete and timely implementation of the plans.

If [word indistinct] the subject of implementation of the social and economic development plan and the country's budget in the first quarter of the year 1361, for assessment and discussion at the Council of Ministers session, mistakes, deficiencies and existing shortcomings and the reasons for not implementing the plan according to related norms [words indistinct] and in accordance with the realistic assessment of accomplished achievements, the correct methods of solving outstanding problems should be sought.

The successful implementation of the economic and social development plan for the year 1361 will provide necessary conditions and grounds for continued developments in coming years. The social and economic development plans will help eliminate several hundred years of economic backwardness, speed up the rhythm of the growth of national production and with this the growth of the level of people's prosperity and, finally, prepare the necessary opportunities for the creation of the new society based on equality and social justice, a society where there will be no tyranny and no exploitation of man by man.

However, in the implementation of economic and social development plans and in the realization of fundamental changes in the country, problems have been created by the internal and external counterrevolution. [Words indistinct] demonstrate that the construction of the new society has always been confronted with the anger, hatred and fierce resistance of the exploiting classes, imperialism and international reaction. So the rebel bands, who are fully supported by imperialism and international reaction, are using all their powers to halt the development and social prosperity of Afghanistan and to prevent the country's development [word indistinct].

Today more than ever we need [word indistinct] tranquillity in the country and security on our borders. We want to live in a peaceful and friendly atmosphere with our neighbors.

Our party and government firmly follow the policy of peace and constantly strive to defend peace in the region and throughout the world. We will do anything to prepare favorable conditions for [word indistinct] peaceful work, the elimination of social and economic backwardness in the country and for the prosperity of all nationalitier and tribes of Afghanistan.

During today's assessment of the implementation of the social and economic development plan and budget for the first quarter of the year 1361, we have seen that some officials and heads of department referred to the difficult situation in the country, the absence of guaranteed security for economic committees and some other similar reasons for explaining their lack of effective action and (?clearing up) the implementation of economic duties.

It should be stated clearly that we very well understand the current situation, with all difficulties arising from it. But we know we cannot remain indifferent and wait for the situation to get better (?by itself). If we are disinterested and unconcerned, it would be difficult to imagine that the situation could get better. Work in the spirit of self-sacrifice and the achievement of economic victories -- and thus a rise in the level of the Afghan people's prosperity and also the solution of other social problems of the country -- is a strong factor which will affect the minds of misled people and those who until now have doubted the strength, justice and superiority of the new order. It is important that the masses should realize that Afghanistan's development and evolution will only be possible with the realization of the aspirations of the April Revolution and the [word indistinct] victory of the policies of its new development stage, as the only correct policy in the country's current situation. If we move along this path, then prosperity and social justice, the prosperity of the people and the blossoming of the country can be achieved.

But, in order to make the masses of people believe, mere slogans and propaganda are not sufficient. We should prove by our day-to-day work that the new order will reveal its superiority in practice, will implement widespread economic and social changes to the benefit of the Afghan people, and will show itself worthy of performing its assigned duties and high mission. For this purpose it would be logical that the [words indistinct] from the success achieved in the country's economic development; all deficiencies and shortcomings should be revealed; careful assessment of the reasons for not implementing the plans by some enterprises and departments should be made and specific measures should be taken for [word indistinct] improvement of incomplete work of some enterprises and departments.

Comrades, let me throw light on some specific aspects of the activities of ministries and government departments in implementing the objectives of the DRA's social and economic development plan in the first quarter of the year, and let me briefly talk about the duties in the near future: [end recording]

[Announcer] Soltan 'Ali Keshtmand then spoke comprehensively about the implementation of the government's plan and budget. He quoted facts and figures and mentioned shortcomings and deficiencies. He said:

Among the [words indistinct] duties, in addition to the need for the expansion of oil and gas works, increased coal extraction can be mentioned. This is not only the [word indistinct] way of producing electricity, but it can be extensively used as a fuel in [word indistinct]. It is also worth mentioning that the more we use coal as fuel the fewer forests we cut down for fuel. Because there are not many forests in our country we should be careful in using them.

In relation to the need for expanding of mineral and raw materials in the country, special attention should be given to the very important projects in this field.

[Words indistinct] extraction at Aynak [a big copper mine south of Kabul] Copper has an important place among these projects, which should be changed to a major industrial plant in the country. As you know, the DRA Council of Ministers approved the technical-economic report of this huge plant [word indistinct] for maintaining the security of the copper mine and specified the expansion of production work in the enterprise. Unfortunately, practical (?steps) for the start of exploitation work of [word indistinct] by the Ministry of Mines and Industries [words indistinct].

Problems related to the continuous provision of electrical energy for the national economy and the people are the subject of our concern and worry, as it was previously. Although the plan for producing electrical energy has not been implemented to the forecast amount in the first quarter of the year 1361, the amount of energy produced is higher compared to the same period last year. The continuous supply of electrical energy for Kabul city, especially in the autumn and winter, is of great importance. [Word indistinct] of electrical energy has been established as an independent (?department) and it is duty-bound to take effective measures for the provision of electrical energy for the country.

The inauguration of the second gas turbine in Kabul city with a capacity of 40-50 megawatts is one of the priorities in this area. A (?resolution) has been issued in this relation by the Council of Ministers. It is now necessary that all practical problems concerning the construction of this plant should be solved. At present, the exploitation of such an electrical-energy-producing plant is the only way to eliminate the electrical-energy shortage during the autumn and winter in Kabul city.

Then, with the completion of construction work and exploitation of the transfer line with a capacity of 220,000 volts, which will be extended from the border of the Soviet Union to Kabul, the electric-energy consumption of the country will be provided for to a large extent. It is planned that the construction of this transfer line will be started soon. So it is necessary that preliminary work for the provision of the necessary material for the construction work and training of personnel should begin now.

Struggle for the prevention of losses in the electric plants and stations is of great importance. These losses [word indistinct] are not decreasing but instead are increasing year by year. The Ministry of Electric Energy should maintain a specific and effective discipline in this area.

In this regard I want to point out that savings should be considered not only in consumption of electrical energy but in the consumption of raw materials and all other resources and in the consumption of financial resources.

The development of agriculture and cattle breeding are of great and vital importance for the economy and for the development of our country. The relative share of the agriculture sector in the development of the country's economy is enormous, and this sector is of great importance in the progress and prosperity of Afghanistan.

Agriculture and cattle breeding provides 60 percent of gross products and 68 percent of the country's national income. Also, agricultural products make up most of the country's export. According to the country's social and economic development plan, in the current year agricultural products should increase by 3.1 percent. The Ministry of Commerce and the Central Council of the Peasants Cooperatives Unions should expand their activities in purchasing agricultural products.

As you know, the party and the government have set out as their duty that the implementation of land reform will persistently be continued, and during its implementation social justice and legality should be observed in land and water distribution and in the income from the sale of agricultural products. [end recording]

[Announcer] The Council of Ministers chairman criticized some of the ministries in which there had been deficiencies and shortcomings. He added:

[Begin Keshtmand recording] When explaining the deficiencies and unsolved problems, I wanted to point out once again that we can only solve important social problems if we successfully implement our economic duties. But, at present, although many difficulties are before us, most social duties have been performed.

Recently, a very important humanitarian document was approved by the DRA Revolutionary Council Presidium. I am talking about the law of the rights and needs of the wounded, disabled and survivors of the martyrs of the April Revolution.

The DRA Council of Ministers issued a resolution in the interest of the masses, according to which measures were proposed to fix the prices of the main food and industrial materials necessary for basic needs.

The program to combat illiteracy has been implemented on a large scale.

The activities of public health institutions, radio and television and of some other departments and state enterprises will improve.

Comrades, the conditions for the country's progress and the major duties which we are facing require that the level of expectation in front of the government [word indistinct].

The PDPA action program lists among its important tasks the duty of improvement and regulation of the method of leading economic and administration affairs in all (?ranks), the completion of the (?method of government activity), the strengthening of state discipline and increasing the responsibility of officials with regard to their given duties.

Comrade Babrak Karmal, general secretary of the PDPA Central Committee and chairman of the DRA Revolutionary Council, said in the report to the Ninth PDPA Central Committee Plenum: It is the duty of all state administration organs, ministries, departments, party committees and organizations and finally all of the party to consistently, firmly and with determination strive for the practical realization of the (?stated) objectives and obtain the necessary results. The increased level of (?activity) of state administration organs, first of all, requires the proper (?selection) and distribution of (?cadres).

The administration mechanisms of ministries, departments, institutions and organizations should be equipped with skilled cadres and those who are loyal to the path of the April Revolution. Authority in solving the problems, regular and harmonious activity and performing the work in the best way are the necessary conditions for [word indistinct] activity of the state administration mechanism.

The duty of implementing the objectives of the country's social and economic development plans require that we should show practical initiative and sacrifice. We have until the end of this year to complete unfinished work. In order to avoid the difficulties arising from not fully implementing the plan and the budget of the first quarter of the year, the annual plan should be implemented completely and with success.

Implementation of social and economic development plan of the year 1361 is an important step toward the creation of conditions for the development and progress of our beloved country, Afghanistan, and toward the realization of the objectives and aspirations of the April Revolution.

Forward toward new victories for the realization of the economic and social changes in our beloved country, the DRA! [end recording]

PDPA CENTRAL COMMITTEE PLENUM STATEMENT

LD060926 Kabul in Dari to Europe 1730 GMT 3 Aug 82

[Statement by Babrak Karmal, general secretary of the PDPA Central Committee and chairman of the DRA Revolutionary Council, delivered at the Ninth PDPA Central Committee Plenum on 27 July, originally published on pages C 1-5 of the 2 August South Asia DAILY REPORT from a poor reception of Kabul Domestic Service. The following version of the statement provides most indistinct passages and incorporates one change as noted on page C 4.]

[Excerpts] Dear listeners of Radio Afghanistan: As you know the Ninth PDPA Central Committee Plenum concerning ideological matters and the strengthening of political work among the masses was held on Tuesday morning, 27 July, in the headquarters of the Revolutionary Council. Esteemed Babrak Karmal, general secretary of the PDPA Central Committee and chairman of the DRA Revolutionary Council, read the basic statement of the Ninth PDPA Plenum about ideological matters and strengthening political work among the masses, part of which was broadcast last night; here we draw your attention to the remaining part:

[Read by announcer] Comrades, we now consider specific phases of work among the masses. [passage indistinct]

Political work among the masses must be more concentrated on describing the nature and objective of PDPA policy, propagation and popularization of our gains, and the need for strengthening the struggle against the counterrevolutionaries as well as for the elimination of disorganization and the creation of friendly relations and cooperation among the nationalities, tribes and clans.

We are not hiding and will not hide the existing problems from the masses. In promoting political work among the masses we should know whom we are dealing with, their characteristics, their class psychology and spirit. The success of the work depends to a large degree on which forms, methods and issues are selected for promoting political work among the masses. It must be learned how the most acceptable methods and forms to deal with the various social groups -- consisting of peasants, workers, guildsmen, tradesmen and so on -- can be found. (?This) must greatly affect the results of political and moral enlightenment.

One of the most important objectives of political work among the peasants should be to assist them in perceiving their fundamental interests in the revolution, in knowing the objectives of land and water reform and to attract peasants for active participation in this union. It is necessary that the masses should take an active part in solving these problems. This task requires the formidable organizational and political activities of provincial party committees and local organs of the state power and administration. Regrettably, some of the secretaries of the provincial party committees and governors have not yet deeply analyzed the ways of making use of land and land ownership and in this regard they do not properly control the works of party and government organizations in the districts and subdistricts.

As is known, some of our comrades have not yet sufficiently perceived the formidable political and social importance and class role of land and water reform in attracting the peasants in the direction of the revolution and supporting the policy of the party and the national government.

The realization of this issue is also essential from the point of view that as a result of counterrevolutionary activities, land reform in some parts of the country is being slowed down or [completely] stopped. In some provinces a large number of peasant families, under the influence of intimidation, terror and fabrications by counterrevolutionaries have been deprived of land they received after the revolution. We draw the conclusion that the regions for the implementation of land and water reform must be broadened relentlessly and constantly, and this work must be organized in such a manner that the peasant becomes aware and knows that the party and government are on their side and that the revolutionary government is their government.

Comrades, the relentless revolutionary force of our society is our proud working class whose number is increasing. At present about 150,000 workers are employed in 300 productive enterprises. The role of workers in the social production and other social fields of the country's life is increasing. The speed of the country's revolutionary transformation, in large measures, depends on the degree on activity and political maturity of the working class. This process requires the strengthening of the party's political work among the workers. Assistance must be given to workers so that they can better perceive the possibilities of their participation in the progress of the revolutionary transformation and its defense. We must tell each worker that his work today is vitally important for the whole country. The economic front bears no less importance than the battlefront. Now we should have (?responsibility toward) our obligations, productive (?levels) and public properties. We should safeguard and preserve the public wealth. All these duties demand from the officials of productive enterprises, party and social organizations, that they strengthen political work among the workers.

Under country's present conditions tradesmen play a noticeable role for the economy, one we should not ignore. Therefore, we must promote among them, as among the workers, the political work. However, under these circumstances it is required to make further use of the forms and organizational structures of the tradesmen. We must decide how these activities can be broadened and strengthened and make use of them in political work with tradesmen. In the political work an important place is allocated to work with small businessmen and national merchants.

It is required that the political work among teachers be improved and assistance be given to the broadening of their social activities; they themselves should be strengthened with the spirit of faithfulness to the aspiration of the April Revolution.

Comrades, explaining and popularising PDPA and revolutionary government policy in relation to Islam and work among clergy and Muslim masses must become a subject of constant attention by the party. Our party desires to serve the whole people. This duty in its entirety requires us to show respect toward the traditions and religious rituals of all groups and nationalities residing in the country.

After the new development stage of the April Revolution, formidable work has been accomplished in this direction.

Legal and lawful aspects of the government and the PDPA's political principles regarding Islam and the clergy of Afghanistan had been drafted and compiled and have been implemented in practice. The nature of the democratic clergy, their common understanding and their attraction in the direction of the revolution have been firmly considered. The DRA Government protects and preserves mosques, shrines and other Muslims' sacred places and materially and morally assists patriotic clergy. In the year 1360 [21 March 1981-20 March 1982] special aid to clergy and religious institutions amounted to more than 26 million afghanis and in 1361 this figure will increase.

The revolutionary government will safeguard the inviolability of land belonging to religious foundations and will restore the mosques destroyed by the counterrevolutionaries. The DRA Government will pay more attention to renovation and construction of new mosques. For this purpose 51 million afghanis were spent in the year 1360 and 53 million afghanis have been allocated in the budget of year 1361. We can continue the rate of these undeniable (?efforts).

However, the questions arise: Are our efforts sufficient for these efforts to reach everyone's ears? Do the Muslim people of our country know what the party and government are doing for them? And is our political work enough to inform the masses of the realities of the criminal actions of and blood shed by these so-called defenders of Islam?

These are the elements who destroy mosques and shrines and are the elements who, after the April Revolution, martyred more than 100 respectable clergy and mullahs like Malawi Gardizi, Shaykh Amer Husayn Masa, Mawalawi Hafizullah Nasrat and others.

The actions of these criminals and murderers are not pardonable, let me emphasize that the people always [word indistinct] on them. Regarding their so-called claim of defense of Islam, we should explain to the masses that this slogan is merely a cover and excuse for [word indistinct] of our revolution. [Word indistinct] these cries and noises of the counterrevolutionary propaganda, about [word indistinct] and annoyance of the faithful in present Afghanistan, are just lies. [Words indistinct] should see and know that the so-called defense of Islam slogan is published hypocritically by those imperialist forces who, if it suits their own interests, would immediately forget the defense of Islam.

Is it not the United States that encourages Israeli aggression against the Islamic countries? Aren't they the ones who stood against the Islamic revolution in Iran? Don't the hired servants of imperialism and reaction perform [words indistinct] in our country? The PDPA and the revolutionary government will never compromise, by making use of the sacred religion of Islam, with efforts to make Afghanistan abandon the path it has chosen.

Regarding the activities of the National Fatherland Front [NFF], the [words indistinct], this system of social and mass organizations that coordinates and organizes the efforts and work of all patriotic people is gaining strength daily. Fifteen [words indistinct] and hundreds of thousands of individual members have participated in the NFF. Now committees of the NFF have been created in 23 provinces, 15 districts and 3 cities. Seventy-eight councils of the NFF have been formed in Kabul.

Now that the organizational structure of the front has roughly taken shape, we must give it practical and specific content. The front must fight and live with the problems of the times along with the people. We must consolidate the members of the front for the solution of the most crucial and immediate tasks. First of all, these duties should concentrate on nationwide peace and should be related to crushing the armed counterrevolution. The energy and strength of the members of the NFF should be devoted to normalizing the situation in the areas that have been freed and cooperating with the government to maintain the assured security of the enterprises and people.

In recent years thousands of full and probationary members, including workers, peasants, tradesmen, troops and NCO's of the armed forces and sarandoy and representatives of the revolutionary intellectuals, have been accepted into the ranks of the party. These people [word indistinct] with profound belief in the aspirations of PDPA and cooperated for the realization of these goals. However, due to the current situation, not all of them received the necessary theoretical training, particularly in the field of party building. Some of them could not finish their education and training.

As political education is organized these facts should be considered.

One of our first duties is the elimination of illiteracy. Revolution should give the people the light of knowledge: It cannot be any other way. At present 27,000 courses and anti-illiteracy centers are active in the country, at which 600,000 people are learning to read and write. Literacy courses are being held for the armed forces and sarandoy.

Comrades, mass media should play a major role in political work among the people. At present 11 daily newspapers and journals are printed in the capital and an additional 11 provincial newspapers and 42 magazines are also printed in the country.

Radio Afghanistan carries 27 hours of programming, including external broadcasts and those for the national minorities, daily.

Critical materials exposing unsuitable and improper conditions by some institutions, departments and national institutions are being published. For example, HAQIQAT-E ENQELAB-E SAWR has published critical articles and the Voice of the People radio constantly passes the people's complaints and criticism to party and government authorities. All mass media are required to courageously expose shortcomings, noticeable defects so that party and government organs may courageously take timely and necessary measures for their removal.

The Central Committee social science institute has been transformed into a recognized center for the training of party cadres. At this very moment more than 2,500 members of the party are studying party education at this institute. The institute's role in this crucial task must be constantly increased. In this connection it must be pointed out that the party committees and relevent armed forces organs are dutybound to more responsibly tackle the selection of the individuals for the institute of social science and the distribution of its graduates. Each graduate of this institute must fully use his acquired knowledge to enhance party work in local areas. [passage indistinct]

The enhancement of political work among the masses is not only the job of the ideological workers. This is the job of the whole party: each party committee, each party organization and, finally, each PDPA member.

Comrades, in our political work we must also pay attention to the regional and world situation alongside home events. The international situation continues to be tense. Armed interference from abroad has taken the shape of undeclared war and real war and also hostile [word indistinct] against revolutionary Afghanistan has not been halted. International reaction has not given up its striving to use the so-called Afghanistan issue to intensify international tension. Today it is fully clear to everybody with sound mind that imperialism, the reaction of the region and Chinese hegemonism wanted to stifle the Afghan revolution and to isolate the DRA in the international arena.

Every day our country acquires more support and recognition from the progressive and peace-loving forces of the world. At present the DRA has diplomatic relations with more than 60 countries of the world. [the Kabul Domestic Service version of this statement rendered the number of countries having diplomatic relations with the DRA as 100] We have relations with the great northern neighbor, the USSR, and with the socialist countries as well as with countries of the Middle East and Southeast Asia.

The friendly and official visit of the high-ranking DRA party and government delegation to the GDR which recently took place is a bright sign of these relations. Relations with the majority of developing countries, especially with [name indistinct], Syria, the People's Democratic Republic of Yemen, Ethiopia, Libya and so forth, are successfully developing and expanding.

The PDPA successfully develops and expands its relations and cooperation with international labor movements, parties and progressive democratic organizations and national liberation movements. We have the right to be proud of all these.

In particular we want to point out the importance of relations with the USSR which are satisfactorily expanding and broadening in all fields, including commercial, through economic, scientific, technical and cultural areas. The DRA and the USSR in UN General Assembly sessions, other sessions and international gatherings, have close cooperation and have coordinated and [word indistinct] their activities and steps in connection with the solution of events around Afghanistan and strengthening peace and security in the region [words indistinct] and east of Asia.

The growing and [words indistinct] relations between the PDPA and the CPSU is the most important element of Afghan-USSR relations. In the name of the PDPA, the Revolutionary Council, the Government of the DRA and all the people of Afghanistan, I express profound and sincere gratitude for the all-round assistance and broad support for the DRA by the CPSU Central Committee, the Soviet Government and the person of Leonid Brezhnev [words indistinct].

It is the duty and responsibility of every party member and every employee of the government machinery and endeavour to utilize fully the USSR's huge assistance; our people should know everything about it in order to evaluate its importance properly.

Comrades, we have time and again announced and we again announce that it is our desire to normalize or even have friendly reciprocal relations with our eastern and western neighbors, that is to say Pakistan and Iran, on the basis of good intentions, reason and logic and [words indistinct] constructive talks. We are relentlessly and with determination continuing our efforts for the political solution of events concerning Afghanistan and for the normalization of relations with neighboring countries. We have always put forward constructive and useful proposals considering the interests of our country and the interests of others.

We attended with useful proposals the last talks of the DRA and Pakistani foreign ministers in Geneva through the special envoy of the UN secretary general. These talks indicated that bases are present for reaching acceptable agreements in general for both parties in the all-round political solution. Only good intentions and mutual understanding are required to solve the existing disagreements. We are prepared, as far as the DRA is concerned, to follow our half of the road for improving the situation in the region and for normalizing relations with Pakistan and Iran.

Comrades, we can point out with satisfaction that our country is taking a small but praiseworthy part in the positive solution of regional and world problems. These participations of ours cannot only be seen in foreign policy initiatives. The strengthening and broadening of our revolutionary gains, further evolution of the April Revolution, consolidation of the new order in Afghanistan and securing the invincible path that we have selected are the most important manifestations of this participation. Go forward in this proud and delivering path without hesitation or fear. Comrades, we will inevitably be victorious.

NAJIB CLOSES STATE INFORMATION SERVICE SEMINAR

[Text] The fifth seminar of officials and political workers of the state information service, which opened 2 days ago to discuss actions to be taken to implement the decisions of the Ninth PDPA Central Committee Plenum and the improvement and broadening of party and political affairs in organs of the state information service, ended today with a speech by Dr Najib, member of the PDPA Central Committee Politburo and head of the state information service.

Dr Najib said in his concluding speech at the seminar: As political workers you are dutybound to convey the lofty objectives of the April Revolution in a simple and clear language for the information of the public; to consolidate the people in the ranks of the revolution for the complete elimination of counter-revolutionaries; to rigorously observe revolutionary legality; to go among the masses with revolutionary humility; to listen to the complaints and pains of the people; and to remain in the service of your people; to expose the enemies of the homeland and revolution who, with the collaboration of international reaction, are committing murder and who plunder the public and the people's wealth; and to work for the unity and cohesion of all fraternal nationalities in the DRA.

In conclusion, one of the political workers spoke on behalf of the others and pledged the implementation of all resolutions and decisions of the party and government, and promised to defend the people, the homeland and the April Revolution with their lives and to go among the masses and implement the lofty objectives of the April Revolution.

LA'EQ ADDRESSES ASSEMBLY OF TRIBAL ELDERS

LD100558 Kabul BAKHTAR in English 0418 GMT 10 Aug 82

[Text] Kabul, August 9, BAKHTAR -- "The party and the state of the Democratic Republic of Afghanistan have always tried to remove all the obstacles and difficulties from the path of the people and to solve the problems of the tribes and nationalities of Afghanistan through close contact with them in a free, friendly and cordial atmosphere."

This was stated by Sulayman La'eq, minister of nationalities and tribal affairs of the DRA at a grand jirgah (assembly) of tribal nomads held here today to select the nomads' representatives and to introduce them to the Ministry of Tribes and Nationalities of the DRA.

Sulayman La'eq added that it was the earnest desire of the DRA to see that the valorous nomad tribes are freed from the miseries in their life, that they are in the regions where they want to live and take advantage of the material and moral wealth of the present time. Now, it is up to the valorous tribal people, he stressed, to identify their enemies and not to come under the effect of plots and conspiracies of the enemies and to participate in the building and construction of their beloved country, Afghanistan.

The participants of the tribal nomads elected 13 elders as representatives of the tribal nomads who will cooperate with the Ministry of Nationalities and Tribal Affairs in solving the problems and difficulties of the nomads.

LOK SABHA TO DISCUSS NO-CONFIDENCE MOTION

BK130920 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0730 GMT 13 Aug 82

[Text] The Lok Sabha is to discuss a no-confidence motion against the Union Council of Ministers. Speaker Balram Jakhar informed the house immediately after question hour that he has received a notice of the motion from H.N. Bahuguna, Democratic Socialist Party, and others. As more than 50 members stood up in his support, the leave of the house was granted.

Jakhar said he will fix up the time and date of the discussion in consultation with the leaders of various parties.

The Business Advisory Committee of the house is due to meet at 1230 [0700 GMT] this afternoon to take the decision.

IRAQ'S HUSAYN ASKS GANDHI TO HOST SUMMIT

BK111621 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1530 GMT 11 Aug 82

[Text] India has agreed to host the seventh summit of the nonaligned countries if this is the consensus of the movement. India's view was conveyed by Prime Minister Mrs Gandhi to Iraqi President Saddam Husayn in reply to his letter in which Husayn had requested India to agree to host the summit at a convenient time.

The letter from the Iraqi president was handed over to Mrs Gandhi when Foreign Minister of Iraq Sa'dun Hammadi met Mrs Gandhi in New Delhi recently. In the letter Iraq has also offered to host the eighth summit. The Iraqi president has also proposed that Iraq will hold a meeting of the foreign ministers of the movement in Baghdad on the 2d and the 3d of next month to approve the venue and the dates of the seventh summit.

A spokesman of the External Affairs Ministry told newsmen today that India is in touch with chairman of the movement, Cuba, and a decision will be taken in the light of these consultations.

Meanwhile, visiting speaker of the Iranian Majlis, Hashemi-Rafsanjani, met Prime Minister Mrs Gandhi and told her that Iran considers that India will be an appropriate venue for the seventh summit. They also discussed bilateral and international matters.

IRAN'S RAFSANJANI ATTENDS DELHI BANQUET

BK120717 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0240 GMT 12 Aug 82

[Text] Lok Sabha Speaker Balram Jakhar has said the Israeli aggression on Lebanon and the Palestinians is not only a threat to peace in the region but the whole world. He was speaking at a banquet given in honor of the Iranian Majlis speaker, Rafsanjani, in New Delhi last night. He reiterated the need to keep the Indian Ocean a zone of peace.

On India-Iranian relations, Balram Jakhar said it is a classic example of how nations with different political systems and ideologies could be friendly.

In his reply, Rafsanjani said Iran wants to have increased cooperation with India and other nations.

Earlier, the delegation members met Parliamentary Affairs Minister Bhisma Narain Singh.

PROTEST LODGED OVER PAKISTANI PRESS REPORTS

BK130916 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0830 GMT 13 Aug 82

[TExt] India has lodged a strong protest with the Pakistani Government both in Delhi and Islamabad on the unjustifiable reports published in a section of Pakistani press about the motives of visitors from India and the socioeconomic conditions in our country. This was stated by Minister for External Affairs Narasimha Rao in reply to a question in Rajya Sabha today.

He said the Pakistani ambassador expressed regret in a letter to the editor of PAKISTAN TIMES. It said a remark made by the way in the letter about the conditions of Muslims in India, however, caused unintended offense in India. Narashimha Rao said the Pakistan press, however, continues to report on the old lines despite several press releases issued by our embassy in Islamabad giving the correct picture.

SAUDI DAILY INTERVIEWS KASHMIR FRONT LEADER

GF110418 Jidda AL-MADINAH in Arabic 6 Aug 82 p 8

[Interview granted by Amanullah Khan, chairman of Jammu and Kashmir Liberation Front, to AL-MADINAH correspondent Ibrahim Muhammad Sirsiq in Jidda -- date not given]

[Excerpts] [Amanullah Khan] What we want is an international committee to survey the wishes of the Kashmiri people to determine whether they want to remain as they are or want to be wholly incorporated into Pakistan. The knowledge of the wishes of Kashmir's people is the way to resolve the issue. But the Indian Government's insistence on ignoring the Kashmiri people's right to liberty is something which we totally reject. We will continue to the end to demand our right in independence.

[Question] What made India impose its control over Kashmir until now?

[Answer] Kashmir is a very beautiful country with a lot of wealth. India occupied it suddenly after the exit of the British colonialists. No doubt, every citizen in Kashmir looks forward to the day of liberty and salvation. This day will undoubtedly come, God willing.

[Question] Are there other reasons for the Kashmiri people's desire for independence from India?

[Answer] Yes, we want to maintain our Islamic culture and character, because about 80 percent of Kashmir's people are Muslims. We know well the Indian Government's stance regarding Islamic civilization in India and Kashmir, especially in recent years when Indira Gandhi tried to obliterate every sign of Islamic civilization and character. But all these attempts came to failure.

[Question] Would you review the nature of Indian-Islamic relations? How much is India biased on Arab and Islamic issues?

[Answer] The Indian Government and Prime Minister Indira Gandhi apparently claim friendship with Muslims and the Islamic world, especially with the Arabs. Indian ambassadors to the Islamic countries and delegations which visit these countries exaggerate this claim. The facts are the opposite of all these claims. We openly say that the Indian Government is the biggest enemy of those who have faith in God and of the Islamic and Arab world. The objective of this friendship is to achieve political, material and diplomatic interests.

'HARD CORE' MIZO REBEL ARRESTED 11 AUGUST

[Text] Islamabad Aug 12 IRNA -- The political undersecretary of the Iranian Foreign Ministry, Hoseyn Sheykh ol-Eslam, met here today with President Ziaul Haq and submitted to him a special message from President Khamene'i of the Islamic Republic.

Stressing Iran's stands in connection with the Iraqi imposed war and other issues in the region, Sheykh ol-Eslam stated that Baghdad was indeed no suitable place for the upcoming non-aligned summit conference.

In return, President Ziaul handed to the Iranian official a message for President Khamene'i and conveyed his respect for Imam Khomeyni, the leader of the revolution and founder of the Islamic Republic of Iran. The Pakistani president also asserted that the non-aligned summit conference should not be held in Baghdad because, he too agreed, the place was not secure at all.

In another development today, Sheykh ol-Eslam held a press conference here in the course of which he stressed that the Iraqi regime had proven, through committing inhuman crimes in Iran, that it did not deserve membership in the Non-aligned Movement. He added that a recent Iraqi request to hold the non-aligned foreign ministers meeting in Baghdad was another plot to earn political interests, something which the Iranian official stated was contrary to the principles of the Non-aligned Movement.

Asked when the Iraqi imposed war would end, the Foreign Ministry official of the Islamic Republic emphasised that the war would continue until Iraq accepted Iran's (?terms). He concluded by saying that "we will welcome any efforts aimed at bringing a just end to the conflict."

JAYEWARDENE RECEIVES IRAQI PRESIDENT'S ENVOY

[Text] President Jayewardene told the special envoy of the Iraqi president, who called on him yesterday, that he agreed with the Iraqi Government proposal to hold the meeting of foreign ministers of nonaligned countries in Baghdad on 2 and 3 September. This will (?enable them) to take a final decision on the venue and date of the next summit originally proposed to be held in Baghdad.

Envoy 'Abd al-Malik al-Yasin said that although the arrangements for the summit to take place in Baghdad are well in hand, the Iraqi Government would not insist on its being held there if agreement is reached on an alternative arrangement in the interest of the unity of the movement.

PARTIES NOMINATE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES

BK091411 Colombo SUN in English 5 Aug 82 p 1

[Text] The Sri Lanka Freedom Party (S) yesterday agreed in principle to put forward a common candidate from all anti-UNP parties for the forthcoming presidential election.

At a meeting held yesterday at the Rosmead Place residence of party leader Sirimavo Bandaranaike, discussions went on late into the afternoon, to decide on a common candidate.

Party secretary Ratnasiri Wickremanavake told 'SUN' last night that the party decided to hold discussions with anti-UNP parties on this issue.

Meanwhile, party sources told 'SUN' that the name of former Minister Hector Kobbekaduwa had been proposed at the Rosmead Place meeting as the presidential candidate.

They said Mr. Kobbekaduwa was favoured by those who participated in the meeting.

Meanwhile, the All-Ceylon Tamil Congress which met yesterday at its party headquarters in Jaffna decided on Kumar Ponnambalam as the party's presidential candidate.

Mr Ponnambalam, political observers in the north say, could be the only Tamil presidential candidate.

According to these observers, the current political situation in the north would not favour Mr. Ponnambalam though he is said to be having a following in Colombo and in the eastern sea coast.

IRAQI GROUP CLAIMS RESPONSIBILITY FOR PARIS BOMB

LD121210 Tehran IRNA in English 1040 GMT 12 Aug 82

[Text] Paris, Aug 11, IRNA -- In a telephone contact with the Islamic Republic News Agency here today, the supporters of the "Iraqi Islamic Amal Organization" took responsibility for an explosion which took place in front of the Iraqi Embassy here by a bomb planted in a vehicle earlier tonight. The telephone message added that such operation was in retaliation for Iraq's severe treatment of its political prisoners and it said that it was also a warning to France to discontinue its arms sales to Iraq. "This would not be the last operation" it said.

The caller said that the organization supported the Islamic revolution of Iran led by Imam Khomeyni and would continue its struggle until the overthrow of the Iraqi Ba'thist regime.

Group's Statement

GF120818 Tehran International Service in Arabic 0800 GMT 12 Aug 82

[Statement issued by the Islamic Action Organization in Iraq on 11 August -- read by announcer]

[Excerpt] The group which named itself after the martyr Talib Shahim al-'Alubi and which is under the command of the special operations section of the Islamic Action Organization in Iraq successfully reconnoitered the Ba'thist Embassy in Paris.

On Wednesday, 11 August 1982, precisely at 1750, Paris local time, the group placed a car containing 15 kg of TNT in front of the building of the Ba'thist embassy and its consulate. In accordance with the plan, the car exploded at 1800 yesterday, destroying the building of the consulate and the front facade of the embassy and damaging many cars belonging to the embassy. A fire gutted the embassy building which took more than 1 hour to extinguish. A group of mercenaries of the fascist Saddamist regime were killed or wounded.

(?While blessing this operation) in the name of the martyr Khalid al-Islambuli [leader of the group which assassinated As-Sadat] the organization warns the treacherous Egyptian regime and the other reactionary regimes against supporting the infidel Ba'thist regime.

While carrying out this operation in France, the Islamic Action Organization in Iraq shows that it will not stand idle to the dispatching of hundreds of military advisers by the French regime which allies itself to Zionism and to the dispatching the most advanced weapons to the criminal Saddamist regime. We pledge allegiance to the Almighty God, Imam Khomeyni, leader of the world's Islamic revolution, and all Muslim martyrs to continue the Islamic march until the infidel Saddamist regime is toppled. "If you support God, God will support you and will make your footsteps firm." [Koranic verse]

Spokesman on Bombing

[Text] The Iraqi Muslim revolutionaries' spokesman has given an interview to the Central News Unit following yesterday's powerful explosion at the Iraqi regime's embassy in Paris which heavily damaged the building and set it on fire. The spokesman accepted responibility for the explosion and elaborated on the event.

He said: While aid is pouring into Iraq from both the East and the West for use against the Islamic Republic of Iran, the Iraqi Muslim revolutionaries have inflicted another blow on the dictatorial and rotten regime of Iraq. By watching the activities of the Saddam mercenaries posted at the embassy in Paris, our brothers learned that the Ba'th embassy in Paris is not a diplomatic center, but a center for spying, trading and infiltrating and a place for contacting the treacherous Bakhtiar, the convicted Bani-Sadr and the hypocrites -- all of whom pursued a policy of corruption in revolutionary Iran and deprived the Islamic nation of its best sons, such as martyr Ayatollah Beheshti and martyr Mohammad Montazeri.

Therefore, on Wednesday, 11 August, at 1750 Paris time the martyr Talib Shamin al-'Alubi group parked a vehicle containing 15 kilos of explosives outside the Iraqi Embassy and consulate building in Paris. The car exploded at 1800, according to plan. The consulate building was completely destroyed, (?part of) the embassy was destroyed and a number of embassy vehicles were set on fire. A number of Saddam mercenaries who were in the buildings were either killed or injured as a result of this explosion.

Naming this operation the Martyr Khalid al-Islambuli, [As-Sadat's assassin] Operation, the Muslim revolutionaries warn the treacherous Egyptian regime as well as the Persian Gulf reactionary regimes to stop supporting the infidel Ba'th regime. By carrying out this operation on French soil we declare that we will not remain indifferent toward the Zionist French regime's dispatch of hundreds of French military experts and the most advanced weapons to Iraq and its criminal regime.

The Iraqi Muslim revolutionaries' spokesman concluded: We promise God Almighty; Imam Khomeyni, the leader of world Islamic revolution; and all of the martyrs of Islam that we will not rest. We will continue with our operations until the downfall of Saddam's Ba'thist regime.

KHAMENE'I, NABAVI DISCUSS DPRK RELATIONS

[Text] According to the Central News Unit, Mr Behzad Nabavi, the minister of heavy industries, conferred with President Seyyed 'Ali Khamene'i at noon today. During his meeting with the president, Mr Nabavi reported on an Iranian economic delegation's trip to North Korea next week as well as on issues related to the Algerian accord. Mr Khamene'i issued some guidance after hearing Mr Nabavi's reports.

Following his meeting with the president, Mr Nabavi made some remarks on the Iranian economic delegation's forthcoming trip to North Korea. He said: A high-ranking economic delegation will leave for the DPRK next week. The Iranian delegation's trip is within the framework of the protocol signed between Iran and the DPRK. The delegation will take steps to implement areas of agreement reached between the two nations. Mr Nabavi added: In their discussions with the DPRK, the Iranian delegation will explore grounds for the expansion of mutual economic cooperation on the basis of the two sides' interests and potentials.

[Text] In His exalted name. According to reports received from the country's southern and western operational zones during the past 24 hours, a relentless battle took place between Islam's selfless forces and the Saddamist mercenaries with an exchange of fire on all the fronts concerned.

In the country's southern operational zone, our forces defended their positions by opening fire on enemy deployment positions on the al-Faw-Basra axis and on their air defense positions. By means of artillery and mortar fire they halted movements and traffic by the enemy's armored and mechanized columns. Attacking enemy battery positions, they silenced the enemy's fire.

As a result of the above operations, which took place with a remarkable superiority of fighting power by the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran, a number of Iraqi servicemen were either killed or wounded and major damage was inflicted on enemy armored equipment. Enemy positions on the opposite bank of the Arvand Rud also became the target of fire from Islam's forces and as a result 1 ammunition dump, 7 trenches and foxholes and 3 observation posts of the Saddamist forces were destroyed and 10 of their troops were killed.

Yesterday, as a result of heavy long-range enemy weapons fire aimed at Abadan, several (?houses) were set on fire and damage was caused.

In the country's western operational zones, Islam's combatants opened fire on the aggressor's positions, tanks, infantry and vehicles. As a result, several vehicles carrying Iraqi servicemen were damaged and a number of Saddam's servicemen were either killed or wounded.

During the past 24 house enemy air intrusions into the operational zones and cities on the country's southern and western borders were met and thwarted with retaliatory action from our antiaircraft units.

[Signed] The Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran

IRAQI ARTILLERY FIRES ON ABADAN; VIOLATIONS

[Text] IRNA reports that in the last 24 hours the resisting city of Abadan was the target of long-range artillery fire from the army of the Zionist, Ba'thist Iraqi regime, as a result of which barbarous deed some residential districts and 1 school were damaged and 2 of our Abadan compatriots were martyred and another 15 were wounded.

According to this report the airspace of the cities of Abadan and Khorramshahr was violated by several intruding Iraqi aircraft at 2122 and 2127 yesterday and 0100 and 0218 today, but the fire of the antiaircraft batteries of the Islamic combatants forced the aggressive Iraqi aircraft to flee before they carried out any actions.

Also at 2043 yesterday and 0440 today several aggressive Iraqi aircraft violated the airspace of several cities in the west of the country but came face to face with sharp reaction by the defensive units of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran and were forced to disappear without carrying out any operations.

QOTBZADEH TRIAL TO RESUME 14 AUGUST

[Text] Tehran, Aug 12 (IRNA) — The former Foreign Minister Sadeq Qotbzadeh's trial is due to be started at 9:00 a.m. Saturday in Evin Prison, the Public Relations Office of the army tribunal announced Thursday. The trial will be presided over by Hojjat ol-Eslam Mohammadi-Reyshahri. Domestic reporters holding valid press cards can attend the trial.

Qotbzadeh was arrested in early April and was due to be tried about mid-July which was postponed upon his own request.

TRIAL SAID TO BE DIRECTED AT SHARI'ATMADARI

GF130620 (Clandestine) Free Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1500 GMT 12 Aug 82

[Text] According to the French news agency, the trial of Sadeq Qotbzadeh will begin on Saturday. Qotbzadeh, who is charged with plotting to kill Khomeyni and to staging an attempted cout d'etat, was arrested some months ago and placed in prison.

At the beginning of the Khomeyni regime, Qotbzadeh was the head of the radio and television organization and was later appointed as foreign minister of the regime. He continued to hold the latter post until after the removal of Bani-Sadr when he withdrew from active participation in the Islamic Republic regime. However, some months ago Tehran officials accused him of plotting to overthrow the regime and of planning a coup d'etat. Khomeyni has also levelled accusations against Ayatollah Shari'atmadari.

Many Iran watchers are convinced that the trial of Sadeq Qotbzadeh is in fact the trial of Shari'atmadari. These machinations are primarily being resorted to to give credence to the accusations against Ayatollah Shari'atmadari, and to (?justify the actions of the religious leaders) to the public.

It is said that on the eve of elections to the council for choosing Ayatollah Montazeri as a successor to Khomeyni, the Islamic regime has taken a series of measures to oust (?five) of the ayatollahs from the (?nine-membered body that will exercise the functions) of theocratic rule and has so far succeeded (?in ousting some of them). Ayatollah Golpayegani is in a hospital, Ayatollah Shari'atmadari is (?in prison) and Ayatollah Taleqani, similarly, has been (?downgraded) on Khomeyni's orders. Then there is Ayatollah Mar'ashi-Najafi who is running along with Montazeri and will no doubt, before the elections of the body that will choose a successor to Khomeyni, [words indistinct] will be eliminated in favor of Ayatollah Montazeri.

During the trial of Sadeq Qotbzadeh, which begins Saturday, the role of Ayatollah Shari'atmadari will no doubt come up for discussion. Sadeq Qotbzadeh, who has been accused of plotting a coup will certainly be sentenced to death. Because [word indistinct] those involved in coup d'etats which have allegedly been discovered during Khomeyni's regime, have been executed without trials. Thus the trial of Qotbzadeh will only serve as an eyewash.

ETTELA'AT ON NEED FOR ISLAMIC INTEGRATION

[Editorial: "Islamic Solidarity Is the Sole Guarantee for the Success and Perpetuation of the Revolution"]

[Excerpts] The issue of the Shi'ites and the Sunnis has not been resolved. If the problems and differences still exist, it is because they are ingrained in us. As long as we do not accept unity in our hearts, these will not be solved. It is evident that this matter is merely a pretext seized by the enemy to create a rift between us. The enemy does this in order to gain a foothold and attack our Achilles' heel in order to drive in a wedge and thereby to move into the gap. All colonialist programs started this way. We ourselves have prepared the ground.

It is often said that Shi'ism is a revolutionary doctrine. It has always initiated great revolutions throughout the course of history and has risen up against rulers. The Shi'ite has always been in the opposition. In essence this interpretation of Shi'ism is correct, but the conclusion reached is fallacious or, to say the least, destructive -- in fact, catastrophic for Islam and its future and for the Islamic liberation movements.

Those who profess such view declare that, as opposed to Shi'ism, Sunni doctrine is not revolutionary. It does not have any motivating factor and has always been the ruler rather than the ruled throughout the course of history. Sunni scholars have earned their livelihood through government or by working in collaboration with those in authority.

First, it is not true that only the Shi'ites are revolutionary, and Sunnis are not, although in the eastern hemisphere of Islam the trend has been such. In history many examples can be found of Shi'ites who have been counterrevolutionaries, lackeys of the ruling regime and sycophants of kings.

In Iran revolutionary and proficient Sunni clergymen have laid down their lives for the cause of the Islamic revolution in Kordestan, Baluchestan, Gonbad-e Kabus and other places alongside their Shi'ite brothers. They have displayed the quintessence of solidarity and loyalty during Friday prayers, in mosques, in their service to the people, on the warfront, before the bullets of the mercenary hypocrites of Eastern and Western colonialism, and in the field of martyrdom.

Incidentally, the Sunnis have even been trailblazers in many fields. As regards institutions, the Shi'ite clergy and the Shi'ite seminaries are really great and unique, the importance and utility of which has not yet been recognized. However, as far as political organization is concerned, in the modern sense of the term the Sunnis are far ahead.

Fighting the enemy is the need of the hour today and imperative for our survival. Our Islam is in danger and whether we are Shi'ites or Sunnis we should arise up against our common foe. Our enemy is threatening Islam, and not merely the Shi'ites or Sunnis alone.

In conclusion it may be said that the only path to victory is unity in belief and holy war. Even now there are some among the Iraqi Shi'ites who do not believe in unity at heart. As long as this state of affairs continues, our task is difficult. Many say that the Sunnis of Iraq are cooperating with Saddam. This is an incorrect and dangerous assumption. They are the ones who more than others fall into the trap of the enemies of Shi'ism and Islam. They are the ones who, consciously or inadvertently, are the architects of the inauspicious designs of the At-Ta'if summit. Solidarity is a prerequisite. Before acting on it there is a great need for us to inculcate faith within ourselves. We should believe we are brothers. We should believe that our survival depends on unity and that Islam is nothing but unity. We should believe that unity is a natural phenomenon that does not require duress or coercion. We should forge ahead on the path of unity. There are many ways to achieve it.

AFGHAN REBELS ATTACK SOVIET FORCES, CAPTURE ARMS

[Text] During the past few days, Afghan Muslim revolutionaries in some successful operations against the occupying Soviet forces near (Poshtu) bridge to the southeast of Herat inflicted considerable material and human losses upon the occupying forces. In these operations six of the Afghan Muslim revolutionaries were martyred or injured. According to the same report, in another battle in a village in Herat Province the Afghan Muslim revolutionaries succeeded in killing 15 of the occupying Soviet forces and in destroying 3 of their tanks and troop carriers, 2 oil tankers and 1 of their bulldozers.

On the other hand, the Afghan Muslim revolutionaries launched some surprise attacks against the occupying Soviet forces in two districts inside the city of Herat and succeeded in killing 3 of the occupying soldiers, wounding 60 others and taking 12 of them prisoner. In these battles a great quantity of weapons, including 600 Kalashnikovs, 3 tanks and 11 vehicles of the occupying forces, were captured by the Muslim revolutionaries.

16 AUGUST 1982

Lebanon

Israeli Position -- After talks with Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin on 15 August, U.S. envoy Philip Habib "could feel satisfied" that Israel has moderated its positions in order to guarantee that the agreement on the PLO's evacuation from Beirut will be concluded as soon as possible, Jerusalem radio reported. Noting that France has guaranteed to withdraw its forces if the PLO halts the evacuation, the radio said Israel is now prepared for a French Army unit to enter west Beirut at the start of the evacuation process. On the other hand, Israel still insists as an absolute condition for agreeing to the settlement that the "terrorists" return the captured pilot and the bodies of nine IDF soldiers. On other aspects of the withdrawal, the radio said Israel will remove its roadblocks on the Beirut-Damascus road when the "terrorists" pass along the highway and that no UN observers will be stationed in Beirut except the small unit already located there. Israel has also dropped its demand that the PLO submit a namelist of those departing Beirut, according to a related IDF radio report which noted that Habib brought to Israel a breakdown of the countries of destination of 7,100 "terrorists." The remaining Syrian forces in Beirut will likewise leave the capital, Jerusalem radio said. However, in remarks broadcast by the radio, Defense Minister Ari'el Sharon reiterated Israeli's concern that a nucleus of "terror organizations" may remain in Beirut. Earlier, the radio reported that over 2,000 "terrorists" have succeeded in acquiring foreign documents that could enable them to remain in Beirut.

Prime Minister Begin said a settlement of the Beirut problem may be reached by the end of this week, according to IDF radio. Begin also told the Cabinet to forget its harsh meeting 12 August in which Defense Minister Sharon was criticized. In a 14 August interview with Jerusalem radio, Sharon denied he intends to resign and defended the bombing of Beirut as necessary both to ensure the safety of Israeli soldiers and to speed up the progress of the negotiations. He said there is no cause for alarm about the state of U.S.-Israeli relations, adding that through Israel's action in Lebanon the United States "has received on a silver platter a tremendous achievement vis-a-vis the Soviets" whose helplessness in the Middle East was revealed.

PLO, Syrian Positions; Beirut Talks -- The PLO agreed to release the plan on how its 9,000 fighters will be distributed in Arab states but has refuesed to provide a list of their names, Voice of Lebanon radio asserted. The radio said Lebanon informed U.S. envoy Habib that the multinational force must be an advance force and that the Lebanese Army could supervise the Palestinian withdrawal and secure west Beirut. Later, former Lebanese Prime Minister Sa'ib Salam stated that the PLO submitted a new plan for the withdrawal of over 7,000 fighters to seven Arab states, Beirut radio reported.

Damascus radio alleged that Israel is imposing "impossible terms" for a political solution to the Beirut issue and that Syria rejects the Israeli demand for the evacuation of Syrian forces from Beirut. In contrast, Voice of Lebanon radio reported that the Syrians will withdraw from Beirut immediately following the PLO departure. The radio also noted that Syria has set up camps near Damascus for the arriving Palestinians.

After a meeting with U.S. envoy Habib on 13 August, Lebanese Prime Minister Shafiq al-Wazzan said that Lebanon and the PLO approved the plan for the Palestinian departure, Beirut radio revealed. In a television interview with Al-Wazzan after further talks with Habib, reported by the radio, he warned that 19 August may not be the first day of the PLO departure because it is also presidential election day.

Palestinian, Syrian Comments -- In an interview with the Kuwaiti paper AL-WATAN, Fatah Central Committee member Salah Khalaf criticized Arab countries saying they have not met because they do not want to meet and do not want to aid the Palestinians. He said he is pessimistic about the negotiations but that the fighters would leave Beirut if the exit is "honorable." He stressed that no Palestinian civilians would leave their camps.

A commentary carried by the clandestine Voice of Palestine radio described U.S. envoy Habib as "a distinguished and talented" man who is "not unbiased and neutral" because he exerts limited pressure on Israel. According to a Damascus radio commentary, the real U.S. stand toward Israel is not one of "firmness," because the United States aims at the "liquidation and evacuation" of Palestinians from Beirut.

'Arafat Message to Fahd -- In a cable to Saudi King Fahd carried by Riyadh radio, PLO Executive Committee Chairman Yasir 'Arafat thanked the Saudis for their "honorable" stand to confront the Israelis and for King Fahd's effective contacts with the U.S. President.

'Arafat Interview -- In an interview with an Israeli correspondent reported by the paper YEDI'OT AHARONOT 'Arafat said his recognition of UN resolutions on the Palestinian-Israeli issue included the UN resolution on the establishment of the State of Israel.

Saudi Court Statement -- A SAudi Royal Court statement carried by SPA expressed optimism over the UN resolution on halting the fighting in Lebanon and called for the UN Security Council to make greater efforts in this regard to help end Israeli "disregard" for humanitarian principles.

Military Situation -- The cease-fire in Beirut held throughout the weekend, according to Beirut radio reports, as did the continuation of the supply blockade. According to Voice of Lebanon radio, limtied clashes took place in various areas and all sides reinforced their positions. A car bomb exploded on 14 August in the town of Bhamdun, killing 9 and injuring 40 people, the radio reported; the IDF spokesman said two Israeli soldiers were killed in the explosion, IDF radio said. In the eastern sector, Jerusalem radio claimed that several violations by the "terrorists" occurred over the weekend. Earlier, IDF radio reported that the Syrians and Israelis had reinforced their positions in the Al-Biqa' Valley and eastern sector of Lebanon.

Inter-Arab Affairs

Reaction to Libyan Proposal -- The PDRY and YAR presidents have informed Col Mu'ammar al-Qadhdhafi of their agreement with his proposal that Arab leaders send 10 military divisions to Syria to fight Israel, JANA reported on 15 August. Earlier, a Sudanese "responsible source" announced that if Al-Qadhdhafi is serious, Sudan would be prepared to send a division, a squadron of aircraft and a number of officers to be placed under his command, SUNA reported.

In a message to Arab leaders, broadcast by Tripoli radio on 13 August, Al-Qadhdhafi specified the composition of his proposed force: Morocco, Algeria, Libya, Saudi Arabia and Sudan should each provide a division; Syria would provide two: Jordan would send two brigades and the Yemens, Kuwait and the UAE would send one brigade each. Meanwhile, Palestinians in Libya held a conference in which they supported the establishment of a unified Arab army under Al-Qadhdhafi's leadership, the radio reported, and decided to establish training camps for Arab revolutionaries and clandestine military cells to strike at "imperialist interests which have implanted the Zionist enemy in the Arab homeland."

Saudi-Syrian Contacts, Fes Summit -- Syrian President Hafiz al-Asad and Foreign Minister 'Abd al-Halim Khaddam received Saudi Foreign Minister Prince Sa'ud al-Faysal who is on a visit to Damascus, SANA reported. The Saudi minister conveyed a message from King Fahd requesting that Syria attend the reconvened Fes summit conference and discuss all the issues on the agenda, Monte Carlo radio reported citing informed sources. The summit will resume within 4 weeks and will discuss King Fahd's Middle East peace plan, the radio said.

Military Situation -- According to Iraqi military communiques carried by Baghdad radio, Iraqi forces killed 11 Iranians in the northern sector and 3 in the central sector, while Iranian artillery hit Basra on 15 August. The Abadan revolution guards fired on the Al-Faw oil installations in Iraq damaging them and killing 25 Iraqis, Tehran radio reported. An IRNA report said over 50 Iraqis were killed by artillery fire across the Shatt al-'Arab.

Iraqi Warnings -- In a speech to a group of soldiers, carried by Baghdad radio, Iraqi President Saddam Husayn warned Iran that in the future Iraq will stike at "vital" Iranian targets. He reiterated the warning to foreign vessels approaching Khark Island oil installations that it is an area of military operations and therefore a target for the Iraqi Air Force. Iraqi Defense Minister 'Adnan Khayrallah subsequently claimed that Iran is preparing an attack in the central sector, INA reported.

Iran

Oil Minister in Damascus -- Oil Minister Mohammad Gharazi met with Syrian President al-Asad and Foreign Minister Khaddam in Damascus to discuss the venue of the upcoming nonaligned meetings, Tehran radio reported. According to the radio, Khaddam affirmed that Syria would not participate in any nonaligned meeting held in Iraq. In remarks cited by IRNA, Gharazi stated Iran would provide free oil to any country willing to fight Israel and the United States.

Qotbzadeh Trial — The trial of former Foreign Minister Sadeq Qotbzadeh began at Evin Prison on 14 August as scheduled, with Qotbzadeh explaining that he had not intended to overthrow the Islamic Republic or Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeyni but to overthrow the government, IRNA reported.

IRANIAN DELEGATION MEETS DOHA, ERSHAD; DEPARTS

[Text] The four-member Iranian delegation led by deputy foreign minister [title as heard] Hoseyn Shaykh ol-Eslam left Dacca today for Nepal at the end of its 2-day visit to Bangladesh. Prior to his departure Shaykh ol-Eslam and members of his delegation called on Foreign Minister A.R. Shamsud Doha and discussed bilateral matters and issues relating to the forthcoming Islamic foreign ministers conference to be held in Niamey, Niger, from Friday next. The Iranian deputy minister also discussed possibilities of expanding economic cooperation between the two countries.

The delegation during its stay in the capital called on Chief Martial Law Administrator [CMLA] Lt Gen H.M. Ershad last night and handed over to him a letter from President Khamene'i of Iran. The delegation also exchanged views with the CMLA on the issues concerning the seventh nonaligned summit.

FINANCE MINISTER LEAVES FOR SAUDI ARABIA, UAE

BK130912 Dacca Domestic Service in English 0835 GMT 13 Aug 82

[Text] Minister for Finance and Planning Dr A.M.A. Muhith left Dacca today on a week-long visit to Saudi Arabia and Abu Dhabi. During his stay in Saudi Arabia, Muhith will hold talks with his Saudi counterpart on bilateral economic relations. He is also expected to meet the president of the Islamic Development Bank. The finance minister's visit to Saudi Arabia is the followup of the visit of Chief Martial Law Administrator Lt Gen H.M. Ershad to Saudi Arabia in May last.

After a visit to Saudi Arabia, the finance minister will go to Abu Dhabi. During his stay in Abu Dhabi, Muhith will meet the Crown Prince of Abu Dhabi and the finance minister of the United Arab Emirates [UAE]. He will discuss with his UAE counterpart bilateral economic relations. The minister is expected to return home on the 19th of this month.

NIGHT CURFEW IN METROPOLITAN DACCA EXTENDED

[Text] Dacca, Aug 14 (AFP) -- The night curfew, a regular feature of metropolitan Dacca since Bangladesh's first military takeover exactly seven years ago, has been extended by an hour to restrict movement between 12 midnight and 4 am, a martial law administrator has announced.

The extension was made yesterday in the name of sub-zonal martial law administrator of the metropolitan city who ordered the new curfew hours to be enforced with "immediate effect and until further orders."

The announcement was repeated frequently over radio and television yesterday evening and carried by most dailies this morning.

The curfew had in fact been an hour shorter since the Muslim fasting month of Ramadan, which ended late in July. It was then effective between 1 am and 4 pm.

People were advised to take note of the new curfew hours and warned that violators would be dealt with severely.

Since the military takeover by General Hussain Mohammad Ershad last March the curfew has been strictly enforced in the capital and other towns and in the first few months several hundred people were arrested in Dacca alone accused of violating it.

Meanwhile the military authorities have deplored that cleanliness in Dacca city "has deteriorated remarkably over the past weeks."

City dwellers were asked to keep their premises and surroundings clean and tidy, and warned that surprise checks would be conducted by local martial law authorities and defaulters would be severely dealt with.

GANDHI DELIVERS INDEPENDENCE DAY ADDRESS

BK150644 Delhi Domestic Service in Hindi 0205 GMT 15 Aug 82

[Address by Prime Minister Indira Gandhi at a rally in New Delhi on 15 August to mark Indian Independence Day -- live]

[Excerpts] Dear sisters and brothers: My compliments not only to the people of Delhi and those sitting before me, but also to the millions of Indians who are watching this ceremony via satellite and are with us on this day of happiness. Simultaneously, I also want my voice to reach, not only through the electronic media but also through the heart, millions of Indian men and women who live outside our country. Today is the 36th anniversary of our independence and we are standing at this historic Red Fort which has long been the symbol of our feeling for independence.

Today, we are faced with every kind of danger and hardship. Each of you here knows that millions of our countrymen, including farmers, laborers and women, are facing the problem of unemployment. The fruits of independence still have not fully reached our scheduled castes, backward classes and our tribal people, who have not been able to avail themselves of the fruits of industrialization and modernism. But we are all united in our fight against this. Now we are paying full attention to them. If this task has not yet been accomplished, it has not been due to a lack of will or effort on our part but because such a huge task cannot be accomplished magically or in a day. It takes time, regardless of the intensity of our will and the magnitude of the effort we put into it. It is the cooperation of the people as well as our will that provides speed and momentum to such works. If the people stand united and show the same spirit in our fight against poverty and in our task to uplift India as they exhibited during our freedom struggle, or the same spirit of standing unitedly behind our valiant officers and soldiers and our army in the wake of attacks on us, we can march forward more speedily.

What was the plan of the foreign rulers when they dominated our country -- the greatest weakeness of our country? They tried to sow seeds of discord among us in the name of religion or on other grounds in order to weaken our army, the peaceful army of Gandhiji, the army of our freedom fighters. But we did not fall prey to their trap. There have been certain disturbances and riots but in general we have moved forward on our chosen path. When we move forward, we see many paths -- big and small, but we must choose the path on which to move forward. Our country, which has faced massive poverty and backwardness and which was even at times alarmed, has not many paths before it. In reality, it has only one path to tread and that is the path of unity which will strengthen our nation, society and country and which is not intimidated by dangers and hardship.

We faced hardships before independence. Many of the people sitting before us today and many of our countrymen who were born after independence cannot even imagine the magnitude of humiliation we faced. They cannot even picture true poverty. No doubt, there is still poverty in the country. But, at the same time, the middle class has grown both in size and strength. Today, there is some unemployment, but many people have been and are being provided with better opportunities for employment, service and for moving forward and as fast as the pace of work and development moves forward, which will create more such opportunities.

There was a time in our country when we had to extend our hands in begging. Now we can produce foodgrain in our country although not enough because the population is growing. We require more land, foodgrains, education, health care and many other things which we could not have considered earlier, but which have now become necessities for every individual and every family. Although we are now working to distribute whatever limited resources we have to ensure less injustice, an individual must still face hardships and scarcity. We are marching forward to provide justice to more and more people.

Today, who are our enemies? Maybe they are or will be our external enemies. Poverty is the oldest enemy of our country and countries like ours. Economic backwardness is also our enemy. But the greatest enemy, which has weakened India to the point of using its independence and which can weaken and is now weakening India, is disunity in the name of religion, language, regionalism or casteism -- anything which raises artificial walls to separate one brother from another. I ask you, what country has moved forward without unity and hard work? We want our army to be strong, not to attack others but to defend our borders and preserve our country's security. We want industrial development and increased agricultural production to provide employment for people and to bring about some comfort and happiness in the lives of all people and, to some extent, raise their standard of living.

We are a peace-loving nation and we want this feeling of peace, not only in our own country but also in the entire world. But how can it be possible when rumors spread like woodworms? The voice of injustice cries out. We know that sometimes injustice, atrocities and corruption do occur, but how can one fight against them? Can a weak government fight against them? Can a government which is itself being attacked continuously keep the poor safe and save the minorities? Can that government hold the head of the nation high in the world?

The time has now come to eliminate these things. Actually, it has never gone away, but we need to do so more now than ever before because of the mounting tensions in the world, the dangers and the hardships, especially the massive poverty and backwardness that we are facing today. The entire world is, more or less, facing the same situation. Today, the problems of unemployment, rising prices and unsatisfactory economic conditions prevail even in the richest and the strongest of nations.

I have had the opportunity to visit a number of nations and even where I and our other ministers have not gone personally, we have information about them also. Every country is anxious about many things. But the greatest anxiety is to know which direction this human race -- which has acquired such a vast store of knowledge and enhanced capability -- is moving. Is it going to commit suicide or destroy our beautiful earth? This question has become a subject of contemplation for most of the people of the world and there are movements organized, articles written and speeches delivered on this issue in capitals and other cities of the world.

There are three major dangers: first, the large-scale stockpiling by various countries of the deadliest of weapons -- weapons that can destroy the human race, its buildings, its cities and its fields. Second, there is the widening gap between the rich and the poor nations. We find this disparity in our country as well as in other poor nations. We do not hide this. But we are at least making efforts to move our nation toward socialism and the main drift of our socialism is to lessen this disparity by bringing about social equality to a larger extent and ensuring that the fruits of independence reach every house and every individual. The third danger lies in our greed. Whether we exploit coal or oil or keep our eyes on others' oil or on other things, we do not think about the impact our doings today will have on future generations and on future times. These are the three important matters.

We are proud we are Indians. India is a country which is neither much better nor more beautiful than other nations. But what, then, has been the source of its greatness and the characteristics that have preserved it for thousands of years and have provided our people with the capability and strength to face any hardship? Our strength lies in our traditional lofty ideals. In India, we, being human beings, might have committed thousands of personal mistakes. But we have always kept our eyes on one high objective which we find not only in the unity of India but, in the broader context, in the unity of the entire human race.

We are all Indian citizens and no one among us should ever perform, say or even think anything that might belittle mother India. A great responsibility has been bestowed on us -- and not only on us but on future generations. India is not a nation that will last 5, 10 or 100 years. It has existed for thousands of years and it will exist thousands of years from now.

I am thus calling on you for that future and the sacrifice and services involved in it. I have complete confidence that in this task, whatever our beliefs, political or other differences, we will unite as soldiers of India. Of course, we do not wear uniforms -- we respect and feel proud of those persons who do -- but we are no less soldiers than they in the struggle to bring prosperity to India. Thus, once again I appeal to you to unite, strengthen ourselves, (?consolidate) and happily march forward, accepting the difficulties in the task of beautifying the already beautiful nation and cleansing everything -- whether it is the dirt on the street or inside the house or dirt in our minds. Everyone should take the responsibility himself.

It has become our habit to blame others. We say that others are making mistakes. One should ask himself: Am I doing the right thing? Am I prepared to make every effort to prevent wrong doing? Each one of us, big or small, must ask this question of himself. When one thinks in such a way and changes himself, will it not thereby bring about a change in society or the nation? Ask this question in your own heart.

Once again I extend my congratulations to you on this day. [applause]

LOK SABHA OPENS DEBATE ON NO-CONFIDENCE MOTION

BK160938 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0830 GMT 16 Aug 82

[Text] The Lok Sabha has begun an 8-hour debate on the opposition-sponsored motion expressing want of confidence in the Council of Ministers. Moving the motion, H.N. Bahuguna, Democratic Socialist Party, criticized the government for not bringing about a socialistic turn in its development schemes as it has been claiming. He referred to a wide range of fields in which, he alleged, the government has failed to achieve the goals. The problems of the northeast remain unresolved. There is lack of resources for underdeveloped areas. The government has been favoring only capitalists, monopolists and multinationals. These were some of the allegations made by Bahuguna during his speech which was frequently marked by protest from the treasury benches.

A ruling party member who spoke immediately after said all the matters raised by Bahuguna have been discussed in this very session of the Lok Sabha. The motion brought by him and other opposition members only reflects their negative attitude. They only want to try to embarrass the speaker and the government. But, he said, this is not new to this house. Such motions have been brought earlier, also. The Congress-I member pointed out that Bahuguna lacks political credibility. He has changed party six times barely in 5 years.

At the outset, Speaker Bal Ram Jakhar announced that 8 hours have been allotted for the discussion and Prime Minister Mrs Gandhi will intervene around 1900 [1330 GMT].

POLICE, MOBS IN 'PITCHED BATTLE' IN KASHMIR

BK131558 Hong Kong AFP in English 1535 GMT 13 Aug 82

[Text] New Delhi, Aug. 13 (AFP) -- More than 65 persons, including 30 police personnel, were injured today in a pitched battle between mobs and police at Sopore township, in Indian-held Kashmir, the Press Trust of India (PTI) reported today.

Quoting official information, the agency said that police fired several rounds into the air to disperse violent mobs.

The protests were over a state government decision to locate the agriculture university at Srinagar, the capital of Indian Kashmir, rather than at Sopore, which is famous for apple cultivation.

Before opening fire, the police used batons and tear gas to disperse the crowds which attacked them with stones.

The town, which lies about 45 kms from Sprinagar, also observed a bundh (strike) on a call from the all parties action committee which is leading the agitation.

All shops, education institutions and other establishments remained closed in the town.

Attendance in almost all the government offices was "very thin," the reports added.

SPOKESMAN ON NONALIGNED SUMMIT VENUE DECISION

BK131557 Hong Kong AFP in English 1412 GMT 13 Aug 82

[Text] New Delhi, Aug 13 (AFP) -- A decision on the venue for the controversial seventh nonaligned summit now rested on discussions in New York among permanent representatives of the nonaligned countries to the United Nations, an Indian Foreign Ministry spokesman said here today.

[Words indistinct] have begun their exercise for reaching a consensus on the venue and date of the conference, according to a Foreign Office spokesman here today.

Although India had been favoured by both Iraq and Iran, New Delhi would have to await the decisions of the New York meeting, where representatives have to reach a consensus on the venue and the date before making any preparations.

The summit was originally scheduled to begin in Baghdad on September 6, but Iraq, bogged down in its war with Iran, has had to abandon plans to stage the summit.

The spokesman was commenting on a reported statement yesterday by Iranian Deputy Foreign Minister Shikhul Islam that although Iran opposed to Baghdad as the venue it still wanted the summit to take place as scheduled on September 6.

He was also understood to have said that his government was also against holding any pre-summit foreign ministers meeting in Baghdad on September 2 as proposed by Iraqi President Saddam Husayn.

The first hurdle the nonaligned representatives in New York will have to face is the foreign ministers meeting which has to be held, as procedure demands, to ratify the decisions on the future of the summit, according to Foreign Ministry sources here.

While Iraq has demanded that it should take place in Baghdad, Cuba, current chairman of the movement, has proposed that it should be convened in Havana on August 21 and 22.

India has still not expressed its official view on either the Cuban or the Iraqi proposal, apparently because of the friendly relations it maintains with both Iraq and Iran, the sources noted.

The non-aligned representatives in New York as well as the Iraqi and Iranian Governments had already begun consultation with Cuba, the spokesman noted.

"We will abide by whatever the consensus that emerges at the New York meeting," he said.

RAO RULES OUT MIDDLE EAST POLICY CHANGE

BK130932 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0830 GMT 13 Aug 82

[Text] External Affairs Minister Narasimha Rao has ruled out any change in India's foreign policy regarding West Asia in view of the Israeli aggression on Lebanon and the Iran-Iraq conflict. Replying to a calling attention motion on the subject moved by Jaswant Singh, BJP [Bhartiya Janata Party] and two others in Rajya Sabha, Rao said there is need for great tenacity in following our foreign policy. Our fundamental approach is that whatever solution is arrived at to end Israeli aggression, it should have two elements: One, it should have the concurrence of the Palestine Liberation Organization and the Lebanese Government and, two, it must be only a first step simultaneous with a search for a comprehensive settlement to ensure inalienable rights of the Palestinian people.

He also informed the house that the Indian ambassador in Beirut has recommended to the government that it is not necessary to close our mission there. Rao said the ambassador has been given authority to evacuate our mission personnel or their families as and when necessary. All members of our mission in Lebanon are safe.

He also informed the house today that the government is trying to get Dal Khalsa activists repatriated who hijacked an Indian aircraft to Pakistan last year.

RAO HAILS RESULTS OF GANDHI'S U.S. VISIT

BK131313 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1230 GMT 13 Aug 82

[Text] External Affairs Minister Narasimha Rao told the Lok Sabha today that the prime minister's visit to the United States was for goodwill and friendship and served this purpose effectively and constructively. Making a statement on Mrs Gandhi's visit, he said there were several indications that India's role as a factor of stability and moderation in its region and in the broader international context are being recognized. Mrs Gandhi's visit was useful in putting forward India's basic policy in generating greater friendship and understanding between the two countries.

Narasimha Rao said the prime minister had pointed out that development of India's friendship with one country does not exclude friendly relations with any other nation. According to indications available in Washington, this has been recognized.

The statement also said that the agreement for the supply of fuel for Tarapur by France removes the major point of friction while safeguarding our interests and principles.

The Congress-I parliamentary party has expressed happiness at the prime minister's successful U.S. visit. In a resolution adopted this morning it hailed the visit as an unparalleled success politically and personally for Mrs Gandhi. The visit was undertaken at a time when the India-U.S. relations had reached a delicate stage. The resolution says that once again, because of the statesmanship of the prime minister, the horizon of the relations has become brighter. The general body of the party held a meeting as the monsoon session of the parliament is coming to a close.

SUPREME SOVIET DEPUTY CHAIRMAN IMASHEV ARRIVES

[Text] Soviet Vice President S.N. Imashev arrived in New Delhi today on a 12-day visit to India. He was received at the airport among others by Commerce Minister Shivraj Patl.

Speaking on the occasion, Imashev said he is happy to be in India at a time when it is celebrating the 35th anniversary of its independence and the 11th anniversary of the historic Indo-Soviet treaty of peace, friendship and cooperation. He hoped that his visit will help in further strengthening bilaterial relations.

Shivraj Patil said Indo-Soviet relations have a strong foundation and Imashev's visit will help in further consolidating friendship and understanding between peoples of the two nations.

IRAN'S HASHEMI-RAFSANJANI CONTINUES VISIT

IRNA Reports Talks

LD131038 Tehran IRNA in English 0900 GMT 13 Aug 82

[Text] New Delhi, Aug. 12 IRNA -- Iran's Majlis Speaker Hojjat ol-Eslam Hashemi-Rafsanjani and members of the Iranian top-ranking delegation to India, were received here today by the Indian President Mr Singh, at 14:45 hours (Tehran time) at the presidential palace.

The Indian president welcomed the Iranian delegation headed by Speaker Hasehmi-Rafsanjani and wished them success. During the meeting mutual relations in foreign and cultural affairs as well as in arts and literature were discussed and the two sides expressed willingness to expand bilateral cooperation in all fields.

Majlis Speaker Hashemi-Rafsanjani stressed in this meeting the rightful stand of the Islamic Republic of Iran in regard with the Iraqi imposed war as well as Iran's efforts against convulsion in the sensitive Indian Ocean and Middle East regions.

The Iranian mission also accepted an offer by the Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi for holding second round of talks between the two sides. Today, during the meeting with the Indian Prime Minister, the Iranian Majlis speaker thanked her for India's accepting of the Islamic Republic request to hold the upcoming nonaligned summit conference in New Delhi instead of Baghdad.

In another development today, the Iranian top-ranking mission met and conferred with the Indian foreign minister, Narasimha Rao. The two sides discussed issues of mutual interest and matters pertaining to the upcoming Nonaligned Movement summit conference.

Addresses Bombay Muslims

LD140906 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 0330 GMT 14 Aug 82

[Text] According to an IRNA and Central News Unit dispatch the high-ranking delegation from the Islamic Republic of Iran, led by Mr Hashemi-Rafsanjani, continuing its visit to India, arrived in Bombay from New Delhi yesterday for a visit and participation in the Friday prayers of the Bombay Muslim citizens and was welcomed by the president of the local council and our country's consul-general in Bombay.

Mr Hashemi-Rafsanjani together with his entourage then took part in a meeting of a group of members of the Islamic association of the city's Muslim citizens who had gathered at the airport to welcome him. He replied to their questions and extolled their support for the Islamic Republic of Iran.

Later the Iranian delegation took part in the Friday prayer ceremonies of the Bombay Muslims, held in the city's great mosque, and was accorded a warm welcome by the Bombay worshippers. After the Friday prayers, Mr Hashemi-Rafsanjani, in an important speech, expounded on the achievements of Iran's Islamic revolution. Mr Hashemi-Rafsanjani said:

After Iran's Islamic revolution the biggest base of Western colonialism, particularly that of the United States, was dismantled in the region. The inordinate export of oil to the West was halted and Iran was turned into a base for disseminating right and virtue and for supporting the deprived and meek all over the world. The center of the world liberation movements, particularly the Islamic movements, was set up in Iran.

He also referred to the occupation of the U.S. den of espionage by the Muslim students following the line of the imam and identified the outcome of their revolutionary deed as the disgrace of the United States.

Continuing his speech, the speaker of the Islamic Consultative Assembly of Iran said: With the nationalization of the banks, the domination of the court capitalists, who used to suck the people's blood, was terminated and the banks were then placed at the service of the people. For the development of the country, priority was given to the rural areas and the deprived regions and workers' wages were increased up to 300 percent. Contrary to the past when the government was under the domination of the Pahlavi dynasty, the gentry and thieves, today the government is being run by the hands of the deprived people and their representatives.

Mr Hashemi-Rafsanjani also referred to the course of the Iranian revolution as adhering to the tenets of the Koran and Islamic issues, saying: In Iran today, in place of drunk, thieving and criminal rulers, people such as our illustrious imam and educated Muslim young people are administering society. For the first time in history we have demonstrated to the world how a nation has been able, without enlisting the help of the USSR the United States or any other power, to carry out a revolution and, thanks to the victory of Iran's Islamic revolution, Islam has gained a new life and thereby neutralized the efforts of the atheistic school of Marxism which used to lead our youth astray with its deceitful slogans.

Mr Hashemi-Rafsanjani then noted: Because of these and scores of other achievements, the world bullies decided to destroy this revolution. In this connection they imposed a war on us, encouraged their domestic agents to embark on murder and assassination and, while imposing an economic blockade on us, they closed the routes for the import of goods into Iran. But so far, the Islamic revolution, thanks to the sagacity of our leader and the support of the people, has triumphed over all the ostensible problems and lifted its head with pride.

In conclusion, the speaker of the Islamic Consultative Assembly, while emphasizing the need to fill the mosques with worshippers, referred to the sovereignty of the Islamic Republic of Iran regime as that of the mosque, adding: We want the Islamic Republic of Iran to become a model for the Islamic countries wherein there would be neither the arrogant nor the meek, a model which would reflect the values to the free and jihad-waging people. This is a claim made by those who have proved that they simultaneously have the power to build the country and wage war against an aggressive enemy.

Further Report

LD141146 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 14 Aug 82

[Excerpts] The special correspondent of the Voice and Vision of the Islamic Republic of Iran in India has sent a report on the continuation of the formal visit of Mr Hashemi-Rafsanjani, the speaker of the Islamic Consultative Assembly, and his entourage to India.

In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. In continuation of their tour, Mr Hashemi-Rafsanjani and his entourage arrived in Bombay yesterday morning.

After taking part at the Friday prayers in Bombay's Khwaja Mosque, Mr Hashemin-Rafsanjani made a speech to the congregation. While describing the important effects of the Iranian Islamic revolution under the leadership of Iman Khomeyni, Mr Hashemi-Rafsanjani said: For the first time in the history of world revolutions, the nation of Iran showed that people can revolt without any help from the Soviet Union or America. We did not receive help from any foreign country during our revolution and at the time of our struggle, nor have we relied on any foreign country since the revolution. Therefore we can condemn the Soviet aggression in Afghanistan, the same as condemning U.S. and Israeli aggression in Lebanon.

Satisfied With Talks

[Text] Speaker of the Iranian parliament Rafsanjani has expressed satisfaction over his talks with Indian leaders and members of parliament. Speaking to newsmen in Lucknow last evening he said his country totally agrees with India that the policy of tyranny should end in the whole world. He said all UN member countries should have equal rights and no one of the Security Council should have a right to veto.

About the Gulf war, he said Iran will continue to fight until Iraq accepts Tehran's point of view.

[Text] Mongolian Foreign Minister Mangalyn Dugersuren arrived in New Delhi this morning on a 4-day official visit to the country. He was received at the airport by Labor Minister Bhagwat Jha Azad, Mongolian Ambassador in India B. Jargalsayhan and senior officials of the External Affairs Ministry.

Mangalyn Dugersuren told newsmen at the airport that bilateral issues especially in the field of cultural exchanges would come up during his discussions with Indian leaders. He expressed the hope that his visit would further strengthen relations between the two countries.

Cooperation Protocols Signed

[Text] India and Mongolia signed two protocols in New Delhi today: One is in the field of agricultural research and another in the field of health. G.P. Gautam, director general of the Indian Council of Agricultural Research, and S.S. Sidhu, health secretary, signed the protocols for India. On behalf of Mongolia, its Ambassador B. Jargalsayhan signed both protocols. The protocols were signed in the presence of Mongolian Foreign Minister Dugersuren and External Affairs Minister Narasimha Rao.

The protocols envisaged exchange of scientists, technologists and trainees. The two countries will also exchange germ plasma and breeding material including seeds and plant material. The two countries will import and export scientific equipment of common interest. They have also agreed to form a joint consultative committee of experts to implement the agricultural protocol.

The Mongolian foreign minister called on President Zail Singh at Rashtrapati Bhavan [president house] this morning. Their meeting lasted half an hour.

PRESIDENT MAKES INDEPENDENCE DAY SPEECH

SK140728 Karachi Domestic Service in Urdu 0600 GMT Aug 82

[Text] [Words indistinct] is observing. The president hoisted the national flag at a colorful and magnificent function at the Presidency in Rawalpindi at 0900 this morning [0400 GMT] and joined the entire nation in chanting the national anthem. On the occasion, President Gen Mohammad Ziaul Haq said: On this independence day let us pledge, under the shadow of the national flag, to establish a better, stabler and more prosperous society in Pakistan. He said: We have to decorate the beloved homeland with the principles of faith in God, unity and discipline and set up a welfare state according to Islamic tenets. A welfare state where there will be no poor and destitute and where the rich will take care of the poor according to Islamic values; where elders love the younger ones and the young respect their elders and children respect their parents; where teachers provide guidance to the young generation and students honor their teachers; where the mosques are filled with wordshippers and where the system of zakat is further improved and streamlined.

The president said we have to establish in Pakistan a pious society with a distinctive character and, in this Pakistan, it would be our duty to pay special consideration to the rights of the minorities. The president said it would be our endeavor to present to the nation a positive structure of a true Islamic system by next independence day. The president categorically said we have to launch a campaign to eliminate the evils of bribery and undue influence in a bid to reform society. He said the government is striving to establish in the country a judicial system in complete conformity with Islamic tenets to provide speedy justice to every single individual. He said our endeavor will be to establish an interest-free economic system with the help of scholars, intellectuals and (?executives).

NAIK ASSESSES TALKS WITH INDIA'S RASGOTRA

[Text] Foreign Secretary Niaz A. Naik has said that he had very useful talks with Indian Foreign Secretary M. Rasgotra during last 2 days. These talks were held in an atmosphere of mutual goodwill and friendship. He was addressing a joint press conference at the Islamabad Airport prior to the Indian foreign secretary's departure for India this morning.

Naik said: We exchanged views on various international issues and matters of common interest. However, the major part of our talks was devoted to bilateral issues. He said the discussion on bilateral issues took place in light of the negotiations held between the foreign ministers of the two countries in New Delhi last January.

Naik said Pakistan had presented India with a draft of a nonaggression pact on 1 June. Toward the end of the same month, India sent its own draft of a treaty on the establishment of a joint commission. He said the Indian foreign secretary has now presented a draft of a peace, friendship and cooperation treaty between the two countries. The proposals included in this draft are very extensive and cover many aspects that require examination. He expressed the hope that further talks in this regard will follow. He has accepted the Indian foreign secretary's invitation to visit New Delhi to hold further negotiations.

Indian Foreign Secretary Rasgotra described the talks as very useful. He said he was waiting for the resumption of talks and expressed the hope that the next round of talks would be held soon.

Further Report

BK131314 Karachi Domestic Service in English 1005 GMT 13 Aug 82

[Excerpts] The foreign secretaries of Pakistan and India have described their talks in Islamabad as most useful and productive on bilateral matters and international issues of common concern. They were addressing a joint news conference at Islamabad Airport this morning before the departure of Indian Foreign Secretary Rasgotra for home.

Pakistan Foreign Secretary Niaz A. Naik said during their talks, which were held in an atmosphere of mutual goodwill and cordiality, they exchanged views on a number of international issues of common interest to Pakistan and India. These discussions are of great value in facilitating better understanding of each other's perception. On many international issues their views are similar. Naik said that recent developments in Afghanistan and also the indirect talks held under the UN auspices in Geneva on the Afghanistan problem were also considered by the two sides. Both the sides reiterated their adherence to the two declarations adopted on Afghanistan by two recent conferences of the nonaligned countries.

They also discussed the tragic situation in Lebanon where Israel is committing grave aggression against the Palestinian and the Lebanese people. They felt that very effective restraints need to be imposed on the Israeli policy of aggression and expansionism.

On the Iran-Iraq war, Niaz A. Niak said that the two sides wished that the protracted conflict should come to an end. He said both sides expressed their disappointment over lack of progress in the North-South dialogue on the economic issues. They stressed the need to launch without further delay global negotiations on international economic cooperation. Niaz A. Naik said that he was looking forward to further exchange of views with his Indian counterpart and has accepted the invitation to visit New Delhi.

Indian Foreign Secretary Rasgotra said the next round of talks between him and the Pakistan foreign secretary would be held before long. He was looking forward to the visit of Niaz A. Naik to New Delhi for this purpose.

S. ASIAN FOREIGN SECRETARIES ISSUE COMMUNIQUE

BK091300 Karachi Domestic Service in English 1005 GMn 9 Aug 82

[Text] The foreign secretaries of the South Asian countries have agreed to recommend to their foreign ministers to convene a meeting at the foreign ministers level between May and September next year to promote and strengthen cooperation. This has been stated in a joint communique issued this afternoon at the end of the third meeting of foreign secretaries of South Asian countries on regional cooperation in Islamabad.

The communique says the foreign minister of Pakistan has been requested to undertake consultations with his counterparts for fixing the date and venue of the ministerial meeting. The foreign secretaries agreed that the regular consultations would be held by the representatives of the countries of the region on matters of common interest relating to international economic issues. It was agreed to constitute a study group on sports, arts and culture.

The foreign secretaries envisaged that the working groups for cooperation in a number of areas would complete their tasks by November this year and submit their reports to the committee of the whole. The committee of the whole headed by Sri Lanka comprises senior officials of the seven countries and would meet by mid-January next.

The foreign secretaries recommended the holding of a meeting of representatives of respective national planning organizations of the seven countries in New Delhi prior to the next meeting of the foreign secretaries which would be held at Dacca in February or March next year.

HAQ DIRECTS GEARING UP OF ELECTION MACHINERY

BK161025 Karachi Domestic Service in English 1005 GMT 16 Aug 82

[Text] The Election Commission had announced that a meeting of the commission is being held in Islamabad on Thursday [19 August]. In a press release the commission says that the chief election commissioner has summoned the meeting of the commission in pursuance of the president's directive to the effect that the electoral machinery should immediately be geared up and the electoral rolls updated.

It says the meeting will be attended by all members of the commission in addition to senior officers of the Election Commission Secretariate and the provincial election commissioners from the four provinces.

The meeting, to be presided over by the chief election commissioner, will deliberate on the procedure to be adopted for updating the electoral rolls and also for framing the time schedule to accomplish the task of revising the rolls as speedily and accurately as possible.

LAWYERS CONVENTION CRITICIZES GOVERNMENT

[Text] Karachi, Aug 14 (AFP) -- Pakistani lawyers held a national convention here today to demand restoration of constitutional rule and an end to the five-year old martial law in the country.

A resolution passed at the convention called for restoration of the 1973 Constitution which has remained partially suspended since President General Mohammad Ziaul Haq came to power in a military coup on July 5, 1977.

The convention criticized the military regime for curtailing the power of judiciary and demanded the abolition of the summary military courts.

Delegates from some 90 bar associations from all over the country took part in the convention held under the auspices of Karachi Bar Association.

MUSAVI COMMENTS ON NONALIGNED MEETING, ECONOMY

LD152114 Tehran IRNA in English 1915 GMT 15 Aug 82

[Text] Tehran, Aug 15 IRNA -- Prime Minister Musavi Saturday met Imam Khomeyni and presented him a report on the latest developments in the country.

After the meeting the prime minister told IRNA that the change in the venue of the up-coming non-aligned summit conference was a great defeat for Saddam Husayn and a severe blow to the Ba'thist Iraqi regime. Moreover, he added, it would damage Iraq's prestige and affect the confidence of other countries in Iraq, and would also lead to Saddam's overthrow. But Saddam was making his utmost efforts to convince the Non-aligned Movement to have the meeting of foreign ministers of member countries in Baghdad, the premier said, adding that there was a weak possibility for this meeting to be held there.

Commenting on Saddam's recent statements expressing anxiety over Iran's preparing for an all-out offensive, Musavi said that it was not a new subject, adding that when the Islamic combatants of Iran started thier attack for the liberation of Khorramshahr, Saddam realised that he could not materialise his vicious schemes. Saddam knew better than anyone else that the forces of Islam would not remain silent until the downfall of the Iraqi regime, the prime minister stressed.

In response to one query put to him regarding inflation, high prices and housing problems the prime minister said that if this year's rate of inflation is compared to that of other countries it will be realized that Iran's inflation problem is under control. If we consider the price of basic necessities in this country we see that the rate of inflation amounts to 15.2 percent for the first three months of the year, whereas in Turkey and other neighboring countries, who are not involved in a war, the price increases for basic staple goods is more than 30 percent.

He continued by saying that the Islamic Republic has allocated 400 billion rials to the war effort for the current fiscal year. This amounts to two thirds of Iran's expenditure for all necessary goods purchased abroad.

Naturally, if this huge expenditure for the war, the future of the revolution and maintaining our independence were not priorities and instead we spent this money on increasing production in our factories and importing goods from abroad to fill the bazaars, we could exercise a greater control over the rate of inflation. But, the prime minister added, this policy would be against the spirit of the revolution, return us to our previous dependent status, dishonour the blood of our martyrs and ultimately destroy the idea of the Islamic Republic in the region.

In response to the question as to why the government relates all national problems to the war, the prime minister first criticised the inquiry. He then said anyone who could not understand and how the large percentage of Iran's budget being spent on the war effort affected all other sectors of national life, was deficient in analysing what is actually a very clear matter.

The prime minister said it would be better if the people and the ulema took the necessary steps to insure that bhe rate of inflation is kept under control. The prime minister stated that the government has and will refrain from entering into all areas of the economy as it considers the nationalisation of all sections of the economy very undesirable. He added that the rate of infaltion must always be considered in the light of the ongoing war effort.

Concerning the housing issue, the prime minister said no one should underestimate how heavily this problem weighs on the country's oppressed and he cited the fact that housing is a major dilemma in all Third World countries.

Musavi then cited Iran and said that Tehran in relation to the nation was like a giant head stuck on a small body which [word indistinct] drained the energy of the body to supply its own needs. This situation he stated was a heritage of the imperial regime whereas now the government was working to develop all areas of the country with the most deprived sections receiving priority.

This, the prime minister admitted, would affect the poor of Tehran but he added that was inevitable and if the government did not pursue a policy of even-handed development on the issue of housing it would have disastrous effects in the future. He ended by saying the government was giving great attention to the housing problem and it hoped to solve it through the implementation of its ten-year programme.

NEW SITE FOR NONALIGNED SUMMIT DEFEAT FOR HUSAYN

[Unattributed commentary: "The Holding of the Nonaligned Conference in a Place Other Than Baghdad"]

[Text] Dear listeners, the organization of the nonaligned as a political entity occurred at a time when the world was divided into two blocs, the Eastern and Western blocs. The rivalry between the superpowers in forcing Third World countries to be dependent on them so that the former could continue exploiting the latter's economic and natural resources moved a number of officials in Third World countries to correctly evaluate the main politicians of the world and to take special measures to (?reduce) their dependence on the Eastern and Western blocs.

Whether the views of the organizers of the Nonaligned Movement have been realized after so many years is another question. Nevertheless, the issue concerning the forthcoming nonaligned summit is that it has become obvious that the foundations of the Nonaligned Movement have been shaken, a development contrary to the initial rules and regulations of the movement. [sentence as heard] These principles are the cornerstone of the Nonaligned Movement and cannot be ignored. If, in the face of developments, a political movement fails to adopt a resolute and (?harmonious) position, then it will move away from its own goals and have to concede defeat.

The Nonaligned Movement faced a problem with regard to its summit scheduled for Baghdad. This problem was first raised by the Islamic Republic of Iran which has been cautioning with revolutionary determination the member countries against the dangers ever since.

It is a positive development that a number of members of the Nonaligned Movement, taking into consideration the just stance of the Islamic Republic of Iran and the victories achieved by the Islamic armed forces on the battlefronts, have taken steps to change their initial decision. However, this is (?not an indication) that the members of the nonaligned are determined to willingly adhere to the initial goals of the movement. In fact, is it not a shame to transfer the leadership of the Nonaligned Movement to an entity which has launched an onslaught against the Islamic Republic of Iran and violated one of the most important principles of the Nonaligned Movement? How can the Nonaligned Movement agree to a leader who has been massacring his own Muslim people through ways and means which can only be described as savage?

It is common knowledge that a civil war is continuing in Iraq today between the oppressed Muslims and a dictatorship aligned with the superpowers. The regime in Iraq was imposed on the Iraqi people through a coup directly supported by the superpowers. How can such a regime, which has no popular support, host the Nonalignment Movement in a disturbed atmosphere?

The Iraqi people are concerned that the Nonaligned Movement continues to regard the Iraqi Ba'thist regime as a member and that it has made no move whatsoever to cancel its membership in the movement. Islamic organizations in Iraq have been issuing warnings in this respect. Baghdad, on the other hand, has been displaying an insecure atmosphere regardless of the claims put forward by the Ba'thist leaders. In fact, the struggle waged to oust the dictatorship in Baghdad has developed considerably. There is no doubt that the Muslim Iraqi people will not allow the Ba'thists to remain in power any longer.

Remaining nonaligned requires adherence to a number of principles and decisions. Moving outside the framework of these principles and decisions and seeking aid from powerful countries constitute violations of the principles. By creating division in its own country and by imposing a war against the Islamic Republic of Iran, the Zionist Iraqi Ba'thist regime has proved it is not in solidarity with the Nonaligned Movement. In fact, it has proved it is against this movement and is acting like an aligned country. Under the circumstances, it would be tragic if the Nonaligned Movement were to yield to such a great and unbelievable defeat.

Rescuing the Nonaligned Movement from such a state of affairs is the duty of its members. The Muslim Iraqi people hope the members of the Nonaligned Movement support their legitimate struggle for liberation by expelling the Iraqi Ba'thist regime from the movement. This is but a very insignificant demand put to the nonaligned countries by the Muslim Iraqi people because their liberation struggle aimed at establishing an Islamic government has already reached its peak.

No one doubts that the Saddam regime will fall. The important thing here is that the effect the struggle of the Muslim Iraqi people and the victories the Islamic armed forces have been achieving against the satanic forces of Saddam have had on the effort made to change the venue of the Baghdad summit should not be overlooked. The decision to change the site of the conference constitutes a severe defeat for Saddam.

SHIRAZI: '5,000' IRAQIS KILLED IN OPERATION

JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUES SUM UP FIGHTING

Communique 1,015

LD131748 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 13 Aug 82

[Joint Communique No 1,015 issued by the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. At 1230 yesterday on one of the southern fronts, one of the helicopters belonging to the Iraqi Ba'thist mercenaries was hit by fire from the combatants of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran. The helicopter crashed inside Iraqi territory.

Periodic exchanges of fire continue on the southern fronts. The Iraqi Ba'thist mercenaries are using ineffective massive fire to overcome their boundless fear and horror. The brave combatants of Islam on all fronts are using effective and accurate fire to inflict losses and casualties; they have destroyed some positions and fortifications belonging to the Saddamist mercenaries and have killed a number of their servicemen.

During the exchanges of fire carried out on the Abadan fronts yesterday, the heroes of the gendarmerie opened fire on the enemy units and positions, silencing their fire and stopping the Iraqi Ba'thist mercenaries' movement on the Al-Faw-Basra supply road. Exchanges of fire were also continuing on the Khorramshahr front.

The city of Abadan continues to be hit by the Saddamist criminals' long-range artillery fire yesterday. As a result, several houses were destroyed, losses were inflicted on the city's installations, several people were martyred and several were wounded.

A number of the intruding aircraft belonging to the aggressive Iraqi Army intended to violate the airspace of several border points in the south and west of the country on 12 August. However, they were forced to flee by the tactical measures of the air defense units of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran.

Exchanges of artillery and heavy weapons fire were continuing yesterday on most of the country's western fronts. The combatants of Islam fired on and killed or wounded a number of the Iraqi Ba'thist forces. Two trucks and several trenches, foxholes and observation posts belonging to the Saddamists were also destroyed.

[Text] In His exalted name. The Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran expresses its condolences on the occasion of the anniversary of the martyrdom of the founder of the J'afari sect, His Eminence Imam J'afar Sadeq, peace be upon him, to the hidden Imam and his esteemed deputy Imam Khomeyni, leader of the revolution and founder of the Islamic Republic of Iran, as well as the martyr-nurturing community of Iran. We pray to God Almighty for the victory and glory of Islam and the Muslims.

The Islamic combatants' victorious battle with the defeated forces of Saddam, with both sides using heavy weaponry, continued in the past 24 hours in the operational regions of the western and southern fronts.

There were exchanges of fire on the country's western fronts. Our forces' superior firepower stopped the enemy's artillery fire, set on fire and destroyed a number of [words indistinct], 11 vehicles and several bunkers and observation posts and killed a number of Saddamists.

As a result of our artillery fire on enemy positions in the Valiabad, Panjwin and [words indistinct] regions, a number of enemy infantry bunkers were destroyed and their occupants were killed or injured. This also stopped the enemy forces from moving in the (Diyareh) region.

As a result of precise observation and subsequent artillery fire by the artillery unit of the ground forces of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran, one enemy ammunition dump and three guns in Valiabad and (Dareh Sheytan) were destroyed and a further three enemy guns were damaged.

Exchanges of fire in Ilam, Oasr-e Shirn and Paveh continued, with our forces having the upper hand.

In the southern operational region, while protecting their respective positions, our forces opened retaliatory fire on an enemy position across the Arvand Rud, setting on fire and destroying four armored trenches and five observation posts belonging to the Saddamists. During this operation 16 enemy soldiers were killed.

In the southern regions our forces are defending their positions valiantly. Yesterday they opened fire on the Iraqi forces' fortifications and concentrations and destroyed one ammunition dump and one 106-mm field gun emplacement and their occupants and damaged a number of enemy heavy weapons.

As a result of enemy long-range fire on Abadan residential quarters, a number of points in that city were set on fire.

Communique 1,017

[Communique No 1,017 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. The self-sacrificing combatants of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran, while relying on God and the all-round support of the risen and grateful community of Iran, are as ever bravely standing fast in their strong positions against the Ba'thist mercenaries of Iraq and will continue the battle until the destruction and defeat of the aggressive and destructive Ba'thist mercenaries of Iraq. The situation on the fronts of the imposed war is hereby brought to the attention of the dear compatriots:

Exchanges of artillery and heavy weapons fire were in progress on the western fronts yesterday. The return fire of the combatants of the ground forces on enemy positions destroyed a truck, a number of supply points, observation posts, trenches and fox holes of the Saddamists. A tank and three other vehicles of the Ba'thist mercenaries of Iraq were damaged. There is no information on the number of enemy dead and wounded.

On the southern fronts, exchanges of artillery and heavy weapons fire continued between the victorious combatants of Islam and the aggressive Ba'thists of Iraq. The victorious self-sacrificers of Islam continued strengthening their defensive positions and kept the movements of the Ba'thist mercenaries under control, and with their timely artillery fire, prevented enemy engineering units' activities and set alight and destroyed a number of the trenches and vehicles of the Saddamists together with their crews.

During exchanges of fire on the Abadan and Khorramshahr fronts, the gendarmerie combatants brought the positions and personnel of the Saddamists under fire. Preventing any enemy movement or deployment, they destroyed four heavy weapons emplacements of the Ba'thist mercenaries of Iraq and killed or wounded about 20 of them.

Abadan was again brought under long-range enemy heavy weapons fire yesterday; one house caught fire and two persons were martyred and several others were injured in the region.

Yesterday, enemy aerial aggression in a number of western and southern border regions was repelled by the antiaircraft fire of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran and the invading planes of the aggressive army of Iraq fled without committing any crime.

TEHRAN EXPOSES HUSAYN'S REMARK ON NEW OFFENSIVE

[Text] In light of the vicious political defeat that Saddam has suffered because the nonaligned summit will not be held in Baghdad due to the escalation of the Muslim revolutionaries' struggle in Iraq, Saddam has announced that Iran is preparing for an extensive offensive against Iraq.

In a bid to mislead the Iraqi Muslim people regarding his political defeats, he addressed a group of his defeated Ba'th army commanders and said with concern: I hereby announce that the Iraqi forces should concentrate on the fronts and should not fail to do so.

Political observers see that Saddam's statement on an Iranian offensive indicates a crisis in the Saddamist political situation inside Iraq.

QOTBZADEH TRIAL BEGINS; INDICTMENT READ

LD141128 Tehran IRNA in English 1040 GMT 14 Aug 82

[Text] Tehran, Aug 14 (IRNA) -- Trial of the former foreign minister of the Islamic Republic of Iran, Sadeq Qotbzadeh, started at Tehran's Evin Prison at 10:30 local time this morning. The session, presided over by the head of the military revolutionary tribunal, Hojjat ol-Eslam Mohammadi Reyshari, started by recitation of verses from the holy Koran.

Qotbzadeh, who was arrested in Tehran early last April, is accused of plotting against the Islamic Republic and Imam Khomeyni.

At the beginning of the session Hojjat ol-Eslam Reyshahri read out the indictment which said that Qotbzadeh was accused of leading a group to overthrow the Islamic Republic and establish in the words of the group a "true Islamic republic," collaborating with several military groups to overthrow the Islamic Republic, providing financial assistance to military groups, having had contacts with counterrevolutionary elements in Caspian area, collaborating with the heads of Qashqai tribe in Fars Province, and dispatching special envoys abroad to collect money and information for the purpose of the plot.

According to the indictment, Qotbzadeh is also accused of receiving 60,000 U.S. dollars from Hector Villalon, an Argentine businessman now residing in Paris, sending a pseudo religious man named Mehdi Mahdavi to Saudi Arabia to collect money, seeking collaboration and support of Kasam Shari'atmadari, attempting to receive arms from abroad, drawing up plans and heading the project for taking control of the headquarters of the Islamic Revolutionary Guards Corps (IRGC), revolutionary committee and radio and television stations, plotting to destroy Imam Khomeyni's residence and taking measures in this connection, providing two members of his group with homes near the imam's residence, and taking measures for the release of a member of a counterrevolutionary group (Pars) through giving bribes.

After hearing the indictment, Qotbazadeh started his defense in which he said he had not the intention to overthrow the Islamic Republic or martyr Imam Khomeyni. Rather, Qotbzadeh added, the objective was to overthrow the regime and the government.

The next session of the trial will be held on Monday morning.

MUSAVI-ARDABILI DISCUSSES 'HYPOCRITES'' ACTIVITIES

GF151903 Tehran JOMHURI-YE ESLAMI in Persian 7 Aug 82 p 2

[Report on the press, radio and television conference held by Chief Islamic Revolution Prosecutor Musavi-Tabrizi -- date and place not given]

[Excerpt] Brother Musavi-Tabrizi said that it has been over a year since the start of the armed attacks by warring and hypocrite groups. It has also been nearly 2 years that our Muslim people have been stuck with the war imposed by Iraq on top of political and economic embargos. However, irrespective of all these problems, the hezbollahi umma have been able to solve the major problems in the fields of military, economy, politics, propaganda and especially in dealing with terrorism. At present, due to the awareness and the strengthening of the revolutionary organizations, over 90 percent of the members of minigroups have been arrested and given their just rewards.

Hojjat ol-Eslam Musavi-Tabrizi added: Eighty members of the hypocrites [Mojahedin-e Khalq] on 2 May and 10 June and another 30 on 1 August were killed, wounded or arrested in their teamhouses by the capable hands of the hezbollahi umma. The majority of the supporters and active cadres of the hypocrite, Peykar, [Feda'iyan-e Khalq] minority group, Marxist and communist workers organizations and monarchist minigroups led by Iraq were arrested. Documents discovered in the communal houses indicate that the hypocrites intended to cause explosions in [Tehran] university, the Majlis and to attack some of the Majlis deputies and officials.

Brother Musavi-Tabrizi, concluded by referring to the trial of Qotbzadeh and other elements responsible for the foiled coup attempt and said: Qotbzadeh's case is connected with his financial dealings in the Foreign Ministry and some embezzlement he did there. That is the reason for the delay of the trial, since there is need for a more accurate investigation, considering the welfare of the society.

17 AUGUST 1982

Lebanon

Israeli Position -- All obstacles to the PLO evacuation of Beirut have now been removed except for Israel's demand that the PLO return the captured Israeli pilot and the bodies of nine IDF soldiers, Jerusalem radio reported citing senior Israeli officials. The question of the pilot and the bodies is an absolute condition and the agreement could stand or fall on its implementation, the officials stressed. While expressing optimism that the evacuation will start soon, the officials warned that in light of an apparent hardening of the PLO position on some undisclosed points, Israel has not entirely ruled out use of the military option should the need arise. Regarding PLO demands that Israel release several hundred Palestinians in exchange for the captured Phantom pilot, an authoritative Israeli political source cited by Jerusalem radio early on 17 August emphasized that Israel rejects any deal with the PLO. The radio also noted that Israel is awaiting replies from U.S. envoy Philip Habib on unresolved issues in the agreement for the PLO evacuation, which is scheduled to begin 21 August. Israeli Foreign Ministry Director General David Kimche arrived in Beirut on 16 August to be briefed on the results of Habib's talks with Lebanese leaders, according to Beirut radio.

Regarding a Syrian withdrawal from Beirut, HA'ARETZ reported that Israel has agreed to allow the Syrian brigade and commando battalion in the capital to leave with all their weapons, including tanks and artillery. The two Syrian-controlled Palestinian Liberation Army brigades, which are part of the Syrian Arab deterrent force, will be allowed to redeploy in the Al-Biqa' Valley or in another area under Syrian control. The agreement also stipulates that Syria will absorb some 2,600 "terrorists," HA'ARETZ added. The paper pointed out that under these arrangements the Syrians might be able to extricate from Beirut some of the heavy weapons left behind by the PLO and also might be able to station PLO "terrorists" from Beirut in the Al-Biqa' or Tripoli regions.

Beirut Situation, PLO Position -- After meeting with U.S. envoy Habib, who had returned from talks in Israel, Lebanese Prime Minister Shafiq al-Wazzan and Foreign Minister Fu'ad Butrus expressed optimism that a solution to the crisis is near, according to statements carried by Voice of Lebanon radio.

A Western source cited by Jerusalem radio said the first group of PLO fighters will leave from Beirut port to Larnaca, Cyprus. Control of the port will be transferred to the Lebanese Army before the evacuation, and as the "terrorists" reach the port, the French advance unit will land.

The clandestine Voice of Palestine radio spoke of optimism about a solution but expressed fear of an Israeli "surprise" at the last minute such as an attack on Palestinian camps in north Lebanon or "aggression" in the Al-Biqa'. PLO Executive Committee Chairman Yasir 'Arafat told French television that he is ready to leave Lebanon "very quickly," Paris radio observed. Speaking to KUNA, PLO Executive Committee spokesman 'Abd al-Muhsin Abu Mayzar stressed that the PLO evacuation from Beirut does not mean a change in attitude toward the Palestinian issue and will not diminish Palestinian unity. He alleged that the United States has started to implement the "second link" in a Middle East settlement -- the Jordanian-Palestinian link -- within the Camp David accords, and that the U.S. threatens the independence of Arab countries. He said the PLO rejects U.S. attempts to turn Arabs into mediators in the conflict with Israel and he criticized the "silence" of Arab countries regarding Lebanon.

Syrian Position, Talks with Phalangists -- Syrian forces in Lebanon are a "legitimate presence" and they will not withdraw unless the reason and justification for the presence is eliminated, a Damascus radio commentary stressed. The issue of Syrian forces in Lebanon concerns only Lebanon, Syria and the Arabs, and these forces have proved they can stand up to the Israeli military, the commentary insisted. Israel has not achieved its objectives in the invasion, the radio said, and the PLO has become stronger and more influential in the world.

A Phalangist delegation met with Syrian Foreign Minister 'Abd al-Halim Khaddam in Damascus on 16 August, Monte Carlo radio reported adding that informed sources said the "frank and positive" talks dealt with the Lebanese situation and the presidential elections.

Presidential Elections -- Israeli forces have agreed to withdraw from the Mansur Palace area to facilitate the upcoming presidential elections, sources cited by Voice of Lebanon radio reported. According to AFP, Lebanon has asked France, Britain and the FRG to send observers to assist in the elections. Meanwhile, Progressive Socialist Party leader Walid Junblatt said after a ministerial meeting that the Chamber of Deputies should postpone its election session until an internal Lebanese settlement is reached. Beirut radio reported.

Tunisia on PLO Reception -- The Tunisian committee in charge of organizing the reception of 1,000 PLO fighters met to discuss preparations, an authorized source cited by TAP revealed.

Status of Cease-Fire -- The "terrorists" twice violated the cease-fire in both Beirut and eastern Lebanon, the IDF spokesman announced in statements reported by IDF and Jerusalem radios. While the IDF responded in the eastern sector, it did not return fire in Beirut. The Voice of Palestine noted that Israeli planes overflew the capital on 16 and 17 August. Meanwhile, the Israelis, Syrians and Palestinians reinforced their positions in the Al-Biqa' Valley, according to the Voice of Lebanon.

Autonomy Talks; Egyptian-Israeli Relations

Egypt has informed the United States that it will not consider resuming the autonomy talks before Israel's complete withdrawal from Lebanon and the restoration of full Lebanese sovereignty, MENA reported. If and when Egypt considers resuming the talks it will require a change in the procedure, which has so far proved fruitless, MENA added. The concepts of autonomy should be defined during the transition period preceding the exercise of self-determination, because if the talks are held on the basis of Israel's interpretations of autonomy, the Camp David accords will be divested of their real meaning.

Meanwhile, Egyptian Minister of State for Foreign Affairs Butrus Ghali said normal relations between Egypt and Israel have been frozen because of the Israeli "aggression" against Lebanon and the Palestinians, the London paper ASH-SHARQ AL-AWSAT reported.

Inter-Arab Affairs

A source at the Arab League Secretariat in Tunis said 17 states have agreed to resume the Fes Arab summit on 6 September and the Arab foreign ministers meeting will be held on 28 August, KUNA reported. The agenda of the foreign ministers meeting includes the Israeli invasion of Lebanon, the Iran-Iraq war and Arab relations, according to another KUNA report.

Iran-Iraq War

Iranian forces fired on Iraqi positions across the Shatt al-'Arab killing 57 Iraqi troops, Tehran radio reported citing IRNA. An Iraqi military communique carried by Baghdad radio claimed that 21 Iranians were killed in the northern battle sector, and 4 were killed in the Basra area.

Iranian Majlis Speaker 'Ali Akbar Hashemi-Rafsanjani told newsmen in New Delhi that Iranian forces would break any Iraqi blockade of Khark Island and that Iran may have to "intensify" the war, AFP reported.

SARBULAND SPEAKS ON DEFENSE OF REVOLUTION

[Speech by 'Abdol Majid Sarbuland, vice chairman of the Council of Ministers and minister of information and culture, at a political unity day meeting held on 11 August at the Ministry of Information and Culture -- recorded]

[Excerpts] Comrades and most dear colleagues: A revolution is valuable only when it can defend itself. Unfortunately, during the reign of Amin and his henchmen, serious difficulties were created for the Afghan revolution. You compatriots, you friends, you comrades, you dear colleagues witnessed that during the time of Amin and his henchmen serious difficulties were created, not only for the people of Afghanistan but, in the first instance, for the PDPA and the heroic Armed Forces of Afghanistan. Enemies have made great use of this shortcoming, this defeat and -- it must be clearly said -- this deviation. We will never view the power and capability of the enemy as trivial and we should not disregard it.

The hellish network of U.S. imperialism, especially the CIA, the veteran network of intelligence services, whether in Britain, Pakistan, Egypt with As-Sadat, Saudi Arabia or the petrodollar countries of the Gulf -- all of them have consolidated, with the collaboration of the hegemonists and mad visions of China, to make maximum use of the treachery that was created inside our party by these snakes in the grass against the Afghan revolution.

Unfortunately, due to this gap a number of our toiling people and noble compatriots were scared. You see, my comrades and noble compatriots, in the 2 years since the new development stage of the revolution our people have gradually realized what is meant by Mr Reagan's worshipping Islam -- when he holds the daughter of Sabghatulla Khan Mojadidi, one of the most corrupt and bloodthirsty people of this country, in his arms and sheds the blood of millions, including thousands of noble Muslims in Lebanon. This makes clear what is meant by Mr Reagan's worshipping Islam. These are the facts and nobody can deny them. Two nights ago and last night you saw what was going on in Lebanon, what was happening to innocent children, Muslims and Arabs -- these Palestinians who have been away from their homeland for years. Is Mr Reagan looking after Islam? Does Reagan shelter the daughter of Sebghatullah Khan because of Islam?

When we see the picture of an innocent child, Qays in (Sari-e Ghazni) -- you have seen on television how he and another child were martyred by a bomb that had been hidden secretly and evilly in a family house, the house of a poor and toiling family. Is this worshipping Islam?

My compatriots, have you not seen what crimes are being committed by the homeless rebels, the mercenary enemy and the 100- or 200-year-old enemy of the people of Afghanistan -- that is, the veteran British, U.S. imperialism and Gen Ziaul Haq, who has always been an enemy of Afghanistan.

As newsmen, you, comrades, have culture and knowledge. Can you show us an hour or a day since its creation that the corrupt regimes of Pakistan have behaved as a friend or lived in friendship with the people of Afghanistan?

Friends, let us acknowledge our friends and foes. Today, as a result of the correct and principled guidance of the PDPA, a situation has been created in Afghanistan whereby our people can see with their own eyes the treacherous and anti-Islamic actions of the rebels and these criminals.

On the other hand, the party and DRA Government -- through the blessings first of all of the people and toilers of Afghan cooperation and second the principled leadership of the PDPA and the heroism and courage of our heroic army, party comrades and patriotic people — have succeeded in crushing the hideouts of rebels in Afghanistan. Despite the hullabaloo broadcast by the imperialist propaganda network and other fabrication media, with your own eyes you can see that the peasants in Panjsher harvest their crops every night. The revolution defense comrades have close and fraternal cooperation with the people. You have seen this; the enemy cannot reject it. Whatever hullabaloo they broadcast, saying that there is unrest in Panjsher, I am telling you on behalf of the party and government that the enemy can no longer find a foothold in Panjsher. [applause]

The enemy can no longer find a position in Paghman. The enemy can no longer set foot in Marjeh, Helmand Province. These three most major routes of the enemy's communications and weapons transportation are no longer in his hands. In (Tora Bora) the enemy has been completely eliminated.

Dear friends and colleagues, in the whole of Afghanistan, in each province of Afghanistan, the locations that the enemy and the propaganda machinery of imperialism have always (?relied on) have been eliminated forever. Accordingly, a revolution has value when it can defend itself. We must defend our revolution and our homeland and we cannot hesitate in doing this. Friends, each individual of this homeland must serve in the military.

SOVIETS KILLED IN CLASHES AROUND QANDAHAR

GF151840 Karachi JASARAT in Urdu 13 Aug 82 p 10

[Excerpts] London, 12 Aug (AAP) -- Mujahidin raids, paricularly after sunset, increased around Qandahar soon after the 'Id. The guerrillas have also carried out certain operations within the city during daylight hours. During these raids, six Soviet and three Karmal soldiers were killed and two tanks and one military vehicle were destroyed, The Soviet helicopter gunships bombed the (Kunrigan) suburb of the Qandahar city, killing 11 citizens and two mujahidin guerrillas. The Soviet soldiers have been searching private homes and women's quarters. During one search, when resistance was offered, Soviet soldiers killed one citizen and arrested three others.

According to an Afghan Agency Press report, mujahidin destroyed a military post set up in the Qandahar teachers training school, destroyed one Soviet tank and one Soviet rocket launcher with its four operators. The Soviet soldiers, who were taken by surprise by the mujahidin, opened indiscriminate fire and killed 10 citizens at this point. Two mujahidin were killed during this skirmish.

Soon after the guerrilla attack on the Qandahar teachers training school, Soviet helicopter gunships bombed the (Kunrigan) suburb of Qandahar. Later, a large number of Soviet soldiers surrounded the suburb and began a house-to-house search for the guerrillas, who had disappeared before the Soviets began their search.

[Excerpts] Member of Yugoslav Presidency Radovan Vlajkovic was accorded a warm welcome on his arrival in Dacca this morning on a 3-day official visit to Bangladesh. As the Yugoslav special aircraft carrying Vlajkovic and his five-member entourage landed at the Zia International Airport, President Assanuddin Chowdhury and Chief Martial Law Administrator Lt Gen H.M. Ershad received the honorable guest amidst a 21-gun salute. After the ceremonial guard of honor, the members of the Council of Ministers and diplomats were introduced to the distinguished guest.

Later, Radovan Vlajkovic called on President Assanuddin Chowdhury at Banga Bahavan [President house]. The Bangladesh president is hosting a banquet in honor of the Yugoslav guest tonight.

Banquet Speeches

BK170938 DACCA Domestic Service in English 0145 GMT 17 Aug 82

[Text] The Yugoslav Presidency member Radovan Vlajkovic has highly appreciated the active and principal role played by Bangladesh in the Nonaligned Movement and its contributions to overcoming the problems facing the movement today. He was speaking at a banquet hosted in his honor by President Assanuddin Chowdhury in Dacca last night. The Yugoslav leader said the members of the Nonaligned Movement are making efforts to ensure successful holding of the forthcoming summit. This demonstrates the vitality and strength of the movement and its capability to surmount difficulties threatening to impede its task and aims.

Referring to bilateral relations, Vlajkovic said he is particularly glad to point out that cooperation and friendly relations between Bangladesh and Yugoslavia have been developing to the mutual benefit and in the spirit of the authentic principles of nonaligned policy. He also recalled that Bangladesh and Yugoslavia are linked by bonds of strong and traditional friendship based on common goals in the struggle to strengthen world peace and cooperation in the movement of nonaligned countries. The Yugoslav leader said there is a constant upward trend in the bilateral relations of our two friendly and nonaligned countries. Although we note successful development in our cooperation in all fields, there is a greater possibility of further economic cooperation between them.

Turning to international relations, he said the accelerated arms race is increasingly becoming a factor of overall instability, pressure and domination. We deem it necessary to continue to intensify international activities on averting the threat inherent in the arms race and at opening real prospects of general and complete disarmament.

Vlajkovic said the struggle to establish a new international economic order is increasingly becoming one of the major fields of activities of the nonaligned and developing countries. Their solidarity and concerted appraoch will help in attaining the coveted goal and assuring an early launching of global negotiations in this respect.

Earlier, welcoming the Yugoslav leader, President Assanuddin Chowdhury expressed the conviction that the spirit of the Nonaligned Movement will be rekindled in its forthcoming summit and endeavors will be pooled by all concerned to achieve the common goals of the Nonaligned Movement. He said both Bangladesh and Yugoslavia are united in their determination to preserve peace and stability in the world. Together, mutually supporting each other, we hope to march along the path of progress, he added.

On the situation in Lebanon, President Assanuddin Chowdhury viewed with great concern the continued instransigence of Israel and said the flagrant injustice and naked aggression being perpetuated with impunity by the Zionist entity against the Palestinians had led to the crisis in the Middle East. He also reiterated Bangladesh's deep conviction that there can be no fair and lasting solution to the problem without a total and unconditional withdrawal of all Israeli forces from all occupied territories, including Lebanon. Such a solution is also not possible without the restoration of the inalienable right of the Palestinians to a state of their own.

Referring to the fratricidal war between Iran and Iraq, the president said he expressed his deep anguish and said it is our fervent prayer and hope that out of the sorrow and pains of this war an enduring structure of peace will be rebuilt.

Turning to Africa, he said: While we rejoice at the emergence of independent Zimbabwe, our joys were overshadowed by our distress at the continued perpetuation of injustice in Namibia and Azania. There, human dignity is being barbarously trampled by racialism. We not only condemn it in unequivocal terms but also extend our unflinching support to the struggle of these people for their freedom.

The banquet was attended among others by Chief Martial Law Administrator Lt Gen H.M. Ershad, Deputy Martial Law Administrators Rear Adm M.A. Khan and Air Vice Marshal Sultan Mahmud, ministers, Chief Justice Abdul Munim, Ataur Rahman Khan and high-ranking civil and military officials.

NO-CONFIDENCE MOTION DEFEATED; GANDHI REMARKS

[Excerpt] The no-confidence motion against the union Council of Ministers was defeated in the Lok Sabha by 327 to 110 votes last night. Intervening in the debate on the motion, the prime minister charged the opposition with irresponsibility and utter disregard for the norms of democracy. In a hard hitting speech, Mrs Gandhi said the opposition has, by bringing the motion, merely wasted the time of the house and the money of the exchequer. She said the so-called left in India has abandoned its principle and ideal and joined the right reactionaries. The left is supporting the Bharatiya Janata Party and the Rashitrya Swayamsevak Sangh and giving them respectibility in the hope that this will weaken and destroy the Congress-I. But, she said it was the Congress which brought independence to India and honor and progress to the country. It is the congress which is trying against tremendous odds to preserve our culture while modernizing the country.

The prime minister rebutted the opposition arguments point by point during the 9-hour stormy debate. She asserted that self-reliance continues to be the government's basic policy and denied that the economy is being opened to foreign capital. She said only the acquisition of sophisticated technology is being allowed.

Referring to Tarapur, the prime minister made it clear that work on the technical development of an alternative fuel will be continued; its use in future is not precluded. India retains her right to reprocess the spent fuel without any further consultation.

She pointed out that millions of people have been lifted above the poverty line, though poverty still remains a challenge.

Finance Minister Defends Policy

BK161255 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1230 GMT 16 Aug 82

[Excerpt] Finance Minister Pranab Mukherjee has refuted the opposition charge that the government is diluting the concept of self-reliance or veering from direction of socialistic path. He was intervening in the debate on the no-confidence motion in the Lok Sabha today. Mukherjee said massive investments in major sectors of the economy like agriculture, power, irrigation and the public sector as a whole give the lie to allegations that the government was sliding back from the principles of self-sufficiency.

Justifying the government's industrial and import policy, the finance minister said the available capacity of production will be utilized to boost exports. The liberalization of imports has also been done with the same end in view. At the same time, one-third of the total industrial production is being maintained from the small and medium sectors. This highlights the government's unrelenting effort to strengthen these sectors, he said.

Countering the argument that there is general recession, Mukherjee quoted statistics to point out that the industrial climate has shown tremendous promise and the industrial sector has registered a growth of 7.4 percent in the first quarter of the current financial year.

GANDHI CRITICAL OF OPPOSITION POLICIES

BK131607 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1530 GMT 13 Aug 82

[Text] The Congress-I parliamentary party has expressed happiness at the prime minister's successful U.S. visit. In a resolution adopted today it hailed the visit as an unparalleled success politically and personally for Mrs Gandhi. The visit was undertaken at a time when the India-U.S. relations had reached a delicate stage. The resolution says the statesmanship of the prime minister has once again enabled to brighten the horizons of the relations. [sentence as heard]

The general body of the party held a meeting as the monsoon session of the parliament is coming to close. Briefing newsmen, the party's general secretary, Lakappa, said that the prime minister in her valedictory address criticized the rule being played by the opposition parties. She said the opposition has never placed before the country any constructive program. She also pointed out that the opposition parties are breaking themselves.

Referring to the no-confidence motion, Mrs Gandhi said the opposition had always chosen the time to bring such motions against the government either before or after her visit abroad. She said the country's achievements have been appreciated in international forums as well as by developing and developed countries.

Turning to party affairs, Mrs Gandhi stressed the need for greater unity and discipline. She expressed concern over the tendency of partymen publicly criticizing chief ministers and other ministers. Mrs Gandhi categorically denied her hand in the removal or appointment of any chief minister.

Referring to press reports, Mrs Gandhi said some incidents which are reported as communal or caste turned out to be purely political or economic in nature. She asked her partymen to look into these matters and place the correct picture before the public.

[Text] Soviet Vice President Imashev has reiterated that Soviet troops in Afghanistan will be withdrawn the moment there is no threat of foreign aggression in that country. Talking to newsmen in Chandigarh today, he said the government and the people of Afghanistan can only decide whether such a danger exists or not.

Asked to comment on American arms supply to Pakistan, he said Prime Minister Mrs Gandhi has rightly expressed her views about the issue.

Referring to the trade between India and his country, he said the volume is increasing every year and it is the highest among the developing countries.

IRANIAN VISITORS ON NONALIGNED, OTHER TOPICS

Havana Meeting

LD152108 Tehran IRNA in English 1934 GMT 15 Aug 82

["Baghdad Groping for Alternative Face-Saving Moves" -- IRNA headline]

[Text] New Delhi, Aug 15, IRNA -- The victorious and successive operations of the Islamic defenders in the battlefronts, have been the principal reason for the change in venue of the non-aligned summit conference, said Kazempur-Ardabili, the international affairs undersecretary of Iran's Foreign Ministry, currently in India as a member of a high-ranking mission from Iran.

Baghdad has thus suffered another set-back in the wake of a visit here by a top-ranking delegation of Iran headed by Iran's Majlis speaker Hashemi-Rafsanjani and the India's agreement to host the 7th non-aligned summit conference.

The Iranian Foreign Ministry official said that in a vain effort for regaining a lost reputation, Saddam had now volunteered to host the extraordinary assembly of the foreign ministers of the non-aligned countries in Baghdad. But he noted that the said conference would not be held there for precisely the same reasons that had removed Baghdad as host to the non-aligned summit conference.

Kazempur-Ardabili then announced that Iran would attend the session of the non-aligned conference to be held on Aug 21 and 22 in Havana "now that Baghdad would be unsafe site for the conference," said he, "but that to let it host the conference would be implicit support for one who had violated the principles of the Non-aligned Movement."

Trade Talks

[Text] New Delhi, Aug 16 (IRNA) -- The position of Iran versus convening the non-aligned foreign ministers conference in Baghdad was outlined by the deputy foreign minister of international affairs, Mr Kazempur-Ardabili, a member of the Iranian mission visiting India in a meeting with ambassadors of the non-aligned member countries in New Delhi Sunday.

At the meeting, held in the residence of the Iranian delegation, Ardabili delineated the conditions of Iran for ending the war. The deputy foreign minister also emphasised the necessity for unity and strengthening of the Non-aligned Movement for the implementation of its policies. He called on the ambassadors to support the position of the Islamic Republic of Iran.

In another development, the Iranian deputy minister of commerce met and conferred with the Indian minister of commerce. Existing problems of trade exchange between Iran and India were discussed and proposals for further expansion of commercial relations were reviewed.

The upcoming visit of the Indian minister of commerce to Iran at the invitation of his Iranian counterpart was also studied. The Indian minister announced the readiness of his country to grant any assistance to Iran to remove the war stricken areas. He also expressed hope that an Iran-India trade agreement would be signed during his visit to Iran.

Atomic Power Program

[Text] Iran favors the nonaligned summit to be held in India. This was stated by speaker of the Iranian parliament Rafsanjani at a press conference in New Delhi today. He said if India wants more time, it has the right to ask for that. He said that the nonaligned foreign ministers conference to settle the venue cannot be held in Baghdad as the place is not safe. If it is held there, Iran will not participate.

Rafsanjani told newsmen that his country has sought India's help for its atomic power program. He said that Iran is ready to pay compensation to any Indian national whose property has been destroyed in the Iran-Iraq war.

Nonaligned Ministers Meeting

[Excerpts] New Delhi, Aug 16 (AFP) -- Iran today announced it might intensify its 23-month-old war with Iraq and said it was opposed to holding a non-aligned foreign ministers meeting to decide on a new venue for the movement's summit in the Iraqi capital, Baghdad.

Visiting speaker of the Iranian parliament Hojjat ol-Eslam Hashemi-Rafsanjani told newsmen here today that the meeting was an "Iraqi trick" to get Baghdad endorsed as the venue for the eighth non-aligned summit in 1985.

"We are opposed to any kind of meeting in Baghdad...not only the foreign ministers level meeting, but also the 1985 summit," he said before leaving for home at the conclusion of his six-day visit to India.

Mr Rafsanjani said Iran was well prepared to face any "Iraqi threat" and might in fact intensify its war against Iraq.

He was reacting to the defiant announcement last night by Iraqi President Saddan Husayn of a total blockade of Iran's main oil terminal on Khark Island.

Mr Husayn had informed Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi earlier this month that Iraq would accept New Delhi as the venue for the seventh summit if the 90-odd members of the movement agreed that Baghdad be the venue for the eighth in 1935.

Mr Rafsanjani, who is Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeyni's representative in the all-powerful Iranian Defence Council, reiterated his government's support of New Delhi as an alternative venue.

Meanwhile, highly placed diplomatic sources here said New Delhi was finding the Iranian insistence that the foreign ministers meeting not be held in Baghdad a "little embarassing".

New Delhi has yet to announce its stand publicly but the sources said India was in favour of at least holding the foreign ministers meeting in Baghdad.

Speaking on the Iraqi-Iranian conflict, Mr Rafsanjani said Iranian forces would break any Iraqi blockade of the Khark Island, situated in the northeast of the Gulf, from where Iran exports the bulk of its oil.

"The island is protected by very sophisticated weapons.... We are not at all worried by the Iraqi threat," he said.

Observers had said that the Iraqi threat to blockade the island and to "strike (at) all essential and vital Iranian targets" was Iraq's first attempt to take the initiative since Iranian troops stormed into Iraqi territory east of Basra a month ago.

They suggested that the move was prompted by Iraq's failure topush back the Iranian soldiers and by President Husayn's decision -- under pressure -- to drop plans to hold the non-aligned summit in Baghdad.

Mr Rafsanjani said that Iraqi troops were still holding four strategic hills inside Iranian territory and said his forces might have to intensify the war. "Our conclusion is that the war cannot be stopped by negotiation.... Our soldiers will win it," he said.

Speaking about the possibility of Indo-Iranian nuclear cooperation, Mr Rafsanjani said his country wished to meet its nuclear needs from India to reduce dependence on Western countries. No immediate Indian reaction on possible nuclear cooperation was available.

MEDIA HAIL PRIME MINISTER GANDHI'S VISIT TO U.S.

Leads to Warmth, Understanding

BK071427 Delhi General Overseas Service in English 1340 GMT 7 Aug 82

[Commentary by C.S. Pandit, bureau chief of AMRITA BAZAR PATRIKA]

[Text] Prime Minister Mrs Indira Gandhi's just concluded visit to the United States has been most satisfactory, according to her own statement on arrival at the Delhi Airport. She also expressed the hope that the improvement in the relations between the two countries as a result of her visit would be durable. Obviously, the visit has led to a qualitative change in Indo-U.S. relations from the estrangement of the past decade to warmth and willingness to understand each other. It began with modest expectations from both sides. There was no attempt from either side to ignore differences in policies and perceptions. What is more significant is that it is now accepted that such differences are inevitable given the historical and geographic realities and the national and global goals and priority shaping them.

As the prime minister often pointed out during the visit, it was not meant to solve any problems, nor to seek aid but to explain India's position on a variety of issues and remove misconceptions as regards attitudes and motivations. Thus, the prime minister's attempt, begun at Cancun, to achieve a meeting of minds, has succeeded in placing Indo-U.S. relations on a stable and mature footing. These are the immediate reactions to the outcome of the visit which was widely publicised in the media in both countries. It has no doubt aroused wide expectations after a decade of tenuous relationship. Whether these expectations would be fulfilled would now depend on how the day to day relations between the two countries shape in the coming months.

One thing that stands out is that for the first time during her three visits to the United States as India's prime minister, Mrs Gandhi was able to have her say without any specific issue casting its ominous shadow on the talks. Her visit soon after she became prime minister followed the unpopular devaluation of the rupee under Western pressure. The second visit in 1971 was a bigger disaster with over 10 million [as heard] refugees from what was then east Pakistan on India's soil and Pakistan's threatening to go to war in confident hope of U.S. backing in the wake of the famous Nixon tilt. This time, too, the USA has committed huge military aid to Pakistan. But India is confident of meeting any eventuality even though it is still concerned about the inevitable deterioration in India's security environment. These are realities of the international situation which India has learned to take in its stride. For once, there was no attempt from the American side either to pressure India to conform to its own global assurances that the arms that were being given to Pakistan would not be used against India. In other words, there is a greater realism on both sides in dealing with each other.

This is also apparent from the solution which has been found to the problem of the fuel supply to Tarapur, an issue which has soured relations between the two countries in the past few years. Until a few months ago, there was no indication that the USA was willing to find such a solution through a third party involvement. While differences persist between the two sides on reprocessing of the spent fuel stored at Tarapur, they have not been allowed to stand in the way of this trilateral arrangement with France for continuing supply of enriched uranium for Tarapur. This is clearly indicative of desire on the part of President Reagan and his administration to find solutions to problems that had stood in the way of a normal healthy relationship between the two countries. That was also reflected in the reported appreciation in Washington now that India was not tied to the Soviet Union for its defense and that its efforts to diversify its sources of defense supplies was to retain its independence. It was also conveyed in no uncertain terms to the USA that India was not interested in buying sophisticated weapons if it cannot simultaneously acquire technology to produce them ultimately. That naturally rules out any deal with the United States for sophisticated warplanes even though reports kept appearing in the American media of possible sale of such planes to India. All this has gone a long way toward removing some of the misgivings in Washington about India's defense links with the Soviet Union. At the same time, the Indian prime minister has left no doubt that it values its friendship with the Soviet Union and would not allow it to be affected in any way by its efforts to improve relations with other countries like the United States or even China.

One thing that should have become clear to the policy planners in Washington after this visit is that India is willing to have a warm and working relationship with the United States on the basis of equality and mutuality of interests but not on the basis of conformity as was expected of it by Washington in the past. There is also an encouraging indication from both sides to understand and appreciate each other's compulsions in the context of their overall national or global interest.

Public Relations Success

BK141516 Delhi INDIAN EXPRESS in English 7 Aug 82 p 6

[Article by Ajit Bhattacharjea: "A Successful Visit"]

[Text] Judging from the coverage of and comments on Mrs Gandhi's visit to the United States in the media of both countries, it has been an undoubted success. Now the time has come to take a hard look at the achievements so that we expect neither too little nor too much in future.

Primarily, it was a success as an exercise in summit-level public relations. This is not to dismiss the achievements as unsubstantial. After the kind of sympathetic projection President Reagan and Mrs Gandhi received in the media of both countries, their future actions will not be judged in the black and white terms they were before. Even when the two governments differ, they will now presumably try to understand the other's point of view rather than treat it as hostile.

Mrs Gandhi contributed considerably to this achievement. To a journalist who covered her first visit to the United States as prime minister in 1966, the improvement in her ability to handle the media can only be described as phenomenal.

I recall her inability or unwillingness at the time to go beyond "yes", "no" or "maybe" in reply to the most leading questions. She showed no sign of the experienced politician's flair for turning the most unsympathetic question to advantage by making it as an opportunity to get her own point of view across. Or alternatively, of answering a hostile question with the kind of quick repartee that arouses admiration rather than creates embarrassment.

For instance, there was nothing then like the prompt "we stand upright" in response to a question asking which way India tilted. The appreciative laughter came through clearly even on the radio. It cut off any further inconvenient questions about her government's relations with the Soviet Union.

This made it possible for the prime minister to persist with the central theme that close relations with one superpower need not come in the way of establishing similar relations with the other. It may not have been necessary to state this repeatedly a few years ago. But with the Reagan administration returning to the John Foster Dulles policy of attempting to isolate the Soviet Union in every way, it needed renewed emphasis.

Excellent public relations on the American side also softened the image of President Reagan. He no longer appeared to be an innocent and ignorant cowboy actor thrust into the most powerful office in the world. He is clearly a good learner. But it would be too much to expect him to revise his attitude towards Moscow because of his talks with Mrs Gandhi. Nor did any report suggest that he was able to persuade the prime minister to change her views.

The announcement of the Tarapur compromise formula was the keystone of the exercise in public relations. It contributed the specific agreement that gave weight and credibility to the diplomatic fluff of adulatory speeches that usually mark such summit meetings. Yet it was obvious that the main terms of the agreement had been worked out in advance, though some crucial details remained to be settled. The timing of the announcement was a superb piece of public relations by the President. He managed to convert an embarrassment into an apparent concession.

On this issue, in fact, New Delhi has shown much more patience and forbearance than Washington. Once the Americans stopped regular supply of nuclear fuel to India, and thus broke a formal agreement, it was open to New Delhi to obtain the fuel from any other source and take steps to reprocess the spent fuel. But even though Tarapur was forced to operate at half its capacity to conserve fuel, these steps were not taken. Instead, it was decided to develop an indigenous fuel for Tarapur called MOX (mixed fuel cycle) on which large amounts of money have been spent, so as to be free or foreign restrictions. This may now prove to be a waste.

The agreement to permit India to obtain the fuel from France, therefore, does not represent a U.S. concession. It only represents an ingenuous way of getting around the contradiction into which the United States had locked itself by giving its nuclear non-proliferation act, passed in 1978, retrospective effect over an international agreement on Tarapur signed 15 years earlier, while retaining the restrictive terms of the 1963 agreement.

The U.S. act seeks to prevent the supply of nuclear material to any country that does not accept "full-scope" safeguards, in other words, international inspection of all its nuclear facilities. While accepting such safeguards for Tarapur, New Delhi refused to allow inspection of indigenously-built reactors and other facilities. To do so would go against the stand India has consistently taken -- that it was unfair and discriminatory for the nuclear powers to insist on others accepting inspection and other safeguards against the diversion of nuclear fuel to military purposes when they were not willing to accept any such limitation themselves.

It remains to be seen how the U.S. Congress reacts to this way of getting around legislation it had adopted. Sharp disagreement has emerged on India's right to reprocess spent fuel, a vital process for its future programmes. A way has to be found to provide the spares urgently needed by Tarapur without infringing U.S. legislation. Only when these problems have been resolved, and the terms on which France agrees to supply the low grade enriched uranium fuel needed are known, can the future of Tarapur and that of India's nuclear development plans be assured. The fact remains, all the same, that the Reagan administration has been able to come out with a formula with Mrs Gandhi's co-operation to resolve an issue that has been souring Indo-U.S. relations. This indicates that President Reagan is now placing a value on achieving good relations with India that he did not seem to earlier. And the prime minister is responding.

Many factors must have contributed to this shift. One is the inevitable education a new entrant to the White House receives on the facts of international relations. Shades of grey replace initial black and white attitudes to countries and individuals. The fact that India remains a stable element in an unstable region must have registered. And the fact that it is limiting its dependence on the Soviet Union for arms, and does not side with it on all occasions, must have also made it seem worth cultivating.

Another possible element in Washington's strategy is the deterioration in its relations with Beijing. The U.S. decision to continue supplying arms to Taiwan continues to create friction. Reports of moves to bridge the gulf between Beijing and Moscow may also have persuaded the White House to seek alternative options in its Asian strategy.

Nobody suggests that common democratic values play a role in determining the direction of American investments abroad. The renewed interest shown in the United States towards investing in India is more the outcome of the steps taken by New Delhi to liberalise its restrictions on industry than of anything said by Mrs Gandhi.

In this recital of achievements at the public relations level, we should not lose sight of the fact that there was no sign of the Reagan administration modifying its foreign policy in areas where it clashes with India's interests. The decision to sell sophisticated arms to Pakistan remains in spite of the prime minister's repeated protests that they can only be used against India. Nor is there any sign of the two governments coming closer in their policies on Afghanistan, Kampuchea or the Indian Ocean. And, finally, American officials did not seem to be persuaded by Mrs Gandhi's stress on the need for continuing multilateral foreign assistance.

Well-Defined Aims Achieved

BK091241 Delhi NATIONAL HERALD in English 4 Aug 82 p 7

[Editorial: "Mrs Gandhi's U.S. Visit"]

[Text] Prime Minister Indira Gandhi went to Washington with two well-defined aims: first, to establish personal rapport with President Reagan and try to remove the many misgivings concerning India which seemed to assail him, and, second, to start a process of reassessment in the U.S. administration of India's role in this region. Both these aims seem to have been achieved. On the other hand, despite obviously inspired previsit leaks, she did not intend either to clinch deals or to counterbalance any alleged Soviet pressure by establishing an American connection. If the Tarapur nuclear fuel deal came through, it was entirely America's choice. In fact, many believe it was smart of American diplomacy to make a face-saving device look like a concession.

At the time of independence, Jawaharlal Nehru, laying down the parameters of our foreign policy, declared that while India need not inherit Britain's prejudice against the Soviet Union, she must not on any account neglect the world's second largest democracy. It is in pursuance of this long-term policy that successive Indian prime ministers have tried to make sure, by personal visits and in other ways, that India's desire for American friendship is appreciated. Yet it is an irony that successive American administrations need to be convinced about this. President Truman tried to understand but was foxed by the newness of the concept of non-alignment. President Eisenhower, advised by John Foster Dulles, seemed to think that there was nothing to understand and that anyone who was not for you was obviously against you. Of the recent presidents, Kennedy and Carter tried, but Johnson and Nixon let the needs of global power politics mould the policy towards India. President Reagan seemed to be following the Johnson-Nixon line with a vengeance. To the extent that Mrs Gandhi has shown him how India despite her different policy perspectives is not an enemy but a friend of the USA, her mission would be deemed successful.

Coming events will show if, and how far, U.S. appreciation of Indian policy perspectives has changed. Will we continue to be accused of a pro-Soviet bias because we refuse to overlook the non-Soviet foreign armed interference in Afghanistan? Will we be regarded as an obstacle to the American strategic consensus if we point out that next generation weapons in the hands of Pakistan are bound to endanger India as they have always done? Lastly, do we have to continue to point out that support for military and other dictatorships to the detriment of democratic societies is incompatible with the interests of world peace and progress?

India's Perceptions Upheld

[Editorial: "India-U.S. Perception"]

[Text] Even before the prime minister's return from her visit to the United States, the wide chasm between Indian and American perceptions of a number of major bilateral and international issues has come to the surface. This is not at all surprising because Mrs. Gandhi had not gone to the U.S. to change this country's carefully formulated and time-tested policies, nor did the prime minister aspire to alter Washington's attitudes. The visit was undertaken primarily to strive for a better understanding of this country's viewpoint in the United States and this the prime minister tried to do in a dignified and forthright manner. On no important issue has Mrs. Gandhi left any room for ambiguity. Her statements have been so candid that they do not lend themselves to any distortion by those who may be tempted to do so. The prime minister's categorical remark on Washington's support for Israel in the context of its current invasion of Lebanon is an eloquent illustration of her straight forward presentation of Indian viewpoint. She did not hesitate to underline the fact that most of the arms being used by Israel were supplied by the U.S. and it could have done a good deal more given the influence of the American President, its government and its people have on Tel Aviv. Without mincing words, Mrs. Gandhi expressed her concern that the level of confrontation in the world had grown to very dangerous proportions. Implicit in this observation was the prime minister's disapproval of all such steps which exacerbate international tension.

It was but natural that many questions should have been directed at the prime minister about Indo-Soviet friendship. Mrs. Gandhi's replies reflected correctly the spirit of this country's foreign policy which aims at strengthening this bond and seeks more friendships; but not at the cost of existing ties. "We value Soviet friendship and we will not give it up," the prime minister observed forcefully. In fact, Mrs. Gandhi displayed remarkable alertness when she dealt with questions pertaining to Soviet arms. India, she said, took into account the factor of cost and transfer of technology in making decisions in this regard. But, in order to leave no room for interested propaganda, she added with considerable force "Soviet weapons bought by India had performed well." On Afghanistan also the prime minister did not yield from the well-known Indian position that not only Soviet troops should be withdrawan from that country, but all other forms of interference, which we know are taking place, should be ended.

On two crucial questions of direct concern to India -- reprocessing of spent fuel at Tarapur and supply of U.S. arms to Pakistan -- Mrs. Gandhi unflinchingly reiterated the Indian viewpoint. She made it clear that the claim that American arms were being supplied to Pakistan for use against the Soviet Union was totally untenable and that this country has the right to reprocess spent fuel and would not give to any other country the right to veto in this matter. In fact, even while elucidating the government's policies in regard to foreign investment, Mrs. Gandhi made it clear to American industrialists and businessmen that liberalisation had been undertaken not because of the World Bank's advice, but because the government thought that it was necessary for the country's future growth. In our democratic policy, there is room for debate and difference on the government's policies, but all political parties must give to the prime minister the credit for upholding steadfastly the right of this country to adhere to its own perception even when she was engaged in the delicate exercise of removing misconceptions about India's position on various questions in the United States.

EXPRESS COMMENTS ON WORLD BANK, IDA ASSISTANCE

BK151531 Delhi INDIAN EXPRESS in English 5 Aug 82 p 6

[Editorial: "Small Comfort"]

[Text] Comforting as is, the assurance given by the World Bank president, Mr A.W. Clausen, to Mrs Gandhi, it is no cause for elation. He has promised to try and enhance the bank's overall assistance to India or at least ensure that it is maintained at the current level. Obviously, Mr Clausen is not sure whether the first part of his promise will be fulfilled. The hestitant note reflects no lack of appreciation of India's record of aid utilisation in the past and its need for continuing assistance, but the bank's own financial contraints. India's creditworthiness is not in question as it has never defaulted on loan repayment. Moreover, external assistance has been used for legitimate purposes such as strengthening infrastructure, modernisation of agriculture and population control. But much more remains to be done.

The ambitious long-term goals set in vital areas like power generation, oil exploration, irrigation, afforestation, and expansion and modernisation of core sector industries and services, cannot be achieved without substantial mobilisation of funds. India, therefore, has a compelling case for increased assistance from the World Bank, and particularly from its concessional lending facility, the International Development Association [IDA].

Unfortunately, loan prospects have not been too bright in recent years due to the unresponsive attitude of the donor countries, particularly the United States. The Reagan administration has pruned and staggered its contributions to the IDA's sixth replenishment resulting in a severe constraint on its lending capacity. The situation was saved to some extent by other donors honouring their commitments rather than following the U.S. example. Nonetheless, the total pledged for disbursement in the current year has fallen nearly one billion dollars short of expectations.

India, IDA's largest beneficiary, has been hurt the most. Though the World Bank promised to make good the loss through normal credits, these have a shorter repayment period and a substantially higher rate of interest compared to IDA loans. Maybe, India will have to lean more heavily on this costlier option. But the prospects may dim further because China has staked its claim for IDA assistance under the seventh replenishment next year. India's plea that a reduction in concessional aid at this stage would penalise its relative success has fallen on deaf ears. This situation has compelled the country to abandon its self-denying ordinance against using the Asian Development Bank's credit facility. It intends to draw nearly two billion dollars from the ADB over a five-year period beginning in 1983. This should not pose any problem for other entitled borrowers if the U.S. and other donors agree to a proposed increase in their contributions to the ADB. In any case, the constrictive aid climate is a compelling reason for India to improve and expedite implementation of developmental programmes and intensify its export effort.

[Text] The finance minister says the government will not hesitate to invite foreign investment if it is to our advantage. Pranab Mukherjee told the Lok Sabha today that the government is very selective about foreign investment. Foreign investment is now allowed in high technology areas, export oriented industries and some identified industries which help in raising overall production. Within this overall framework, steps are now being initiated to speed up the investment clearance procedure.

OIL INDUSTRY PROBLEMS LEAD TO MORE IMPORTS

BK101132 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0830 GMT 10 Aug 82

[Text] The country will have to import an additional 2 million tons of petroleum products this year. The preliminary estimate of import was about 4 million tons. Petroleum Minister P. Shiv Shankar informed the Lok Sabha that this is mainly because of the industrial relations problems in the refinery of the Bharat Petroleum Corporation in Bombay till June this year. The work at a secondary crude processing unit was also hampered. There was also some delay in the completion of the secondary processing unit in Mathura and Koyali refineries, the minister added.

YAQUB KHAN OUTLINES FOREIGN POLICY OBJECTIVES

BK161636 Karachi Domestic Service in Urdu 1500 GMT 16 Aug 82

[Text] Foreign Minister Sahabzada Yaqub Khan has said that Pakistan is following a policy of peace and friendship with all countries on the basis of sovereign equality. In an interview with a Rawalpindi weekly in which he explained the important ingredients of Pakistan's foreign policy, he said Pakistan will not yield to any country's threat to its sovereignty, territorial integrity and independence. The foreign minister said the supreme objective of a country's foreign policy is to defend its borders and promote the economic progress of its people. He said: With this aim in mind Pakistan has worked to create an atmosphere of peace and stability in the region.

The foreign minister said Pakistan, as an ideological state, has alway tried to promote the interest of the Islamic community and strengthen relations with the Islamic states. Pakistan has demanded right from the beginning the restoration of all occupied Arab areas including Jerusalem to Arab sovereignty and has stressed the Palestinians' right of self-determination, including the establishment of an independent Palestine state.

The foreign minister said Pakistan, as a member of the Nonaligned Movement, has always endeavored to maintain the independent status of the movement. Pakistan is opposed to neocolonialism, apartheid, domination and hegemony in all forms and manifestations.

The foreign minister said the United Nations, the Islamic Conference Organization and the Nonaligned Movement have strongly supported Pakistan's stand regarding the Afghanistan issue.

On relations with India, Sahabzada Yaqub Khan said Pakistan has proposed a no-war pact to India, keeping in mind its policy of peace and friendship. He said Pakistan sincerely belives and hopes its relations with India will be promoted on the basis of mutual confidence.

The foreign minister said Pakistan has good relations with the Soviet Union in the economic and technical fields. He said with the signing of the economic aid and military sales package Pakistan and the United States have entered into a new phase of bilateral cooperation.

ELECTIONS TO LOCAL BODIES SET FOR SEPTEMBER 1983

BK170930 Karachi Overseas Service in Urdu 0800 GMT 17 Aug 82

[Text] Preparations have begun at all levels for holding local bodies' elections in September next year. This was stated by the federal minister for local government and rural developments, Syed Fak Imam, while he was talking to newsmen at the national center for rural development in Islamabad this morning. He said that, as a first step, work on delimiting electoral constituencies has been started because several new districts have been set up. He said these elections will be held on a nonparty basis and almost the same modalities which were adopted earlier will be followed this time.

[Text] Colombo, Aug 13, IRNA -- Mr Shaykh ol-Eslam, the deputy foreign minister of the Islamic Republic of Iran, arrived here late this afternoon after talks with Pakistani officials concerning the upcoming non-aligned summit meeting.

Later he met with the Sri Lankan deputy foreign minister and expressed the views of the Islamic Republic in respect to the (change in venue of the non-aligned conference) from Baghdad to another country, and the issue of the Iraqi imposed war. Mr. Shaykh ol-Eslam will meet with the Sri Lanka president Saturday and will present to him a message from President Khamene'i. The Sri Lankan foreign minister is currently on a foreign visit.

Other delegations from the Islamic Republic are touring Latin American, African, Middle Eastern and Asian, nonaligned countries to declare Iran's position on the nonaligned summit meeting which is to be held later this summer.

Hands Message to President

[Text] Tehran, Aug 15, IRNA -- The political undersecretary of the Iranian Foreign Ministry, Mr Shaykh ol-Eslam, in a meeting with the Sri Lankan president, Junius Richard Jayewardene, on Saturday morning, presented to him a written message from President Khamene'i of the Islamic Republic.

In this meeting, the Sri Lankan president stated that his country was beside Iran in the Non-aligned Movement and that "I believe Iraq should not have attacked Iran".

Shaykh ol-Eslam in reply said that Iran was opposed to the holding of the non-aligned foreign ministers meeting in Iraq just for the same reasons that it was against convening of the non-aligned summit conference in Baghdad. Therefore, the foreign ministers assembly too, should be convened somewhere else, he said, adding that otherwise a number of progressive member countries of the movement would refuse to attend the session.

At the end of the visit, negotiations were conducted around the possibilities of expanding bilateral cooperation between Iran and Sri Lanka.

JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUE 1,018 DETAILS FIGHTING

LD161802 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 16 Aug 82

[Communique No 1,018 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. In the operational sector in the western part of the country Islam's forces continue their efforts to clear up roads and areas of minefields and boobytraps, while consolidating defensive positions and developing their position. Simultaneously with these efforts, our combative units are pounding enemy positions and fortifications with artillery and mortar fire, preventing Iraqi forces from redeploying. In the western part of the country over the past 24 hours our artillery units caused substantial damage to an enemy border post, brought one supply route under heavy fire and halted traffic by the hirelings' vehicles.

Powerful artillery of the Islamic army aimed at enemy encampments and concentration points in the (Rushan), Panjwin, (Dyarah) and Tutman regions silenced enemy artillery fire, destroyed five bunkers, one artillery piece and several warfare stores, and killed or wounded at least 25 Saddamists.

In the operational sector in the southern part of the country the ever-victorious warriors of the army of monotheism had all enemy land activity under control and prevented Iraqi forces from carrying out engineering, armor and infantry activity, silencing active enemy artillery. In addition, enemy air aggression against border areas in the western and southern parts of the country was neutralized with tactical measures by fighter aircraft of the Islamic Republic of Iran and by air defense fire, forcing intruding aircraft to flee.

Combative units of the navy and the gendarmerie of the Islamic Republic of Iran stationed along the Arvand Rud continually maintained total vigilance over the Iraqi forces' activity on the other side of the river, and by firing on their positions prevented them from digging trenches, building fortifications and moving about.

Yesterday the hirelings of Saddam's criminal army directed fire at residential areas in Abadan and destroyed three buildings and martyred or wounded a number of our compatriots.

[Signed] The Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran

MUSAVI-ARDEBILI'S SERMON ON GAINS OF WAR

LD131646 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 13 Aug 82

[Excerpts] Millions of our Muslim compatriots throughout the country today took part in the religious-political Friday prayers. Just as on previous Fridays, Tehran University -- this meeting place of the lovers of God and the followers of the path of truth -- witnessed the participation of vast numbers of revolutionary and Muslim people of Tehran in the glorious Friday prayers led by Ayatollah Musavi-Ardebili, acting Friday imam of Tehran.

Referring to divergencies and beliefs which are set forward in the name of genuine Islam, Ayatollah Musavi-Ardebili said in his first sermon: All Islamic ideological beliefs are quite clear with regard to texts, analysis and interpretation and there are no vague points concerning Islamic beliefs. No one today should fabricate views of his own and present them to the people and youth in the name of genuine Islam -- an Islam which has been in existence for 14 centuries.

He said: We notice some difficulties at the moment in implementing Islamic teachings in society. We refer to these difficulties, not to criticize or to make revelations, but rather to simply express these difficulties. There are certain problems in various ministries, in judicial organs, in schools, in factories and in economic institutions.

The acting Friday imam of Tehran then raised certain questions about sentences passed, innovations, irresponsible dealings with the people, false accusations against others, obstructing the running of various government departments, bad appointments, factionalism, difficulties in production and distribution and in the agricultural and industrial sectors. Referring to a speech by his holiness Imam 'Ali, may God's peace be upon him, in which he said the roots of corruption and sedition lie in selfishness, egotism, self-satisfaction and in heresy or heretical ideas and which do not have correct Islamic foundations, Ayatollah Musavi-Ardebili said: If these corruptions and seditions are noticed in society, and if today we are not mindful and do not strongly put an end to them, and if these problems are not nipped in the bud, tomorrow may be too late. He made certain recommendations to the officials in this connection.

In his second sermon, Ayatollah Musavi-Ardebili referred to some of the sayings of the lord of the faithful. 'Ali ibn Abi-Talib -- may God's peace be upon him -- about fighting against aggressive enemies. He said: Some people ask why we have entered Iraqi territory. Which one of us does not know that the Aflaqite Saddam, his friends, his allies and his master, fully mobilized themselves to fight against us? It is not long since Iraqi aircraft attacked Iran and started the aggression. Therefore, we either had to submit to Saddam and the Saddamists, or we had to drench our swords in the enemy's blood. The acting Friday imam of Tehran said: The enemy started this war by his aggression and is continuing it. From the first day we have merely defended ourselves and are still defending ourselves.

Referring to the gains achieved as a result of the war, the acting Friday imam of Tehran said:

[Begin recording] Thanks be to God, the gains achieved as a result of the war have not been merely military victories. We have had other gains. The current discussion about the meeting of the Nonaligned Movement is not Saddam's last defeat. Saddam's last defeat will be when, God willing, he will go where he has to go to. However, this is one of the gains of the war.

Do you think that if we had not succeeded in the war the world would have been able to change the venue of the nonaligned meeting? We saw from the beginning how they were treating the issue, and we can see how they are treating it now. At the beginning, the world did not allow us even to discuss the matter. But now, not only have they accepted the change of venue of the summit, Saddam asked them to allow the little ones, the foreign ministers, to go to Iraq so that he would not be too disgraced. But they said: No, even this cannot be done; they should go to Havana. This is one of the gains of our war.

Another gain of our war was the defeat of that movement in the Gulf. Did you see what a movement had started in the Gulf? Our repeated successes on the battlefronts proved even to the most reactionary individuals that these movements are absolutely futile. Therefore, this war has had many gains. We are still at the beginning of the process. It is still the early stages of love, do not lose heart. [quotation from a Persian poem]
The struggling forces of Iraq have only recently been set free. The explosions which take place in Iraq or in France, one after the other, inform the world of a serious and imminent danger and prevent Saddam from sleeping. The release of these forces has been a result of the continuous victories of your forces. [end recording]

Continuing his second sermon, Ayatollah Musavi-Ardebili emphasized: We will receive war reparations from the enemy. It will not be long before Saddam reaches the stage where he has to admit he was the aggressor. The acting Friday imam of Tehran also said the tumultuous welcome accorded to Iranian delegations in other countries is a clear sign of the repeated victories of the Islamic revolution of Iran. He emphasized that from the beginning of enemy aggression our position has been one of defense, and even now when the forces of Islam have entered Iraqi territory our goal is self-defense because, as 'Ali ibn Abi-Talib says, the enemy should be destroyed in his own territory. The acting Friday imam of Tehran said: We have not moved from the position of justice and we will not do so. We hope the world will come to know this reality.

In conclusion, Ayatollah Musavi-Ardebili preached a sermon in Arabic, addressed to the Arab sisters and brothers.

GHARAZI PAYS VISIT TO SYRIA, LIBYA, ALGERIA

Damascus Arrival Remarks

LD131244 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 13 Aug 82

[Text] According to the Central News Unit, the Iranian delegation led by Petroleum Minister Gharazi arrived in Damascus yesterday. The delegation was welcomed at the airport by Syrian Oil Minister ad-Dahhak, several officials of the Syrian Oil Ministry and the ambassador and staff of the embassy of the Islamic Republic of Iran in that country.

On the arrival of the Iranian delegation, the Syrian oil minister, expressed delight at the visit and said that by holding the nonaligned foreign ministers conference in Baghdad, Saddam is trying to show that the venue is safe. But Syria will not participate at any conference in Baghdad, be it a nonaligned summit or a foreign ministers conference.

After their arrival, our country's petroleum minister and his entourage met with Syrian Foreign Minister 'Abd al-Halim Khaddam. During this meeting, Mr Khaddam, welcoming the Iranian delegation, said that our view is identical with yours, that the nonaligned conference should not be held in Baghdad.

Mr Khaddam added that Castro, in a message to Hafiz al-Asad, suggested that the foreign ministers conference be held in Havana, and that we agree with this proposal. We have instructed our representatives in the Coordinating Bureau in New York to oppose any plan for holding the conference in Baghdad.

He emphasized that his country will not take part at any conference, at any level, if it is held in Baghdad.

During this meeting, Gharazi explained the stance of the Government of the Islamic Republic of Iran on the imposed war and the nonaligned conference. He also made some remarks about the extensive cooperation between Iran and Syria on economic and trade issues.

The Iranian delegation to Syria also met with President Hafiz al-Asad. During this meeting, Gharazi conveyed to him a message and greetings from President Khameni's and said it is true that Saddam has retreated a little. But he is thinking of assembling the nonaligned foreign ministers in Baghdad in order to show that the situation is suitable for the nonaligned summit, too.

In reply, Hafiz al-Asad said that which stopped the nonaligned heads from gathering in Baghdad will also prevent their foreign ministers.

Al-Asad added that it would not be wise to hold the conference in Baghdad, and Iran's logic in this matter is very strong.

Finally, President al-Asad wished success to the delegation in its trip to African countries.

After the meeting with the Syrian president, the delegation of the Islamic Republic of Iran left Damascus for Libya.

Free Oil for Enemies of Israel

LD131026 Tehran IRNA in English 0906 GMT 13 Aug 82

[Text] Damascus, Aug. 13 (IRNA) -- The Iranian oil minister, Mohammad Gharazi, who is on a special mission to Syria and Libya in connection with the forthcoming seventh session of the nonaligned summit conference, after a meeting with President Hafiz al-Asad yesterday, said that the meeting was productive.

During the meeting, the Iranian oil minister presented a message of the president of the Islamic Republic, Hojjat ol-Eslam Khamene'i, to President al-Asad.

In a separate meeting with the Syrian foreign minister, Gharazi discussed various issues including the venue of the upcoming non-aligned summit conference, the aggression of the Zionist regime against Lebanon and the situation of the region.

Gharazi who left Damascus for Libya yesterday afternoon after a one-day stay in Damascus, told IRNA here that while the Iraqi regime was incapable of providing its overseas embassies with security and had some 45,000 prisoners of war in Iran, it was also willing to endanger the lives of the non-aligned movement's heads in an attempt to preserve its own existence.

Several Iranian missions have been dispatched abroad to discuss the change of venue of the forthcoming non-aligned conference, previously scheduled to meet in Baghdad, Iraq.

The Iranian oil minister stressed that Iran was willing to provide free oil to any country which would fight against the Zionist regime in the region and against the United States as well.

Gharazi praised the stance of the Syrian Government towards the crisis in the region and added that Syria had been able to curb the aggressions of the Jeruslaem occupier regime. Iran deemed it its obligation to have a share in crushing the Zionist regime and use all its possibilities against it and wait for the day that the Palestinian masses would regain their rights, he added.

Departure Statement

[Text] Petroleum Minister Gharazi arrived in Algiers yesterday after concluding his visit to Libya during which he met with Revolutionary Council Command member and Prime Minister 'Abd as-Salam Jallud. Gharazi carries a message from President Seyyed Khamene'i to Algerian President Chadli Bendjedid.

Meanwhile, the evening paper KEYHAN yesterday carried the statement which Gharazi made at Damascus Airport prior to his departure for Libya and following his meeting with Syrian President Hafiz al-Asad and the Syrian ministers of foreign affairs and oil and natural sources. The Iranian petroleum minister expressed his satisfaction with the results of his talks with Syrian leaders. Speaking on the goal of his visit, he said: The visit was made to deliver a message from President Seyyed Khamene'i to his brother Hafiz al-Asad in addition to informing the Syrian leaders of the stands of the Islamic Republic of Iran on the next meeting of the leaders of the Nonaligned Movement and informing friendly countries about what is taking place in Iraq. He added: By kindling the fires of war, Iraq lost about 45 percent of its military personnel since they are prisoners in Iran. Since this regime has failed to ensure security for its embassies abroad, how can it ensure security for the leaders of the nonaligned countries?

On making use of the oil weapon, Gharazi said: Petroleum is [word indistinct] our blood. The Islamic Republic of Iran announced earlier on the International Day of the Oppressed that (?it places itself) [word indistinct] for the revolution of the oppressed in the world. That is why we announce that all those who fight Israel in the region will fight the United States in the world and [word indistinct] with oil. He added that petroleum is a tool in the hands of the oppressed. There is no room for political bargaining.

On the position of Islamic Iran toward the Zionist aggression, the petroleum minister said: The Iranian people realize that their duty is to take part in crushing the Zionists and to make use of all their capabilities against aggressor Israel. (?They look forward to) the day when the Palestine people will gain their full legitimate rights and remove all traces of the ominous aggression by the upsurping Zionist enemy because this is a divine responsibility.

Gharazi expressed hope that the troops of Islam and (?everybody) will make their way to Jerusalem through Karbala.

Remarks on Nonaligned Summit

LD161244 Tehran IRNA in English 0945 GMT 16 Aug 82

[Text] Algiers, Aug 16 (IRNA) -- Wherever the member countries decide as the venue of the non-aligned summit conference, Iran will accept, now that the non-aligned countries have found Baghdad an unsuitable location, said the Iranian minister of oil, Mohammad Gharazi, in Algeria. The Iranian delegation he was heading left Algeria for Guinea Sunday afternoon and were seen off at the Algiers airport by the Algerian minister of light industries and the Iranian ambassador to Algiers.

Prior to his departure Gharazi, in an interview, said that the objective of his tour was to submit the letters of President Khamene'i to the heads of the non-aligned member states. He added that President Bendjedid was on holiday so he submitted his letter to the Algeria prime minister, Abdelghani. The subject of the letter was the venue of the non-aligned summit conference and the foreign ministers meeting.

He noted that Saddam was trying to convene the non-aligned foreign ministers assembly in Baghdad. But the non-aligned countries made him understood that was impossible. He stated that Saddam endeavored to harm the Islamic Republic of Iran but now was in a position where he himself was in grave danger. Gharazi added that those who granted aid to Saddam should understand that Saddam could not protect their interests.

INDUSTRIES MINISTER HEADS DELEGATION TO DPRK

[Text] At the invitation of the DPRK an Iranian economic and technical delegation led by Behzad Nabavi, minister of heavy industries, left for that country at 0600 today. Before his departure Mr Nabavi was interviewed by IRNA on the purpose of this trip. Mr Nabavi said: This visit is in return for the trip by the DPRK delegation which was headed by the prime minister of that country. He added: During this trip issues related to the memorandum of understanding which was signed earlier between the two countries will be followed up, and there will be talks and exchanges of views on expanding political and economic relations with North Korea.

It is noteworthy that the governor of the Iranian Central Bank, three deputies of the Islamic Consultative Assembly, the deputy defense minister and several deputy ministers from related ministries are the other members of this delegation.

KHOMEYNI STRESSES COOPERATION TO BUSHEHR IMAMS

[Text] Friday imams of Bushehr Province met today with Imam Khomeyni, leader of the revolution and founder of the Islamic Republic of Iran. During this meeting, first the Friday imam of Bushehr, as representative of the Friday imams of the province, presented a report on the situation in Bushehr region to the imam of the Islamic nation. Afterwards the imam of the Islamic nation addressed them. The text of the speech is as follows:

In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. I am grateful to the gentlemen who have come a long way. As I have often said, it is yet another blessing of this republic which enables us to see the ulema from remote places to discuss various issues. I hope this policy will continue.

The issues which you mentioned have existed throughout history.

The issue of the clergy not being involved in politics is nothing new. This issue was raised during the Bani Umayyah [a khalif dynasty shortly after Prophet Mohammad] and was strengthened during the [subsequent] Bani 'Abbas era. In recent times when foreigners became involved in countries, they also aggravated the condition. Unfortunately, some religious persons and committed clergy also believe, for instance, that if a mullah becomes involved in political issues, it will be a blow to his status. This is one of the big plots of colonialism that some people have believed.

I hope all Friday imams, wherever they may be with our Shi'a or Sunni brothers, will pay great attention to this issue because even now there are some individuals who have ill intentions and who want to create discord between these two strata. It is a tragedy for the Muslims that there is still some murmuring on this. But thank God, the level of the murmuring has decreased and the plot of the saboteurs has failed.

Several days ago I received a letter saying that in some regions such as Sistan and Bakhtaran some individuals have raised divisive issues in religious ceremonies or in some sermons. But some of the Sunni brothers themselves have objected to these individuals, stressing that it is not the time for raising such issues. You are aware that prominent Shi'a and Sunni ulema have been trying for some time to cooperate with each other and to ignore divisive issues.

People who have the same religion and the same prophet should be brothers and cooperate with one another. But some individuals are striving to create discord; and you know well who will benefit from discord. You inform the people and let them know that these sorts of deeds committed by such individuals will not serve the interests of the Muslims, and that they do not wish us well. Such deeds and discord will serve imperialism and the enemy. You gentlemen must attach great significance to Friday prayers. It is also one blessing of the Islamic Republic that this divine and political tradition is promoted so much that all foreigners have noticed it. I hope this tradition will continue, God willing.

You mentioned poverty and deprivation in those regions. I am also aware that the former regime always kept the people in poverty. This was its policy. I hope this war will end, and the government, which is ready to serve and which is a servant, will carry out its task. Of course, you know it is a difficult task, but with the people's support and agreement, the task will become easy, as it has been the case to date and as the people have taken the initiative to remedy the war damages. The government would not have been able to remedy these damages by itself. Today we must all join together and support one another. If one level opposes another, discord will gradually intensify and lead to failure. I hope we will all be able to thwart the propaganda waged against us. I hope a unity of word will be created among all of us, and the Sunni and Shi'a brothers will work together. This way we can work. May God bestow success upon us all. May God's peace, mercy and blessings be upon you all.

Today's meeting between the Friday imams of Bushehr Province and the imam of the Islamic nation was attended by Hojaj-e Eslam Messrs Seyyed Mohammad Madani, Friday imam of Bushehr; Sheykh 'Abbas Rahimi-Najafabadi, Friday imam of Borazjan; Sheykh Mostafa Salehi, Friday imam of Khark Island; Sheykh Hoseyn Montazeri, Friday imam of (Bandar Deyr); Sheykh 'Abdollatif Shokri, Sunni sect Friday imam of Khark Island; Sheykh 'Abdollah Mohammdi-Esfahani, Friday imam of (Bandar Gonaveh); Sheykh Mohammad 'Ali Taleb, Friday imam of Minab; and Sheykh 'Ali Sedaqat, ad interim Friday imam of Bushehr.

Sunni Clergymen Censored

[Excerpts] Mullah Khomeyni today in Jamaran talked about the strong opposition of the Sunnis to the regime of the Islamic Republic. Khomeyni, who had received a number of Bushehr clergymen, said: In Kermanshahan and Baluchestan there are those working to create dissension which is not beneficial to religion or politics. He also said religion and politics are inseparable and those who say otherwise are either uninformed or wish to create dissension. Khomeyni wanted to defend the question of velayat-e faqih [clerical rule] in this way.

According to our correspondent in Tehran there were a number of Sunni clergymen present at today's meeting with Khomeyni including the so-called Friday imams of Dayyer and (Kangan) who spoke but these speeches were censored by the occupied Tehran radio -- the shamed voice of the regime of Khomeyni -- which did not broadcast them.

HEAVY INDUSTRIES MINISTER INTERVIEWED IN BUSHEHR

GF141727 Bushehr Domestic Service in Persian 1330 GMT 11 Aug 82

[Interview with Behzad Nabavi, minister of heavy industries, during his visit to Bushehr on 11 August — recorded]

[Excerpt] In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. Dear viewers [as heard], Brother Behzad Nabavi, the honorable minister of heavy industries, has come to Bushehr today, heading a delegation which is visiting the province.

[Question] Mr Nabavi, while welcoming you, I request that you kindly inform us of the purpose of your visit to Bushehr Province.

[Answer] In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. [Words indistinct] in order to visit the marine industries in Bushehr, as well as naval repair facilities. [Words indistinct] during this visit I was also able to meet with the honorable Friday imam of Bushehr and brother [name indistinct].

[Question] Brother Nabavi, as you said, you visited the marine industries in Bushehr today. Please tell us [words indistinct] and how you perceive the condition of marine industries in Bushehr.

[Answer] The purpose of my visit was to learn about the conditions of the marine industries in Bushehr and the possibilities for expansion in this sector. This visit has fortunately been useful. [passage indistinct]

[Question] Could you give us some details of the conditions of all the industries in the country and of the formation of the new Ministry of Heavy Industries and explain to what extent it has become operational?

[Answer] As you are aware, after the revolution, the Ministry of Mines and Industry was divided into three ministries: the Ministry of Heavy Industries, the Ministry of Mines and Metals and the Ministry of Industries. This, of course, does not mean we divided the Ministry of Industry and Mines to three new ministries. What it means is the added attention which [words indistinct] using the matter of growth and expansion of the industry and has tried to give more attention to each portion of the national industry by the formation of these three ministries. The formation of the Ministry of Heavy Industries is based on the same logic. As a whole, [words indistinct] the Ministry of Heavy Industries is dealing with the expansion of metal industries and their establishment. It also is responsible for the establishment and expansion of the capital metal industries (as heard] which form a large portion of the country's industry and it is also responsible for the self-sufficiency and industrial independence of the country. For example, at present, in order to produce consumer goods, we have to import factories from abroad; we do not have the capability to build factories. The aim of the Ministry of Heavy Industries is to promote the growth and expansion of plants that will produce and develop factories.

There are many different groups in the heavy industries category, such as the automotive group, which manufactures heavy industrial products like ships and planes as well as light industrial products such as bicycles and motorcycles. The manufacture of engines for cars, ships and planes; turbines; generators and many other things are also covered under this group. Other auto supplies, batteries, large furnaces, iron and metal manufacturing are included in this category, too. [Words indistinct] in general, this ministry was formed for the purpose of promoting growth and industrial self-sufficiency and the independence of Islamic Republic industries.

[Answer] Of course, special questions dealing with the general problems and difficulties of the province were discussed seriously with the honorable Friday imam and the governor general. The major problems of the province will, God willing, be reviewed by the brother ministers who will be appointed by the Cabinet and charged with reviewing the problems of the province. They will come here and, God willing, they will have more to tell the faithful, Muslim and oppressed people of Bushehr.

[Question] Brother Nabavi, you will be visiting Korea. What is the purpose of the trip and what results do you foresee?

[Answer] It is in connection with the expansion of our economic and industrial relations with the DPRK following the visit by the DPRK's prime minister to Tehran in Ordibehesht [month ending 21 May] and in connection with the accord reached between the two prime ministers. I will be heading an Iranian delegation comprising various deputy ministers of the ministries of industries and experts and will be looking into methods of expanding the economic ties between the two countries. One of the reasons for my trip to Bushehr and the reason why I was adamant about making this trip [words indistinct] was review of the marine industry so, God willing, we can try to find facilities and possibilities in that country to aid in developing our marine industries.

[Question] Brother Nabavi, from your point of view as one of the [word indistinct] brothers of revolution, how do you recognize the imam's line, which many people claim to follow?

[Answer] This question is no longer applicable. There were differences of opinion at the time of Bani-Sadr and during the activities of the hypocrites and the liberals. However, now, by the grace of God, all those problems have been solved and the imam's line has shown its true nature. It is ruling the Islamic Republic and such a question no longer means anything. However, the line of the imam is clear. Its true meaning is the same as the true line of Islam, something we relied on in the past. It is the line of clerical Islam. It is the line relying on the Velayate Faqih. It is a line where you accept the imam as the Faqih and in charge of affairs. Anyone who accepts this is a follower of the imam's line.

REZA'I SPEAKS TO PRESS ABOUT INTERNAL GROUPS, WAR

[Report on 5 August press, radio and television conference by Mohsen Reza'i commander of the Islamic Revolution Guard Corps in Tehran]

[Excerpts] Reza'i answering a correspondent's question about the fourth operation against the hypocrites said: During the fourth operation which was carried out on 1 August we covered 30 hypocrite bases and the entire operation last 72 hours. Over 50 hypocrites were either killed or arrested during the operation and there are many important members of the hypocrite minigroup [Mojahedin-e Khalq] among them.

The communications department of the hypocrites, which was responsible for contacts with abroad, contact with Kordestan and the transfer of members to Kordestan and abroad, was completely destroyed and now they are concentrating all their efforts on escaping. The city department of this minigroup was destroyed on 11 June. Siavosh Seyfi was among those killed. They lost Hamid Jalali from their logistics department and this was a serious blow. We found 60 special arms destined for the central group as well as 10 powerful bombs and a good deal of ammunition. Over 700 types of stamps similar to those found at the den of espionage, foreign passports and extensive documents were also discovered. We hope that with the discovery of these documents we no longer have a "hypocrite" problem. However, as our nation is aware, this was our fourth operation. We shall continue such operations in the future. The first blow was dealt against the central organization on 19th [month not specified]. Musa Khiabani was killed in this operation. The second blow was dealt on 9 June. In this operation the organization's logistics department was destroyed and the latest blow was the 1 August operation in which over 50 members were either killed or arrested.

The commander of the revolution guards then mentioned the Kordestan incidents and said: Our nation knows that after reviewing the war situation, the guards and the army decided to establish a Karbala headquarters. We have established a Hamzeh headquarters in Kordestan and hope to uproot the Kordestan problem in the same manner as that of the war with Iraq.

Answering a question on the uprooting of terrorism he said: The most important matter is strengthening the implementation and battle against counterrevolutionaries. Due to our correct intelligence methods we have concluded that we must increase the protection of officials and invest more in intelligence work!

Answering a question on the Ministry of Guards, Reza'i said: Since the revolution guards is one of the organizations under the control of the leader, it had no direct contact with the government. A ministry was created to coordinate between the guards and the government. This ministry will coordinate with the government and the Majlis. The main responsibility of the Ministry of Guards is to coordinate with the government and Majlis.

Reza'i explained the invasion of Iraq and said: The main aim of the Ramadan operation was concentrated on our own soil but we reached the conclusion that if we want the Islamic Republic to remain, then Saddam must be destroyed and our cities close to the Iraqi border must be made secure. The means to achieve this is the destruction of Saddam and the Iraqi Ba'thist Party. If we can capture [as published] the main element, which is Saddam, then his regime will be destroyed. There was an interview with a captured Iraqi colonel. He talked about all subjects without fear. He is so sure of Saddam's destruction that he, courageously, revealed everything. This may be because of a U.S. promise that they would do something about the Iraqi problem and then did not do a damn thing. Our basic aim is to destroy the Iraqi forces. So far we have destroyed 1,000 of their tanks and vehicles. All these facts will be announced later. The Ramadan operation continues. Nearly 40 percent of the operation has been completed so far.

ZANJAN REVOLUTION GUARDS CORP DISCOVERS TEAMHOUSES

[Excerpts] Following the recent victories of the combatants of Islam on the battlefield of right against wrong, the internal agents of the United States are making dastardly attempts to serve their master, the United States, within the country.

Due to the selfless efforts of the brother guards and the cooperation of the hezbollahi nation, some team nests have been discovered and the following articles were seized: 1) two G-3's; 2) one Kalashnikov; 3) eight metal and plastic grenades; cartridges for Colts, G-3's, Kalashnikovs; a few hundred meters of wick ready for use with explosives and bearing the insignia of the hypocrites; spare parts and accessories of various kinds for typewriters; different types of incendiary materials such as TNT and gunpower with other materials such as sulfur for the manufacture of powerful bombs and grenades; a variety of publications and propaganda material and miscellaneous items such as photostencil needles. These hypocrites, who are unaware of God's existence, should know their time has come and as long as the hezbollahi ubiquitous nation is on the scene, it will not allow these lackeys even to draw a breath. They should avail themselves of the opportunity [to give themselves up] and we announce the following conditions:

1. Most of the houses and shops used by the hypocrites for their activities are rented and most of the shops are used under the guise of perfumeries and others. [as published]

2. We repeat our warning to the hypocrites that they should take advantage of the opportunity and give themselves up; otherwise, they will be liable to prosecution.

With due thanks for the unflinching cooperation of our hezbollahi brothers and sisters, we hope that with your cooperation we will not hear anymore of the hypocrites and infidels in our Islamic society.

[Signed] The Islamic Revolution Guards Corps, Zanjan

KHOMEYNI SAID TO USE PILGRIMS TO EXPORT REVOLUTION

GF141142 (Clandestine) Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 0330 GMT 13 Aug 82

[Text] [Passage indistinct] last year Saudi security forces arrested a group of Khomeyni supporters and subsequently threw the leaders of [words indistinct] out of the country.

A correspondent for Voice of Iran reports that Khomeyni and other mullahs who rule Iran have been planning for a long time to export their revolution under the guise of carrying out a pilgrimage. Many pilgrims have been trained for this operation.

Last week Khomeyni appointed mullah Musavi-Kho'ini, who is one of the smartest and the most devious mullahs, as the chief of the Iranian pilgrims and asked the different committees of the haj services to obey him.

18 AUGUST 1982

Lebanon

Israeli Position -- After meeting in Beirut with U.S. envoy Philip Habib, Israeli Defense Minister Ari'el Sharon said progress was made on hitherto unresolved issues but further clarifications are necessary. The progress concerned the lists of "terrorists," evacuation of the Syrians and related forces and the return to Israel of the captured pilot and the bodies of nine IDF soldiers, Sharon said in his remarks, which were broadcast by Jerusalem radio. In a related Jerusalem television interview, the defense minister affirmed that no "terrorists" will leave Beirut and no multinational force soldiers will deploy there before the pilot and the nine bodies are returned to Israel. Philip Habib supports this unambiguous Israeli position, he asserted. Sharon also said a solution has been reached for the departure of the Syrians, who will leave along with the other forces and will not be the last to leave. Israel insists that all forces leaving Beirut should likewise depart Lebanon, he added in response to a question about the destination of the Syrians and related forces. He expressed confidence that the evacuation of Beirut will occur at the earliest possible date and will be carried out in a manner that will prevent a nucleus of "terrorists" remaining there.

The major remaining obstacle is the PLO's refusal to hand over the captive pilot and nine bodies to the Red Cross without obtaining anything in return, Jerusalem radio reported early on 18 August. Israel has rejected PLO demands for the release of captured "terrorists" in exchange for the pilot and bodies, the radio noted. Israel's demand that whoever leaves Beirut should leave Lebanon has not been accepted, the radio said, and the departing Syrians will redeploy in the Al-Biqa' Valley, though affiliated Palestinian units will move to Damascus. Israeli sources cited in an earlier radio report said that if the Syrians undertake to leave Lebanon as part of a second stage agreement for the withdrawal of foreign forces, they must not allow the PLO to return to Lebanon under Syrian auspices. Israel would hold the Syrians responsible for any resulting PLO activity, the sources said.

Philip Habib will bring the final draft of the evacuation agreement to Israel on 18 August while U.S. Deputy Assistant Secretary of State Morris Draper will depart for Damascus to obtain an explicit and final confirmation of Syria's readiness to evacuate its own forces and about half the "terrorists" from Beirut, according to Jerusalem television. Meanwhile, MA'ARIV noted that IDF commanders were due to meet multinational force officers to make arrangements for the force's entry into Beirut.

Al-Wazzan Remarks, PLO Departure Positions -- After a meeting with Lebanese officials and U.S. envoy Habib, Lebanese Prime Minister Shafiq al-Wazzan declared that the agreements have ended the "grief" Beirut radio reported. He declined to give a date for implementation of the PLO departure plan but hoped it would begin after the 18 August Cabinet meeting. Al-Wazzan stressed that the unity of Lebanon is more important than holding elections or other issues. In an interview with a SANA correspondent in Beirut reported by Damascus radio, Al-Wazzan praised the Syrian forces for their "great sacrifices" in fighting Israel and affirmed that Lebanon would not sign a separate peace treaty with Israel.

According to a Lebanese official source cited by KUNA, the PLO agreed that the first group of fighters to leave Beirut will number 2,000, and the entire evacuation will take approxomately 15 days. The multinational force of Lebanese, U.S., French and Italian soldiers will have a 1-month mandate, the source noted. Meanwhile, PFLP Political Bureau member Bassam Abu Sharif asserted that no date has been fixed for the fighters' departure and no aggreement has been settled on the procedures for departure, Monte Carlo radio reported.

Jordanian Destination for PLO Fighters -- Jordan sent a memorandum to Lebanon and the PLO underscoring that PLO fighters must pass through the Ar-Ramtha crossing point to enter Jordan, thus ruling out a port entry, Monte Carlo radio reported.

However, according to a Jerusalem radio report on the evacuation plans, the first group of "terrorists" will leave from Beirut to Aqaba port.

Al-Jumayyil Promises -- In an interview with LE MONDE reported by AFP, Lebanese Front Military Commander Bashir al-Jumayyil pledged to rapidly remove Syrian and Israeli forces from Lebanon if he is elected president. He denied he supports partition of the country and said he has always favored Lebanon's reunification.

PDRY Envoy in Damascus -- In a statement to SANA reported by Damascus radio, First Deputy Chairman of the PDRY Council of Ministers 'Ali Antar said he is in Damascus to deliver a message to the Syrian president affirming the approval of the PDRY and the YAR for Libya's call to dispatch forces to fight against Israel.

Cease-Fire Violations, Beirut Situation -- The eastern sector has begun "heating up" owing to cease-fire violations by the "terrorists," Jerusalem radio reported. In his meeting with Habib, Defense Minister Sharon called on the U.S. envoy to take immediate action to prevent such violations, the radio said.

Meanwhile, the IDF withdrew from the Museum-Justice Palace area and the Lebanese Army took up positions there in preparation for the forthcoming presidental elections, according to Beirut radio.

Iran-Iraq War

An Iraqi Air Force spokesman told INA that Iraqi fighters overflew oil tankers near Khark Island to warn them that they were transporting oil in "prohibited areas." An Iranina Armed Forces communique carried by Tehran radio claimed that fighting continued on the western, southern and Abadan fronts and that Iraqi planes were forced away from Iranian border areas.

Iran

The Central Prosecutor's Office announced in a statement carried by Tehran radio that the Union of Communists of Iran has been eradicated. The statement revealed that 100 leading members of the organization had been arrested and accused the group of conspiring with the United States and Iranian exiles and perpetrating the "crimes" in Amol early in 1981.

Iraq

Iraq has signed agreements on cooperation in oil installations with a visiting Soviet delegation, INA reported.

ARMY STRENGTH GROWS; SOVIETS IN KABUL ATTACKED

BK171614 Hong Kong AFP in English 1414 GMT 17 Aug 82

[By Dilip Ganguly]

[Text] New Delhi, Aug. 17 (AFP) -- The strength of the Afghan Armed Forces has dramatically increased fron an estimated 30,000 to 45,000 during the last fortnight, following a government conscription drive backed by last month's announcement of the country's toughest ever draft laws.

Under the new drive, according to Western diplomats, Afghan Army patrols were active along Kabul roads rounding up prospective conscripts. Many shops are closed as their owners, fearing conscription, have either fled to the countryside or joined the ranks of the insurgents.

And with the tough new draft law making military service compulsory for all men up to age 35 and increasing the conscription period from two to three years, many government officials are failing to report to work, they said.

The law came into force on August 2 and Western diplomats, quoting unidentified informed sources in Kabul, said the drive which began on July 25 was still continuing.

Asian diplomats differed with estimates of their Western counterparts. They said the army's strength had increased by 20,000, but that the figure included recalled former soldiers. They also said that even before the conscription drive, Afghan armed strength had never fallen below 45,000.

They put the strength of the Afghan Armed Forces at 65,000 some 45,000 fewer than before the first Marxist coup in April 1978.

There was no official confirmation of the diplomatic estimates in the state-controlled Afghan news media, and the Afghan Embassy here also refused to comment on the diplomatic reports.

However, the Kabul NEW TIMES newspaper said last week that in one province alone, over 4,500 persons registered for army service during the last four months.

Western diplomats put the defection rate in the Afghan Armed Forces as high as 30 per cent and Moslem insurgents fighting the Kabul regime have often claimed that thousands of Afghan soldiers had joined their ranks with arms and ammunition -- claims which have never been confirmed by the Afghan official media.

Meanwhile, there has been an increase in reports of incidents in Kabul. Residents witnessed an explosion in the Share-naw district of the city on August 10 which blew up a Soviet personnel truck parked there, although there were no casualties.

Diplomates said on August 11-12 unusually heavy firing was heard from the district where the well fortified Soviet Embassy is situated. Moslem rebels had apparently attacked the embassy, the sources said, but were repulsed by government troops.

In another incident on the outskirts of Kabul, insurgents killed or captured an unspecified number of Soviet soldiers when their jeep was ambushed, the diplomats said, adding that the attack took place in the Deh Sabz area near the Kabul international airport.

There was no independent confirmation of the reports.

The diplomats gave sketchy reports on the military situation in Paghman near Kabul and Panjsher, the strategic valley about 100 kms (60 miles) north of the Afghan capital. Government troops were still holding on in Paghman, a former Afghan royal resort about 20 kms (12 miles) north-west of Kabul. The place was the scene of fierce fighting last month.

In Panjsher, Soviet-aided government troops were holding the valley and there was no report of any fresh clashes, the diplomats said.

8 KILLED IN CLASH IN KABUL'S PRESIDENTIAL PALACE

BK171630 Hong Kong AFP in English 1500 GMT 17 Aug 82

[By Sami Zubeir]

[Excerpt] Islamabad, Aug 17 (AFP) - - Eight unidentified persons died in an armed clash inside the Kabul Presidential Palace (Peoples House) in the first week of August, Western diplomatic sources said here today, quoting rebel sources.

Eyewitnesses in Kabul were quoted as saying that eight coffins were brought to the city's "martyrs graveyard" following the incident. The graveyard is reserved for the burial of party members and high-ranking government officials.

Diplomatic sources had no information about the incident, but rebel sources said it occurred between the rival Khalq (mass) and Parcham (flag) factions of the ruling Peoples Democratic Party of Afghanistan (PDPA).

The Khalqis, who have support in the army, have been opposing Parchamites in the power struggle since the installation of President Babrak Karmal, who heads their rival faction.

The sources quoting a soldier on guard duty in the palace said the clash lasted 90 minutes after which traffic on several Kabul roads was diverted and some pro-Khalqi members of the government were taken into custody.

Two days after the incident a similar clash occurred in the military establishment at Kabul's Pule Charkhi and the city's transportation centre, they said, but had no details.

80 DRA, SOVIET FORCES KILLED IN HERAT CLASHES

LD132014 Tehran IRNA in English 1930 GMT 13 Aug 82

[Text] Mashhad, Aug 13 IRNA - - The Afghan Muslim mujahideen fighting the Soviet-backed regime of Afghanistan in two clashes in Shindand and Makr-Abad, two regions of the Herat Province, killed some 80 government and Soviet forces.

According to informed Afhgan mujahideen sources here, during these clashes which occurred last week the mujahideen destroyed several tanks and vehicles. In these operations seven of the mujahideen were martyred, the sources said.

REBELS BESIEGE ANAR DARREH GOVERNOR'S OFFICE

LD172050 Tehran IRNA in English 1938 GMT 17 Aug 82

[Text] Mashhad, Aug 17, IRNA - - After hours of confrontation between the Afghan Muslim mujahideen and joint Afghan and Soviet troops, Afghan Muslim mujahideens besieged Afghan and Soviet troops, Afghan Muslim mujahideens besieged the office of the governor of Anar Darreh in Farah Province of Afghanistan on Friday Aug 13.

During the operation, a number of Soviet soldiers were killed or wounded and large hauls of guns, munitions and telecommunications equipment were seized by the mujahideens. Also two Soviet NCO's and one spy, Ameri Hadd, were captured by Afghan Muslim mujahideen.

Meanwhile, some 20 government soldiers surrendered themselves to the Afghan Muslim mujahideen on the same day.

REBEL OFFENSIVES IN HELMAND, QANDAHAR, ORUZGAN

BK171620 Karachi Domestic Service in English 1005 GMT 17 Aug 82

[Text] Reports from Afghanistan say that the Afghan freedom fighters have been on the offensive against the Soviet-Karmal regime troops in Helmand, Qandahar and Oruzgan Provinces. Exchanges of fire between the Mujahidin and the Kabul troops have become part of daily life.

Qandahar's urban guerrilla mujahidin destroyed two trucks of the Karmal army in a grenade attack in the Herat gate of the city. One of the two Soviet tanks stationed at Herat Gate moved toward the troubled spot but after a few yards distance it developed a fault. The four-man crew of the tank tried to run away in panic but three of them were shot dead by the mujahidin. The tank was also destroyed by the mujahidin with a rocket launcher.

The mujahidin conducted a swift attack on the Soviet Army in Gereshk subdivision of Helmand Province, as a result of which two tanks carrying at least six Soviets were destroyed. A day earlier a jeep of the Kabul force was gutted outside Gereshk army camp by the planted mines of the mujahidin. Three Parchami officers boarding the jeep were killed on the spot.

In an attack on the army picket near Tarin Kot, headquarters of Oruzgan Province in central Afghanistan, four Soviets were killed at the hands of the mujahidin. The remaining 17 soldiers of the picket fled away.

ZIRAY ADDRESSES PARTY ACTIVISTS IN KABUL

LD102026 Kabul Domestic Service in Dari 1600 GMT 10 Aug 82

[Text] Dr Saleh Mohammad Ziray, Politburo member and secretary of the PDPA Central Committee, addressed a meeting of party activists of Kabul party ward number three this afternoon. He said: Your duties as party militants have been better organized than before, according to historic and valuable resolutions of the ninth PDPA Central Committee plenum.

The purpose of this meeting of Kabul party ward number three, which was held at Kabul University auditorium, was to support the resolutions of the ninth PDPA Central Committee plenum. Dr Ziray spoke of the country's political and economic situation, stating: The PDPA and the DRA Government have achieved remarkable victories this year, inflicting crushing and shattering blows on the [word indistinct] enemy. Referring to the political and social work of party militants among the [word indistinct] masses, he said: It is necessary to perform these important and major duties, just as it is proper for a good revolutionary to perform as well as possible the mission assigned to him at this sensitive moment in history.

Zohur Razmjo, member of the PDPA Central Committee and secretary of the Kabul City Party Committee, participated in this meeting, as did some party cadres, activists and members of Kabul party ward number three.

According to the BAKHTAR correspondent, after the presiding board was elected and the agenda was read, the secretary of Kabul party ward number three read the basic statement assessing the results of the ninth PDPA Central Committee plenum and the duties of Kabul city party ward number three in implementing these resolutions. The secretary of the Kabul University party organization, the secretary of (Baricot) primary organization and the deputy head of Kabul Univeristy's women's dormitory spoke about the statement, expressing their firm support for the resolutions of the ninth plenum and its worthy [word indistinct].

At the end of the meeting a resolution supporting the important resolution of the ninth PDPA Central Committee plenum was issued by the participants of the meeting.

CENTRAL BANK HIGH COUNCIL DISCUSSES ANNUAL REPORT

LD090120 Kabul Domestic Service in Dari 1600 GMT 8 Aug 82

[Text] The High Council of the Afghanistan Bank, the central bank, was held today in the hall of the central bank, chaired by Dr Khalil Ahmad Abawi, deputy chairman of the Council of Ministers and chairman of the State Planning Committee. Abdol Wakil, minister of finance; Mohammad Khan Jalaler, minister of commerce; Fazl Rahim Mohmand, minister of agriculture and land reform; the deputy industry minister of the Ministry of Mines and Industry; and the control board of the bank were present.

At this meeting [word indistinct] and the income and expenses balance sheet of the Afghanistan Bank in the year 1360 [year ending 20 March 1981], which was prepared and approved by the control board of the bank before it was due, was comprehensively discussed.

A source at the central bank told BAKHTAR that according to the agenda, Dr Mahraboddine Paktiawal, head of the central bank, presented a report on the country's money, currency and economic situation and read the report of the bank's executive board on the bank's activities in 1360, which was confirmed.

Latter the report of the control board of the bank assessing and [word indistinct] financial situation, incomes and expences in 1360 was read by the treasury head of the Ministry of Finance and head of the Afghanistan Bank control board.

In 1360 the Afghanistan Bank increased its opening letters of credit, [word indistinct] exchanges, buying and selling of currencies over the year before. The bank played an active and creative role in absorbing inactive money from individuals, commercial institutions, banks and others into its checking and savings accounts and [word indistinct]. In 1360 the volume of the checking accounts in the bank rose by 43.82 percent compared to last year. If we break down this increase into different categories, the volume of money in checking accounts belonging to individuals has increased by 160 percent, domestic banks by 104 percent, enterprises by 64 percent and foreign companies by 26 percent.

The savings accounts that completely belong to individuals have increased by 33 percent over the year before both in the number of accounts and the amount of money saved.

In 1360 money exchange and transfer in the country was widely carried out by the Afghanistan Bank, which proved useful for strengthening the country's economy and eliminating the need of the people from [word indistinct].

The [word indistinct] of the bank's Afghani borrowing has been [word indistinct] and its currency borrowing, which has been [word indistinct] for the purpose of all-round development of the national economy, increased eight-fold over the year before.

The (?collection) of the bank's Afghani loans [passage indistinct] but the (?collection) of the bank's currency loans shows a 30 percent increase over the year before.

MINISTER TALKS ABOUT EDUCATION ACCOMPLISHMENTS

LD161245 Kabul Domestic Service in Dari 1600 GMT 14 Aug 82

[Talk by Faqir Mohammad Yaqubi, DRA minister of education, on the activities of the Ministry of Education -- date and place not given -- recorded]

[Excerpts] In accordance with Decree No 26 of the Revolutionary Council Presidium and the resolution of the DRA Council of Ministers, the education and training system [passage indistinct]. The period of compulsory education in all schools of the country has been lowered from 12 to 10 years. It is broken down into three periods: primary, incomplete secondary and complete secondary. Teaching in primary schols has been set for [word indistinct]. The graduates of the incomplete secondary schools, which includes fifth to eighth grades, can continue their education in the [word indistinct] of the complete secondary schools or vocational and technical schools. The complete secondary schools include the ninth and tenth grades. These schools make it possible for graduates to acquire the necessary preparation to continue their education in various fields of higher education.

In the new education and training system the education period has been reduced to 10 years, but the number of classroom hours has increased while the number of subjects has been reduced. With the use of methodical teaching and with the new and improved textbooks, the students can learn more in a shorter period of time. The new education programs have been designed [words indistinct] with the requirements of modern science in mind and with consideration for the social developments of our society today, as a result of which great changes have taken place in the volume and quality of the textbooks. The Ministry of Education has compiled 16 new textbooks.

According to a decision of the Council of Ministers concerning cooperation between the Ministry of Education and the Ministry of Information and Culture about the production and broadcasting of educational programs, the Educational Radio and Television Department of the Ministry of Education, with the cooperation of DRA radio and television, has produced and broadcast 931 educational programs. [words indistinct]

Our objective is to increase the level of awareness and knowledge and to educate the noble people of our country. We want to expand the gains of developed and progressive knowledge in our country and to construct a new society in which reaching the peaks of human knowledge, science and technology is the guarantee of development and virtue. But the undeclared war waged by reaction, imperialism and Chinese hegemonism against our revolution and people has created obstacles and difficulties in the process of social and economic changes and also in [word indistinct] of our education and training duties. The counterrevolutionary elements, under the false curtain of defending Islam, have set fire to a number of state and religious schools and other educational facilities. Since the April Revolution counterrevolutionaries have set fire to 1,713 schools in which the future-determining generations of our country were studying. However, the noble people of our country with [words indistinct] to the actions of these American pseudo-Muslims without culture, with financial assistance and voluntary works helped the Ministry of Education in renovating schools and in constructing new ones. Since the April Revolution (?110) schools have been renovated and 334 new schools have been constructed.

The renovation and construction of schools is continuing with increasing speed by the construction unit of the Ministry of Education. But despite the renovation and construction of new schools, we have not solved the problems of all students throughout the country.

The DRA Ministry of Education, according to the political framework of the government's policy, by realizing its great and honorable duty, has made maximum use of existing opportunities. During 1359 [21 March 1980-20 March 1981] in the [word indistinct] plan, about 500,000 people were expected to attend literacy courses but in fact 515,000 managed to attend. These courses were taught by 18,000 (?official) and honorary teachers. During the same year a decree was issued making the absorption of women into literacy courses completely optional and to accomplish this [words indistinct] school was opened in Wazir Akbar Khan Mina in Kabul.

The number of these schools has now been increased and in the future a large [word indistinct] of it will expand all over the country. In 1360, according to the plan, 550,000 of our compatriots attended a total of 27,000 literacy courses, which were taught by 19,000 teachers. This [words indistinct] in 1361, about 632,500 people are receiving education in literacy courses.

[Text] Iran has sought the help of India in reconstructing its war-damaged industries. The request was made by Iranian Deputy Minister for Commerce (Idayeb Zaidi) when he called on Commerce Minister Shivraj Patril in New Delhi today. (zaidi) said that his country proposes to import engineering items, consultancy services and several essential commodities like rice, wheat and sugar from India. The two ministers discussed the draft trade agreement between India and Iran. The new agreement will give a boost to the economic relations between the two countries.

ARMY, OTHERS INVESTIGATING CHINESE 'INTRUDERS'

[Text] Gauhati, Aug 12 -- The army and other intelligence agencies at Gangtok are interrogating four Chinese nationals who were picked up by an army patrol north of Nathu La on the Sikkim-Tibet border on July 16 and 17. The "intruders" are in the custody of the army. They were arrested by army men fairly deep on the Indian side of the border.

According to highly-placed sources, the intruders appeared initially to be like Tibetan grazers. But the security agencies have not taken any chances and are conducting thorough investigations into their antecedents and into the circumstances in which they entered India.

Investigations so far have reportedly revealed nothing adverse. According to highly-placed sources, the central government has decided to repatriate the intruders as soon as the intelligence agencies clear them. It may take another week or so for the security men to take a decision.

If the intruders are repatriated without prosecution it will be in reciprocation of the Chinese gesture some time ago when they returned an entire 40-strong patrol of the Indian Army. The Sikhs had strayed into the Chinese territory due to compass failure.

Highly-placed sources say it is not unusual for people from both sides to stray across the border given the terrain.

The Chinese Government has been informed of the incident.

NEPAL AGREES TO BUILD DAM ON KOSI RIVER

BK091247 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0730 GMT 9 Aug 82

[Text] India and Nepal have agreed to set up a multipurpose dam on Kosi River and the harnessing of other rivers like Kamla and Baghmati for development of water resources. Minister of State for Irrigation Z.R. Ansari told the Lok Sabha today that further talks are on about the projects. The updated prefeasibility report for Kosi high dam has already been submitted to the Nepalese Government. Ansari said the projects are estimated to cost over 40 billion rupees. The Kosi dam will generate 3,000 megawats of power.

Answering questions, Irrigation Minister Kedar Pandey said India built a barrage on Kosi River following Nepal's earlier refusal to build a dam on the river. The existing Kosi canal is irrigating about 250,000 hectares and plans are afoot to develop western Kosi canal project. However, both the countries have now agreed to build a multipurpose dam for the best possible utilization of the Kosi River.

RAFSANJANI: WORLD'S MUSLIMS COUNTING ON IRAN

[Text] Tehran, Aug 17 (IRNA) -- [Words indistinct] the open session of [words indistinct] this morning, the Majlis speaker Hojjat ol-Eslam Hashemi-Rafsanjani, who has just returned from a one-week visit to India, reported on his trip. Referring to his experience in India, Hashemi-Rafsanjani said that he felt that a great responsibility was weighing on the shoulders of the authorities of the Islamic Republic on the grounds that the Muslims of the world have placed their hopes in the Islamic Republic. In contacts with the people of India, he added, they stressed that the campaign against oppressors and the struggle for defending the rights of the oppressed must become universal.

In another part of his speech he said that it had become evident to the Muslims that Islam had the capacity to lead societies. The leadership of Imam Khomeyni for the people of the world has set an example without precedence in the history of world revolutions. For the first time it has become clear that a movement could be launched without reliance on superpowers and remain independent afterwards, he added. All these considerations make the responsibility of those in charge in Iran greater and, therefore, they must work harder, Hashemi-Rafsanjani stressed.

Referring to the brutal torture and martyrdom of three revolutionary guards in Tehran by [words indistinct] last week, the Majlis speaker said that by committing such atrocities, these outlaws aimed at making the Islamic Republic react in a similar manner and thus stain the reputation of the Islamic Republic. He hoped that the authorities of the courts and the Islamic Revolutionary Guards Corps (IRGC) would have the patience to bear this crime and deal with these incidents sagaciously. That the Monafeqin [Mojahedin-e Khalq] have reached such a state of insanity, showed that they were doomed to destruction, he said. This statement of the Majlis speaker was received by the approval of the deputies who chanted Allah Akbar (God is great).

Following Hashemi-Rafsanjani's remarks, the deputy from Maku, West Azarbayjan Province, Hashem Hejazi, criticised the silence of the so-called human rights organisations towards the massacre of thousands of Palestinians and Lebanese by the Zionist regime.

In today's session, resignation of the Rezaiyeh deputy, Gholam Reza Hasani, was approved. Hasani submitted his resignation to the Majlis two weeks ago on the grounds that he was serving as the Friday prayer leader of the city. Several bills were discussed in the session which ended before noon. The next session is scheduled for tomorrow morning.

JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUE NO 1,019 DETAILS FIGHTING

[Text] In His exalted name. The situation on the battlefronts of the imposed war and the battle by the brave combatants of Islam is brought to the attention of the Muslim and combative Islamic community of Iran.

On the country's Western fronts the self-sacrificing warriors of the ground forces, together with other combatants of Islam, returned enemy fire and shelled enemy positions, units and supply axes. During this exchange of fire, one supply bridge of the Iraqi Ba'thist mercenaries was destroyed, one ammunition depot of the aggressors was set on fire and a number of their troops were killed. On these fronts, the self-sacrificing combatants of Islam silenced enemy artillery and other heavy weapons fire, and controlled their movements and operations.

Exchange of fire on most of the southern fronts continued yesterday and the combatants of Islam, consolidating their own defensive positions, returned enemy fire by pounding Iraqi forces' positions and fortifications. On these fronts the combatants of Islam sent out tank hunting squads to carry out reconnaissance operations with [words indistinct] inflicted the necessary blows on the Iraqi Ba'thist mercenaries. In this way the combatants of Islam controlled enemy operations and movements.

On the Abadan front and the Arvand Rud sector the brave warriors of the gendarmerie returned Saddam's mercenaries' fire and silenced their heavy artillery fire. Approximately 10 Iraqi Ba'thist aggressors were killed and more than 20 wounded. By destroying seven slit trenches and foxholes of the Iraqi Ba'thist aggressors our gendarmerie forces prevented the disintegrating Saddamist forces' movements.

Yesterday artillery fire of the Saddamist criminal mercenaries damaged the city of Abadan. Our casualties in this city included one martyr and several wounded.

Also yesterday the aggressive planes of the invading Iraqi Armed Forces tried to violate the airspace of some border regions, but antiaircraft fire of the air defense units of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran forced the aggressive planes of the enemy to flee.

IRAQ'S AL-FAW OIL INSTALLATION UNDER ATTACK

[Text] Abadan, Aug 14, IRNA -- The Al-Faw oil installation in southern Iraq, came under the heavy fire of the Iranian forces which caused considerable damage on Saturday.

Also, during this same time, more than 25 Iraqis were killed as the enemy positions beyond the Arvand Rud were subjected to the Iranian artillery which smashed two watch posts, four machine gun positions and five group bunkers.

In another development today one Iraqi command post was pounded and 35 more enemy soldiers were killed under the artillery fire of the Islamic forces which was directed at the enemy positions in the Iraqi regions of Chahar Cheragh and Sibeh beyond the Arvand Rud. Meanwhile, the enemy movements and artillery fire were halted when the Iranian defenders, barraging the Iraqi logistical routes of Sibeh-Saita and Al-Faw-Basra, killed or wounded at least 15 Iraqi soldiers and destroyed one 60-mm mortar launcher, one anti-aircraft gun, seven watch posts and eight trenches of the Iraqi Ba'thists during Saturday.

USSR POWER UNIT IN AHVAZ BACK IN OPERATION

GF141810 Ahvaz Domestic Service in Persian 1330 GMT 14 Aug 82

[Text] The first 315-megawatt unit of the four units comprising the thermal powerplant of Khuzestan went into operation yesterday afternoon in the presence of Ghafuri-Fard, energy minister, deputies and directors-general of the ministry and some of the Khuzestan authorities, and the production capacity of the power generated was linked to the national network.

During the opening ceremonies of this power station, the director-general presented a report on the history of the project from the initial stages of construction to the present phase. Then, Energy Minister Ghafuri-Fard delivered a speech pressing his appreciation on the [words indistinct] of the power plant and its role in awakening the dormant talents of the creative, dedicated forces of the Islamic revolution.

It may be recalled that the construction of the power station began in August 1974, after the signing of an agreement with the Soviet Union. Following the victory of the Islamic revolution, the first unit of the station went into production in 1980. After the beginning of the imposed war, this station was damaged, and this powerplant became disconnected from the national network. However, the dedicated and revolutionary workers of the powerplant began repair work about 5 months ago and succeeded in repairing the first of the four units of the 1260-megawatt capacity plant. This unit has increased the production of power of the national network in the first phase of its operation by 100 megawattas since yesterday and will reach its maximum output of 315 megawatts in the next few hours.

By joining the national network, the first unit will increase the total national power production by 8 percent. It will also have a considerable stabilizing effect on the power production of the Khuzestan Province. Furthermore, it may be mentioned that with the linking of the powerplant to the national grid, the shortage of power in the other units will be considerably minimized and by removal of certain units from the network, it will be possible to repair and service them as required.

NVOI: FOIL U.S. PLOTS BY ENDING GULF WAR

[Unattributed commentary: "Let Us Deprive America of the Potential for Exploitation by Ending the Imposed War"]

[Text] Dear compatriots: World-devouring America's war imposed on Iran's liberated nation has so far cost us innumerable material and human losses. According to a figure presented by our country's president, Iran has suffered $150 billion in damages, equivalent to 6 years of Iran's oil income, which without a doubt is an extremely heavy blow to Iran's economy. The Iraqi nation, too, has suffered at least $100 billion in financial losses in this war. Thus, world-devouring America, by imposing the destructive war on the Iranian and Iraq nations who could have played a great role in the struggle against Israel's occupying regime, inflicted losses of $250 billion upon them. In addition to $250 billion in financial losses, countless human losses have also been inflicted on the two nations. This is precisely what world-devouring America and Zionist Israel wished and continue to wish.

Not many days had passed after the imposition of war on Iran's peace-loving nation before we witnessed the extensive activity of Zionist Israel's military and political machine in the region. Simultaneously with engaging in a series of air violations against a number of Arab countries, Israel with the utmost impunity entertained the thought of annexing the Golan, and after a while it brutally launched an attack on Lebanese territory, and up to this day it is engaged in shedding the blood of Palestinian and Lebanese strugglers.

It is obvious that the continuation of military clashes between our country and Iraq has in many respects allowed and will allow the aggressor Israel and world-devouring America to commit further aggression. For this reason the continuation of this war, to the limit of bringing revolutionary Iran to its knees, is in the interest of world-devouring America.

To the acknowledgement of even imperialist and Zionist newspapers and mass media, the outstanding victories by Iran's Armed Forces in ousting the agressive enemy alarmed America's and the region's reactionary circles, and the consequences of this victory aroused their concern and fear. This victory caused the consolidation of the foundations of the system of the Islamic Republic of Iran, and since after months of epic-making self-sacrifice the Iranian nation was able to cleanse the homeland's soil from the filty presence of the agressive enemy, it aroused the deep admiration and respect of progressive mankind and all anti-imperialist countries. Neutralizing the consequences of this great victory by the Islamic Republic's system in the imposed war is the main goal of world-devouring America.

Both America and the region's reaction see in the continuation of the war the best way to neutralize the results of revolutionary Iran's victory. For this reason all realistic revolutionary forces perceive the interest of our revolutionary homeland and of our ever-on-the-scene nation in terminating the imposed war. Of course the conditions for ending the war have been repeatedly stated by the leaders of the revolution and the committed government figures of the Islamic Republic of Iran.

One should forever remember the Imam's guideline regarding the aims of world-devouring America and the fact that should it be necessary this sworn enemy of Iran will wait 50 years to strike at anti-U.S. Iran, and one must never entertain the thought that one day America will recognize the Iranian revolution and anti-U.S. Iran. As long as the government of the Islamic Republic of Iran moves forward in the imam's line, namely the line of all-out consolidation of Iran's political, economic, military and cultural independence, the line of struggle against imperialism headed by world-devouring America, the line of securing an honorable life for the million-strong deprived masses, including aiding the deprived nations of the region that are under the domination of imperialism and Zionism, America will fight against the Islamic Republic of Iran, and will not refrain from any crime and plot to bring the Islamic Republic to its knees.

America is striving with all its might to bring to power in Iran a so-called moderate, middle-of-the-road and Westernized government. This is the line of the main movement by imperialist America with respect to revolutionary Iran. For this reason the policy of the Government of the Islamic Republic of Iran in all fields, including the issue of the war, should be based on foiling this criminal plan by America.

OFFICIALS CLAIM UNION OF COMMUNISTS ERADICATED

LD171938 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 17 Aug 82

[Text] According to the Central News Unit, in connection with the eradication of the organization of Iran's communists, the following statement was issued by the Public Relations Office of the Central Prosecutor's Office:

In the name of God, the crusher of the oppressors. You saw what the people of Amol did to you. Imam Khomeyni, the organization of the Union of the Communists of Iran [Tashkilat-e ette-hadiye-he komonist-haye Iran], the perpetrators of the bloody crime in Amol, has been completely wiped out.

O heroic Islamic community of Iran, the martyr-nurturing people of Amol, following the proud advances of the combatants of Islam, in line with the courageous operations to penetrate Iraq and with the extensive cooperation of the hezbollah ummah and the incessant efforts of the brothers in the Islamic Revolution is Central Prosecutor's Office, by simultaneously implementing an extensive plan, the American organization of the Union of the Communists of Iran, the planners and perpetrators of the bloody crimes on 26 January 1981 in Amol, was completely wiped out.

One hundred members, the governing board, leadership, cadres and those responsible for the provincial branches were arrested. Several safe houses, overt and covert print shops of the organization, assorted weapons and large quantities of ammunition for rocket launchers, explosives, bullet-proof vests, a complete transmitter-receiver network, typewriters, printing machines and photocopiers, interorganizational documents on the attack on Amol, the connection between the organization and the national resistance council and the so-called government-in-exile of Bani-Sadr and Rajavi, the connection with the mercenaries of the arch satan in Kordestan and also several cardboard boxes full of rare and expensive drugs, which the said minigroup had obtained for use in Jangal, were discovered and seized.

The names of some of the arrested are as follows: (Hoseyn Taj Mir Qiyahi), alias Naser the great, the organization's number one agent and member of the leadership, responsible for the whole organization, responsible for the Jangal incident, planner of the attack on Amol and responsible for the murder of dozens of brave young people of Amol; he was wounded during the said attack.

(Faramarz Semnani), alias Mostafa, the organization's theoretician and architect, member of the central cadres and of the organizational committee, secretary general of (Ehya) confederation in America. He spent 15 years in Berkeley, the United States, and returned to Iran in the glorious days of the victory of the revolution.

(Majid Sari'olqalam), alias Mostafa; formerly responsible for the organization, member of the governing board, member of the central cadres and the organizational committee. He spent 14 years in Kansas, Chicago, Oklahoma and Los Angeles, the United States.

(Farid Sari'olwalam), alias Ehsan; member of the leadership and responsible for all of the printing and publication. He spent 10 years in Kansas, the United States.

('Abdolraman Azmayash), alias Daryush, member of the organization's leadership, responsible for the workers' branch, responsible for the Tehran committee. He spent 6 years in Iowa, the United States.

(Mohammad Hoseyn 'Aliabadi), alias Hasan, former member of the leadership, present member of the printing council and responsible for research. He spent 15 years in San Jose, the United States.

(Farajollah Losani), aliases Fariborz and Aqamirza, member of the printing council. In 1979-80 he attended a debate with the famous liberal Abolhasan Bani-Sadr at the industrial university, as the organization's spokesman. He spent 9 years in Michigan, the United States.

[Word indistinct] (Khorramruz), alias Mirza Yusef, formerly responsible for Esfahan, deputy in the Jangal incident.

(Mohammad Reza Vosuqi), alias Mahmud Gilan, formerly responsible for Gilan and liaison between printing and leadership. He spent 9 years in Los Angeles, the United States.

(Sadeq Khabbaz), alias Samad, holding a false birth certificate in the name of (Ahmad Bustan), member of the Tehran committee, formerly responsible for the Dezful branch. In 1970-71 he was responsible for the hijacking of a plane to Baghdad.

('Abbas Sa'idaqi), alias 'Ali, responsible for the Al-Ahrar group, Khalq-e 'Arab, the Arabian branch of the organization.

(Hamid 'Ayyur), alias Jasem, responsible for the Abadan branch of the organization.

(Nasrin Jazayeri), alias Parvaneh, responsible for the (Peyk) committee of the organization. She spent 3 years in Chicago, the United States.

It should be explained that this American minigroup, which believed in participating in the Iran-Iraq war, and aimed its weapons at the people of Amol to shed the pure blood of many dear hezbollahi people on the streets and alleyways of Amol, had stolen most of the weapons from its agents in the fronts, who thus fulfilled their promise to the arch satan America and bereaved many families.

In this connection, due to the efforts and cooperation of the Ahvaz prosecutor's office and the regional guards corps, large quantities of ammunition and heavy and light weapons that they had hidden in Abadan were discovered and seized.

In the hope of the victory of the forces of Islam and the destruction of U.S. internal agents!

CLANDESTINE: DEATH NOT EXPECTED FOR QOTBZADEH

GF172024 (Clandestine) Free Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1500 GMT 17 Aug 82

[Summary] The trial of Sadeq Qotbzadeh has been adjourned until next Saturday. At yesterday's court session which was held in camera at the Evin Prison, Qotbzadeh (?defended himself). He has been cooperating with the regime's officials at the prison and has revealed the names of several people to the regime's clergymen in the hope of saving himself.

It is thought that the adjournment of the case reveals the regime's reluctance to impose a death sentence on Qotbzadeh.

Qotbzadeh has been charged with conspiring to kill Khomeyni and plotting a coup d'etat against the clergymen's regime. In fact, Qotbzadeh, through his own admissions in Tehran and in his talk on television, has provided an excuse to Khomeyni and the mullahs to malign a prominent religious leader like Ayatollah Shari'atmadari.

In view of Qotbzadeh's real role, which is his cooperation with the Khomeyni regime, and their machinations against Ayatollah Shari'atmadari, it is not expected that Qotbzadeh will be sentenced to death. What is more Qotbzadeh is one of those persons who helped to build Khomeyni in his role as the imam. It is also being said that Khomeyni, in view of his indebtedness to Qotbzadeh, may avoid passing the death sentence.

Western dailies while referring to the Qotbzadeh trial today reported that the trial that began last Saturday has been adjourned until next week. A Paris paper [name indistinct] reported that last week 70 people were executed in Iran for the crime of cooperating with Qotbzadeh.

Lebanon

Israeli Approval of Evacuation Plan -- Israel has approved the draft arrangement for the evacuation of all the "terrorists" from Beirut and Lebanon submitted to the Cabinet by U.S. envoy Philip Habib, the Cabinet secretary announced in a 19 August statement broadcast by IDF radio. Noting that the Cabinet approved the agreement in a special session during which further clarifications were received from the Americans, Jerusalem radio said the United States has made it clear that the "terrorists" will release an IDF soldier they kidnapped in Beirut on 18 August along with the Israeli pilot they hold. Earlier, Israel told Habib that the evacuation cannot proceed unless the kidnapped soldier is returned along with the pilot, according to the radio. Israel notified the United States that it takes a "severe view" of cease-fire violations and also transmitted "serious warnings" to Syria to stop the violations perpetrated by the "terrorists" operating under Syria's aegis in eastern Lebanon, the radio said.

Providing details of the evacuation agreement, Jerusalem radio said around 13,000 PLO "terrorists," 5,200 Syrian and affiliated soldiers and 1,000 foreigners will leave Beirut within a 2-week period. The IDF will attempt to photograph all the departing "terrorists," the radio noted.

Lebanese Approval of Plan, Presidential Election Postponement -- The Lebanese Cabinet decided to request the dispatch of multinational forces to Beirut and approved the plan worked out by U.S. envoy Habib on the evacuation of the PLO, Beirut radio reported. In remarks by Lebanese Prime Minister Shafiq al-Wazzan carried by the radio after the 18 August Cabinet meeting, he asserted that all "obstacles and ambiguities" have been removed and there are no outstanding problems. Al-Wazzan revealed that "E-Day" will be decided within 24 hours and that the entire evacuation process will take 15 days. In a television interview later that evening, reported by Voice of Lebanon radio, Al-Wazzan said the evacuation plan is part of the Lebanese Government's required program that Israeli, Palestinian and Syrian forces all leave Lebanon.

The Chamber of Deputies postponed its presidential election session until 23 August. In an 18 August statement carried by Beirut radio, the Chamber of Deputies Bureau stressed that a minimum level of security around the Chamber of Deputies building had not even been achieved and that the postponed election session will be held in the War College. Beirut radio reported that shells were fired in the Mansur Palace area during the evening; Jerusalem radio said the firing was between the Lebanese Army and the "terrorists."

Lebanese Front Military Commander Bashir al-Jumayyil described the postponement as "favorable as long as it preserved Lebanese unity," Voice of Lebanon radio reported; earlier the radio carried a Lebanese Front announcement nominating Al-Jumayyil as candidate for the Presidency. Meanwhile, a meeting of Lebanese Sunni, Shi'ite and Druze leaders decided to boycott the election session until sufficient time is allowed to agree on a common candidate, according to Beirut radio and AFP reports.

Future of PLO Leadership -- Tunisian authorities have agreed to receive PLO Executive Committee Chairman Yasir 'Arafat in Tunis, well-informed sources cited by Voice of Lebanon radio said. However, in a statement to the SANA correspondent in Beirut, reported by Damascus radio, Secretary General of the Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine Nayif Hawatimah declared that the PLO leadership will be located in Syria, along with its administrative and political infrastructure, because Syria has fought alongside the Palestinians and Damascus has housed the PLO headquarters.

Cease-Fire, Military Situation -- The "terrorists" killed two Israeli soldiers and wounded four more in an ambush east of Beirut and also kidnapped an Israeli soldier near the Burj al-Barajinah camp, according to statements by the IDF spokesman reported by IDF radio and ITIM. The IDF responded to the cease-fire violations in the eastern sector, killing two "terrorists" near 'Ammiq, but did not return fire in the Beirut area. Meanwhile, car-bomb explosions near the Palestine Research Center in west Beirut injured five people, according to the clandestine Voice of Palestine radio. The radio also reported that the Israelis have reinforced their troops in the Al-Biqa' Valley with an armored battalion.

The IDF is holding 296 Syrian prisoners while the Syrians may hold 6 missing Israelis, MA'ARIV reported citing the IDF Manpower Branch chief.

Inter-Arab Affairs

Khaddam-Fahd Talks -- Syrian Foreign Minister 'Abd al-Halim Khaddam returned to Syria after meeting briefly with Saudi King Fahd in At-Ta'if, Damascus television reported. Noting that a Saudi source described the talks as "very important," Monte Carlo radio said topics discussed included the Lebanese presidential elections, the future of the Syrian presence in Lebanon and the resumption of the Arab summit conference. Saudi Arabia stressed that it supports any candidate for the Lebanese Presidency acceptable to the majority of Lebanese and that regardless of who the candidate is, Lebanon must have a strong legal authority to impose its control over Lebanese territory. While the Saudis believe Syria must withdraw from Lebanon if asked to do so by the legitimate Lebanese authorities, Syria believes any withdrawal should be postponed until a unanimous decision is made on the issue at the reconvened Arab summit conference, the radio added. Khaddam told the Saudis that Syria is ready to discuss King Fahd's Middle East peace plan at the summit prior to accepting it.

Al-Qadhdhafi Summit Participation -- The Arab League is contacting Libya in an attempt to persuade Col Mu'ammar al-Qadhdhafi to participate in the forthcoming Arab summit conference, KUNA reported citing an Arab official in Rabat.

Iran-Iraq War

In a statement carried by Baghdad radio, an Iraqi military spokesman announced that Khark Island oil installations were shelled by Iraq as a "last warning" to foreign oil tankers entering the area and to Iran to stop bombing Iraqi cities. The Iranian Navy commander responded to Iraqi threats by reassuring commercial shipping that the Persian Gulf is guarded by the Iranian Navy and that the Iraqi claims are "empty propaganda," IRNA reported. According to reports cited by Tehran radio, Iranian forces fired on an Iraqi supply column on the Al-Faw-Basra road, killing 70 Iraqis. Meanwhile, an Iranian commander asserted that several areas in Ilam Province are still occupied by Iraqi forces, IRNA reported.

KARMAL, KESHTMAND REPLY TO BREZHNEV, TIKHONOV

LD181802 Kabul Domestic Service in Dari 1600 GMT 18 Aug 82

[Text] The following reply telegram from Babrak Karmal, general secretary of the PDPA Central Committee and president of the DRA Revolutionary Council, and Soltan Ali Keshtmand, DRA chairman of the Council of Ministers, addressed to L.I. Brezhnev, general secretary of the CPSU Central Committee and president of the USSR Supreme Soviet, and Nikolay A. Tikhonov, chairman of the USSR Council of Ministers, has been communicated to Moscow.

Comrade L.I. Brezhnev, general secretary of the CPSU Central Committee and president of the USSR Supreme Soviet; Comrade N.A. Tikhonov, chairman of the USSR Council of Ministers: On behalf of the people of Afghanistan, the PDPA Central Committee, the DRA Revolutionary Council and Council of Ministers and also on our own behalf we express our deep and hearty thanks for your warm fraternal greetings on the 63d anniversary of Afghanistan's independence.

More than 60 years ago the freedom-loving people of Afghanistan in their heroic struggle against foreign colonialists defended the independence of their beloved country. The people of Afghanistan well remember that the Soviet state in those years under the leadership of V.I. Lenin, officially recognized independent and sovereign Afghanistan before any other state. Since then Afghanistan's relations with the country of the Soviets, which are based on the principles of friendship, good-neighborliness, respect for national sovereignty, territorial integrity, and reciprocal and fruitful cooperation with equal rights have been developed in the interests of the people of both countries.

Since the victory of the April Revolution in Afghanistan, relations between our countries have risen to new higher qualitative levels. The Soviet Union is loyal to its internationalist duty. It has extended and is extending selfless fraternal aid to the people of Afghanistan to safeguard the gains of the revolution against the intrigues of the enemies of our free, independent and progressive country. The Soviet Union's aid to the people of Afghanistan in building a new and just society, which has been taking place under the leadership of the PDPA, is great and valuable. The unbreakable friendship and fraternal cooperation with the Soviet Union give inspiration for new victories in the interest of our noble and proud people and in the interest of peace in the region and throughout the world.

On behalf of the people of Afghanistan, the PDPA Central Committee, the DRA Government and Revolutionary Council and also on behalf of ourselves we wish prosperity to the CPSU Central Committee, the USSR Supreme Soviet and the Soviet Government and personally to you dear comrades, L.I. Brezhnev and N.A. Tikhonov.

[Signed] Babrak Karmal, general secretary of the PDPA Central Committee and president of the DRA Revolutionary Council; Soltan Ali Keshtmand, chairman of the DRA Council of Ministers

GUERRILLAS TARGET SOVIET INSTALLATIONS

BK181726 Hong Kong AFP in English 1711 GMT 18 Aug 82

[By Sami Zubeiri]

[Text] Islamabad, Aug. 18 (AFP) -- Moslem guerrillas, in what was seen here as changed strategy, have selected Soviet installations in Afghanistan as targets, reports from Kabul said.

According to Afghan sources here, the last week's "unusually heavy firing" around the well-guarded Soviet Embassy building as reported by Western diplomats in Kabul was "carefully planned attack" which followed raids on Soviet diplomatic quarters in the Afghan capital.

The previous day, on August 10, rebels attacked Kabul's Makrorian area, where most of the Russian advisors and high-ranking ruling members live, resistance sources in Pakistan said. The attack lasted several hours. The exact number of casualties was not known.

The same day they launched rocket attack on the Defence Ministry offices near Kabul's Darul Aman region, where senior Soviet military advisors also work, the guerrilla sources said. One political counsel identified as Sarmast, a senior Afghan army officer, and eight soldiers of the 80th Afghan Battalion were killed beside some unidentified Russians, the rebels said.

The Russians considered themselves relatively safe in Kabul, but the recent wave of attacks has caused concern in official circles, rebel sources said, adding that the security around the Soviet Embassy and their residential quarters has been intensified.

However, their "harassment" continues and the Russians, despite three years of their intervention, were finding life difficult in Afghanistan, the sources said.

They quoted an incident early this month when two Russians were killed in a guerrilla ambush in Hood Khel orchard where they had gone to pick up grapes.

Western diplomatic sources meanwhile said that the army vehicles provide escort to Russian shoppers in Kabul bazaars.

They agreed that the Russians have not been able to adjust themselves to the difficult situation in Afghanistan.

REBELS ANNIHILATE SOVIET MILITARY COLUMN

LD182110 Tehran in English to Europe 1930 GMT 18 Aug 82

[Text] The Afghan Muslim freedom fighters, in an attack on a military column of the Soviet forces in the Province of Qandahar, south Afghanistan, totally annihilated it.

In the course of these operations, 110 tanks of the Soviet forces, including many of their personnel, were killed.

Another report further indicates: in the course of (?clashes) which took place between the Afghan Muslim freedom fighters and the Soviet and Afghan governmental forces on one hand and the clashes in the streets of the city of Herat on the other, 14 Afghan and Soviet forces were killed and Soviet personnel carrier was set ablaze as well.

REBELS INJURE NIMRUZ GOVERNOR, FREE 79 PRISONERS

[Text] The Afghan freedom fighters are reported to have carried out daring attacks on the governor's house, jail and cantonement of (Daranj) in Nimruz, close to the Iranian border.

As a result of this 8-hour-long operation involving bloody fighting, the freedom fighters secured the release of 79 detained persons including their fellow mujahidin. There were casualties on both sides. The governor of Nimruz is also reported to have been injured.

The freedom fighters also captured a sizeable quantity of arms and ammunition including 23 Kalashnikov rifles. The report adds that untold atrocities were being committed on the persons detained in (Daranj) jail whom the freedom fighters got released.

YUGOSLAVIA'S VLAJKOVIC PAYS OFFICIAL VISIT

Talks With Ershad

BK171306 Dacca Domestic Service in English 1205 GMT 17 Aug 82

[Excerpts] Formal Talks were held between Bangladesh and Yugoslavia in Dacca today. The talks lasted 2 and 1/2 hours.

An official spokesman told newsmen after the talks that the two sides held wide-ranging discussions relating particularly to the forthcoming nonaligned summit. Bilateral, regional and international issues were also discussed.

The spokesman said the talks were held in a friendly and cordial atmosphere.

Yugoslav presidential member Radovan Vlajkovic led the Yugoslav side at the talks.

The Bangladesh side was led by Chief Martial Law Administrator Lt Gen H.M. Ershad.

Earlier, the chief martial law administrator called on the visiting Yugoslav leader at Bangabhavan. They discussed matters of mutual interest during the 40-minute meeting.

Addresses Luncheon

BK171652 Dacca Domestic Service in English 1530 GMT 17 Aug 82

[Text] Chief Martial Law Administrator [CMLA] Lt Gen H.M. Ershad has said Bangladesh and Yugoslavia hold identical views on the need of solidarity and unity against Israeli aggression and flagrant violation of international laws. The CMLA was speaking at a luncheon party hosted by him in honor of the visiting Yugoslav Presidency member, Radovan Vlajkovic, in the army officers mess.

Gen Ershad said the Israeli attack on Lebanon, the Palestinian problem and the future of Jerusalem had created a serious problem in recent history. He expressed the confidence that the Nonaligned Movement can build up an atmosphere for adoption of a united stand against Israeli aggression on Lebanon and its flagrant violation of international norms.

Referring to the Iran-Iraq war, the CMLA said the conflict should end to enable us to engage all our efforts for peace and progress. Gen Ershad said Bangladesh had always supported the struggle of freedom-loving people and raised their voice in support of the bloc of ending colonialism, establishment of the voice of self-determination of all nations and socioeconomic development. The present government would continue to pursue this policy and objectives, he added.

Turning to the home front, the CMLA said we are determined to give maximum benefit to our people through a new decentralized system which will help establish social justice and regenerate the economy. The government has taken some reformatory measures which will make the country self-reliant on the domestic front, while we will make true (?representation) of state sovereignty abroad following the principles of the Nonaligned Movement. He said he was sure that the Islamic Conference, the Nonaligned Movement and the various agencies of the United Nations will be able to realize the significance of our efforts.

In reply, Yugoslav Presidency member Radovan Vlajkovic said his visit has created better understanding between Bangladesh and Yugoslavia on all subjects. We feel concerned about the current international situation and we have identical views of the problems the world is facing now, he added.

In the evening, Radovan Vlajkovic attended a civic reception given in his honor at Banga Bhavan. In reply to an address of welcome given by Minister for Local Government Mahbubur Rahman, Vlajkovic said the developing countries should cooperate more in all fields particularly in the fields of agriculture, food production and relevant technology. He said both Bangladesh and Yugoslavia have been closely cooperating in strengthening the Nonaligned Movement. Both the countries have common background in the struggle for freedom and independence and both are striving for the common cause of world peace and tranquility.

Welcoming the distinguished guest, Minister for Local Government Mahbubur Rahman expressed the hope that the visit of Vlajkovic will strengthen and deepen the existing friendly relations between the two countries. The Yugoslav leader was presented the golden key of the city of Dacca.

Cooperation Accords Signed

[Text] Bangladesh and Yugoslavia have signed two separate agreements on educational and cultural exchange and scientific and technical program for promotion of understanding between the two countries. The agreements were signed by Education Minister Dr A. Majid Khan and Dr Ivo Margan, member of the Federal Executive Council and chairman of the Committee for Foreign Affairs of Yugoslavia, on behalf of their governments at Banga Bhavan this morning.

Under the provision of the 2-year cultural and educational program, the two governments will promote understanding and cooperation between their peoples in the fields of education, culture, art, information and other related matters. The two countries will also promote cooperation between their radio and television networks.

BOMBAY POLICE WARNED OF INDISCIPLINE, VIOLENCE

[Text] With the army assisting the civilian authorities in the disturbed areas of Bombay, rapid improvement is expected in the situation by tomorrow. The state government has issued strict warnings to the agitating policemen that any act of indiscipline and violence amongst the constabulary will be dealt with with a firm hand. It appealed to the policemen to resume their duties and help the administration in bringing back the situation to normalcy. A 24-hour curfew has been clamped in the disturbed areas of central Bombay where some policemen joined by antisocial elements blocked roads and railway traffic by resorting to heavy stone throwing this morning. The Maharashtra Government suspended last night all the unions and associations of the state police constabulary. The decision followed undisciplined behaviour of policemen who wore black badges on Independence Day despite the government's appeal to refrain from such demonstrations.

The minister of state for home and information, Shrikant Jichkar, told newsmen that 90 policemen have been dismissed from service and 22 arrested under the national security act. The center has asked the Maharashtra Government to take strict action against police personnel responsible for acts of indiscipline in Bombay. An official spokesman said in New Delhi that the government is always prepared to discuss grievances, but no act of indiscipline will be tolerated. He said: As desired by the state government, some units of the central police force and border security force are being sent to Bombay.

The Maharashtra chief minister, Bhosale, met union Home Secretary T.N. Chaturvedi in New Delhi this morning and discussed the situation in the city. The home secretary later left for Bombay for making an on-the-spot study. Bhosale returned to Bombay this afternoon.

In a broadcast over All India radio [Bombay station], the chief minister appealed to the people to cooperate with the government in maintaining law and order. Bhosale said the majority of police in the state are not supporting the agitation started by a handful of police union leaders. He pointed out that the government has already announced several amenities for the police personnel and the committee appointed to examine further benefits has been asked to submit its report within 3 months. He emphasized that the Maharashtra police has a fine record which they would not tarnish because of incitement by some antisocial elements.

Army To Control Situation

BK180854 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0830 GMT 18 Aug 82

[Text] In Bombay, the army has been called out to keep the situation under control following demonstrations by a section of the state policemen. The demonstraton started in Dadar, Parel and Worli areas this morning. Some policemen, joined by antisocial elements, started blocking the road and suburban railway line. Demonstrations by a section of the state policemen started following the suspension of all unions and associations of the state police constabulary last night by the Maharashtra Government. The decision followed the wearing of black badges by the policemen on Independence Day. Maharashtra Minister of State for Home and Information Shrikant Jichkar told newsmen that 90 policemen have been dismissed and 22 detained under the National Security Act.

Normalcy Returning

[Text] Bombay is returning to normalcy with buses, suburban trains, taxis and private cars moving freely except in the curfew-bound areas. Suburban trains were crowded as usual, according to PTI, all the international and domestic flights left Bombay Airport on schedule this morning. However, in Parel area, the central reserve police fired one round to disperse an unruly mob which indulged in stone throwing at police officers patrolling the area. One person was injured.

All India Radio Bombay correspondent says the strike call for today seem to have evoked very little response. State Home Secretary D.N. Capoor said that the siuation all over Maharashtra is normal. A spokesman of the police commissioner's office informed the All India Radio Bombay correspondent a short while ago that the curfew clamped in the central Bombay areas has been extended up to 0600 tomorrow.

Chief Minister Bhosale had discussions in Bombay last night with union Home Secretary T.N. Chaturvedi and other senior officers. The chief minister told them that the state government will take necessary steps to insure that life and property are protected. He told newsmen that the situation is under control.

HARYANA POLICE 'TROUBLEMAKERS' MAY BE SACKED

[Excerpts] New Delhi, Aug. 18 (AFP) -- Indian Army units swooped on the western port city of Bombay today following armed clashes between demonstrating policemen this morning following a rebellion call by a section of the state policemen, the state-owned radio said. Army units in full battle dress were patrolling the city streets as reports of clashes continued to pour in, Indian News Agency reports said.

Meanwhile, the pro-communist newspaper PATRIOT today reported that the Haryana state government, neighbouring New Delhi, is considering sacking about two dozen "trouble makers" in the police force who were involved in demonstrations and actions to block traffic Sunday near Madhuban, headquarters of the Haryana armed police.

A police commandant has been suspended and another one transferred in the wake of Sunday night's demonstration.

The men were demonstrating to back demands for improvements in wages and working conditions, "removal of political interference" and recognition of their union, the reports said.

Quoting reliable sources, the papers said that the policemen, most of them stationed at Madhuban, had already been identified and that "action" against them may be initiated soon. A police spokesman was quoted as saying that only a handful of "disgruntled" policemen were behind the trouble.

HIGH COURT DISMISSES CHALLENGES TO ZAIL SINGH

WEST BENGAL MINISTRY PORTFOLIOS DISPUTE SETTLED

BK170359 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0240 GMT 17 Aug 82

[Text] In West Bengal, the dispute over bifurcation of ministerial portfolios among the ruling left front partners has been settled. The major partner in the nine-party front -- Communist Party of India-Marxist [CPI-M] -- has accepted the second proposal of the Forward Bloc Secretary Ashok Ghos in Calcutta yesterday after a meeting of the party Secretariat. He said a special meeting of the party state committee will be held today to ratify the recommendations of the Secretariat.

The CPI-M had earlier rejected the Forward Bloc's first proposal for allocation of sports portfolio to it in exchange for minor irrigation. [sentence as heard]

AKALI SIKH FRONT COURTING ARREST IN E. PUNJAB

GF161638 Karachi MASHRIQ in Urdu 11 Aug 82 p 1, 6

[Text] New Delhi, 10 Aug (APP) -- The Akali Morcha [Akali Sihk front] has begun a movement of courting voluntary arrest for the past week. More than 100 Sikhs have presented themselves for arrest each day. However, the Indian mass media is ignoring this Sikh agitation. In East Punjab, the state government and several parties from the opposition have banded together against the Akali Morcha. On the 4th day of the agitation, 107 Sikh volunteers led by Hari Singh, a former member of the state legislature, presented themselves for arrest in Amritsar. Before this, the president of the Akali Dal Party, Sant Harchand Singh Linguwal, announced that the party had received solidarity messages from Sikhs residing in the United Kingdom. Meanwhile, posters in Gurmukhi script have appeared on walls in Amritsar announcing the rejection by the state Bharatiya Janta Party in a statement by its leader Dr Baldev Prakash if the Sikh invitation to Janta to side with Akali Morcha. The statement called the agitation antipeople and antistate and said that Janta will cooperate in crushing any sectarian agitation in Punjab in support of maintaining the territorial integrity of India. A leader of the Indian Communist Party [Tisa Pal Dang] has said that the Akali Morcha is being used by extremists. Several leaders of the Indian National Congress have been holding daily public meetings to denounce the Akali Morcha.

During recent agitation for the political goal of Khalistan, a separate country for the Sikhs, 1,000 persons were arrested. The agitation was joined by the Akali Dal last week after the hijacking of an Indian airliner by a Sikh. The arrested persons also include 75 Muslims. The extremist Khalsa Dal, another Sikh faction, was outlawed last May. However, the Indian Interior Ministry has admitted that the Khalistan movement is still active. The Khalsa Dal has also demanded an independent Khalistan.

HAQ NOTES 'ISLAMIZATION' STEPS, OTHER MATTERS

[Text] President Mohammad Ziaul Haq has said the present government has created a suitable atmosphere for Islamization and the advances made in this connection during the last 5 years were more than that made during the past 30 years. In an interview with weekly 'HURMAT of Rawalpindi, he said the government has taken a number of steps for the introduction of the Islamic system. He said this is due to [words indistinct] the Zakat and Ushra systems have been introduced. He also mentioned the interest-free investment and setting up of shariat courts. The president said: Now Islam and the Islamic system is referred to not apologetically but proudly. We have restored the self-respect of the people, no matter rich or poor.

The president said he understood that a Pakistani, no matter in what condition he was living, was proud to be called a Pakistani. This was altogether different from what was the position during the past 30 years. The nation, he said, has begun its march toward its destination. The present government, he added, has been successful in giving a practical shape to the ideas which provided the basis for the establishment of Pakistan. With the grace of God, the conditions are suitable to work for the (?transformation) of our [word indistinct] and by the grace of God we will succeed.

In reply to a question, the president said many measures have been taken to protect the honor of the citizens and success has been attained to a large extent. He gave the assurance that the government will continue its efforts in this direction and remove the administrative and other flaws that may hamper fast work. We have tried to set up a base for this gradual reformation but we can succeed in this jihad only if all the people support it. I am sure that the people of Pakistan will not hesitate in any sacrifice in this regard, he added.

Referring to the economy of the country, he said we have put the ruined economy on constructive lines and local bodies elections in the country have been held after a lapse of 15 years.

About the country's foreign policy, he said we have adopted this in accordance with the national interest and wishes of the nation. One of the basic objectives of the country's foreign policy is to grow friendly ties with all neighboring countries, including the Soviet Union.

Referring to Pakistan's relations with the Soviet Union, he said we are keen to develop further bilateral relations with that country in all fields. Asked about the Afghanistan issue, he said Pakistan has been striving hard to solve the Afghan problem through peaceful means. For this purpose, Pakistan played a positive and constructive role at the recent talks in Geneva.

YUGOSLAVIA'S VLAJKOVIC BEGINS VISIT 18 AUG

BK181515 Katmandu External Service in English 1450 GMT 18 Aug 82

[Excerpts] Prime Minister Surya Bahadur Thapa and Radovan Vlajkovic, member of the Presidency of the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia, held talks in Katmandu this afternoon. They exchanged views on wide-ranging subjects including bilateral, regional and global issues of mutual concern, in an atmosphere of cordiality and friendship. The views expressed by them on these issues were identical. They discussed in particular the trends and developments in the Nonaligned Movement, including motives pertaining to the forthcoming summit of the heads of state and government. Both sides were in complete agreement on the need to preserve and further strengthen the basic principles and unity of the Nonaligned Movement in the interest of world peace and cooperation. The talks lasted for about 2 hours.

Earlier on arrival in Katmandu this morning, Radovan Vlajkovic was received at Tribhuvan International Airport by Prime Minister Surya Bahadur Thapa.

Dinner Speeches Exchanged

BK190142 Hong Kong AFP in English 0118 GMT 19 Aug 82

[Text] Katmandu, Aug 18 (AFP) -- Nepalese Prime Minister Surya Bahadur Thapa hosted a dinner tonight for Radovan Vlajkovic, a member of the Yugoslay group Presidency, and expressed satisfaction that Nepal and Yugoslavia were founder members of the Nonaligned Movement.

Mr Vlajkovic emphasized the importance of the upcoming seventh summit conference of nonaligned countries "in the present aggravated international conditions," and said the summit "can and should contribute to the surmounting of the crisis besetting the international community."

According to Mr Thapa, "the principles of nonalignment have inspired and guided us in our relations with other countries." In the background of cold war and bloc rivalries, "the Nonaligned Movement has made great strides in the last two decades and has today emerged as a powerful force in favor of world peace, cooperation and justice."

The movement has faced "many challenges from within and without. Problems such as Afghanistan, Kampuchea, the Iran-Iraq war are continuing to elude peaceful solution and recently the Lebanese people have fallen victim to a distinctive [as received] war.

"The theatres of conflicts and struggles are now located in the Third World countries, the overwhelming majority of which belong to the nonaligned family," the prime minister continued. "Such a world situation calls for greater dynamism, sense of purpose and unity among the nonaligned countries."

Mr Vlajkovic referred in his speech to the situation in the Middle East, and said a lasting solution could be reached only by "an unconditional withdrawal of Israel from all the occupied territories, the inclusion of the PLO (Palestine Liberation Organization) as the sole and legitimate representative of the Palestinian people in the process of solving the crisis, and respect for the inalienable rights of the Palestinian people including the right to their own state.

"We are concerned very much over the extremely dangerous developments in the Middle East caused by Israel's unrestrained aggression against Lebanon, which was followed by its brutal actions against the Lebanese and Palestinian peoples against whom Israel is committing genocide," Mr Vlajkovic said.

"It is high time the entire international community exerted more energetic efforts and undertook effective measures to stop Israel's aggression and force Israel to withdraw from Lebanon immediately," the Yugoslav leader said.

JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUE 1,020 ON BATTLE SITUATION

[Communique No 1,020 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. Gunfire continued to be exchanged on most of the country's western fronts yesterday. The forces of Islam returned the enemy fire, pounding some of their positions. As a result, several trenches, foxholes and weapons bunkers of the Saddamists were destroyed and several of their troops were killed or wounded. Thanks to the intensity of our fire, the activities of the Iraqi forces in most of the country's western operational sectors were halted.

In the Marivan sector, gunfire continued to be exchanged with our forces proving superior. In the (Rushan) region, the enemy positions came under the artillery fire of our powerful combatants who silenced their artillery fire. The forces of Islam also had superior firepower in the Paveh sector.

The ground forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran fired on an enemy vehicle column along the (Susgan-Towayleh) axis, destroying one command jeep and several other vehicles and their passengers. Several vehicles were severely damaged.

Sporadic exchanges of fire continued in the southern operational sectors of the country. Our forces, while consolidating their own positions, defended the regions under their protection. Our forces fully controlled the enemy movements by carrying out reconnaissance and combative missions.

Thanks to the fire of our forces on enemy positions on the other side of Arvand Rud and along the Al-Faw-Basra highway, 1 106-mm gun and 3 trenches of the Saddamist forces were destroyed and 10 of them were killed or wounded.

Yesterday, the enemy opened heavy artillery fire on Abadan's residential areas and set fire to several places which resulted in some damage.

During the past 24 hours, the enemy's air raids on the border regions, in the western and southern parts of the country, were repulsed by the intensive fire of our air defense units and the violating planes were forced to leave the airspace of the Islamic Republic of Iran.

[Signed] The Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran

NAVY IN 'FULL CONTROL'; SHIPPING SAFE IN GULF

LD182152 Tehran IRNA in English 2031 GMT 18 Aug 82

[Text] Tehran Aug. 18 IRNA -- The commander of the Iranian Navy, Captain Afzali, today reaffirmed that international commercial shipping lines could sail safely in the north-western waterways of the Persian Gulf. He said the Iranian Navy maintained full control of the waters despite empty threats by Baghdad.

Referring to the crucial economic situation in Iraq due to the blockade of Iraqi sea-ports by the Iranian warships and the inability of Iraq in exporting oil and importing its needed items, Afzali said Iraq was trying to counterbalance its defeats by threatening the vessels which were to berth in the Iranian ports of Khark and Imam Khomeyni.

The navy commander said over 190 commercial vessels had berthed in the port of Imam Khomeyni since as well as 280 vessels which had berthed in the piers of Khark Island since March 1982. [sentence as received]

Referring to Iraqi casualties since the outbreak of the war, Afzali said the greater part of Iraqi naval force was thoroughly smashed in the first days of the war and that the Islamic Republic's Navy had ever since then kept its sovereignty on the waters.

Reaffirming that the naval force of Iran was now in a much better shape than it had been in the beginning of the war, he once more referred to the Iraqi claims as empty propaganda and reassured commercial shipping lines and governments of full naval security in the Persian Gulf water-ways under the surveillance of the Iranian Navy.

Meanwhile, in Ahvaz, the superintendent of the Khark national oil company, Ghafuri, today scoffed at Baghdad's threats of attack against vessels entering the Iranian waters in the Persian Gulf, as "empty bravado." He said by such foolish threats Baghdad sought to halt oil flow to the overseas from the Khark Island of Iran. Ghafuri said: Despite Saddam's intimidating threats, vessels to this destination had arrived on schedule and were now on a routine loading. He said the Iranian Navy had fully maintained its superiority in the Persian Gulf waters, thereby assuring maximum safety to all vessels heading for the Persian Gulf port cities of the Islamic Republic.

PARTS OF ILAM PROVINCE UNDER IRAQI OCCUPATION

LD181920 Tehran IRNA in English 1723 GMT 18 Aug 82

[Text] Khorramabad, Aug 18, IRNA -- Several areas including the strategic heights on Hamrein, overlooking Musian and Ein-Khosh, in Ilam Province, are still under Iraqi occupation, said the commander of the 84th Brigade of Khorramabad, Colonel Biranvand, here today.

He said despite Iraqi claims of having pulled out its troops from the Iranian territory, the said areas were still in their (?occupation) and Ein-Khosh, Musian and the city of Dehloran, in Ilam Province, were under the artillery fire of the Iraqi Army. By such fictional claims, he said, the Iraqi regime wanted to portray itself a peace-loving regime in the region.

The commander noted that during their withdrawal, the Iraqi forces had destroyed all villages and cities under their occupation and had leveled them to ground. "The best examples of their ravage," he said, "is the city of Musian, where no single residential unit has remained." The colonel further praised people's support for and their contributions to the warfronts and Iranian combatants.

74,000 IRAQI-PLANTED MINES IN IRAN DEFUSED

LD181812 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 18 Aug 82

[Text] According to IRNA and the Central News Unit, 44,000 antitank and antipersonnel mines planted by the Iraqi mercenary forces in various areas of Dasht-e Azadegan [formerly Dasht-e Mishan] were discovered and defused last week. The task of defusing these mines was carried out by our brothers in the demolition unit of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps of Susangerd who have been assigned this task to cleanse the Dasht-e Azadegan region from enemy's minefields.

On the basis of this report more than 30,000 antitank and antipersonnel mines, planted by the Ba'thist infidels, were also discovered and defused in the Mehran region by the self-sacrificing combatants of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps.

VELAYTI REPORTS TO CABINET; DECISIONS MADE

LD181156 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 18 Aug 82

[Excerpts] According to the Central News Unit, the Cabinet held a session this morning, chaired by Prime Minister Mir-Hoseyn Musavi. During this session, political events in the region and current developments in the country were discussed. Then, Foreign Minister Velayti submitted a report on the latest news of the change of venue of the nonaligned conference for heads of state and foreign ministers from Baghdad to another city. He said this change of venue, which had taken place with the agreement of a majority of the member countries, is a great political defeat for the murdering Ba'thist regime of Iraq.

During today's Cabinet session, a number of single-priority [yek foriyati] proposals were appraised and approved as follows:

The sum of 5 billion rials was placed at the disposal of the fund for assisting producers of agricultural and livestock products whose products were damaged this year.

The sum of 5 billion rials was placed at the disposal of the Ministry of Roads and Transport to replace machinery and equipment used by fronts in the imposed war.

Also, (?1) billion rials was placed at the disposal of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps for expenditure arising from the imposed war.

During (?today's) Cabinet session, the prime minister said in a speech: According to information we have received, America and another country are planning to buildup the Iraqi Air Force. But no assistance and crime can save Saddam. The brave (?fast-flyers) of the air force and our pious combatants are at every instant prepared to (?crush) that American regime [of Iraq]

MUSAVI ON HUSAYN'S THREATS, CABINET, INDIA VISIT

LD181148 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 18 Aug 82

[Excerpt] The Central News Unit reports that Prime Minister Musavi answered questions this morning on various topics at a news conference after an earlier Cabinet session.

Regarding Saddam's threat to bomb tankers that enter the Persian Gulf for loading, the prime minister said: Saddam would not shrink from doing anything he can. Since the start of the war he has done everything in his power, and all his boasting now is completely futile. Saddam intends to undermine the security of the Persian Gulf. The prime minister added: Our country will confront these threats and will not allow an insane man who is drawing his last breath of life to endanger the interests of the (?peoples and nations) in the region. Our combatant brothers possess the power to crush any insane move, and, as they have often put this man in his place, to repeat this action once again.

Regarding future Cabinet changes and new ministerial appointments, the prime minister said: The appointment of the new ministers of guidance and of the corps will take place soon. As has already been pointed out, Cabinet changes are confined to only one or two ministries: We are expecting that as proposed by Islamic Consultative Assembly Speaker Mr Hashemi-Rafsanjani, the position of the bill on the corps will be settled, so that we will be able, God willing, to introduce the ministers of welfare and guidance at the same time as the corps minister.

In connection with a visit to India by an Iranian parliamentary delegation, the prime minister said: India is a big nonaligned power in Asia. It has so far proved it has a relatively independent policy toward the East and the West. From the cultural viewpoint there are also many aspects common to us. Bearing in mind the Muslim minority living in India, the existence of various economic resources in India, that country's need for oil and some other commodities, as well as the fact that some of our requirements could be met by India, the Iranian delegation's visit to India could further strengthen the two countries' relations in this regard. The prime minister added: The visit took place in the context of these considerations, and it was very fruitful and productive. The political aspects of the visit are also favorable to us, including the nonconvocation of the nonaligned summit in Baghdad.

COMMUNIST INVOLVEMENT IN AMOL UPRISING DENIED

[Text] The notorious radio of the Islamic Republic yesterday reported that with the arrest of 100 members of the Union of Communists of Iran, the union, which has been responsible for Amol uprising and clashes in Abadan, has been completely eradicated. The communique read over the notorious radio quoted a source of the Prosecutor's Office of Khomeyni's revolution, and while citing the names of several of the arrested persons, the occupied radio Tehran claimed that they were American communists and had connections with Abolhasan Bani-Sadr and Mas'ud Rajavi. In this doubtful communique, the persons who, as was claimed, were leaders of the communist union, were also accused of having connections with the Arab groups in Khuzistan and antiregime groups in Kordestan and Gilan.

We might as well point out here that the claim regarding the active participation of this group in the Amol uprising has absolutely no basis and the organization or the organizations that supported the people of Amol in the Jangal incident and in the heroic uprising in Amol are still at the peak of their power and continue to engage in the struggle against the American-made mullah regime of Iran.

The Central Prosecuter's Office of the Khomeyni regime, in this doubtful communique, does not make any mention of the date, place or time of arrests of those claimed to have been leaders of the Communist Union.

MOJAHEDIN-E KHALQ ANNOUNCES CHANGE IN TACTICS

GF171337 (Clandestine) Free Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1500 GMT 16 Aug 82

[Text] According to our correspondent in Tehran, a communique signed by Rajavi has been distributed in the capital in which the end of the first phase of operations to overthrow Khomeyni's regime and revolutionary execution and assassination of the regime's figures has been noted and the start of the second phase of the overthrow has been announced. The second phase is intended to destroy the regime's armed forces by execution or assassination of the armed mercenary guards. The communique states: Mojahedin-e Khalq and their supporters must not struggle through large clashes or involve themselves in clashes with several others. They must kill the guards if they find them alone or in small numbers.

Our correspondent has not cited an example of the new technique of Mojahedin-e Khalq in their armed struggle in his report nor has their office in Paris officially confirmed the publication of this communique. The Free Voice of Iran notes that the communique may be related to a recent BBC interview with Rajavi. In that interview he talked about a change in tactics in the struggle against the Khomeyni regime.

Lebanon

Beirut Evacuation Plan Preparations -- Lebanese Foreign Minister Fu'ad Butrus, in an interview reported by Beirut radio, said he handed a letter to the ambassadors of France, Italy and the United States requesting the dispatch of their forces to help implement the Beirut evacuation plan. He explained that a French advance force will arrive early on 21 August and the actual departure of PLO fighters will begin that afternoon. The role of the multinational forces is to assist the Lebanese Army, he stressed, adding that the final Lebanese aim is to remove the Israeli army and all foreign forces from Lebanon. In another report, sources cited by the radio said the task of the multinational forces and Lebanese Army is to ensure the safety of Beirut civilians and the departing PLO fighters, as well as to help restore Lebanese sovereignty.

Release of Captive Israelis -- The captured Israeli pilot and kidnapped soldier will be handed over to the International Red Cross on 20 August after which Israel will give the green light for the evacuation, IDF radio reported. A Palestinian source cited by AFP likewise said the two Israelis will be handed over to the Lebanese authorities on 20 August. However Palestinian sources cited by ANSA on 19 August said the pilot had already been released to the Lebanese but denied knowledge of the kidnapping of an Israeli soldier on 18 August.

Israel on 'Second Stage' -- After the evacuation of Beirut is completed, Israel will begin dealing with the second stage, the ouster of all foreign forces from Lebanon, Israeli Defense Minister Ari'el Sharon said in a Jerusalem radio interview. The way to handle this issue is through political negotiations, he added. Asked in a Jerusalem television interview why Israel has agreed to allow the Syrian forces in Beirut to move to Al-Biqa' rather than Syria, Foreign Minister Yitzhaq Shamir said Israel acceded to this with the "clear knowledge" that the entire Syrian Army will soon leave Lebanon.

Egypt's Mubarak Comments -- Speaking after a meeting with the Egyptian National Democratic Party youth, President Husni Mubarak declared that the PLO withdrawal from Beirut without a comprehensive settlement will further complicate the situation, MENA reported. He reiterated that Egypt will not accept any Palestinians without a comprehensive settlement, adding however that Egypt would accept any wounded Palestinian needing major surgery. Mubarak also said the autonomy talks with Israel must be resumed in accordance with Egypt's conditions.

Military, Security Situation -- The "terrorists" again violated the cease-fire in the eastern sector and in the Beirut area, according to statements by the IDF spokesman reported by IDF radio and ITIM. As on previous occasions, the Israelis returned fire in the eastern sector but held their fire in Beirut. Meanwhile, the clandestine Voice of Palestine radio reported that Palestinian guerrillas have staged further operations against Israeli forces in southern Lebanon during recent days. In the Al-Biqa' Valley, the Syrians reinforced their positions with artillery batteries and antitank guns, according to Voice of Lebanon radio. The situation in Al-Biqa' was very tense as a result of Israel's full alert in that region, the Voice of Palestine said. The IDF has stepped up security in the Beirut sector because of the increase of "terrorist" attacks against Israeli forces, IDF radio noted.

Inside west Beirut, a boobytrapped car was found in the garage of the Tourism and Information Ministries, Beirut radio reported. Noting that the building had narrowly escaped horrible disaster, the radio said the driver of the car -- a girl from east Beirut -- has been arrested.

Although IDF radio reported that Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin said no Syrian prisoners will be returned until the problem of Israeli soldiers missing in the Syrian sector is settled, ITIM reported that Israel released two seriously wounded Syrian soldiers.

Libya

Libya challenges Saudi Arabia to send a division of soldiers and a squadron of aircraft to fight Israel in accordance with the Libyan proposal to send 10 military divisions to Syria, Col Mu'ammar al-Qadhdhafi declared during a speech to an Islamic conference in Tripoli broadcast by Tripoli radio. Al-Qadhdhafi berated the Saudi leaders and the king of Morocco in strong terms and also stressed his opposition to any form of negotiations between the Palestinians and Israel.

Meanwhile, Al-Qadhdhafi received a cable from the amir of Kuwait expressing Kuwait's approval of the proposal to send forces to fight Israel, Tripoli radio reported. The text of the cable, which was carried by the radio, said Kuwiat "supports all paths" to preserve the Palestinian struggle and supports the studying of the most successful methods of achieving this aim.

Jordan

According to the London magazine AL-MAJALLAH cited by MENA, Jordan has finished setting up SAM-8 batteries along its borders, and new military equipment including heavy tanks will soon arrive from the Soviet Union.

Iran-Iraq War

An Iraqi military communique carried by Baghdad radio reported that Iranian planes penetrated the Basra sector and the Dukan area in the north, but were forced to flee by Iraqi air defenses; the communique added that one Iranian plane was shot down in the southern sector. According to an Iranian Armed Forces communique carried by Tehran radio, industrial targets in Dukan were bombed by Iranian planes.

Iraq

The Iraqi Foreign Ministry informed nonaligned countries' representatives in Baghdad that Iraq has a "natural right" to host the nonaligned foreign ministers conference in September and that the meeting is in line with decisions adopted at the Havana summit, INA reported.

KARMAL SPEECH ON 63D INDEPENDENCE ANNIVERSARY

[Text] Kabul, Aug 18 BAKHTAR -- Following is the text of radio telecast speech of Babrak Karmal, general secretary of the Central Committee of the PDPA and president of the Revolutionary Council of the DRA, delivered on the eve of the sixty-third anniversary of the regaining of the independence of Afghanistan.

Dear compatriots, sisters and brothers: Permit me, first of all, to extend to you, patriots of Afghanistan, the best greetings and wishes of the Central Committee of the PDPA, the Revolutionary Council and the Government of the DRA and myself on the occasion of the sixty-third anniversary of the regaining of the independence of Afghanistan from the claws of the bloody British imperialism. With pride and glory in grandiose history, a history full of the heroic deeds of the working people of Afghanistan, and praising the unparalleled valour of national and patriotic forces of this land who branded with shame the greatest colonialist and imperialist force of the world, I am offering my profound homage to the sacred memory of all the martyrs of the path of freedom of Afghanistan.

Compatriots, sisters and brothers: The epic of the liberatory uprising of the people of Afghanistan, which is considered as one of the most significant and unique events of its times in Asia and in its heart, and resulted in the restoration of the political independence of Afghanistan and caused the greatest colonial empire of the world, which enjoyed an incomparable superiority in respect of the armed forces, to yield will remain forever in the memory of all the patriotic people of Afghanistan and will be the source of constant pride of our people.

The victory of the people of Afghanistan in an unequal war with the British imperialism which had recently come out victorious in the imperialist war of plunder was won as a result of the national and international favourable factors, the united and broad uprising of the heroic and epic-making people of Afghanistan including Pushtuns, Tajiks, Hazaras, Baluchis, Uzbeks, Turkmen, Nuristanis and others, which was carried out in a national front with ample sacrifices, culminated in ignominious defeat for British aggressors and put an end to their domination.

It should be stressed once again that the secret of the victory of our people against the greatest colonialist power of the time lay in the unity and integrity of the ranks of the combatants of the path of freedom of the country and the unity by all the people for the cause of achieving this great and national objective.

It should be pointed out that the victory of the Great October Revolution left a great practical and moral impression on the liberation movement of our people. The defeat of British interventionists in trans-Caspian and their expulsion from the Middle East by the Soviet Red Army and the firm support of the young Soviet republic to the right of independence and sovereignty of the people of Afghanistan was a reliable bulwark for the people of Afghanistan in their struggle against the imperialist forces and ensured favourable conditions in the international context. The young Soviet state right from the time of its creation under the leadership of the great friend of the peoples of Afghanistan and the working people of the world, V.I. Lenin, extended a powerful hand of friendship and assistance to the freeborn people of Afghanistan which is a decisive factor in the preservation of the sovereignty, national independence and territorial integrity of the country against the diverse plots and conspiracies of imperialism.

Dear compatriots, at this moment of commemoration of 63D anniversary of the regaining of independence of the country, the people of Afghanistan rightly feel proud of the historic deeds of the freedom-fighters of the country, praise and glorify the name of the son of the country, Ghazi Amanullah Khan, during whose reign the masses of the people with their sacred struggle and at the expense of the precious and valuable lives of the martyrs acquired the independence of the country. The fact that the brave and successful struggle of the people of Afghanistan against British imperialism dealt a firm blow on the chains of colonialism and led to the expansion and spread of liberation struggles in Asian countries is and will be a source of constant pride to us.

Compatriots, sisters and brothers, the independence of Afghanistan, which was achieved by the bravery and self-sacrifice of the sons of the country and devotees of the path of freedom and heroism of the masses of the people, was confronted with the danger of extinction as a result of the plots and intrigues of the crafty and wily British colonialists and internal black reaction and for a long time the sacred ideals of these martyrs of independence and aspirations of the patriots remained unfulfilled.

British imperialism, in order to bring the downfall of Amanullah Khan and in a bid to return to power their own lackeys and stooges and to prevent the independent development of Afghanistan, misrepresented and distorted the nature of the Amani movement to the masses of people, with the help of its disgraced agents, exploiting the backwardness of the country, creation of discords and divisions, fanning the prejudices and superstitions and shamefully misusing the religious sentiments of the people and the name of the holy religion of Islam, playing tricks and intrigues, and succeeded in putting into practice their sinister and colonialist designs. Thus our beloved country and our brave people remained in the fetters of the subjugation and intrigues of imperialist and reactionary forces for decades and remained under the rule of the cruel, despotic and exploiting rulers and the independent and national development of the country was halted. But the brave and sacred struggle of our people against dependence on imperialism and against the domination of the despotic, monarchical and aristocratic dynasty of Nadir never ceased. As a result of these lively and fierce struggles, the national and democratic April Revolution became victorious and put an end fo the rule of reactionary circles attached to reaction and imperialism.

Only after the victory of the April Revolution and especially its new revolutionary phase, the real opportunities for the fulfillment of the noble and humane ideals of patriots of the country were prepared. And now we move firmly and steadily towards the lofty and humane ideals for the creation of a just and blossoming society to ensure a worthy, decent and prosperous life for our compatriots.

Of course, the basic condition for the complete and speedy realisation of these ideals and objectives is the complete and decisive crushing of the counter-revolution and the creation of complete tranquillity throughout the country. This constitutes the main direction of the activity of our party and revolutionary state under the present circumstances.

I must bring it to the notice of our dear compatriots that despite the desperate attempts of reaction and imperialism, led by American imperialism and notwithstanding the intensification of their plots and activities and the undeclared war waged against the revolutionary Afghanistan and inspite of the extensive wild and poisonous propaganda of these circles and frantic and unlimited hysteria conducted by counter-revolution during the last year and the current year important and great victories have been scored in various fields, including the military, economic, social and political spheres.

As a result of heroism and bravery of our heroic officers and soldiers of our armed forces and the devotion and sacrifice of our patriots, members of the party and social organisations, several bands of criminal and barbarous bands have been crushed in various regions of the country and peaceful life and tranquility has been resumed in these regions.

Every day more and more of our compatriots are coming to better realize the real nature of the longstanding enemies of their prosperity and freedom, namely the forces of reaction and imperialism headed by the U.S. imperialism and hegemonism of China, and are joining to the ranks of active defenders of the revolution. A great number of our compatriots and even a number of the armed bandits are parting from the counter-revolution and laying their arms on the ground. Thousands of our deceived compatriots are realising the righteousness of the revolution and the policy of the revolutionary state and are returning to their homes, villages and homeland, stating their honourable and peaceful work. With every passing day these processes gather strength. This condition is the lawful result of the victories of our armed forces against the counter-revolution and of the indefatiguable work of all the party and state organs towards the explanation of the aims and ideals of the revolutionary state and party to the people.

With the realisation of this fact our party in the last plenum of its Central Committee deliberated upon and evaluated the question of the strengthening of political work among the masses and adopted important and useful decisions.

It must be pointed out that our party as the political pioneer of workers and all toilers of the country, believes in the principle that the execution of our historical duties in the task of construction of a new and justful society and the realisation of the noble and honest aims of the party in the economic, social, political and cultural spheres will not be possible without the support and direct and active participation of the masses of the peoples.

With this consideration, too, the expansion and intensification of political work among the masses of peoples, as a reliable support of the revolutionary transformations, is considered our major and first duty at the present time.

In the future, in accord with the draft law of local organs of the state power and administration which is placed before the public opinion to express their views, the system of jirgahs (assemblies) will be formed from the village level up to the provinces in a free, democratic and traditional way which will in the best manner and in most democratic form ensure the all-sided and active participation of the masses in the task of state administration and in economic, social political and cultural activities.

As a result of the timely and important steps and decisions and the permanent attention and care of the Central Committee of the Peoples Democratic Party of Afghanistan, the Revolutionary Council and the Government of the Democratic Republic of Afghanistan, the heroic Armed Forces of Afghanistan as a vanguard of national independence, national sovereignty and territorial integrity of the country and defender of the honour and prestige of the homeland and tranquility of the people and as basic forces in the crushing of the counter-revolution has grown and strengthened both from the view point of the level of personnel with adequate military preparedness. This fact has resulted in lethal blows being inflicted on the counter-revolution by our armed forces and the emasculation of many of their ominous plans.

We are decisively determined to see that this process is strengthened and by relying on the peoples masses and their principled and conscious support to cleanse every inch of our sacred land from the filthy and criminal presence of the counter-revolution and the lackeys of imperialism and reaction and to build and flourish our dear ancient homeland.

Right now parallel with armed defence of the revolution, firm and solemn strides are being taken towards the realisation of deep economic and social transformations with the maximum utilisation of the present possibilities.

The work of land and water reforms is continuing in many provinces of the country according to the charted plans and the country's economic situation enjoys adequate stability and effective and useful measures are being taken in the social and cultural spheres.

But as we have several times pointed out, we repeat again that had there been no counter-revolutionary activity and had the export of armed counter-revolution from outside of the border ceased and the open and shameful intervention of imperialism in the internal affairs of our country ended, much bigger strides would have been taken for carrying out transformations, constructing a new society and ensuring people's welfare, and our gain in these spheres would have been broader and greater.

Thus, the major goal of foreign policy in the present day conditions is also ensuring cessation of intervention in our internal affairs and creation of necessary international conditions for peaceful work for the prosperity of the country. The complete realisation of revolutionary transformation and successful execution of all tasks of the present phases of the development of the country can not be possible without establishing peace and complete tranquillity. Therefore, ensuring of an enduring peace and tranquillity lies in the forefront of all our goals. For this purpose, our country has come out with important proposals and initiatives for normalizing the situation around Afghanistan and ensuring good relations and understanding between our country and Pakistan and Iran and the solution of all existing problems through talks. We once again reiterate our principled and constructive proposal.

But, as against this, the world imperialism and its reactionary lackeys have not desisted from their attempts at utilizing the so-called "problem of Afghanistan" for intensifying international tension.

Yet it is clear to all that imperialism, regional reaction and Chinese hegemonism are not capable of blocking the process of revolutionary progress of our country. In this respect all their attempts for strangulating the revolution and discrediting the DRA are doomed to a sure defeat.

The international positions of our country are getting more stronger with every passing day. Today, the DRA has diplomatic relations with more than 60 countries of the world. Our relations with the Soviet Union and other countries of the socialist community are especially useful, fruitful and all-sided. Our relations with many developing countries, especially India, Syria, People's Democratic Republic of Yemen, Ethiopia, Libya, etc., are developing and expanding successfully.

Evaluating highly and expressing complete satisfaction with the level of relations with the Soviet Union and her all-sided fraternal, vital, necessary and internationalist aid to Afghanistan, we once again express our gratitude to people party and the state of the USSR.

Following a principled line in our foreign policy we gave a clear-cut stand vis-a-vis the problem of the Near East and especially as regards the shameless and bloody aggression of Zionists and their direct abettors and supporters, i.e., the U.S. imperialists against Lebanon and people of Arab Palestine. We condemn most severely this piratic aggression against the sovereign state, demand immediate cessation of aggression and unconditional evacuation of Israeli soldiers from the Lebanese territory and proclaim our complete solidarity with the people of Lebanon; national and patriotic forces of that country, the Palestine Resistance movement and other Arab peoples in their just struggles against imperialism and Zionism for their legitimate rights.

Availing of this opportunity, we once again express the militant solidarity of the people and revolutionary state of Afghanistan with all the struggling peoples of the world who are fighting for peace, democracy, freedom, national independence and social progress.

In the end, I once again convey my warm salutation and heartfelt greetings to all compatriots, on the brave and valorous sons of the country, to all national and patriotic fighters of the country and to all compatriot brothers and sisters who are engaged in performing their tasks for the construction of their beloved country, in every nook and corner of the country, in the twists and curves of the mountain passes, in the fields, factories, state enterprises, schools, mosques and hospitals.

May our revolutionary country live long and be prosperous!
Long live the free-born and noble people of Afghanistan!
Long live peace and freedom throughout the world!
Fervent and warm homage to the sacred memory of the martyrs of the path of freedom and independence of our revolutionary and prideful Afghanistan!

APPOINTMENT OF NEW RESISTANCE LEADER AGREED UPON

GF180842 Cairo MENA in Arabic 1315 GMT 17 Aug 82

[Text] Islamabad, 17 Aug (MENA) -- The Supreme Council of the Islamic Alliance for the Mujahidin of Afghanistan [Al-Ittihad al-Islami Limujahidi Afghanistan] has agreed to appoint Shaykh Sebghatullah Mujaddedi pending the appointment of all the council members.

In an exclusive statement to the MENA correspondent in Islamabad, Shaykh Sebghatullah Mujaddedi said there is understanding and harmony among all the organizations included in the Islamic Alliance for the Mujahidin of Afghanistan and among the leaders of these organizations: the National Front, the Islamic Revolutionary Movement and the Islamic Front, and that consultative members will be elected from the 28 provinces in Afghanistan.

Shaykh Mujaddedi said the leaders of the seven main Afghan resistance organizations will leave for Niamey, Niger, to attend the Islamic foreign ministers conference which is scheduled to convene on 22 August.

It is noteworthy that in this Sebghatullah Mujaddedi and 'Abd ar-Rasul Sayyaf have become the leaders of the two organizations representing the Afghan mujahidin and these organizations have the same name which is the Islamic Alliance for the Mujahidin of Afghanistan.

FOREIGN MINISTER GOES TO SAUDI ARABIA FOR VISIT

JOINT COMMUNIQUE ISSUED ON VLAJKOVIC'S VISIT

BK191125 Dacca Domestic Service in English 1530 GMT 18 Aug 82

[Text] Bangladesh and Yugoslavia have called for more resolute efforts by the nonaligned countries to help preserve world peace in the current deteriorating international situation. The call was made in a joint communique issued in Dacca today at the end of a 3-day visit to Bangladesh by Yugoslav member of the Presidency Radovan Vlajkovic. It said the successful convening of the seventh summit of the nonaligned countries is of exceptional significance in the present unfavorable developments in the international political and economic relations. The two sides expressed their belief that the summit will reaffirm the vitality and capability for action as well as irreplaceable role and contribution of the nonaligned policy and movement toward the [words indistinct] development.

Turning to the grave situation in the Middle East, the two countries strongly condemned the brutal Israeli action against the Palestinians and the Lebanese people. They emphasized that the just and lasting solution to the Middle East crisis can only be achieved through unconditional Israeli withdrawal from the occupied Arab territories and the restoration of the inalienable and the legitimate rights of the Palestinian people to their homeland.

On the Gulf war, the two sides expressed their concern over the enormous [words indistinct] by both sides and called for exerting the peaceful efforts of the Nonaligned Movement toward ending the conflict.

The two countries expressed that in order to achieve a lasting peace in Afghanistan and Kampuchea, a political solution should be found on the basis of UN resolutions and decisions adopted by the conference of the nonaligned countries. The two sides also called for an early implementation of the UN declaration of transforming the Indian Ocean into a zone of peace.

Referring to the present unequal economic relations, the two countries emphasized the need for immediate launching of the global negotiation for the establishment of a new international economic order.

On bilateral relations, the two countries have expressed their determination to continue expanding these relations on the basis of mutual respect, traditional friendship and close cooperation. The talks in Dacca reaffirmed closer (?similarity) of views on the main aspects of bilateral relations and major problems facing the international community. The two sides emphasized the need to continue the exchange of views for maintaining the contacts at all levels to further promote bilateral and international cooperation.

The Yugoslav leader extended an invitation to President Assanuddin Chowdhury and Chief Martial Law Administrator Lt Gen H.M. Ershad to visit Belgrade and the invitation was accepted.

BOMBAY 'RETURNING TO NORMAL' AFTER INCIDENTS

BK191609 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1530 GMT 19 Aug 82

[Text] Bombay city is returning to normal after yesterday's incidents of arson and looting in some parts of the city. The incidents took place in the wake of detention of some of the city and state police union personnel. This was stated by state Chief Minister Babasaheb Bhosale at a news conference in Bombay today. He said Bombay city gave no response to a bundh [strike] call given by some leftist trade unions against detention of police union leaders. The city's rail and road traffic was normal today. The attendance in offices and industrial units was also normal. Bhosale ruled out any possibility of negotiations with the police unions and said that the unions have been decognized by the government.

He said there were incidents of stone throwing, arson and looting in some parts of western and central Bombay. The state armed constabulary had to resort to firing in the air at Kherwari area in western Bombay to disperse a mob indulging in stone throwing. At Parel the police had to resort to firing to disperse a mob indulging in heavy stone throwing. One person sustained bullet injury and later died.

Bhosale said that over 80 percent of the city's police force reported for duty today. Meanwhile, Central Reserve Police, Border Security Force and State Armed Constabulary are helping the authorities in maintaining law and order in the city. State Home Secretary D.N. Capoor told All India Radio's Bombay correspondent that 93 persons including 9 policemen had been caught red handed since yesterday indulging in arson and looting. He said 56 policemen have been arrested so far and 23 dismissed. No incident of violence or demonstration has been reported from other parts of the state.

Meanwhile, the curfew imposed in Wareli, Dadar, (Mohiwala), M.N. Joshi Marg, Naigaon and surrounding areas have been extended till 0600 tomorrow. Mahim area in northern Bombay has also come under curfew from today.

The center has agreed to provide all assistance required by the Maharashtra Government to control the situation in Bombay. This was stated by union Home Secretary T.N. Chaturvedi in New Delhi today. An official spokesman said that Chaturvedi returned to New Delhi this morning from Bombay after making an on-the-spot study of the situation there. He apprised the union home minister of the situation.

Some of the Indian Airlines flights bound for Bombay from various cities were either combined or cancelled today. The airlines, however, maintained its air link with Bombay from all metropolitan cities.

Home Secretary Reports

BK200354 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0240 GMT 20 Aug 82

[Text] The home secretary, Mr T.N. Chaturvedi, has said the center has placed adequate additional police force comprising 12 battalions of BSS [Border Security Force] and CRPS [Central Reserve Police] at the disposal of the Maharashtra Government. Talking to PTI in New Delhi last evening on his return from Bombay, he said the situation now is under control. Shortly after arrival, he apprised the union home minister, Mr R.I. Venkataraman, about the latest situation in Bombay.

Mr Chaturvedi said the Maharashtra Government has assured him that it will put down with a heavy hand the indisciplined police force, maintaining that it was essentially a local problem. He said he exchanged views with the state government and army authorities with a view to helping restore normalcy at the earliest. Mr Chaturvedi added that the police personnel who are under pressure not to report to duty are also returning to work now.

The spokesman for the police commissioner's office told our Bombay correspondent this morning that the situation in central Bombay is absolutely normal. The curfew in central Bombay areas has not been extended. The curfew imposed on Wednesday was extended up to 0600 this morning. Suburban trains, public transports, taxis and private cars are plying freely and the milk supply is also normal.

Curfew Lifted in Central Areas

BK200921 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0834 GMT 20 Aug 82

[Text] Curfew has been lifted in central Bombay areas, Home Secretary of Mahrashtra Dwaraka Nath Kapoor told the all India Radio Bombay correspondent this morning that the step follows returning of life in the city to normal. He said no untoward incident has been reported in Bombay or any part of Maharashtra since last night.

Bombay Police Commissioner J.F. Ravero said as a preventive measure police patroling is continuing in the affected areas. Suburban trains, public transport service, taxis and private cars are moving freely. Bombay citizens have received their regular supply of milk and newspapers this morning.

Meanwhile, a meeting of prominent citizens, legislators, corporators and leaders of the political parties called by Chief Minister Babashabeb Bhosale in Bombay today condemned the violence in the city during the last 2 days, mostly indulged in by antisocial elements. The incidents followed the stern action taken by the government against leaders of the state police sangathana [association].

The consensus of the meeting was that it was wrong on the part of the sangathana to violate the conditions imposed on the association. The meeting agreed that the police association is considerably different from the other trade unions and, therefore, it had to be dealt with on a different footing. It also recommended grant of relief to the families who suffered losses in the accidental firing during the last 2 days. It was also decided that no vindictive action will be taken against the police personnel who could not attend owing to compelling circumstances provided they are not involved in acts of violence, crimes and offences.

USSR'S IMASHEV SAYS INDIAN POLICY TO SERVE PEACE

BK191405 Delhi General Overseas Service in English 1330 GMT 19 Aug 82

[Text] Soviet Vice President Imashev has said that the foreign policy being pursued by India will strengthen world peace. Talking to newsmen at Calcutta Airport today, he said his country appreciates the Indian foreign policy which is in the right direction to lessen international tension.

When asked how effective it would be to tell nations not to go in for nuclear weapons while the United States and the Soviet Union continue to manufacture and stockpile these weapons, he said our policy is to stop the arms race. President Brezhnev in a statement in the UN Disarmament Conference has clearly stated the Soviet policy, he added.

[Text] Foreign Minister Sahabzada Yaqub Khan left Islamabad this afternoon for London on his way to Niamey, Niger, to attend the 6-day Islamic conference of foreign ministers. The conference begins on Sunday. It will discuss the grave situation in Lebanon, the Iran-Iraq war, the situation in Afghanistan, the Middle East including the central question of Palestine, Al-Qods as-Sharif and economic cooperation among the Muslim countries.

WORK ON CHASHMA ATOMIC PLANT TO BEGIN IN 1983

BK191603 Karachi Domestic Service in Urdu 1500 GMT 19 Aug 82

[Text] Construction work of the 900-megawatt atomic power plant at Chashma will start next year. This was stated by Chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission Munir Ahmed Khan while talking to newsmen informally in Islamabad this afternoon. He said that tenders for these projects are being finalized and they will be issued soon. He said that one of the important conditions of these tenders will be the maximum utilization of domestic materials, equipment and facilities so that domestic capabilities and resources are used to the fullest extent. This is also aimed at developing additional capabilities.

In reply to a question, the chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission said the Chashma atomic power plant will incur an outlay of about $1.7 billion and it is expected to be commissioned between 1989 and 1990. The power plant will meet 20 percent of the energy needs for and will save the country an amount equivalent of 1.2 million tons of oil per year. He said we have to start work on other power plants before the completion of the Chashma atomic power plant.

In reply to a question about the 10 million rupees granted by President Mohammad Ziaul Haq to the commission, he said the amount will be spent to obtain the services of unemployed scientists having necessary qualifications and capability. They will be provided high-level training in varous fields especially in computers and other fields so they can receive employment where their services will be used to the optimum level.

JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUE 1,021 ON BATTLE SITUATION

[Communique No 1,021 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. With greetings and thanks to all the brave, proud and victorious combatants of Islam, some of the activities of the combatants of the southern and western battlefront of the country in the past 24 hours are brought to the attention of the Muslim people of Iran:

At 1400 today the epic-making pilots of the Air Force of the Islamic Republic of Iran in a series of successful operations outside the country, bombed the industrial installations of Dukan and Al-Harithah inside Iraq and inflicted very heavy losses on them. On their way back they also strafed the enemy's combat forces on one of the axes and in these operations inflicted effective losses and casualties on them.

Yesterday in the country's western operational zone exchanges of fire continued which were more intense in Meymak. Our continual return of fire on enemy units destroyed a number of the observation posts and the bunkers of the Iraq infantry and the intense fire of the artillery units of the ground forces of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran stopped the enemy's mining operations and movements of military vehicles and a number of Saddam's troops were killed or wounded.

On the country's western fronts the zealous tribal combatants, alongside their other brave brothers guarding defense positions, cooperate in finding and clearing minefields and at suitable opportunities with patrol and ambush operations deal necessary blows to the Saddamist forces.

In the country's southern operational zone the forces of Islam, with genuine faith and unstinting sacrifices, pursue their mission with complete superiority. In this region exchanges of fire with the enemy are continuing on all fronts. Our combatants' antibattery operations silence the enemy's artillery and mortar fire and inflict casualties and losses on it.

Yesterday the combative personnel of the gendarmerie of the Islamic Republic of Iran fired on enemy positions on the other side of the Arvand Rud, destroying several of the enemy squad trenches and damaging its fortification and installations.

Enemy long-range weapons fire yesterday destroyed several residential units in Abadan and wounded a number of our compatriots.

[Signed] The Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran

NVOI URGES EMULATION OF INDIA'S TIES WITH USSR

TA192116 (Clandestine) National Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1730 GMT 19 Aug 82

[Unattributed commentary: "The Instructive Experiences of India"]

[Text] Dear compatriots: The visit by Hojjat ol-Eslam Hashemi-Rafsanjani, at the head of a high-ranking delegation from the Islamic Republic of Iran, to India, and his talks with that country's senior officials on various economic, technical and cultural aspects, are at the center of public attention. Indications are that our delegation's talks with Indian officials were extensive, including important fields such as cooperation for the completion of three nuclear power plants and also space technology. The experiences of emancipated countries that pursue an independent national policy divorced of dependence, including India, can and must be instructive to all those who want to alleviate the backwardness resulting from the domination of imperialism and colonialism.

Devoting attention to this point is essential because many of our homeland's responsible authorities and officials, due to lack of experience or superficiality, are suffering from the disease of conceit. They admire their own statements, deeds and conduct, and do not even want to consider the path which countries similar to our homeland took for economic and social development and progress, for achieving self-sufficiency and for attaining the latest scientific and technical gains.

Let us consider India as an example. India has been independent for more than 30 years. It inherited various problems and backwardness resulting from the ancient domination of blood-sucking British colonialism. We are all aware of the many hardships, sufferings, plunderings, lootings, backwardness and deprivations that afflicted the alert and talented Indian nation as a result of colonialist domination. However, the Indian nation, under such leaders as Nehru and his gifted daughter, Mrs Gandhi, despite all the plots, ruses and ploys of colonialism and internal reaction, by setting a correct course for economic development, was able to overcome many of the previous difficulties, so much so that in some of the technical, economic and industrial fields, India today can be considered in the ranks of the most developed countries of the world.

A brief glance at India's economic policy -- a policy that was able to achieve much success and great scientific and technical gains for the noble Indian nation -- induces every realistic human being to conclude that the main content and the principle lines of this policy consist of relying on domestic resources and on utilizing international economic resources, assistance and cooperation, devoid of any political conditions.

After gaining independence, India neither possessed national industries such as steel plants or ironworks, nor did it have the possibility of experimentation and progress in the fields of nuclear science and space technology. However, India's forward-looking leaders, immediately after gaining independence, in addition to relying on the people and strengthening national industries and preventing unrestrained imports, endeavored to seek out their friends at the international level to create the basic foundations for the country's industries, and to lay the foundation for modern scientific organizations and national technology.

Everyone is aware that Britain, which looted India for hundreds of years, or other Western countries who even after India gained independence competed with one another to plunder that country, perceived the continuation of their plundering in keeping India backward. For this reason they were not and are not ready to help India or similar countries establish national industries or national technology or attain space technology.

We say the experience of India and of similar states is instructive, except that the (?crust) of superficiality and of imperialist and liberalist intimations should be put aside.

In order to maintain economic independence, to establish the foundation of national industries, to attain the modern scientific and technical achievements and to train a scientific and technical cadre, India utilized the friendship and unselfish cooperation, devoid of political strings, of socialist countries and above all the Soviet Union. Without any exaggeration and overstatement, the greatest part of India's industrial and technical progress, particularly in the sensitive and important national industries and nuclear and space technology, is indebted to its extensive and fraternal cooperation with the Soviet Union. This is a fact which India's leaders have also acknowledged.

Without doubt our homeland's cooperation with such countries as India will have noticeable results and advantages for both countries. However, it is noteworthy too that with the expansion of economic relations with countries such as India -- which is truly a nonaligned country and basically non-Islamic, and not dependent militarily on foreign countries -- we must at the same time realistically examine and study the course and method of action of these countries in connection with the path of economic and social progress, without fanaticism and superficiality.

If some people in our country believe we must rely only on our own experience in implementing every economic, social and cultural program, then the life span of one nation, to say nothing of the life span of the world's people, will not be enough for us to gain experience.

Simultaneously with utilizing domestic potential, talents and experiences, and without fear of being branded by the SAVAKist mullahs and the pseudoclergy who follow Brzezinski's line, one must utilize the rich experiences of nations in connection with choosing the path for economic, social and cultural progress, and all the potentials and cooperation devoid of political strings in the international arena.

NATIONAL FRONT CALLS FOR MILITARY DISOBEDIENCE

GF181745 (Clandestine) Free Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1500 GMT 18 Aug 82

[Text] We begin our news with a report from the National Front of Iran. The Paris office of the National Front of Iran [NFI] has issued the following statement in connection with the execution of 70 patriotic Iranian officers:

The NFI condemns the inhuman execution of about 70 zealous and patriotic children of the army at the hands of the executioners of the Islamic regime of Khomeyni and considers it an antinationalist act committed for the sake of continuing the shameful regime of a handful of traitorous anti-Iranians. While offering condolences to the families of these sacrificed ones -- who completely carried out their nationalist and soldierly duty for the sake of the liberation of the homeland -- and to all the brave army personnel and the mourning people of Iran, we again note that the liberation of Iran from the hands of these antinationalist satans is possible only through a coordinated struggle and under a united movement.

The NFI announces that the patriotic army personnel can and must act as the arm of struggle side by side with the people of the nation in order to achieve the goals of independence, freedom and nationalist rule. We inform the self-sacrificing and patriotic military personnel of the nationalist Iranian Armed Forces that they must be prepared to disobey orders, under instructions which will soon be announced by the NFI.

CLANDESTINE: VARIOUS GROUPS FORCIBLY SENT TO WAR

GF181439 (Clandestine) Voice of Iran in Persian 0330 GMT 17 Aug 82

[Text] According to a report by our correspondent, the officials of the regime of the Islamic Republic have decided to forcibly send groups of Iranian youth to the war fronts. According to this report, the number of those who have been deceived by the mullahs and are at the fronts are diminishing daily. Many of Khomeyni's guards have lately deserted the war fronts and returned to their homes.

Our correspondent adds: In the last session of the regime's Supreme Defense Council, the president, Mullah 'Ali Musavi-Khamene'i, and Mullah Hashemi-Rafsanjani, the speaker of the Majlis, stressed that in order to solve the shortage of manpower at the fronts, government employees, police and gendarmerie personnel will have to be forced to go to the battle fronts. They stated that it is not necessary to give them military training. In connection with the criminal decision of the secularist figures of the regime, over 1,600 members of the police were sent to the fronts on Monday. The rulers of the regime of mullahs held a ceremony of the police university of mullahs to pretend that these people were going to the fronts of their own free will. Mullah Nateq-Nuri, the interior minister of the regime and Khomeyni's representative to the police, the police chief of the mullahs and officials of the training department of Khomeyni's guards participated in the ceremony.

Our correspondent, quoting eyewitnesses adds: The majority of the 1,600 people had sad faces and it was obvious from their eyes that they were going to the fronts because of the machine guns of the turbaned criminals. We remind you that the masters of the regime of mullahs sent around 2,000 gendarmerie personnel to the battle fronts in several buses around 3 months ago. This caused severe criticism from their families.

CLANDESTINE: 3 GUARDS KILLED IN FIGHT WITH MKO

GF181407 (Clandestine) Voice of Iran in Persian 0330 GMT 17 Aug 82

[Text] According to well-informed sources in the capital an armed clash between Khomeyni's guards and a number of Mojahedin-e Khalq Organization [MKO] members resulted in the annihilation of three of Khomeyni's mercenaries. According to this report, the officials of the mullahs' security organization, known as Savama, discovered a house where MKO members were gathered and passed the information to the mercenary forces. On Saturday morning a number of these terrorists, carrying various types of weapons, attacked the said house, but encountered unexpected resistance from the MKO. As a result of MKO gunfire, 3 of these terrorists, who are 10 percent followers of the "imam's line," were annihilated. Meanwhile, the mass media of the mullahs, in order to portray the guards as martyrs, have published false reports about the guards being tortured to death. Among these is a report by the government paper JOMHURI-YE ESLAMI which wrote on Monday that three guards died as a result of the most barbaric torture of the hypocrites.

The report publishes information, which according to eyewitnesses and well-informed sources, is completely contrary to the facts. However, since the people of Iran are well aware of the propaganda methods of the mullahs regime, they do not believe such reports and are well aware that the aim of the mullahs is to portray as martyrs three terrorists, who as guards of the regime are daily killing people who vehemently oppose the regime.

The Qom seminarians published a statement in connection with the discovery of the bodies of these terrorists in which they claimed that the country will perish without the guards. The secularist members of Qom seminary also have asked the people to cooperate with government officials -- in the same manner as the policy of espionage-nurturing by their imam of umma -- for weeding out the reminder of the MKO members. The Qom secularists in another part of their statement have asked Khomeyni's judicial system and the revolution courts not to have any mercy for the MKO members or other members of the opposition.

FBIS DAILY REPORT

23 AUGUST 1982

Lebanon

PLO Evacuation -- The second contingent of PLO fighters to leave Beirut sailed for Tunisia late on 22 August after Israel delayed their departure because the Palestinians had brought jeeps aboard the ship, Jerusalem television reported. The 970 fighters were eventually allowed to leave after the United States guaranteed to unload the jeeps in Naples and to prevent the PLO from loading vehicles on evacuation ships in the future. Asserting that the dispute arose after U.S. envoy Philip Habib had authorized the fighters to take 22 jeeps aboard ship without consulting Israel, the television said the new agreement was reached between Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin and the U.S. ambassador to Israel to avoid discrediting Habib. The Israelis were concerned that the Palestinians had also violated the evacuation agreement by attempting to disguise a number of women and children as combatants and by loading RPG launchers and explosives aboard, the television noted. The holdup of the ship may serve as a sign that Israel will not agree to any further violations of the evacuation agreement, Jerusalem radio said, and the IDF will henceforth ensure that both the spirit and letter of the agreement are implemented.

The rest of the withdrawal program -- which continues on 23 August with the departure of some 1,000 Palestinian fighters for the PDRY -- will not be affected by the problems of 22 August, Beirut radio reported citing "informed sources." Earlier reports by the radio said the first stage of the evacuation on 21 August was meticulously implemented, with 397 PLO fighters departing Beirut port for Jordan and Iraq via Cyprus. Although the radio said Lebanese security personnel checked the identification papers of the departing fighters, Israel subsequently protested to U.S. envoy Habib that the Lebanese had made no attempt to verify the identities of those leaving, according to Jerusalem radio. After Israel had also told Habib that it would stop the evacuation unless a newly captured Israeli citizen was returned immediately, the PLO released the Israeli, who had accidentally driven into west Beirut, according to Jerusalem radio reports.

King Husayn of Jordan received the incoming Palestine Liberation Army fighters on their arrival at a Jordanian airbase on 22 August, Amman radio noted. The head of the group of Palestinians arriving in Iraq expressed the hope that his Arab Liberation Front fighters would help the Iraqis fight Iran, according to INA.

Commenting on the evacuation, Israeli Defense Minister Ari'el Sharon said in an IDF radio interview that the PLO has lost its "kingdom of terrorism" and has been decisively defeated.

Israel on Peace, Cease-Fire, Syrians -- After all the "terrorists" have left Lebanon, the Israeli Government will review all aspects of Operation Peace for Galilee and will initiate action for the establishment of a comprehensive peace in the Middle East in accordance with the Camp David agreement, according to a Jerusalem radio report and a related statement by the Cabinet secretary broadcast by the radio. Israel will not negotiate on any proposal that deviates from the Camp David accords, the Cabinet secretary added. He also noted that Israel regards recent cease-fire violations as serious and insists that they cease immediately. A senior Israeli official cited by the radio said that if Israelis are killed, Israel will have to take action. An earlier radio report said Israel had transmitted another warning to Syria not to violate the cease-fire in the eastern sector. Israeli political sources cited by Jerusalem television subsequently disclosed that if the Syrians do not escalate the conflict in Lebanon, the second stage of negotiations -- for the withdrawal of all foreign forces from Lebanon -- will begin in the middle of September. Tacit agreement has been reached that the Syrians evacuating Beirut for Al-Biqa' will subsequently leave for Damascus, the television added.

Military Situation -- The "terrorists" continued to violate the cease-fire in eastern Lebanon during the weekend, injuring an IDF soldier but losing three dead themselves, according to announcements by the IDF spokesman reported by IDF radio. Five Israeli soldiers were injured in an ambush near Tyre, the radio also reported. The Israelis and Syrians continued to reinforce their positions in the Al-Biqa' and cut off access to the valley through the Dahr al-Baydar pass, Voice of Lebanon radio said.

Future of PLO -- The PLO will work on all levels, "particularly the political level," until the world at large recognizes it, PLO Political Department Chief Faruq Qaddumi said at a 22 August Larnaca Airport press conference reported by Monte Carlo radio. Speaking after meeting with the first batch of PLO fighters to leave Beirut, Qaddumi said the PLO will never resort to terrorism but will pursue the battle against the Israeli invaders in Lebanon. The PLO will continue to struggle until the Palestinian people's rights are regained and an independent Palestinian state is established, he added.

Both Fatah Central Committee member Salah Khalaf and Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine Secretary General Nayif Hawatimah affirmed that the PLO's future command headquarters will be in Damascus, according to reports by the Radio. On the other hand, a Tunisian magazine cited by Tunis radio said PLO Executive Committee Chairman Yasir 'Arafat and over 100 Fatah leaders will reside in Tunisia. Tunisian Prime Minister Mohamed Mzali said Tunisia will be a political center for the PLO but will not be a base for military actions, according to KUNA. Meanwhile, in the wake of a PLO delegation's visit to Khartoum, Sudan increased to 1,000 the number of PLO fighters it is willing to receive, SUNA reported.

Presidential Election -- The Chamber of Deputies meeting on 23 August at the Military Academy elected Lebanese Front Military Commander Bashir Al-Jumayyil as president, Beirut radio reported. Earlier, the Voice of Lebanon radio accused the Syrians of using "tactics of pressure and intimidation" to influence the outcome of the election, citing as examples the attempt on the life of Al-Biqa' region Deputy Hasan ar-Rifa'i and threats by gunmen against the relatives of deputies in northern Lebanon. However, noting that Ar-Rifa'i was hospitalized in Damascus and visited by Syrian Foreign Minister 'Abd al-Halim Khaddam, Damascus radio said the deputy was the target of an assassination attempt by Phalangists because of his opposition to the election of Al-Jummayil as president. Meanwhile, the Syrian paper ATH-THAWRAH stated that the new Lebanese president must develop and nurture Lebanon's relations with the Arab countries in general and Syria in particular, Damascus radio reported. The president must fight the Israeli invaders, not legitimize the Israeli occupation of Lebanon, ATH-THAWRAH added.

Christian former President Sulayman Franjiyah appealed to deputies to boycott the vote on 23 August while Sunni and Shi'ite leaders called for postponement of the election to allow time for a Muslim-Christian agreement to be reached, according to Beirut radio reports. The chairman of Lebanon's leftist National Movement, Walid Junblatt, likewise said that since the Muslim majority abides by the formula that the president is a Maronite Christian, the Muslims should in exchange be able to reject a candidate they dislike. Speaking in a LE MONDE interview, Junblatt reaffirmed his opposition to Bashir al-Jumayyil's candidacy and warned that Phalangist attempts to impose control of the Lebanese mountains could lead to a religious war between the Maronites and his own Druze community.

Welcoming the PLO evacuation of Beirut and reiterating his demand for the departure of all armed foreigners from Lebanon, Bashir al-Jumayyil said in remarks broadcast by the Voice of Lebanon that in the future only the Lebanese Army, the security forces or groups controlled by the state should bear arms. Meanwhile, "Free Lebanon" Commander Maj Sa'd Haddad expressed strong support for Al-Jumayyil's candidacy in broadcasts over Voice of Hope radio.

Commenting on the election, Riyadh radio said the new president should stand for all the Lebanese. Any candidate involved in the civil war will not meet this condition and will not be able to ensure Lebanese unity, the radio contended.

Arab Criticism of U.S. -- President Ronald Reagan could have stopped the fighting in Lebanon earlier but for internal pressure from U.S. officials desirous of testing U.S. weapons against Soviet arms, according to an AL-AHRAM commentary reported by MENA. Meanwhile, the clandestine Voice of Palestine radio denounced U.S. assertions that the United States had no advance knowledge of the Israeli invasion of Lebanon as "obvious lies," adding that if the United States wishes to absolve its "guilt," it should stop aiding and defending Israel.

Libya on PLO Evacuation -- In a statement issued by the Libyan People's Foreign Liaison Bureau, carried by Voice of the Arab Homeland radio, Arab states which worked for the evacuation "plot" and agreed to receive Palestinians were condemned as "traitors" to the Palestinian struggle and the Arab cause. The statement asserted that states other than Lebanon, Syria and Jordan which receive Palestinians are committing "high treason," and that the Saudis head this Arab "reactionary plot."

Libya

Niamey Conference -- The Libyan delegation "brusquely" left Niger only hours before the scheduled opening of the 13th Islamic foreign ministers conference protesting the bad treatment it received on arrival, AFP reported. Earlier, Tripoli Voice of the Arab Homeland radio complained that the thorough search of the delegates carried out by Niger authorities was a violation of international agreements.

Al-Qadhdhafi Message on Iraqi-Egyptian Ties -- Syrian President Hafiz al-Asad received a letter from Libyan leader Col Mu'ammar al-Qadhdhafi addressed to leaders of the Steadfastness and Confrontation Front on the "open alliance" between Iraq and Egypt. The letter, carried by Damascus television, declared that the Iraqi connection with Egypt is "treason" and a violation of the Baghdad summit resolutions blacklisting Egypt. Al-Qadhdhafi called for the exposure of this alliance, condemning Iraqi policy.

Iran-Iraq War

An Iranian Armed Forces communique carried by Tehran radio claimed that fighting on the western fronts resulted in 50 Iraqis killed, while battles continued in the southern sector and across the Shatt al-'Arab. According to an Iraqi military communique carried by INA, eight Iranians died in the northern battle sector. INA reported that the "second stage" of warnings to Iran about Khark Island oil installations consists of the threat to completely destroy Khark port if the Iranians continue to shell Iraqi nonmilitary targets. The report added that official photographs showed smoke over the island as a result of earlier Iraqi air attacks.

Khomeyni, Council of Guardians on Islamic Law -- Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeyni told judges in a 22 August speech at the Jamaran Mosque, carried by Tehran radio, that all laws passed in the time of the shah which are contrary to Islamic law must be discarded and replaced by Islamic laws. Earlier, the Council of Guardians rejected certain sections of the retribution bill proposed by the Majlis as contradictory and inconsistent with religious law and the Constitution, the radio noted.

Qotbzadeh Trial -- According to an IRNA report on the final session of the trial of former Iranian Foreign Minister Sadeq Qotbzadeh, the presiding judge announced that the trial is based only on Qotbzadeh's own statements. Qotbzadeh admitted in the proceedings that he had collaborated with some military personnel and said he felt "ashamed" that he had opted for staging a coup. He confessed to giving a "vague plan" to the coup plotters for destroying Ayatollah Khomeyni's residence and then sent envoys to Ayatollah Kazem Shari'at-madari to get his support for the plan.

DOHA ON NONALIGNED SUMMIT, PLO EVACUATION

GF201550 Kuwait AL-QABAS in Arabic 19 Aug 82 p 3

[Report on interview with Foreign Affairs Minister Shamsul Doha by AL-QABAS correspondent 'Amid ash-Shanti in Kuwait -- date not given]

[Excerpts] The Bangladesh foreign affairs minister said the site of the nonaligned summit conference has not been determined yet and that his country still insists on holding the summit and the foreign ministers meeting in Baghdad because this decision was adopted collectively by the nonaligned leaders. He said the foreign ministers will decide the summit location and that it is more likely to be held in Baghdad because current contacts indicate that most of the countries want to hold it there.

He called on Iran to enter negotiations with Iraq and said that it has to attend the nonaligned meeting in Baghdad to maintain its responsibilities in this regard.

The minister said Bangladesh will continue its contacts with Iraq and Iran in order to bring about direct negotiations. He said: The possibilities of a military solution no longer exist. The solution now is a diplomatic one. Direct political pressure should be brought to bear to start negotiations to resolve this crisis which constitutes the biggest problem facing the Arab League, the Islamic countries and the nonaligned summit.

He also added that if no agreement is reached, then the Arab League's role will be over and the Islamic and nonaligned countries will have failed as well. From this basis we have to work quickly, he said, adding that this is what we agreed upon during our meetings with his highness the amir and with Shaykh Sabah al-Ahmad in order to preserve the organizations without which we will have no voice in world affairs.

The minister called on all Arab, Islamic and nonaligned countries to exercise political pressure in order to solve the Iraq-Iran problem. He said: We want to help all Arabs because if they agree, then everyone will agree to solve this problem.

Shamsul Doha stressed that the foreign ministers of the Islamic countries will try to bring the Iranian and Iraqi foreign ministers together in Niger and then leave for Baghdad and Tehran with them as a step toward solving this problem. He said: The majority of Islamic countries have agreed with this suggestion and we hope it will be successful.

The minister stressed that unity is needed now more than ever and that the problems of the Iraq-Iran war and the Palestinian issue are regarded as national and domestic problems for Bangladesh as well and that they are not foreign problems. He added: We believe that on this basis the problem should be solved.

The Bangladesh foreign affairs minister stressed that his country is completely ready to host the Palestinians and that his people will welcome them as heroes. He said: We suggested sending volunteers from our country, but the circumstances surrounding us did not permit us to do so. He went on to say: I am not sure if Israel will permit the fighters to leave.

He stressed that his country's relations with Kuwait are more than fraternal and that is why Kuwait was chosen as the first country he has visited since his appointment as foreign affairs minister.

IMASHEV ON GANDHI'S FORTHCOMING USSR VISIT

BK220736 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0240 GMT 22 Aug 82

[Text] Soviet Vice President Imashev says Mrs Gandhi's forthcoming visit to Moscow will further consolidate Indo-Soviet relations. He told newsmen in Hyderabad that the Soviet Union appreciates India's contribution to world peace and in relieving global tension.

In a message to the Soviet president and the prime minister, thanking them for the Independence Day greetings, President Zail Singh said Indo-Soviet relations will not only serve the interest of the two people, but also the cause for international peace.

YUGOSLAVIA'S VLAJKOVIC, DELEGATION ARRIVE 20 AUG

[Text] Radovan Vlajkovic, member of the Presidential Council of Yugoslavia, arrived in New Delhi today on a 2-day visit. He is accompanied by a high-level official delegation. They were received at the airport by senior officials of the External Affairs Ministry.

Speaking to newsmen, Vlajkovic said he would discuss with Indian leaders the situation in Asia and in particular the Nonaligned Movement. Asked whether Yugoslavia will favor the second nonaligned summit to be held in India, he said his country will go by the consensus of the members of the movement. If the consensus is for India, Yugoslavia will be greatly pleased.

Talks With Gandhi

BK201405 Delhi General Overseas Service in English 1330 GMT 20 Aug 82

[Text] Radovan Vlajkovic, member of the Presidency of Yugoslavia, who arrived in New Delhi today, had a meeting with Prime Minister Gandhi. The two leaders generally reviewed bilateral relations and matters relating to the nonaligned summit.

The prime minister told the visiting dignitary that India always has the friendliest relations with Yugoslavia and has a special regard for Marshal Tito. Mrs Gandhi said India wants to increase cooperation with Yugoslavia in all spheres.

Vlajkovic said his country feels the responsibility to ensure that friendship established between Marshal Tito and Jawaharlal Nehru should be continued as it is in the interest of both the countries.

Minister for External Affairs Narasimha Rao hosted a lunch in his honor. They exchanged views on matters of mutual interest.

GANDHI LEAVES FOR MAURITIUS, MOZAMBIQUE

BK230447 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0240 GMT 23 Aug 82

Mrs. Gandhi has a busy schedule in both the countries. She will arrive in Port Louis, capital of Mauritius, in the afternoon. She is scheduled to address a public meeting at (? Champs de Mars), the first ever by an Indian dignitary in Mauritius. Governor General Sir Sayendranath Burrenchobay will host a dinner in her honor in the evening. The prime minister will address the legislative assembly of Mauritius tomorrow. Later, she will have talks with Prime Minister Aneerood Jugnauth. The Mauritius prime minister will host a lunch in honor of Mrs Gandhi. She will be given a reception at Mahatma Gandhi Institute in the evening. The prime minister will address the Indian community on Wednesday morning. She will also address a press conference before emplaning for Maputo, the capital of Mozambique.

All India Radio special correspondent R.N. Chaturvedi says the prime minister's visit to Mauritius is to reciprocate the desire of the new government to further strengthen friendly ties between the two countries. Mrs Gandhi will be the first leader outside the immediate neighborhood of Mauritius to visit that country since the new government was installed there in June this year. It has been pointed out in New Delhi that India deeply appreciates the Mauritius Government's progressive policies and principles of racial harmony and its reaffirmation to adhere to the principles of nonalignment.

On her way back home, Mrs Gandhi will stop over for an hour at Seychelles. The prime minister will return to New Delhi on Saturday morning.

LIFE RETURNING TO NORMAL IN BOMBAY AREA

Curfew Lifted

BK200800 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0730 GMT 20 Aug 82

[Text] Curfew is being lifted in central Bombay areas. Home Secretary of Mahrashtra Dwaraka Nath Kapoor told the Radio Bombay correspondent this morning that this is consequent upon city life returning to normalcy. He added that no untoward incident has been reported in Bombay city or in any part of Maharashtra since 1038 last night.

Bombay police commissioner J.F. (Robairo) said that as a preventive measure police bandobast [control] and patrolling of affected areas is continuing. Surbuban trains, public transport service, taxis and private cars are moving freely. Citizens of Bombay got this morning regular quota of milk and the morning newspaper.

Examination of Demands

BK201607 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1530 GMT 20 Aug 82

[Text] Life in Bombay is now back to normal. No untoward incident was reported today from any part of the city or from other parts of Maharashtr. Maharashtra Minister of State for Home Dr Shrikant Jichhkar told newsmen that over 96 percent of Bombay city police constables reported for duty today. He said the attendance was more than the daily average.

He disclosed that 79 police constables and about 120 other persons have so far been arrested. Over 440 persons have been taken into preventive custody.

A meeting of the leaders of political parties and prominent citizens in Bombay today condemned the violence in the city during the last 2 days. The looting and violence was mostly indulged in by the antisocial elements.

Chief Minister Bhosale declared that a committee under a special inspector general of police has been set up to examine the genuine demands and needs of the police in state. The committee will submit its recommendations within 3 months.

Home Minister Venkataraman has said that the people responsible for the textile mills strike in Bombay created police indiscipline there. Talking to newsmen in Pondicherry today, he said the police force indulged in only little indiscipline but other elements misused it.

Paramilitary Still Patrolling

BK210853 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0830 GMT 21 Aug 82

[Text] The situation in Bombay is now absolutely normal. Rail and road transport services are plying according to schedule. Several cinema houses are reported full attendance.

Our correspondent M.N. Parte reports that the city's streets and bazaars are full of activity as the Ganesh [Hindu god] festival begins tomorrow.

State Home Secretary Dwarka Nath Kapoor told our correspondent this morning that patrolling by paramilitary forces is continuing as a precautionary measure.

The police commissioner of Bombay has appealed to the people not to pay any heed to rumors.

Press Comment

BK201411 Hong Kong AFP in English 1306 GMT 20 Aug 82

[Text] New Delhi, Aug. 20 (AFP) -- The Indian press today severely criticized the Maharastra State Government, ruled by Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's Congress Party, for the Bombay police revolt that left five people dead and 100 more wounded.

Newspapers across the political spectrum blasted the ineptitude of the Maharastra administration lead by Chief Minister Babasaheb Bhosale.

While condemning the violence wrought by the rioters, they also criticized Mrs. Gandhi's federal government for ignoring a report prepared for the previous Janata government on police work and employment conditions.

"Considered from an angle the Maharastra Government's handling of the situation has been inept and incompetent," the ECONOMIC TIMES editorialized.

It added the warning: "What happened in Bombay should be an eyeopener to the powers that be" who will have to face electors in two years.

The conservative STATESMAN accused the Maharastra administration of "criminal neglect," the conservative INDIAN EXPRESS spoke of "failure" and the pro-communist PATRIOT criticized "the inept state government."

Only the HERALD, a supporter of Mrs Gandhi, refrained from editorializing on the Bombay situation.

BRIEFS

CRUDE PRODUCTION ESTIMATE -- The annual production of indigenous crude is expected to touch 25 million tons by 1984-85. [Text] China and Pakistan can benefit from each other's experience in all fields, particularly in the agricultural and industrial sector. This was stated by the leader of the nine-member Chinese delegation, Ismail Amat, in an interview with Radio Pakistan's representative in Faisalabad today. He said they would take back friendly sentiments of the people of Pakistan for the Chinese people. Later, the delegation visited the University of Agriculture where it was taken round various research fields.

Protocol Signed

BK230213 Karachi Domestic Service in English 1700 GMT 22 Aug 82

[Text] A protocol on the opening to traffic of the Khunjerab Pass between Pakistan and China was signed in Islamabad today. Federal Minister for Kashmir Affairs and Northern Areas Maj Gen. Retired Jamaldar and visiting Governor of the Xinjiang Uygur Autonomous Region Ismail Amat signed the protocol.

The new protocol will enable the movement of persons and goods across the Khunjerab Pass, thus further promoting the contacts and mutually beneficial cooperation between the two countries. The pass will be open to the citizens of both Pakistan and China.

The leaders of the two sides characterized the signing of the protocol as an historic event which would bring the peoples of the two countries nearer to each other.

Formal opening of the pass will take place at a ceremony to be held on Friday next. A high-powered Pakistani delegation led by Pakistan minister for Kashmir affairs and northern areas will then travel by road accompanied by the members of visiting Chinese delegation to Kashgar in the Xinjiang Uygur Autonomous Region.

Earlier, during the delegation's visit to the University of Agriculture in Faisalabad, the leader of the delegation said mutual cooperation between Pakistan and China in the fields of science and agriculture would develop in the years ahead.

MUSAVI ADDRESSES NATION ON WAR, ECONOMY

LD221156 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 2030 GMT 21 Aug 82

[Address to the nation by Prime Minister Mir Hoseyn Musavi carried by radio and television, date and place not specified -- recorded]

[Excerpts] This is the second time that I am talking to you directly. It would be more desirable if I could speak to you more often, thus enabling you, my brothers and sisters, to learn of the current issues, problems and the progress the government and the nation are making. However, I am certain the nation is well aware of what is happening in the country but, God willing, we will try to report to you more often in the future.

The topics I will be discussing on this occasion are issues of which you are fully aware. In fact, it is precisely the extent of the nation's awareness that secures continuation of the revolution and its promotion, an awareness that also counters these complicated conspiracies by the United States and its agents against our nation and the revolution, both inside the country and on the international level. If there had not been such an awareness, the conspiracies hatched against us would have destroyed our revolution. Yet the nation's awareness together with such elements as faith and dedication to Islam have transformed our society into a united phenomenon, able to withstand all kinds of problems and to overcome them all.

The war, of course, is the first topic I will discuss with you, a topic which our great nation has always regarded as a priority with the slogan of "war, war until final victory." Your servant government's policy of also regarding the war as a priority in fact is a reflection of your desire, your move and action. You are aware of the victories achieved on the battlefronts. They have all been great and have had a significant impact on the international level and at home. They have created major changes in the region, upset many calculations and have forced the superpowers, specially the United States, to try to stop their advance. Of course we expect these victories to produce wide-ranging changes inside Iraq, too, changes which undoubtedly will seriously threaten the U.S. protectorate regime of Saddam. That regime is currently experiencing its worst period and is in a very bad shape; the word moribund is most appropriate for describing its condition.

In order to give you a better picture of the effect of our victories inside Iraq I must say, first of all, that at the time when Saddam's regime launched the war against us, on the one hand, it intended to establish its hegemony over the Persian Gulf while also annexing parts of our territory on the pretext of racial feelings. It was also pursuing the goal of destroying our Islamic revolution. The Iraqi regime believed it had the best opportunity to destroy our revolution especially during the initial period when the liberals and the superpowers' agents inside the country were engaged in a series of serious plots and when it looked as if the Islamic Republic, as far as internal tensions were concerned, was in real trouble and the situation was ripe for foreign intervention. On the other hand, the Iraqi regime apart from its desire for local triumphs was also seeking international prestige. The Iraqis believed this could be achieved both by victories in war and by diplomatic activities of the Saddam regime. I will mention here that their own false assessment was itself the major cause.

For the same reason for many years Saddam had planned to convene the nonaligned summit meeting in Baghdad, thus becoming the head of the movement [words indistinct]. Of course, Saddam embarked upon extensive publicity over the issue, trying to convince the Iraqi people, just as he tried to publicize his victories in war. He spent great sums on constructing a huge venue for the summit. It has been said that millions of dollars were spent. Many so-called glorious hotels were constructed, each fully equipped. I mention these aspects in detail merely to remind you of the effect it could have had, if the summit had been convened in Baghdad. Imagine Saddam's position in view of his nation's public opinion. Well, despite all the publicity of Saddam's propaganda machinery over the issue, the summit is not to be convened in Baghdad. This came about only as a result of our combatants' victories on the battlefronts and of our move and activities in international diplomacy.

Now we expect any kind of stupid reaction from Saddam's regime. The Iraqi regime's recent statements and communiques aimed at making the Persian Gulf insecure are the direct results of his defeat? Yet we understand that the satan and its creatures are always blind and fail to see realities. From the viewpoint of international law, such action is wrong, because apart from Iran, there are other states in the Persian Gulf with interests, and it is natural to oppose any move which may damage their security. This in itself will increase political pressure on the Iraqi regime although once again we should repeat that the future of the war will be determined by our combatants who are giving their lives and their blood for it. These efforts and holy war will continue until we achieve the conditions which we have set and which have been endorsed throughout the world as just. Our nation followed by its obedient government will not retreat one inch from this position.

At a time when we have set the victory in war as our most important goal, it is natural that all the government's program and resources are mobilized and directed toward achieving that victory.

We must always approach the war issues as well as our internal issues from both the political and economical viewpoints simultaneously.

The second topic which I would like to discuss in this direct address to you, my great brothers and sisters, concerns economic issues. I will try to be as brief as possible.

The reason you have not been informed of economic issues in the past was our particular situation resulting from the economic sanctions and the war. The reason we can now reveal them is the fact that we are now in a strong position. We have passed the danger point, crossed the red lines and can naturally refer to them with complete frankness and clearness. No doubt, such a revelation will help our great nation's realistically view the political-economic issues.

About a year ago, our humble government accepted responsibility for the undesirable state in which our economy found itself as a result of an imbalance between foreign exchange earnings and expenditures. All of us knew that our foreign exchange reserves were not unlimited; they were low. When the war started Iraq had $36 billion in reserves. We were committed to a policy of neither West nor East and were thus not able to reach out for help. Our nation is aware of these facts. At the same time, the economic sanctions -- sanctions imposed on us by the big powers -- together with not being able to sell our crude resulted in a difficult situation for us, but we never assumed a pessimistic attitude.

The situation was such that for nearly a month we stopped the opening of any letter of credit for the import of foreign goods. In order to realize the importance of this step, one need only look at the goods we consume, the goods required by our factories, the extent of our dependence on foreign markets for our consumer and capital goods. In fact, during the shah's regime economic expansion was set to make our economy 100 percent dependent on foreign markets.

Everyone knows agriculture was destroyed in our country, that our villages have been deserted and so forth.

I will not go into detail into a subject about which our nation is fully aware. I will limit myself only to the problems which we are facing and the remedies we have sought. At that time, we realized a great danger was threatening our country. I would also say the superpowers, with the criminal United States topping the list, tried to destroy the revolution through the liberals on our country. This plot was defeated with the help of our great nation. The nation of the hezbollah [party of God] — suppressed the plot. The world mass media were saying that those political activities would lead to the collapse of the Islamic Republic. They used to count the days to and even set the week and the day for the republic's collapse. When that plot failed to deliver the goods, criminal and armed moves by the hypocrites organization [Mojahedin-e Khalq] began. This, too, brought a ray of hope to the United States and other aggressive powers. They are keeping their fingers crossed for the annihiliation of the Islamic Republic. Their mass media is full of comments saying these explosions in Iran, these assassinations carried out by the hypocrites organization, will destroy the revolution. I remember that they used to say that many of the clergy had been assassinated and that should any more be assassinated, then the regime would ultimately collapse. They had calculated as far as this. The explosion at the office of the Islamic Republican Party during which 72 of the revolution's best sons were martyred brought a ray of hope to the hearts of the superpowers. Yet the great nation of ours foiled all those conspiracies. All those events made our nation much stronger, our revolution more powerful, our nation more united, and resulted in unity among all the country's organs.

Disappointed superpowers place all their hopes for the collapse of the revolution on the economic sanctions. Here again in their mass media we read that the Iranian reserves have fallen below the 1 million mark, that they have such and such a figure, that the country is on the verge of economic collapse. All their hopes are in that direction. Of course, all these assertions based on some economic factors ignore your revolutionary patience and resistance and depend on the superpowers' belief that the party of God and the revolution organs do not have to administer the revolution or the will to stand up to difficulties and problems. Such calculations are wrong in both cases. We are working on a plan to create a balance between our foreign exchange earnings and our expenditures and to put an end to that confused situation. Tens of thousands of items imported from abroad require foreign exchange. Creating a mechanism which would set out the priorities and spell out the role to be played by the various organs in the continuation of the revolution is a natural step that the government is taking.

Of course, the task is a complicated one, but it will be carried out. We will create a commission -- namely, the commission for allocating foreign exchange. Its work will involve the Petroleum Ministry on the one hand and the Central Bank on the other. This commission will constantly report to us on the level of our foreign exchange earnings and future forecasts. Among the commission's other tasks will be allocation of foreign exchange to the various sectors on the basis of the nation's priorities. With the creation of this commission, we will be able to stand on our feet even in a situation in which the level of our crude exports falls to 6 or 7 [as heard] barrels a day or even less. In order to understand the importance of the issue, you must realize that at one time our country was exporting 6 million barrels a day of crude. In 1357 [year beginning 21 March 1977] I hope I am not mistaken -- our income from crude exports was near $24 billion. Imagine, a country with that sort of income now wants to stand on its feet with a monthly income of $300 million.

This commission has carried out its duty very successfully and is one of the government's important tools. [tenses as heard] I have said all this to stress the fact that we are able to pursue the war in the worst circumstances. This in itself has given us great confidence.

At the moment our foreign exchange reserves are very healthy. The heavy pressure has gone. That is because of the active role in foreign policy carried out by the Petroleum Ministry, the Commerce Ministry and other ministries. At the same time, limiting ourselves to to spending in accordance with what we earn has resulted in certain pressures on certain sectors. The decision to import one item and ban another and the setting of priorities create a situation which has immediate felt on society.

When we have shortage of wheat, then naturally this is given utmost priority. If we want to increase our agricultural products and avoid destruction of our agriculture, then it is natural to accord priority to the import of agricultural machinery and fertilizers at the minimum possible level. When we need fertilizers, we cannot think of consumer goods. If we require drugs, then we should try to import them, although at the minimum level.

Such pressures will of course be reflected in society. There will be certain shortages as a result of pressure, economic sanctions and shortages of raw materials.

You may feel the domestic market lacks china and glass, that prices are increasing madly -- a drinking glass usually worth 5 tomans may cost 4-6 times as much. But I am sure you will understand when you are given the reasons for the situation. We are committed to the essential measures of creating a healthy economy, standing on our feet, pursuing our war, upholding our revolution messages as a reslut of our uncompromising policy in our international conduct. I am sure you will accept these shortcomings even if they apply pressures to you. At the same time, the adoption of these measures will result in efforts for more production of the same sort of consumer goods which we have been importing. I have heard that the people are beginning to buy ceramic cups which will lead to the establishment of many factories for their production.

In the second half of the 1360 [23 September 1981 to 20 March 1982] we managed to reduce the private sector's share of imports by 58 percent. This reduction was not a mere change; it was rather a jolt, a shock. This restriction applied mainly to the import of consumer goods. Of course, it would have been much better to apply this restriction gradually. But we had no other choice. At a time when we are dealing with issues such as the existence of the Islamic revolution, protection of the Islamic society's interests, we are sure people from all walks of life are prepared to make great sacrifices. Reducing the private sector's imports by 24 billion tomans will result in some pressures on some sectors. We do not understand this; we do feel the pain, but, as I said, the circumstances are such that we had no other choice.

Another topic I want to brief you on in relation to the state of the economy is the issue of economic planning, a topic on which the government has been working for the past 8 to 9 months. The government has firmly decided to draft an economic plan for our economy and to end the present confused system.

This aim, of course, was spelled out in the government's program when we were introduced to the Majlis. Of course, this was a difficult task, a task which was to be fulfilled for the first time in the Islamic revolution. The 5-year programs drawn up and carried out by the previous regime were based on quite different concepts, assessments and values. Those programs had special emphasis for the benefits of the United States or were linked to other foreign governments. The previous regime had at its disposal facts and figures and could count on resources which we could not. They were deeply dependent on the United States and other big powers in their planning, and were pursuing a policy of making the country dependent on these powers. All these remarks I am making are to show you that when we embarked upon economic planning, we had to start from scratch. But our progress has been considerable.

What we are trying to do is to promote the idea of decentralized planning. For the same reason, we have set up planning councils at provincial levels whose members include local Friday imams, the governor general and officials of various organs.

We are on the verge of finalizing the next 5-year plan and hope -- God willing -- to be in a position this year to present next year's budget within the framework and part of that long-term plan.

Now I would like to speak briefly on internal policy and security matters. All of you are fully aware that in the past year the most comprehensive world terrorist organization was suppressed by you and the revolution organs. During that period many conspiracies were foiled, including the strange plot involving Qotbzadeh whose trial is in progress.

During that period the country's Security Council held regular meetings. The council tried to coordinate security matters at the national level. The government's political rule has been strongly consolidated throughout the country; in fact in the course of last year we uprooted feudalism and chieftainism throughout the country, and the last achievement was in Fars Province of which you are all aware.

In general the country is heading toward stability. The hypocrites organization, as you are aware has been destroyed and has suffered deadly blows. From the political viewpoint, that organization has died. There was a time when that organization considered itself the alternative.

In practice, by creating a feeling of hate among the people, the hypocrites have destroyed any possible reconciliation with the nation and, as I said, from a political viewpoint, they have died completely, they do not exist. The only physical existence they have is translated into crimes such as killing this or that member of the party of God or a revolution guard, kidnapping someone, torturing and so forth. These remnants of the hypocrites will also be eliminated, although they may still be able to continue with their crimes. [sentence as heard]

Another topic I want to discuss with you is the relationship between the revolution foundations and the government. As we have said repeatedly, the government, in principle, very strongly supports the revolution foundations. In fact, some members of the government, the ministers have come from the same foundations and defend the noble and healthy line which exists in those revolution foundations. Three years after the success of the revolution, these foundations are becoming more disciplined and are thinking of drafting their constitutions. When drafted, these constitutions will help to demarcate their areas of responsibilities.

Another topic I would like to mention is the question of the Islamic associations in government departments. We consider them to be part of the foundations of the revolution and have always said these associations, especially those in the government departments, have rendered the revolution great service during periods of political tension, acting as the revolution's arms, eyes and ears. They have also acted as the revolution's messengers to the government department.

But at the same time the government, in line with the imam's remarks and the nation's interests, is of the opinion that these associations in the government departments must not interfere in management affairs. They should know that the director or supervisor of a government department, before anything else, is responsible to the government and the Majlis. The Islamic associations, of course, are free to observe and, God forbid, if they come to see anyone committing a treacherous act or deviation, they should follow the case through the legal channels. They should be sensitive to any event. But at the same time, in order to create a situation in which the Islamic revolution can continue with its natural course and development and in order to allow the regime to establish and develop itself, we stress that the Islamic associations must not interfere in management affairs.

The last topic I would like to address very briefly for the information of our great nation, the dedicated and faithful people of Iran, the people who are always present on the scene, is the relationship between the government and the Majlis.

We have said this repeatedly at the Cabinet: The government is committed to it; the ministers are committed to it. The Majlis stands at the top; supremacy belongs to the Majlis. We have a deep-rooted Majlis; we have duly-elected representatives of the nation. With such an active Majlis and the standing it enjoys in our Constitution, we must adhere to the policy that the final decision rests with the Majlis. The government should act as a subordinate to the Majlis and keep its eyes and ears open for the guidance received from it. At the same time, we are of the opinion that it would be dangerous to believe that our regime is a copy to Western democracy, where there is competition between the government and the parliament.

Such attitudes will harm our revolution and no doubt exist neither in the Majlis nor in the government. Yet a reminder of it, I think, is of benefit to everyone. Within our system of the Islamic Republic, we consider the Majlis as the nation's ears and eyes and as a trusted observer overseeing the events taking place in other branches of government; but within the framework in which divine values exist, we also look to the Majlis as our friend and helper.

Cooperation is what we would like, and we can move towards it. In fact, if the cooperation and coordination between the government and the Majlis that now exists can be maintained, we will be able to overcome our problems with greater ease.

What I can tell you is that such a relationship is currently in force between the government and the Majlis. The government considers itself a drop in the limitless ocean of the nation; it considers itself an obedient servant.

PROCEEDINGS OF LAST DAY OF QOTBZADEH TRIAL

LD221712 Tehran IRNA in English 1030 GMT 22 Aug 82

[Text] Tehran, Aug 22 (IRNA) -- Sadeq Qotbzadeh's trial is based on his own confession. The court will not rely on the statements of others, including the parties charged with him, if they are not proved, announced the armed forces' court's Chief Judge Hojjat ol-Eslam Mohammadi Reyshahri yesterday.

The judge was speaking in the third and last session of the trial and added that the court would acquit the accused if he was found innocent. The court, Reyshahri noted, was only concerned with implementing the rules of Allah and establishing justice. Following this, Qotbzadeh talked about the points in the indictment and said he accepted the first point, i.e. leading a group to overthrow the Islamic Republic as his main charge.

Reciting his charges, Qotbzadeh admitted to collaborating with some military personnel.

He noted that his alleged financial support for the group was in fact true.

Then Qotbzadeh spoke on the Amol incident last January, in which the counterrevolution in Amol, a Caspian Sea town, massacred tens of innocient people. Some 34 terrorists were also killed and local people subdued the insurgents. Qotbzadeh said he had only given some clothes to the counterrevolutionary group involved and other than that, he had no contact with the group. He denied any contact with the Qashqais nomad tribe in the south of Iran.

Explaining his sending representatives abroad to raise money and obtain information, Qotbzadeh said he had sent them only to receive information about other peoples' attitudes in regard to a coup in Iran.

On establishing contact with the Socialist International he said he had had contact with them for some 15 years. Qotbzadeh then confessed to having sent envoys to Shari'at Madari to get his support and cooperation. He denied seeking arms and ammunition abroad.

Qotbzadeh admitted to having agreed with taking over the IRGC [Islamic Revolutionary Guards Corps] centers, committees, the IRIB (Islamic Republic of Iran Broadcasting), and with destroying the residence and person of Imam Khomeyni. He said he had changed his mind regarding the imam but admitted he could not prove this.

He also confessed to providing the group with a house nearby the resistance of Imam Khomeyni' for observation purposes and having undertaking measures for the release of a terrorist in the counterrevolutionary [words indistinct]. In this connection he offered a million rials in bribes.

He also admitted to having asked for the freedom of one of the PLO terrorists from prison and having helped a counterrevolutionary arsonist obtain a passport.

After hearing Qotbzadeh explain the points in his indictment, Reyshahri referring to Qotbzadeh's separating definitions for "system" and "the form of ruling", said the two terms were one and were closely interrelated and they could never be separted as Qotbzadeh separated them in the first session of the hearing. (Qotzbadeh had said he was against the status quo, not the system of the Islamic Republic.)

Reyshahri added that the Islamic Republic system was inseparatible from the institutions of the Constitution of the Islamic Republic.

Reyshahri then reminded Qotbzadeh of his remark on believing in the Constitution, and asked him how could he respect the Constitution and still try to depose people who were holding posts by virtue of that same constitution. He said Qotbzadeh's justifications were for a wrong deed and nobody could defend wrong.

Referring to Qotbzadeh's charges of alleged violations of the Constitution and what he termed repression in the country, Hojjat ol-Eslam Reyshahri said the Islamic Republic Constitution allowed all political parties and various associations to operate freely provided they did not conspire against the Islamic Republic. He added according to the Constitution of the Islamic Republic of Iran, no one had the right to stop another from joining any party, or compelling him to join. He questioned Qotbzadeh on the points of the violations of the Constitution and on what were the specific points where repression was taking place in the country.

He then added that in a society where [words indistinct] and undertake military measures in the [words indistinct] of what he considered violations of the Constitution, [words indistinct].

He said that documents indicated that he said that Qotbzadeh was planning to take power in his own hands, rather than transferring it, as claimed by him in the hearing. Referring to Qotbzadeh's remarks on having had no contact with the [words indistinct] Reyshahri recited Qotbzadeh's own statements in which he admitted knowing that tribe from before and trying to get in touch with them.

In those statements, Qotbzadeh said that he asked one of his acquaintances who was in touch with [words indistinct].

Speaking on the attempt to destroy the residence of Imam Khomeyni, the judge of the armed forces tribunals said one of the people charged in the case had said that Qotbzadeh had volunteered himself for implementing the plan to destroy imam's residence and thereby martyr the imam.

Discussing the statements of other people involved in the plot, Reyshahri said everything attested to the fact that the first move in the conspiracy was martyring Imam Khomeyni. He then said the group planned to send a mission to Saudi Arabia to raise money for their purposes. This, continued Reyshahri, was carried out by [name indistinct] a fraudulent man who had posed as a religious clergyman. He quoted [name indistinct] and said the amount was some 80 million marks, but later it changed to 10 million marks. [figures as received]

Then Qotbzadeh answered Hojjat ol-Eslam Reyshahri's questions. He said he had been cooperating politically and economically with Hector Villalon, an Argentine businessman now residing in Paris, for he could give Qotbzadeh information. He added that he had sent Villalon a list of arms he needed, but received no reply.

Qotbzadeh then said he realised after that he had made a mistake in sending that list to Villalon.

Describing the Socialist International, Qotbzadeh said they were among the last active organisations in Europe and in the world and could provide him with a lot of information regarding various countries' policies. He said he wanted to know the Socialists' analyses on various world problems, such as the Middle East, the Iraqi imposed war on Iran, and that Villalon gave those reports to Qotbzadeh. He said those reports were obtained from the Socialists own sources in various countries' governments for they had branches everywhere.

The judge then said all those people who were involved with Qotbzadeh have quoted him as saying that he had contact with the U.S. and Saudi Arabia.

Qotbzadeh then said the coup plotters insisted that nothing could be achieved with foreign help, and that he had responded by saying that all should be left to him. Qotbzadeh then said without the support of Saudi Arabia, Iraq could not resist Iran for even 24 hours.

Qotbzadeh then attributed Mahdavi's trip to Saudi Arabia to raise money for the coup, to a Mr. Sheibani and said he had sponsored it.

Qotbzadeh then confessed to having commited a sin by not objecting to the coup plotter's plan to destroy the residence of Imam Khomeyni and said he had given the coup plotters a vague plan in that regard and said he had introduced two people, [words indistinct].

In this connection Qotbzadeh said he had sent three people to meet with Shari'atmadari to inform him of their plan, and Shari'atmadari assured them of his full approval.

Qotbzadeh then said he had said previously that the defunct shah's son and other counter-revolutionaries could return to Iran, provided they returned all the wealth they plundered from Iran, to the country and lived like any ordinary person. He admitted to having given some 3 million tomans to people involved in the coup.

Answering Reyshahri's question whether he was still of the opinion that the only solution for Iran's problems was a military coup, Qotbzadeh answered in the nagative and said he had come to doubt his previous assumptions. He said he was infinitely sorry and ashamed for having chosen the attempted coup solution and that he regarded his earlier thoughts "undoubtedly wrong".

He said he hoped Allah would forgive him, and now believed that the nation's problems should [words indistinct] by discussions, writings, and similar methods. In conclusion, Qotbzadeh stated that he considered himself absolutely guilty.

PRESIDENT WARNS OF ENEMY PLANS FOR W. AZARBAYJAN

LD222008 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 22 Aug 82

[Excerpts] According to the Central News Unit, Mr Ghaffari, the Majlis deputy from Salmas, accompanied by a group of officials from that city, met with President Seyyed 'Ali Khamane'i at noon today.

During this meeting, Mr Ghaffari submitted a report on the sociopolitical situation in Salmas. Then, referring to the ploys of the masters of the previous regime and their attempts to create divisions among the various tribes during and after the Islamic revolution, the president said: By raising the banner of hezbollah [party of God] and following the imam of the community, and despite all the disruptions and subversions in that relatively remote place, the people of West Azarbayjan foiled all those who had illegal plans for Azarbayjan.

Referring to the clashes in Kordestan, he said: Our foreign enemy has not set his eyes on a particular people, and he will use anybody. He added: Those who confronted our dear guards on the Kordestan and West Azarbayjan fronts and who lost their lives were generally neither Turks nor Kurds. They were counterrevolutionaries who had gathered in those parts from various parts of the country to hit at the revolution. The cruel and dastardly regime of Iraq also gave them arms and assistance from across the border so they could fight the Islamic Republic.

Stressing on the unity among the various groups of the nation, he said: The enemy has plans for West Azarbayjan and intends to create divisions. You should foil him. Fortunately, one can see signs of the enemy's defeat in the region.

Referring to the victories of the combatants of Islam on the war fronts and against the counterrevolutionaries, he said: When the enemy saw that our people were able to deal with counterrevolution on the fronts of military confrontation, he resorted to political subversion.

The president said: Anyone who sings about rift and dissention among the Islamic community and the Muslim people of Iran is a traitor to the revolution, a traitor to the people and to the Islamic Republic.

MUSAVI ON ALLEGED ISRAELI ARMS SALES TO IRAN

LD221354 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 22 Aug 82

[Text] According to the Central News Unit, Prime Minister Mir Hoseyn Musavi spoke with correspondents after today's session of the Cabinet regarding the departure of the Palestinian combatants from Beirut and rumors about Israel's sale to Iran of weapons captured from the Palestinian combatants. He said:

In our fight against America, we have always relied on the raised fists of our nation. Our confrontation with Zionism and America is so deeply rooted that these rumors can never shake the will of our nation to continue fighting against Zionism and imperialism. Therefore, the media better shut up and understand that they will not be able to erode the will of our nation in its confrontation with the world-devourers.

Regarding the sending of the Palestinians to Jordan and Iraq, the prime minister said: The Lebanon problem and the suppression of the Palestinian movement are the results of an international conspiracy. How can the Palestinian forces go to such a country as Jordan? How can Jordan, in which we have seen the black September and have witnessed the massacre of Palestinian combatants, be prepared to accomodate and house the Palestinians? Is it not because Iraq and Jordan are in tune with America's policies? The political activities of such countries as Jordan, Tunisia and Iraq reveal a global conspiracy to destroy the Palestinian Resistance.

MAJLIS SPEAKER ON WITHDRAWAL OF PALESTINIANS

GF221038 Tehran International Service in Arabic 0900 GMT 22 Aug 82

[Text] During today's open Majlis session, Majlis Speaker Seyyed Hashemi-Rafsanjani expressed regret at the temporary success of the U.S.-Zionist plot which was executed with the cooperation of the reactionary leaders of the area leaders -- a plot designed to disperse the Palestinian Muslim combatants. On the other hand, the Majlis speaker expressed hope that the Islamic Republic of Iran and all those who defend the oppressed in the world will (?cancel) this apparent and temporary victory and prevent the United States and its surrogates from celebrating.

Seyyed Hashemi-Rafsanjani noted that Iraq's and Jordan's acceptance of the Palestinian combatants is the best proof that this is a U.S. plot and shows that the Iraqi and Jordanian regimes approve the U.S. action. He added that the agreement by Iraq and Jordan to receive the Palestinian combatants certainly proves Iraq's participation and its leading role in this plot which is aimed against the Palestinians.

VELAYATI DEPARTS FOR ISLAMIC MINISTERS MEETING

[Text] Tehran, Aug 21, IRNA -- The Iranian delegation to the preliminary session of the 13th conference of the Islamic countries' foreign ministers proposed the addition of following items to its draft agenda:

1 -- Imposition of severe punishment to the United States for siding with the Zionist regime.

2 -- Revision of political relations of the member countries of the conference with the United States.

3 -- Investigation of the political and economic activities of the usurper regime of Al-Qods in Africa and the means to prevent them.

4 -- Investigation of the role of religious missionaries in Africa and the ways and means for curbing their activities.

5 -- Review of the danger of the colonialistic infiltration of the superpowers and of establishing overt and concealed bases in the Islamic lands and announcement of the conference stand in this regard.

6 -- Renewed emphasis on the conference resolutions about sanctions against the Egyptian regime.

The Iranian delegation which is led by the managing director of the Afro-Asian Affairs Department of the Foreign Ministry also presented notes on each of the said items.

COMMUNIQUES, REPORTS ON FIGHTING WITH IRAQ

Joint Staff Communique 1,022

LD201818 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 20 Aug 82

[Communique No 1,022 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. Our dear compatriots are hereby informed of the sacrifices made by the selfless combatants of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran as well as of situation on the warfronts.

The battle continued yesterday on the country's western fronts in the form of exchanges of artillery and heavy weapons fire between the resisting combatants of Islam and the Iraqi Ba'thist mercenaries. The artillery of Islam shelled enemy positions and installations, inflicting considerable losses and casualties on the infidel Ba'thists. Part of the Banmil oil installations was set on fire and Saddamist positions and fortifications at (Zayn al-Kush) were levelled during these operations. Other losses and casualties inflicted on the aggressive Iraqi mercenaries were as follows:

Several foxholes, bunkers and observation posts and a truck were destroyed. Unspecified numbers of infidel Saddamist forces were killed or injured. Eight of the enemy were killed on one of those fronts. Damage was inflicted on enemy supply routes, obstructing enemy logistics operations. A large number of mines planted by the Iraqis was found and destroyed.

The valiants of Islam mounted retaliatory fire on the enemy positions in Marivan and Baneh and silenced their fire.

On the southern fronts, the victorious valiants of Islam in the past 24 hours defended and consolidated their positions and answered the fire of the criminal mercenary Saddamists. They also kept the enemy's infantry, tank and artillery units under fire, inflicting damage on the Saddamist positions and fortifications and killing or injuring a number of enemy soldiers.

Intensive fire mounted by the army artillery on the Al-Faw installations and Al-Faw-Basra supply route denied mobility to the Ba'thist mercenaries as well as damaged the Al-Faw installations.

In the course of exchanges of fire on the Abadan and Khorramshahr fronts, the valiants of the navy and combatants of the gendarmerie pounded enemy units and positions across the Arvand Rud [Shatt al-'Arab] and silenced their fire. Losses and casualties inflicted on the enemy during these operations included the destruction of 10 bunkers and 2 observation posts and the death of an unspecified number of enemy soldiers. These operations also kept the enemy forces pinned down.

The city of Abadan continued to suffer from the criminal Saddamists' long-range shelling. Four houses were destroyed.

Khark Island Situation

NC201856 Paris AFP in English 1839 GMT 20 Aug 82

Recksten, the vessel's owners, said the master had radioed to report that, once clear of the Khark Island complex, at the head of the Gulf, the 219,000-ton supertanker was "fully loaded," with crew and ship safe and sound.

"During the stay, he witnessed shootings and bombings, with aircraft trying to avoid hitting the ships," a Recksten spokesman said, quoting the master as saying that he "doesn't want to go back" to Khark.

The master told his company that he did not recommend sending a second vessel to the Iranian terminal in view of Iraq's threats that it would attack any vessel approaching Khark.

Another Recksten vessel, a 280,000-tonner, was riding anchor at the entrance to the Gulf awaiting orders, the spokesman said, adding that the vessel would now probably not be sent on to Khark.

Another Norwegian flag vessel, the Wind Escort, is also reported to have loaded and left the oil terminal, while a London-controlled VLCC (very large crude carrier) was being loaded.

The Hadrian's master said that there were no incidents concerning any vessels. "Nothing was hit," the Recksten spokesman said.

On the tanker market today, shipowners were asking double the normal rates to send their ships to Khark Island. Very few owners were now willing to commit their tonnage to the area and rates were expected to go even higher.

War-risk insurance rates for a week's trading were estimated to be between 400,000 and 600,000 dollars for a vessel of similar size to the Handrian -- eight times the normal rates.

Warning Flares Over Basra

LD211202 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 21 Aug 82

[Text] At exactly 2030 last night, the combatants of Islam fired over Basra. By doing so the combatants of Islam once again warned the people of the world that despite the power and capability of the artillery of the Islamic Republic of Iran's Armed Forces to shell Basra and despite the barbaric attack of the Iraqi Ba'thist-Zionist regime on residential areas of our Islamic homeland, the forces of Islam never intend to hurt the Muslim and oppressed people of Basra or other Iraqi cities. According to this report, last night, simultaneous with the firing of the flares over Basra, a message from the combatants of Islam to the heroic people of Basra was broadcast from the Arabic [programs] of the [radio] centers of the Islamic Republic of Iran in Ahvaz, Abadan, Dezful and Tehran -- which can be received in Basra. At the same time, the Iraqi state television, which was terribly scared, broadcast only the anthem of the quivering Iraqi Armed Forces.

The text of the message issued by the combatants of Islam is as follows: In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. In the name of God, the crusher of the oppressors, the annihilator of the tyrants and the destroyer of harebin [those people who wage war against God] -- O you Muslim and committed people of Basra, the flares you can see over your city right now are from the forces of Islam. They show you your brothers are able to shell even the heart of Basra with artillery and missile launchers. But, as you are aware, and as you have witnessed during 2 years of struggle in defense of the sanctity of Islam and the Muslims, the powerful and divine forces of Islam have not harmed the suffering and oppressed people of Iraq and they are not going to do so. Because we believe you are our religious and Islamic brothers and sisters, with the aid of God, we intend to liberate you from the yoke of oppression and (?tyranny) of the 'Aflaqite Saddam who is a servant of America and Israel.

O you steadfast and heroic people of Basra, unite at once and rise up crying "God is great, there is no God but Allah", topple the sinister and rotten regime of the Zionist Saddam and put an end to tyranny and oppression in the Islamic territory of Iraq and the holy shires of the innocent imans, may peace be upon them, and establish a divine and Islamic regime in Iraq.

[Communique No 1,023 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. While commemorating the everlasting memories of the blood-stained martyrs who fell on the fronts of the struggle of good against evil, giving their sacred and pure lives for the sake of dear Islam's glories and the dear homeland in repulsing the insurgents and aggression against the sacred Islamic territories, thereby achieving the lofty rank of martyrdom, the dear compatriots are hereby informed of the situation on the fronts of the imposed war and the outcome of the sacrifices by the valiant combatants of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran in the past 24 hours.

In the course of exchanges of fire on the country's western fronts, the able combatants of Islam, defending their defensive positions, brought the enemy positions, fortifications and installations under heavy artillery fire, as a result of which part of the Iraqi Banmil oil installations was set on fire, the mercenary Ba'thist forces were prevented from moving or carrying out any activity, three vehicles were damaged, three vehicles were destroyed and a number of Ba'thist bunkers were levelled. On one of Ilam's fronts, the gendarmerie valiants killed a number of criminal Saddamists and set on fire and destroyed one of their vehicles.

On the Marivan front, too, the selfless combatants of the army mounted artillery fire on the Iraqi positions in the (Hargineh) and (Beyareh) regions, inflicting considerable losses and casualties on the enemy forces and silenced their artillery fire.

Sporadic exchanges of fire continued yesterday on the Abadan and Khorramshahr fronts and the gendarmerie valiants mounted retaliatory fire on the enemy units and positions and destroyed several Iraqi mercenary forces' heavy arms bunkers, two field guns and one mortar together with their crews.

Parts of Abadan's civilian sectors were under the criminal Saddamist forces' long-range artillery in the past 24 hours, as a result of which a number of houses were destroyed and fires flared up in several places.

The air defense units of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran repulsed Iraqi aircraft which violated the air space of a number of frontier cities in the south and west of the country.

Joint Staff Communique 1,024

LD221752 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 22 Aug 82

[Communique No 1,024 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. With the help of God and the unreserved support of the Muslim and combative people of the Islamic homeland, the powerful combatants of the Islamic Republic of Iran Armed Forces and popular forces, enjoying combat superiority and high morale, continue to crush Islam's enemies in line with their divine objectives and bravely deliver effective and crushing blows to Saddamist forces.

Yesterday in the operational sector in the western part of the country our artillery and mortar shelling of enemy positions and installations destroyed two vehicles carrying Iraqi personnel and damaged Iraqi positions and fortifications. Our forces' fire in the Haftavan and Panjwin areas silenced the Saddamist artillery fire and killed a number of the them. On one of the country's western fronts aggressive forces intended to reinforce the area, but they faced timely action by the forces of Islam and their activity was smashed under artillery fire. As a result, 5 vehicles transporting enemy personnel were destroyed inside Iraqi territory and about 50 of the forces of Saddam were killed.

In the operational sector in the southern part of the country our forces, continuing to defend their positions, silenced enemy fire. In addition, fire directed at enemy encampments and concentrations on the other side of Arvand Rud [Shatt al-'Arab] and on the Al-Faw-Basra highway disrupted enemy traffic and halted Iraqi redeployment.

Yesterday, the enemy brought Abadan under fire from heavy and long-range weapons, as a result of which four houses were destroyed and four of our compatriots were injured.

Enemy air violations over the past 24 hours were neutralized by the tactical measures of the fighter aircraft of the Air Force of the Islamic Republic of Iran and antiaircraft fire by the air defense units.

NABAVI VIEWS DPRK VISIT 'VERY POSITIVELY'

GF221150 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 0430 GMT 22 Aug 82

[Text] The economic-industrial delegation of the Islamic Republic of Iran headed by Mr Behzad Nabavi, the minister of heavy industries, returned to Tehran last night from a visit to the DPRK. Mr Nabavi upon his arrival discussed the results of this trip with an IRNA correspondent.

He said the diplomatic goals of Iranian commercial and foreign affairs are to sever relations with the superpowers and capitalist powers because maintaining relations with them results in dependence. The other goal is to increase economic relations with Third World countries.

We believe in the same diplomacy for political andeducational aspects, Mr Nabavi said, adding that for about 2 years a planned effort has been underway to establish relations with these countries. Increasing relations with the DPRK, a freedom-seeking Third World country, very much self-sufficient industrially and also a country that has a "neither East nor West" foreign policy started 2 years ago. The trip by Majlis Speaker Hashemi-Rafsanjani and Agricultural Minister Salamati and their meetings with DPRK officials gave a new look to the relations between the two countries. The trip by the DPRK premier to Iran last spring resulted in the signing of a mutual understanding agreement between the prime ministers of the two countries.

Mr Nabavi continued: The job of our delegation was to gain more information about the technical, industrial and commercial aspects of the DPRK, to sign contracts on expanding profitable relations between the two nations, secure the many needs of the Islamic Republic of Iran for basic goods and to create balance in foreign commerce.

The minister of heavy industries further said: I view the results of this trip very positively. The delegation successfully met with more than 70 commercial, technical and industrial delegations in the DPRK. Extensive discussions among nine working groups took place and a general note was signed by the economic assistant of the DPRK premier and myself on industrial, civic, agricultural, power, commercial, transportation and fishery relations. Mr Nabavi said this trip succeeded in increasing the amount of annual exchanges between the two countries from $14 million in 1980 and $7 million in 1981 to $140 million in 1982 and $500 million for 1983. Mr Nabavi continued: The impression that I got from this trip is that we must try to forget the problem of selling oil in exchange for everything as well as trying to get the maximum profits. Instead, we must think how we can stand on our own feet in order to make progress in industry and commerce.

At the end of this interview, he asked the professionals and experienced people of our country to try very hard to walk in a way so that, with the help of God, they can make Iran a completely self-sufficient country in the future and make it, at least partially self-sufficient in the near future.

FBIS DAILY REPORT

24 AUGUST 1982

Lebanon

Election of Al-Jumayyil — Bashir al-Jumayyil, elected president of Lebanon by the Chamber of Deputies on a second ballot in which he received 57 votes out of 62, will take over from President Ilyas Sarkis on 23 September, Beirut radio noted. After the election, Al-Jumayyil expressed hope that Lebanon will be unified, regain its sovereignty and prosperity and enter a period of peace, safety and reassurance, according to remarks broadcast by Voice of Lebanon radio. He subsequently told journalists that Lebanon will have "normal and cordial relations with all its neighbors" in order to extricate itself from the predicament of having both Israeli and Syrian forces occupying the country, the radio reported. The president-elect expressed confidence that the Lebanese will forget old scores and start over again. According to MA'ARIV, Al-Jumayyil recently revealed that he intends to sign a peace treaty with Israel within 6 to 7 months, though Israel should not in the meantime pressure him to sign a treaty because of the internal hostility among the factions in Lebanon.

Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin sent Al-Jumayyil a message expressing "warm and heartfelt congratulations," THE JERUSALEM POST reported. "Free Lebanon" Commander Maj Sa'd Haddad also congratulated Al-Jumayyil, calling on him to unify Lebanon and make a peace agreement with Israel, according to Voice of Hope radio. On the other hand, Damascus radio said Al-Jumayyil was "forced on the people" under Israeli protection and cited reports that deputies were bribed to vote for him. Reporting a "national and Islamic rejection" of the new president, the clandestine Voice of Palestine radio said a national Islamic conference at the house of former Prime Minister Sa'ib Salam issued a statement warning against the advent of a factional, dictatorial and fascist government.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Kamal Hasan 'Ali described the election as "a purely internal Lebanese affair" and said Lebanon should be united in order to rebuild itself as an Arab state, according to MENA.

In the aftermath of the election the west Beirut homes of the Chamber of Deputies speaker and three deputies were burned down, Voice of Lebanon radio reported. Lebanese leftist militia opened artillery fire in the southern suburbs of Beirut preventing passage through the Galerie Sim'an crossing, according to AFP.

Israeli-Syrian Clashes — Israeli-Syrian clashes resumed in central Lebanon early on 24 August, the Voice of Lebanon reported.

PLO Evacuation — The third group of PLO fighters left Beirut port on a Greek ship for the PDRY, Beirut radio reported. Voice of Lebanon radio said 518 fighters were on board, and Jerusalem radio revealed that the ship could only carry 600 "terrorists." Meanwhile, Nicosia radio reported that 21 jeeps were unloaded in Cyprus from the ship which had left Beirut on 22 August.

PLO Policy — Fatah Central Committee member Salah Khalaf vowed the Palestinians will continue the fight in "occupied Arab territories," affirming that the lesson learned in Lebanon is that armed struggle is the only way to "liberate Palestine." In an interview with the Lebanese News Agency cited by Damascus radio, Khalaf said the world will soon hear of PLO actions in Israel that will "make Begin's hair stand on end." A Palestinian government-in-exile will "soon" be formed in Tunis under the leadership of PLO Executive Committee Chairman Yasir 'Arafat, "reliable sources" indicated to the Kuwaiti paper AR-RA'Y AL-'AMM. According to a source cited by Monte Carlo radio, the Palestine National Council will meet in Tunis during the latter part of September.

The PLO representative in the FRG stated in a DPA interview that he welcomes U.S. Secretary of State George Shultz' remark that the settlement of the Palestinian issue is as urgent as the formation of a strong government in Lebanon. The PLO spokesman said the United States is trying to "correct" its policy, and he stressed that Tunisia is a good choice for a new PLO center because it has not attempted to exploit Palestinians.

Israel

Political sources cited by MA'ARIV expressed concern about a U.S. plan to deal with the Palestinian issue outside the Camp David framework, and rejected the remarks by Secretary of State Shultz calling for concessions on the Palestinian issue and an Israeli withdrawal from the West Bank and Gaza.

Inter-Arab, Islamic Affairs

Arab Summit Conference -- Moroccan King Hassan II invited PLO Chairman 'Arafat to participate in the Arab summit conference, which will convene in Fes on 6 September, Monte Carlo radio reported citing WAFA. Meanwhile, Tunisia submitted a proposal for the summit agenda calling for solving the Palestinian problem on the basis of the UN partition plan of November 1947, KUNA reported.

Islamic Ministers' Conference -- A speech read on behalf of Saudi Foreign Minister Prince Sa'ud al-Faysal to the Islamic foreign ministers conference in Niger warned that U.S. support for Israel will have a negative effect on American relations with the Islamic world, SPA reported. Given the contradictions in the attitudes of both the United States and the Soviet Union, Al-Faysal said it would be better for the Islamic world to adopt an independent attitude and not rely on any foreign power.

Syria

USSR Delegation Visits -- A Syrian People's Assembly delegation held its first meeting with a visiting USSR Supreme Soviet delegation, Damascus radio reported. The head of the Syrian delegation expressed the Syrians' appreciation for the Soviet aid given in support of the Arab nation; his Soviet counterpart praised the Syrian forces for their bravery and said the Soviet people are following their struggle in Lebanon with "great admiration and appreciation."

Libya's Jallud Meets Al-Asad -- President Hafiz al-Asad met with Libyan Staff Maj 'Abd as-Salam Jallud on 23 August to discuss the Israeli invasion of Lebanon, Damascus radio reported.

Iran

The Supreme Judicial Council issued a circular, carried by Tehran radio, which supported the position taken by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeyni that all laws inconsistent with Islamic principles are invalid. The council advised judges to base their decisions on religious laws or decrees if they come across a law that is deemed inconsistent with Islam.

GANDHI CANCELS SCHEDULED STOPOVER IN SEYCHELLES

BK231620 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1530 GMT 23 Aug 82

[Text] The scheduled technical halt at the Seychelles by Mrs Gandhi on her way back from her visit to Mauritius and Mozambique has been canceled. According to the revised official program, instead of the Seychelles, Mrs Gandhi will now leave Maputo on the morning of the 27th and return to Port Louis for a technical halt in the afternoon. After an hour's halt the prime minister will fly back home and reach New Delhi in the early hours next day.

POLICE ATTACK JOURNALISTS PROTESTING PRESS BILL

BK211605 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1530 GMT 21 Aug 82

[Text] In Patna, 182 journalists were arrested today when a procession was prevented from entering the prohibited area on its way to Raj Bhawan [governor's residence]. According to a police spokesman, nine journalists were injured when policemen tried to stop them near Beni Road crossing. Two magistrates and five policemen also sustained minor injuries.

The procession was taken out this afternoon to protest against the Bihar press bill in response to the call by the journalist action committee. A spokesman of the committee alleged that the journalists were lathi [baton] charged when they wanted to go to Raj Bhawan to hand over a memorandum to the governor against the Bihar press bill.

Meanwhile, nine editors of the Urdu dailies and weeklies had supported the Bihar press bill.

Police Action Criticized

BK220646 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0240 GMT 22 Aug 82

[Text] A number of journalist bodies and leaders have criticized the alleged police lathi charge on the silent procession of journalists in Patna yesterday. However, a police spokesman denied the journalists were lathi charged. He told the United News of India in Patna that police had made a barricade with lathis to stop the journalists from entering prohibited area.

Meanwhile, 11 Bihar legislators have also criticized the alleged incident. All the arrested journalists were later released in the night. Nine editors of Urdu dailies and weeklies have supported the Bihar press bill. In a joint statement, they expressed concern over the growing tendencies of yellow journalism and alleged that some opposition parties are using it to tarnish the image of the government.

Newsmen Demand Inquiry

BK230455 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0240 GMT 23 Aug 82

[Text] In Patna, the Bihar working journalists union yesterday took out a silent procession and submitted a memorandum to the state governor demanding a high level inquiry into Saturday's alleged lathi [baton] charge on the journalists. The memorandum also demanded suspension of concerned police officials and payment of compensation to the injured. Working journalists associations of some states have criticized the alleged incident.

As already reported, a police spokesman had denied that the journalists were lathi charged. He said the police had only made barricade with lathis to stop the journalists from entering the prohibited areas. Bihar Chief Minister Dr Jagannath Mishra says vested interests are using the Bihar press bill as a political handwork to intensify the current agitation in the state.

Strike Called

BK231201 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0730 GMT 23 Aug 82

[Text] In Bihar, a 12-hour Patna bundh [strike] began at 0600 this morning. The Bundh has been called by five opposition parties and over half a dozen youth and student organizations to protest against the alleged lathi charge by the police on journalists on Saturday.

Agency reports say private vehicles were off the road and most of the shops remained closed. The police are patrolling different parts of the city to prevent untoward incidents. Police pickets have also been posted at strategic points as a precautionary measure.

WEST BENGAL CHIEF MINISTER RESHUFFLES MINISTRY

BK240403 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0240 GMT 24 Aug 82

[Text] In West Bengal, Chief Minister Jyoti Basu has reshuffled his ministry on the basis of the formula of bifurcation and redistribution of some of the portfolios. The issue of reshuffle had sparked of a controversy in the Communist Party of India-Marxist-dominated nine-party ruling front with all the seven Revolutionary Socialist Party and Forward Bloc ministers tendering their resignations on 28 July from the 43-member ministry. The crisis was resolved through long-drawn up negotiations among the front leaders.

PUNJAB CHIEF SAYS PLOT HATCHED IN SIKH TEMPLE

BK240337 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0240 GMT 24 Aug 82

[Text] Punjab Chief Minister Darbara Singh has again appealed to the Shiromani Gurdwara Prabandhak Committee Management [Sikh shrine management committee] to evict the extremists from the Golden Temple at Amritsar.

Speaking to newsmen at Chandigarb yesterday, the chief minister said that according to his information, the attempt on his life on Friday last was part of a conspiracy hatched in the Guru Nanak Niwas [lodging] which is within the precinct of the Golden Temple.

SHEIKH ABDULLAH'S SON SWORN IN AS MINISTER

BK231040 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0830 GMT 23 Aug 82

[Text] In Srinagar, the president of the ruling national conference, Dr Farooq Abdullah [son of Chief Minister Sheikh Abdullah], was today inducted into the Council of Ministers. Jammu and Kashmir Governor B.K. Nehru administered the oath of office and secrecy to Dr Abdullah at Raj Bhavan.

JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUE 1,025 ON WAR WITH IRAQ

LD231756 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 23 Aug 82

[Communique No 1,025 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. With thanks to the self-sacrificing air force and army aviation pilots who continue their combat operations for the further and quicker annihilation of the Saddamist criminal mercenaries and incessantly and self-sacrificingly, day and night, risk their lives in support of other combatants of Islam.

During the past 24 hours exchanges of artillery and heavy weapons fire continued between the warriors of Islam and the Ba'thist mercenaries of Iraq on all southern and western fronts. On the southern fronts the victorious self-sacrificers of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran continuously identified aggressive Saddamist forces and dispatched patrol groups and tank-hunter teams [shekar-e tank], inflicting losses and casualties on the enemy.

Considerable success was achieved in recent operations by Muslim Kurdish combatants. By performing strike operations and bringing enemy positions and encampments under fire, the self-sacrificers of Islam crushed some enemy positions, destroyed more than 10 weapons emplacements and their crews and captured 1 encampment, killing or capturing about 10 Saddamist personnel and considerable quantities of their weapons and ammunition.

The artillery fire of the ground forces combatants destroyed some enemy tank emplacements, supply points and motor pools in the Zurbatiyah sector and inflicted losses and casualties on the enemy. Enemy losses on the western fronts between Sar-e Pol-e Zahab and Naft-e Shah were six vehicles and a number of emplacements and observation posts destroyed.

During exchanges of fire on the Abadan front the gendarmerie combantants defended their defensive positions and brought enemy positions and Saddamist forces under fire, killing or injuring a number of Iraqi Ba'thist troops and destroying three machinegun and mortar emplacements.

As a result of the criminal Saddamist mercenaries' artillery and long-range weapons fire on Abadan two houses were wrecked, one person was martyred and a number of others were wounded.

The defensive fire of the self-sacrificers of the air force and other antiaircraft units of the Islamic Republic of Iran repelled aerial aggression by the Ba'thist mercenaries of Iraq against the southern and western border regions of the country and forced the aggressive Iraqi planes to flee.

MONTAZERI MESSAGE TO MUSLIMS ON PLO WITHDRAWAL

LD231440 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 23 Aug 82

[Message to Muslims of the world from Ayatollah Hoseyn 'Ali Montazeri in Qom -- date not given -- read by announcer]

[Text] In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. Why do you not fight for the sake of God and the oppressed men, women and their cities, for those who are saying "O God take us away from this place of tyrants and its inhabitants?" [Koranic verse] To all the Muslim brothers and sisters from Islamic countries, may God assist you. The world of Islam is currently witnessing a big crime committed by America and its accomplices.

The conspiracy of expulsion of Palestinian fighters from the oppressed country of Lebanon following the terrifying aggression of Zionism, the occupation of that country and the massacre of defenseless Muslims, are a warning to Islam and all the Islamic countries. This great conspiracy, which was hatched by America with a Soviet compromise and was implemented by the racist Zionists, is a shameful stain of compromising leaders of reactionary Arab and non-Arab countries. They, by their treacherous silence, encouraged America and Israel to disperse the homeless Palestinians, after all the massacres and crimes they suffered, to countries which are under U.S. hegemony far from Israeli borders. This was carried out contrary to the wish of the world's Muslims and inflicted a blow on the Palestine liberation movement in order to guarantee the security of Israel, this enemy of Islam and the Arab people. If the Islamic countries had taken their armed forces to the battlefield with courage and sincerity on the first days of the Israeli aggression and invasion of Lebanon, and if they had followed the young Islamic Republic of Iran, which did so despite its involvement in the imposed war, and if they had not abandoned the Muslim people of Lebanon, Israel would never have permitted itself to commit a mighty crime against Islam and the Muslims. If the leaders of the Palestinian movement had not become so dependent on the deceitful and reactionary governments and the promises of the Eastern blocs, and if instead they had established religious and ideological links with Muslim nations, today they would not have fallen victim to conspiracies of the same treacherous governments and enemies posing as friends.

Responsible authorities in the Palestinian movement should know that as long as they keep their distance from Muslim people, as long as they entangle themselves in the political games of the East and the West, and as long as they are not using Islam as an essential ideology and base for their struggle, then the fate of the oppressed nation of Palestine will not improve. It is a pity that the leaders of the movement are ignorant of the wonderful power of divine revelation and reliance upon the Muslim masses, which are the source of all capabilities.

The experience gained from about 30 years of the occupation of Palestine proved that governments do not want and are not able to liberate Palestine and the first qeblah [prayer direction] of Islam. The nations must be mobilized for a destiny of war against international Zionism, this enemy of Islam and the Arabs. Why are the Muslim nations not inspired by the living and historic experience of the Muslim and heroic nation of Iran? The Islamic revolution of Iran will be the best pattern for the world's liberation movements to follow. The responsible authorities should place the experiences, ideological and cultural gains of this revolution at the disposal of the world's oppressed.

If the Muslim nations wake up and concentrate on their pure Islamic personality, if they give up hope for the East and West and rely on the power of Islamic ideology and people alone, the Western and Eastern colonialists will never be able to continue exploiting and dominating them. How long are Islamic countries, with the spiritual power of Islam and the economic power of oil and other mundane resources -- to which the jugular vein of the United States and Europe is linked -- going to remain so divided and so abject vis-a-vis the enemies of Islam? And how long are they going to remain indifferent regarding all this vile behavior and crime committed against Islam and its activities?

The Muslim people of Lebanon should know that with the expulsion of the Palestinian combatants, their duty is heavier than ever before; and if they remain silent or, God forbid, are pleased regarding this aggression, then they share in all the oppression and crimes committed by Israel. The Muslim and zealous youth and the learned ulema and clergy of Lebanon should continue their steadfastness with everything in their power, and they should not allow this anti-Islamic government, which is a collaborator of the Zionists, to come to power [presumably referring to a Phalangist Presidency]. Death with honor is better than life in misery and shame.

The compromising Arab states, these traitors who betray the sacred aspiration of Islam and the Arabs, should realize that as the great leader of the revolution, Imam Khomeyni -- may his lofty shadow continue -- has said that by tolerating this shameful situation, Israel will eventually pursue them all and will have no mercy upon them young or old. How long will they remain at the disposal of the United States and Israel as slaves? How long will they continue to take orders daily to take part in Camp David, Fes and other colonial accords and conferences?

The tragedy of Lebanon and Palestine was a great divine test for states and nations. History will curse and damn those governments which remained silent and indifferent or supported the oppressors in committing this large crime. In Friday prayer sermons in Islamic countries and during the great hajj ceremonies and other Islamic ceremonies, these crimes and their main perpetrators, that is, the superpowers and United States in particular, must be exposed. Muslims should show their disgust and hatred with every possible means regarding the events in the world of Islam, particularly in the oppressed Lebanon and steadfast Afghanistan, they should think about resorting to a struggle against what is happening. They should know that as long as the fate of the Islamic countries is in the hands of such reactionary and hireling leaders, these leaders will not bring anything to Islam and the Muslims except shame and misery. May God save the Islamic countries from the evil of the Eastern and Western superpowers and their treacherous agents. May God grant more progress and awareness to the Muslims to unite with unity of word and courage and rise to carry out their great duties for God and conscience. May God's peace and mercy be upon all Muslims.

HASHEMI-RAFSANJANI COMMENTS ON INDIA VISIT

LD201942 Tehran IRNA in English 1715 GMT 20 Aug 82

[Excerpt] Tehran, Aug 20, IRNA -- Majlis Speaker and temporary Friday prayers leader of Tehran Hojjat ol-Eslam Hashemi-Rafsanjani said here today that during his visit to India he had found the Indian Muslims to be as much concerned about the Islamic revolution in Iran as were ardent supporters of the revolution at home.

He noted also that the Iranian consultates and embassies in India been approached by a great many Indian Muslims who demanded entry visa to Iran in order that they might fight alongside with Iranian combatants against the Iraqi invaders, and were exceedingly dismayed by the refusal of Iranian embassies to grant them entry visas to Iran for the purpose.

He referred to the Hindu Muslims as "being ever more enthusiastic" about the Islamic revolution than were the Iranian people and said Iran and India were two "natural allies" potentially "capable of turning the table in the region in the interest of the deprived masses."

He noted also that during his visit to India a small group of about 30 to 35 from among the counterrevolutionary Iranians who had fled to India during and after the culmination of the Islamic revolution, had tried to stage a demonstration somewhere in India carrying placards in denunciation of the talks of the Iranian delegation with Indian officials, but that they had turned tail immediately upon arrival to the place of another group of [word indistinct] Muslim students.

The Hojjat ol-Eslam commended the efforts of the people of India in ridding themselves from the yoke of imperialism, but noted that he had suggested to the Indians that it was time they "de-Britanicised" themselves in keeping with their spirit of independence.

The Hojjat ol-Eslam was apparently referring to the domination of the English language and perhaps to traits of British costumes in India. Hashemi-Rafsanjani was speaking to thousands of the people of Tehran at Tehran University campus minutes before the Friday mass prayers here.

COUNCIL OF GUARDIANS CRITIQUES RETRIBUTION BILL

LD212026 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 21 Aug 82

[Text] According to the Central News Unit, the Council of Guardians met this morning to discuss aspects of the retribution bill. The council informed the Islamic Consultative Assembly of sections of the bill which the council considers to be contradictory and inconsistent with the religious law and the Constitution.

JUDICIAL COUNCIL CIRCULAR ON UNRELIGIOUS LAW

LD231332 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 23 Aug 82

[Text] According to the Central News Unit, following remarks made yesterday by the imam concerning abolishing the previous regime's unreligious laws, an important circular was released today by the Supreme Judicial Council of the Islamic Republic of Iran. The circular is addressed to all the Justice Ministry's prosecutor offices and tribunals throughout the country. The text of the circular is as follows:

In His exalted name. For the attention of all prosecutor offices and tribunals of the Justice Ministry, branches of the Supreme Court and judges of disciplinary tribunals throughout the country:

His eminence the imam, may his shadow be everlasting, in his important and historical remarks on 22 August, said: "On the basis of the Islamic revolution in Iran's Constitution, and the amended articles of the previous regime's Constitution, all laws and regulations which are considered to be inconsistent with Islamic principles are no longer valid.

Therefore, on the basis of the directive issued by the majestic rank of velayat-e faqih, the Supreme Judicial Council announces the following:

1. All previous laws which are considered to be inconsistent with Islam are hereby declared null and void.

2. The esteemed judges of the country's prosecutor offices, tribunals and courts are dutybound not to adhere to those laws as the basis of their proceedings, and the Supreme Judicial Council's judges should no longer adhere to these laws as the basis for either upholding verdicts or accepting appeals. The judges disciplinary tribunals should try and punish -- on the basis of religious laws -- any judge who disregards this directive and continues to base his judgment in accordance with the abolished laws and regulations.

3. The esteemed judges are dutybound to give their judgment on the basis of valid religious laws or valid and established religious decrees in cases where they come across points of law which they consider to be inconsistent with Islamic principles. They should continue to proceed in this manner until new acts approved by the Majlis are communicated to them. The Supreme Judicial Council requests the Islamic Consultative Assembly and the Council of Guardians -- in order to bring coordination and discipline to the prosecutor offices and tribunal proceedings -- to proceed as soon as possible and within 10 days to approve the bills which were prepared by the Supreme Judicial Council on the basis of Islamic principles and which were presented to the Majlis in mid-June this year. The Consultative Assembly and Council of Guardians are requested to communicate their decisions to the Supreme Judicial Council, so this council can in return communicate them to the Justice Ministry's departments throughout the country and have them as the basis for judgments.

4. In cases where the esteemed judges are in doubt while trying to make previous laws correspond with Islamic principles, they should refer the issue to the Council of Guardians, the official and legal body, to rule if a law is consistent with Islamic principles.

5. In cases where the laws are against Islamic principles and the esteemed judges are not aware of the Islamic ruling, they should refer their question to either the Supreme Judicial Council or the imam's bureau of inquires [name as heard], may his shadow last forever, and base their Islamic ruling on the basis of answers they receive from either source.

Publication of this circular in the mass media makes it official and no excuse for disregarding it will be accepted.

OFFICIAL REPORTS TRANSPORTATION TALKS WITH USSR

LD221940 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 22 Aug 82

[Text] According to IRNA, this morning the undersecretary for transportation at the Ministry of Roads and Transportation explained the results of a recent visit to the Soviet Union by an Iranian delegation. He said the purpose of the visit was to participate in the Iranian-Soviet economic cooperation commission and to have talks on current problems and issues pertaining to transportation between the two countries. He added that another topic discussed with Soviet officials concerned railroads and the difficulties arising from freight handling by railroads.

Regarding Iranian shipping in the Caspian Sea, the undersecretary said that in detailed discussions held with Soviet officials we stated that Iranian shipping in the Caspian Sea, about which several years' of talks between the two countries have come to nothing, is of interest to Iran. He said the only way in which we can increase the volume of our exchange with the Soviet Union is for our ships to carry at least 50 percent of the goods coming to or leaving Iran.

Continuing his remarks, the undersecretary said that after detailed discussions with the first deputy minister at the Soviet Ministry of Shipping and with members of the permanent committee of the Iranian-Soviet Commission for Economic Cooperation, it was agreed that Iran's proposals should be sent to the Soviet Union in writing within 2 months. It was also agreed that during the coming winter Iranian and Soviet experts should hold meetings in Tehran and Moscow to prepare the final draft of the proposals.

In conclusion, the undersecretary referred to the Iranian delegation's participation in Friday prayers in Moscow and added that Moscow Muslims expressed intense affection for Imam Khomeyni and wanted Iranian religious books and photographs. At the same time, that country's Muslims strongly denounced the crimes committed in Lebanon by Zionist forces.

LEADER OF NEW LIBERATION FRONT INTERVIEWED

PM201313 Rome AVANTI! in Italian 17 Aug 82 pp 8-9

[Interview with Ali Amini, leader of the Front for the Liberation of Iran, by Fawzia Mascheroni -- date and place not given]

[Excerpt] Ali Amini, who was born in Tehran 77 years ago, is not a new face to international observers. A Paris graduate in economics, he is remembered as one of the protagonists of Iranian political life after Mohammad Reza Pahlavi came to the throne. He was a minister several times, under Mossadeq, too, and was Iranian ambassador to Washington between 1956 and 1958. He was prime minister in 1961 and then retired into private life following -- he says -- "some differences with the late shah, mainly over the arms race." But in September 1978 he returned to politics, giving LE MONDE a sensational interview in which he called for the monarch's abdication. Today Amini describes Khomeyni's regime as "religious fascism."

It is a regime which, he adds, is committing suicide like any other fascist regime, aggravating its anachronistic nature, its model of a society which, in the contemporary world, is to be administered by the methods of the 6th and 7th centuries. For that reason it cannot evolve; and to conceal the blind alley it resorts every day to the most diverse pretexts to stir up the hysteria of war against atheism, a "holy war" which is to create an Islamic empire.... This is precisely its Achilles heel, the seed of its destruction. And after 3 years even the majority of the Iranian population has noticed that weakness. There will certainly be suitable opportunities for exploiting it and they must be used in an intelligent way.

[Question] Dr Amini, do you think internal resistance is enough to defeat Khomeynism? Or is it necessary to seek some kind of support from foreign countries?

[Answer] The experience of the past 3 years and the defeat of the armed resistance or of some "semi-coups" show that no initiative aimed at overthrowing the Islamic Republic can succeed until it has the support of the majority of the population. And the population, who have now been reduced to silence, but are full of bitterness, will undoubtedly support actions based on their demands. Then we will obtain results. The task of the front for the Liberation of Iran [FLI] is to start a series of armed initiatives which, however, are inspired by the demands of the majority of the average members of the Iranian population. We do not agree with the idea of a direct intervention by some foreign force. Look at the case of Poland where the resistance is being repressed by the government with the help of a foreign force; public opinion in the free world is now giving wide support to the Polish people. In Iran the repression is much harsher than in Poland; it is our duty to inform public opinion and democrats throughout the world about that in order to win support. The news of that support which, through radio, overcomes the barriers of censorship and reaches the population and the Iranian Army, gives them new hope and prompts them to take action.

[Question] So far, however, the main weakness of the Iranian opposition has been its fragmentation, the lack of unity among the various groups.

[Answer] The FLI was formed precisely to coordinate it in close connection with the country's internal developments. It has never been an easy task; Khomeyni, with his great demagogic ability, was able to sway the masses and liquidate any element which was not consistent with the religious fundamentalist ideology. His unexpected success, obtained through deceit, produced astonishment and a sense of defeat in the whole opposition, causing it to split into opposing groups, ready to accuse one another of having favored the defeat. The FLI undertook the job of making an accurate analysis of the internal opposition and inviting the various groups to cooperate with a joint coordinating body. First it established bilateral contacts with each organization, establishing that the prime objective was to save the people of the country while respecting pluralism. Finally, at the recent Paris conference, it succeeded in bringing the various groups together round the same table in an atmosphere of tolerance.

[Question] However, many opposition forces (the Mojahedin, Bani-Sadr) have not joined the front.

[Answer] Of course the unity of all the political forces is not the same as the existence of a single political force's opinion. The FLI coordinates the majority of the opposition groups. Its doors are open to all the national forces; within it no faction dominates the others. It is still possible to identify an area of agreement with the groups which do not belong to the FLI: opposition to the fascism of the mullahs' regime. Thus it is possible to reach a compromise.

[Question] Once the Khomeyni power system has collapsed and "until the Iranian population has made a decision on the future government system" the front's official program makes provision for a transition period administered by a council and by a "strong government" inspired by the council itself, "capable of guaranteeing the nation's continuity, its internal security, and its territorial integrity, and reorganizing the security forces and the regular army."

[Answer] In that way it will be possible to guarantee the population's human rights. In fact, we follow the 1906 Iranian Constitution and the world Human Rights Charter which Iran ratified a long time ago. As an initial step the government will have to decree a general amnesty and allow the judiciary, which has been annihilated by the Islamic courts, to administer justice. The population must enjoy basic rights, including the right to defense guarantee.

[Question] Has the front also drawn up a strategy for economic policy?

[Answer] We know that freedom and respect for democratic principles were the requests put forward by the Iranian middle classes. And the FLI is based on that class, which was the mainstay of the revolution but which religious fascism repressed and ostracized. Its economic demands are reasonable and legitimate and the new government, after consolidating internal security, will have to take account of them. In view of the demographic situation and the country's wealth of natural resources, the majority of the Iranian population can readily attain a comfortable standard of living.

[Question] What immediate initiatives would the new government take in the economic sector?

[Answer] Maintaining the nationalization of key industries; passing just fiscal laws; controlling the quantity and quality of income; preventing the unlimited concentration of wealth in a few hands; encouraging citizens to exploit their own talents in the economic and social sectors; encouraging the formation of trade unions, class opinions and the creation of cooperatives; calling on the tens of thousands of doctors, engineers and technicians forced to flee Iran by religious fascism to return to the homeland. It will be necessary to draw up intensive programs and work day and night to rebuild what the war has destroyed and set the country's economy in motion.

[Question] Coexistence with the Kurdish, Turkoman and Baluchi minorities is also a delicate and fundamental question....

[Answer] The provisional government will have to prevent the bureaucratic system from being concentrated solely in the capital, in Tehran. It will be necessary to give the various regions the necessary power to administer their own internal affairs, such as health, culture and local administration. That is another reason why we are referring to the 1906 Constitution. In addition it goes without saying that the government programs will include recognition of equality between men and women in social and political life.

[Question] The 1906 Constitution, to which the front likes to refer and which was the fruit of a short but intense progressive revolution in Iran at the turn of the century, makes provision for the classical institutions of a constitutional monarchy. But it was immediately repealed by the Qajar dynasty and was subsequently never applied again. It is undeniable that many sections of the Iranian population today still have an unfavorable picture of the period under the monarchy. Dr Amini, do you not think this might cause some difficulties for those promient members of the front who had political posts during Mohammad Reza Pahlavi's regime?

[Answer] The front's official charter provides for a general amnesty; only those who have played a direct role in corruption or crime will be placed on trial according to international conventions. In no country can the whole population be accused of working and living under a particular regime. In order to found a healthy society we intend to use the talents of all those who did not collaborate directly in setting up a system of corruption and crime.

[Question] But in any case which mistakes made by Pahlavi would you like to avoid repeating?

[Answer] It is necessary to prevent the launching of economic programs whose spectacular appearance is greater than the practical results. Priority will have to be given to the population's general needs, particular importance must be given to the people's participation in political, economic and social life. The government institutions must have maximum respect for the law of the state. And it is vital to prevent any interference in the judiciary's activity. Finally, I would like to recall that corruption in the bureaucracy generates discontent and indifference in all those working in the sector.

[Question] What role should Iran play in the international context?

[Answer] Today Iran is isolated. After the fall of this regime it will be necessary to have reciprocal respect for international rights; to create friendly relations, based on national interests, with the East and the West; to support the policy of nonalignment and establish cordial relations with Muslim and Arab countries.

Stability in the Persian countries and Iran in the economic, cultural and political spheres are extremely important. Therefore, the government will have to establish a close and cordial relationship of understanding with its neighbors. As regards the nonaligned countries, while supporting their objectives, Iran should draw up an independent policy which guarantees its national interests in view of its particular geographical location.

CLANDESTINE: HIGH-RANKING ARMYMAN ATTACKED

GF170404 (Clandestine) Free Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1500 GMT 16 Aug 82

[Text] The mullahs regime has remained silent about the assassination attempt which resulted in the arm of a high-ranking army official of the regime being cut off. Two unnamed fighters [words indistinct] which ended with the arm of this army officer being cut off at the shoulder. The mullahs regime has not yet issued any details about the incident.

Our correspondent in Tehran was able to discover that the person involved was one of the military commanders who was removed from his post during the former regime for antinationalist opinions. He became a servant of the Islamic regime following Khomeyni's capture of power. It is said that the mullahs regime immediately sent this military official to the FRG so his arm could be reattached by surgery.

According to our correspondent, one of the armed fighters was killed by the guards of this official and the other committed suicide by taking a cyanide pill. Kuwait radio was the first non-Iranian radio to carry a short report about this event.

Our correspondents' efforts to learn the name and also the condition of this high-ranking regime military official continue.

RADIO IRAN ON SEYYAD-SHIRAZI-CLERGY DIFFERENCES

GF211556 (Clandestine) Radio Iran in Persian to Iran 1330 GMT 22 Aug 82

[Text] According to reports received from reliable sources intense differences have surfaced between Colonel Seyyad-Shirazi, commander of the ground forces, and the pseudoclergymen on the issue of prolonging the Iran-Iraq war.

Last week, Colonel Seyyad-Shirazi decided to submit his resignation and announced that since the army is in need of a complete shake up and due to a shortage of necessary equipment, [word indistinct] he was not in favor of prolonging the war or intensifying it. As a (?result) of these remarks the hojjatiyeh faction which is very powerful has insisted on the dismissal of some ministers, including Ma'adikhah, and has now begun to conspire against the commander of the ground forces and is busy plotting his ouster.

IRAQI REVOLUTIONARIES ON ANTIREGIME OPERATIONS

GF160618 Tehran International Service in Arabic 2000 GMT 15 Aug 82

[Excerpts] In a telephone call to IRNA, a spokesman for the Muslim Iraqi revolutionaries announced that as a result of the huge explosion which took place in the Iraqi Interior Ministry, the third floor of the ministry, which was occupied by members of the Iraqi military committee, collapsed. The spokesman added that this committee, which is associated with the Iraqi intelligence department, was in charge of secret documents concerning military purchases from France in addition to documents dealing with those opposed to the revolution who have fled, plotters against the Islamic revolution in Paris, and the [word indistinct] of the Iraqi strugglers. It added that seven members of the military committee, including the Iraqi ambassador in Paris, were killed. Their bodies were removed from the debris.

Quoting Iraqi revolutionaries in Paris, it said the Iraqi losses in this explosion are estimated at 2 million French francs.

Meanwhile, the Central News Unit reports that the Iraqi Muslim revolutionaries, continuing their struggle against Saddam's Ba'thist regime, have attacked a Saddamist military vehicle on the outskirts of (Bahabad), setting the vehicle ablaze and killing a number of military men. [Words indistinct] the Iraqi Muslim revolutionaries issued a statement expressing willingness to continue their struggle until Saddam, the U.S.-Zionist agent, is toppled. The statement added that the strugglers attacked a police station in An-Nasiriyah area killing a mercenary Ba'thist and wounding four others. [passage indistinct]

JAPANESE BANK SELLS SHARES -- IRNA, quoting Tokyo Bank circles, reports that shareholders in the Japanese Overseas Investment Bank recently sold their foreign shares to the Iranian Mellat and Tejarat Banks. The Japanese bank was established 3 years before the victory of Islamic revolution with shareholders from Europe, Japan and America as well as Iran's Melli Bank and the Mining and Industrial Development Bank. The bank is now fully run by the Islamic Republic of Iran. It has also been agreed that foreign banks should continue to keep their deposits in this bank. This shows the bank's reliability. Lebanon

PLO Evacuation Process -- The fourth group of PLO fighters, numbering over 1,000, left Beirut port for the YAR, Beirut radio reported. The overland evacuation of "terrorists" to Syria, which was to have begun early on 25 August, was canceled in view of the fighting between Syrians and Christians near the Beirut-Damascus highway, Jerusalem radio affirmed. The radio noted that the fighters might alternatively depart by sea for Syria. According to AFP, an IDF spokesman revealed that Syria had called off the land evacuation without giving any explanation. However, an official Syrian source cited by Monte Carlo radio denied that Syria had made any decision to prevent PLO fighters from entering Syria and, in fact, Syria took "all necessary measures" to receive the fighters. The clandestine Voice of Palestine radio explained that the land route departure was postponed to 26 August because of a delay in the arrival of Italian forces and "some other" problems in the area where these forces are to be deployed. Earlier, Jerusalem television reported that the IDF had agreed to hand its control of the Beirut-Damascus highway over to the Lebanese Army to facilitate the fighters' departure.

Israel has agreed to permit U.S. and Italian contingents to arrive in Beirut on 25 August, before most of the fighters have left the city, Jerusalem radio reported. The radio added later that several hundred U.S. Marines landed in Beirut early that morning.

Aftermath of Al-Jumayyil Election -- Expressing hope that the Lebanese will be able to bypass old slogans and difficulties, rebuild a dignified life and become free of any foreign armed presence, President-elect Bashir al-Jumayyil said there must be opposition and freedom of expression but under no circumstances can acts of sabotage and terror against deputies who attended the presidential election session be tolerated, the Voice of Lebanese reported.

Regarding relations with Syria, Al-Jumayyil said Lebanon has common interests with Syria and he called on the Syrians to start cooperating with the Lebanese on an equal footing and realize that Lebanon is independent and sovereign, according to the radio. He indicated that the Palestinians remaining in Lebanon must abide by Lebanese laws. Meanwhile, a Phalangist spokesman in Bonn said that after the withdrawal of foreign forces, the new administration will tackle the problem of the Palestinian refugees in Lebanon as a matter of priority, DPA reported. The Palestinians will be able to stay for the time being as refugees or aliens subject to surveillance by the authorities, the spokesman said, but Lebanon cannot in the long term absorb all of them.

Al-Jumayyil's election is a step toward implementing the "conspiracy" for the liquidation of the Lebanese nationalist will and the new president will be a tool for completing the Israeli occupation in Lebanon, a Damascus radio commentary asserted. Amman radio said the new president must abandon his Phalangist policies, build strong relations with the Muslims, avoid falling onto the "trap" of signing a treaty with Israel and be the "first and most determined person" to request the withdrawal of Israeli forces from Lebanon.

While describing Al-Jumayyil's election as "a clear political achievement for Israel and the United States," Israel's MA'ARIV said Israeli officials have become "doubtful" about Al-Jumayyil's ability to keep his "promise" about peace with Israel because he has at times ignored Israeli advice and broken promises to the Israelis. Speaking of disappointment in Israel that the Phalangists did not adhere to an understanding that if Israel invaded Lebanon they would complete the operation by taking control of west Beirut on their own, Israeli political sources cited by HA'ARETZ said the time has come to "cash in" on Al-Jumayyil's promises to Israel. HATZOFE said the Israelis have made it clear to Al-Jumayyil that his election will not change the status of "Free Lebanon" Commander Maj Sa'd Haddad, who will continue to exercise exclusive control over southern Lebanon and his militia.

In other developments, more deputies' houses were attacked in Beirut and elsewhere, while leftist militiamen seized police and government buildings in Tripoli and Halba, according to Beirut and Voice of Lebanon radio reports.

Military Situation -- The Syrians captured two Phalangist posts in the southern foothills of Mount Sannin, Jerusalem radio reported. The Syrians and Christians engaged in artillery duels near the Beirut-Damascus highway but the IDF was not involved, the radio said. Senior Israeli officers said the IDF will not reply with massive force against cease-fire violations in eastern Lebanon until the evacuation of Beirut is completed because Israel does not want to give the "terrorists" an excuse to halt their departure, THE JERUSALEM POST reported. Israel has released more PLO men from Ansar camp in southern Lebanon and has also reduced its forces around west Beirut, according to Jerusalem and IDF radio reports.

Syrian-U.S. Talks -- Syrian President Hafiz al-Asad's brother, Rif'at al-Asad, has visited Washington for talks with U.S. officials apparently aimed at avoiding widescale Syrian-Israeli clashes in the Al-Biqa' Valley, KUNA reported citing Kuwait's AL-WATAN.

Begin on West Beirut Entry -- Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin told the Knesset Foreign Affairs and Defense Committee that Israel did not intend to enter west Beirut but that if it had earlier declared this publicly, the "terrorists" would never have left, Jerusalem radio reported.

Al-Hasan on PLO Future -- Hani al-Hasan, political adviser to PLO Executive Committee Chairman Yasir 'Arafat, asserted that the future of the PLO lies in "underground activity" and "intensive campaigning" in Israel. In an interview with AFP, he remarked that the days of "easy living" for the PLO are over and now the Palestinians must work to exploit the political "gains" achieved in the Lebanese war to create a Palestinian state.

Iran on PLO Evacuation -- An Iranian Foreign Ministry statement carried by Tehran radio condemned U.S. "puppet regimes" which claim to be Muslim for committing the "crime" of taking no effective action in Lebanon and not opposing the PLO "surrender." The statement asserted that the U.S.-Israeli "plot" is aimed at the Palestinian cause, at the Islamic revolution in the region and at expanding the Camp David accords. It went on to say that Muslims and Palestinian fighters must learn not to count on "reactionary regimes" and "puppet" governments, and instead should be prepared to confront future "aggression."

Arab Summit Conference

Lebanese President Ilyas Sarkis and President-elect Bashir al-Jumayyil will attend the upcoming Arab summit conference in Fes, Monte Carlo radio reported. A Palestinian official source cited by KUNA affirmed that PLO Chairman 'Arafat also plans to attend the Fes summit meeting.

Egypt

A commentary broadcast by Cairo radio emphasized that remarks by U.S. Secretary of State George Shultz and Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger on the partial Israeli withdrawal from the West Bank and on forming a Palestinian state are "a step forward," although still not adequate to meet Arab demands. The commentary said the statements showed a more "realistic, objective and equitable" view of Palestinian rights.

Iran-Iraq War

The Political Affairs and Information Committee of the 13th Islamic foreign ministers conference in Niger approved a Moroccan resolution on ending the Iran-Iraq war, INA reported. The Iranian representative at the conference, rejected the resolution and left the conference room, the report said, but the Iraqi representative stressed Iraq's approval of the resolution.

MORE ON KARMAL'S SPEECH TO ARMED FORCES CADRE

LD232246 Kabul Domestic Service in Dari 1530 GMT 21 Aug 82

[Speech by Babrak Karmal, general secretary of the PDPA Central Committee and president of the DRA Revolutionary Council, delivered on 12 August during a meeting of the DRA Armed Forces guidance and administration leadership cadre [hay'at-e rahbari sowq wa adari] at the Grand Hall of the Ministry of Defense in Kabul -- recorded]

[Excerpts] Dear comrades: Talking and meeting with the heroic and revolutionary army generals and officers always gives me satisfaction and pleasure. I have the pleasure to convey at this grand meeting the greetings and best wishes of the PDPA Central Committee, the Revolutionary Council, the DRA Government and myself to you, the representatives of the heroic army and through you to all the DRA's revolutionary army.

The officers form the backbone of the DRA Armed Forces and enhance the military's situation. Of course [words indistinct] in relation to the defense of the revolution, consolidation of the government's authority and faithfulness to the aspirations of the party and people, have unbreakable links with their relentless struggles.

Comrades, the PDPA Central Committee and Politburo have taken specific measures to strengthen and extend the state power while paying constant attention to the consolidation of the country's defense ability and securing the preparedness of the armed forces.

Using the armed forces for the defense of the revolution is deemed as essential social work. This is an integral part of the government's general activity, for the all-round progress of our society and the restoration of security in the DRA.

Under the present circumstances, military issues are among the most important consideration. The handling of these issues provides suitable conditions for the realization of social plans and the construction of a new life in Afghanistan.

The DRA Government and party leadership (?in accordance) with resolutions of the PDPA national conference and Central Committee plenums are continuing their [words indistinct] for crushing and eliminating the counterrevolutionaries and for enhancing the living standard of the people and the progress of the national culture.

The ninth PDPA Central Committee plenum seriously considered the important and vital issues regarding the enhancing of active political work among the masses and the consolidation of the army and people for the defense of the glorious April Revolution and its new development stage.

The convocation of the ninth plenum was a formidable event in the life of our party and country. The ninth plenum resolutions determined the crucial political work and organization of party and government organs, political command cadres of the armed forces and all the personnel of our country's armed forces.

Despite the difficulties created by the counterrevolution, our people have achieved irrefutable successes in enhancing the national economy.

The production of basic industries, such as energy, coal, cement and natural gas, have increased.

From March 1981 to March 1982 the development and [words indistinct] plans for extending high-voltage power lines from the USSR to Kabul, was completed. Extraction of natural gas (?reached) 2.6 billion cubic meters.

Necessary measures are being implemented for progress in agriculture.

Positive transformations have taken place in commerce. In this area, cooperation with the USSR will be very important. From the sale of natural gas to the USSR alone, the government has earned more than $268 million. The volume of exports has increased and totals $717.5 million. This figure exceeds imports by $310 million.

We are happy to say that despite the attempts of the enemies of the revolution, the prestige of the DRA in the international arena is being enhanced and consolidated. In this connection our solid, fraternal relations with the USSR [word indistinct] and other member countries of the socialist society, and the revolutionary solidarity of the world masses with our revolution, have created suitable opportunities.

DRA foreign policy is based on the principle of peace, justice and honor. We are striving for the restoration of normal and reciprocally beneficial relations with neighboring countries and other countries of the world. The Revolutionary Council and the DRA Government have embarked on important initiatives in foreign policy.

Despite the fact that armed interference in our revolutionary country comes chiefly from Pakistan, it has been suggested to the Pakistani Government that talks should be held concerning relevant issues and a normalization of relations. We confirm our proposal to the Iranian Government to hold talks aimed at restoring friendly relations between the two countries.

The aim of these initiatives is to end the armed aggression of the imperialist reaction in the internal affairs of Afghanistan and to achieve an international guarantee for the security of our country.

[Words indistinct] of the DRA set fire to criminal U.S. imperialism, and its Chinese collaborators and all international reactionary circles. These imperialists are constantly trying to prevent by, all means and methods the reconstruction of our historic and proud country and our social life.

The [words indistinct] progress, development and evolution of our revolution [word indistinct] have caused the anger and insanity of the U.S. imperialist forces. The reactionary actions of the U.S. imperialists against revolutionary Afghanistan have become an inseparable part of the general aggressive policy of this country.

The U.S. imperialists, by trampling on international law and ignoring all standards of international life, with special shamelessness proclaims various regions of the world as so-called regions of its vital interests, and itself as the defender of freedom.

But the aggressive policy cannot be (?hidden) by fabrications.

The world public knows very well that the U.S. (?imperialists) are the defenders of bloodthirsty fascist regimes, organizers of aggression against liberated countries and responsible for the undeclared war against the DRA.

The United States, with the collaboration of Chinese hegemonists, have transformed Pakistani territory into a center for training counterrevolutionaries and, as in the past, the infiltration of counterrevolutionaries across the borders, and the transportation of weapons and equipment to our revolutionary soil, are being organized.

We must profoundly understand that the counterrevolutionaries, with the broad economic and military support of international reaction, are striving to maintain tension in our country, to organize prolonged economic destruction and to arrange difficulties in the supply of foodstuff and work for the people as well as transportation and trade. With these aims in mind, they have directed their terrorist and destructive actions to communications lines and highways, and they continue to find hideouts and stores for their weapons and foodstuffs in difficult terrain.

Meanwhile, the rebels are striving to influence the people by deception, creation of poverty and misuse of the religious feelings of Muslims. Therefore, the present circumstances require that we increase the awareness and vigilance of our heroic army by (?at least) 10 fold.

Our people have had enough of the cruelty, atrocity and plundering of the rebels and are asking for a peaceful life. They demand speedy elimination of the rebel bands. Hence, our immediate and [word indistinct] duty is to ensure a tranquil life, the elimination of counterrevolutionaries in the country and a satisfactory defense of the revolution.

The PDPA national conference regarded defense of the revolution as the prime duty of the party and all the people of Afghanistan and called it the proud and lofty duty of the armed forces.

The party's Central Committee regards the army as a modern and regular force to crush the enemies and to restore normality in the country. The army is the sharp revolutionary sword of our working people which cuts the feet and hands of class enemies and (?prevents) their barbarous actions.

The companies and units of the army, together with the companies of the security forces, sarandoy and party activists, have displayed numerous examples of faithfulness to the homeland and revolution.

Important successes have been achieved in the task of enhancing the armed forces, particularly in the current year. With the disinterested assistance of the USSR, supervision of the party's Central Committee and the Revolutionary Council, its capability is being consolidated and its (?combatant) operational and tactical abilities are being enhanced. The organizational structure of the forces and the political and combatant activities of the military personnel are being improved.

In the present circumstances, defense of our sacred country against aggression, the foiling of conspiracies and armed provocations by the counterrevolutionaries and the resolute crushing of criminal bands are the fundamental duties of the [word indistinct] army.

With full satisfaction we must say that these historic and proud duties are being carried out, and the effective combatant actions in important vital regions of the country are examples of them. The blows which have been inflicted on the enemies in Kandahar, Panjshir, Ghazni and Laghman regions have crushed and eliminated various groups of rebels.

Defense of the revolution decisively requires the serious attention of the party and government organs and miilitary leadership cadres in order to continually consolidate the DRA Armed Forces. Realization of this important duty is linked with many political, organizational, military, cadre and other problems.

I would like to draw your attention to the fundamental and general phases of consolidation of the armed forces, which means enhancing combatant capability and actively strengthening the military.

As we said at the PDPA national conference and the ninth plenum of the PDPA Central Committee, the requirements of political and training work in the units still lag behind the requirements of the time and are (?necessary) in order to achieve serious improvements.

The political backwardness of political work must be observed under the following considerations:

First, the (?characteristic) of the country's internal situation -- the class struggle -- which the armed forces have direct role in -- must be considered. It must always be kept in mind that the class enemy (?aims) to disorganize the military, to weaken its power and ability and to prevent its participation in defense of the revolution.

Second, the national customs, cultural and religious traditions of the people of Afghanistan must be seriously observed. On the bases of these traditions, together with patriotism, we can foster a proper confrontation with the counterrevolution and can foil the enemy's strivings to misuse religious feelings, national feelings and general illiteracy [words indistinct].

Third, [word indistinct] support for the revolution and the fraternal assistance of the USSR, have particular importance for us. (?Enhancing) Afghan-Soviet friendship is a confident source of training and embues the people with the spirit [word indistinct] and victory over the enemies and the invincibility of the revolutionary transformations in the DRA.

The PDPA Central Committee, in a consideration of the above particulars, regards the continuous improvement of political work as an important and [word indistinct] struggle against the counterrevolution.

We must train our military personnel in the spirit of disgust for the enemies of the revolution so that they will be ready at any time to crush the counterrevolution.

The second issue is to strengthen the role and effect of party organizations in the solution of political problems, and to strengthen discipline and order in the units. The party organization of the army forms the greater part of the PDPA. In its ranks there are more than 20,000 full and candidate members. Commanders and political workers must actively make use of their energy and credits.

It must be remembered that training work constitutes the fundamental duty of all party organizations. Through the party organization we must broadcast the party's aspirations among the masses and mobilize all the party members and all personnel of the armed forces in order to eliminate the counterrevolutionaries.

Comrades, the unity of the party and the solidarity of party ranks in the army has clear, formidable, fundamental, [word indistinct], vital and national importance for the consolidation of the armed forces and confident defense of the April Revolution. [applause]

Formalism in training, that is to say adhering to formality and superficial behavior toward the work, is not permissible.

The firm links of political work with [word indistinct] and with the general activity of the units and companies, will provide an opportunity to solve in a better manner the issues pertinent to military training. These links will help to plan specific (?measures) for enhancing the political and spiritual morals of the troops and officers for participating in combat activities.

[Words indistinct] units and companies and their activities against the counterrevolution, reveal that some of the companies carry out in a weak manner their combat activities. They do not impose their will on the rebels and do not create unbearable (?conditions) for them. This has given the rebels the opportunity to consolidate forces in various regions of the country.

I must point out that in the task of preparing the forces for combat activities there are serious [word indistinct] and shortcomings.

The leadership cadres of the armed forces, commanders and political workers must not reduce the level of combat preparedness. The army personnel must make expert use of their weapons. The leadership cadre must accomplish the administration and [word indistinct] of the units and companies with high expert ability.

By the blessing of the fraternal and disinterested assistance of the USSR, our armed forces have access to modern weapons and tactics. These are regarded as essential for the defense of the glorious April Revolution and for forging ahead with combat preparedness. But unfortunately in some instances in the units and during combat, weapons are handled irresponsibily; this is unforgiveable. (?It is due to the lack) of attention of the commanders, [word indistinct] and the weakness of the activities of organic, political and [word indistinct] in this respect.

The leadership cadre of the army and all generals and officers must first of all prepare and organize control and serious supervision of accounting, punishment and maintenance of weapons and war tactics in the units.

Secondly, the officers must improve and implement the training and educational system of the personnel to broaden their military experience so they can respond to the needs of different situations.

On the threshold of the fourth anniversary of the glorious April Revolution promotions were given to 10,000 army personnel and to more than 3,000 officers who displayed heroism and bravery on the battlefield. Much attention has been paid to the material benefits of the generals and officers of the armed forces.

The PDPA Central Committee has (?the right) to demand more from the generals and officers of the armed forces. The officers and generals [words indistinct] should increase the combat readiness of the personnel under them and the [word indistinct] of the revolution. According to a [word indistinct], which (?can be seen) in the activity of some generals and officers, they (?talk little) to their troops and lower-ranking officers and they do not speak with them concerning the [word indistinct] duties of the vital struggle in our revolutionary homeland. It is necessary for the leadership to personally take part in political and training work. They should go to units and companies of the armed forces, explain and convey the resolutions of the Central Committee to the mind and heart of each soldier in such a way that they will then voluntarily put it into practice. Political work in the armed forces cannot be separated from the (?general) activity of the PDPA among the people. The duties [words indistinct]. The struggle of the (?army) against counterrevolutionary bands and its participation in [word indistinct] youths in the armed forces is linked with the strengthening of state power in the areas which have been freed and with step-by-step (?propaganda) work among the people.

In performing the above-mentioned duties, the strengthening of relations between the army, sarandoy, KHAD [state information service], party organizations and state local organs is of great importance. Assistance should be given to organizing and training armed groups of local people for protection duties in their villages, as a result of which a considerable [word indistinct] of the army would be spared for the actual struggle in other areas. [word indistinct] of the youths in sacred military service is one of the aspects [words indistinct] of the armed forces. The Central Committee and the Revolutionary Council have taken specific measures for [word indistinct] and conscription of youth in the armed forces.

(?According to) the general conscription law [passage indistinct] and to succeed, in the current year, to [word indistinct] increase the general total of armed forces personnel. The successful solution of the conscription problem requires that propaganda and propagation work among the local people and [words indistinct] should improve. (?In this work), initiative and bravery must be shown. (?Work should be carried out) among elders, patriotic clergy and representative [words indistinct] and to gain the people's confidence in the revolutionary party and government.

Without any doubt, this work should be carried out alongside the representatives of sarandoy and state power organs, because their responsibility for conscripting youths into the armed forces for the army is [word indistinct]. In units and companies (?of the armed forces), high military discipline should be maintained, care should be taken for the food and clothing of the troops and low-ranking officers, and higher political and combat education and training for them should be organized.

In the present stage, or the stage of transformations and formidable revolutionary changes in our country, the army, the security forces, the sarandoy and all patriotic forces of the country have the great honor to be armed to defend the just interests of the country's workers. The leadership cadres and every person who loves the homeland and revolution must perceive properly the greatness of the historic duties which are laid before the party, the people and our proud armed forces.

The PDPA Central Committee Politburo is fully confident that the DRA Armed Forces will score new victories in accomplishing the duties placed before them by the PDPA national conference. The continuous, relentless and indefatigable work of each organ of government and military circles must be only this: that we should accomplish our patriotic revolutionary duties with pride and honor and secure a peaceful and tranquil life for our compatriots.

AFP: REBELS KILL 200 PARTY WORKERS IN PAGHMAN

BK241303 Hong Kong AFP in English 1207 GMT 24 Aug 82

[Text] New Delhi, Aug 24 (AFP) -- Several hundred Afghan Communist Party volunteers were killed or wounded when Moslem insurgents attacked a party meeting in Paghman, about 20 kms (12 miles) north-west of the Afghan capital last week, Western diplomatic sources said here today. The diplomats, quoting well placed sources in Kabul, said two city hospitals were packed with wounded from the attack, which took place on August 19.

Other non-Western diplomats, who also monitor developments in the embattled country, confirmed the insurgent attack, but abstained from giving any casualty figures. They said there had been "a number of casualties", but refused to comment on their Western counterparts figure of "several hundred."

There was also no independent confirmation of the reports. The Afghan Embassy here when approached refused to comment.

The Soviet-backed government of Babrak Karmal, in an apparent gesture to demonstrate the government's hold on Paghman had arranged a party meeting there. The volunteers, who were low level government employees, were taken to Paghman, a former royal summer resort from Kabul, in state-owned buses.

As the party leaders began making speeches, the insurgents sprayed the meeting with bullets and "killed or wounded" several hundred party volunteers, the Western diplomats said.

Paghman, which is strategically important both to the Soviet-aided Afghan Government troops and the insurgents, had been the scene of fierce fighting on several occasions since the Soviet Union marched its troops into Afghanistan in December 1979.

There had been contradicting claims in recent weeks on the situation in Pahgman with the government claiming absolute control over the area.

Kabul news media, from time to time, published photographs of Paghman and carried reports of local people thanking the government for clearing the area of "counter revolutionaries", the term used by the state controlled media to describe the insurgent.

Western diplomats said the government had ordered the low level employees to report to duty early on August 19. When they came they were told they had to attend a party meeting in Paghman.

The insurgents, who had often ambushed government convoys and military outposts in Paghman in the recent past, had infiltrated the meeting.

Party leaders who were addressing the meeting when the attack took place managed to board a jeep standing nearby and flee the scene.

The insurgents also partially damaged two tanks and several armoured personnel carriers, the diplomats said.

Five of the buses used for bringing the party volunteers were also damaged in the attack, the diplomats said.

Meanwhile, the Afghan Government ordered last night the seizure of all cinema projectors throughout the country and announced strict censorship of films, cassettes, magazines, books and photographs which contain "materials against morality, Moslem religion and the people's customs."

In a broadcast over the state-owned Kabul radio monitored here, the government also announced a ban on import-export of radio and radio cassettes.

The government order follows reports that the insurgents were smuggling in cassettes containing speeches by Pakistan-based insurgent leaders calling the Afghans to join the "jihad" (holy war) against the Soviet Army.

The ban also follows a step-up in broadcasts by the British Broadcasting Corporation, and the Voice of America. A few months ago a French organisation set up independent rebel radio transmitters inside Afghanistan with the help of the rebels.

BABRAK KARMAL URGES EMIGRES TO RETURN HOME

LD242034 Kabul Domestic Service in Dari 1600 GMT 24 Aug 82

[Message from Babrak Karmal, president of the DRA Revolutionary Council, to 'compatriots living abroad' -- date not given]

[Text] In the name of God, the merciful and compassionate. Brothers, the national and democratic April Revolution inflicted a deadly blow to the despotic domination of fuedals and corrupt bureaucrats who for many years kept our people in poverty, disease and illiteracy and ignored their worth and legitimate rights.

The April Revolution is the beginning of a new and grand path, taking our people to prosperity, complete freedom from all despotic feudal and prefeudal relations and new culture, health, civilization and progress.

After the victory of the revolution those who owned plenty of land, great capital and unlimited power found their interests endangered and they unleashed a war of revenge against the revolution. The (?merciless) enemies of your homeland -- international imperialism led by U.S. imperialism, reactionary regimes of the region, hegemonist China, reactionaries, feudalists and those who had power in our country -- got together and they have not refrained from committing any crime and destruction against our people.

Moreover, Amin and his henchmen in the early days of the victory of the revolution, embarked on a conspiracy within the party and the revolutionary government against the principled and healthy humanitarian and realistic forces of the PDPA. After their total usurpation of power, they imposed the worst kinds of torture, crime and burdens on our people. This conspiracy helped the enemies of the revolution who were waiting for such deadly mistakes from us so they could channel their opposition to our revolution.

However, compatriots, you should be aware that this treachery and deviations were fully inconsistent with our revolution. Today in the country we have adopted democratic legality in its true sense and we have given absolute legality to the rights and freedom of our people. The victory of 28 December foiled all the conspiracies of the region's reactionary countries and imperialism. They embarked on a broad conspiracy against our country. As a result, the territorial integrity, independence, national sovereignty and our people's revolutionary gains were faced with serious danger. In order to defend the homeland against external aggression we were obliged to ask for immediate assistance from the long-time genuine friend of the people of Afghanistan -- that is to say, the USSR.

The enemies of the revolution who thus found their wicked plans facing defeat have unleashed propaganda, alleging that Afghanistan has been occupied by the USSR. This is a shallow fabrication and totally removed from truth. The fraternal assistance of the Soviets is in accordance with the Soviet-Afghan friendship treaty of December 1978 and Article 51 of the UN Charter.

Compatriots, we detest the fratricide, discord and hostility among our people. We have always struggled for the unity of action and consolidation of fraternity among the people, all the tribes, clans and nationalities residing in our beloved and united country, and we will continue to spare no effort or devotion. During the 2 and 1/2 years which have passed since the toppling of Amin's bloodthirsty regime, we have shown we are the genuine and devout servants of our people.

We assure you compatriots that the situation in our country is rapidly improving. No one will be harassed, persecuted or interrogated because of his religious beliefs or political and ideological inclinations so long as he does not resort to conspiracy and subversive actions against the people and our revolution. The rights, freedom of ownership and personality of the individual are inviolable. We have willingly given legal status to the revolutionary council presidium general amnesty decree dated 18 June 1981 concerning all those who fell prey to deception.

You are living in poverty, far from the homeland, having a difficult life without any substance, far from the warm family atmosphere and under constant insult; while the revolution provides you with the possibility of land, work, education and participation.

Do you not know that U.S. imperialism and the Pakistani and Chinese regimes are using you as easy and inexpensive tools? You have no authority of your own. Such so-called leaders of the Jami 'it, Harakat-e Islami and other parties -- who themselves live like kings in luxurious palace -- are exploiting you. We assure you that in any event, we will restore full security in our country. Our revolution is consolidating and more and broader ranks of the people are rallying round it.

Life shows that every day our party and its links with the people are growing stronger and the enemy is increasingly facing defeat.

In the name and honor of the Afghan people, in the name of the homeland, arouse yourselves and return to the homeland which is waiting for you and to which you have rights and obligations. The homeland will take you to its bosom; it is not too late; turn back from the road which you have taken mistakenly and due to enemy deception. Respond to the kind call of the homeland and resume the normal, humane, proud and free-born life of your ancestors and proud homeland. In this regard there is no barrier in your path. The government and the DRA state will provide you with the necessary conditions for engaging in work and [words indistinct] and a life appropriate for humanity.

Make use of this real opportunity which in a desirable and dignified way could alter your destiny and that of your children.

Let us come together and build and [word indistinct] our beautiful homeland. The homeland needs you.

Success verily comes from God.

REBELS CRUSHED IN QANDAHAR, HERAT PROVINCES

LD211758 Kabul Domestic Service in Dari 1600 GMT 21 Aug 82

[Text] A BAKHTAR correspondent, citing a Qandahar army corps spokesman, reports that the trouble makers -- a notorious band and lackeys of imperialism and reaction -- who for some time had been disrupting the social life of the workers in Quandahar Province by terrorism and plundering, were crushed recently by the courageous and revolutionary officers and troops of the Qandahar army corps.

The report adds that about 11 ammunition dumps, many antitank mines and a large number of various types of weapons were destroyed.

About 343 heavy and light weapons including machineguns, antitank [word indistinct] mines, dozens of handgrenades, 40 rocket launchers, 1 antiaircraft machinegun, an R-103 communications system and more than 50,000 assorted bullets were captured from these enemies of the tranquillity and security of our toiling people.

According to another report, the officers and courageous troops of the Herat 17th Force and the Balkh 18th Force recently crushed groups of counterrevolutionaries in Enjil district, Herat Province, along with their ringleaders, named as (Abdol Hai Baladi), and (Tahweldar), and have arrested a number of them in Chahar Bulaq district.

The BAKHTAR correspondent reports that [words indistinct] about 78 assorted weapons and 15 heavy machineguns were seized in Enjil district and about 25 light weapons, 8 rocket launchers, 1 heavy machinegun and a large number of assorted bullets were seized in Chahar Bulaq district.

PAKISTAN-CHINA KHUNJERAB PROTOCOL PROTESTED

[Text] India has lodged a protest with Pakistan against the protocol signed with China on opening the Khunjerab Pass on the Karakoram highway in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir. The protest was conveyed orally by the secretary in the Ministry of External Affairs, Natwar Singh, to the Pakistan ambassador, Riaz Piracha, in New Delhi. India has also protested against the establishment of border posts in that pass. The written protest will be delivered shortly to the Pakistan Foreign Office by the Indian Embassy in Islamabad.

It may be recalled that India had in 1969 protested to China against the decision to make the Karakoram highway. Another protest was lodged to China in 1978 on the inauguration of the highway.

AFP: INDIAN TROOPS FIRE ON BORDER INHABITANTS

OW231944 Hong Kong AFP in English 1910 GMT 23 Aug 82

[Text] Islamabad, Aug 23 (AFP) -- Indian troops opened fire in Nikyal sector of Pakistani-controlled Kashmir and killed two civilians, reports reaching here from the border town of Kotli said today.

Two civilians, identified as Sakhi Muhammed and Muhammed Bashir, were shot dead in the "unprovoked" Indian firing while they were cutting grass "well inside their own territory," sources in Kotli said.

The troops across the border opened fire at 10 a.m. (0500 GMT) and kept on firing for 6 hours, they said, adding the Indian troops did not let the bodies be recovered.

The local military command has reported the matter to the United Nations military observers, posted in the Azad (free) Kashmir since 1948, the sources said.

KHOMEYNI ADDRESSES HAJJ, JUDICIAL OFFICIALS

GF231244 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 22 Aug 82

[Speech by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeyni to religious judges, supervisors of hajj pilgrims and officials of revolution courts, revolution and Central Prosecutors' Office personnel at Jamaran Mosque in Tehran 22 August -- recorded; duration 51 minutes]

[Text] In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. Today we have received the gentlemen clergy and others who are, God willing, like the clergymen. In the presence of clergymen it is difficult to say everything. There are many matters related to the clergymen in general and some matters related specifically to the clergymen who will accompany the hajj caravans and there are matters related to the judges and the prosecutors of the country. There are other matters which we do not know if we will have time to talk about.

The gentlemen clergy are well aware of the matters relating to them, wherever they are, from those who are the sources of emulation down to the ones who are serving Islam in a village.

Today, the expectation of the nation, the oppressed people and nations of the world from you clergymen, wherever you are, is very high. Your [life] today is different from the past when you were under the control of the decadent Pahlavi regime and oppressed by the worlds' oppressors. If there was silence, then they accepted it, assuming that gentlemen could not talk and explain the matters of Islam. They did not have the power to act and bring Islam to the people. However, this matter has been solved and today, thanks to the Almighty, the gentlemen wherever they are, can discuss matters freely and can guide people freely. If there is any general issue for the nation today, God forbid, if the clergymen who have any contact with such issues show some negligence or make a mistake, then this will no longer be acceptable to the almighty or the people. We can no longer say: What will we do? There is SAVAK, and that is why we can do nothing.

We, you gentlemen, are free to give guidance today on issues relating to Islam, in matters that may create deviation. We should guide the people, government employees, and discuss problems with them and thus eliminate deviations. Many problems have been witnessed by most of you. Some of the older ones among you know what it was like during the former decadent regime. You know what things were like, what people you had to deal with and who was ruling the nation and these oppressed people. We must praise the Almighty who saved us from this great problem and give Him our thanks for saving us from such difficult problems which had no parallel in the past 50 years. Our thanks would be to serve. We must thank Him in words but the true thanksgiving is to work today so that God Almighty is satisfied with us: praise Him for having rid us of this decadent regime which had destroyed or wanted to destroy everything we had.

An important matter is the question of judgment. Among several other things, one matter which has been carefully noted by Islam is the matter of judgment courts and prosecutor's offices who deal with people's rights.

I should explain that judging is one of those matters which is related to competence. Before there are enough competent ones, it is [word indistinct] that is to say, if a judgment is left or if deviationists become judges then all those who can judge either by their own interpretation or by example must enter the judgment and get rid of the problem. Today although we are talking to the gentlemen who are in charge of the judiciary and courts, there is such a possibility; in other words, we mean that we do not have enough judges.

If there are deviationists or suspected deviationists in jails and the judges have not been able to look into their cases, it is because there is a shortage of judges. It is necessary for all those who can judge to volunteer and thus become judges and eliminate the shortage since there may possibly be some people who are either not guilty or their crime is not that great and they need to be freed.

The respected teachers of Qom seminary who, thank God, are very active, must discuss this matter in the seminary so that those who are competent to judge even by example can register and come and judge the cases of those in prison so that we can solve the problems of those cases which should have been looked into but have not because of a lack of manpower. This is everyone's duty until the required number has been found. Sometimes people are cautious and warn others to be cautious. They warn that judging is difficult and so forth even though it is everyone's duty. When some people act and the required number has been reached then it will no longer be everyone's duty. However, if the judgment is not made then everyone is responsible.

They are cautious about entering the field but this is a duty and caution cannot be excused. Some people may want to continue their education -- so they should -- but when duty calls they cannot ignore it. They must go and work to the necessary limit so, God forbid, an innocent person's case will not be ignored.

I give responsibility for this to the Qom seminary teachers, the ulema in Mashhad, Esfahan and other places where there are seminaries. They will have to invite and encourage people any way they can since this is a religious duty. I cannot pray at night when a religious duty is left to be done. When it is a religious duty I have to carry it out even if it interfered with other duties. This is a matter that has to be noted and the religious teachers and the ulema of the country must point this out and eliminate the shortage so that the problem is solved.

Another point is the matter of judgment which should be carefully noted by the judges, public prosecutors and all those who are concerned with this important Islamic principle. This is a great responsibility and you must bear this responsibility. You must enter the field but it is a very important matter. You must remember that the nation's life, property and honor are in the hands of the judges and the courts. They are responsible for these matters. They must pay maximum attention to the general interests of Islam. They should be careful that neither the guilty are let free nor the innocent bothered. The judges must be decisive individuals on both sides of the cases. If someone has to be killed according to shari'a orders then they must not take pity. That is not allowed.

If, let us assume, the individual must be put in jail or punished then they should punish him. If, God forbid, someone is innocent then they must immediately acquit him and set him free. A judge must think like that. He must not be so kind as to let criminals go free. We witnessed such criminals some nights ago and shuddered. There are a great many examples we have not seen. Not all of the criminals have been found. There are many who may not be found until the end, in the future and in front of the Almighty. We have seen only a few examples. We saw one a few nights ago. One could not understand the extent of crimes committed by such individuals brought into this world by divine blessing. It is difficult for one to imagine this. I do not believe that one animal would treat another in such a manner. Well, here we are faced with such matters.

Now suppose a judge shows kindness and is lenient toward such people -- I do not say beyond the limits granted by divine guidance -- they must not even be slapped once, but the judge should not forgive one who should be killed according to the shari'a. On the other hand, not even one harsh word should be uttered against someone who is innocent. Those who are guilty should not be dealt with inhumanely. If they are to be killed, then they should be killed. If they are to be executed then they should be executed. If the judges want to do anything else, then they should note that they are responsible. The same goes for the officials in charge of jails. They all must pay heed, the leaders or those who are in charge of carrying out the duties, that the limits set by God do not mean that one who should be killed should be sworn at. This is not allowed. It is impermissible to slap them. This will result in retribution. A murderer who is being taken to be executed has the right to retaliate if he is slapped even once. Such an act is contrary to shari'a. Do not think you can do what you wish to someone who is in jail. God willing, you will not and must not. The respected shari'a magistrates must carry out their duties with great care so that, God forbid, nothing is done contrary to Islamic values.

We who claim our republic is Islamic and that Islamic precepts must be implemented, must remember that one important issue is the question of prisons, another is the question of the courts, various justice departments and prosecutor's offices. If we continue to act contrary to shari'a in the courts, as in the past, then we must consider this republic dead. It has repeatedly been pointed out that if you lack the relevant law then you must issue circulars informing all the judges to act according to shari'a and ignore the rules of the former regime. Here I declare, addressing all the judges in the country and all those in the judiciary system, all those laws in force during the time of idolatry, all those laws which are contrary to shari'a must be discarded. I take the responsibility. Discard all of them and use shari'a laws instead. [chants of God is great, Khomeyni is the leader, death to the (?liberals) and counterrevolutionaries, death to the United States]

If the judicial council has so far failed to do so, God forbid, it must now issue circulars to all the judges, public prosecutors, courts and everyone throughout the country informing them that all law based on corruption is corrupt! Maybe there are some among them that are in accordance with shari'a; those must be acted upon. All those contrary to shari'a must be ignored and anyone acting upon them is not only disgraced in front of God Almighty, his excuse of acting according to law is unacceptable. What law? The law which is contrary to Islam and shari'a? Such laws must not be adhered to. Even if you have to administer the former laws, then you should remember that one of the clauses in the supplementary amendment to the Constitution of the former regime stated that no law contrary to shari'a is law. However, it was never acted upon. Accordingly, those things that have been passed as law and are contrary to shari'a are not law, even according to the Constitution of the former regime.

You cannot say it is law if you are asked why you acted on those bases. The former Constitution was like this and the present one is clear. Those who act this way are guilty. You must not listen to others. If anyone asks you to do anything contrary to shari'a saying it is the law, then slap him in the mouth. Do not pay attention to anyone. I do not ask you to slap him literally. However, stand up to him and tell him that it is contrary to shari'a, so you will not and must not act according to them. God willing, the gentlemen have already done so. If it has not been noticed yet, then they must do it again; invite the offenders and try them. The former Justice Department has to be transformed to an Islamic justice department.

It is not right to say that the law is from the past but we must act on it. The former laws must be discarded since they were based on the former Constitution, the amendment to which states that any law contrary to shari'a is not law. Therefore, anyone who says the law says so is wrong. It is not law. It was an idolatrous act during the era of idolatry. Therefore, the gentlemen must not pay attention to such matters. The Council of Guardians, the Judicial Council should issue circulars informing everyone that the former laws that are contrary to shari'a must not be acted upon and anyone who acts on them is guilty, must be tried and receive punishment. This is all about this issue. Of course, there are a great many issues about the courts and such; however, there is no more time.

As for the hajj and the gentlemen who will accompany the caravans, the important thing is to understand the grievances of the people. You must see and understand how the poor live and emulate them. If people expect to have luxuries in hajj that they do not even have in their own homes then this cannot be hajj. This hajj that God Almighty has made the duty of everyone is for the purpose of going there and observing the lives of people. When we went we could see the lifestyle of the people of Hijaz to some extent, but the pilgrims cannot see it now. When we were going from Mecca to Medina by car, wherever it stopped in those endless deserts they came out from under the bushes and such. Children without clothes, women whose only clothing was a piece of cloth [shater], men whose condition cannot be described came and begged from people. People should see this before expecting to have everything at their disposal because they are going on a pilgrimage with a caravan. No, they should pay some attention to such things. The gentlemen clergy should call people's attention to such matters so they have no great expectations.

You are taken in an airplane. In the past it was by donkey. How long did it take? From some parts it would take 14 months. It would take 14 months to go and return from pilgrimage. Now you sit in an airplane and get there in comfort after 2 or 3 hours. When you went in the past there were no houses; you had to go and toil and make the preparations, with the conditions of the time and all the filth. Now your house is prepared for you. You are pilgrims, Muslims who wish to look after other Muslims, who want to take care of the oppressed of the world. Do not raise your expectations so high that, God forbid, the Almighty suddenly should say this should not be so and then (?it can no longer be). Then the problems will increase. You, the gentlemen of the clergy, must inform the people that if there is anything lacking, the gentlemen have toiled and done the job, they cannot work harder than they have. They have worked the best they can and they have done the job. They have prepared houses, considering all the difficulties there, and they cannot do more. If you see something lacking, it is not because the gentlemen did not want to provide it. They could not. What should they do? Should they say: Do not come because we cannot find you a big place or find you an amusement park and such. No, you should go and pay attention to all the efforts of the (?poor people).

This is the duty of the ulema who are accompanying the pilgrims; that is to say, this is one of their duties. Another important duty is to familiarize the people with the procedures of hajj. We see a great number of people who toil and go on the pilgrimage, but because they do not know the procedures, they get into trouble. They return, and after a few years they say: We did this. Is our pilgrimage acceptable? Or they say: We did not do this. Is it acceptable? Should we go again?

The gentlemen should hold sessions and teach the people the ways of the pilgrimage, both the duties and the traditions. If not the traditions, then they must teach the duties to the people. They must hold such sessions daily. People must go to these classes and learn so they do not encounter problems and upon return have to ask whether they carried out the procedures correctly or not. Once they learn the whole thing, it will go smoothly and the questions will no longer be asked. This is a duty for everyone. The clergyman should carry out their duty and the people must learn duties. It is not sufficient to think that only the going matters and never mind the rest. No, this is different than other places. When you go on a pilgrimage to a shrine and things do not go right, you have no problem, but in this instance, you will encounter a problem and will have to go again. Such problems will come up, and for your own sake, you must learn the procedure so you do not make a mistake which will cause you problems later. This is one issue.

Another issue that the gentlemen accompanying the pilgrims should note is that they must tell the people that political action taken must be systematic. Chaos and individual action in this instance has always been wrong. Everything has to have some order. If they want to get together for some reason, a person in charge of the hajj affairs must prepare a program and they have to act according to that. If people want to act according to their own tastes -- there is a great deal of difference in tastes -- then there will be problems, and worst of all, it will cause (?problems) for the Islamic Republic on some occasions. They must do nothing to harm the name of the Islamic Republic. Propagandists almost all over the world are carrying out propaganda against us, the Islamic Republic. We must do nothing to give them an excuse to use it and expand it as they wish. This is an issue which is the duty of everyone in the caravans. They must arrange all programs according to a plan and stop chaos and individual action. This is a matter that the gentlemen must pay a great deal of attention to. Those who are going on the pilgrimage must take care that, God forbid, their pilgrimage is not turned into sin. It should be all Islam and worship. The marches must be in worship and not sin. They must be for God. It is not acceptable for anyone to do whatever he wishes or swear at whomever he wishes. It is not so.

These issues should be dealt with under a correct program, which should be formulated beforehand. And what is essential for all of us is that we should pay attention to what the international issues are and their exact nature. I think in our present age, all words have lost their intrinsic meaning. We have come to an age where words have lost their real meanings and have taken on different connotations. If a person sees what the word justice means in the world, he realizes that the meaning has changed. The meaning of the word humanitarian has taken on another meaning. If one observes the world's security organizations, he sees that they are not (?related to security), but they are still known as security organizations. If one examines the human rights societies, he sees they support the tyrants, not human beings. They support oppression.

There is no one to ask what the superpowers are doing in the world; no one questions them. Sometimes one hears an opposing voice, but what is important is that the world's big organizations distribute jurisdiction among (?a few people). One cannot say that the work of the security of mankind is in the hands of (?fourteen) persons. This has also lost its meaning. Security should in essence be for all people, but a few persons wield all the authority. Whatever anyone does, one person says: I cannot (?understand) it. After that, it is not possible to convince even one person. And the fact that this is for all people of the world cannot be accepted. Not one person, not even a minor, can accept that if they wish they may plunder the world, that they should be given the authority to do so whenever they wish.

For example in the United Nations, if anyone takes a stand against them, they veto it immediately. That's the end of the matter. If Afghanistan is (?invaded) and you ask why, they tell you it is none of your business. If you criticize Beirut or something similar, they say: It is none of your business. Israel has defied all Islamic countries. They say: Don't interfere. Is it not sad that it should be so? Aren't those who Israel went against also human beings? They say don't interfere. Israel came and took Beirut, committed all those atrocities, disrupted the Palestinian Liberation Organization and scattered it everywhere. You who were silent and made no effort to put up any resistance -- you did not even utter a word in protest -- know that your turn will come. Israel will come against you, too. It is unfortunate that Islam shows you this path and you who profess to be Muslims take that one. Islam is very strict with violators and aggressors, but some who profess to follow Islam still encourage them.

The United States is deeply involved in these crimes. Crimes have been committed in Beirut with the covert collusion of the United States and the Zionists, the brutal Zionists. These criminals committed these crimes but the United States was the instigator. They themselves have admitted they acted on the plans formulated by the United States. If there were no United States, Israel would have been told to stay out. Israel is the stick wielded by the United States to deal blows.

Then there are these gentlemen who profess to follow Islam and have pretensions to uphold the cause of the Muslims. They offer everything to the United States and then apologize to it as well. Is it not indeed pitiful for nations, for Islam, for all? These nations do not think about what they will do if they do not have anything. See what they have done to Beirut, to women and children, the poor and the helpless; they have done everything and destroyed everything. Everyone sat and watched and only a few dared utter support, and if they uttered a word, it was a word they uttered and left, and all the atrocities continued. Do you think Israel is content with this state of affairs? Israel is adamant that all Muslims should be destroyed. The United States is also insistent that there should be no Islam.

The very fact that the Islamic Republic bears the name Islamic and wishes to follow Islam makes everyone oppose it. They oppose it through propaganda saying we favor the United States. Sometimes they say we are pro-Israeli. For more than 20 years we have been crying that our troubles stem from Israel and the United States. Does this prove we are pro-Israel? But those who say they are against Israel are sitting and letting Israel destroy whatever (?it wishes). What have they done? These are our problems; we are in an age when everything is to the contrary. Those who say they are Muslims have attributed some other meaning to Islam; they should be told of the correct Islam. The one who pretends to be an expert on Islam interprets it as something else. The one who champions human rights also distorts the meaning. Words have lost their correct meaning and are hollow. As I said, you yourselves should see what words express the actual (?sense), words that denote social justice, human rights, the security organizations, (?space) organizations and see which of those stand for (?what they are).

Which of these conveys the meaning it is supposed to? Islam -- which is the real Islam and which is opposed to it? Each one says it is the real thing. What they call the rightful Islam is the one which is opposed to all the real tenets and allows such heinous crimes. The term terrorism is taken as rebellion of armed forces. Is armed rebellion what we witness on television? Is it the massacre of children and setting of fires? Is this armed rebellion? These words have changed in meaning. It seems that armed rebellion means that one terrorist is (?wealthier) than another. Now that I have told you the correct meanings you should be on the lookout for them. If in this world you can find a term which means what it says, it will be (?amazing). But, for example, on the meaning of "Eastern" [words indistinct] whatever I say, they will say the contrary. What they say is also diametrically opposed to what they do. They say Islam, Islam, Islam. Islam should be the true Islam. When they see such crimes, what happens to the true Islam?

They who talk about human rights trample the weaker nations, the oppressed nations and they call it (?justice). They say they rebelled for peace. Where is the peace when they are inciting war? The same kind of war that we are embroiled in is what they call peace. All these wars have been started by them. They say that all these wars have been started so there may be peace in the world.

If you contemplate what I just said, that words have lost their meaning, and if you want to see how, you can see it in what Saddam has said. A few days ago Saddam gave an interview in the presence of a large group of commanders and sergeants; those words cannot be repeated; one can only see. He gathered all of them to distribute victory awards to them so they may [word indistinct] in the region. Even the word victory has lost its meaning; victory awards have lost their meaning. I would have gone after him and slapped him and thrown him out. [shouts from the crowd] The meaning has been lost.

He talks so much of Islam. He says: You all have, during the course of history -- I do not recall the exact words -- not only now but for posterity you have proved your intense fervor for Islam. You love people and have treated them well. If these words had not been lost, if their meaning had not been lost, could that man have gone on saying such things? When I heard this eloquence of Saddam and saw his audacity, his nerve in making these false allegations in public and such propaganda, I was reminded of an anecdote. A person asked a student seminarian: Who is (?higher) than an Arab? They say the student took the person to his house and he saw that an old man was being suckled by a wolf. He was really filthy and really (?revolting). The student said: The person you see sucking the wolf's breast is my father and he is drinking directly from the breast so that not one drop of the milk falls to the ground. People are miserly to this extent. And all this (?high status) and (?deference) given to the Arabs and those who have been enjoying it for 30 years, I should say that from the Arabs [work indistinct] and Saddam [shouts] who deem this defeat a victory and are proud of it. [chants from the crowd]

They have now said what they wish to do to our cities. For example, what are they going to do with the Khark Island? What have they not done so far? All the people, the whole world, has realized what you are. You will do all you can, and if there are any crimes left uncommitted, it is because you cannot do them. If you could, you would have bombed the Khark Island and our Islamic centers. You have done as much as you could. All you can do now is shell Abadan and you do it. [Words indistinct] what you can do and you have done it. We have proved that which we (?can achieve) and we sent the flares to be dropped over Basra. We sent our army to Basra and we can also send our artillery. If we do not send them then it is because the training of this army and guards is far (?superior) and different from their army. Their training is on the basis of paganism and ours is an Islamic training which we do not wish to defile. He [Saddam] can't do anything or he would have done it by now. If he could, he would have shelled all the islands and (?areas). By now he would have done whatever he could, whether it was deception, audacity or shelling of residential areas of the poor and oppressed people. All the international groups [media], whose hands are cut off and who are holding their chins and sitting, wrote that Iran could not do anything; Saddam did this and that. The fact is that if Islam had not tied the hands of Iran, then not only Basra but also Baghdad would have been in the (?hands of) our forces. But what can we do? Our hands are tied and yours are loose. Your people are in the hands of Satan, and whatever he says you do.

We are proud to carry out the injunctions of Islam. Our hands are tied and we cannot resist. We should only obey. I hope all of mankind will be guided. I hope the situation mankind is in will be changed as it is not (?right). I hope God will raise the honor of the Islamic countries and will make them incline toward Islam. I beseech God to make our country victorious, to make our troops and guards victorious on the fronts and to enable us to uphold the tenets of Islam and to follow them successfully. [chants and shouts]

FOREIGN MINISTRY STATEMENT ON PLO EXPULSION

LD241932 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 24 Aug 82

[Statement issued by the Iranian Ministry of Foreign Affairs -- date not given; Tehran International Service in Arabic at 1430 GMT on 24 August carries a summary of the statement saying it was issued on 24 August]

[Text] In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. All our problems stem from the United States -- Imam Khomeyni. Clouds of conspiracy join together one after another and cover the blood-red sky of Lebanon and heroic Beirut. The criminal United States and its illegitimate child, the usurping Israel, by repeating the big and unforgettable tragedy of Hiroshima in heroic Beirut clearly proved that world arrogance is prepared to commit the filthiest crimes and savagery in every corner of the world in order to realize its illegitimate interests.

The massacre of the deprived and Muslim people of Lebanon and Palestine throughout Lebanon and particularly in west Beirut, and the destruction of houses and hospitals, show the depths of this baseness and abjectivity. No doubt this bloody massacre is a shameful stain on the arch-Satan and the Zionist regime and it also exposes the nature of the reactionary regimes which, because of their dependence as hirelings on the international superpower, not only did not open their mouths during the 70-odd days of steadfastness and resistance by the Muslim and heroic people of Palestine and Lebanon but rather secretly strived to help in the step by step implementation of it.

The history of the Arab world and Muslims of the region will never forget this crime committed by the U.S. puppet regimes which claim to be Muslims. Their only effective step during this period was to form the At-Ta'if conference and to release a statement on the surrender of the combative Palestinians and their departure from Lebanon.

The U.S.-Zionist plan of Philip Habib, the mercenary who will receive the Noble Peace Prize from his predecessor, that is, the criminal Begin, as a reward for implementing this plot, has had no other aim but to destroy Palestinian aspirations, to fight against the Islamic revolution in the region and to expand the Camp David accords. Certainly the plan will not end in the limited area of Lebanon's borders. The 34-year shameful history of the occupying regime of Al-Quds has clearly shown its sinister aim of destroying Islam and the Muslims in the region. The presence of the U.S. force and its other dependents in Lebanon and the repeat of the Sinai desert in this country for occupation of the Islamic countries can clearly expose the future plans of colonialism in this part of the world. The banishment and scattering of the Palestinian strugglers to Arab countries and the selection of some puppet regimes such as Iraq and Jordan for this purpose in themselves speak eloquently of the complete collaboration of the Arab reactionaries in implementation of this scheme.

Holding the presidential elections in Lebanon and imposing a puppet regime, dependent on Israel and United States, upon this country when the Palestinian combatants have not yet left Beirut and this land is under the occupation of U.S. soldiers and soldiers of the Zionist regime who wear Wellington boots are in themselves eloquent warnings to the Muslim and combative people and the dear followers of Lebanon that even a moment of negligence and shortcoming in confronting the plots of the arch-Satan will certainly result on nothing but destruction, shame and misery.

Crimes by the United States and the Zionist regime against Lebanon in the not too distant future will clearly show that contrary to the propaganda of international imperialism, which is trying to blame the nation of Palestine for the destruction and the disorganized situation in Lebanon, the mother of corruption and the main responsible elements of all these crimes are none other than the United States and the Zionist regime. Nobody else could commit such crimes.

It is hoped that this affair will be a lesson to the responsible authorities and combatants of Palestine to rectify their past mistakes and errors. It is hoped this will teach them not to count on and to give up expectations of the reactionary regimes and the hypocrites who have taken advantage of Palestinian aspirations and have used them as a trench to preserve their shameful hegemony over the Muslim and Arab masses. It teaches them to seek the way of salvation only through dear Islam and by joining the Muslim people of the region. It is hoped they will learn not to rely on the puppet governments.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Islamic Republic of Iran, while condemning the U.S. plot to expel the Palestinian warriors from Lebanon and to scatter them in Arab countries announces that the Muslim people and the developed countries of the region should be prepared to confront such future aggressions and schemes of the United States and the Zionist regime as bringing pressure to bear on the Islamic Republic of Iran and the developed governments of the region, the dictates of the disgraceful Camp David accord and the stabilization of the Ba'thist-Zionist regime of Iraq. They should realize that as long as world arrogance, headed by the United States and the Zionist regime, remains in this part of the world as daggers to the hearts of its Muslim people, they should expect such tragedies and crimes at all times.

It is hoped the deprived and Muslim nations, through their monolithic and general uprising, will (?unite) to annihilate this germ of corruption and rise to put an end to the hegemony of the arch-Satan and its agents in the region.

May God's peace, mercy and blessings be upon you all.

[Signed] The Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Islamic Republic of Iran

'MODERATES, REACTIONARIES' CRITICIZED ON LEBANON

Rafsanjani Remarks

LD241552 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 24 Aug 82

[Excerpts] According to a report from the Central News Unit, Majlis Speaker Rafsanjani this morning received a group of Islamic students in Europe, some female teachers from Marvdasht and a number of participants in the Martyr Bahonar Camp. Referring to the general situation in the world and events in Lebanon, the speaker said: The general situation in the world, particularly the recent events in Lebanon, shows the crucial significance of the Islamic revolution as well as the (?viability) of our tactics. He added: The superpowers, particularly America and their (?allies), enjoy a stable situation. Consequently, wherever their interests seem to be threatened or their future aggression curtailed they mobilize all of their available resources to ruthlessly crush the opposing forces. We witnessed the height of this ruthlessness and atrocity against the civilized world in Lebanon. In order to evict the deprived and homeless Palestinians from Lebanon, these powers trampled on all international principles and encouraged Israel to kill many people and to commit many crimes. Then whenever the issue of condemning Israel is raised at the UN, America arrogantly vetoes it. So much insolence by those claiming to adhere to human rights principles is truly offensive.

The speaker then cited the betrayals committed by the countries of the region, saying: The reactionary countries of the region as well as the oil magnates have displayed the utmost lack of character. They have no justification whatsoever for the situation that has occured in Lebanon, because the oil producing countries could have brought America to its knees by using the powerful oil weapon. They could have cut Israel's hands off from Lebanon.

Continuing his remarks Rafsanjani said: The present international situation, the present world, would not hesitate for a minute if it could topple the Islamic Republic, because the Persian Gulf, this ocean of oil, is more important to them than Lebanon. The speaker then said: They used to enjoy controlling Iran as an anchor of stability in the region. However, Iran has today become a lever for movement in the region. Therefore, they will not spare any efforts to crush the Islamic Republic with all of the means at their disposal. This revolution poses a great threat to oppression. Accordingly, our duty is similarly great. On the other hand, the superpowers' forces are quite large. This became evident in Lebanon, where all of them joined forces and cut off the Palestinians heads. They also joined forces behind the scenes to sacrifice us as well. Consequently, it is up to us to make it absolutely clear and to prevent those who are involved in hatching plots in Lebanon from interfering there in certain ways.

Concluding his remarks, Rafsanjani said: We all support the iman. We must fulfill this important task with the cooperation of you combative brothers. God is with us.

Majlis Deputies

LD242108 Tehran IRNA in English 1930 GMT 24 Aug 82

[Text] Tehran, Aug. 24, IRNA -- Majlis deputies today lashed out at moderate and reactionary governments of the region for having remained passively silent in a showdown leading to the Palestinians evacuation of southern Lebanon. The first speaker of the open session of the Majlis this morning was the deputy from Esfahan, Mohammad Salavati, who talked about the problems facing the Palestinian people. He criticised the cowardly silence of some Arab leaders towards the Zionist invasion of Lebanon and the massacre of thousands of people there. To encounter the savage attack of the regime occupying Jerusalem, he added, the Arab oil producing countries did not even go as far as stopping oil exports for a few days.

The next speaker of the session, the deputy from Shahr-e Babak, Abdulmajid Agha-Karimi, touched on the crisis in Lebanon and said that United States imperialism in collaboration with the Zionist regime and the reactionary rulers of the region, had plotted to make the Palestinian fighters evacuate western Beirut. He further praised the Resistance and the fight put up by the Palestinian guerrillas during the nearly 80 days of the siege of western Beirut by the Zionist regime.

He further advised the Palestinian combatants to intensify their struggle and called on Arab oil producing countries to impose an oil embargo on the U.S. "Once the Iranian people have defeated the Iraqi regime," said he, "they would then pioneer all other forces for the liberation of Jerusalem."

The Zionist regime should realise that the Islamic revolution of Iran will not sit silent until Jerusalem is liberated, said the deputy from Mashhad, Mohammad Abde-Khodaie. Condemning the crimes of the Zionist regime in Lebanon and the betrayal of the Palestinian cause by the reactionary rulers of the region, he said the puppets of the U.S. and the aiders of the Zionist regime would never take any practical action for the liberation of Jerusalem.

The session ended at noon and the next meeting is scheduled for Thursday morning.

TEHRAN ARABIC: 'BULLETS' ELECT AL-JUMAYYIL

GF241052 Tehran International Service in Arabic 1730 GMT 23 Aug 82

[Unattributed commentary]

[Text] O brothers, today Arab reaction is rejoicing because the Palestinians have left Lebanon and Bashir al-Jumayyil has become president. Today Lebanon became a prisoner of Zionism and the Crusades. Today wounded Lebanon has been arrested and sent to jail pending the final sentence.

The one who threatened and intimidated has become the jailer. The one who destroyed Lebanon and its people has become the president of Lebanon. .Bashir al-Jumayyil has become president of the Lebanese Republic and the illegitimate Lebanese Goverment whose status is upheld by various parties and organizations.

The Lebanese Government has moved into the hands of Bashir al-Jumayyil, the murder of Lebanese people. These groups upheld the legitimacy of the Lebanese Government to give it later to Bashir al-Jumayyil. They have been preparing for the day when Lebanon will not have even one bullet to use for the Lebanese or Palestinian cause. They have been making preparations so that Lebanon would be able to welcome Bashir al-Jumayyil as president. And they have been making preparations to receive the invading Israeli forces.

How could Bashir al-Jumayyil not become the president of the republic if all their excellencies and all their majesties [the Arab rulers] are on his side? How could he not become president when the Arab rulers are on his side standing in one trench with the Phalangists and casting their votes for the Al-Jumayyil family? How could he not become president when the United States and Israel are on his side and the East and West harmoniously assist and supply him with what he needs? How could Al-Jumayyil not become president of the republic when Israeli forces guard the gates to the Presidency and impose restrictions against those entering or leaving? How could Al-Jumayyil not be president if the nominator is Philip Habib, the voter is the Israeli enemy and the executor is U.S. imperialism? They wanted Lebanon to reach this end.

For 9 years, efforts have been intensifying to make this imperialist dream come true, namely evacuating the Palestinian fighters from Lebanon and handing Lebanon over to the reactionary Phalangist Party. Now Lebanon has been completely cleared of all fighters and its land has become a field for the horses of the Phalangists. They contemplated this day more than 9 years ago and purchased the dead consciences of rulers and governments, asking them to keep silent even if Beirut was burned. They also asked them to receive the Palestinian forces on Israel's demand. The rulers and governments always obeyed. They absented Imam Musa as-Sadr, Lebanon's conscience, in order to carry out the rest of the conspiracy. They bought parties and figures throughout Lebanon so they would add their votes to others during the election.

Later they said to Israel: Crush, kill, destroy and banish; then tell the Palestinians to leave Lebanon so that Bashir al-Jumayyil can conduct his election freely. On election day, the parliament members were dragged by force from their houses to a Lebanese Army barracks guarded by Israeli tanks. The Phalangist gangs went from one house to another asking the members of parliament to come and elect Al-Jummayyil and if they refused, bullets were the proper answer. This is what they did to Hasan ar-Rafa'i, member of parliament for Al-Hirmil district. When he refused to obey they shot him five times. When only 58 members showed up, the Israelis mustered all their capabilities and dragged 4 members from their houses and took them to the barracks so that a quorum could be achieved. This is the kind of democracy which the Zionists and Bashir al-Jumayyil understand.

It is the democracy of bullets, not parliamentary democracy. The votes of bullets alone elected Al-Jumayyil and not the votes of deputies because a gun was stuck in the back of every deputy. With this prevailing democracy in the barracks, Bashir al-Jumayyil has been able to ascend to the presidential seat, thus crushing the law under his feet and putting himself above the law because he is Hitler's and Mussolini's descendant. Therefore, salutations to the democracy of bullets and blood and congratulations to Arab reaction Zionism and imperialism because the day they dreamed of has become true.

OFFICIAL WARNS PEACE-KEEPING FORCE IN LEBANON

LD232130 Tehran IRNA in English 1641 GMT 23 Aug 82

[Text] Tehran, Aug. 23 IRNA -- Deputy Foreign Minister for Political Affairs Hoseyn Shaykh ol-Eslam returned to Tehran this morning at the end of a 12-day visit to Pakistan, Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, Nepal, Malaysia and Vietnam.

During his visits he met and conferred with the heads of state, foreign ministers and other officials of these countries and outlined the rightful stands of the Islamic Republic of Iran vis-a-vis the Iraqi imposed war, the ability of the Islamic defenders for triumphing in the war, the nature of Baghdad's Ba'thist regime, and the need to seek other venue than Baghdad for the non-aligned summit and the foreign ministers' assembly in Baghdad. He further presented President Khamene'i's message to the heads of these countries.

Expressing his satisfaction with the results he gained during his visits, Shaykh ol-Eslam said that Iran's positions and its pre-conditions for a cease-fire were agreed by the officials of these countries. He also said that in case Iraq had not attacked Iran, the Zionist regime would have not dared to attack Lebanon.

During his meetings with the officials of these countries, he said, he reiterated Iran's view that the extraordinary conference of the Islamic foreign ministers could not be held in Baghdad for the same reason that Baghdad has been disqualified as host to the non-aligned summit, or else the session would be boycotted by the progressive countries of the Non-aligned Movement, and naturally its position weakened.

Referring to the PLO's evacuation from Lebanon, he said it was "a plot in perpetuation of the Camp David conspirasy". He further said that the forces which had come to Lebanon under the guise of peace-keeping forces were there to occupy Islamic territories and to [words indistinct] lands to their already usurped lands.

Warned he: "Any foreign troops to arrive in Lebanon will be solely responsible for their own safety, since Muslims cannot tolerate their wretched presence (in Lebanon)".

TURKISH COMMENTARY OPPOSES CONVENING ARAB SUMMIT

GF231846 Tehran International Service in Turkish 1830 GMT 22 Aug 82

[Unattributed commentary: "Act Two of the Theatrical Performance Entitled 'The Middle East'"]

[Excerpts] Dear listeners, international imperialism is currently preparing to stage the second act of the theatrical performance entitled: The Arab Middle East. This theatrical performance, whose senario was included in the Camp David agreement and later listed in the eight-point plan put forward by Fahd, is actually being staged by an inauspicious group composed of the vampire United States, the Zionist regime, which is occupying the Muslim land of Palestine, and compromising Arab governments.

It is obvious the current aligned and coordinated political moves in the Arab world constitute a prelude to the conclusion of lasting agreements which will enhance the presence of Zionists in the heart of the Islamic world. Of course, this is the natural outcome of the silence preferred by aligned Arab governments in the face of the military attack organized against Lebanon by terrorist Begin -- an attack which has resulted in the merciless killing of Palestinian and Lebanese women and children. Taking into consideration the latest developments in Lebanon, it can be said that the military attack organized by the Zionists against Lebanon, with the go-ahead Israel received from the criminal United States, was actually realized with the permission of the aligned Arab governments.

Those who draw compromising lines for the United States, the Zionist regime and the aligned governments in the region know well that the settlement of the Muslim Palestinian revolutionaries in Lebanon as an active military force would not give their compromising plans a chance to succeed. Viewed from this angle, the developments in Lebanon will be easier to understand. This is due to the fact that the Arab world maintained such an ambiguous silence in the face of all the savage and inhuman treatment of the Muslim Lebanese people and the Palestinian refugees by the aggressive Zionist troops that despite the PLO's repeated calls for a debate on the question of Lebanon, the Arab heads of state failed to organize a preparatory meeting. In light of all this, the following important question is being put to the world: What has happened in the immediate aftermath of resolving the question of Lebanon, which led to an agreement to evacuate the Palestinians from that country, that caused those who opposed the convening of an Arab summit only a few days ago to now display a very rarely seen impatience for organizing that conference?

Undoubtedly, a close study of the activities of international oppressors and the coordinated moves they make with the aligned governments in the region will bring the bitter facts to light in a most clear way. Thus, it becomes crystal clear that the widescale military assault by the Zionist regime and its savage crimes, massacres and destruction are but only a minute part of a major conspiracy to keep the compromising elements in power at the expense of Lebanon's destruction. This coordinated conspiracy is aimed at sacrificing the Palestinian people's Islamic revolution in a legal way, condemning the self-sacrificing Palestinian fighters to camps under their control in various countries, as if they were prisoners of war, and establishing an autonomous Palestinian state in the West Bank within the framework of the Camp David agreement -- an autonomous state, which will be imposed on the people of the region.

In the light of all this, isn't it a fact that the convening of an Arab summit, which a number of people are so impatient to hold, is aimed at legalizing the abovementioned conspiracy? Under the circumstances, isn't it obvious that an Arab summit to be convened by the aligned Arab governments will create the necessary atmosphere for reviving the Fahd plan? Is this move conducive to the Arab world and to the world of Islam? If the leaders of regimes dominating the Arab world have forgotten the reasons which led to the failure of the Fes summit sometime ago, the poor Muslim masses have not forgotten them at all. In fact, the Muslim masses are vigilant and wise enough not to yield to Fahd's plan immediately.

Although the Zionist military attacks have succeeded in attaining their objectives -- objectives such as massacring Lebanese and Palestinian Muslims, evicting the Palestinian fighters from Lebanon and destroying Lebanese cities -- they will never be able to contribute toward the success of summit conferences such as the Fes summit. This is due to the fact that the Muslims are now vigilant and the Islamic revolution is making new strides with every passing day. Even though the United States, the Zionist regime which is occupying the Muslim land of Palestine and the aligned Arab governments may feel certain that their treacherous plans will succeed, there should be no doubt that the Islamic world will never surrender to international imperialism. The anti-Zionist and anti-imperialist stand of the Muslims will continue. And, within the framework of this struggle, giving priority to the struggle against the aligned Arab governments will also continue whenever it becomes necessary.

ISLAMIC PARTY ANALYZES TUDEH POSITION ON WAR

[Text] Tehran, Aug 22 IRNA -- The morning daily JOMHURI-YE ESLAMI (ISLAMIC REPUBLIC). today printed an analysis of the Political Bureau of the Islamic Republic Party (IRP) concerning the position taken by the pro-Soviet Tudeh Party, and the pro-Tudeh Party faction of the Feda'iyan-e Khalq organisation which is referred to as the Feda'iyan-e majority, on the Iraqi imposed war and ways of reaching a peace.

The IRP analysis is based on commentaries by the Tudeh Party and the Feda'iyan-e majority, in the recent issues of their publications. The secretary general of the Tudeh Party, Nureddin Kianuri, commenting on the war and the retreat of the Iraqi forces from Iranian territory and a peace settlement, referred to a recent report of the Centre for Strategic Studies of Georgetown University in Washington, D.C., on the issue of the Iraq-Iran war. The centre has said that the war had brought Iraq closer to the conservative regimes of the Persian Gulf and the Iranian threat had created an alliance between Jordan, Iraq and Saudi Arabia.

The report had noted that a military defeat for Iraq would make it abandon its rivalry with Saudi Arabia for the role of leadership of the moderate countries.

The Georgetown University report said the war would further isolate Syria and preserve the interests of the Zionist regime. The fall of Saddam would make Iraq unstable and endanger the economic interests of the Arabs and pave the way for expansion of relations between Iraq and the U.S. on the grounds that the Soviets would not be willing to sell arms to Iraq.

Based on this report, Kianuri had concluded that the U.S. role was to make the Iranian forces push into Iraqi territory and engage Iran in a war of attrition, which in his words was a great danger for the Islamic Republic of Iran.

Meanwhile, the publication of the majority Feda'iyan-e in a recent issue said that imperialism was afraid of a just peace. The article referred to the heavy expenditure of the war, the human resources used and the difficulties created for the "toiling masses."

According to majority Feda'iyan-e, increased dissatisfaction as a result of the war would encourage counterrevolutionaries and weaken the pillars of the revolution. The commentary added that establishment of a just peace would enable Iran to take part in repelling imperialist and Zionist aggression against the people of Palestine, Lebanon and Syria. The article suggested that all diplomatic means be used to repel the aggression and reach a just peace. The publication of the Feda'iyan-e also stressed that only the people of Iraq had the right to decide on the system of their government and the Islamic Republic should by no means interfere in such issues.

The IRP analysis said that the identical view of the two pro-Soviet groups was in fact in accordance with the recent position of the Soviet Government on the issue of the [word indistinct]. PRAVDA, [word indistinct] of the Soviet Communist Party in an article printed nearly a month ago, said that taking the war into the Iraqi territory would involve more countries.

Referring to the financial and human cost of the war, the newspaper noted that since the outbreak of the war the Soviet Union had stressed that it should be terminated soon and that its continuation served the interest of U.S. imperialism and the Zionist regime and at the same time hurt the Palestinian cause.

The analysis said that the two groups, following the guidelines and policies of the Soviet Union, were trying to prevent Iranian forces from entering Iraq. This was because the Soviet Union, like the U.S. and the Western bloc, has no effective substitute for the Iraqi president, Saddam Husayn. In addition, the communist parties because of their ideological proximity with the Ba'thists, would not want a change in Iraq with no clear future for such a change, added the analysis. The point was raised that despite the claims of the Tudeh Party, the Soviet Union has not been unwilling to sell arms to Iraq and the presence of Soviet MiG's and tanks in the Iraqi Army showed the interest of the Soviets in protecting Saddam Husayn.

The analysis further pointed out that the victory of Iran over Iraq would lead to numerous positive consequences for the Islamic Republic and at the same time would result in our [as received] unpredictable situation for the Soviet Union in the region and within its own borders. Meanwhile, it asserted the greater danger in the Middle East for both superpowers was that the Islamic Republic after removing Saddam would then confront the Zionist regime directly and turn the Middle East region into a battlefield against the Zionist regime and thus take away the initiative of action from the leaders of the Kremlin and the White House.

The recommendations of the Tudeh Party and the majority Feda'iyan-e concerning the utilisation of diplomatic methods and mediators, proved nothing but the subservience of these groups to Moscow, the IRP analysis said. It concluded by stating that the Iranian nation based on its past experience, had only one answer to such plots, "vigorous struggle with the aggressor enemy who through the support of the East and the West has attacked our Islamic revolution". The people of Iran, it added, would not relinquish its present military superiority, which was their only weapon on regaining their legitimate rights. It labelled the Moscow inspired suggestions nonsense because such a stance will not establish a "just peace", but an "imposed peace".

JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUE 1,026 ON WAR WITH IRAQ

LD241732 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 24 Aug 82

[Communique No 1,026 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. Islam's victorious combatants in their confrontation against the aggressive enemy and armed with their steadfastness and selflessness are striving toward success in the great divine test. Thanks to the courage of these worthy heroes, the fortresses of Saddamist blasphemy are crumbling and God's will with regard to the triumph of good over evil is being realized.

During the past 24 hours in the operational zone in the southern parts of the country, our forces opened heavy artillery and mortar fire and hit the positions and fortifications of the Iraqi forces, destroying a number of the enemy's light and heavy weapons' emplacements. As a result of these operations, the engineering activities of the Iraqi mercenaries were halted and damage was inflicted on some of their equipment and armored vehicles.

The fighting (?units) of the navy of the Islamic Republic of Iran, deployed in the Abadan and Khorramshahr region, while defending the positions under their control and retaliating against enemy fire, destroyed four enemy machinegun emplacements and observation posts and two bunkers together with their servicemen. The coastal units of the gendarmerie of the Islamic Republic of Iran opened fire on the positions of the Saddamists on the opposite bank of Arvand Rud [Shatt al-Arab] and stopped the movement of enemy fuel tankers and engineering equipment along the Al-Faw-Basrah highway.

Yesterday Abadan came under the long-range weapons fire of the Saddamist army. Enemy mortar shells hit and destroyed three houses and two shops in that city and a few places were also set ablaze.

In the operational zone in the western part of the country, our combatants' activities are continuing. The artillery units of the ground forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran opened fire on enemy artillery and mortar positions and silenced the active batteries of the Iraqi forces. In the Paveh and Marivan region an exchange of fire continued with our forces maintaining total superiority. In the Kani Kabud region, Islam's forces continued their patrol and pursuit operations in the heights in the region.

Yesterday, thanks to our antiaircraft fire and tactical operations by fighter aircraft of the Air Force of the Islamic Republic of Iran, enemy air operations, whether border intrusions or air reconnaissance flights, were neutalized in time and the intruding aircraft were forced to flee.

[Signed] The Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran

CLANDESTINE REVIEWS QOTBZADEH'S LIFE, TRIAL

GF241826 (Clandestine) Radio Iran in Persian to Iran 1330 GMT 24 Aug 82

[Excerpts] The trial of Sadeq Qotbzadeh, which was being held in a military court, ended yesterday. The judges began deliberations, but according to the latest reports, the verdict is being delayed for an unknown reason.

Qotbzadeh was one of the important elements in Khomeyni's victory. He, who is known for moral corruption abroad, was in charge of propaganda for Khomeyni at the beginning of his blight and was his spokesman. He called himself Khomeyni's adopted son.

Following his dismissal as foreign minister, Qotbzadeh set up a commercial company in Iran and Switzerland with the cooperation of some Islamic Republic officials and influential mullahs, including Khomeyni's son Ahmad, and took over apart of the foreign trade of the Islamic regime and made a great deal of profit. The same Qotbzadeh, who at the beginning repeatedly claimed on television to be wearing brother's clothes and allegedly only received 2,500 tumans a month (?from Khomeyni), after 3 years has become one of the Iranian millionaires with a large bank account in Switzerland. This "twinkle in the eye of the imam of Jamaran" and a partner of his son is now being accused and tried for plotting against the regime which he himself helped found and for plotting to kill the [word indistinct] imam.

The clamor about Qotbzadeh's imaginary plot has been quite profitable for the regime; Ayatollah Shari'atmadari was forced out of the field and military personnel were arrested and murdered. Meanwhile, considering the silence maintained by the newspapers of Tehran and the regime's propaganda machinery on the subject of Qotbzadeh's trial, it is possible he will receive a prison term of several years, or, at worst, a life sentence instead of execution. This is especially possible because of the great effort of some Syrian and Algerian officials to save Qotbzadeh's life. According to one of the regime's officials, Qotbzadeh has given them a good deal of information about individuals whom he alleges were his coconspirators. His confessions have resulted in the arrests of large numbers of people, some of whom have already been executed by firing squads.

Lebanon

PLO, Syrian Withdrawal Process -- Two ships carrying PLO fighters left Beirut port on 25 August, one carrying 560 fighters to the Syrian port of Tartus and the other carrying 490 fighters bound for Sudan, Voice of Lebanon radio reported. The radio also revealed that Hani al-Hasan, political adviser to PLO Executive Committee Chairman Yasir 'Arafat was on board the ship headed for Syria. Although a PLO official told ANSA that 'Arafat himself left Beirut on 22 August aboard the ship bound for Tunisia, the clandestine Voice of Palestine radio said 'Arafat made an inspection tour in west Beirut on 25 August.

Beirut radio said Palestine Liberation Army forces affiliated with Syria are scheduled to begin the overland departure to Syria on 26 August, and the 3,500 men will arrive in Syria within 2 days. The radio affirmed that the Syrian command has decided to recall the 3,000 Syrian soldiers from Beirut during the last 3 days of August. Jerusalem radio announced that Israeli Defense Minister Ari'el Sharon and U.S. envoy Philip Habib have agreed to permit Syria to send trucks to Beirut to haul heavy Syrian equipment out of the city.

Further Reaction to Al-Jumayyil Election -- If Bashir al-Jumayyil signs a security or peace treaty with Israel in violation of the unanimous 1978 Baghdad summit resolutions, Syria will consider itself in a state of war with him, a Syrian military official declared in remarks reported by Monte Carlo radio. Regarding Al-Jumayyil's demand for the withdrawal of Syrian and Israeli forces from Lebanon, the official said Syria is prepared to withdraw all its forces within 24 hours of an Israeli evacuation. However, so long as a single Israeli soldier remains in Lebanon, the Syrians will stay there, he added.

Meanwhile, opposition to Al-Jumayyil's election as president mounted among both Christian and Muslim communities in northern Lebanon with both former President Sulayman Franjiyah and former Prime Minister Rashid Karami announcing they will refuse to cooperate with the new president, according to AFP. In Beirut, U.S. envoy Habib has asked former Prime Minister Sa'ib Salam to meet with Al-Jumayyil, affirming that the president-elect understands the need for a Christian-Muslim understanding, Beirut radio reported.

Stressing Saudi Arabia's "firm policy" of noninterference in Lebanon's affairs, a Saudi spokesman cited by SPA denied a UPI report that Al-Jumayyil owed his successful election to Saudi backing.

PLO Position -- In an interview in Jordan, reported by Amman radio, PLO Political Department head Faruq Qaddumi asserted that the PLO strategy of force will not change after the evacuation from Beirut and that armed struggle will continue so long as Israel occupies Lebanese territory. Qaddumi later met with King Husayn to discuss the invasion of Lebanon and Arab unity, Amman television reported.

Interviewed by Kuwait's AL-ANBA' in Damascus, PLO Executive Committee member Mahmud 'Abbas claimed the USSR has done everything the PLO requested in the military and political spheres. He criticized Libyan leader Col Mu'ammar al-Qadhdhafi for being in no position to give the Palestinians advice.

Meanwhile, the president of Yugoslavia invited PLO Chairman 'Arafat to visit Yugoslavia when it is convenient, Voice of Palestine radio reported.

Militiary Situation -- The Israelis and Syrians continued to reinforce their positions in the Al-Biqa' Valley, according to Voice of Lebanon radio. Nevertheless, some Israeli forces have withdrawn southward from Beirut toward Israel, ITIM reported. The Voice of Lebanon accused the remaining Palestinians and their allies in west Beirut of firing at the Al-Hadath area on the night of 24 August. The previous evening an Israeli corporal was shot dead by a sniper at the Galerie Sim'an crossing, IDF radio reported citing the IDF spokesman.

Inter-Arab Affairs

During brief visits to Damascus and Amman, Saudi Foreign Minister Prince Sa'ud al-Faysal discussed the forthcoming Arab conference with Syrian President Hafiz al-Asad and Jordanian King Husayn, according to Damascus radio and Amman television. Faysal said his visits were aimed at narrowing the gap among Arab viewpoints prior to the conference, the television noted. "Informed sources" in Saudi Arabia cited by Monte Carlo radio said President al-Asad will head the Syrian delegation to the Fes summit, which will request his government to withdraw its forces from Lebanon. A Syrian source cited by the radio confirmed that Syria will participate in the Arab foreign ministers preparatory conference starting 28 August, the radio also reported. A KUNA report says Foreign Minister 'Abd al-Halim Khaddam will attend the summit and Al-Asad will not.

Iran-Iraq War

Iraq bombed oil installations on Khark Island scoring "direct and effective" hits, an Iraqi military spokesman declared in a statement carried by Baghdad radio. He reiterated Iraq's warning to ships approaching Khark Island. In a speech to military commanders reported by Tehran radio, Iranian President 'Ali Khamene'i claimed that Iran is capable of making it impossible for the Iraqis to survive in the Persian Gulf.

Israel

As soon as all the "terrorists" have evacuated Beirut, Israel will ask Egypt to resume the Palestinian autonomy talks Prime Minister Menahem Begin told visiting U.S. congressmen in remarks reported by IDF radio. Prior to his departure for the United States, Defense Minister Sharon met with Palestinian village league leaders and restated Israel's call for Jordan to join the Camp David process, according to Jerusalem radio reports. The defense minister also asked Philip Habib to transmit another warning to the Syrians about cease-fire violations in Lebanon, the radio noted. Meanwhile, in remarks broadcast by the radio, Foreign Minister Yitzhaq Shamir described Syria's threat to declare war against Lebanon if it makes peace with Israel as "brutal and insolent."

Egypt

The interior minister issued a decree releasing 244 persons detained under the Emergency Law, MENA reported.

Libya

A Voice of Arab Homeland commentary called on revolutionary committees to prepare a "day of revenge" against treasonous Arab regimes. The commentary pointed out that Egypt so far has escaped revolutionary committee activity, which must be escalated in this important "front of confrontations."

PROTEST TO PRC OVER BORDER PACT WITH PAKISTAN

BK251356 Delhi General Overseas Service in English 1330 GMT 25 Aug 82

[Text] India has lodged a protest with China over the protocol signed with Pakistan on opening the Kunjerab Pass on the Karakoram highway in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir.

A spokesman of the Ministry of External Affairs, while replying to questions from newsmen, said that this was done orally when the Chinese ambassador in India called on Joint Secretary Ranjit Sethi in New Delhi today.

As reported earlier, India has also lodged a protest to Pakistan against the protocol on the opening of the Kunjerab Pass. India has also protested against the establishment of border post in that pass.

SPOKESMAN: NONALIGNED VENUE AWAITS CONSENSUS

BK251618 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1530 GMT 25 Aug 82

[Text] A spokesman of the External Affairs Ministry told newsmen in New Delhi today that India would start preparations for the nonaligned summit only after the consensus of the movement about the venue is reached. Replying to questions, he said India is prepared to host the summit and some preliminary thinking has already been done in the matter. He said intensive talks had already been held on the subject in New York recently. The Coordinating Bureau is expected to meet during this week or the next by which time the consensus is likely to emerge.

COMMERCE MINISTER SPEAKS ON TRADE WITH IRAN

BK260405 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0240 GMT 26 Aug 82

[Text] Commerce Minister Shiv Raj Patil has said in Dubayy that India's trade with Iran last year was in the region of 5 billion rupees but there was scope for further increase in two-way trade. Patil, who was speaking to newsmen during a brief stopover in Dubayy, identified tea, rice, sugar and vegetable oil as the commodities which have a ready market in Iran. Patil, who is leading a 17-member delegation to Iran, explored the ways to strengthen bilateral economic ties.

SANJAY GANDHI'S WIDOW TO FORM NEW POLITICAL PARTY

BK251155 Hong Kong AFP in English 1138 GMT 25 Aug 82

[Text] New Delhi, Aug 25 (AFP) -- Maneka Gandhi, widow of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's younger son Sanjay, today announced that her "Sanjay Vichar Manch" (Forum of Sanjay's Thoughts) group was shortly to be converted into a formal rival political party to the ruling Congress.

She also announced at a press conference here that two members of parliament belonging to the prime minister's party had decided to support her 4-month-old forum and sit as independents in the national legislature.

But neither of the MP's -- Kalpanath Sonkar and Ramnarayan Tripathi, both from Mrs Gandhi's home state of Uttar Pradesh -- were available for comment when contacted at home by phone.

The forum came into being shortly after Maneka abruptly quit her mother-in-law's official residence in March after a row with Mrs Gandhi.

The two were reported to have had a sharp exchange over Maneka's attendance at a public function organised by a youth faction supporting her late husband despite a strict directive by the ruling party high command, headed by Mrs Gandhi, against the rally.

Mrs Gandhi is the chairman of her party. Maneka, 25, has since been slowly but steadily working to build herself up into a political rival of her mother-in-law.

Maneka forecast other state legislators in Uttar Pradesh would switch to her forum from the Congress Party in the near future. She said a membership enrollment drive was already on and so far 85,000 members had been admitted in Uttar Pradesh.

This drive will conclude on October 15 when Maneka plans to announce the formation of a national party, its name and constitution.

Answering a question, she said "several factors" had led the two Congress Party MP's to come out in support of her forum. They were "very unhappy" with the working of the Congress Party and its "very centralized rule," and felt the party was unable to cope with the people's problems.

Maneka said she would be touring parts of Rajasthan, Uttar Pradesh and Punjab states in the coming weeks.

Amethi, the parliamentary constituency represented by her late husband and now Sanjay's elder brother and the only surviving son of Mrs Gandhi, Rajiv, would be one of the places she would visit, she said.

Maneka promised that the forum would intensify its activities before being formalised into a political party.

JOURNALISTS WILL STRIKE OVER 'ANTI-PRESS' BILL

BK251535 Hong Kong AFP in English 1443 GMT 25 Aug 82

[Text] New Delhi, Aug 25 (AFP) -- All newspapers and agencies in India are to observe a one-day nationwide strike on September 3 in protest against the "Anti-press" Bill passed recently by Bihar State Government, an action committee announced here today.

The joint action committee of various journalists, newspaper and news agencies employees organisations said the 24-hour strike would start at 0800 local.

The committee, noted with regret that the federal government of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi as well as the Bihar Government, also controlled by Mrs Gandhi's Congress Party, had not responded to the unanimous demand by newspaper organisations and others all over the country to withdraw the "obnoxious" Bihar bill.

The committee also called for the repeal of similar "anti-press" laws in Tamil Nadu, in the south, Jammu and Kashmir, in the north, both ruled by non-Congress regional parities and in Orissa, on the east coast, also ruled by Congress.

It appealed to those journalists and other press organisations, which had already announced they would strike, to defer their action till September 3. This would help synchronise joint action throughout the country on a single day.

The committee also warned the Bihar and other governments that their efforts "to frighten the press" and prevent it from reporting facts would be resisted.

The Bihar bill to deal with "scurrilous" writing in newspapers and periodicals, termed by mediamen a "black bill" and a "draconian law," empowered the government to arrest and imprison a journalist for two to three years with or without a fine.

INDIAN PROTEST OF KASHMIR-PRC PROTOCOL REJECTED

BK251730 Karachi Domestic Service in English 1700 GMT 25 Aug 82

[Text] A spokesman of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs said in Islamabad today that the Government of India has no business in international law for a protest against the agreement concluded by Pakistan and China on the 22d of this month for (?regulating) its civilian traffic through the Khunjerab Pass. He recalled tht in a reply to similar Indian protests in 1969 and 1978 regarding the Karakoram highway, the Government of Pakistan had also pointed out that the question of the Jammu and Kashmir remains to be resolved in accordance with the relevent resolutions of the United Nations. Also, under the Simla agreement, pending a final settlement of this question both sides maintained their respective recognized position.

KABUL REPORTEDLY TIGHTENS SECURITY FOR KARMAL

BK251428 Karachi Domestic Service in English 1005 GMT 25 Aug 82

[Text] Security measures for the protection of the head of Kabul regime, Babrak Karmal, have been further tightened after the latest developments in Afghanistan. He moves about in Kabul under strict security arrangements of the Soviet Army authorities. According to a report from Afghanistan, the tank force stationed at the presidential palaces (Ooyd) and (Qsere Sahil Sapoon) have been doubled and an additional tank force has been stationed outside the palaces as well.

Meanwhile, the decision of Babrak Karmal to take over direct control of the armed forces has created a rift in the army clique in Kabul and has multiplied the contradictions within the ruling party.

He hoped that this engine will contribute to the development of agriculture in Pakistan and will strengthen Pakistan-China friendship. [Excerpt] [Karachi DAWN in English 18 Aug 82 p 4]

MUSAVI DENOUNCES LEBANON'S PRESIDENT-ELECT

LD251236 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 25 Aug 82

[Excerpts] According to the Central News Unit the Cabinet held a session this morning chaired by Prime Minister Mir-Hoseyn Musavi. During this session, the latest events in the country and the political developments in the region were discussed and reviewed. Also during this session a number of (?urgent) proposals were discussed and referred to the relevant committees, which approved the following:

In accordance with Note 72 of the budget bill for 61 [21 March 82 - 20 March 83], the sum of 35 billion rials out of the contingency expenditure allocation was allocated as follows to cover the deficit in the current allowance for local executive apparata in the provinces so it can be spent in accordance with the criteria set in the 61 budget bill:

Twenty billion rials is to be distributed through the Ministry of Education and Training to its departments in the provinces.

Twelve billion rials is to be added to the current budget of regional health organizations and provincial welfare organizations.

Three billion rials is to be placed at the disposal of the planning and budget organization so that after careful appraisal of the deficit in the allowance of the other local executive apparata in the provinces it can be distributed among them.

After today's Cabinet session, in an interview with reporters concerning the Phalangists assuming power in Lebanon, Prime Minister Musavi said: The appointment of Bashir al-Jumayyil as president of Lebanon has been done by Israel and the United States. He is an imposed president and an ally of Zionism and imperialism. His aim is to destroy the Western [as heard] and Islamic trend of Lebanon. [Tehran IRNA in English at 1931 GMT on 25 August carries a shorter report on Musavi's remarks rendering the preceding phrase: "to destroy the Arabic as well as the Islamic identity of Lebanon"]

Concerning the forthcoming Arab summit, he said: At the time, the imam of the Islamic community, our government and nation opposed the Fahd plan, and at present we are against this conference and consider it an imperialist plan. Rumors that have started with the reconvening of that conference exposed the nature of the reactionary Arab countries who placed Lebanon in the hands of Zionist and imperialist butchers, and who did nothing. Now it is Bashir al-Jumayyil, the representative of the military wing of the Lebanese Phalangists, who has been imposed on the people of Lebanon as their president with the support of Zionism. We shall in the future witness how, with Israel's aid, he will slaughter the people of Lebanon and take steps to bring them under U.S. rule.

The prime minister pointed out in conclusion: It seems that the reactionary Arab countries are triumphant with the help the United States and Israel. But this is in fact a step toward burying them all in a deep hole.

FOREIGN MINISTRY OFFICIAL ON TRIP TO CUBA, L.A.

LD252132 Tehran IRNA in English 1956 GMT 25 Aug 82

[Text] Tehran, Aug 25, IRNA -- Deputy Foreign Minister Ahmad Azizi who had gone to Cuba, Nicaragua and Peru to clarify and outline the stands of the Islamic Republic of Iran vis-a-vis the Non-aligned Movement, the non-aligned summit conference and the foreign ministers' assembly, returned to Tehran this morning. Azizi, during his 14 day trip, met with the heads of the said countries and presented to them the message of President Khamene'i.

In his meeting with Cuban leader Fidel Castro, Azizi said that he thanked Cuba's response towards "the realistic wave" which had arisen among the non-aligned members concerning the future of the non-aligned summit meeting. He added that Cuba's invitation of the non-aligned foreign ministers to Havana was an appropriate measure.

The Foreign Ministry undersecretary said that he made it clear to the Cuban officials that the postponement of the Baghdad summit was not probable, despite predictions of some non-aligned nations that the Iraqi imposed war would end in a few months. He said that this was because the Islamic Republic combatants were continuing their efforts against Iraq, and there were no guarantees that such predictions would be realised.

Concerning relations with Nicaragua, Azizi said that in his meeting with Daniel Ortega, the head of Nicaragua's governing council, the two officials conferred on expanding relations between the Islamic Republic and Nicaragua. Azizi said that this country's foreign minister was given an invitation to visit the Islamic Republic of Iran.

Commenting on the position of the Islamic Republic's future relations with the new Lebanese Government, he said that the Islamic Republic would analyse and reconsider its relations with that country. Azizi also said that the obvious nature of the newly elected Lebanese president, Bashir al-Jumayyil, and his dependence on the U.S. and the Zionist regime would naturally bring the Islamic Republic into a new stage of relations with that country.

INDIAN COMMERCE DELEGATION MEETS WITH MINISTERS

Heavy Industries Minister

LD251224 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 25 Aug 82

[Excerpt] According to the Central News Unit, Indian Commerce Minister Shivraj Patil, who has come to Tehran for talks with officials on expanding trade and cooperations between the two countries, accompanied by members of his delegation, met with Heavy Industries Minister Behzad Nabavi and other officials of this ministry this morning. During this meeting the possibility of cooperation between the two countries in various fields of heavy industry was discussed. It was emphasized that during committee meetings between experts from the two countries, certain agreements should be reached within the framework of industrial cooperation between Iran and India.

During today's meeting between the Indian commerce minister and our country's heavy industries minister, it was also agreed that a delegation of Iranian experts should visit India in order to review the possibility of further joint cooperation between the two countries.

Mines, Transport Ministers

LD251900 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 25 Aug 82

[Excerpts] According to a Central News Unit Report, the Indian minister of commerce and his entourage, who are on a visit to Tehran for talks with our country's authorities on expanding trade and cooperation, this afternoon met and talked with Minister of Mines and Metals Mr Musavaian. During the meeting Mr Musavaian began by welcoming the Indian commerce minister and said: Your visit to our country is a step toward increasingly strengthening our friendly relations and we hope to have increasingly stronger relations with the Third World and nonaligned countries in order to be able to struggle against the superpowers with greater vigor.

He referred to the exchange of experts and technology between the two countries and said that we wish to utilize the experience garnered by Indian specialists and teach it to our Iranian brothers.

Then the Indian commerce minister, thanking Mr Musavian, said: We are pleased to come to Iran a few days after the visit by you and the esteemed speaker of the Islamic Consultative Assembly in order to take more effective steps toward strengthening the friendly ties between the two countries.

He then referred to the opportunities in industry and agriculture which the Indian Government could extend to Iran and, pertaining to the purchase of oil and other goods from Iran needed by India, he said. We will continue as before to purchase such goods.

The Indian commerce minister and his entourage and the Indian ambassador to Iran this afternoon also met and had talks with Mr Hadinezhad-Hoseyniyan, the minister of roads and transport. During the meeting, the minister of roads and transport began by welcoming the Indian delegation and referred to features of Iran's Islamic revolution and the expansion of the railways in Iran since the revolution, saying that the Indian Government could place its worthy assistance at Iran's disposal in this regard. He then referred to the issue of land, air and sea transportation, and the construction of ports and shipping and expressed pleasure at the progress made by the Iranian-Indian shipping company. In conclusion, the minister of roads and transport called for further cooperation between the two countries in various fields.

KHAMENE'I ADDRESSES AIR FORCE PERSONNEL

LD251746 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 25 Aug 82

[Text] According to a report by the Central News Unit, Colonel Mo'inpur, the commander of the air force, together with a group of commanders, deputy commanders and officers, this morning met with President Seyyed 'Ali Khamene'i.

At this meeting, the president, referring to the sensitivity of the fate of Islamic community said: With faith in the principles of the revolution we are building a road today which will be a factor in determining humanity's next move.

Referring to the expansionsm and hegemony of the big oppressive powers, Mr Khamene'i said: The present state of the world and the imposed equations and relations of hegemonic powers show that the interests of the superpowers in dominating countries are linked and coordinated as in today's disaster in Lebanon. A country which could be free and independent has been dominated in such a manner.

The president added: The main reason for the superpowers' incursions and their sinister domination over smaller countries is that people have forgotten about reliance on God, the most exalted, and do not believe in the forces of their own nations. Unfortunately today we are clearly witnessing an example of this in Lebanon's tragic incident.

Mr Khamene'i then added: Today we are able to bomb Iraqi cities but we shall not do that because we believe in beloved Islam. Anytime we wish we can set Iraq's industrial centers on fire and in the case of the continuation of the enemy's foul attacks we will do that. We are capable of turning the Persian Gulf into such a state that the enemy shall not be able to continue living.

In the continuation of his speech, the president greeted the clean souls of the martyrs of Islam and in particular the celebrated and martyred pilots of the Air Force of the Islamic Republic of Iran and said: Today you, the self-sacrificing and devoted brothers, through your military moves, have been able to determine the political lines of the region as well.

In conclusion Mr Khamene'i emphasized the necessity of preserving and strengthening faith and warned against internal conspiracies of the enemies of the Islamic Revolution aimed at creating discord among the people, and in particular among the combatants of Islam, and hoped that with the preservation of unity and integrity all the internal conspiracies, like the external attacks of the enemies of the Islamic revolution, would be foiled.

KHOMEYNI NAMES INTERIM REPRESENTATIVE TO GUARDS

LD260246 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 25 Aug 82

["Text" of decree issued on 25 August by Ayatollah Khomeyni]

[Text] In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. Hojjat ol-Eslam Mohammad Reza Faker, may your good work continue: Hojjat ol-Eslam Taheri is abroad, and in his absence you are appointed as my representative to take charge of all the tasks that had been assigned to him regarding the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps. You should follow up cultural and Islamic issues with ever greater zeal.

It is hoped, God willing, that you will be successful in this task. The various echelons of the corps, be they commanders or other personnel, must give you the necessary cooperation.

May peace and God's mercy be upon you.

KHOMEYNI REAPPOINTS INVESTIGATOR FOR KORDESTAN

LD241800 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 24 Aug 82

[Text] According to a Central News Unit report, Imam Khomeyni, leader of the Islamic revolution and founder of the Islamic Republic of Iran, issued a command reappointing Hojjat ol-Heslam Hajj Seyyed Musa Musavi to solve the religious and social problems in Kordestan. The text of the command is as follows:

In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful.

Your Excellency Hojjat ol-Eslam Hajj Seyyed Musa Musavi, may your good work continue:

Just as you were formerly commissioned to investigate and strive to solve the religious and social problems of the oppressed and meek population of Kordestan, you are hereby entrusted -- God Almighty willing -- to carry out the same mission with greater decisiveness and efforts. You are entrusted to carry out the necessary endeavors, armed with the special sagacity and expertise with which you are endowed, to put right the shortcomings in the region caused by the indifference or animosity of the former hateful regime toward the Kurdish people and the acts of destruction carried out by the misled, traitorous and destructive minigroups. To this end the government organs and institutions and the esteemed population of that region, may God Almighty help them, should give you the necessary cooperation.

I beseech Almighty God to grant Your Excellency success along this path. May peace and God's mercy and blessings be upon you.

JOINT COMMUNIQUE 1,027 ON MILITARY SUCCESSES

LD251754 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 25 Aug 82

[Communique No 1,027 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. The zealous combatants on the battlefronts of good against evil, armed with courage and selflessness coupled with worthy toughness, have inflicted telling losses on the enemy by their fighting on the forward lines of the operational zones in the southern parts of the country and by opening intense artillery and mortar fire on the enemy's positions during the past 24 hours. Thanks to heavy artillery fire by the intrepid men of the army on a number of enemy tanks and servicemen in the Basrah region, a group of Saddam's dupes were killed and their troop movements were decisively halted.

Exchange of fire between our naval servicemen and Saddam's agents on the opposite bank of the Arvand Rud [Shatt al-'Arab] continued, while our own forces enjoyed firepower superiority. As a result, three enemy bunkers and observation posts were destroyed and a number of Saddam's servicemen were annihilated.

Thanks to thunderous fire by our forces on the weapons and oil installations at Al-Faw, losses and damage were inflicted on enemy equipment. Artillery and mortar fire directed on Panjwin, Tawilah and [name indistinct] silenced enemy artillery. Five enemy vehicles were destroyed and a number of their servicemen were killed.

An exchange of sporadic fire continued throughout the fronts and the combatants of the Islamic army, while defending the positions entrusted to their care, are engaged in strengthening their fortifications and removing mines.

Enemy violations of the Islamic Republic's airspace were thwarted many times thanks to the opening of timely fire by our antiaircraft units and the skill of our air force pilots. The intruding Iraqi aircraft were forced to flee.

[Signed] The Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran

IRAQI FORCES STILL REMAIN ON IRANIAN TERRITORY

LD252146 Tehran IRNA in English 1945 GMT 25 Aug 82

[Text] Bakhtaran, Aug 25, IRNA -- The Naft Shah heights and its asphalt road, portions of (Naftuleh) valley, (Chofteh) valley, (Rash Shakh Bazinan), (Shavel) valley, and the passes of (Huvan), Pishgan, (Hama), (Aghdaq), (Zain al-Kosh), Naft Shah, (Kohnehrig), Sumar, and the heights No. 343, 363, (Konan Cham), (Bahgamabad), and Mehran, still remain in Iraqi occupation.

According to the commander of the 81st Armoured Division, these regions have not been evacuated by the Iraqi aggressors, despite claims made by Saddam Hussayn that Iraq had withdrawn all of its forces from Iranian territory.

He said that during the past three days the Iraqis had made a number of movements involving several points and had tried to concentrate and strengthen their troops. He added, however, these movements were repelled "to a large extent" by the fire of the Islamic forces.

The commander also said that a number of Iraqi air violations had been checked by the Iranian forces in the western region while mopping-up operations of Iraqi mine fields continued in regions formerly occupied by the enemy forces.

The border towns of Qasr-e Shirin and Naft Shah, completely flattened by the Iraqis, are still under the Iraqi artillery fire, he said.

Meanwhile, reports from the fronts here said that some five Iraqi vehicles and a number of their bunkers had been destroyed, and scores of enemy soldiers killed in the western fronts during the preceding 24 hours. Also, enemy movements were halted and their artillery activity was silenced by the effective fire of the Islamic combatants.

Battles between the two forces continue during this period with the exchange of light and heavy weapons fire in all western fronts.

'HYPOCRITES' KILLED, ARRESTED IN KHUZESTAN

LD260908 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 0430 GMT 26 Aug 82

[Text] The self-sacrificing guards of the Islamic revolution committees of Khuzestan either killed or arrested dozens of criminal mercenaries of the infernal hypocrites organization [Mojahedin-e Khalq] during a series of coordinated operations. Following the arrest of these hireling mercenaries of world arrogance, large quantities of arms and ammunition and some very important documents on the organization's internal works were seized by the guards of Islam. Several schemes of terror and explosion were thus foiled.

Some of these schemes are as follows: The plot to assassinate Colonel Sayyad-Shirazi, commander of the ground forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran; the plot to assassinate Mohsen Reza'i, commander of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps; the plot to assassinate Hojjat ol-Eslam Musavi-Jazayeri, imam's representative and the Friday imam of Ahvaz; the plot to assassinate petroleum minister Gharazi; the plot to assissinate the Shari'a judge for the Khuzestan Province; the plot to assassinate more than 200 members of the guards corps and the mobilization forces, who have gone to the southern parts of the country to take part in the war against the Saddamist infidel; the plot to assissinate the governor general of Khuzestan; the plot to assassinate several of the committed personnel of the armed forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran; the plot to blow up the library of the Islamic association of the 92d Armored Division in Khuzestan, and the plot to steal more than 300 Kalashnikovs.

The names of some of the annihilated and arrested leaders of the hypocrites are as follows:

1. ('Isa Khademi), alias Iraj, Reza and Hoseyn: leader of the organization in Khuzestan, main responsible figure for the organization's military and security system and founder of the special terrorist groups for assassination of the country's officials in Khuzestan.

2. (Mas'ud Bazargan), alias Abolqasem, Mansur Shahed and Hoseyn Akbari: in charge of the organization's financial and military matters and responsible for collecting ammunition in various cities. He was also in charge of preparing plots for assassinating state authorities and infiltrating military organs.

3. (Mohammad Haqiqat), alias Shahin and Arsalan: commander and designer of terror, reconnaissance and sabotage operations in Khuzestan Province. He was also in charge of several military teams.

4. (Hasan Safari), alias Sa'id and Ne'mat: organization official in Abadan.

5. ('Ali Mohavvaleh): official in charge of running the organization in Masjed Soleyman.

6. (Mohammad 'Ali Mohavvaleh), alias Hushan: a high ranking official of the organization.

7. (Simin Dehdashti), alias Sorayya: the girls' team leader.

8. (Ramazan Yahya'i), alias 'Abbas and Majid: active member of the military team.

9. (Ahmad Pakseresht): financial (?authority) and the person who manufactured ammunition and hand-operated weapons in Ahvaz.

10. (Mohammad Reza Nowruzi): official in charge of (?distributing) the organizations' arms and ammunition.

11. (Mohammad Za'im-Tanbaft-e Tabarai): member of the official labor cadre.

12. (Hamid Marvani): from the organization's training section.

13. (Reza Heydari), member of the military wing.

14. ('Abdorreza Mohavvaleh): organization member.

KHORRAMABAD GUARDS CRUSH PUYAN 'TERRORISTS'

GF252118 Tehran KEYHAN in Persian 2 Aug 82 p 15

[Text] According to a report by the public relation department of the Khorramabad Islamic Revolution Guard Corps, 8 members of the remaining terrorists of the Feda'iyan-e Khalq organization-minority, who operate under the name of Puyan, were arrested with the selfless help of the hezbollahi and 36-million strong intelligence organization. This group comprises the remaining terrorist elements of the Feda'iyan-e Khalq organization-minority who were carrying out counterrevolutionary activities under the name of Puyan and who were crushed by the Khorramabad brother guards sometime ago.

NVOI LAUDS PALESTINIAN RESISTANCE, USSR SUPPORT

[Unattributed commentary: "The Palestinian People's Struggle Continues"]

[Text] Dear compatriots: In connection with the Israeli Zionists' banditry aggression, which was committed with the overt support of world-devouring America and which was confronted by the courageous and selfless resistance of the Lebanese people and the Palestine liberation forces, realistic and informed observers rightly believe that in this battle of right against wrong the heroic Palestinian people and their armed forces emerged with honor from the test. The satanic plan of Israel and the United States to gain lightning victory, to bring the Palestinian strugglers to their knees and to destroy the Palestine liberation front was foiled.

Informed observers unanimously agree that if all Arab countries had acted decisively and selflessly, like the Palestinians, against the aggression of Israel and the United States, Israel would never have dared to act so impudently against the Arabs.

Yes, another stage of the Arabs' battle, particularly of the Palestinian people, for freedom, independence, territorial integrity and for gaining their rights has come to an end. The Israeli aggressors and their U.S. supporters should be now be aware that aggression and the imposition of war cannot achieve their desired aims for a long time. On the other hand, the brave resistance of the Palestinian fighters and the patriotic inhabitants of Beirut was also a warning to all Arab governments that only through resistance, alliance and unity can the Arab lands be cleansed of the filthy presence of the Israeli aggressors and their U.S. supporters, and the aggressor be put in his place.

As we are aware, after 2 months of unparalleled resistance, after months of enduring great deprivation, the PLO decided to withdraw its armed forces from Beirut. The withdrawal of the Palestine liberation forces from Beirut is by no means an indication of their military defeat or their unconditional surrender to the Israeli criminals, rather it was because of a sense of responsibility toward the fate of the civilian Lebanese and Palestinian people, who bade farewell to the Palestinian fighters in an unprecedented manner.

The Palestinian fighters proudly and with only the Palestinian flag -- not a white flag -- in their hands and with their personal weapons are leaving Lebanese soil in an orderly manner, and this itself is another example of the political and moral defeat of Israel and its U.S. supporter in the international arena.

The Palestinian problem does not end with the evacuation of the Palestinian fighters from Lebanese territory, but rather the struggle to achieve the indisputable right of the Palestinian people to form a Palestinian government in their tragic-stricken land enters a new phase. The ultimate aim of the Israeli aggressors, who by launching a savage attack on Lebanon had wanted to crush the will of the Palestinian people and to settle the Palestinian issue, was defeated. The selflessness, sacrifice and heroism of the Palestinian fighters, which have been lauded by all the world's people, once again prove the just cause of these tragic-stricken and struggling people who are becoming more tempered in the just struggle. Lebanon's bloody events and the savage aggression of Israel and the United States against the independent country of Lebanon have once more shown to the people of the world, and first and foremost to all the Arab countries, who are the true friends and who are the enemies of the Arab nations and their national rights. World-devouring America again showed to all the world's people its true face as the foe of freedom and independence of nations, including the Arab nations. The United States is exploiting the calamities and tragedies inflicted on the Lebanese and Palestinian people merely for the benefit of implementing its satanic plans to establish and escalate its military presence in the region; and this bitter reality is being observed by the world's people.

Amid these difficult days for the Lebanese and Palestinian people in which the Arab regimes are sitting with their arms folded, and in which many of the Arab states did not want to take any step to prevent the banditry and crimes of the Israeli Zionists being committed with the approval of world-devouring America, it was only the socialist government of the Soviet Union which rose in support of the Lebanese people and the Palestinian fighters, whether politically in international assemblies or on the battlefield from the financial, armament and moral aspects. This reality is being observed by the world's people as well.

Abu Mayzar, member of the PLO Executive Committee, has said: The Soviet Union was and remains the true friend of the Arabs. The Soviet Union has rendered and continues to render moral and financial assistance to the PLO and the Palestinian people in their just struggle against imperialism and Zionism.

In connection with the Soviet Union's policy toward the Arabs, the foreign minister of Kuwait has said: We place great value on the Soviet Union's political and military assistance and to that government's stance toward the Lebanese crisis, although we did not and do not expect the Soviet Union to fight instead of us in this battle.

It is worthwhile for some of our domestic commentators, who sometimes pretend to be more Catholic than the pope, to listen to these statements by the representatives of the Palestinian people and the realistic officials of Arab countries.

FREE VOICE OF IRAN DENOUNCES RETRIBUTION BILL

GF252103 (Clandestine) Free Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1500 GMT 25 Aug 82

[Excerpts] Countrymen, the anti-Iranian and anti-Islamic regime of Khomeyni, by making use of the time it has gained, is pushing its creeping attack against the system of rights, legal and human, of the Iranian nation nearer to its final objective.

The anti-Islamic and antidemocratic regime of Khomeyni is seeking to introduce its basic antihuman and antijustice code phase by phase. One of these phases is the so-called law of retribution which was initiated long ago, but because of the growing opposition, it was never adopted.

The Khomeyni regime, through its plots and machinations, has already ousted the legal practitioners from playing their role in the system of justice. Now that many legally-trained persons and advocates are living in shackles in the black pits, or have been handed over to executioners. The black and evil shadow of the Khomeyni regime is spreading over the major judicial institutions of Iran. Now there is a plan to introduce a bill of retribution that will patently put an end to all human rights, obliterate all the achievements and progress of human society and bury the good Iranian society. This bill is being quickly propelled towards its imposition.

The retribution bill, according to common understanding, amounts to a return to rules and regulations giving absolute power to the ruler to punish members of the Iranian society and a return to the days and times when there was no recognition of human rights. Since the Khomeyni regime puts no value on humans and humanity, it is natural that it puts no value on human rights. This regime has repeatedly shown its antagonism toward individual and collective human rights. The idea of human rights, the idea of individual and collective responsibilities, the protection of the right to a defense, the idea of recognition of human beings as members of society, who have the right to life, defense of freedom of conscience, is fully (?negated) in the retribution bill. In fact, any law on retribution must automatically incorporate the idea that every judicial court should act on the basis of legal rules when dispensing justice. However, today, as in the past 3 years, there has been no trace of appeal, revision or a just trial under this murderous regime.

Because the coterie of mullahs and the (?ruling group) has issued countless orders of torture, murder and long prison terms for thousands of innocent sons of our country, the criminal Khomeyni regime seeks to cloth these inhuman crimes in the sanctity of the law by introducing and imposing the retribution law.

It is the duty of all national fighters and defenders of human rights to work harder than ever to expose and condemn the antihuman plots and designs of the anti-Islamic regime of Khomeyni. It is rightly believed that this criminal and usurping regime would not dare to implement its antihuman plans as long as the antihuman laws of the ruling regime have no value in the eyes of the Iranian nation.

NVOI ATTACKS QOTBZADEH, JALALEDDIN FARSI

TA241944 (Clandestine) National Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1730 GMT 24 Aug 82

[unattributed commentary: "Qotbzadeh's Trial Has Uncovered The Mask"]

[Summary] Qotbzadeh's investigation and trial and that of some of his accomplices has once again revealed that U.S. imperialism is striving by any means to overthrow the Islamic Republic's system and to place Iran once more under its domination.

With the discovery of the plot and arrest of Qotbzadeh and his treacherous associates another one of U.S. imperialism's plots against our liberated homeland was foiled. However, can one claim that with the neutralization of this imperialist plot world-devouring America has desisted from hostility and enmity toward the revolution and the Islamic Republic of Iran? Definitely not. Under the current conditions, and amid conditions in which Qotbzadeh's American plot and the plots of the United States have been uncovered one after the other, some elements are exerting enormous efforts to have America negated somehow.

For example, Jalaleddin Farsi, who by concealing his origin even deceived officials of the Islamic Republic and was able to become a candidate for the presidency of Iran, is as hostile to the Iranian revolution's popular and anti-imperialist goals as the United States. This gentleman, who is a friend of the Afghan counterrevolutionaries, has exerted every effort to create enemies for Iran, to negate America and to justify the crimes of the Zionist and aggressor Israel; and unfortunately there is no one to ask him: Other than creating enemies for Iran, what is your duty in this country? Without a doubt the time will come when such elements, who are the implementors of America's plan and directive, will also be disgraced. Certainly in revolutionary and liberated Iran there can be no place for such individuals. Qotbzadeh's trial revealed many secrets, and the people expect the revolution court to issue a verdict befitting the traitors and enemies of the revolution. The people also expect that decisive and revolutionary action be taken with respect to those who have concealed their true face under the mask of Islam and who are treading the same path taken by the Bani-Sadrs and the Qotbzadehs.

MOJAHEDIN DESTROY IRANIAN REGIME'S TRANSMITTERS

GF231825 (Clandestine) Free Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1500 GMT 23 Aug 82

[Text] According to our Paris correspondent, the offices of the Mojahedin-e Khalq organization [MKO] announced that in a series of operations carried out in the past few days, the MKO destroyed several transmitters in Lavizan garrison used for jamming radio broadcasts. Lavizan garrison is one of the three bases jamming the MKO radio, Seday-e Mojahed.

The organizatin also announced that in clashes occuring 2 weeks ago, an elderly lady, Ehtram Sadat Zahrian, aged 60, and a 4-month-old infant, (Sahif), were arrested by Khomeyni's guards. No report on their condition has been issued.

IRAQI GROUP WARNS NONALIGNED ABOUT IRAQ MEETING

LD232124 Tehran IRNA in English 1649 GMT 23 Aug 82

[Text] Tehran, Aug. 23, IRNA -- In a statement released here today the Political Bureau of the Iraqi mujahideen warned foreign ministers of the Non-aligned Movement against holding their conference in Baghdad. The statement condemned efforts of world imperialism to save the Iraqi president, Saddam Husayn, from downfall and stressed that Saddam Husayn was not the representative of the Muslim and deprived people of Iraq.

It said because of having violated the principles of the Non-Aligned Movement and having committed acts of aggression against the Islamic Republic of Iran, the Iraqi Government did not any more qualify as a member of the movement, let alone host the foreign ministers summit of the movement. The Iraqi mujahideen have claimed responsibility for a [word indistinct] bomb explosion in the Interior Ministry of Iraq about two weeks ago.

In their statement the Iraqi mujahideen stressed that they would continue their activities until the fall of Saddam Husayn. Measures of the group in the near future, added the statement, would prove this (?ultimatum).

30 AUGUST 1982

Lebanon

'Arafat Departure -- PLO Executive Committee Chairman Yasir 'Arafat left Beirut on 30 August after a farewell meeting with Lebanese Prime Minister Shafiq al-Wazzan, Beirut radio announced. According to AFP, 'Arafat sent a message to his "brothers" in Lebanon expressing respect for their "heroism." Citing a WAFA report, AFP said 'Arafat warned that the "earth will shake in several places" as a result of the Lebanese war, and that the PLO had left Beirut only because it was asked to do so by the Lebanese Government.

Meanwhile, the Greek paper TO VIMA claimed that 'Arafat will arrive in Athens on 1 or 2 September before going to Tunis.

Evacuation Process -- The evacuation of Palestinian fighters continued over the weekend on land and sea routes. On 27 August, Jerusalem radio said that over 1,300 "terrorists" had left Beirut on the Beirut-Damascus highway and 760 by ship for the Syrian port of Tartus. Beirut radio asserted that the land evacuation that day of the Hittin Brigade of Palestine Liberation Army fighters was a complete success, although an earlier report by the radio noted that one soldier and one fighter were hit by stray bullets. On 28 August the radio revealed that about 700 fighters had left by ship for Tartus.

Another group of Palestine Liberation Army fighters, numbering about 1,300, took the overland route to Syria on 29 August, Voice of Lebanon radio declared; Beirut radio added that over 500 fighters left that day by ship for Syria led by Deputy Commander in Chief of PLO Forces Khalil al-Wazir.

Early on 30 August the first group of Syrian soldiers completed its evacuation from the Beirut area, Voice of Lebanon radio reported. Sources cited by the radio estimated that over 1,200 Syrians left with over 300 vehicles and heavy military equipment.

According to a senior IDF officer cited by Jerusalem radio on 29 August, of the 13,300 "terrorists" and Syrian soldiers originally in Beirut, some 2,000 "terrorists" remain there. The officer said that the fighters' weapons so far handed over to the Lebanese Army are "junk."

VOP Radio Station -- The clandestine Voice of Palestine radio remained unheard over the weekend; Jerusalem radio explained that the station had ended its broadcasts on 27 August in accordance with the agreement on the PLO's departure from Beirut.

Israel's Eytan Comments -- Israel Chief of Staff Lt Gen Refa'el Eytan stressed that Israel does not intend to "conquer" northern Lebanon, according to Jerusalem radio reports. Eytan also reportedly told military correspondents that negotiations on the Syrian withdrawal from Lebanon will be prolonged and that members of the leftist Independent Nasirite Movement, Al-Murabitun, must leave west Beirut.

Beirut Security Situation -- The Lebanese Army continued to take over positions in Beirut and the southern suburbs, Beirut radio reported. Meanwhile, Voice of Lebanon radio said clashes had occurred between PLO supporters and the Al-Murabitun, which later turned into an attack on Lebanese Army forces. Monte Carlo radio had reported that the leader of the Al-Murabitun pledged support for the Lebanese security forces. Beirut International Airport will open to civilian traffic on 1 September, Voice of Lebanon noted.

Political Situation -- Bashir al-Jumayyil will announce the closure of all illegal bodies and will dissolve all militias when he assumes the role of Lebanese president, sources cited by Beirut radio revealed. Meanwhile, a meeting of the Popular Conference of Nationalist Forces in Al-Biqa' announced that the election of Al-Jumayyil threatens Lebanon with "division and dismemberment" and that support must be given to Lebanese nationalists, Syria and the PLO, Damascus radio reported. According to Voice of Lebanon radio, the chairman of the Higher Islamic Shi'ite Council announced after a council meeting that he opposed any peace treaty with Israel and that Israeli forces must leave Lebanon.

In a meeting with Syrian President Hafiz al-Asad, former Lebanese Prime Minister Rashid Karami criticized the current attempt to establish an "agent" government in Lebanon, Damascus television reported. Al-Asad stressed that Syria will always support Muslims, nationalists and Christians who stand firmly against the Israelis.

PLO Positions -- On his arrival in Syria on 28 August, PFLP Secretary General George Habash asserted that the Lebanon war had proven the military cohesion among Palestinians, Lebanese nationalists and Syrians, Damascus radio reported. Habash underscored that the "treason" of "most" Arab regimes would be dealt with by the Arab masses. Meanwhile, a spokesman for the Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine told ANSA that the PLO will regroup fighters from Tunisia, Sudan and the YAR in Syria to resume activities against Israel.

Israel

Sharon Meets U.S. Officials -- Israeli Defense Minister Ari'el Sharon met with U.S. Secretary of State George Shultz and Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger in Washington on 27 August, Jerusalem radio reported. After the meetings Sharon told the radio that despite "differences" of opinion between the United States and Israel, the friendship still remains. He stressed that the IDF will leave Lebanon only after Syrian and other foreign forces leave the country. In remarks carried by Jerusalem television, Sharon underscored that there will be no deviation from the Camp David accords regarding the autonomy plan and that no "second Palestinian state" can be established in Judaea, Samaria and Gaza.

Cabinet Session; Begin, Shamir Remarks -- After a 29 August Cabinet meeting, Cabinet Secretary Dan Meridor announced over Jerusalem radio that the Cabinet will hold a discussion next week to review Operation Peace for Galilee. According to the radio, Prime Minister Menahem Begin will meet with Secretary of Defense Weinberger on 1 September.

Begin emphasized at the Cabinet meeting that the Camp David agreement should be implemented to the letter and it is "unthinkable" for a signed agreement to be amended, IDF radio reported. On Egypt's conditions for resuming the autonomy talks, Begin stressed that these conditions were already rejected by both himself and former President Jimmy Carter.

Meanwhile, Foreign Minister Yitzhaq Shamir said Israel is "anxious" to resume the autonomy talks and he hopes Jordan will soon participate. In remarks made at the 68th Hadassah conference reported by THE JERUSALEM POST, Shamir called on all governments to close down PLO offices in their capitals and urged the USSR to conclude that its plans in Lebanon had failed and that it should change its policy regarding Israel accordingly.

Egypt

A Cairo radio commentary made it clear that recent U.S. interpretations of the Camp David accords and UN Resolution 242 which call for a partial Israeli withdrawal from the West Bank and Gaza are still inadequate. The commentary reaffirmed that Israel must withdraw from Lebanon before autonomy talks can resume and that what is happening in Lebanon could deal a "decisive blow" to Camp David. Egypt calls for a clear U.S. position, the commentary asserted, adding that the PLO gained an "undeniable political victory" in Lebanon by proving it can negotiate.

Arab Conferences

Foreign Ministers Meeting -- King Hassan II of Morocco opened the Arab foreign ministers meeting in Casablanca on 28 August with a speech carried by Rabat radio. Hassan expressed dismay over the "high price" the Arabs had to pay for the split in Arab ranks. He said that since this conference, the ministers must only address issues on which there is an Arab consensus, and avoid "hot subjects." He went on to say that the Palestinian issue does not come under this category as it is a universal issue. Hassan warned that if the Arab League fails to emerge from this conference with results restoring its honor, then the Arab League will have undermined itself.

Speaking to the conference on 29 August, Arab League Secretary General Chedli Klibi praised the atmosphere of the meeting and noted that only Libya was absent, the radio reported. He urged that a unified stand be taken against the Israeli presence in Lebanon and called for pan-Arab action to explain the merits of the Arab cause. According to Algiers radio, he also said that measures must be adopted to urge the United States to stop supporting Israel.

Tunisian Foreign Minister Beji Caid es-Sebsi presented the Tunisian plan for settling the Palestinian problem, Tunis radio reported. He urged all sides to adopt UN General Assembly Resolution 181 as a basis for solving the problem.

An official Libyan source cited by Tripoli Voice of Arab Homeland explained that Libya boycotted the conference because it does not serve the Arab cause and is a U.S., Israeli and Arab reactionist "conspiracy."

'Arafat to Fes Summit -- PLO Political Department Head Faruq Qaddumi announced that PLO Chairman 'Arafat will attend the 6 September Fes Arab summit, Rabat radio reported. The radio noted that Qaddumi arrived in Morocco on 28 August.

In a message to U.S. President Ronald Reagan carried by MAP, King Hassan II asked the United States on behalf of Arab leaders to guarantee the safe passage of PLO Chairman 'Arafat to Morocco. Tripoli radio said an official Libyan source condemned this "humiliating" personal message and asserted that the king had no authority to address such a message.

Iran-Iraq War

An Iranian Armed Forces communique carried by Tehran radio claimed that firing across the Shatt al-'Arab resulted in 30 Iraqis killed and 50 wounded. According to an IRNA report cited by the radio, Iran shelled the Banmil oil installations in Iraq. An Iraqi military communique carried by Baghdad radio reported that Iraqi planes overflew Tehran and Qom to emphasize their capability. On 30 August, an Iraqi military spokesman cited by INA announced that Iraqi planes again hit Khark Island oil installations.

Iran

Trial of Qotbzadeh Accomplices — IRNA reported that the trial of four members of former Foreign Minister Sadeq Qotbzadeh's group began on 28 August.

Hajj Supervisor Speaks -- Addressing a meeting in Tehran, Pilgrim Affairs Supervisor Musavi Kho'ini ridiculed "certain dogmatic misconceptions" about the pilgrimage to Mecca and emphasized that political issues should be raised and discussed during the hajj ceremonies, IRNA reported.

AFP: REFUGEES REJECT KARMAL APPEAL TO RETURN

BK271218 Hong Kong AFP in English 0835 GMT 27 Aug 82

[Text] Peshawar, Pakistan, Aug 27 (AFP) -- Afghan refugee leaders here say the more than two million Afghans who fled to Pakistan following the Soviet military intervention in their country will reject President Babrak Karmal's appeal Tuesday urging them to return home.

They denounced the Afghan leader's appeal as a "desperate move to deceive his countrymen who fled religious persecution" after the Soviets moved into Afghanistan in December 1979.

The circumstances that compelled the large-scale exodus have "not changed", the refugee leaders said, stressing that they would not go home until the Soviets withdraw.

Mr Karmal charged that "false propaganda by the Western imperialist forces" prompted the widespread flight of laborers, workers and intellectuals, and he invited them back to join the ruling communist party's national development program.

According to Afghan sources, more than four million people have fled the country since the December intervention. Official estimates say 2.7 million are living in Pakistan. Only 4,000 Turkish-origin Afghans have opted for Turkey, the sources said.

One of the refugee leaders is Sayyed Ahmad Gailani, head of the National Islamic Front of Afghanistan, who claims that 50 percent of Afghan nationals are his followers.

"We are mujahidin and not refugees so long as the Soviet Army remains in Afghanistan," his spokesman siad, adding that any return home was impossible "until the Soviet troops withdraw".

He charged that Mr Karmal's offer was insincere and orchestrated by the Soviet secret service. He also dismissed his assertions that refugee leaders were living in luxury abroad.

The spokesman said "none of us was without assets," but added that everything had been sacrificed to launch a religious movement against the Soviet-backed regime in Kabul in order to restore what he called the Islamic character of Afghanistan.

Several rebel organisations based in Peshawar echoed his views. A spokesman for the newly-formed five-party Alliance of Afghan Mujahidin, Ayub Sharaft, said that the Afghan people preferred their deserts to the tent villages in Pakistan but would not return until a "total Soviet pull-out".

"The Afghan nation will continue its jihad (holy war) for the establishment of a truly Islamic state in their country," he said, adding that Mr Karmal's appeal followed "intensified guerrilla attacks that have now reached the vicinity of his palace".

Mr Sharaft criticized Mr Karmal as a "puppet" whose appeal was "meaningless". He said Afghans "would never tolerate a communist regime imposed by the Soviet Union" and said Mr Karmal should ask Moscow to withdraw its troops.

The Government of Pakistan, meanwhile, has repeatedly said it is not holding the Afghan refugees but offering them "asylum on humanitarian grounds". The Afghans "are free to leave when they find the conditions conducive for their return," officials in Islamabad said.

AFP: RED CROSS ALLOWED TO VISIT AFGHAN PRISON

NC272142 Paris AFP in in English 2115 GMT 27 Aug 82

[Text] Geneva, Aug 27 (AFP) -- The Afghan Government has authorized a Red Cross delegation to meet with inmates in Kabul's Pol-e Charki prison and undertake humanitarian assistance on their behalf, the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) said today.

The four-member delegation, which includes a physician, inspected detention areas in the prison last Tuesday, said the ICRC, adding that they would be allowed to speak freely and privately with the prisoners in a subsequent visit.

The delegation, in Kabul since August 14, has already visited three hospitals in Kabul, and is scheduled to go to others, the ICRC said.

GANDHI RETURNS FROM MOZAMBIQUE, MAURITIUS

BK280725 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0240 GMT 28 Aug 82

[Text] The prime minister has said that her visit to Mauritius and Mozambique has helped in further strengthening our relations with the two countries. Speaking to newsmen on her arrival at Delhi airport late last night, Mrs Gandhi said that her 5-day visit was intended to renew the personal contacts with leaders and people of Mozambique and Mauritius. She pointed that there was a new government in Mauritius and she wanted to get better acquainted with the leadership there. Relations between the two countries had been close in the past and they will remain so in future too.

Recalling India's bonds of friendship with Mozambique, the prime minister said we had extended full support to the people of that country during their liberation struggle. Mrs Gandhi said that she had talks with the leaders of the two countries on matters of mutual interest, including economic relations. The prime minister reaffirmed India's policy of not getting involved in any military grouping.

At the airport, the prime minister was received by External Affairs Minister Narasimha Rao, Defense Minister Venkataraman, Rajiv Gandhi and others.

The prime minister spoke to the journalists who accompanied on her visit aboard the Air India Boeing 707 on her return journey. Mrs Gandhi said that her visit was more to make personal contacts and get to know each other better. The visit went well. On bilateral economic cooperation, the prime minister remarked that we ourselves are in a tight position; we cannot do much. However, we have helped our friends and neighbors to the extent possible.

On measures relating to South Africa and Diego Garcia, Mrs Gandhi said there was unanimity of approach. There was nothing to argue about it or new about it. Our talks basically related to economic aspects. Of course, on matters of security they did not put forth their difficulties. In Mauritius they are trying to work together. Prime Minister Jugnauth is a young and dynamic leader who wants to bring about a change. We wish them well, she added.

Referring to the line of credit being given to Mozambique and Mauritius, the prime minister said that we are helping them to strengthen their economies.

On the role of Indian community in Mauritius and Mozambique, the prime minister said that it has been very positive. I had always advised the Indians long before independence that they must make (?cause) with the local inhabitants and that is the only way to sort out problems.

On her way back home from Maputo, Mozambique, the prime minister made a brief stopover at Plaisance Airport. She was received there by Mauritius Prime Minister Jugnauth and five of his colleagues. Speaking to Mauritius TV, Mrs Gandhi said that the South-South dialogue is essential in the context of the current economic situation and the need for development. Regarding the nonaligned summit, she said there was no decision yet where it is being held. But the Nonaligned Movement is very relevant for reducing tension.

Replying to a question on new information order, Mrs Gandhi said our idea is not to play up governmental news but we certainly want that news from the developing countries of Asia, Africa and South America should find more place in the mass media.

On the situation in West Asia and Indian Ocean, Mrs Gandhi said we are trying to promote an atmosphere of settling disputes through negotiations. Moreover, the peace movement is gaining ground throughout the world, which is a good sign, she added.

[Text] Japanese Foreign Minister Yoshio Sakurauchi has arrived in New Delhi on a 4-day official visit. His program includes the meeting with External Affairs Minister Narasimha Rao. Sakurauchi will also call on Prime Minister Mrs Gandhi.

At the airport, the Japanese foreign minister was received by Narasimha Rao. Sakurauchi is leading a 15-member delegation. Talking to newsmen at the airport, Sakurauchi said that he is carrying a message from Japanese Prime Minister Suzuki for Mrs. Gandhi.

Agreement on Aid

BK281652 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1530 GMT 28 Aug 82

[Excerpts] The Japanese foreign minister signed an agreement with Finance Minister Pranab Mukherjee extending concessional loans and aid over 1.26 billion rupees. The loans are part of the contribution which India [as heard] has committed to the Aid India consortium.

Later, Sakurauchi called on President Zail Singh and Vice President Hidayatullah.

Meeting With Rao

BK281650 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1530 GMT 28 Aug 82

[Text] Visiting Japanese Foreign Minister Yoshio Sakurauchi had wide-ranging talks with External Affairs Minister Narasimha Rao in New Delhi today. The two leaders exchanged their perceptions on important world issues. They reiterated their commitment to consolidate bilateral relations and to evolve for Asia and the world a specific Asian personality, outlook and ethos.

Narasimha Rao briefed his counterpart on India's views on the situation in West Asia, Iran-Iraq conflict, the coming nonaligned summit and its relations with Pakistan and China.

Sakurauchi conveyed his country's respect for India's stand in international affairs. He also gave his assessment of the special General Assembly session on disarmament and stressed the need for launching of global negotiations.

The two leaders took note of a number of ideas drawn up at a seminar in Tokyo recently on the prospects of bilateral cooperation and collaboration in third countries.

At a special convocation, the Delhi university today conferred an honorary degree of doctor of law on the Japanese foreign minister. The degree was presented by Vice President and chancellor of the university Hidayatullah.

Banquet Toasts

BK290642 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0240 GMT 29 Aug 82

[Text] India and Japan have reaffirmed their determination to strengthen bonds of friendship between them. The two countries would also work jointly to promote peace and stability in Asia and other parts of the world. Speaking at a dinner hosted in honor of the visiting Japanese foreign minister, Yoshio Sakurauchi, in New Delhi last night, External Affairs Minister Narasimha Rao said while our basic interests lie in an environment of tranquillity and stability, we cannot notice without anguish events taking place close to us.

Replying to the toast, the Japanese foreign minister said India's attention has been closedly directed to neighboring Asian nations and the superpower involvement in the area. India, as a major country, should now look toward East Asia. Japan had also come to feel strongly the necessity of expanding the scope of its diplomatic endeavors to fully cover the whole of Asia. He assured Rao that his country would do its best to promote political dialogue, economic relations and cooperation with India. He said both India and Japan have rediscovered each other and now about to enter into a new phase of bilateral relations.

Narasimha Rao told the foreign dignitary that India welcomes and appreciates Japanese participation in its efforts for economic development. Opportunities for more extensive cooperation between the two countries are increasing.

Sakurauchi Speech to Businessmen

BK300339 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0240 GMT 30 Aug 82

[Text] Visiting Japanese Foreign Minister Sakurauchi has called for increased consultations at the political level between India and Japan for promotion of the international understanding and peace. Speaking at dinner given in his honor by the Federation of Indian Chambers of Commerce and Industry in New Delhi last night, Sakurauchi said Indo-Japanese relations are now entering a new era. He was sure that his talks with the external affairs minister would prove very meaningful.

The Japanese foreign minister said the promotion of economic exchanges in the private sector is also an important key to prosperity. The Indo-Japanese business committee is studying a proposal to expand the trade between the two countries from the present level of $2 billion to $5 billion in the coming years.

Referring to Japan's relations with South Asian countries, Sakurauchi said some desirable developments are taking place. He also said his country has taken note of the efforts made by India to improve its relations with both Pakistan and China.

Press Release

BK301012 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0830 GMT 30 Aug 82

[Text] India and Japan have expressed confidence that the economic and business environment in each country holds out the promise of enhanced bilateral cooperation. A joint press release issued today at the end of Japanese Foreign Minister Sakurauchi's 4-day visit also noted with satisfaction the developments in the Indian-Japanese economic relations. The press release said that both countries have agreed to work for international peace and security and regional stability. These emerged during the wide-ranging exchange of views that the visiting Japanese foreign minister had with Prime Minister Mrs Gandhi and External Affairs Minister Narasimha Rao on international and regional issue. It has been agreed that the fifth consultative meeting of the foreign ministers of both the countries would be held in Tokyo at a date to be fixed later.

Sakurauchi has since left New Delhi for Lahore. He also called on the prime minister this morning.

KHOMEYNI URGES CABINET TO PROTECT ISLAMIC VALUES

LD291616 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 29 Aug 82

[Speech by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeyni at 29 August meeting with Cabinet -- place not given -- recorded, duration 35 minutes]

[Excerpts] In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful, I would like to raise a few points. I do not intend to criticize or praise the government. What I will be saying is a fact, a point which you ought to bear in mind. One of Almighty God's blessings on the Islamic Republic is the fact that the authorities -- those serving in the Majlis, those serving in the government and those who are in the army -- do not belong to the affluent class. They do not belong to the class whose only objective is to provide itself with facilities, to serve itself.

The natural condition of a government not belonging to the affluent class, belonging to the people, is to be with the people, to serve them and not to value position and standing. As you see, in the Islamic Republic the (?old) standards do not apply any more. Its president, its prime minister and its other ministers attach no value to their positions or posts. They do not claim to be of aristocratic or chosen class. They believe that their true value is to serve society, to serve. They do not attach any value to being rulers. [passage indistinct]

The reason I am making this point is not to praise you, for I am (?apprehensive) about praising you. I am raising this point so that you may learn this lesson: As long as this situation prevails, the government will remain in power, the Islamic government will prevail. As long as the government, the Majlis, the army and its commanders maintain this situation you see prevailing, then you should not fear any harm coming to the Islamic Republic.

You should be fearful of yourselves. You must be afraid lest, God forbid, a different path from that of Islam, a different road is chosen, lest your attention is distracted from the status quo. You must be afraid of losing your popularity. [sentence indistinct] Should this happen, foreigners will play upon your avarice. They know how to corrupt a country; they realize that it is through the government, the cabinet, the Majlis and so forth that they can achieve their objectives. [sentence industinct] They managed to achieve their objective in Afghanistan; as you know, the government in Afghanistan is with them.

I say again to you gentlemen: Take care not to be fascinated by your position. Man's true value does not depend on his standing. It has no relevance to being a prime minister, a president or (?army commander). The true value of a man is judged by what he ought to do for Almighty God and His creatures. The true value of man is assessed by his duty before God and His creatures. As long as you protect this value you will also have protected your Islamic value.

May God protect you all, assist you in fulfilling your tasks. As for the government ministries, they must become Islamicized. Should they, God forbid, contain any people who are deviated, they should be counseled. There is no need for every deviated person to be [word indistinct]. God bless you all.

TEHRAN EXAMINES U.S. DELEGATION'S VISIT TO IRAQ

LD281244 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 28 Aug 82

[Text] At the same time as a high-ranking delegation from the U.S. House of Representatives visited Iraq and held many meetings with the rulers of Baghdad's Ba'thist-Zionist regime, the United States announced its satisfaction with the cooperation of Baghdad's regime in implementing the scheme for scattering the Palestinian combatants from Lebanon, and in implementing the Camp David and Fahd schemes.

The next phase of Washington's future efforts to confront the Islamic revolution and prepare the ground for expanding political relations between the two regimes were also reviewed.

IRNA, quoting very informed sources in Baghdad, reported: Stephen Solarz, a member [as heard] of the Asian and Pacific Affairs Subcommittee on Foreign Relations of the U.S. House of Representatives, who has travelled to Baghdad with a U.S. delegation, met with Baghdad's Ba'thist rulers and declared U.S. interest and readiness for extensive cooperation with the Iraqi regime in order to confront the Islamic revolution and smash the Iraqi Muslim strugglers. Solarz asked Saddam's regime to redouble its efforts to return Husni Mubarak's regime to the Arab fold.

During this meeting Solarz, who had visited Lebanon, Jordan, Egypt and occupied Palestine before, emphasized again the continuation of open U.S. military assistance through reactionaries of the region. He announced that, because of Saddam's special role in safeguarding U.S. interests in the region, the issue of restoring open diplomatic relations between the two countries will be very seriously studied in the near future and the outcome will be communicated to the Baghdad authorities.

Solarz, who is one of the faithful supporters of the Zionist regime of Israel, during his meeting with Saddam last Wednesday reviewed the latest U.S. schemes for confronting the Islamic revolution and preventing Islamic movements in the region.

On the other hand, according to the remarks made by an Iraqi official who had participated at the talks, during this meeting the results of the latest development in the Iran-Iraq war were investigated and new ways were studied for holding the nonaligned foreign minister's conference in Baghdad. The United States promised to make up part of the Iraqi regime's losses directly and another part through its agents in the region.

According to this report, following the announcement of the gratitude of the Iraqi Ba'thist-Zionist regime to the United States for removing the name of this regime from the blacklist of U.S.-made weapons the U.S. delegation promised that Cairo will place arms and equipment at Iraq's disposal immediately before the arrival of fresh U.S. military assistance to Baghdad.

At the conclusion of this visit, it was agreed that another high-ranking U.S. delegation should visit Baghdad soon.

This report indicates that the authorities of the Iraqi Ba'thist-Zionist regime have also considered the visit of this delegation to be important and very positive.

VELAYATI RETURNS FROM NIGER ISLAMIC CONFERENCE

LD281834 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 28 Aug 82

[Text] Foreign Minister Velayati left Guinea this afternoon for Tehran. He was seen off by the Guinean foreign minister, three other Cabinet ministers and the commander of the air force. He was on a visit abroad to take part in the Islamic foreign minister's conference, as well as to visit Guinea. Foreign Minister Velayati and his entourage arrived in Tehran this afternoon and were welcomed by a number of Foreign Ministry officials. In an interview given to the Central News Unit Velayati explained the outcomes of the visits. In reply to our correspondent's question, the foreign minister said:

[Begin recording] In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. As you know, the foreign ministers of Islamic countries meet annually in a member country. This time the conference was held in Niger and a large and high-ranking delegation from Iran attended it.

At this conference we proposed a preliminary six-point draft to which two more points were added. The draft contained certain fundamental and notable stands. Confronting America, fighting Israel, Islamic solidarity, confronting compromises and confronting undignified and comprising proposals were issues raised in the conference's political committee. These issues were then referred to a subcommittee comprising Syria, Palestine and Iran. These issues became part of Iran's proposals, as well as proposals made by the representatives of Palestine and Syria. These points were debated and then formulated into a concise and comprehensive proposal and submitted to the political committee. A major part of the proposal was approved. [passage indistinct]

The salient points of the proposal that was tabled by Iran and approved include revision by Islamic countries of their diplomatic relations with America and assessment of the roots of Zionism and agents of Israel in Africa. These points were noted and approved. Also, a great many other political results were secured by the Iranian delegation following its participation in the conference. These results would not have been secured had we not participated in the conference.

Then we paid an official, brief visit -- a 4-hour visit -- to Guinea, in the course of which we met Mr Sekou Toure, as well as other Muslim Guinean Cabinet ministers.

All in all, the visits to Niger and Guinea were quite (?successful). Our hosts in both countries received us warmly. At this point we should express our gratitude to both countries. [end recording]

GHARAZI ON FRENCH ARMS TO IRAQ, OIL INDUSTRY

LD291024 Tehran IRNA in English 0909 GMT 29 Aug 82

[Text] Tehran, Aug 29, IRNA -- Iranian Oil Minister Mohammad Gharazi announced Saturday that France's arsenal was providing Baghdad's regime with all its required ammunition, but so far Iraq failed to be successful.

Oil Minister Gharazi, speaking at a press conference here, said that the Iraqi imposed war was aimed at forcing Iran to further rely on its oil. "Our main objective is to separate economy from oil and instead establish an economic system to stand on its own feet. We will use oil as a means whenever we deem necessary," Gharazi stressed.

Asked if purchase of Iranian oil was boycotted, what measures Iran would take, Gharazi noted that two years ago the U.S. attracted Iran's oil customers towards Saudi Arabia but with the military response the Islamic Republic gave to Saddam, they (customers) returned back. He added that in the same way Iranian oil industry continued its work after the expulsion of U.S. experts, the Iraqi imposed war could not be that much trouble making. The Islamic Republic's economic goal was to turn the system previously relied on, as oil production of six million barrels per day, to an economy based on a daily production of about one million barrels, Gharazi remarked.

Gharazi, back from a recent 15-day tour of 12 African countries, submitted President Khamene'i's messages to heads of these African states and held talks with them on non-convention of the non-aligned conference in Baghdad, insecurity in this Iraqi capital city, and the distrust of Iraqi people in their government and leadership.

He said that in his tour he informed the African leaders that arms producers were enemies of the Islamic revolution and Republic but Iran had disappointed them. The African leaders, Gharazi added, concluded that Baghdad was not a safe venue for the non-aligned conference.

He referred to Iran-India joint venture in Madras refinery with the production of 50,000 barrels per day, adding that the two countries were satisfied with this joint investment.

Speaking on oil barter trade, Gharazi said that such dealings would take place in a backwarded culture stressing that under the present circumstances the Islamic Republic neither believed in this type of transaction nor insisted on it.

He also said that in the current year 50,000 more houses would be provided with natural gas, especially in the southern Tehran, adding that gasoil and kerosene reserves were at a "very good" level, much higher compared with previous years.

IRNA DETAILS TRADE PROTOCOL WITH INDIA

LD271026 Tehran IRNA in English 0906 GMT 27 Aug 82

[Text] Tehran, Aug 27, IRNA -- Iran and India signed a letter of understanding in the fields of commerce, industry and transfer of technology here Thursday at the end of a three-day visit of an Indian delegation headed by Commerce Minister Shivraj Patil.

Speaking before his departure, Mr Patil said that agreements his delegation reached with Iranian officials were "very fruitful" which would open a new chapter in economic and political ties between the two countries.

He said that according to the letter of understanding, India had agreed to export to Iran industrial goods as well as road construction and agricultural machinery and also transfer its technology and in return purchase its required commodities from the Islamic Republic.

The Iranian commerce minister, Habibollah 'Asgar-Owladi, said that India would provide Iran with meat, rice, barley, corn, sugar, tea, textiles, leather and equipment for light and heavy industries. He added that India also agreed to provide facilities to meet Iran's required technology in dam construction and for refining metal ores. Visits would be exchanged between experts of the two countries to further discuss issues on which agreements had already been reached, 'Asgar-Owladi said.

Offer of Nuclear Cooperation

[Text] India has offered to assist Iran in the development of nuclear energy. Commerce Minister Shivraj Patil, currently in Tehran, discussed Indo-Iranian cooperation in the field with the chief of the Atomic Energy Organization of Iran Reza Amrollahi. The talks covered training courses for Iranian technicians at Indian nuclear centers.

Tehran also sought Indian expertise to complete her power plant at Bushehr. Patil also met the speaker of the Iranian parliament, Rafsanjani, and discussed with him bilateral matters. Rafsanjani told him that Iran wants India to play a greater role in our foreign economic relations.

CONTENTS OF LEAFLETS DROPPED ON IRAQI POSITIONS

GF261130 Tehran International Service in Arabic 0800 GMT 26 Aug 82

[From the press review]

[Text] Regarding the war going on between the Islamic forces and the forces of Saddam's regime, today's papers carry the contents of the leaflets which have been dropped by the Islamic forces on positions of the Iraqi forces.

The leaflets indicate that the Islamic forces will continue the war the United States has imposed until the overthrow of Saddam and the criminal Zionist 'Aflaqist regime for the following reasons:

1. Saddam has committed continued aggression on our land over the past 2 years and has devastated our cities and villages [words indistinct] and we are pursuing the remnants of his defeated forces to teach him a lesson and to restore our rights. Is it possible, under such circumstances, to conclude peace with such a criminal who is (?an agent) of Zionism?

2. So far, Saddam has not desisted from shelling cities and civilians. That is why we are forced to continue the war to keep our cities out of the range of Saddam's artillery.

3. Saddam is not fit to command the army or to lead the deprived Iraqi people. He is unjustly leading his army to its death and he is a traitor to the Iraqi Army and people. Therefore, we want to topple him to extricate the Iraqi people.

4. Saddam is an agent of the United States and Zionism. The biggest proof of this is his relations with the king of Jordan and the Egyptian regime and his protection of the reactionary Arab regimes in the region. Besides, he has not fired a single shot at Israel and has committed aggression against the Islamic Republic of Iran with his army. Israel attacked Lebanon to save Saddam from his unavoidable fall. Therefore, we believe that in order to get rid of Israel we must first topple Saddam and his agent regime.

5. Saddam's proposals for peace are mere deceptions because he continues to shell Iranian cities while he is proposing peace, since he knows he is on the verge of defeat.

The leaflets called on Iraqi soldiers to surrender to the Islamic forces and find refuge with them.

IRAQI AIRCRAFT VIOLATES TEHRAN AIRSPACE

[Text] An Iraqi aircraft violated the airspace over the environs of Tehran at 1223 today. However, it was forced to flee from the scene without having carried out any mission, thanks to the vigilance of the fast-flying pilots of the Air Force of the Islamic Republic. The aircraft concerned, which was chased off by a fighter aircraft of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran, broke the sound barrier during its escape.

ARMED FORCES JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUE NO 1,029

LD271830 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 27 Aug 82

[Communique No 1,029 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. The following is a summary of the developments over the past 24 hours, which is being made available to the Iranian community:

Iranian Air Force fighters and the armed forces air defense forces frustrated attempts by Iraqi fighters to carry out their missions. As a result, the Iraqi fighters were forced to flee.

The ground forces units on the western fronts opened fire on enemy positions and installations, destroying one vehicle and a number of group bunkers. They also set ablaze (Banur) installations and inflicted losses on the Saddam forces. Sporadic fire is continuing along this front.

Abadan was once again the target of Iraqi long-range artillery fire. The shelling injured nine and killed one inhabitant of Abadan. Moreover, one store and two houses were destroyed. Three more houses caught fire; the fire was immediately extinguished by firemen.

As a result of the exchange of fire between the Islamic and Iraqi forces on the far side of the Arvand Rud seven bunkers of the enemy were destroyed, and two Iraqi ammunition dumps were set ablaze. Consequently, more than 30 Iraqi troops were killed and 50 others wounded.

Meanwhile, enemy attempts to erect earthworks, minefields and trenches along the Al-Faw-Basra highway were frustrated.

The exchange of fire continued in the forward positions in the southern operation sectors with some sectors exchanging more intense fire. The gendarmerie fighters shot down one Iraqi helicopter near the border town of Musian. The fire, which followed the crash, was visible for some time. This resulted in the deaths of a number of the helicopter crew, with the wounding of others. Our Islamic forces, relying on God, continue to defend their positions. They are continuing their advances. God protect them.

KHAMENE'I SPEAKS TO GUARD OFFICIALS ON CONDUCT

LD271906 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 27 Aug 82

[Text] The Central News Unit reports that officials in charge of public relations and publicity of 10 districts and the Central Headquarters of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps met this morning with Mr Seyyed 'Ali Khamene'i, president of the Islamic Republic of Iran and head of the Supreme Defense Council. At this meeting, first the official in charge of public relations and publicity of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps reported on cultural and publicity affairs. Then Mr Khamene'i referred to the importance of the role played by public relations in any organization and the meaning of propaganda in Islamic culture. He said: You should increase and maintain the use of part in your publicity campaigns. You can be sure that your words will be effective.

While emphasizing the importance of increasing their efforts and activities and trying to attract the attention of the people, Mr Khamene'i said: The Islamic Revolution Guards Corps is one of the clear manifestations and achievements of our revolution. If people are satisfied with this revolutionary institution then it will be successful and please God. The president added: Try and keep the Guards Corps appealing [as heard] in the eyes of the people, just as it has been approved and respected by the people up to now, so that they remain pleased with this institution.

Mr Khamene'i then referred to the importance of following Islamic and moral principles, discipline, regulations, rules, and said: You should not allow the corps to treat the people harshly. The corps should be made to act with modesty and humility since these are the aspects which will raise the stature of the corps in the eyes of the people. This is the climax of the power of the corps.

IRAQI PLANES VIOLATE ILAM AIRSPACE 27 AUGUST

LD272134 Tehran IRNA in English 1935 GMT 27 Aug 82

[Text] Ilam, Aug 27, IRNA -- Two Iraqi aircraft appeared over the city of Ilam at 1210 hours today while the people of the city had congregated at the Jame Mosque to hold the Friday prayers. The airplanes, which had intended to bombard the city's residential areas and the innocent inhabitants of the city, were repelled by the anti-aircraft defence fire of the Islamic combatants before carrying out any missions.

Also, two aggressor airplanes of the enemy violated the airspace of several western cities of the country at 1207 hours today but were forced to flee by the anti-aircraft fire of the Islamic defenders.

LD281830 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 28 Aug 82

[Communique No 1,030 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. The virtuous and strong combatants on the battlefronts, who are steadfast and indefatigable, are continuing their holy war. During the past 24 hours, the operations carried out by the champion combatants of Islam on the different western fronts of the country continued through the exchange of mortar and artillery fire. Our brave forces maintained their all-round supremacy over the abject enemy.

While consolidating and establishing their positions, our combatants opened fire on enemy assembly points and supply routes and Iraqi positions. The combatants stopped all enemy ground activities and prevented their movements.

Operations to clear roads and defuse minefields continued on the western fronts of the country. In the operational regions south of the country, an exchange of heavy-weapon fire continued. Our fighting units dealt repeated blows on the weakened enemy through artillery fire and prevented enemy movements.

Carrying out patrol and surveillance missions and penetrating operations, our combatants kept a check on every enemy movement in this region. The forces of Islam pounded enemy positions and defense lines on the other side of the Arvand Rud, disrupting the enemy's trench-digging activities. By controlling the Al-Faw-Basra supply road, our forces stopped enemy vehicles from moving along this road.

Yesterday the Saddamist criminals fired long-range and heavy weapons and destroyed several residential points in Abadah. As a result of this criminal activity, two of our compatriots were injured.

Yesterday the selfless pilots of the Air Force of the Islamic Republic of Iran guided and controlled the personnel of the antiaircraft defense command. While defending the airspace of the Islamic homeland, they foiled enemy air attacks. The ground-to-air defense units opened fire and forced the aggressor planes to flee.

God's blessings on the followers of the teachings of the Koran and the right-seeking combatants of Islam.

During this period, artillery and heavy-weapon fire on Sumar, Zeyn al-Khosh and Qasr-e Shirin destroyed one vehicle and several bunkers and observation posts of the Saddamist forces.

ARMED FORCES JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUE NO 1,031

LD291956 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 29 Aug 82

[Communique No 1,031 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. The able combatants of the Armed Forces of Iran, by relying upon the imam's might and assured of God Almighty's support, have the enemy under their control.

In the past 24 hours, the gendarmerie valiants fired on enemy positions in front of the Shur-e Shirin operational region. Our combatants stopped the enemy's traffic and set one Saddamist ammunition dump on fire. With their constant and crushing fire, the army combatants destroyed two enemy tanks, one antiaircraft cannon, one ammunition dump, one 82-mm mortar, one 50-mm field gun and one border post. A number of enemy personnel were either killed or severely injured.

Exchanges of fire continued across the Arvand Rud and our forces stopped enemy traffic on the Al-Faw-Basra road. Nine bunkers, observation posts and one fuel dump belonging to the mercenary Saddam forces were destroyed.

As a result of fire opened by the ground-to-air defense units and tactical maneuvers of the air force fighter aircraft, Iraqi air assaults on the airspace of the Islamic Republic of Iran were repulsed. Enemy helicopters on reconnaissance flights in the Panjwin region were driven off.

Our armed forces with their effective fire are preventing the enemy from any air or ground activities along battlefronts. The dispersed Iraqi Army has lost its resistance and sporadically shells Abadan, using heavy long-range artillery.

Our forces are continuing to defend their protective fortifications and positions along the battlefronts and are responding to enemy fire.

[Signed] The Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran

RECENT OPERATIONS BY IRAQI INSURGENTS REPORTED

LD300532 Tehran IRNA in English 1944 GMT 30 Aug 82

[Text] Sanandaj, Aug 29, IRNA -- An Iraqi helicopter was shot down by the Iraqi Muslim mujahidin on Aug 21st, in the Sayyid Sadiq region of Iraq.

Also mujahidin sources told IRNA here that an Iraqi train carrying munitions was set ablaze and 20 of its passengers and security guards were killed on Aug 25th, but they did not give the exact location of the incident.

Other operations carried out against the Iraqi Ba'thists, the source added, were the destruction of a truck load with TNT explosives in northern Iraq on Aug 25th, and the attack launched on a military column travelling between Halabcheh and Sayyid Sadiq. In both operations a total of 20 Iraqi soldiers were killed and 33 others were wounded.

137,000 IRANIANS, NIGERIANS TO FLY TO MECCA

LD272214 Tehran IRNA in English 1949 GMT 27 Aug 82

[Text] Tehran, Aug 27, IRNA -- The minister of roads and transportation, Hadi Nezhad-Hoseyniyan, announced Thursday that beside the 87,000 Iranian pilgrims, another 50,000 pilgrims from Nigeria would also be flown to Saudi Arabia. These flights will leave from four Iranian airports to Jidda within the next 27 days.

He added that over 3,000 Iranian pilgrims would be flown if possible, without any delay in flights to Jidda from Tehran's Mehrabad Airport in 12 flights a day.

The Iranian minister expressed hope that the Saudi authorities would give the necessary cooperation to representatives of Iranian aviation, agencies and hajj organisation. He stressed that, of course, neglect in this regard, for providing the necessary facilities for the pilgrims, would indicate their negligence towards hajj pilgrimage.

RAFSANJANI SPEAKS ON FAILURE OF TERRORISM

LD271408 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 27 Aug 82

[Excerpts] Millions of our Muslim compatriots took part in the religious-political ceremonies of the Friday prayers all over the country today. At Tehran University, the rendezvous of followers of the path of God and justice seekers, great masses of the Muslim and revolutionary people of Tehran participated in the glorious and unifying Friday prayer ceremonies. This long-standing Islamic tradition was held at Tehran University under the imamate of Hojjat ol-Eslam Hashemi-Rafsanjani.

The acting Friday imam of Tehran continued his discussion from previous weeks on economics and social justice from the points of view of Islam and the Koran. In the first sermon he talked about the evils of hoarding in society.

At the start of the second sermon, Hojjat ol-Eslam Hashemi-Rafsanjani referred to the martyrdom of the two great personalities of the Islamic Republic, martyr Raja'i and martyr Bahonar, and the other martyr of the school of Islam, martyr Hajj Mehdi 'Araqi. He said: The high status of these martyrs is clear to our nation. Nevertheless, the effect of terrorism on society should be analyzed.

Referring to the characteristics of the popular struggle and the constructive role of the people in various movements, including the role of people's struggle in the constitutional revolution and the nationalization of the oil industry, the acting Friday imam of Tehran said: After 5 June 1963 [date of first Islamic uprising led by Khomeyni] the first assassination gave the regime a good excuse to disperse various revolutionary forces. This was a (?plot) that took us to the start of the Islamic revolution. Our revolution's experience has shown that only with the presence of people on the scene can anything be achieved; nothing else can be effective.

Mr Hashemi-Rafsanjani went on: We wanted to establish Islam in society and we were successful. But now we must see what became of the terrorists and hypocrites. It must be said that their leaders have become beggars. This happened to them because of their previous mistakes. Their mistake was to think the people would support them. For instance, the fugitive Bani-Sadr used to think that he was the most loved person in our society. He used to think that people had voted for him, but this was not the case, because the engine of the revolution is Islam and it is religion that moves the people, nothing else. The only thing that liberated our society and moved it was religion. What misled a group of people and forced them to become beggars in Paris and America was the secular analysis of the hypocrites.

Referring to the work, crimes and disgrace of the terrorists, Mr Hashemi-Rafsanjani [word indistinct] said:

[Begin recording] What is the terrorist seeking in this environment? What is he going to find among this people? Well, now thank God their back is broken and they are smashed. But let us imagine that all these people, the ulema, the Friday imams, Majlis deputies, ministers and the rest were killed. Well, new people would be appointed in their place. They are going to rule the people.

We say the same thing to these people that we told the plotters of the Nowzeh coup d'etat. Imam Khomeyni told them: Suppose you had been able to conduct bombing raids from aircraft. Eventually you would have had to come down to earth to rule. The minute you set foot on the ground, people would have caught and killed you.

You are in hideouts and if you come across a liberation (?patrol) you kill it. But when you come out and people recognize you, they catch you and hand you over for imprisonment. Well, you have seen what the people do to you. Therefore, any act of terrorism, if not backed by the public, will separate you from the public. All such acts of terrorism will have a negative effect. This was a good experience for world history and has brought disappointment and despondency to many rebels who rose against righteous governments. For example, the Mojahedin-e Khalq, who were in fact hypocrites -- what an interesting name -- had gathered a huge force. How many children did they deceive? How many safehouses did they build? The number of safehouses we have seized so far could make a town if put together. The weapons we have captured from them could arm and equip several [word indistinct] divisions. What a force could have been gathered from those who were killed and those who are [word indistinct] divisions. What a force could have been gathered from those who were killed and those who are (?stranded)! What damn thing did they do during this period? Nothing, except explosions and (?assassination) of several persons. It is not difficult to blow up (?places). It is not an act of bravery. It is not a heroic or revolutionary act. It is like a thief seizing the opportunity to steal [words indistinct]. This is not difficult.

What did they do? Why did they not achieve any success with all that power? Now, they have suggested a fresh idea. They say: There is no point in killing political figures, because they can be replaced. Political figures have alternatives. We must go and deliver blows to the military body. What is the military body and on whom are you going to inflict a blow? We have so many people in the Mobilization forces. We have several million people here. See our Hezbollahi, Mobilization forces and these young men. For each one you kill, 10 will crop up in his place from the same family. What sort of blow do you want to deliver?

Let us suppose that in your new phase you manage to kill 40 to 50 Hezbollahi, laborers, guards or members of the Mobilization forces. Is this an armed struggle? Can this be called a revolutionary move? Is this the way to rule? For every act of terrorism that you carry out, you lose thousands of your supporters. You cannot justify your action. Look at your crime and torture. History has blackened your faces. It is pointless now to try to justify yourselves. What have you got to say?

Therefore, we can clearly see that when the public supports the government, terrorism and harsh struggle do not pay at all. Rather, the reverse is true. That is, the government will become entitled to be harsh, because the people demand harshness from their government. For instance, at one time people used to object if we imprisoned one person. They used to ask: Why? But now, if we release a person, people ask: Why? This is [word indistinct], you can see among the people. When the people, except families of the terrorists, find out that we have released a person, they ask: Why are you doing this to people? Thus from our point of view, the issue is clear and we hope that they will learn a lesson. [end recording]

TRIAL OF QOTBZADEH ACCOMPLICES BEGINS 28 AUGUST

[Text] Tehran, Aug 28 (IRNA) -- The trial of four members of Qotbzadeh's group started this morning, chaired by Hojjat ol-Eslam Mohammad Reyshahri, head of the revolutionary army tribunal.

The session started with the recitation of verses from holy Koran and then prosecutor of the Islamic revolutionary army tribunal read the indictment of convicts Seyyed Mehdi Mahdavi, Javad Manaqebi, Seyyed 'Abdorreza Hejazi and Ahmad 'Abbasi.

The first defendant, Seyyed Mehdi Mahdavi, replying [to] questions of the religious judge, defended himself.

NVOI REJECTS LENIENCY TOWARD QOTBZADEH

TA262000 (Clandestine) National Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1730 GMT 26 Aug 82

[Unattributed commentary: "Support for Qotbzadeh's Line Is Enmity Toward the Imam's Line"]

[Text] Dear compatriots: Certain individuals are intensely striving to save the spy and traitor Qotbzadeh. As soon as the bloody plot of Qotbzadeh and his band was uncovered, these individuals started an extensive activity to save this spy and his accomplices. Of course, the attempt by these individuals cannot be without effect. As of now this group and their mouthpieces have spread the rumor that allegedly the religious and common law punishment of Qotbzadeh is not execution.

In order to influence responsible officials, these individuals allegedly present various reasons for this. Some say since Qotbzadeh has revealed many secrets he is deserving of mercy. Others claim that only because of Qotbzadeh's enmity toward communism, and particularly toward the Soviet Union, one should overlook his guilt. Others even put forward the ridiculous claim that sentencing Qotbzadeh to death and carrying out the execution verdict is allegedly inconsistent with the Islamic Republic's "Neither Eastern nor Western" policy -- in other words it is a policy of "Neither Eastern but Western."

Although none of these so-called reasons have the slightest legal value, yet as we are observing certain overt and covert hands have started moving to save Qotbzadeh and to reduce his penalty. One should struggle with the utmost power against these dangerous attempts. The true forces of the revolution and the selfless Iranian people condemn any sort of mercy toward Qotbzadeh and his followers, and rightly believe that such an act is tantamount to encouraging the line of Qotbzadeh and the imperialist and anti-popular line of world-devouring America and the counterrevolution, and is tantamount to striking at the imam's popular and anti-imperialist line.

These historical remarks by the late Ayatollah Taleqani, who said that in this country not even once has a U.S. spy been put on trial and punished, are still alive in the memories of the people. One should add to these historical remarks by Ayatollah Taleqani that following the Iranian nation's glorious revolution certain identified spies, such as the Yazdis, are living in complete freedom in our revolutionary and anti-American homeland, and if a certain U.S. spy is caught after his treachery has been revealed, again certain hands immediately start operating and openly interfere in judicial affairs and strive to save him. We observed this phenomenon in the trial of Amir-Entezam, and currently we are witnessing it as well in the course of Qotbzadeh's investigation and trial. This more than anything else is an indication that the line of Qotbzadeh and its followers -- namely, the anti-popular line and the line of negating America -- is extensively operating in all government organizations and even in the responsible organs of the Islamic government.

Those who are striving to save Qotbzadeh have in fact risen to defend a very dangerous line -- a line whose representatives are the Qotbzadehs. Amir-Entezam, Bani-Sadr, Salamatian, Entezaryun, Ghazanfarpur, Saddeq, 'Alavi, Madani, Matin-Daftari, Nazih, Maraghe'i, Abolfazl Qassemi and so forth are all other representatives of this line.

They are all the spies and agents of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency. Their aim, too, is obvious. Namely, to overthrow the Islamic Republic's system, to kill Imam Khomeyni, to install a subservient regime similar to that of Mohammad Reza except with another color, and to restore world-devouring America to liberated Iran with scores of American and Western companies and monopolies and tens of thousands of military and civilian advisers. The aim of these spies and traitors is to lead the free Iranian nation into bondage.

Qotbzadeh and his clique have committed the greatest treachery and crime against the revolution and the Islamic government. They are corruptors on earth and must receive their due punishment. The true forces of the revolution and our homeland's selfless people rightly believe that any kind of endeavor to save Qotbzadeh is tantamount to being an act against the revolution's and the imam's popular and anti-imperialist line, and is tantamount to an endeavor to keep alive the line of world-devouring America and the counterrevolution and Qotbzadeh's line. Any person or official who in any way supports the effort to save Qotbzadeh is not and cannot be the friend of the revolution and loyal to the revolution's and the imam's popular and anti-imperialist line.

GUARDS REPORT SUCCESSES AGAINST REBELS

LD290946 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 28 Aug 82

[Text] According to reports by IRNA and the Central News Unit, the Islamic combatants continue their mopping-up operations in the contaminated areas in Western Azarbayjan and Kordestan. Yesterday morning they raided a base operated by mercenaries of the defunct parties in Gol Tappeh village, Takab region. They inflicted considerable casualties and losses on the counterrevolutionaries and captured the base.

According to the same reports, the Public Relations Office of Hamzeh post announced that during yesterday's mopping-up operations, which resulted in the capture of one of the bases belonging to the rebels affiliated to the arch-Satan, 12 counterrevolutionaries were killed, 5 were wounded and 20 were captured. Moreover, more than 100 weapons, including G-3, [word indistinct] Kalashnikovs and Colts, as well as considerable quantities of explosives and documents, were seized by the forces of Islam.

The Central News Unit also reports that Islamic fighters today cleared Cheragh Abdal, a suburb of Takab, of the mercenary members of the [Kurdish] Democratic Party and the Komeleh. Confirming the report, (?official sources) in Shahin Dezh added that during the mopping-up operations in Cheragh Abdal village, the Islamic fighters recovered three ambulances and a jeep which had been stolen by the armed illegal elements.

BRIEFS

KOMELEH MEMBERS KILLED -- Sanandaj -- In an armed clash yesterday between the Islamic fighters and some members of the Komeleh counterrevolutionary minigroup in the mountains of Dari village in Marivan, 12 Komeleh members were killed and wounded and two Islamic guards were wounded. According to an IRNA report from Urumiyeh, with a timely move the Islamic fighters succeeded in stopping the spread of a counterrevolutionary group attached to the illegal armed minigroups in Bukan. These evil persons were planning to come to Bukan from Kuseh village but were attacked by our guard brothers and were forced to flee after heavy losses. Reaction to Reagan Initiative

Israeli Cabinet Rejection; Officials Comment -- The Israeli Cabinet rejected the latest proposals by U.S. President Ronald Reagan as "gravely" deviating from and contradicting the Camp David accords, and possibly posing a "serious danger" to Israeli security. Reading out the Cabinet statement over IDF radio, Cabinet Secretary Dan Meridor outlined point by point the "contradictions" between the Camp David accords and the Reagan proposals. Issues in dispute included the status of Jerusalem, Palestinian control over their own security, a freeze in Israeli settlements in "Judaea, Samaria" and Gaza, the definition of full autonomy, ties with Jordan and the application of Israeli sovereignty over occupied territories. Although it acknowledged U.S. promises rejecting the establishment of a Palestinian state, the statement insisted that if the proposals were implemented such a state would be set up and be allied with the USSR in hostile cooperation with Arab states. The statement concluded that Israel is not prepared to renew autonomy talks based on "total loyalty" to the Camp David accords. Meridor added that ministers at the Cabinet meeting expressed "surprise and bitterness" over the U.S. attitude, because Israel was not the first to be consulted by the United States, as had been agreed upon in a 1973 memorandum, the radio said.

According to a Jerusalem radio report on the meeting, Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin spoke emotionally when he alleged that the Reagan "plan" is worse than the plan by former Secretary of State William Rogers, adding that anyone who adopts this new plan could be called a "traitor." Later, the radio said officials in Begin's office denied he used this term. Begin expressed anger that Jordan and Saudi Arabia were consulted by Reagan concerning the plan, and he was annoyed that U.S. officials lauded the U.S. forces' role in the evacuation without mentioning the IDF. Meanwhile, the radio reported that Begin sent a message to Reagan on the Cabinet decision.

Replying to the first message from President Reagan, Begin wrote that Israel "rejects outright" the proposals as "deviating" from Camp David, MA'ARIV revealed. The paper also said the second message Reagan sent to Begin was viewed in Jerusalem as an attempt to dissipate the "bitterness" created by the first message on new U.S. proposals.

On the evening of 2 September, Begin held talks conducted in a "correct atmosphere" with U.S. Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger, ITIM reported, citing the prime minister's spokesman. Begin informed Weinberger that Israel will not negotiate with anyone on the new Reagan proposals but that the autonomy talks can begin immediately, based on Camp David, with all the agreed parties. Begin said Israel "took offense" that the United States failed to talk to Israel first before releasing the proposals. A Jerusalem radio report on the meeting revealed that Begin said this was one of the "saddest days" in his life.

Weinberger also met with Israeli Defense Minister Ari'el Sharon and toured "Judaea, Samaria" and military equipment manufacturing plants, Jerusalem radio reported. viewed on Jerusalem television, Sharon declared that security matters in the areas of "Judaea, Samaria" and Gaza are Israel's exclusive responsibility.

In another Jerusalem television interview, Labor Party Chairman Shim'on Peres affirmed that he sees "positive things" in the Reagan proposals and that they can serve as a basis for further negotiations between the United States and Israel. Meanwhile, in an effort to coordinate an Israeli position, the Knesset will meet next week for debates, Jerusalem radio confirmed.

Arab World Optimism, Criticism -- A Jordanian Foreign Ministry spokesman cited by Amman television announced that Reagan's proposals are currently under study but that a preliminary reading of Reagan's speech indicates it contains a number of "positive factors." PLO Political Department head Faruq Qaddumi said the implications of the new Reagan stand are "good," according to AFP. Jerusalem radio confirmed that PLO Executive Committee Chairman Yasir 'Arafat had received a copy of the Reagan proposals and discussed them with PLO leaders. Monte Carlo radio, the Palestinian News Agency, said the PLO Executive Committee met to discuss the current situation. Reports by Damascus radio also noted that the PFLP and Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestinian had rejected the proposals. Meanwhile, MENA reported that leading Egyptian papers welcomed the Reagan initiative as a turning point, and Jerusalem radio revealed that the Egyptian ambassador in Israel pointed to the positive "trend" in the proposals. MENA also announced that the Egyptian president will hold a meeting on 4 September to discuss the issue, and that the Egyptian Cabinet will meet on 5 September. Syria reacted to the proposals in a Damascus radio report noting the Israeli Cabinet's rejection of the "so-called" U.S. peace plan. According to Riyadh radio, the Saudi minister of information confirmed that the new U.S. proposals have been received and are being studied. SPA observed that what is new in the proposals is only the call for autonomy with Jordanian participation and for the halt to Israeli settlements. A Mecca paper questioned whether the U.S. stand is a real effort or "another U.S. maneuver," SPA reported. Voice of Lebanon radio reports indicated that the Lebanese Embassy in Washington lauded the U.S. position, but that the Lebanese Government in Beirut had not yet received any official contact from the United States. The Tunisian foreign minister said the new proposals "obviously" represent progress, Tunis radio reported. According to an Algiers radio commentary, the latest U.S. proposals are not really new and are unlikely to reassure the Arabs.

Lebanon

Israeli Prime Minister Begin secretly met with Lebanese President-elect Bashir al-Jumayyil in Israel 2 nights ago, Jerusalem radio revealed on 3 September. The radio said the Israeli foreign and defense ministers also attended this meeting, which dealt with Lebanese political arrangements and ties with Israel. At a Lebanese Cabinet meeting on 2 September, Prime Minister Shafiq al-Wazzan announced that the Lebanese Army had taken up positions in west Beirut, the Voice of Lebanon reported. The radio said President Ilyas Sarkis spoke at the meeting and called for unity, sovereignty and support for Al-Jumayyil to achieve these aims.

Meanwhile, the radio affirmed that Israeli forces have withdrawn from the airport perimeter and southern suburbs of Beirut.

According to MA'ARIV, there are about 4,000 "terrorists" left in west Beirut, many of whom are ranking PLO members.

KARMAL URGES IMPROVED TIES WITH PAKISTAN, IRAN

LD021058 Kabul BAKHTAR in English 0435 GMT 2 Sep 82

[Text] Kabul, Sept. 1, BAKHTAR -- Babrak Karmal today once again reiterated the goodwill of the state of the DRA for the normalization of the relations with the neighbouring countries, especially Pakistan and Iran. However, he added that unfortunately the bandits and sold-out mercenaries are still receiving military training in the territory of Pakistan and are being sent to Afghanistan for terroristic activities, owing to the conspiracies of imperialism headed by the U.S.A. has brought pressures to bear on Pakistan.

The general secretary of the PDPA CC and president of the Revolutionary Council was addressing a group of soldiers of revolution who have returned to Kabul from Panjsher Valley after the discharge of their revolutionary duties.

Babrak Karmal told the soldiers of revolution: "Today that I see in your faces the valour, bravery, energy and [word indistinct] will, I once again declare loud and clear that by having such valourous sons the glorious April Revolution is victorious."

Babrak Karmal said that the feats of the soldiers of revolution in Panjsher are an example of creative and brave conduct since they simultaneously pursued the enemy with arms in hand and on the other hand helped the people in other ways.

Babrak Karmal said: "We are not thinking of our own. A true revolutionary always thinks of the future generations and the future sons of the country who should be prosperous. "

"You have realized in the course of your struggles and while fulfilling your revolutionary duties that we can no longer leave the millions of sons of this country to continue with a miserable life from the moral and material point of view.

Therefore, Babrak Karmal continued, our conscience, our prideful party and our revolution orders us that we should totally annihilate the counterrevolution and should get to the construction of a new, blossoming and prosperous society.

Babrak Karmal added that due to the correct and principled policy of the party after the new and evolutionary phase of the April Revolution and due to the correct method and expansion of social and mass organizations the people are turning to the party and state from day to day. Today the people of Afghanistan want a countrywide peace and establishment of security from the party and state.

PAKISTANI 'SPY' PRESENTED AT PRESS CONFERENCE

LD021738 Kabul Domestic Service in Pashto 1530 GMT 2 Sep 82

[Text] A Pakistani military officer and spy, Mohammad 'Ali, today at a press conference exposed the enemies of the April Revolution and of the heroic people of Afghanistan; he unveiled the open interference by Pakistan, U.S. imperialism and Chinese hegemonism in the domestic affairs of our country.

The press conference, held at the Stori Palace of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, was attended by journalists, representatives of various institutions and ministries, reporters from foreign countries and cultural attaches of various embassies.

The BAKHTAR correspondent reports that at the beginning of the press conference an official of the Information Department of the PDPA Central Committee spoke and answered questions concerning a book -- The True Faces of the Afghan Counterrevolution -- in which the crimes of the rebels infiltrated from abroad and the shameless interference in our internal affairs by imperialism, Chinese hegemonism and regional reaction are detailed.

Next the Pakistani spy, Mohammad 'Ali, son of Mokhtar Ahmad, who had been captured by the security forces, answered the journalists' questions regarding his subversive activities.

Mohammad 'Ali, who completed his elementary school education in Lahore, Pakistan, and continued his studies in the military service, rising to the rank of officer, said: After receiving espionage training in Pakistan from Pakistani, American, Chinese and Egyptian instructors, at first I worked in the third section [as heard] of the Pakistani espionage organization in various Indian cities.

Answering a question, he said: When I was assigned by the Pakistani militarist government to spy on Afghanistan, I entered the country with the help of the Afghan counterrevolutionaries in Nimruz Province. After having been in the country for 22 days and carrying out some activities, I was captured by the Afghan security forces.

Pakistani spy Akhtar [name as heard] spoke about the American, Chinese, Pakistani and Egyptian instructors who are engaged in training Afghan counterrevolutionaries in the camps of the Afghan fugitives in Pakistan. He said: The Afghan fugitives are being trained in Lahore, Peshawar and [name indistinct] cities and along the border areas; they are sent to Afghanistan for the purpose of intimidation.

At the conclusion of the press conference an announcement issued by the BAKHTAR agency was read out condemning the shameful interference in the internal affairs of our country by imperialism, regional reaction and Chinese hegemonism and exposing the agents and servants of reaction and imperialism.

A number of various weapons, which have been seized from the enemies of the people of Afghanistan, were put on display. These included various American, Chinese, Egyptian, British, German and Pakistani machineguns; antitank and antipersonnel mines; mortars and rockets.

The BAKHTAR correspondent reports that at the end of the press conference the guests and journalists visited the weapons' display ground and saw photographs on the subversive activities of the rebel bands.

[Text] Chief Martial Law Administrator [CMLA] Lt Gen H.M. Ershad has reaffirmed Bangladesh's total and unshakable support to the just cause of the Palestinians. In a message to Yasir 'Arafat, chairman of the PLO Executive Committee and general commander of the Palestinian liberation forces, General Ershad said, God willing, his country will continue to render all possible assistance to the Palestinians till they achieve an independent sovereign state of their own homeland.

The CMLA said the long and heroic resistance of the Palestinians to the invading Zionist forces symbolized the inevitable triumph of their just cause. General Ershad said Bangladesh salutes the valiant freedom fighters of Palestine wherever they are. [passage indistinct]

GOVERNMENT BANS BENGALI POLITICAL WEEKLY

BK030831 Hong Kong AFP in English 1630 GMT 2 Sep 82

[Text] Dacca, Sep. 2 (AFP) — The military government has banned a Bengali political weekly for publishing a prejudicial report in its latest issue of August 27 in the first major action against a newspaper since the takeover by General Hussain Mohammad Ershad five months ago. An official order issued by the Home Ministry yesterday was served on the weekly today.

The widely read weekly ITTEHAD is edited and published by Oli Ahad, a close associate of former President Khandaker Moshtaque Ahmed who heads the rightist party Democratic League. Activities of all political parties including the Democratic League were suspended under a martial law regulation.

In its issue, the weekly carried a lead story captioned "Bureaucrats Not Cooperating: Threat to Secretariat, If We Fail None Will Be Spared." The report claimed to have details of a meeting General Ershad held with civilian officials on August 21 at which military personnel reportedly accused the civilian bureaucrats of not cooperating with the new regime.

The order against the weekly under the Special Powers Act of 1974, said that the government had prohibited the publication of any subsequent issue of the weekly.

The banning of ITTEHAD came close on the heels of a threatened action programme by the journalists beginning tomorrow to press home their demand for a cost of living allowance which was granted to government employees last June because of inflation. The journalist leaders said they will start wearing protest badges from tomorrow and if their demand was not met, would stop work on September 10.

JAPAN'S SAKURAUCHI SPEAKS ON SOVIETS IN DRA

BK011041 Karachi Domestic Service in English 1005 GMT 1 Sep 82

[Text] Japanese Foreign Minister Yoshio Sakurauchi has called for immediate Soviet pullout from Afghanistan to pave the way for honorable return of over 2.7 million Afghan refugees taking shelter in Pakistan to their homeland. He was addressing Afghan refugees at the Nasirbagh tented village near Peshawar today. He reiterated Japan's strong support to the UN resolution and to the stand taken by the Islamic Conference on the Afghan issue for immediate withdrawal of Soviet troops and for restoration of Afghanistan's independent status.

The Japanese foreign minister, who was accompanied by Foreign Minister Sahabzada Yaqub Khan, gave an assurance to the refugees that his country's assistance for them would continue in order to mitigate their sufferings and hardships which resulted from the Soviet action in their country. This action, he said, aroused great indignation and anxiety in many countries of the world which was a violation of basic principles of international law and accepted norms of behavior.

The Japanese foreign minister said the situation created by the Soviet action in Afghanistan also posed a threat to the world peace and international security. He appreciated the way Pakistan was looking after the Afghan refugees and said Japan highly valued the efforts of the Pakistan Government for the improvement of the living conditions of these refugees.

USSR DENIES VISAS TO IRANIAN WRESTLING TEAM

GF021740 Tehran IRNA in English 1720 GMT 2 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept. 2 (IRNA) — The Soviet Embassy in Tehran has refused to grant entry visas to the workers wrestling team, which was scheduled to take part in the Aliov International Wrestling Cup, due to open in Makhachkala, capital of Dagestan, northwest of Caspian Sea on Sept. 6, the evening daily KEYHAN reported today.

According to KEYHAN the 19-men team was due to leave Tehran yesterday, which would have been the first athletic team of workers to visit the Soviet Union since the victory of the Islamic revolution of Iran.

KEYHAN quoted the minister of labour and social affairs, Ahmad Tavakkoli, as having said that the reason behind this measure of the Soviet Embassy was that it was afraid of Islam. The minister, who was addressing the team yesterday afternoon, said: "This action of the Soviet authorities proved that they could not tolerate us, they could not tolerate you because you are the messengers of righteousness of the Islamic revolution of Iran".

Tavakkoli further told the members of the team: "If you had gone there, you would have certainly chanted Allah-o akbar (God is great), and they were afraid of this". At the end of his speech the minister of labour said that the Soviet officials proved that their claim of supporting the people was a pure lie.

The newspaper also quoted the head of the physical education department of the workers, Zanganeh, who informed the wrestlers of the Soviet Embassy's decision. He said that the Soviet officials had been in the process of completing necessary preparations for the participation of the Iranian team in the competition and even flight reservations had been made. He further told the athletes that the Soviet Embassy staff in Tehran made various excuses. However, once these excuses were met, he added, they just refused to grant visas.

In the opinion of Zanganeh, the reason for this decision of the Soviet officials was that they suspected that the Iranian team would make revelations concerning the Soviets' silence towards the Lebanese crisis. He further stressed that this incident was a political gain for Iran.

TEHRAN NOTES REAGAN PLAN FOR PALESTINIANS

LD022014 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 2 Sep 82

[Text] In continuation of the conspiracies of America and the Zionist regime aimed at confronting the Islamic revolution and creating the necessary conditions for continuing to crush the region's Muslim peoples movements and the Palestinian Resistance, U.S. President Ronald Reagan in a speech last night opposed the continuation of the settlement of Jews in the West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip, and asked for the formation of a Jordanian-Palestinian federation.

Reagan said: The United States is opposed to the establishment of an independent Palestinian country.

According to an IRNA report, Reagan emphasized: Western governments' good economic conditions depend on peace and stability in the Middle East region. He further said: We have accepted Camp David as a principle. But he immediately noted that the improvement of relations between the Arab regimes and Israel will not alone bring about the needed peace in the region, and emphasized the necessity of taking advantage of the present situation which has resulted from the departure of the Palestinians from Lebanon and Bashir al-Jumayyil's coming to power.

He said: The creation of an autonomous Palestinian state on the West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip under King Husayn's supervision will provide the best possibility for establishing permanent security.

The U.S. President's remarks show that by holding the resistive people of Palestine within the framework of a so-called formal autonomy under the rule of Shah Husayn of Jordan American terrorism intends to make the Palestinian issue a forgotten one forever on the one hand, and to suppress and stop the Islamic movement in the region, which considers the liberation of Jerusalem and the occupied lands as a symbol of struggle against imperialism-Zionism, on the other.

Meanwhile according to AP, Reagan has today expressed his readiness to send George Shultz, the country's secretary of state, to seek any encouraging response to his new plan on granting autonomy to the Palestinians and achieving peace in the Middle East.

REAGAN'S MIDEAST 'DOMINATION' SPEECH SCORED

LD022356 Tehran IRNA in English 1954 GMT 2 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sep. 2, IRNA -- The head of the imperialist U.S. Government, Ronald Reagan, in a speech on Wednesday night divulged aspects of U.S. and Zionist schemes in establishing their desirable security and stability in the Mid-East.

The speech was delivered after the 70 day war in Lebanon, which culminated in military defeat for U.S. imperialism and the Zionist regime in their attempts to occupy Beirut.

The U.S. and its Mid-East surrogates, foremost the Zionist regime and the reactionary Arab governments, had to settle for a political solution in getting the Palestinians out of Beirut. This for a superpower and the Zionist regime means defeat.

In his speech, Reagan emphasised that the implementation of the Camp David scheme would be the only way to dominate the region. And, he said, the Arab reactionary regimes should be made to negotiate through these proposed plans.

Reagan stressed that the opportunity for further exploitation of the region's resources by Western countries depended on the implementation of a "desirable peace and stability" in the Mid-East region.

In his speech he also commented on U.S. views concerning the reactionary regimes, the Zionists, and the movements of the Muslim people in the region.

He said that it was necessary that these movements be suppressed after the establishment of relations between the Zionist regime and the reactionary Arab regimes.

Reagan then said that the U.S. should aid attempts to give a sort of self-government to Palestinians, thereby aiding the Zionist regime's security. He said that negotiations in this area would aid in achieving these objectives.

Following his speech, Reagan requested the Arab regimes to accept the Zionist regime and hold direct negotiations with it.

Concluding his speech, Reagan, in order to gain public support for these imperialist plots, so-called peaceful plans, said that Jerusalem is inseparable and that its future decisions should be made through negotiations.

Reagan also divulged that the U.S. had decided to confine the revolutionary Palestinian people to a so-called unarmed self-government under the sovereignty of the reactionary regime of Jordan.

Through these Washington-Zionist regime schemes the Palestinian issue along with the suppression of the Islamic movements in the region, which considers the liberation of Jerusalem and the occupied lands as their humanitarian and national duty, will be obliterated forever.

GOVERNMENT TO INSURE IRAN-BOUND OIL TANKERS

LD021144 Tehran IRNA in English 1044 GMT 2 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, September 2nd (IRNA) -- The Islamic Republic of Iran will insure all foreign oil tankers bound or Iranian ports to load oil, with a rate of one percent, announced Iranian Deputy Oil Minister Abbas Honardust this morning. Disclosing propaganda and economic conspiracies of foreign insurance companies and those of the reactionary countries of the Persian Gulf, Mr Honardust said journals dependent on international insurance companies have announced that insurance rates for tankers loading Iranian oil have multiplied. He said this was part of a pre-fabricated design played by multinational insurance companies and newspapers fed by them, oil cartels and also regional sheikhs.

To prove that the rise in rates emanated from a plot Honardust added Iran insurance company was ready to insure all tankers which were bound for Iranian ports to load oil with the previous one percent rate.

He declared that crude oil transportation companies could insure their tanker and the cargo it contained by contacting the Iran insurance company.

He continued that the Iranian insurance company, a state owned firm, was accepted at the international level. Speaking on the enemy's efforts to damage the Khark Island, Honardust declared that the crude oil exports had not been halted even for a day, in the course of the Iraqi imposed war on Iran which was nearing two years.

Iranian oil installations and ports had maintained their capacities and potentials, he went on, and that so far more than 62 Iraqi fighters had been downed in Khark Island by the Iranian combatants, thus turning the island into a graveyard of the Iraqi fighters.

Reminding that Iran had so far safeguarded the Khark Island's oil installations, and that it will continue to do so, Honardust said those propaganda attacks were due to Iraq's failure to gain the upper hand in the war, therefore it aimed at stopping the Iranian oil exports through propaganda. Reiterating that the Iranian oil export shipments had not been stopped even for a day, Honardust proclaimed the names of 14 oil tankers which had left Iranian ports last week with shipments of crude and light oil for various countries.

ARMED FORCES JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUE NO 1,035

[Communique No 1,035 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. The self-sacrificing and powerful combatants of the Islamic Republic of Iran, supported by their faith and existing means, are making every effort to throw the inauspicious Saddam 'Aflaqi into the trashcan of history. Our units stationed at the western fronts fired on enemy positions, destroying one tank and one observation post belonging to the Iraqis and damaging two Iraqi tanks.

Our forces stationed at the Marivan front destroyed one Iraqi bunker, three 60-mm mortars and one fieldgun inside enemy territory and killed three Ba'thist mercenaries.

Sporadic exchanges of fire have continued during the past 24 hours along the country's southern fronts as a result of which some losses and casualties were inflicted on the enemy; some were killed, others injured.

The brave and self-sacrificing combatants of the gendarmerie opened fire on enemy communication lines across the Arvand Rud, stopping enemy traffic on the Al-Faw-Basra axis and destroying 14 Iraqi bunkers.

Iraqi aircraft appearing in the airspace of our Islamic country's operational region were driven off by our air defense units' fire.

[Signed] The Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran

OFFER TO EXCHANGE PRISONERS' FAMILIES RESTATED

GF312008 Tehran IRNA in English 1630 GMT 31 Aug 82

[Text] Tehran, Aug 31, IRNA -- The Islamic Republic of Iran has announced its readiness for the acceptance of Iraqi POW families to visit Iran, starting September 22nd, and is awaiting a response from Baghdad. The head of the Red Cross mission to Iran, Mr Armin Kobel, and Iranian Deputy Interior Minister Gholam 'Abbas Zare, who is also in charge of the headquarters for POW's families' visit, met and conferred at the Interior Ministry on Monday.

Mr Zare' announced the preparedness of the Islamic Republic of Iran in performing this service. He also said that Iran was ready for the receiving of Iraqi POW's families beginning September 22nd, marking the second anniversary week of the imposed war.

On September 22nd, 1980, Iraq launched an overall aggression against Iranian Muslim people and attacked Iranian air bases.

Zare' also announced Iran's readiness to despatch Iranian families to Iraq, to visit Iranian POW's through Kuwait and Turkey.

Mr Kobel, praising the proposal of the Islamic Republic of Iran, also said that the Red Cross was prepared to cooperate the execution of this proposal as an impartial party. Mr Kobel added that after the suggestion of the Islamic Republic of Iran for POW's families' visit, Mr John Hofliger, the head representative of the International Red Cross Society (IRCS) in the Middle East, met with the officials of Iran and Iraq and also visited Turkey and Kuwait. He, also, was highly impressed by the readiness of the Islamic Republic in implementing this plan, added the IRCS's delegate. Since last January when the Islamic Republic of Iran made the humanitarian proposal concerning exchange visits of POW's families, it has not received any response concerning the issue from Iraqi officials.

IRAQ PAVES WAY FOR U.S. MANEUVERS IN REGION

GF020716 Tehran International Service in Arabic 1730 GMT 1 Sep 82

[Unattributed commentary]

[Text] The latest service rendered by the agent Baghdad rulers to their American masters was paving the way for the U.S.-Omani maneuvers scheduled to be staged in October. The U.S. Pentagon had been looking for a good reason to announce its evil intentions toward the Islamic Middle East, so it came up with a pretext to propose these maneuvers by labeling them under the framework of "protecting the oilfields from any external aggression," especially in response to the Iraqi threat. This imperialist administration had delayed the announcement on these maneuvers until now. It exploited the empty threats made recently by the Iraqi rulers on instruction from those who support them overseas. The Pentagon believes that staging such maneuvers or announcing that they will be staged requires specific circumstances that make everyone living in the Middle East, and particularly in the Gulf region, feel that there is some threat to them. Therefore, the Pentagon, in agreement with the tyrannical regime in Iraq, sought to create a situation whereby it could interfere in this vital region of the Islamic world. Thus, Iraq issued its warning on attacking any ship which approaches Islamic ports. The imperialist trumpets have depicted this utterance as being an extension of the war zone toward the Persian Gulf waters -- a matter that will affect navigation in the region.

All this was for the purpose of camouflage only, because the United States does not need even to knock on doors since it has agents standing by and ready to obey its orders. This is exactly what has happened between the White House and its agent oppressive regime in Iraq which is motivated by its imperialist instinct to open the wide doors of the region and stoop to the predominance of its imperialist masters. Since this regime started its tyrannical aggression against Iran it has been opening one door after another for its American masters and the like in order to strengthen their obnoxious presence in this part of the Islamic world.

The AWACS planes did not come to the region until 10 days or more after the beginning of the tyrannical Iraqi aggression against the Islamic Republic. After the AWACS, U.S. arms deals with its agent regimes were made and followed by U.S. military expertise and U.S. advisers who began to fill the palaces of agent presidents and rulers. Afterwards, the "Bright Start" maneuvers were staged in four Arab countries. Eventually, the Baghdad rulers learned that their masters want to stage naval and air maneuvers in the Persian Gulf waters in order to firmly establish their presence in the region. So these traitors started to play their assigned roles. Less than 1 month ago, these defeated traitors declared the Gulf region a military zone which was mined and closed to military and commerical ships and boats. Actually, navigation had almost been affected by this deluded claim had it not been for the Islamic naval force that proved the claim false.

After this desperate attempt and as a result of the talks held in Baghdad by Henry [as heard] Solarz who was sent by the U.S. Congress to negotiate with Saddam and his traitorous aides, once again this regime carried out a new task assigned to it by imperialism. The regime announced its threats and all the imperialist circles clamored that these threats would drag the whole region into an endless large-scale war.

Some foreign newspapers commented, saying that Iran will react to the Iraqi threats by closing down the strategic Strait of Hormuz. These newspapers claimed that this reaction was aired in form of an Iranian warning. Actually, the Islamic Republic did not reply at all to Saddam's threats except by showing the utter mockery of these empty threats. Other imperialist newspapers commenting on the Ba'th threats said after Iran's oil installations have been exposed to destruction by Iraqi planes, it will adopt a similar stance and will strike at the oil installations owned by the Gulf countries. The trumpets of imperialism kept regurgitating these comments until the Pentagon found that circumstances were suitable enough to announce its intention of staging joint maneuvers with Oman.

In this context, we can detect the dirty Ba'th role in all imperialist designs which are aimed at linking the entire region to U.S. predominance, both militarily and politically. Thus, we see that the main factor responsible for paving the way so that these imperialist military maneuvers can take place in the oppressive regime in Iraq which now poses the key danger to the security and stability of the region.

It is novel, however, that this imperialist role played by the oppressive regime in Baghdad takes place at a time when a Nonaligned Movement foreign ministers conference is to be held -- a conference that will discuss the agenda of the summit that will be held in New Delhi after the summit site was changed from Baghdad. The regime in Baghdad preferred to work for imperialism to anything else. At a time when the voice of the Nonaligned Movement is at the highest pitch ever due to disasters brought on the world by the West and the East, the regime in Baghdad has no other response than to link the region to imperialist predominance. It has no other response than to threaten the region's security and the region's interests. In whose interest? The interest of its masters in the White House, who are enjoying the riches of the oppressed peoples.

MUSAVI ON NEED FOR TRAINED PUBLICITY OFFICIALS

LD021142 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 2 Sep 82

[Text] According to the Central News Unit, the international affairs under secretary in the Ministry of National Guidance, together with a number of responsible officials from that ministry and a number of counsellors and cultural attaches who are leaving for abroad in order to open and start the work of Islamic Republic of Iran houses of culture, met and had talks with Mr Mir-Hoseyn Musavi, the prime minister, last night.

During the meeting, the international affairs under secretary in the Ministry of National Guidance and a number of responsible officials brought their reports to the attention of the prime minister. Mr Musavi praised the hard work carried out by the international section of that ministry and spoke about the need to obtain adequate information for the benefit of personnel engaged in the work of that section.

He said: Those who walk along this path and carry out this particular work would have adequate knowledge of and faith and belief in Islamic culture in order to be successful in disseminating it. Our brothers should also possess adequate knowledge of the current foreign culture in those countries where they intend to carry out their activities since without having this knowledge the possibility of transmitting the revolution's message to those countries will be limited or nonexistent.

In another part of his speech, Mr Musavi said: The condition for having good publicity abroad is that those who prepare the publicity should be acquainted with all the cultural aspects of the country in question and should thereby prepare material carrying reports on the cultural achievements of our country's revolution and also strive toward investigating the cultural aspects of the country in question.

The prime minister also spoke about the joint activities of the National Guidance Ministry and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs saying: These two ministries in some way or another have their destinies linked and in putting forward joint plans they are engaging in joint activities. In future, too, these two ministries should strive to cooperate with each other in holding seminars and congresses and carrying out various plans and programs.

'COMMUNIST MINIGROUP' DISCOVERED; 100 ARRESTED

GF312042 Tehran ETTELA'AT in Persian 19 Aug 82 p 13

[Text] The Public Relations Office of the Islamic Revolution Prosecutor's Office has published a communique in relation to shattering the organization that caused the bloody murders in Amol and seizing information about the communist minigroup organization and a great deal of ammunitions. The text of this communique is as follows:

In the name of God, the merciful, the compassionate. "Did you see what the citizens of Amol did to you?" -- Imam Khomeyni.

The brave nation of Iran, the martyr-producing citizens of Amol: After the progress of the Islamic fighters that makes us proud, with the brave operations inside the Iraqi soil, with the extensive help of the Hezbollahi nation and continuous efforts of our brothers in the Islamic revolution prosecutor's office, in a big operation, the American organization of communists of Iran and the planners and people responsible for the bloody murder of 26 January last year in Amol was shattered. About 100 members, cadres and officials of the branches in towns were arrested.

Also, a great number of safehouses, hidden and open printing houses of the organization, various types of ammunition, and a large number of RPG's, explosives, bulletproof clothing, one complete transceiver set, typing and printing machines and documents, information belonging to the group about the attack against Amol, their connection with Bani-Sadr and Rajavi, their communication with the agents of the great Satan in Kordestan and also many boxes of scarce and expensive medicines that the named minigroup had supplied for use in the war were discovered and sealed.

We should explain that this American minigroup that believed in participating in the war between Iran and Iraq has stolen many arms from the fronts and has used most of these arms against the citizens of Amol. They spilled the pure blood of our dear Hezbollahi nation in the streets of Amol. Thus, they remained loyal to their promise to the great Satan, the United States. In this way, many families were bereaved.

In relation to this, with the effort and help of the prosecutor of Ahvaz and the revolution guards of the zone, a great amount of ammunition and a great number of heavy and light arms that were hidden in Abadan were discovered and confiscated.

With the hope of victory of the guards of Islam and the shattering of the internal agents of America, peace be upon whoever follows the guidance.

MOJAHEDIN ISSUE STATEMENT ON OPERATIONS

GF291856 (Clandestine) Free Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1500 GMT 29 Aug 82

[Text] According to our correspondent's report, the office of the Mojahedin-e Khalq Organization [MKO] in Paris has issued a statement concerning MKO operations during the past few days. It states:

On 18 August, a group of Khomeyni's guards in a post named after the annihilated Beheshti in west Tehran were attacked by the armed fighters. Two of the guards, Nikravesh and Shekari, were killed.

On 26 August, the guards at Dehqani post in Rasht's Farhang Square were attacked by the fighting forces opposing the regime. Two of them, Ebrahim Mohammadi-'Adl and Rahman Raaj, were annihilated.

In an attack by the armed combatants, mullah Montazeri's representative in Rasht, named Mullah 'Ali Akbar (?Ruhi), was severely wounded.

Mostafa Haqshenas, commander of the guards and the committees of Arak township, was destroyed by the armed fighters on 27 August.

Our correspondent in Tehran has reported that the latest statement by the MKO was widely distributed in Tehran's districts last night. The statement also notes that the punishment of the criminal mullahs will continue.

MUSAVI BANS FURTHER TRANSFER OF JEWELRY ABROAD

GF011635 Tehran ETTELA'AT in Persian 12 Aug 82 p 1

[Text] The Public Relations Office of the prime minister's office announced: Mr Mir-Hoseyn Musavi, the prime minister, in a letter to the Ministry of Economy and Finance, has ordered the cancellation of Clause 3 approved by the Cabinet concerning permits to take personal jewelry valued at up to 400,000 rials out of the country on the basis of another Cabinet decision. Following is the text of the prime minister's letter:

In His exalted name. Brother Namazi, please order the cancellation of Clause 3 No 32004 approved on 17 July 1982 by the Cabinet allowing passengers to take personal jewelry out of the country until a further decision has been made by the Cabinet and announce that former regulations will be in effect.

Arab Summit Conference

Arab leaders attending the Arab summit in Fes adopted a joint peace plan for settling the Palestinian problem based on Saudi, Tunisian and U.S. initiatives, KUNA reported. The text of the draft Arab peace plan, published by the UAE paper AL-KHALIJ and carried by WAKH, made reference to the Saudi and Tunisian peace initiatives. Among its eight points, the plan calls for Israel's withdrawal from all Arab territories occupied in 1967, including Arab Jerusalem; the dismantlement of Israeli settlements built since 1967; a short transition period in the West Bank and Gaza followed by the establishment of a Palestinian state led by the PLO and with its capital in Jerusalem; and peace guarantees for countries in the region -- including Palestine -- to be laid down by the UN Security Council.

Sources cited by Nouakchott radio indicated that the Arab leaders intend to send a three-man delegation to the United States to discuss the Middle East issue.

SPA reported that a "reconciliation" meeting was held on 8 September attended by the kings of Saudi Arabia, Morocco and Jordan, the Kuwaiti amir and the presidents of Iraq and Syria. Earlier, Saudi King Fahd met with Syrian President Hafiz al-Asad in a closed session, Riyadh radio confirmed. However, a SANA correspondent cited by Damascus radio asserted that the meetings that took place between some heads of state were only for "protocol reasons." Meanwhile, Monte Carlo radio said Al-Asad was not present at the latest closed summit session.

The PDRY president left the conference unexpectedly after press reports of a coup attempt in his country, KUNA reported.

Israel

Prime Minister Menahem Begin, in his second speech of the day to the Knesset, launched a point-by-point attack on U.S. President Ronald Reagan's Middle East peace plan and threatened the opposition parties with new elections in May or June 1983. Claiming that Reagan's plan has distorted the content of the Camp David accords, Begin said "nobody will determine for us the borders of Eretz Yisra'el," and the Israeli Cabinet will maintain its rejection of the Reagan proposals "with total dedication." In his remarks, which were broadcast live by Jerusalem radio, Begin claimed that while Reagan had adopted his plan for political reasons, the issue for Israel concerns lives and homeland. Judaea and Samaria are for the Jewish people, he stressed. Excoriating the opposition Alignment for its "glee" over the Reagan plan, Begin said early elections will prove the real strength of the opposition. The friendship between Israel and the United States will continue to exist long after Reagan's plan -- which was "stillborn" -- is nothing but a memory, the prime minister asserted.

Begin began his speech by revealing that the Israeli Air Force had just destroyed another Syrian SAM battery in Lebanon. He renewed his warning to the Syrians that Israel will not permit them to deploy SAM's in Lebanon and that any such battery introduced there will be destroyed.

Lebanon

Military Situation -- Israeli planes attacked and destroyed a SAM-9 launching vehicle in the Dahr al-Baydar area north of Bhamdun, the IDF spokesman announced in a statement reported by IDF radio. A Syrian military spokesman confirmed that four Israeli aircraft bombed Syrian antiaircraft defenses in the area, hitting an air defense vehicle, according to Damascus radio.

U.S. Marines will leave Beirut 10 September, Beirut radio reported, citing an official announcement.

PLO Warning to Israel -- In a statement carried by Aden Voice of Palestine radio, a PLO military spokesman confirmed that the PLO holds eight IDF POW's and warned that Israel must stop its "savage treatment" of detainees held in camps or the PLO will be forced to change its methods of dealing with prisoners -- methods which currently are in accord with the Geneva Convention.

Egypt

The international community should devote all its capabilities in the coming months to achieving a just and comprehensive Middle East settlement through negotiations involving all concerned sides, including representatives of the Palestinian people, President Husni Mubarak declared at a banquet speech in Bucharest broadcast by Cairo radio. Earlier, Mubarak said in a Belgrade press conference broadcast by Cairo radio that although the U.S. peace plan is not 100-percent positive, the Americans should be encouraged to continue with their initiative because it will be possible to find a solution to the "negative aspects" through negotiations. It would be wrong to reject Reagan's initiative outright, he added.

Saudi Arabia

An Interior Ministry official cited by Riyadh radio announced that despite Iranian assurances that pilgrims would not engage in political activities, a group of Iranian pilgrims gathered outside a Medina mosque and chanted political slogans, causing the police to disperse them. Tehran radio claimed that thousands of Iranian pilgrims, led by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeyni's pilgrimage representative, along with pilgrims from other countries, marched through the streets of Medina to protest Tehran bombings and the Fes summit. However, a Saudi Interior Ministry source cited by SPA declared that the Tehran version of this event is untrue: No pilgrims from other countries attended the gathering and there was no mention of bombings or the Fes summit.

KASHMIR CHIEF MINISTER ABDULLAH DIES 8 SEP

BK090313 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0240 GMT 9 Sep 82

[Excerpts] Chief Minister of Jammu and Kashmir Sheikh Mohammad Abdullah is dead. He was 77. According to an official announcement in Srinagar, he passed away late last evening. The body of the departed leader will lie in state for public view at the polo ground at Srinagar from this morning till 0700 tomorrow. Namaz-i-Zanaza [prayer before burial] will be offered at Hazratbal shrine tomorrow at 1100 hours. The burial will take place immediately after Namaz-i-Zanaza. A state funeral will be given. As a mark of respect, the Central Government has decided to observe state mourning for 2 days. Flags will fly at halfmast throughout the country on all Central Government buildings. Central Government offices and institutions will remain closed throughout the country today.

The Jammu and Kashmir Government has announced an 11-day state mourning. All offices, educational and other establishments in the state will remain closed for 3 days.

The son of Sheikh Abdullah, Dr Farooq Abdullah, has been sworn in as the new chief minister. In a message, he has appealed to the people to maintain amity and unity and discipline at this crucial hour of history. He said Sheikh Abdullah had lit many lamps, the light of which will help us to translate his dreams of a naya [new] Kashmir into a reality.

President Zail Singh has expressed deep grief over the death of Sheikh Mohammad Abdullah, whom he described as a great nationalist and a patriot with sterling qualities. In his condolence message, Zail Singh said the country has lost a veteran freedom fighter and champion of democracy and socialism. He praised him for his iron determination and broad vision. The president said the death of Sheikh Mohammad Abdullah has created a vacuum in the national life which is difficult to fill.

TALKS ON FRENCH URANIUM SUPPLY ADJOURN

BK081305 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1230 GMT 8 Sep 82

[Text] The 3-day talks between the Indian and French delegations on the supply of low enriched uranium to Tarapur atomic plant adjourned in New Delhi today. An official spokesman told newsmen later that the two sides will report on the current round of discussions to their respective authorities and will be in touch with each other. During the talks various aspects of the question of supply of uranium were discussed. Both sides clarified to each other their respective positions. The talks were held in an atmosphere of cordiality and understanding.

EXPRESS VIEWS FRENCH TERMS FOR TARAPUR FUEL

BK081321 Delhi INDIAN EXPRESS in English 1 Sep 82 p 6

[Editorial: "In a Blind Alley"]

[Text] A sudden turnabout by the French on conditions for the supply of low enriched uranium fuel for Tarapur has knocked the bottom out of the understanding thought to have been reached with the United States on continued operation of the nuclear power station. The new impasse is even more complex than the earlier one since it will now be a trilateral argument with a seemingly disengaged United States and a not fully engaged France. When Mrs Gandhi was in Washington it had been agreed that France would supply the requisite fuel on the basis of International Atomic Energy Agency [IAEA] safeguards to which there was reference in the Indo-U.S. agreement. This, it was assumed, would release the U.S. from its newly acquired obligation to make further supply of enriched uranium contingent on fullscope safeguards whose rigours India was totally unprepared to accept as it would entail going far beyond the 1963 Tarapur agreement, valid until 1993.

When the French foreign minister, Mr Claude Cheysson, visited Delhi last month he stated that France would supply Tarapur with enriched uranium under the same conditions stipulated in the 1963 Indo-U.S. agreement, with IAEA safeguards. Euphoria prevented a clearer statement of which safeguards the French had in mind. Subsequent communications from Paris indicate that France will insist on current (not 1963) IAEA safeguards which imply the revised safeguards adopted a few years back and endorsed by the London suppliers group which has its own "guidelines for nuclear transfers" to which the French are committed. These safeguards are fullscope insofar as they provide for "pursuit" in "perpetuity".

Whether this is a volte-face by France on pressure from the U.S. and the London suppliers group or a consistent misreading of the situation by the Indian negotiators -- from among whom experts of the Atomic Energy Commission appear to have been excluded -- is not certain, possibly both. Either way, a French team due in Delhi has been told to put off its visit until the present contretemps is resolved. If France will not accept the Indian view, the Indo-U.S. understanding will come unstuck. The option for India will then be what it was from the start, namely, to go ahead with use of its indigenously developed mixed oxide fuel or MOX and leave the Americans to worry about how they should bridge the difference which is of their own making.

EXPRESS ASSESSES TALKS ON TARAPUR FUEL

Part I

BK051445 Delhi INDIAN EXPRESS in English 30 Aug 82 p 6

[Part I of A.G. Noorani article: "The Messy Tarapur Deal -- I"]

[Text] It is truly disturbing that a matter of such importance as the recent accord with the U.S. on Tarapur passed muster in Parliament under a haze of generalities. If the opposition was pitiably ill-equipped to ask the pertinent questions, the government was least bothered to explain the implications of a deal which bristles with complexities.

The people, surely, have a right to know the gains and losses which the compromise will entail and whether, on balance, the result is in the national interest.

The cryptic announcement on July 29 of "a solution" which envisages the use of French, in place of American, enriched uranium at Tarapur while keeping the 1963 Indo-U.S. agreement in force "in all other respects" hardly conceals the fact that many issues are left unresolved. An American press guidance issued the next day said that "the matter of spare parts remains under review". They have been due for two years. Disagreement on reprocessing of spent fuel is openly admitted. The second shipment of fuel authorized in September 1980 is still held up.

To resolve the deadlock, representatives of India and the U.S. held three rounds of talks in April, July and November last year. The course of these negotiations provides a clue to the accord. At the very outset the U.S. proposed a quaint formula: termination of the agreement and release of both sides from obligations under it except that the obligations in regard to the application of safeguards would remain. Thus, the U.S. would cease to supply the enriched uranium fuel for Tarapur but the IAEA [International Atomic Energy Agency] safeguards over it would continue. There were two additional points: The material supplied should not be used for explosive purposes, and should not be transferred.

As a sop it was conceded that once the agreement was ended, the provision or "joint determination" in regard to reprocessing of spent fuel would lapse. The concession was reiterated in July as well as in November. The claim to veto on reprocessing, untenable as it was, was consistently offered to be abandoned; with equal consistence, the demand for continuance of safeguards was maintained.

India, on its part, noted the concession on reprocessing but maintained that if the agreement is terminated all the rights and obligations ended. Official American documents had recognised the "unique" character of the Tarapur agreement in that India's acceptance of safeguards was explicitly linked to America's undertaking to supply the fuel. India insisted that either the agreement be continued in its totality or terminated wholly.

The U.S. made various suggestions, all based on the termination of the agreement, not its continuance. These formulae were concerned with the modes by which the safeguards could be continued despite the break; whether bilaterally between India and the IAEA or with the U.S. endorsement. One such formula astutely proposed including Tarapur in the much more stringent safeguards agreement of 1977 with IAEA in respect of the Russian heavy water for the Rajasthan Atomic Power Project I (RAPP-I) or in an agreement "to be concluded in connection with a new source of supply to Tarapur". This was the genesis of the French connection.

At the next round of talks in July, India made it plain that the question of a new source of supply for Tarapur did not arise at the moment as India intended to run the plant with mixed oxide fuel [MOX] utilising plutonium obtained from the reprocessing of the spent fuel.

This prompted the Americans to ask details of the MOX which the Indians readily gave. The spent fuel would enable India to keep Tarapur working till 1989-90. The question for self-reliance had begun to show impressive results and this injected confidence in Indian representatives no less than the unassailable legal ground on which they stood.

As we shall see, American self-confidence was based on other grounds. Its representatives blandly claimed that the agreement gave the U.S. "certain vested rights... these rights were rights in perpetuity with regard to the continuance of safeguards".

The claim was, of course, a spurious one. The 1963 agreement remains in force for 30 years. The life of the Indo-U.S.-IAEA safeguards agreements is coterminous with that of the 1963 agreement (S. 27). However, in response to American susceptibilities India threw a feeler. The main concerns of the U.S. were use of the fuel for peaceful purposes and their non-transfer. These could be dealt with when a statement was made in Parliament on Tarapur.

The U.S. grabbed the feeler and tried to widen its scope by including acceptance of safeguards as well. India's response was to make explicit its acceptance of the ban on transfer and to hint that a more restrictive condition on use of spent fuel for Tarapur alone could be accepted but not the safeguards.

On November 12, 1981 India formally, explicitly informed the U.S. during the talks that it intended to abrogate the agreement unless it received "guarantees" of supply. It would be done in about a month's time. The U.S. representatives pleaded that the statement be delayed till after Secretary of State Haig's visit to India which was due in December.

Having itself proposed termination of the agreement of mutual consent the U.S. had come around to accept its termination by India unilaterally provided that, in the statement in Parliament announcing the step, its concerns regarding peaceful uses, transfer and safeguards were met. India accepted the first two, but not the safeguards.

Informed opinion within the country expected such an announcement by India in December. Instead, everyone was surprised to read Prime Minister Mrs Indira Gandhi's cautious statement on December 22 that a final decision "should ensure that the Tarapur atomic power station continues to operate... apart from that, we have to look at overall bilateral relations with the U.S."

Obviously, something had happened between November 12 and December 22 to induce second thoughts. Apparently, on the eve of the November talks the idea of introducing another supplier, preferably France, was taken up privately in talks between Mr Eric Gonsalves, secretary in the External Affairs Ministry, and Mr James L. Malone, U.S. assistant secretary of state.

Various legal exercises were undergone but the Americans were diffident of the legality of supply by U.S. to India from outside U.S. territory under their Nuclear Non-Proliferation Act [NNP]. It would seem that the French connection was very much an Indian suggestion. Discussion centered on modalities for introducing the French, legally.

The idea of unilateral Indian termination, however, still held ground and was preferred even by the U.S. The French would supply the fuel under a new safeguards agreement. Implicit in the arrangement was, of course, abandonment of the U.S. claim to veto on reprocessing. The U.S. did consider the possibility of keeping the 1963 agreement in force but only to reject it. Would it require amendment of the 1963 agreement or only a waiver by the U.S. of its right to be the sole supplier of all the Tarapur's fuel needs (Art. II)?

The recent accord runs counter to the entire course of these negotiations. The 1963 agreement remains in force and with it the controversy over reprocessing and uncertainty over the scope of safeguards.

Part II

BK051515 Delhi INDIAN EXPRESS in English 31 Aug 82 p 6

[Conclusion of A.G. Noorani article: "The Sudden Volte-Face -- II"]

[Text] The accord on Tarapur is a far cry from Foreign Minister Mr P.V. Narasimha Rao's remark in Parliament on April 29, 1981 on the Tarapur agreement. "The burial has to be decent. We chant mantras even at a funeral procession. Therefore, we have to think of the mantras and think of the modalities'" of burial. On August 13, 1982, he told Parliament, almost with a sense of triumph, "India and the U.S. have agreed that fuel for Tarapur will be received from France under IAEA safeguards within the framework of the 1963 Indo-U.S. agreement, which continues valid till 1993." The joint announcement on July 29 also spoke of continuance of the accord "in all other respects (except fuel supply) including provision for IAEA safeguards."

At the very least, this is a dangerously vague formulation. For, the 1963 agreement does not define the extent and scope of IAEA safeguards at all. Nor does even the Indo-U.S.-IAEA safeguards agreement of 1971. The safeguards system is defined in a document adopted by IAEA's Board of Governors in 1965 and finally revised in 1968. The 1971 tripartite pact is based on this safeguards system. But the nuclear haves, including France, and their allies have since pledged themselves to a different set of IAEA safeguards. In 1982 it is meaningless and even misleading to speak of "IAEA safeguards within the framework" of the 1963 agreement.

This applies all the more to the French foreign minister, Mr Claude Cheysson's laconic remark in New Delhi on August 8 that "France will only insist upon the same IAEA safeguards as are applicable elsewhere." The crucial question is which IAEA safeguards, precisely?

On August 20, 1973 the director-general of the IAEA submitted to the Board of Governors a memorandum of enormous consequence -- Gov 1621.

It concerned the extension of the 1965-68 safeguards to that they continued even after the co-operation agreement (like the one on Tarapur) is ended and last for the entire "period of actual use" of the nuclear material supplied as well as material produced from the supplied material -- the pursuit and perpetuity clause, proper. In February 1974, the French governor, Mr. Bertrand Goldsmidt, vigorously objected to this. On January 11, 1978 France joined the other members of the London suppliers' club in notifying to IAEA that "when considering the export of nuclear material, equipment or technology, it will act in accordance with the club's "guidelines for nuclear transfers." They go beyond the 1965-68 safeguards system and explicitly adopt Gov 1621. Is it at all surprising then that only a few days after the Cheysson visit France asked us to negotiate the safeguards directly with the IAEA -- as the Russians had done for RAPP-I in 1977 -- knowing full well that the IAEA would impose tighter safeguards, pursuit clause and all?

The Tarapur agreement and the IAEA safeguards were to lapse in 1993. There was no "pursuit clause" for safeguards beyond that year till the material and its products were in use.

The U.S. was keenly aware of the developments since, and during the talks on forging the French connection it stipulated that "it is our understanding that the new safeguards agreement for the French fuel would provide equivalent coverage of the items currently covered by the Indo-U.S.-IAEA trilateral. Obviously such an agreement would be in a form consistent with current IAEA practice."

If the Government of India is to accept "current IAEA practice", it is worse than absurd for its ministers to assure Parliament, as they did on August 11, that "there is no new element" in the accord with France and that it is "merely a sales contractor and there are no other safeguards" beyond those which India had IAEA in 1971.

One is not unaware of the fact that the London club's guidelines, while insisting on adherence to Gov 1621, provide that "exceptions should be made only after consultation with the parties to this understanding." The U.S. is one of them and it has insisted categorically on "continued IAEA safeguards on the U.S.-origin reactors and fuel as well as the material produced through their use -- the pursuit clause.

Under the statute of the IAEA the accord with France will go before its Board of Governors for approval even if the U.S. chooses to regard its recent understanding with India as a waiver of its right as an exclusive supplier rather than an amendment of the Tarapur agreement.

What happens in the board is anyone's guess but the newly-elected D-G of IAEA, Mr Hans Bix, has made statements on the inadequacy of IAEA's old safeguard system and the need for its revision. He has specifically criticised India. In an interview with THE NEW YORK TIMES published on February 19, 1982, he "praised" the U.S. for the supply of F-16s to Pakistan as being calculated to wean it away from nuclear weapons. He accused India of resisting reasonable demands [quotation marks as published] by IAEA on safeguards. Hasty clarifications helped little. India sent an aide memoire five days later in protest. That an apology was tendered in April is less to the point than the fact that the IAEA of 1982 is a different body from the one under its former D-G, Dr Sigvard Eklund.

Contrast the net result with the course of the negotiations last year [as published]. The U.S. was agreeable to unilateral termination and to reprocessing. Disagreement centered only on safeguards. We had been warned of American perseverance on this and its determination to insert a perpetuity and pursuit clause.

On June 19, 1980, the U.S. administration has publicly recognised that the Tarapur agreement was signed "a number of years before the development of Gov 1621 or the nuclear suppliers' guidelines" and did not provide for continuance of safeguards after termination. All through the negotiations the U.S. tried to rewrite the agreement by providing for the continuance despite its own flagrant breach in stopping the supplies. India's acceptance of France as a supplier was welcomed because the U.S. and France were agreed on the safeguards issue, anyway.

Finally, with a superb sense of timing, the U.S. used its trump card just before the projected Haig visit -- economic sanctions. It helpfully reminded India that the NNP Act, 1977, had so amended the Export-Import Bank Act, 1954 as to make termination of safeguards a ground for termination of EXIM bank loans and create "congressional pressures to impose a variety of sanctions." Of course, the President is empowered by the act to permit the bank to continue the financing. As we know, in the case of Pakistan, Congress and the President made significant waivers.

Had India gone ahead and abrogated the agreement one can be sure that the U.S. would have reconciled itself to the fait accompli in good time especially if we had cared to perform the surgery after skillful administration of anaesthesia, politically. The Third World's sympathies would have been entirely with us, in any event.

Even if on an appraisal of the national interest we decided to accept the French connection, we could still have secured a better deal than the one just concluded. The Americans could not have failed to notice India's anxiety to conclude a deal, its haste and the lack of preparations. They drove a hard bargain retaining the safeguards and a say in Tarapur even after the French step-in. The daulity will only add to the mess. Whether we can salvage anything now as the fine print of the deal is being drafted remains to be seen. But the Government of India has acquitted itself too creditably in the negotiations so far and done no better in its accountability to Parliament and the nation.

AFGHAN TRADE TEAM HOLDS TALKS IN DELHI 7 SEP

BK080131 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1530 GMT 7 Sep 82

[Text] India has urged Afghanistan to increase imports of nontraditional items from her. This follows a meeting between the visiting Afghan trade delegation and Commerce Secretary Abid Hussein in New Delhi today. The Afghan delegation is led by President of Foreign Trade (G.H. Bayat).

Later, at the first plenary session both sides discussed matters, including export of Indian tea to Afghanistan and import of dried fruit by India. Closer links between the banking institutions of the two countries also figured.

The Kabul delegation also has a separate meeting with the Engineering Export Promotion Council and discussed the prospects of importing Indian engineering goods.

KHOMEYNI SPEAKS ON DIFFERENCES WITH IRAQ

LD081248 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 8 Sep 82

[Text] Imam Khomeyni, leader of the revolution and founder of the Islamic Republic of Iran, today received Council of Guardians member Hojjat ol-Eslam Janati; (Mulana Muhammad Hafezi Huzur), leader of the Muslims of Bangladesh; and Professor (Faruq), (Mulana Emamuddin Taha), (Mulana Fazul Haq), (Mulana 'Azizul Haq) and (Mulana Habib), who are also leaders of the Muslims of Bangladesh. During this meeting, the leader of the Muslims in Bangladesh, while expressing his happiness at meeting with the imam and visiting Iran and declaring his joy at the restoration of the greatness and glory of Islam in Iran, expressed his hope for the Islamization of Bangladesh and Iraq. The imam of the nation then made a speech as follows:

In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. I am grateful that you have come here and I hope that during the time you are in Tehran you will allow some of those accompanying you and who can get in touch with the people to go and talk to the people and see what the situation is in Iran. Are the people pleased with the situation or not? They should go and see how the people enthusiastically assist the government and they should see that in Iran quiet, Islamic rule is established and the people are free. If you go to the Friday prayers, to the departments and to other organizations you will see that the people have no goal other than Islam. In the war, too, the people are supporting the government.

However, concerning the basic and fundamental issues of the Muslims, we must admit that the Shi'ite and Sunni brothers, either because of outside elements that have been at work or failures because of their own shortcomings, have not been able to forge the unity Muslims should have in the face of infidels and nonbelievers. Even now they are prevented from doing so; there is a great deal of disagreement around Pakistan, India, Bangladesh and other regions and this has weakened the Muslims and strengthened those who wish to dominate them.

We expect all of them to try to resolve the differences in their own midst and among neighboring countries so that the Muslims may become truly united in the face of the infidels and the nonbelievers. They wish to destroy Islam so they can rob us of our virtues. At a time when all the Muslims are preoccupied with the infidels, the polytheists and the hypocrites, it is no time for us to fight among ourselves.

However, concerning our differences with Iraq, which you might be unaware of, the fact is that ever since the time I was in exile in An-Najaf, Saddam has been known to the people to be an opponent of Islam and a bloodthirsty and murderous person. Of course, at that time he was not yet head of the government. However, when he became president, he attacked Iran from land, sea and air, under U.S. incitement and on the pretext that Iranians are Persians and Magi. When our nation became aware of this, it stopped them with the armed forces of Islam. Even now, as we approach the eve of the third year of the war, Saddam is the aggressor and we have always acted in self-defense. In accordance with the decrees of Islam, the Koran and wisdom, we cannot refrain from defending ourselves.

Each day they drop bombs or missiles on Iranian cities and defenseless people. As long as they continue this aggression, we will continue to defend ourselves. Throughout this time Saddam has repeatedly called for peace, but his peace would entail our giving Khuzestan to him. Even now we are in favor of peace, provided the aggressor is repressed. Our nation is on the scene and will persist until it achieves its legitimate demands because the Iraqis came to our country and wherever they conquered they destroyed by bombing, to the extent that many towns and villages in the west and south have been reduced to rubble.

What we say is that the aggressor should pay us reparations and that qualified people should come and identify and punish the aggressor. We have never violated the rights of the people of Iraq and although our forces could hit Baghdad or Basra, they will not do so. You should investigate and see that each day they hit Abadan and other cities and kill our defenseless people, yet they say they are killing military personnel.

We are brothers of the Iraqi nation and regard its soil as sacred. It is the shrine of the members of the prophet's household, the lord of the faithful [Imam 'Ali] and Imam Hoseyn, may God's peace be upon them. Two thirds of the people of that country are Shi'ite and the Sunni brothers are also in agreement with us, while Saddam is against the very basis of Islam and is a follower of that 'Aflaqite man. We are prepared for peace, but it is not permissible to not punish the aggressor and to not receive reparations for aggression. Islam will not permit this.

With the assistance of foreign radios they spread the propaganda that Iran wishes to occupy the countries of the Gulf. As we have repeatedly announced in the past, the holy prophet will not give us permission for such an action. However, God, intellect and religion allow the Muslims to defend their lives, property and honor. We are a wronged nation and we ask you to investigate issues concerning us.

In Lebanon you witnessed that a sham, 2-million-strong government, namely Israel, confronted 1 billion Muslims, attacked and committed many crimes that were unprecedented in history. Nevertheless, you see that Islamic governments are trying hard to recognize it. We say that Israel should be obliterated from the face of the earth and that Jerusalem belongs to the Muslims and is Muslim's first qibla.

May God grant success to you all.

MILITARY COMMANDERS HOLD PRESS CONFERENCE

GF081732 Tehran IRNA in English 1649 GMT 8 Sep 82

[Text] Urumiyeh, Sept 8, (IRNA) -- Commander of the Islamic Revolutionary Guards [IRGC] Mohsen Reza'i, and the commander of the Ground Forces of Islamic Republic, Colonel Sayyad Shirazi, said that the Islamic combatants would continue their just struggle against the Iraqi aggressor forces and also to root out armed counterrevolutionaries conspiring in western Iran. [Words indistinct] war has reached a new stage," said Reza'i, "and I hope with the help of the Muslim people the fate of Saddam and the (Iraqi) Ba'th Party is decided."

The two commanders, who were speaking at a press conference at the "Hamzeh Seyyed ash-Shohada" military headquarters, in western Iran, emphasised that the Iraqi forces should be confronted firmly. Reza'i said that after the Ramadan offensive, which took place in southern Iraqi territory last July, the Islamic forces had "experienced" that the enemy forces should be expelled "from all southern and western fronts." He added [words indistinct] no longer and with the recent activities of the Iraqi Muslims against the regime, "we reached the point that we must engage the enemy forces in all fronts...so that, God willing, this fire (aimed at Iranian border regions) would be silenced."

The commander of the IRGC said that much effort was being exerted to save the Iraqi regime. Also, he said, Iraq had even given some concessions to the Islamic Republic. But, he added, Iran had expressed its conditions in the past and would not relent until the Iraqi president was tried and punished. Concerning the current meeting of the Arab leaders in Fes, Reza'i said that one of the important issues being discussed behind closed doors there was the Iraqi imposed war and the fear among reactionary Arab regimes of the region that with the fall of Saddam an Islamic revolution would occur in Iraq.

Also the commander of the ground forces, Colonel 'Ali Sayyad Shirazi, said in connection with the recent moves against the counterrevolutionaries, the "Hamzeh Seyyed ash-Shohada" headquarters was first a refuge for repentant counterrevolutionaries and second a centre for rooting the "elements of corruption" and "remnants" of the colonialists. Shirazi added that the cooperation of the ground forces and the IRGC had resulted in the counterrevolutionaries flight from the populated regions of western Iran to the refuge of mountainous areas.

The IRGC commander then said that the counterrevolutionaries had "committed suicide" by planting mines in village roads and martyring innocent people. He said this was because the people of the world knew that those who fought the Islamic Republic were in fact fighting the people.

ARMED FORCES JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUE NO 1,041

LD081822 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 8 Sep 82

[Communique No 1,041 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. Some of the events on the fronts of the war between truth and falsehood are brought to the attention of the heroic and martyr-nurturing Iranian nation:

Exchanges of fire are continuing between the combative forces of the army of Islam and the Ba'thist mercenaries on the Bakhtaran front and in the Musian area. As a result, three Saddamaist observation posts were destroyed.

Exchanges of fire have been continuing intermittently on the southern fronts over the past 24 hours. They were more intense in one of the operational areas [as heard].

The city of Abadan came under heavy, long-range fire from the hostile forces. As a result of the enemy's shelling, one mosque, four residential houses and one car were destroyed and two people were [words indistinct].

On several occasions, a number of Iraqi aircraft appeared in the skies over the war zones, but they were forced to flee by the timely fire of the vigilant combatants of the surface-to-air defense units.

Yesterday eight of the personnel of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran achieved the lofty honor of martyrdom and hurried to join God. May their souls rest in peace.

8 KILLED, 39 INJURED IN ABADAN SHELLING

GF081746 Tehran IRNA in English 1725 GMT 8 Sep 82

[Text] Ahvaz, Sept. 8, (IRNA) -- Eight civilians were martyred and 39 others were wounded on Tuesday night and Wednesday as Abadan's residential sections were savagely barraged by the Iraqi long-range artillery fire. Three small children were among those wounded by shelling, which also caused fires in four residential units, in the city's poor areas.

KHOMEYNI MESSAGE ON ANTIREGIME ACTIVITIES

LD082004 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 8 Sep 82

[Excerpts] According to a Central News Unit report, Martyrs Day was observed today at an auspicious ceremony held at the Imam Khomeyni Mosque bazar in the presence of state personalities and with the participation of our ever-present Islamic nation. The ceremony began with a recitation of verses from the glorious words of God and a song "[title indistinct]" sung by a group of children.

A message from Imam Khomeyni, the leader of the revolution and founder of the Islamic Republic of Iran, was then read by Hojjat ol-Eslam Hajj Seyyed Ahmad Khomeyni:

[Begin recording] In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. "And do give them the glad tidings of God's days!" [Koranic verse]

Noting God's days, as commanded by God Almighty, is man-making. The events that have taken place in God's days have been instructive and enlightening for history and men throughout history.

Let the black-hearted, both at home and abroad, do and say whatever they wish and let them perpetrate any crime that blackens the face of history, blackens the face of their fellow hypocrites, and let them portray their explosions -- which are the deeds of bankrupt criminals that any [word indistinct] individual could carry out -- as armed uprising for the salvation of the people, as street fighting for the overthrow of Islam and the Islamic Republic in order to gladden their own hearts and those of animals of their ilk to bring about a propaganda coup for the mass media in the service of the archcriminals and against Islam and the Islamic Republic.

Iran's honest nation should admit that the black-hearted hypocrites and their collaborators have surpassed history's criminals and the world's riff-raff in malignancy and baseness. I do not think that you could find a group or bunch of people whose crimes and baseness could match the dimensions of this hypocrite minigroup, who boast of genuine Islam and yet condemn the noble Koran and its verses and its very being with insolence and impudence. They claim to back the people and yet they behave in this manner with the poor and toiling people and the weak class. Let them plant bombs and refer to it as armed street fighting, and let them boast of their power while taking to their heels and slinking into their dens like robbers and holdup men. Let them boast of statesmanship while isolating themselves from and exposing themselves to the people. Let them boast of knowledge and a world outlook while being so ignorant in simple issues that they tear their very fabric into shreds. Let them boast of serving the homeland and the country while thus rendering services to the stubborn foes of the country and homeland. Let them babble of independence and liberty while being so subservient to the Satanical powers!

In Jamaran last night I heard the thunder of the explosion that took place in the city park at the hands of these criminals. That immense explosion took place in a spot which is the focal point of the needy class, small tradesmen and workers, women, men, children and the weak and needy class. According to reports, it resulted in tens of martyrs and injured people, among whom expectant women and small babies could be seen. You should know that, if they could, these minigroups would carry out explosions in Tehran, particularly in the southern parts of the city, which have made the most self-sacrifices toward realizing Islamic goals. This is what they term as their armed uprising and street fighting against the Guards Corps! This is their logic when they have fallen into the web of devils for the sake of worldly rule!

And our honorable nation should know that these people always appraise the deeds they carry out. Our honorable nation should know that these people always assess the deeds they accomplish in order to carry out further deeds if they deem these to be to their advantage. If they deemed it to be in their interest to practise responsibility, then they would do so and they would then portray the deed as a master stroke by their combatant guerrillas or as a victory, or, if possible, as armed street battle. This would be imposed on the mass media. We would then expect foreign radios to portray this foolish deed as a defeat for the Islamic Republic and as the instability of the government for the benefit of simpletons.

I humbly beseech God Almighty to save us from the evil of our baser passions and from the domestic and foreign Satan [loud cheers]. A salute to the martyrs and injured of 8 September and their like!

[Signed] Ruhollah Musavi-Khomeyni [wild applause] [end recording]

MUSAVI, OFFICIALS DISCUSS 'ILLEGAL ARMED GROUPS'

LD081110 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 8 Sep 82

[Text] According to the Central News Unit, the Security Council met today under the chairmanship of the prime minister.

During this session, military and security commanders from all over the country submitted reports. After discussions, the latest developments and events in Kordestan and Western Azarbayjan and ways and means of fighting against illegal armed groups in the region were reviewed.

At the end of the session a report was submitted to the council on treacherous acts committed by a number of wicked tribal chiefs in Fars, who are now in the hands of Islamic justice.

TEHRAN COMMITTEE ISSUES COMMUNIQUE ON CLASHES

GF081708 Tehran KEYHAN in Persian 25 Aug 82 p 2

[Communique issued by the Public Relations Office of the Central Islamic Revolution Committee in Tehran -- date not given]

[Text] A Peykan automobile with two occupants was traveling at 2130 on Simetri Avenue, near Sar-e Asyab, which seemed suspicious to the brother gurads who signalled them to stop so they could question them. One of the occupants began shooting at the guards and a gunfight ensued. Both of the occupants were wounded and arrested. Some arms and confidential documents pertaining to the hypocrites were found in the automobile.

At 0630 at the intersection of Eqbal and Qazvin Avenues, an armed hypocrite who had been identified earlier was killed in a clash with the committee guards and a Colt revolver was found on his body.

At 0720 on Khaled Eslambuli Avenue (formerly Vozara Avenue) a person who had been threatened by an armed hypocrite for the purpose of extortion, informed the committee brothers who immediately went to the house the hypocrite had entered and shot the hypocrite before he could throw a grenade at the brother guards.

An armed hypocrite who had been apprehended earlier was asked by the Revolution Committee guards to halt as he was walking on Dr Hushyar Monsha'ab Avenue off Azadi Avenue. Instead of doing so, the armed hypocrite entered a nearby house and began shooting at the guards from the roof of the house; he was shot and killed during the exchange and a Colt revolver and some interorganizational documents were found on his body.

In a clash on the 21-meter G.K. Avenue [as published] between the brother guards of the Islamic Revolution Committee and an armed hypocrite, the latter was killed. A 38-caliber revolver and 10 cartridges were found on his body.

A hypocrites' safehouse was surrounded by the brother guards of the Islamic Revolution Committee and brothers of the revolution prosecutor's office on Shamsabad-Majidiyeh Avenue at 1145. The brothers asked the occupants of the house to surrender themselves without resistance, but the occupants, a man and two women, began shooting at the brother guards, who in a commando-style attack entered the house and killed all three of the hypocrites. In a search of the house, the fearless guards found some G-3's and interorganizational documents.

A safehouse on Dr Fatemi-Parvin E'tesami Avenue was surrounded; four hypocrites were killed while attempting to escape and a fifth hypocrite was arrested. During this operation, two of the brother guards were wounded in the shoulder and they are in satisfactory condition; another of the brothers from the revolution prosecutor's office was martyred as a result of the shooting. His name was 'Ali Reza Javid.

An armed hypocrite attempted to kill a Hezbollahi newspaper vendor at the Karimkhan-Kheradmand intersection. On hearing shots, the brother guards rushed to the scene and killed the hypocrite. The hypocrite had removed the pin of a grenade before he was shot so that when the guards searched his body they would be injured on its explosion, but the cautious brother guards were not injured. However, the hypocrite's body was blown up. A revolver was found nearby.

The Public Relations Office of the Central Islamic Revolution Committee has warned all brother guards and committee members to be careful under such circumstances and to remain alert for such incidents in the future.

'PURGING' OPERATIONS IN WEST AZARBAYJAN REPORTED

GF082028 Tehran KEYHAN in Persian 25 Aug 82 p 4

[KEYHAN correspondent's report on communique issued by the Hamzeh Seyyed ash-Shohada military headquarters on 23 August on operations in Western Azarbayjan]

[Excerpts] Urumiyeh -- In His exalted name. The purging operations in the areas of Miando'ab, Bukan, (Sad Bukan), Sa'in Dezh and Takab were completed with the cooperation of the fearless forces of Islam, comprised of brothers from the armed forces and the revolution guards, under the direct supervision of the Hamzeh Seyyed ash-Shohada headquarters, beginning at 1000 on 23 August and ending successfully at 1200.

The combatants of Islam occupied the previously earmarked targets and took up positions on the hills in the region.

1. The Sarab Rahim Khan colony, south of Miando'ab, was purged and the warriors of Islam occupied positions in the hills of the area.

2. The villages of (Qeshlaq Guzleh) on the Sa'in Dezh-Takab axis and the Kuh-e Bayan hills were occupied.

3. The area of (Javan Marz) in eastern Bukan and seven other villages of the area were purged and the forces of Islam were stationed there.

In these operations, the combatants of Islam suffered no casualties, and in all these areas they were greeted warmly by the residents who had been suffering under the (?yoke) of the Komeleh and [Kurdish] Democratic Party hirelings' tyranny and were happy that the rule of the Islamic Republic had been restored after 3 years.

Immense losses were inflicted on the counterrevolutionaries in Kuh-e Bayan and 10 members and supporters were arrested; the booty included a vehicle fitted with a wireless set and some arms.

Another report by the spokesman of the Hamzeh Seyyed ash-Shohada headquarters says that the counterrevolutionaries attacked the base of the Islamic combatants the day before yesterday. The attack in J'afar Abad, in the vicinity of Mahabad, was crushed ruthlessly and, as a result, five were killed and the wounded were forced to flee.

KURDISH 'ASSAILANTS' ATTACK CONSTRUCTION WORKERS

LD071130 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 6 Sep 82

[Text] IRNA reports that last night armed assailants affiliated with the defunct Democratic Party attacked the workers of a construction firm in the Salmas area, caused the machinery of this firm worth 60 million rials to explode, and set it on fire.

The Governorate of Salmas confirmed this report, saying that the workers and employees were attacked while busy constructing roads between (Lashkaran) and (Chaharsutun) villages for the deprived and oppressed people of the region. As a result of the attack, three bulldozers, one dumptruck, one welding machine and two fuel tankers were set on fire.

FREE VOICE OF IRAN DISCUSSES UNREST IN HORMOZGAN

GF060505 (Clandestine) Free Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1500 GMT 4 Sep 82

[Excerpts] According to our correspondent on Qeshm Island, following the upsurge of unrest in Hormozgan Province and the lack of success of the criminal efforts of the antinationalist so-called Islamic regime in crushing the innocent people of the area and the murder and arrest of the patriotic people of this area, two of the famous terrorists of Khomeyni's regime, 'Asgar-Owladi and Parvaresh, together with a number of the Phalange members of the Majlis of mullahs, went to Bandar 'Abbas today.

The occupied Tehran radio, the dishonored voice of the regime, in explanation portrayed the trip by the two ministers of the regime and the terrorist mullahs of the Majlis as a trip to look into the conditions of this oppressed province. According to our correspondent's report, the occupying regime in Iran, irrespective of the recent arrest of a group of the province's youth and their dispatch to Evin and Qasr Prisons in Tehran, has not been able to stem the increasing wave of uprising of the people of area who have had their fill of the cruelty of Khomeyni and the mullahs in general.

According to our correspondent in Qeshm, the majority of the local people of Hormozgan are Sunnis. However, Khomeyni's regime has sent its so-called Shi'ite Friday imams to the cities of the area. The atrocious actions of the anti-Islamic regime of Khomeyni which are committed under the banner of Shi'ite techniques has strongly hurt the people of the area and 2 years after the Bandar-e Lengeh massacre, the area has not only not been silenced, but its demand for freedom has reached other peoples of the area, such as those in Bushehr Province and people in Fars Province as far as Evaz and Lar. The arrests of groups of 30 and 40 individuals opposing the fascist regime of the mullahs in Hormozgan Province -- the second arrest was secret but the people found out about it -- has caused disgust especially among the Hormozgan Shi'ites over the behavior of Khomeyni's regime.

Our correspondent added: The regime's guards recently attacked people's houses in Bandar 'Abbas and Qeshm Island -- which has 34 settlements -- and arrested a group of young people without reason. Following this violation of the rights of the people and due to the loss of security and peace caused by the regime, people have begun resisting and several strikes and slowdowns have been observed.

Now that the Khomeyni regime has realized its inability to dominate Hormozgan Province, it still intends to continue its divisive policies under the banner of Khomeyni's version of Shi'ism, for the sake of securing the Persian Gulf coast and especially Bandar 'Abbas, Bandar-e Lengeh and Minab -- where sensitive and important military installations are located -- and, in order to force the Akhundist rule on the people of the area, it has resorted to looking into oppression in the province. This is taking place in a province that has always been famous as a center of work, commerce and seafaring and that has always attracted manpower from other parts of the country. Its sole shortcoming is a lack of sufficient water for agriculture. Therefore, the trip by the regime's ministers of agriculture and education and training has neither cause nor will it be effective. It is solely for the sake of propaganda and in order to fool the people of the area.

Our correspondent points out that every time the regime is faced with popular discontent in an area of the country and when it considers the efforts of the mercenary guards to solve the problem with force to be insufficient, then it attempts to send an individual or groups to the particular region to fool the people.

This has been witnessed repeatedly in Tabriz, Kordestan, Baluchestan, Shiraz and northern Iran. Recently, in order to deceive the discontented people of Khorasan, Mullah Khamene'i personally went to Mashhad. Today's dispatch of two of the terrorist ministers of the regime to Bandar 'Abbas is a continuation of this method.

JOMHURI-YE ESLAMI ATTACKS IRANIAN COMMUNISTS

[Editorial entitled "Debtors Who Want To Be Creditors"]

[Excerpts] For 3 and 1/2 years -- that is, from the moment of the victory of the Islamic revolution to today -- revolutionary Iran has witnessed counteractions by various groups and individuals. They have suffered for their actions at the hands of the nation and their mistakes and miscalculations have taught the people valuable political lessons. The present Iranian generation, which is a revolutionary one, learns the best political lessons by observing such events -- a valuable education. It is an education not found in any school of political science.

People witnessed the hypocrisy of a handful of Western mercenaries such as Bani-Sadr, Qotbzadeh and....who cleverly placed themselves close to the imam, entered the political arena and obtained important posts due to the magnanimity of the clergy. They then thought of selling Iran to the United States and intended to murder the imam. They bloodied their hands with the help of the hypocrites, spilling the blood of great men like the innocent martyr Ayatollah Beheshti and all those noble people from the Friday imams to the president, the prime minister, people's representatives and the people themselves and finally were forced to flee or have been brought to trial by the national disgust and hatred.

The most curious of all are those who have received years of education in "Easternism" [sharqmadari] around the Kremlin palace and while walking the streets of Leningrad, Stalingrad and Berlingrad [as published]! These people quickly returned to Iran when they found out that there was a revolution in Iran and that the people were busy eradicating the remainder of the puppet rulers of the world-devouring United States and were too busy to look into the account of the traitors who during the 19 August coup -- under the banner of the Tudeh Party and with communist masks -- cooperated with the United States to prepare the ground for the return of the black dictatorship of Pahlavi. They threw a mouse in the soup of the revolution and without any shame shouted"Oh hajji, we are also a partner."

While none of these individuals and groups have ever been in touch with the people or their direction, they have differences among themselves. The main trait of the liberals, nationalists and those mesmerized by the West in that because of their lack of revolutionary understanding and due to their weak logic they believe that no revolution can stand on its own feet without relying on one or the other of the two world devourers -- the Eastern or the Western. Therefore, [they reason] that if the revolution does not want to fall in the Soviet trap it must stop being stubborn in its relations with the United States and the Western bloc and take a more reconciliatory tone.

The Tudeh members, on the contrary, while believing a nation cannot have a revolution without relying on one of the world devourers, state that it is not necessary for Iran to rely on the revolutionary slogan of "Neither East nor West," and say that in order to win the struggle against the United States, Iran has no choice but to lean toward the Soviet Union and strengthen its revolution with the help of the Eastern bloc.

The essence of these two arguments is one, and that is: No revolution can succeed without relying on one or the other of the Western or Eastern world devourers.

The only difference between the Tudeh Party and others is that they have this insight because of their political connections with a world devourer while the other one bases its insight on its cultural and cerebral ties with the other world devourer. In other words, the Tudehis are officially connected to one bloc while the liberals, nationalists and the ones mesmerized by the West are unofficially connected.

There are, however, some among this group whose official ties with the West have reached the level of the mercenary ties of the Tudeh members who are the mercenaries of the East. What is important now is that the Tudeh Party, with all its history of treachery against the Iranian nation, nowadays is forcefully asking the officials of the Islamic Republic why they will not stop using the slogan "Neither East nor West" and instead praise their master? They expect the people in charge of the press to forget the MiG-25's and the T-72's that were put at Saddam's disposal during the imposed war and praise the residents of the Kremlin for their revolutionary acts, diplomatic efforts and political lovemaking with the residents of the White House, and their efforts in the Zionist military invasion of Lebanon against the innocent people of that country. They expect the Islamic officials and the Iranian press to forget the criminal acts of the Red Army in the Islamic country of Afghanistan or praise the inheritors of Stalin for this clear aggression.

The Tudehis must know that the Iranian nation will never forget their record of treachery and must realize that the people will never accept a slogan of "supporters of the toilers" from the people who have come from rich families and spent their lives in richness and splendor given them by the residents of the Kremlin. The Tudehis must realize the fact that the slogan of "struggle against imperialism" they shout is for people who know that the Tudehis when needed and deemed by the Kremlin go into the service of the United States and even the Kremlin comes to terms with the United States -- its world-devouring friend -- and the residents of White House when necessary -- like the 1973 Arab-Israeli war and many other similar cases. It is colder than the ice in Siberia.

Finally, the Tudehis must know that their message has no listener in Iran and it is better that these debtors-turned-creditors go to some other job and understand that the people of Iran can deal with the United States without Soviet help.

BABOL COURT ORDERS TUDEH OFFICE TO CLOSE

GF031646 (Clandestine) Radio Iran in Persian to Iran 1330 GMT 3 Sep 82

[Text] The offices of the Tudeh Party and the Feda'iyan-e Khalq -- majority group -- in Babol have been ordered by the Islamic Revolution Court in Babol to close and suspend all political activity, despite their blind obedience and support of Khomeyni's Islamic Republic.

This step by the Islamic Republic follows a series of measures by the regime against the Tudeh Party and the Feda'iyan-e Khalq -- majority group -- which has resulted in the arrest of a large number of their members. Some have also been executed by firing squads.

MORE QOTBZADEH 'CO-CONSPIRATORS' GO ON TRIAL

GF061642 Tehran IRNA in English 1555 GMT 6 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept. 6 (IRNA) -- The trial of former Foreign Minister Sadeq Qotbzadeh's six more co-conspirators started here this morning with recitation of verses from holy Koran. The court was presided over by the religious judge and head of the Islamic Republic's army tribunal, Hojjat ol-Eslam Mohammadi-Reyshahri.

The prosecutor of the army tribunal first read the indictment and then convicts, replying to his questions, defended themselves.

The convicts are: Medhi Zar'e, Shapur Pazhuhandeh, Colonel Seyyed Qasem Hoseyni, Colonel Zarrin-Khameh, Colonel Javad Najafi and Mas'ud Riyazi. Details of today's session would be released later.

ARAB LEADERS URGED TO TAKE LESSON FROM ISRAELIS

GF090422 Tehran International Service in Arabic 1730 GMT 8 Sep 82

[Unattributed commentary]

[Excerpt] Suddenly, and after all that has happened, the rulers have remembered the Palestinian people, sacred Jerusalem and those who lived through the agony of Israeli occupation. Arab genius has once again started to cast eloquence and literature from its quiver. Enthusiastic orations and bright slogans, which the masses hear only during conferences from year to year, have returned.

Where was Palestine and where were the people of Lebanon before this day? Where were the enthusiastic orations on the day when Israel stepped on the land of the south? Where were the rulers when Israel crushed with its filthy feet the sacred lands in Jerusalem? Where were they when Israeli tanks entered Palestinian camps in 'Ayn al-Hulwah and other places? Where were these rulers' enthusiastic orations when Israel bombed Beirut from all sides and when the invading forces entered east Beirut? Where were they during the days of savage siege imposed by the aggressing Zionists on the inhabitants of west Beirut when none of the residents could find a thing to quench their thirst or kill their hunger? Where were they during those savage massacres? Didn't they hear the people's groans and calls for help?

They were in their palaces dancing to the tunes of the Israeli planes and singing to the music of artillery shelling. That was the case for some of the Arab rulers who now stand behind the pulpit at the Fes summit to shamelessly pronounce eloquent and enthusiastic statements.

They have been and still are traders whose only trade in the slavery market is statements, words, orations and nothing else. This is the first contradiction about the conference.

The second is the task the conferees have shouldered. Instead of it being a task to prepare for a long war with the Israeli enemy in order to regain what it usurped during its aggression, and instead of it being a task to deter the Israeli enemy, the main goal of convening the summit is to deter the Palestinian people and silence the Palestinian rifle. The conference has shouldered the task of searching for a solution that would bestow full legitimacy on Israel's occupation of the Islamic land and grant the Palestinian people some minor rights.

Three submissive plans are before the summit today. All of them drain into the Camp David stream. Three plans instead of the one that shook the previous summit. What is in these plans except submission and servility? They are plans to slaughter the Palestinian people and to present the Palestinian land to Israel on a platter of gold.

Instead of discussing the manner of punishing the enemy in order to put an end to its repetitive aggressions, and instead of discussing the means to regain the usurped land and force the enemy to leave Lebanese territory, the rulers are searching for the best means and methods to silence the Palestinian people and suffocate its flaming and escalating revolution everywhere and every day. This is the situation for the Arab rulers and it is the situation for the Zionist rulers. They are knights in conferences, when conferences are the arena that replaces confrontation with the nation's enemies. They are knights of eloquence when well-chosen words are used to cover deceit, cowardice, servility, treachery and crimes.

These are some of the Arab rulers. However, the Zionists, who are the enemies of the nation and Islam and who are the aggressors and usurpers, wherever they are, their swords are on their shoulders, their words are in the muzzles of their artillery pieces, their orations are in their threats, shellings and raids and their conferences are held on the fields of aggression and usurpation.

When will these rulers wake up and take a lesson from their enemy? Is there any hope? No. There is no hope for these rulers who loiter around the colonizers' tables. No hope can be expected from them so long as they continue to remain the way they are. This is a fact that was proclaimed by the leading imam, the great Khomeyni, more than 2 years ago. Today we can see with our own eyes the truthful translation of this fact.

KHO'INI RESPONDS TO SAUDI CHARGE OF DISTURBANCES

LD090838 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 0430 GMT 9 Sep 82

[Text] In a message to the imam's representative on hajj and the supervisor of the Iranian pilgrims, the Saudi Arabian interior minister protested against marches by the Iranian pilgrims and their anti-American and anti-Zionist slogans.

According to a Central News Unit report, last night a representative of the Governorate of Medina met for the second time with Hojjat ol-Eslam Musavi-Kho'ini, the imam's representative on the pilgrimage and the supervisor of the Iranian pilgrims, and informed him of the Saudi Arabian interior minister's message. The representative of the amir of Medina [as heard] protested over the ceremonies that had been held the previous night as well as the ceremonies held to see off the self-sacrificing heroes of the Islamic revolution in the imposed war on their way to Masjid an-Nabi [the mosque of the prophet], may God's peace and blessings be upon him and his kin.

In response, the imam's representative said: Deliver this reply to the interior minister: The holding of gatherings during the hajj and the chanting of slogans against Israel, America and the Soviet Union are part of our hajj ceremonies. This has been specified by Imam Khomeyni in the decree he issued to me and we cannot deviate from this. He also said: Ever since our coming to Medina Iranian pilgrims have caused no problems and we have controlled our people. Is it an offense against law and order to chant slogans against Israel and America in an Islamic country?

The imam's representative added: Ever since the arrival of the pilgrims you have created trouble for them under different guises. You took away the portrait of the imam which was displayed inside the plane. You prevented them from taking engraved coins [presumably with Khomeyni's image] to the qibla of the Muslims. Your agents at the airport confiscated and tore up our pilgrims' Korans and copies of Sahife-e Sajjadiyeh [book of Shi'ite prayers]. Despite all this we have controlled the pilgrims and so far there has not been any disturbances. At the same time, an article has been published in your press against the Islamic Republic and books are being published in which the Iranians are called Majus [Zoroastrians]. Your agents have arrested an Iranian on charges of having talked to a black man. However, we have tolerated all these for the sake of maintaining unity.

At the end, the imam's representative said: Iran is a country with a population of 40 million revolutionaries who toppled and destroyed the shah and who now have the most powerful and greatest government in the region. We would like to have good relations with you and our other neighbors. The behavior of your government toward our pilgrims, however, will tell whether you are also willing to have good relations with us.

At the end, the representative of the Governorate of Medina said that he would deliver the reply of the imam's representative to the Saudi Arabian interior minister.

KHO'INI CALLS ON WORLD MUSLIMS TO UNITE

LD090840 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 0430 GMT 9 Sep 82

[Text] Hojjat ol-Eslam Musavi-Kho'ini, the imam's representative and supervisor of the Iranian pilgrims, has issued a statement urging all Muslims of the world to unity and solidarity, saying:

We extend the hand of brotherhood to all Islamic lands and announce: Oh Muslims, come and let us fight against the enemies of God and of Islam in united ranks like a firm edifice and restore Islamic honor, glory and dignity to Islamic countries. America should know that even if it tries with all its Satanic wiles to divide the Muslims, the almighty and exalted God will call them to His house once every year and unify all of them around the axis of ka'bah.

We Iranian pilgrims to the holy shrine of the prophet of God — may God's peace and grace be upon him and upon his kin -- all of us men and women will in orderly ranks take part in the congregational prayers in blessed Medina tomorrow, Friday, so that the enemies of God may know that the Muslims are united. In order to smash the conspiracies of the opponents and those people who have deviated, we expect all brothers and sisters who are on the pilgrimage to the blessed house of God from other Islamic lands to join us in this glorious event.

ASH-SHAHID CARRIES ANTI-SAUDI GROUP'S STATEMENT

GF080930 Tehran ASH-SHAHID in Arabic 25 Aug 82 pp 26-28

["Text" of appeal issued by the Organization of the Islamic Revolution in the Arabian Peninsula (Munazzamat ath-Thawrah al-Islamiyah fi al-Jazirah al-'Arabiyah) to Mecca pilgrims -- date not given]

[Excerpts] In the name of God, the merciful, the compassionate. We appointed the house to be a place of visitation for the people and a sanctuary. Thanks be to the lord of the universe; peace be upon our prophet, Muhammad, and his scion and companions.

Honorable pilgrims: God's peace, mercy and blessings be upon you. In the name of our Muslim people in the Arabian Peninsula, particularly the inhabitants of Medina and Mecca, we welcome you in this holy land and greet you and ask God to grant you success in completing the pilgrimage rites, may He accept them.

Among the most important benefits of the pilgrimage is the meeting of Muslims and their becoming aware of each others' problems and sufferings and the events they are experiencing, and exchange of views on the situation in the Muslim nation and on Islamic issues. The pilgrimage is in fact an Islamic gathering in which the real representatives of all sectors of Muslim peoples and communities everywhere meet.

Muslims are supposed to have the full opportunity to make use of this benefit and this great gathering. However, if we look carefully at the pilgrimage season we will find that this benefit is in abeyance for, Oh pilgrims, you have no opportunity to discuss your problems with each other and exchange views on how to face and tackle these problems. Such discussion requires a climate of freedom and security in the pilgrimage area. History tells us that in the pre-Islamic era the Arabs paid attention to this matter. They respected the sacred months [4 months of the year in which fighting is prohibited] and the ka'bah. A man who used to see his father's killer during these months did not harm him. Poets were completely free to mingle and discuss the nation's issues and various ideas and views.

However, now, Oh honorable pilgrims, you do not have the complete freedom to benefit from this serious purpose. A cultural, intellectual and political siege has been imposed on this country.

The entry of books, magazines and publications into the country is banned -- except for such publications that agree with the Saudi Government's views and policies. Even books on pilgrimage rights and prayers that do not match the views of the Saudi Government are banned and confiscated. Perhaps most of you have been searched and were insulted if caught carrying books or magazines at the border or customs.

Oh honorable pilgrims: Take a casual look around the bookshops near the holy mosques of Mecca and Medina and in the markets of Mecca, Medina and Jidda and see clearly for yourselves the intellectual and political siege our people are experiencing under the Saudi regime. You only find old books which do not deal with the issues facing the nation. As for Islamic books that discuss revolution, freedom, justice and the rulers' responsibilities toward their peoples -- they are not to be found at all. Political books are absolutely banned, except those that agree with Saudi policy. Only a particular kind of magazines and newspapers is allowed in the country -- after the censor has gone through them with his scissors. Even sermons and speeches are banned during the pilgrimage unless the speaker is a government official or in complete agreement with the government. Any pilgrim can ascertain this fact by asking the official in charge of the microphones in either the Mecca or Medina mosque or any other mosque for permission to speak about the conditions of his people and Muslim issues. He will be censored and suppressed by the authorities. As for popular conferences, mass gatherings and the distribution of leaflets during the pilgrimage, this is a great crime according to the law of the Saudi authorities.

Oh pilgrims, allow us to put before you some important facts about the Saudi authorities:

1. Not everyone who raises the slogan of Islam and dons its garb is sincere in his commitment to Islam and in implementing its slogans. The Koran warns against believing any group that makes such claims. "And there are some people who say: 'We believe in God and the hereafter,' but they are not believers. They would trick God and the believers, but they deceive only themselves, and they are not aware." [Koranic verse]

The Saudi Government is among the governments that use Islamic slogans and pretend to abide by Islam. The pilgrimage season is a big opportunity for the Saudi regime to show that it abides by Islam, defends it and is the guardian of Muslims. The titles of the Saudi monarch include: the imam of Muslims, the defender of the two [Mecca and Medina] mosques and the leader of the pilgrims.

However, Oh honorable Muslims, you should not be swayed by slogans, titles and appearances. Study the stands of this regime and its political and economic policies at home and abroad. Is the system of government which this regime follows -- hereditary monarchy -- the acceptable system of government in Islam? Is oppression and the absence of the people's participation in the government acceptable to Islam? Is the denial of the people's political, intellectual and social freedoms permissible under Islamic law? Can the new king really call himself the custodian and defender of the two mosques while his name has been associated with corruption, decadence and shamelessness, and who is known in the gambling houses of London, Paris and Madrid?

Is he qualified to defend the interests of Muslims while he maintains close links with the United States and is the chief defender of its policy? Is supporting the infidel United States and opening the country to its fleets and bases and AWACS spy planes compatible with the principles of Islam? Is the dissipation of the people's wealth by producing 12 million barrels [a day] of oil for foreign factories approved by Islam?

2. Anyone who intelligantly and objectively observes the Saudi authorities will realize the extent of the contradictions that separate their slogans and appearances from the reality they are living and their practices, and will realize the chasm that separates them from Islam, its teachings and values. The Saudi Government is trying hard, through its vast media network, to assure world public opinion that our people in the Arabian Peninsula are satisfied with its policy and accept its control.

It is not right to listen to one side, for the views of the entire people should be directly known. Are we and our people in the Arabian Peninsula satisifed with the Saudi regime, its stands and conduct? What happened 2 years ago in the first days of 1400 Hegira in Mecca and the eastern region -- the petroleum region -- is a decisive and frank reply on the people's stand toward the authorities.

3. We as an Islamic movement that stems from the people are seeking to achieve the following aims:

-- The regime in our country should be truly and fully committed to Islam in political, economic and social sphere and in domestic and foreign policy.

-- Freedom is an Islamic principle and a natural right of the people. The people must participate in government, and complete freedom should be given in various fields in accordance with Islam.

-- Our country has become one of the United States. The AWACS planes in our skies communicate information directly to the U.S. intelligence service. U.S. bases in our country are expanding, and experts and thousands of foreign mercenaries, Filipinos and Koreans, are now marching toward our country to protect U.S. interests in the guise of companies. This conflicts with the independence of our country and the interests of our people. We must get rid of their foreign domination and achieve independence from East and West.

-- This vast oil wealth is the right of all generations of our people. It should not be dissipated and forfeited for the sake of the West's economy. Why is our country producing 12 million barrels a day? For whose interest? Where do the oil revenues go? For 40 years our oil has been flowing to the West. Is our situation now commensurate with the oil revenues? Is not a large section of our people still deprived, and has not our country lost the agricultural activity that existed without there being new successful industrial projects? The oil revenues are being manipulated by the princes of the ruling family, and are consolidating pro-Western thrones and regimes. Oil production policy and the distribution of oil revenues must serve the aspirations of our people and the aspirations of oppressed peoples in the world. Attention must be paid to agriculture and plans must be drawn up for industrial progress.

-- With regard to foreign policy we must be independent of both East and West, and should not be pawns in the hands of the West in its rivalry with the Eastern camp. Our people support all oppressed peoples aspiring toward freedom and independence in their struggle against imperialism and puppet and tyrannical governments. The government must represent the people's real stand.

-- The Palestinian question occupies our people's main attention. The cause of the Palestine catastrophe is U.S. and Western support for Israel. When the Saudi authorities raise the slogan of jihad and the liberation of Palestine while being completely loyal to the United States they are disregarding the nation's sanctities but they will not be able to deceive the masses.

-- As for the Islamic revolution in Iran, it is the nation's throbbing heart in this age, and the hope of the Muslims and all oppressed peoples. Therefore, our people have declared their total allegiance to Iran's Islamic revolution and have given it their support. The purposes of the plots that are being concocted against the blessed Islamic revolution within Iran and outside it -- and the Saudi authorities are playing an active role in these plots, such as supporting the Ba'thist Saddam in his aggression against revolutionary Iran -- is to abort the Islamic revolution and prevent it from spreading.

-- Afghanistan is also another deep wound in the heart of our Muslim people, But we know why the Saudi authorities give their attention to the tyrannical Soviet intervention in Afghanistan.

The Saudi authorities are not interested in the liberation of the Afghan people but are interested in the victory of U.S. policy in its conflict with the Soviet Union.

MUSAVI CHAIRS ECONOMIC COUNCIL SESSION

LD072226 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 2030 GMT 7 Sep 82

[Text] According to the Central News Unit, the Economic Council held a session today chaired by Prime Minister Mr Mir-Hoseyn Musavi. During this session, the proposal for Islamic Republic of Iran shipping activity in the Caspian Sea and waterways leading to it was raised and approved after some discussion and review. It was also agreed that the Ministry of Heavy Industries should prepare a plan with the cooperation of the shipping organization of the Islamic Republic of Iran concerning erecting shipbuilding installations in the north of the country in order to provide the necessary services for shipping activities in the Caspian Sea. This plan will then be submitted to the Economic Council for investigation and approval.

During this session, the plan for organizing passenger liners in the Persian Gulf was also raised and approved. On the basis of this plan, two passenger ships will start work in the Bushehr and Bandar 'Abbas regions. The ship in Bushehr will carry passengers to Dehaq, Bahrain, (Dammam), Khark, Abadan and Kuwait. The ship in Bandar 'Abbas will carry passengers to Qeshm, Bandar-e Lengeh, Abu Dhabi, Dubai, Hormuz, Jask, Konarak, Chah Bahar, Muscat and (Fujaira).

It was also agreed in this session that the shipping organization of the Islamic Republic of Iran should prepare a plan for shipping in the southern coast and its ports from Khorramshahr to Chah Bahar, and present it to the Economic Council for approval.

Finally, the plan for expansion and (?completion) of tea-processing plants was approved and the budget for their development was allocated from government funds.

IRANIAN MEDIA COVERAGE ON AFGHANISTAN ASSAILED

TA061142 (Clandestine) National Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1730 GMT 4 Sep 82

[Unattributed commentary: "The Afghan Problem -- an Excuse To Divert Public Opinion"]

[Text] Dear compatriots: Every now and then our homeland's newspapers and mass media raise a topic in order to elaborate on distorted reports about Afghanistan. We do not have to go very far. Let us consider this same Islamic Conference which was held some time ago. It is obvious from the manner in which the report was disseminated by our homeland's mass media that some people in these media, intentionally and with a specific goal and objective, are feeding listeners items that have been distorted.

We are all aware that at the conclusion of this conference a resolution in connection with Israel's and America's aggression on Lebanon as well as the Afghan problem was set forth for discussion and adopted. Please pay attention, we said: A resolution in connection with Israel's and America's bloody aggression against Lebanon and the so-called Afghan problem was raised and approved. The report disseminated by our homeland's propaganda organization in this respect began with this sentence: The Islamic Conference, in a resolution, condemned the Israeli-U.S. aggression against Lebanon and the Soviet military aggression against Afghanistan. The very heading of the report itself is indicative of the fact that the producer of the report wanted, by an unpleasant and naive approach, to impress the view on public opinion that it should place the armed and bloody aggression of the aggressor Israel and its American masters on Lebanese territory and the murder of the innocent people of this land and the Palestinian people on the same level with the entry of a limited contingent of Soviet forces who, in accordance with the request of the legal Government of Afghanistan and according to the existing treaty between the two sides, entered that country's territory to repulse the elements of this same America and Israel. Why? In order to draw the wrong and slanderous conclusion from this biased introduction, in accordance with Brzezinski's prescription, that not only America and Israel are aggressors but also the Soviet Union. Allegedly these gentlemen are implementing the policy of "Neither Eastern nor Western." However, the saying that a liar has a poor memory is true.

This proverb applies precisely to some of the producers of the foreign news service of our homeland's propaganda organization, because every listener, after such a notorious and biased heading by the announcer of the propaganda organization hears that first, in the resolution adopted by the Islamic Conference, Israel's and America's aggression on Lebanese soil and the genocide of the Lebanese and Palestinian people was strongly condemned by the conference, and the conference demanded the withdrawal of the aggressive Israeli forces from Lebanon's territory. Second, let us see what this resolution by the Islamic Conference says about Afghanistan, and it is best that we listen to it from the same announcer of the Voice and Vision of Iran who said: In this resolution, the Islamic Conference demanded the withdrawal of the Soviet Army from Afghan territory, the termination of foreign interventions in Afghan domestic affairs, and that the determination of the fate of Afghanistan be entrusted to the Afghan people.

As you are observing, first, contrary to the notorious and provocative heading by the producers of the report, here there is nothing whatsoever about condemning the so-called aggression of the Soviet Union against Afghanistan. Second, what the resolution says about Afghanistan is precisely that which has been repeatedly put forward and proposed by the Soviet Union and the democratic Government of Afghanistan.

The democratic Government of Afghanistan has repeatedly declared that if armed interventions by the United States and the reactionary regimes of the region, which are carried out by the fugitive and counterrevolutionary Afghan bands from the territory of others, particularly from Pakistan, are terminated, the few Soviet military units which according to the request of the Government of Afghanistan entered this land in order to assist in repulsing these foreign aggressions will immediately leave this country's territory. Statements precisely identical to these have been repeatedly uttered by the official representatives of the Soviet Union also.

Now, despite all this, the reason that some of our homeland's mass media reporters and writers project the news in such an adverse manner and distort the facts is something that should be a cause for reflection to every Iranian listener.

With deep regret, a number of people, on the basis of their inherent hostility toward the Soviet Union, some others who are carrying out the mission entrusted to them by their American masters, and still others on the basis of fanaticism and superficiality, have aimed all their efforts so that a problem by the name of the Afghan problem will always be on the current agenda of their slanders and rumormongering. On the one hand, their goal is to negate America, and on the other to create suspicion toward the Soviet Union and the democratic Government of Afghanistan and to prevent rapprochement between the two Islamic and anti-imperialist countries -- liberated Iran and democratic Afghanistan.

In the course of more than 3 years that have passed since our glorious revolution, our homeland's people have become well aware of the fact that in revolutionary Iran a dangerous trend, under the banner of Islam, has exerted all its effort at negating America and confronting the imam's line. To the leaders of this trend, the self-made Afghan problem and defense of a bunch of pseudo-Muslim Afghan bandits and smugglers is a means aimed at dealing a blow to the prestige of the Islamic Republic of Iran and to the gains of our nation's glorious revolution.

MIDDLE EAST AND SOUTH ASIA REVIEW

10 SEPTEMBER 1982

Arab Summit Conference

The final statement of the Arab summit conference in Fes, read out over Rabat radio late on 9 September by Moroccan Minister for Foreign Affairs M'hamed Boucetta, detailed the previously reported summit plan for solving the Palestinian problem and condemned the Israeli invasion of Lebanon. The statement said the conference was notified of the Lebanese Government's decision to end the Arab Deterrent Forces' role in Lebanon provided that arrangements are made between the Syrian and Lebanese Governments in light of an Israeli withdrawal from Lebanon. On the Iran-Iraq war, the conference declared its commitment to defend Arab territories and to consider any attack on an Arab country as an attack on all Arab countries. Both sides should adhere to UN Security Council resolutions and all states should discourage continuation of the war, the statement affirmed. In the Horn of Africa conflict, the summit expressed its support for Somalia against Ethiopian attacks on its territory. Finally, the conference agreed to set up a committee to contact UN Security Council members to follow up on summit conference resolutions on the Arab-Israeli conflict.

In a speech at the end of the conference, carried by Rabat radio, Moroccan King Hassan II praised the eight-point Arab peace plan and asserted that the conferees worked in an atmosphere of "friendship and cooperation." He admitted that not everything had been completed regarding the Lebanon question and offered Morocco as the site for further discussion between Lebanese and Palestinians.

According to sources cited by AFP, Lebanon demanded at the conference that the Palestinians promise to cease military activity against Israel from Lebanese territory, but the PLO would not admit publicly that it had agreed to this promise to Arab leaders. Another AFP report said Syrian President Hafiz al-Asad told the summit meeting that he will withdraw his troops from Lebanon if requested to do so by Lebanese President Ilyas Sarkis. Meanwhile, some members of the PLO delegation at the Fes conference have rejected the Arab peace plan article on UN guarantees for peace among all states in the region because this violates Palestine National Council resolutions and is a concession to Israel, Lebanese newspaper sources cited by Monte Carlo radio claimed.

In a speech to the conference on 8 September carried by SUNA, Sudanese President Ja'far Numayri called for Egypt's return to the Arab ranks. He asserted that Egypt was unaffected by the boycott declared at the Baghdad Arab summit and that the absence of Egypt from joint Arab action is intolerable. Conference sources cited by AFP revealed that with Numayri's stance, and support from Iraqi President Saddam Husayn, the conference decided to send a delegation to Cairo to discuss Egyptian reintegration into the Arab League. Egypt's AL-AHRAM, according to MENA, revealed that Arab states have been in touch with the Egyptian president during the conference.

In a statement to Amman television, Jordanian Prime Minister Mudar Badran asserted that the fraternal atmosphere at the conference enabled the Jordanian king to speak objectively about a promising future with the presidents of Syria and Iraq. A Saudi commentary broadcast by Riyadh radio spoke of enhanced Arab confidence and said the most important result of the conference was an end to Arab differences.

Lebanon

Military Situation -- Israeli planes attacked and destroyed four SAM-9 launchers in the Dahr al-Baydar region on the morning of 9 September, the IDF spokesman announced in a statement reported by IDF radio. A Syrian military spokesman confirmed that the Israelis had renewed their attacks against Syrian air defenses and admitted that three vehicles were hit, according to Damascus radio. A Lebanese police report cited by KUNA said Israeli aircraft also attacked Syrian artillery and tank positions.

Jerusalem radio said the destroyed missiles were the remainder of the battery attacked on 8 September. Senior Israeli officers cited by IDF radio said the Syrian attempt to infiltrate SAM's into Lebanon was apparently a "demonstrative act" designed to test Israel's reaction. In remarks broadcast by the radio, Israel's Chief of Staff Lt Gen Refa'el Eytan claimed that Syria's stated willingness to leave Lebanon is "lipservice" and "a political maneuver."

In other developments Voice of Lebanon radio said Fatah Central Committee member Salah Khalaf is establishing a new organizational base in Tripoli.

Conditions for Israelis' Release — Ahmad Jibril's PFLP-General Command claims to hold the eight Israelis captured 4 September and has forwarded conditions for their release to the International Red Cross, AFP reported. The conditions are: Israel must issue a list of all Palestinians captured since 6 June; it must authorize Red Cross visits to them; and it must stop its "inhumane treatment" of captive Palestinians or "the same treatment" will be inflicted on the Israeli prisoners.

Israel

Israel gives the United States strategic assistance and contributes to its national security more than the United States aids Israel and contributes to its national security, Prime Minister Menahem Begin asserted in an interview to be published by BAMAHANE and reported by IDF radio. Accusing the United States of intervening in Israel's affairs, he reaffirmed that the dispute between government and opposition over the new U.S. plan should be put to the test of elections.

Iraq

Attacks on Iranian Shipping -- Iraqi naval units sunk an Iranian vessel at the entrance of Khowr-e Musa and Iraqi planes raided shipping anchored off Bushehr port, setting an oil tanker ablaze, according to Iraqi military statements reported by INA.

Ramadan Comment, Husayn in Algeria -- In a statement to the paper 'UKAZ cited by INA, First Deputy Prime Minister Taha Yasin Ramadan said the time is not right for Egypt to return to the Arab fold and welcomed Algerian mediation in the war with Iran. Meanwhile, INA reported that President Saddam Husayn made a brief stopover in Algeria and met with the Algerian president before returning home from the Fes summit.

Iranian-Saudi Relations

Responding to a Saudi protest against the activities of Iranian pilgrims in Medina, Iran's pilgrim supervisor Musavi-Kho'ini claimed that while the Iranian pilgrims have caused no problems and no disturbance, the Saudi authorities have created trouble for them, Tehran radio reported. Saudi Arabia's behavior toward Iranian pilgrims will show whether it is willing to have good relations with Iran, he added. Musavi-Kho'ini asserted the pilgrims' right to hold gatherings and chant slogans against Israel, the United States and the Soviet Union as part of their hajj ceremonies.

Libya

Libya and Czechoslovakia have signed a treaty of friendship and cooperation, a communique issued by both countries and transmitted by JANA announced. While in Prague for his talks with Czechoslovak leaders, Col Mu'ammar al-Qadhdhafi also met with PDRY President 'Ali Nasir Muhammad, who had arrived from Fes on a medical visit, according to Tripoli and Rabat radios. The Libyan leader subsequently visited Warsaw for talks with Polish leaders, Warsaw television noted.

DEFENSE MINISTRY OFFICIAL INTERVIEWED ON DRAFT

LD100916 Kabul Domestic Service in Dari 1600 GMT 9 Sep 82

[Interview with Col (Mohammad Nader Dehqan), head of the Ministry of Defense Organization Department by unnamed correspondent -- date and place not given -- recorded]

[Text] [Question] Very well, esteemed Colonel (Dehqan). Could you please tell us about the legal age for military draft?

[Answer] Thank you. The legal age for draft in accordance with the general draft law is 19 years of age. It means that those who turn 19 will be called up for military service.

[Question] Well, why has the age of 19 been chosen?

[Answer] The age of 19 has been specified for reason that obviously a 19-year-old Afghan youth has completed 12th grade. On the other hand, he is single and lives as a bachelor. Hence, when a single youth enters into military service, he normally does not worry about home from the viewpoint of material and spiritual conditions so he completes his military service in the best way. As you know, in the past 22 was the draft age. Generally, 22 is the age when the youths of our beloved homeland get married. After graduation from 12th grade, they used to wander aimlessly for a year or two. Therefore, taking all things into account it is best from our point of view for the youths to join the service at the age of 19 and to be thus occupied.

[Question] Well, can you give us some information on the salary of the drafted soldiers, that is, those soldiers who are serving as draftees?

[Answer] The salary of the draftees, those soldiers who are serving the term of conscription, during the period of the draft term -- 2 years -- is 100 afghanis. After 2 years, their salary is 2,000 afghanis, which they receive on a regular basis. Of course, those who were in the service prior to the implementation of the decree dated 16 August 1982 as draftees will receive a salary according to the pre-decree date. That is, during the first 3 months of extra service they receive 2,000 afghanis. For another 3 months of extra service they receive 3,000 afghanis. But those who joined the ranks of the armed forces after the implementation of the above decree of the Revolutionary Council Presidium, after completing the draft period, during the third year, will receive 2,000 afghanis monthly as a salary.

[Question] Well, esteemed (Dehqan). What age is specified for the partial draft period of soldiers?

[Answer] The partial draft period of the soldier generally has been divided into three groups: The first is the 25-30-year-old age group; the second group is 30-35 years of age; the third group is 35-40 years of age.

When we use the word 40, in accordance with the law concerning mobilization, in the third group [words indistinct] we call up those who are 39 years old.

[Question] You hve mentioned these three groups: Are you calling up those above the age of 40?

[Answer] As I pointed out earlier, at present it is impossible to call up any person over 39-years' old and so far nothing has been done contrary to the resolution and general mobilization regulations.

[Question] Could you give us information on those soldiers subject to partial callup who are 35-39 years of age, from the viewpoint of the units and their allowances?

[Answer] In accordance with the joint resolution of the Politburo and the DRA Council of Ministers concerning those of our compatriots who are subject to partial callup and who are 35-39 years of age, we try mostly -- and practice shows that we do this -- to place these esteemed compatriots in the service units -- sarandoy and logistics -- in institutions and in their provinces. Of course, this is a concession and an extraordinary privilege for these compatriots to remain in their provinces.

On the other hand, the performance of duty in the service units such as logistics, institutions, etc, is easy. For this reason we in practice have placed them in these areas. The outstanding example is as you know, our units in the capital. They are being filled, in an extraordinary manner, as the result of the practical implementation of this method.

[Question] Esteemed (Dehqan), will you please explain about the length of service and concessions to those troops who are serving at present in accordance with the partial callup?

[Answer] It is known to our dear compatriots that military issues and the draft term are subject to their own law and regulation. In accordance with the general mobilization regulation of 1357 [March 1977-March 1978], those who are called up on the basis of general mobilization or partial callup must be paid 75 percent of their nonmilitary or civilian income. But the PDPA and DRA in accordance with their positive policy and extraordinary respect for the masses, without considering the norm of 75 percent the general mobilization regulations, have decided that the minimum salary to be paid to the reserves must not be less than 3,000 afghanis. The reservist who earns more than 3,000 afghanis from one of the government institutions, will be paid his latest salary from this government institution after the callup. A similar action will be taken if he is employed by the private sector.

[Question] Very well, will you please give us some information in general about excusing troops from service and suspending their service?

[Answer] Those who may be excused from being called up are those who are past the age of [words indistinct] and, second those who provide certificates from health commissions or the highest commission of the Health Department in the Ministry of Defense.

Similarly, workers and experts whose absence from their respective ministries is impossible will be given suspension cards for 1 year or until a replacement is found.

Similarly, there are suspension cards for medical reasons -- injury and illness -- that can be for 1, 2, or up to 6 months or a year. They are given 1 year, but if their health does not improve more time will be given to them.

[Question] Very well, esteemed Col eng (Mohammad Nader Dehqan). Will you give us specific information for our dear viewers on high school and college graduates and those who have less education than these? When, and after how long in the military service, will they be entitled to receive a salary and how much is being given to them?

[Answer] The troops and NCO's of the units who have a high education whether they have a B.A. [words indistinct] after 1 year of service will receive 2,000 afghanis monthly. Those who do not have a B.A. after the second year will receive 2,000 afghanis per month.

[Question] Very well, Col eng (Mohammad Nader Dehqan), head of the organization and general mobilization of the DRA Armed Forces. Thank you for your trouble and for letting us interview you and for giving us information.

[Answer] Thank you for giving me the opportunity to provide information to our dear compatriots on those issues you have raised and I hope these issues will be solved for them.

KESHTMAND MEETS WITH TRADE UNION LEADERS

LD060346 Kabul Domestic Service in Pashto 1530 GMT 5 Sep 82

[Text] Soltan 'Ali Keshtmand, member of the PDPA Central Committee Politburo and chairman of the DRA Council of Ministers, this afternoon met with the heads of provincial and city councils of trade unions. During a comprehensive discussion, Soltan 'Ali Keshtmand shed light on the goals of the PDPA and the DRA. He said: Defending the revolution is a matter for all and belongs to all nationalities and strata in our country. But workers, as the progressive and pioneer toilers of the society, are dutybound, in revolutionary unity with the peasants, to realize the weight and importance of the revolutionary tasks and should undertake them.

Speaking further on the convention of the Central Committee plenums of the PDPA concerning the improvement of the socioeconomic conditions of the toilers, Soltan 'Ali Keshtmand added: One of the most important and serious issues discussed in the Ninth Central Committee Plenum was the matter of carrying out political work among the masses. Documents of the Ninth Plenum bear witness that political and ideological work must be strengthened among the masses, because of the revolution in all strata by taking into consideration the essence and character of each of the strata and classes, particularly among the workers and peasants. The masses ought to be attracted to political work. To accomplish political work among the masses it is necessary to find scientific and practical ways, means and methods. Pay attention to them. Most important of all, the truth must be told to the masses.

The BAKHTAR correspondent reports that afterward two officials of the trade unions of Afghanistan expressed their views concerning the work of the trade unions in the capital and provinces of the country and announced their readiness to work to realize the resolutions of the Ninth PDPA Central Committee Plenum.

Subsequently 'Abdol Satar Pordeli, head of the Central Council of the Trade Unions of Afghanistan expressed thanks at meeting the Council of Ministers, promised that all members of the Afghan trade unions (?will take up) arms, until the end, to serve, defend and safeguard the gains of the April Revolution and its new development stage, and do not spare any efforts in realizing its aspirations.

At the conclusion, the (?symbol) of the Afghan trade unions was presented to Soltan 'Ali Keshtmand by the head of the Central Council of the Afghan Trade Unions. It was accepted with thanks.

DOST, BULGARIAN ENVOY EXCHANGE TREATY DOCUMENTS

[Text] The Foreign Ministry Information and Publicity Department reports that the relevant documents to the friendship and cooperation treaty between the DRA and the People's Republic of Bulgaria, which was signed on 22 December 1981 in Sofia, during the visit by Babrak Karmal, general secretary of the PDPA Central Committee and chairman of the DRA Revolutionary Council, recently completed their legal stages. They were exchanged at noon today in the Foreign Affairs Ministry between Shah Mohammad Dost, the DRA minister of foreign affairs, and Mladen Nikolov Mladenov, Bulgarian ambassador to Kabul.

STATESMAN ATTACKS PAKISTAN'S DEFENSE SPENDING

BK070744 Calcutta THE STATESMAN in English 28 Aug 82 p 8

[Article by Satyabrata Rai Chowdhuri; all figures as published]

[Text] On June 14, Pakistan set apart a record Rs 2,209.53 crores for defence, which is about 28.4 percent of the Rs 7,837.18 crore budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1. This pushes up the defence expenditure by Rs 385.2 crores -- about 21 percent over the budgeted figure of Rs 1,824.34 crores for 1981-82. Defence would account for 47.1 percent of the current expenditure in the coming year. As percentage of GNP, this order of magnitude might represent nearly 10 percent.

Announcing the budget for 1982-83 over radio and television networks (in the absence of an elected parliament), the finance minister, Mr Ghulam Ishaq Khan said the geo-political situation and the heightened security concerns necessitated substantial increases in defense outlays. He disclosed that there had already been an increase of 7 percent in defence expenditure involving Rs 135 crores during the fiscal year ending June 30, over the budget estimates.

The massive defence outlay is ominous for the neighbours of Islamabad. Among the Asian countries, only China spends as much of GNP on defence, compared to 4.8 percent by India and 1 percent by Japan. According to the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, the average defence spending of developing countries as percentage of their GNP varies roughly from 5 percent to 6 percent. West Asia's share varies from 8 percent to 15 percent of GNP, whereas in South Asia it varies between 3 percent and 5 percent as weighted average for the entire region. Pakistan's defence expenditure as percentage of GNP has now touched almost double this figure.

It is important to note here that the U.S. House of Representatives Committee on Foreign Affairs, in a report released on November 20 last year, categorically stated that Pakistan's defence expenditure is "heavily subsidized by outside donors." And it is well known that the largest donor is the United States itself. The recent U.S. decision to sell Pakistan arms worth $3.2 billion and Washington's efforts to waive the Symington amendment (which prohibits the administration from assisting countries which have a known nuclear weapons programme) clearly indicate that the United States has been extensively involved in revamping and modernizing Islamabad's military machine.

Pakistan is augmenting its defence expenditure at a time when even the United States and the Soviet Union seem inclined to spend much less on defence than they did a few years ago. The leaders of both these countries appear to have realized that their economies cannot forever provide guns and butter simultaneously and that huge expenditure on armament, unless curtailed, will continue to have very undesirable effects on their economic and social stability. It is partly on account of this anxiety to put their economies on an even keel that they are eager to have a breathing spell in the strategic arms race. In a recently prepared study, the Stockholm International Peace Research Institute (SIPRI) has also pointed out that unless worldwide military expenditure is drastically curbed, humanity will be dangerously heading for an economic doom.

According to the independent commission on disarmament and security, the global military spending is currently estimated at about $650 billion a year -- an amount higher that the entire income of the 1,500 million people living in the 50 poorest countries. In its report published recently, the commission, headed by Mr Olaf Palme, former Swedish prime minister, points out that for developing countries which account for a fourth of this arms expenditure, the economic consequences of expanding military outlays are ruinous. The commission also notes that in South Asia, India has the largest military establishment, but spends much less as a per capita basis or as a share of GNP than does Pakistan.

Since 1950, the General Assembly has adopted a number of resolutions appealing, particularly to developing countries, for an overall reduction of military spending, employing the funds instead for economic and social purposes. There is now a general agreement that unless there is a cutback in the defence spending of developing countries, it will be well-nigh impossible for the non-defence sectors of their economies even to sustain the current rate of growth. The Pakistani leaders, however, do not seem to be worried on that score -- despite the fact that last year Islamabad's balance of payments gap touched the record figure of $1 billion. This is a clear enough indication of the steady slowdown in the Pakistan economy over the years.

This is mainly due to the fact that, during the last three decades, the Pakistani leaders have thrown all available resources into enlarging their military potential. During this period, the leaders of successive regimes made only half-hearted attempts to harness scarce national resources for economic development. They have always been of one mind on one point -- the necessity of building up a formidable military machine. All of them believed -- almost as an article of faith -- that they could achieve their potential goals by the power of the gun alone. The latest defence outlay for 1982-83 reflects the same mood.

A substantial portion of this huge outlay will, of course, be used to acquire red-hot sophisticated weapons from abroad. But why do the Pakistani leaders want to acquire "prestige weapons" they can ill afford? They justify this in the name of national security. But, as revealed by a SIPRI report, such weapons, far from strengthening the defence system, impose a crushing burden on it. Pakistan, the report pointed out, acquired a large quantity of modern warheads both from the United States and China. But its army, trained to handle weapons of World War II vintage, lacked both support services and technical know-how necessary to operate and maintain these arms.

Not surprisingly these weapons became more of a liability than a source of strength when war broke out with India. "The complexity and sophistication of the Pakistani Patton tanks and F-104 fighters are said to have been a handicap to Pakistan. The Pakistanis reportedly proved incapable of operating the automatic control needed to fire the guns of the Patton tanks, which considerably slowed down their offence", the report added.

The emergence of Bangladesh meant not only the loss of 16 percent of the total area of Pakistan, 55 percent of its population, and 33 percent of the cultivable land, but also 40 percent of the GNP. In 1969-70, the net revenue receipts of the federal government, both from tax and non-tax sources and exclusive of the share of the provinces, was Rs 672.72 crores, of which the contribution of the erstwhile East Pakistan was Rs 250 crores. The importance of this contribution lay in the fact that it made all the difference between a surplus and deficit budget. This also makes it clear that the secession of its eastern wing has been a loss which Pakistan cannot hope to make up in the near future and that it must say good-bye to surplus budgets.

Since the heavy dose of deficit financing following the Bangladesh war, there has been a steady decline in the rate of economic growth and revenue deficits are now a regular feature of the annual budgets. While announcing the current budget, Mr Ishaq declared fresh taxation totalling Rs 492 crores, largely through increases in import duties and petroleum prices, to cover part of the budgetary deficit of Rs 714.14 crores. This is a crushing burden for a country which remains as underdeveloped today as three decades ago.

On June 12, Pakistan's military regime claimed "sustained economic recovery" since it came to power in July, 1977, but acknowledged that serious structural weaknesses still persist in the economy. An official economic survey for the year ending June 30 revealed that both efficiency and productivity are still low; the saving rate remains poor and a wide gap continues to exist between investment and savings and in external balance of payments. This has necessitated dependence on foreign aid and, consequently, the level of outstanding debt is continuously rising.

From its level of $43 million in 1951, foreign economic assistance has increased to $18.9 billion, of which $4.4 billion is in the form of grants. The current account deficit for 1981-82 is projected to enlarge to $1,308 million from the level of $991 million in the preceding year. The survey also said that the first nine months of the fiscal year had seen a declining trend in export earnings which stood at Rs 17,563.3 million, against Rs 21,395.9 million over the same period last year, denoting a fall of 17.9 per cent.

The growth in gross domestic product [GDP] has been estimated at 6.6 percent on the basis of a wheat crop of 11.75 million tons, which the survey acknowledged "now appears to be in doubt." However, the output growth was estimated to exceed 6 per cent even if the wheat harvest turned out to be lower than last year. The growth in GNP at 5.9 percent is lower than that in the GDP and according to the survey, their differential is due to lower growth in remittances from Pakistanis working abroad. The per capita income rose only by 2.9 per cent.

These figures conclusively show that in this none too happy situation a massive defence budget is logically untenable.

[Text] The Soviet Union has shown interest in undertaking joint ventures with India for producing certain types of coal mining equipment. Soviet Coal Industry Minister Boris Bratchenko says this will benefit the markets of both the countries. In an article written in connection with Prime Minister Mrs Gandhi's forthcoming visit to the Soviet Union, Bratchenko stated that his country has considerable experience in the field and can successfully cooperate with India. The Soviet minister has visualized joint work in processing coal into liquid fuel and in designing and building coal industry projects in third countries.

GANDHI PAYS TRIBUTE TO KASHMIR'S SHEIKH ABDULLAH

BK091028 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0830 GMT 9 Sep 82

[Excerpt] Thousands of people are filing past the body of Sheikh Mohammad Abdullah which is lying in state at the polo ground in Srinagar to pay their last homage. Life in the valley has come to a standstill and people are pouring into the city wailing. Recitation of verses from the Holy Koran is going on. Namaz-i-zanaja [prayers before burial] will be offered at 1100 tomorrow and the burial will take place immediately afterwards. He will be given a state funeral.

Paying glowing tribute to Sheikh Mohammad Abdullah, the prime minister has said that the Jammu and Kashmir state has lost a father figure and the country a great stalwart. Mrs Gandhi said the sheikh stoutly opposed the policies of the Muslim League and was a fine exemplar of the secular ideal of our nation. He won the admiration of people of different regions and religions.

Describing the sheikh as a tall Indian, Mrs Gandhi recalled that she first saw him in 1934 leading a procession. Not long after he came to be recognized a prominent figure in our freedom movement. Almost immediately after we became independent, sheikh saheb's beliefs were put to the test. Under his valiant leadership the people of Jammu and Kashmir were called upon to confront invaders of their land.

Expressing heartfelt condolences to Begum Abdullah and other members of the bereaved family, Mrs Gandhi said she and her family have lost a friend and a coworkers of many years.

TROOPS ON 'PRECAUTIONARY' ALERT IN KASHMIR

BK091107 Hong Kong AFP in English 0912 GMT 9 Sep 82

[By Govindan Unny]

[Excerpt] New Delhi, Sep 9 (AFP) — Indian Armed Forces were put on a state of alert today along the line of control with Pakistan in Jammu and Kashmir following the death of Sheikh Mohammad Abdullah, chief minister of the strategic and disputed state, Defence Ministry sources here said.

The alert was purely precautionary and will last until the end of the 11-day mourning period declared by the state government for the late "Lion of Kashmir," who died of heart trouble last night at the age of 78, the sources said.

The central government in New Delhi took the unusual steps of closing all its offices and declaring two day's of mourning by the entire nation for the sheikh, who dominated the Kashmir political scene for half a century. Such steps had not been taken previously on the death of any other state chief minister, "but the sheikh was different as he was one of the last of the national leaders who took part in the freedom struggle against the British," one official explained.

Within minutes after the sheikh's death, his eldest son, Dr. Farooq Abdullah, health minister in the Kashmir Government, was sworn in as acting chief minister. The late sheikh had himself brought Dr. Abdullah into his government with the avowed intention of making him his successor. But how far he will be able to fill the vacuum created by the death of the sheikh remains to be seen, one press commentator said.

The sheikh's plans had already met with opposition when his son-in-law, G.M. Shah, also a minister in the state cabinet, objected to the installation of Dr. Abdullah as president of the ruling National Conference Party on the sheikh's orders. Mr. Shah resigned from the government when the late leader's intentions were made known a month ago.

"Now that the sheikh's demise has created a void in Kashmir that would be extremely difficult to fill, it is imperative that nothing is allowed to interfere with smooth succession in Srinagar," THE TIMES OF INDIA said in an editorial.

Picturesque Kashmir, with a majority of Moslems among its five million people, erupted in an outpouring of mourning for the sheikh, whom many Kashmiris considered "good," according to one account reaching here. Uncontrollable crowds thronged the sheikh's official residence last night and thousands flocked to the polo grounds of the capital this morning to file past his body lying in state on a special dias.

SHOOT ON SIGHT ORDERED IN RIOT-TROUBLED MEERUT

BK091733 Hong Kong AFP in English 1709 GMT 9 Sep 82

[Text] New Delhi, Sept. 9 (AFP) -- The authorities in Hindu-Moslem riot-hit Meerut city today issued shoot at sight orders to police as groups of Hindus and Moslems exchanged fire from house tops, reports reaching here said.

Press Trust of India (PTI) reports from Meerut, 75 kms from here, said one person was injured when police opened fire to disperse the two groups who were exchanging fire from the house tops.

With the report of one more fatal stabbing near a cinema last night, the death toll in the communal riot which began on Monday night over the possession of a place of worship, has reached to five.

There was no relaxation in the curfew which was imposed early Tuesday following clashes between the two communities.

About 350 people have been arrested so far, the report said.

OFFICIAL REPORTS ON 'EXTREMISTS' IN NORTHEAST

BK070551 Calcutta ANANDA BAZAR PATRIKA in Bengali 2 Sep 82 p 1, 5

[By Staff Reporter]

[Text] China has not extended assistance to the extremist elements in the northeastern region of India for the past 1 1/2 years. Thus, the hostile Nagas, the underground Mizos and members of the People's Liberation Army of Manipur and the People's Liberation Organization were not able to go to China. The hostile Nagas were also pushed to the border region from the Burmese side.

On 1 September an official spokesman informed reporters of the activities of the extremist elements on the borders and also mentioned the active role played by the police in crushing the Naga and Mizo rebels. The police have also extended all possible assistance to the Border Security Forces.

It has been noticed recently that the extremist elements were divided into various groups and subgroups due to leadership conflicts or cultural conflict with the inhabitants.

The spokesman said Tripura's tribal leader Bejoy Rangkhel voluntarily escaped to Bangladesh. His objective was to join hands with the rebel leaders of Bangladesh and enter Tripura through the Tripura-Mizo-Bangladesh border and create confusion there. However, the Border Security Force is keeping a strict vigil at the Tripura-Mizo-Bangladesh border. The Mizo extremists often try to enter the country from Bangladesh through this route, he added. The Mizos have two big bases at Chemtanang and Rumabazar in the Chittagong hill tracts of Bangladesh. Bejoy Rangkhel is now training in these bases.

All these extremists are demanding the formation of a "Greater Mizo;" in other words, a state composed of Nagaland, Tripura, Burma and Mizo. They also demanded the formation of a "Greater Nagaland." Mizo leader Laldechhenga, who is now in England, is trying to come to Dacca. The Government of India has objected and informed Bangladesh that his coming will hurt the good relations between India and Bangladesh.

On the other hand, at the recommendations of the Nagaland Government, a general election will be held in Nagaland on 10 November and various political parties are preparing for it.

In reply to another question, the spokesman said that in a clash between the extremists and the security forces on the night of 31 August in the Tangkun region of north Manipur, two persons were killed and large quantities of arms and ammunition were captured from the extremists.

Chinese infiltration: Recently 18 Chinese violated the Indian border by infiltrating into India through the Arunachal and Gangtok border areas. It was learned in Calcutta on 1 September that all 18 persons are now being officially interrogated. The 14 Chinese captured in the Arunachal border area, and the four captured in Gangtok were taken to Gauhati and interrogated.

The matter of Chinese infiltration has been kept very secret. The official spokesman refused to say anything on why the Chinese have suddenly violated the border.

MENGHAL CHIEF ON BALUCH SEPARATIST MOVEMENT

BK051045 Bombay THE TIMES OF INDIA in English 29 Aug 82 p 1

[Article by Anthony Mascarenhas with additional research by Swatee Kotwal in the "Sunday Review" section: "The Baluch Cauldron"]

[Text] Boreham Wood, near Elstree, the former film capital of England,is hardly the place for planning a revolution, an insurrection or even a mini-riot of the kind that happens when Saturday night fever hits town. The actors and camera crews, who once played out such Irish drama in the old film lots, have long since departed. Now the only sound disturbing the tranquility of this modernized village, 20 miles from London, comes from the local flying club planes moving through the heavy air like giant dragonflies.

Boreham Wood, however, is also the home of Sardar Ataullah Menghal, the chief of the Menghals, one of the great Baluchistan tribes. Three years ago he left Pakistan for good and sought asylum in Britain. Now this polished, articulate man, who could easily pass for and English country squire, is the international spokesman for the Baluch independence movement.

"Boreham Wood," he told me with a smile, "is Boreham Wood Baluchistan."

The smouldering Baluch separatist movement is once again showing signs of coming alive. There are persistent reports that between 6,000 and 8,000 Baluch tribesmen, who have been trained and equipped with modern weapons by the Russians in Afghanistan, are preparing to launch an armed struggle this summer to win independence from Pakistan for their province. The reports identified their leader as Khair Bux Marri, chief of the Marri tribe. He is the most charismatic of the Baluch leaders and the only one who has never compromised with the Pakistan Government by accepting public office.

Like Menghal, Khair Bux had been living abroad since 1979 but did not seek political asylum. He left London for Kabul last December after failing to obtain long-term permission to live with his family either in Britain or France. His arrival in Afghanistan was a Christmas gift to the Russians and Afghans who have been looking for someone of his calibre to unite the Baluch tribes who have been battling with the Pakistan Army, on and off, for more than 30 years.

It has been suggested that the Soviet Union has long sought an effective riposte to the Afghan mujahidin groups by encouraging a counter-uprising in Pakistan where they have their bases. If this gambit has not been tried before, it is because of Pakistan's hitherto ambivalent position vis-a-vis the superpowers. American aid and the new American dominant influence in Pakistan, however, is said to have removed the need for such constraints and the Russians are now preparing to play their so-called "Baluch card."

This could, indeed, be the Russian and Afghan strategy. But the Baluch nationalists have their own reasons, as Sardar Ataullah Menghal made clear in a remarkably candid interview he gave me recently. He said the Baluch had "no alternative" to a renewed struggle for independence since General Zia, as other Pakistani leaders before him, had firmly shut all avenues for a political settlement. Menghal, who admitted he was in regular contact with Khair Bux in Kabul, would neither confirm nor deny reports of an imminent armed uprising by the Baluch tribes. But he did say, in answer to my question, "the possibility is very much there."

He also spoke about the inevitability of violence and bloodshed. "No country," he told me, "has got out of the clutches of a colonial power just by begging, through the courts or by shouting slogans on the road. Bloodshed has to come in one way or another. Bloodshed has to occur in Baluchistan. Certainly our people will have to fight it out."

"Are you convinced now that there is no other way but independence?" I asked him.

"Yes," came Menghal's firm reply. "All other avenues have been closed to us. Even when I was in Pakistan (before he left to seek asylum in the West) I was convinced there was no way other than independence."

"Pakistan," Menghal said, "was gone the day they kicked East Pakistan out. For us, the Baluch, Pakistan was thrust upon us and even today we hate to be part of it. But let me say we did try to make the inevitable rape enjoyable but they did not even let us do that."

Explaining the historical perspective of the Baluch struggle against Pakistan, Menghal recalled that the start of the trauma came with the founding of Pakistan in 1947. Baluchistan, he claimed, "was the only state which did not accede willingly to Pakistan. That's one record. Kalat (the Baluch state) had the same status, the same relations with Britain's Whitehall as Nepal had. It was quite different from the relationship existing between Britain and the other (princely) states of India. But nobody bothered about this even when Kalat's two assemblies unanimously passed resolutions rejecting accession to Pakistan. What was the result? Mr Jinnah sent his armed forces there and the ruler of Kalat was forced to sign the accession to Pakistan."

The Baluch never forgot this aggression, he said, and over the years had tried to remind the Pakistanis: "Look here, you have forced this accession on us and we are not going to accept it in our hearts." In retalization, Pakistan launched a further series of army operations to subdue the Baluch -- in October, 1958, in 1963, 1967 and during the Bhutto years from 1973 to 1977.

Despite these experiences, Menghal said, the Baluch did try for a peaceful solution. "At times we went out of our way to see if it was possible to adjust with the Punjabis on the matter of live-and-let-live. Take the 1973 Constitution. We went out of our way then. We said let us work together if the intentions are not mala fide. But you see what happened then?" Menghal was referring to the dismissal of the Baluchistan Government in Quetta and the renewed crackdown by the Pakistan Army in April 1973.

He thought Pakistan's policies in erstwhile East Pakistan in 1971 which led to the creation of Bangladesh should have been a lesson to the Punjabis "but they did not learn."

Referring to the attempts by Baluch leaders for a settlement after General Zia took over in July, 1977, Menghal said they were convinced that "if at all we were to get anywhere, then we must see the Punjab cut down to size. Pakistan is composed of four nationalities and each nationality has an equal right to live. We wanted a device which would ensure equal division of everything in the central government. We didn't want provincial autonomy. We wanted a one-fourth share of everything -- an equal share in the services whether they are defence or civilian, in the central funds, and in all the authority that the centre enjoyed. This was the only way we could snatch away the ability of the Punjabis to back out and default on promises."

"But did you really think the Punjab would accept this?" we asked him.

Menghal: "Of course not. They only want an open door to colonize the land of Sind, the mines of Baluchistan and the gas we have and everything so that they can squeeze out the last drop of our blood and turn us into a minority even in our own land."

Warming to this theme, Menghal said the fact that Zulfiqar Ali Bhutto, once the blue-eyed boy of the Pakistan Army, was sent to the gallows by General Zia should be an object-lesson to the world. "Power in Pakistan does not lie with those who wear the trappings of it, but with the army -- which has always ruled -- and remember always, it's a Punjabi army."

He continued: "The Pakistan Army has spread like an enormous octopus in Baluchistan. The countryside is dominated by mushrooming cantonments. The prime intention is and has always been colonization. Baluchistan is a vast but underpopulated area. And now that most of the world -- Britain, Canada, the USA and parts of the Gulf -- is closed to the Punjabis, they want to colonize Baluchistan just as they have colonized and taken the best lands in Sind."

In Baluchistan, Menghal said "99.9 percent of the central government bureaucrats, commissioners, secretaries and other functionaries are outsiders. Even labour is being brought from outside as in the case of the Hub River area near Karachi where the locals are denied jobs given to outsiders. Should there be a referendum tomorrow, the outsiders will outnumber us. This is what the intention is."

"But to achieve this," Menghal warned, "they will have to walk over innumerable dead bodies of the Baluch."

Menghal got extremely emotional. "Bloodshed has to occur in Baluchistan," he declared. "We are a small nation with practically no means. But things keep changing on this globe. I don't think we should be pessimistic about the way things are going." Clearly he was referring to the new situation in the area -- a friendly and cooperative Afghan regime backed by the Soviet Army sitting across the Pakistan border.

In answer to questions, Menghal said the Baluch did not want to get snarled in 'big power' politics. At the same time he was convinced that the Americans were inimical to the Baluch; and that the renewed U.S. military aid to Pakistan was intended not to strengthen that country's capability against the Russians but to "suppress the Baluch whom the Americans call subversionists." "Can the Pakistanis ever confront the Russians?" he asked. "In my view the Baluch are the targets for American arms."

All this left Babrak Karmal's Soviet-backed regime and the Red Army in Afghanistan as the principle hope for the Baluch, but Menghal would not directly confirm it. He did however say in answer to our questions about aid from other quarters: "In the situation we are in, do you think we are fools not to take help from any other quarter if we can get it?"

There have been for months persistent reports that between 5,000 and 8,000 Marri and Menghal tribesmen have been training in Afghanistan with modern Soviet-made weapons provided by a sympathetic Afghan regime and its Russian backers. Menghal refused to talk about it. But he did say that preparations for the liberation struggle was now "being done on an organisational basis" and that "there is now very active coordination" between the Baluch tribes. This suggests that proper organisation and unity of action could give a new Baluch upsurge both substance and a sharp cutting edge.

I asked him bluntly, "Is another armed Baluch uprising imminent?" Menghal: "The possibility is very much there. But when it's going to happen, even if I know, I am not going to say for very obvious reasons."

I persisted in my probing: "Would you say that the present time and international situation is critical for your plans?" Menghal: "Yes, things are going in everybody's favour. The Punjabis are getting all sorts of aid. But it runs in our favour too. We feel that we must make hay while the sun shines. Somebody who can be of help to us I'm sure will not be ignorant of the fact that the time to act is now. If he is late, then we may all miss the bus. But I don't think that's going to happen."

KHAMENE'I REJECTS FES SUMMIT DECISIONS

LD092236 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 2030 GMT 9 Sep 82

[Text] According to a Central News Unit report, ambassadors and charges d'affaires of the Islamic Republic of Iran in West Europe; Ahmad 'Azizi, deputy minister of foreign affairs; and cultural counsellors of the Islamic Guidance Ministry, together with the international affairs under secretary to the Ministry of Islamic Guidance, held talks today with Seyyed 'Ali Khamene'i, the president of the Islamic Republic of Iran.

During the meeting the president of the republic, addressing those present, said: Your tasks, whether you are ambassadors, charges d'affaires or cultural representatives, indeed constitute a single activity although carried out in two different ways. Your tasks are important from two viewpoints: To begin with the activities outside the country from the political and cultural standpoints constitute the outside shell of the Islamic revolution and of our republic which, if not correctly and accurately stated, would result in our revolution and its concomitant, the Islamic Republic, being sunk in vagueness and silence and would open the way for comments, reports and tendentious views. Second, the thinking and foundations of this revolution are not confined to our country and this nation. A nation's revolutionary ebullition would only endure when it could find a place in connection with the minds, thoughts, the ready objective backgrounds and the inquiring hearts of the world peoples, and only thus would the revolution remain; otherwise, the confining of a revolution within the boundaries of a single country and one nation would be tantamount to the destruction of that revolution.

The president of the republic added: All the forces that are abroad should be mobilized as the active biceps and brains of the Islamic Republic of Iran; only then would our representatives not remain as lonely strangers.

Referring to the fact that no appreciable work has so far been carried out with regard to cultural activities, Khamene'i said: Cultural links, particularly with the Islamic Republic, which has carried out a revolution with a rich cultural infrastructure, constitute the most fundamental and important steps. If we were to demonstrate our culture to the world's countries we would require instruments which are constituted by cultural links in foreign countries.

Referring to U.S. and Israeli criminal acts against the Palestinians and the discussion of them at the Fes conference, the president of the republic said: That forum is a complementary step for broadening Israel's latest 3-month onslaught against Lebanon. Indeed, the real aims of this plan frustrate and destroy the boiling over of the Islamic revolution in the region which, with the presence of the movement of our Palestinian brothers, should have acquired greater color, brilliance and possibilities.

Mr Khamene'i said: The United States well knows the reactionary Arab heads and knows that the path to achieving its desires is to put the least possible pressure to bear on those people, and those people, because of their differences, discord and sundry acts of egoism cannot bear pressures and heartily embrace imposed and dictated ideas, thoughts and policies.

While expressing deep regret for the latest decision by the conference of Arab leaders in Fes, the president of the republic said: This move of theirs is tantamount to decapitating, neutralizing and destroying the great revolutionary movement of the Palestinian people which had acquired reality, thanks to demonstrations, articles, speeches and other things toward bringing about the Palestine Resistance organization. In other words, in reality this is tantamount to crossing out all the efforts, toils and endeavors carried out since 1947, and this calamitous outrage has been carried out with Israel's initiative, with encouragement and direction from the United States, and thanks to direct and indirect assistance from reactionary Arab rulers.

In conclusion, Khamene'i said: By what rule and in accordance with what duty are these Arab heads taking decisions for the Palestinian nation? No one, whether Arab or non-Arab, has the right to decide for the Palestinian people except when it to their advantage, and any decision on the fate of Palestine and the Palestinians is solely entrusted and linked to them. We, as the Government of the Islamic Republic of Iran, absolutely reject and do not accept the resolutions of the Fes conference and we condemn any decision made that is tantamount to putting an end to the movement and resistance of the Palestinian people, deeming it as an act of treason against the Palestinian people.

TEHRAN CALLS FES DRAFT PEACE PLAN 'TREASON'

GF100550 Tehran International Service in Arabic 0400 GMT 10 Sep 82

[Text] While news agency reports indicate that the Fes summit conference may issue its final statement today, the conference has approved the draft of a so-called Middle East plan. This shameful plan provides for the recognition of the Zionist entity and comprises a number of U.S., Saudi and Tunisian proposals. The plan also provides for finding a place for the Palestinians in the West Bank and the Gaza Strip whose center is east Jerusalem and ending the presence of the Syrian forces in Lebanon.

This resolution is a treason to the Palestinian question and to the Muslim peoples of the region and is intended to pave the way for the implementation of the plots of the United States and its allies against the Islamic movement.

Reports from Fes say that 'Arafat and Fahd, who were (?associated together) in bringing about the approval of this agreement, gave the victory sign when they left the tribal celebrations that were held.

The PDRY leader left Fes yesterday in protest over this plan.

The Moroccan minister of state in charge of foreign affairs said that the Fes talks lasted longer than expected.

The ambassador of the Zionist entity to the United States has welcomed the desire of the Arab countries to hold talks with his country.

A spokesman for the Jordanian regime said that the greater part of the plan will remain secret but declined to give the reason.

In Saudi Arabia, Saudi Defense and Aviation Minister Sultan ibn 'Abd al-'Aziz said that Reagan's proposals for a so-called Middle East peace are positive and constructive. He said: We will decide what the Arab stand will be on the U.S. plan. This is the first Saudi reaction to Reagan's plans. Earlier, Saudi ministers had said that the U.S. proposals are being studied.

ARMED FORCES JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUE NO 1,042

LD091736 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 9 Sep 82

[Communique No 1,042 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. In the course of the military operations carried out by Islam's heroic forces during the past 24 hours, their gunfire on enemy artillery positions, tanks, mortars and infantry inflicted losses and casualties on the enemy.

In the operational zone in the western part of the country, a sporadic exchange of fire continued; in Meymak this fire was intense. On the western fronts our combatants, by defending their positions and by retaliating against enemy fire, destroyed certain positions and fortifications of the Saddamist forces.

In the operational zone in the southern part of the country an exchange of heavy-weapon fire continued and our forces, while carrying out their reconnaissance and combat missions and patrol and penetration operations, controlled enemy movements and, by opening artillery fire, disrupted movement by Saddamist forces.

Our combatants, by smashing enemy defensive positions and lines on the opposite bank of the Arvand Rud, destroyed three bunkers and two observation posts of the Iraqi military and killed or wounded a number of their servicemen.

Yesterday, Abadan residential areas came under intense fire from heavy long-range weapons of the Saddamist army, and as a result of hits by enemy mortars, seven housing units in that city were destroyed and one of our compatriots was wounded.

During the past 24 hours, our air defense units vigilantly continued to counter aggression by enemy aircraft against border regions in the southern and western parts of the country.

On 7 September, 24 combatants from the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran in the war zones joined the God-seeking caravan of martyrs in defense of Islam and the Islamic homeland. May God's mercy be upon their souls!

[Signed] The Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran

IRANIANS FIRE ON IRAQI TARGETS, INFLICT LOSSES

LD091940 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 9 Sep 82

[Text] According to an IRNA and Central News Unit report, the combatants of Abadan's Islamic Revolution Committee, our gendarmerie fighters and navy, opened retaliatory fire on the Saddamist positions in the vicinity of Kharm al-Bahriyah and As-Sibah in Iraq on the opposite bank of the Arvand Rud, and, during the past 24 hours, destroyed 1 enemy troop-carrying vehicle, 1 fuel tanker, 14 trenches, and killed or wounded 57 Saddamist troops; enemy ambulances were on the move for hours evacuating the wounded.

ARDABILI REQUESTS STRONGER SECURITY MEASURES

LD091800 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 8 Sep 82

[Text] According to the Central News Unit, the following letter has been sent by Mr Musavi-Ardabili, the president of the State Supreme Court, to Mr Mir-Hoseyn Musavi, the prime minister, in connection with the bomb explosion and the crime committed recently by the hypocrites organization.

In His exalted name. His Excellency Mir-Hoseyn Musavi, the prime minister:

These days, the martyr-nurturing nation is witnessing the crimes and tragedies caused by the savage hypocrites throughout the country, in particular in Tehran, in the form of blind killing and explosions aimed at spreading terror and fear.

Although these foolish acts have no effect on our combative people but elicit disgust and damnation for their supporters, and because those in authority are religiously and legally responsible for the shedding of any drop of blood and any violation of the law, and since they must act with utmost decisiveness, prudence and commitment, I consider myself dutybound to ask Your Excellency to order those in authority and the security officials to make use of the measures taken to maintain civil security and to put the policies adopted and their results at the disposal of the officials and of the people.

[Signed] Seyyed 'Abdolkarim Musavi-Ardabili, president of the State Supreme Court and member of the Supreme Judicial Council

NATEQ-NURI TO ANNOUNCE SECURITY MEASURES

LD092002 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 9 Sep 82

[Text] Following the letter to the prime minister from Mr Musavi-Ardabili, president of the State Supreme Court, the prime minister, Mr Mir-Hoseyn Musavi, sent a letter to the interior minister as follows:

In His exalted name. To Brother Hojjat ol-Eslam Nateq-Nuri, the esteemed minister of interior:

In view of the responsibility of the Interior Ministry for safeguarding the country's security, please issue instructions to inform the esteemed president of the State Supreme Court, the responsible officials and the people of the steps taken by the State Security Council to combat the tools of the arrogant power in the country. Such information should not compromise the country's security.

Undoubtedly, informing our Muslim nation of the acts of self-sacrifice carried out by the selfless members of the Islamic Revolution committees, the Islamic Revolution guards corps, the Mobilization forces, the police and the Islamic Revolution public prosecutor's office will further strengthen the will of our multimillion-strong Muslim masses in waging the fight against the imperialist and Zionist scum.

[Signed] Mir-Hoseyn Musavi, the prime minister of the Islamic Republic of Iran

3 INJURED IN TEHRAN BOMB EXPLOSION 9 SEPTEMBER

GF091626 Tehran IRNA in English 1545 GMT 9 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept. 9, IRNA -- Three innocent passers-by were injured when a weak bomb exploded in the Lalezar Street, central Tehran, at 1245 hours local time today.

The bomb had been planted under a car which was parked in front of a jewelry shop. The blast, which was carried out in a crowded section of the city by the U.S. inspired agents, also caused the smash of the windowpanes of some buildings and shops.

'COUNTERREVOLUTIONARIES' DEFEATED NEAR PIRANSHAH

LD092012 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 9 Sep 82

[Text] According to an IRNA report, following mopping-up operations in polluted areas and the liberation of deprived and Muslim Kurdish people from the domination of pro-American mercenary minigroups and assailants, 10 villages near the city of Piranshah were cleansed from the filth of illegal armed elements. The counterrevolutionaries suffered very heavy losses.

According to this report, the operations, which were carried out yesterday by the strong combatants of Islam, resulted in one of the important bases of the counterrevolution in the village of (Hangabad) being captured. The villages of (Zeydan), (Vadi), (Gulban Shiyan), (Richabad), (Kuzehgaran), (Vardeshan), (Kanisabab), (Tariqnan), (Hangabad) and (Fowqanlu) were mopped up and their oppressed inhabitants liberated from the evil of the assailants.

According to the same report, in the course of the aforesaid operations the counterrevolution suffered about 100 casualties -- an accurate report will be announced later.

The operations of the strong combatants of Islam in this region aimed at uprooting the germs of corruption are still continuing.

HOARDING, OVERCHARGING CALLED 'TREASON'

LD041218 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1120 GMT 4 Sep 82

[Unattributed commentary]

[Excerpt] The hoarding and overcharging of commodities, which burdens the society's oppressed, was one of the country's chaotic economic and social problems cited during yesterday's Friday prayers.

Hoarding itself is a destructive phenomenon which, if its growth is ignored, will automatically cause economic weakness and ultimately makes the revolution vulnerable to foreign enemies.

As Brother Hashemi-Rafsanjani said, a hoarder is no different from those who carry weapons and grenades against the Friday prayers. From the social point of view they are in the same category. The Government of the Islamic Republic of Iran and the tribunals against hoarding and overcharging have heavy responsibilities. Any omission in the struggle against economic crime is seen as treason against the revolution and as ignoring the rights of the oppressed. It is hoped that through the government's fundamental measures and the tribunal's revolutionary firmness, the hoarders and those overcharging will be punished for their inauspicious actions and at the same time the economic and social nests of corruption will be destroyed and the deprived and the oppressed, who are the true heirs of the revolution, will be relieved from the burden of hoarding and overcharging.

ECONOMY MINISTER ADDRESSES TORONTO IMF MEETING

GF092036 Tehran IRNA in English 1715 GMT 9 Sep 82

[Excerpts] Toronto, Sept 9 (IRNA) -- Iranian Minister of Economics and Finance Dr Hoseyn Namazi last night criticised the role of superpowers and pointed out that developing countries are suffering because of the present economic order prevailing in the world.

Dr Namazi was addressing the 1982 joint annual meeting of the Board of Governors of the International Monetary Fund (IMF) and the World Bank opened here for a general discussion of the deepening global recession and the deteriorating fragile financial system.

The Iranian minister said the developing countries' sufferings are due to superpowers hegemony and manipulation in the world economy.

The joint annual meeting is the 37th in a series which was opened on Sept 7 by Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau.

Dr Namazi in his address strongly criticised the absence of the representatives of Palestinian nation and said that their representation was not arranged even at the level of observer.

He blasted the presence of the Zionist regime and said the regime had "embarked on total destruction of Palestine."

Giving a brief account of the struggle of the Iranians against the imperialism and exploitation, Dr Namazi said the Islamic nation could succeed in thwarting all such plots of superpowers just because of their faith in Islam.

Namazi then criticised the IMF for violation of its own charter and said the IMF "refused even to hear our grievances against illegal action of the United States. [quotation marks as received]

He said that the case of Iran is a clear proof that the "present system in the IMF is unable to take effective against the will of its major industrialised shareholders. [quotation marks as received]

In listing the superpowers' moves to hit at the Islamic revolution, Namazi said they finally resorted to Iraq and ordered Saddam to attack Iran on Sep 22, 1980.

However, he said, the Muslim people of Iran heroically drove out the invader Iraqis with the help of Allah. He then said that Iran would soon conclude its defensive actions under the unique leadership of Imam Khomeyni.

Listing the great losses of Iran during the imposed war Namazi said Iran had been nevertheless able to conclude major developing projects such as building of roads in the provinces and electrificating [as received] of the rural areas and inprovement in other communication facilities.

He contributed these accomplishment to Iran's independent oil and trade policy based on serving the deprived Iranian people rather than the rich.

Namazi then denied reports of foreign media and said that Iran had not even once failed to honor its financial commitments.

He concluded by saying that Iran believed a just and equitable relations was the only way for creating an environment conducive to peace at advancement of the human race.

MONTAZERI CRITICIZES FRG TREATMENT OF IRANIANS

LD040348 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 2030 GMT 3 Sep 82

[Excerpts] The Central News Unit reported that today a group of ambassadors, charges d'affaires and consuls of the Islamic Republic of Iran to the West European countries and America, together with the under secretary in charge of financial and administrative affairs and officials in charge of political bureaus of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, met with Ayatollah Montazeri in Qom. At this meeting, Ayatollah Montazeri praised the efforts of the representatives of the Islamic Republic abroad in publicizing the aims of the Islamic revolution and neutralizing the attempts to create an antirevolution atmosphere. He then addressed the supervisors of the Embassies of the Islamic Republic of Iran and said: Try to concentrate your efforts on pleasing God and acting according to the duties and responsibilities given to you by God so that if your efforts in reaching your aim are defeated you will not be disgraced before God and your own conscience. Ayatollah Montazeri added: You are the mouth of the revolution and Islam. Although you might encounter hardships and difficulties on this path, it is necessary to represent the Islamic Republic in practice by selflessness, sacrifice and acting strictly according to Islamic regulations.

According to the same report, several Muslim Iranian students released from the prisons of the regime in the FRG, who have been deported from that country after being released, together with the representative of the union of the Islamic associations of the Iranian students in Europe, today met and conferred with Ayatollah Montazeri in Qom. At this meeting, first the representative of the union conveyed the greetings of the Iranian Muslim students imprisoned in the FRG and described the shameful condition of these prisoners and the inhuman behavior of the FRG police toward them. Then Ayatollah Montazeri, while hoping that these students would be freed from the prisons of the fascist regime in the FRG and praising the resistance and revolutionary behavior and uncompromising attitude of the Muslim students abroad, asked them not to ignore their studies and to search for knowledge while continuing with their political struggle against the government subservient to blasphemy and international oppression and counterrevolutionary elements.

Ayatollah Montazeri added: It is surprising that the FRG Government, in spite of its political and economic relations with the Islamic Republic of Iran, is antagonizing the 36 million Iranians to such an extent. They imagine that they are faced with a limited number of students and are unaware that they are facing a great and resistant nation.

Ayatollah Montazeri then emphasised: The FRG Government should understand the Islamic revolution of Iran and should take steps in accordance with its conditions and stance.

OFFICIAL CLAIMS FRG INTERFERENCE IN AFFAIRS

LD091202 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 9 Sep 82

[Text] According to the Central News Unit, the charge d'affaires of the West German Embassy in Tehran met with the Islamic Guidance Ministry's international affairs under secretary this morning and discussed the expansion of cultural activities between the two countries.

During the meeting, the Islamic Guidance Ministry's under secretary said: It would have been more appropriate for this meeting to discuss more [word indistinct] matters. But, due to the hostile and incorrect treatment of Iranian students by the German Government, it should be pointed out that before being a political revolution, the Islamic revolution of Iran is a cultural and ideological one. Because of the actions of the German Government, the people of Iran have exerted pressure on us for not adopting a (?different) attitude toward the German Government.

The Iranian Government has decided to assign the operation of the Goethe Institute -- which has been run by the German Government -- to the Islamic Guidance Ministry within the next 2 months. We ask you to inform the German Government of this decision of the Iranian Government.

The West German Embassy's charge d'affaires replied: Is this decision due to the deportation of the 5 Iranian students from Germany, or because of the upcoming trial of the 80 students?

The Islamic Guidance Ministry's under secretary replied: Numbers do not matter to us. As we treat foreigners respectfully, we want other governments to treat our students -- who are in fact our representatives and a part of our revolutionary nation -- respectfully.

The West German Embassy's charge d'affaires said: Our government is in favor of greater expansion of cultural relations with the Government of the Islamic Republic of Iran.

The Islamic Guidance Ministry's under secretary replied: After the Islamic revolution of Iran, the German Government has allowed its political stance to interfere with the affairs [as heard] and has been strongly hindering the growth of Islamic ideas. If your government is in favor of the expansion of cultural relations with Iran, it should respect our views.

TRANSPORTATION AGREEMENT SIGNED WITH TURKEY

LD091826 Tehran IRNA in English 1014 GMT 9 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept. 9, IRNA -- The Islamic Republic of Iran and Turkey signed a letter of understanding for land, sea and air transportation as well as transit cooperation here Wednesday afternoon.

Deputy minister of transport and communications of Turkey, Orhan Buldac, said that the volume of Turkish export goods to Iran during the past eight months exceeded one million tons. According to this letter of understanding, Turkey undertook to provide Iran with charter ships and also services they needed, the deputy minister added.

Referring to air transportation between the two countries, Buldac noted that the Islamic Republic had agreed to provide facilities for the Turkish air lines to resume its flights to Iran. The agreement signed between Iran and Turkey in 1980 deemed it necessary for both parties to hold annual meetings to review the contract.

Mehdi Karbassian, transportation undersecretary at the Iranian Ministry of Roads and Transportation, said that Iran had requested Turkey to review parts of the 1980 agreement relating to international passenger and cargo transportation. The two sides also decided to study railway transportation tariff for commodities as well as providing facilities for the transportation through Turkey of Iranians to Europe and Syria. Turkey also agreed to increase the Islamic Republic's telecommunication lines to that country from six to 12, Karbassian added.

NVOI WARNS OF DICTATORSHIP BY MONOPOLISTS

TA090619 (Clandestine) National Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1730 GMT 8 Sep 82

[Unattributed commentary: "Our Nation's Revolution Is a Popular and Anti-Imperialist Revolution]

[Text] Dear compatriots: One of the special characteristics of the glorious popular and anti-imperialist revolution of our nation was the active participation in it of all the strata of the people, particularly the millions-strong masses of toilers and the oppressed. In other words the revolution belongs to all the people and to all the true revolutionary forces, and therefore its fruit should also belong to all of them.

Unfortunately, we are observing through experience that specific groups whose feelings of monopolism outweigh the general interests of the revolution and Iran today consider themselves as the sole heirs of the revolution and have made their profession the sowing of discord and the creation of differences, without paying heed to the interests of the revolution. They consign to oblivion the fact that the revolution belongs to all the people, and by this means they strive to impose the dictatorship of a specific group over the people in our liberated homeland. These superficial and monopolistic elements, by attaching labels on the sincere forces that have faith in the revolution, strive to drive them from the arena and to take sole possession of the revolution and the Islamic Republic. According to Ayatollah Montazeri, these elements are the ignorant friends of the revolution, and their action prepares the ground for the growth of discontent.

One cannot overlook the fact also that it is again these gentlemen who endeavor by any means to prevent under various pretexts every fundamental measure by the Islamic government that is in the interests of the toiling and oppressed people. It is they who do not want the toiling Iranian people to be saved from the Satans of the bazaar. It is they who do not allow our homeland's workers to be freed from the evil of the Satanic labor law and to lead a normal human life. If we wanted to recount all the difficulties created by these superficial elements in the face of the beneficial measures of the Islamic government, even a whole book would not suffice.

From the viewpoint of these gentlemen every measure carried out by the Islamic government in the interest of the oppressed people is a communist measure. Thus, they have created a bogey man of communism by which they want to frighten the realistic leaders and to prevent their taking measures in the interest of the people.

It is the people who want land to be placed at the disposal of the farmers, the workers to enjoy a comfortable life, that an end be put to exploitation, and that the plundering of the capitalists and the parasites of society be terminated. These are the demands of our nation, if the true communists alao demand their implementation, what objection can be levelled at them? The Iranian revolution,too, has heralded the implementation of these tasks for the Iranian people. Today the people rightly want to enjoy the revolution's blessings, gains and benefits.

Any group and strata and any monopolist who under any pretext, willingly or unwillingly, prevents the fulfillment of this slogan of the revolution actually pours grist into the mill of the enemies and assists the counterrevolution in achieving its ominous goals.

NVOI URGES VIGILANCE AGAINST 'COUNTERREVOLUTION'

TA072050 (Clandestine) National Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1730 GMT 7 Sep 82

[Unattributed commentary: "Let Us Double Revolutionary Vigilance"]

[Text] Dear compatriots: Since the counterrevolution and the disillusioned foes of the Islamic Republic of Iran cannot stand face-to-face against our always-on-the-scene nation, they resort to every crime and treachery. The bomb blast incident in Tehran, as a result of which a number of people were killed and many of our unarmed and innocent compatriots were wounded, is an example of the crimes of the counterrevolutionary elements, and at the same time is indicative of the weakness and impotence of these expelled dregs and natural criminals.

Every schoolchild knows that planting bombs here and there, in thoroughfares and mosques, in offices and on streets, in buses or in similar places is not a difficult job. The counterrevolution and the dregs of the former regime, by resorting to the method of committing crimes and assassinations, are in fact demonstrating their weakness and abjectness to our heroic nation. However, despite the fact that resorting to such criminal methods is proof of the ignominious defeat of the counterrevolution's elements and the foes of the Islamic Republic, nevertheless one should not and cannot ignore this incident and similar bloody incidents. One must discover the aim of the counterrevolution and the elements of world-devouring America in committing such crimes. One should find out which persons, groups and organizations could be the main and principal elements in such crimes.

Devoting attention to this matter and conducting an unbiased and realistic review and analysis of this bloody incident, and similar events, is necessary for this reason because every time such an event occurs in our homeland, some people wittingly, and others unwittingly, focus attention on a specific organization, and let us say clearly, only on members and followers of the Mojahedin-e Khalq organization.

We have repeatedly stated in the past and repeat now that terrorism is not only not a revolutionary method, but on the contrary is a counterrevolutionary method and is misleading. It is an incorrect method which first of all diverts individuals, particularly young people who are inexperienced or who have slight experience, from the main path of revolutionary struggle. Second, it is an element in the hands of the counterrevolution to strike at the revolutionary gains of the nation. Third, it could very well prepare the conditions for attacking all revolutionary and committed forces.

We have stated and repeat that any organization, whatever its name, title and ideological views may be, when it resorts to the incorrect and counterrevolutionary method of terrorism, actually throws itself into the embrace of the counterrevolution. Experience and history have demonstrated that, in our homeland, there were some organizations that, as a result of the treachery of their leaders, gradually deviated from the principal and theoretical method of revolutionary struggle, and embraced the incorrect methods of struggle, including terrorism, and finally popped up in the same place with individuals such as the traitor Bani-Sadr.

All of us are aware of this fact. However, the deviation of organizations which one day possessed traces of belonging to the masses, and which later due to the treachery of their leaders fell into the quagmire of opportunism and terrorism, cannot be an excuse for blaming every crime, explosion, assassination and murder on these organizations, or for diverting the opinions and views of the responsible authorities and of the security and military officials from the main danger: the plots of the counterrevolution, the dregs of the former regime, the criminal SAVAKists and the remnants of the Imperial Army.

It should not be forgotten that the elements of the former regime -- the SAVAKists and the mercenaries of the counterrevolution -- have penetrated government organizations, revolutionary institutions and the mass media, as the imam has repeatedly emphasized. By pretending to be Muslims and by resorting to various ploys, by exploiting the lack of experience and the mentality of compromise of some of the authorities, these elements have so far dealt heavy blows to the revolution.

One of the methods employed by the criminals of the former regime and the elements of the Americanized counterrevolution is that always during the occurrence of certain incidents, such as assassinations or explosions, they strive to divert public opinion from the main source and origin of terrorism and crime. This is the method of the counterrevolution in all liberated countries. It attempts through its elements in government organizations and in the mass media, and by the hands of the pseudoclergy and the Satans of the bazaar, to divert the view of the authorities from the primary and principal source of danger and to mislead the security forces. It is here that safeguarding the revolution and uncovering the principal elements of plotting, crimes and terrorism requires more revolutionary vigilance from all the responsible officials.

We should not forget for one moment that simultaneous with deviationist and so-called hypocrite organizations, the nuclei of the counterrevolution and the elements of the United States and the sworn enemies of the imam's line and of our Islamic Republic are still endeavoring with utmost power to topple the Islamic Republic's system. The discovery of Qotbzadeh's plot demonstrated that this is an endless story. For such American groups and organizations as Qotbzadeh's group, which had planned the imam's assassination, planting bombs in a certain place or assassinating this or that personality is something ordinary. One cannot claim that we have arrested and identified all persons associated with the Americanized counterrevolutionary groups. The members of these groups, similar to that of Qotbzadeh, are still engaged in activity here and there.

Thus, in connection with this bloody incident, while the responsible officials, particularly the country's security authorities, should double their vigilance, at the same time one should show more revolutionary care and vigilance in identifying the main origins and sources of these plots, devoid of haste and intimations.

IRANIAN ANTI-SOVIET PROPAGANDA DECRIED

TA092057 (Clandestine) National Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1730 GMT 9 Sep 82

[Unattributed commentary: "Propaganda Must Not Be Misleading"]

[Text] Dear compatriots: If you constantly pursue the programs of our country's mass media, you will see that some of the talks are in fact aimed at diverting public opinion and negating America. For example, in the talks that were broadcast by Tehran radio on the occasion of the anniversary of the martydom of Raja'i and Bahonar, despite the fact that all are aware that this felonious crime was committed by the hands of U.S. elements and with a U.S. plan, nevertheless in these talks the utmost endeavor was exerted in order to portray it to the people as the result of a collusion between the so-called two superpowers, which is an act that is devoid of human and Islamic ethics.

Today, our homeland's people are observing and witnessing the bitter reality that certain hands in our country, and particularly in the official propaganda organization, are striving to negate America and to implement the plan of the U.S. CIA in separating revolutionary Iran from real friends, in depriving revolutionary Iran from the support of natural friends and allies, and consequently isolating it. It is these filthy hands which under the mask of the slogan "Neither Eastern nor Western," and by raising the banner of the Maoist thesis of the superpowers, have aimed the cutting edge of their attacks not at imperialism, headed by world-devouring America, but at the Soviet Union and the creation of a hostile climate toward socialist countries.

Needless to say that among the executors of this policy there are some people who are nurtured by the imperialist, above all the American, arsenal. Although the aware Iranian people distinguish truth from falsehood, and through experience have recognized the friends and foes of the revolution and the Islamic Republic, at any rate one cannot ignore the fact that unhealthy and wrong propaganda will ultimately result in the withdrawal of the people's confidence in the official propaganda organization. The situation will reach such an extent that the people will no longer believe and have confidence even in the true issues and items that are broadcast by our country's mass media.

The fact is that the elements of the liberals and the counterrevolution, in the feature of the Keshmiris and Kolahis, have penetrated into our homeland's mass media, and officials committed to the revolution must not ignore this fact, for propaganda is not for the sake of propaganda alone, propaganda should be at the service of a specific political purpose.

Indeed, the question posed is: What policy and objective is behind that extensive propaganda aid which, by raising the issue of the "two superpowers" and "Neither Eastern nor Western," basically attacks the East, which tries to consign to oblivion the West, America, Israel and other enemies of the revolution but places socialist countries and the friends of the revolution on the same level with America and its allies, namely our enemies? The Iranian nation's glorious revolution possesses an anti-imperialist, independence-seeking and popular content.

Our nation recognizes imperialism, led by the United States, as its main, permanent and irreconcilable foe. Experience has shown the correctness of this stance. Therefore, our propaganda too must be in line with this stance and in an anti-imperialist and popular direction. In connection with foreign policy the government and the responsible authorities have taken outstanding steps toward manifesting its anti-imperialist aspects, but our country's official propaganda, which should be in the service of this anti-imperialist policy, has in many instances taken a diametrically opposed position. The danger exists that this disharmony that has been created by suspicious and unknown elements will cause the withdrawal of the people's confidence both from propaganda and the policy of the Islamic government. Those who control the propaganda affairs should devote attention to this danger.

With respect to the importance of propaganda, the imam of the nation has said: Coordination in propaganda, which is one of the most important things, must be maintained more. You must strive to maintain unity and coordination in such a way that will eliminate any hostile propaganda. You know that the propaganda weapon is more effective than arms in the fields of battle. Our revolutionary homeland's realistic officials must not allow official propaganda to be steered in a direction that is actually intended to negate America and divert public opinion from the main and principal enemy of the revolution and the Islamic Republic.

TWO NEW TRANSMITTERS INSTALLED IN BALUCHESTAN

GF041446 Tehran KEYHAN in Persian 25 Aug 82 p 4

[Text] Zahedan: Two new television transmitters have been installed in the Baluchestan area by the engineers and dedicated employees of the Voice and Vision of the Islamic Republic of Iran with the cooperation of the network expansion unit.

One of the transmitters is in Dujjing [Dejang-e Bala] located 60 km inside the Khash District. It has a capacity of 10 watts and will cover the villages of (Kahnuk) and (Dehpayeh), Eslamabad and (Nukabad). Compatriots residing in this area will be able to view the programs of the Vision of the Islamic Republic of Iran on Channel 8.

The other transmitter, which has a strength of 50 watts, is expected to cover the area of Qasr-e Qand in Chah Bahar District.

13 SEPTEMBER 1982

Lebanon

Military Situation -- Israeli planes attacked Syrian and "terrorist" positions in central Lebanon early on 13 September, hitting targets in Al-Matn, Shtawrah and Dahr al-Baydar and destroying a SAM-9 launcher vehicle, the IDF spokesman announced in a communique reported by Jerusalem radio. While Voice of Lebanon radio said the Israelis also bombed a Palestinian refugee camp near Tripoli, official sources cited by Beirut radio denied reports of raids on the north. The previous afternoon, Israeli aircraft attacked and destroyed a SAM-9 launcher vehicle in the Dahr al-Baydar area, according to an announcement by the IDF spokesman reported by IDF radio. Earlier, after revealing that three IDF soldiers were killed by bazooka fire on 10 September, the spokesman stressed that Israel takes a very serious view of cease-fire violations in eastern Lebanon, Jerusalem radio noted. IDF radio reported another cease-fire violation on the night of 12 September and broadcast remarks by Israel's Cabinet secretary accusing the Syrians of failing to prevent violations by the "terrorists." During the 12 September Israeli Cabinet session, ministers said Israel is now at the height of a war of attrition with the Syrians and their allies, Jerusalem radio reported.

The Syrians have placed their forces on maximum alert and have announced deployment of three SAM-9 batteries in northern Lebanon, the Voice of Lebanon reported. However, monitored Syrian media have not been observed to report the Israeli air attacks on Syrian positions.

Leftist militia clashed with the Lebanese Army in west Beirut on 12 September, Beirut and Voice of Lebanon radio reported. The army cleared the gunmen from the area of the clashes, near the old east-west dividing line, but lost 1 soldier killed and 13 injured, according to a Lebanese military source's statement broadcast by the Voice of Lebanon. Six French vehicles were destroyed when an ammunition truck was hit in the gunfire and exploded, the spokesman said. The previous day, three people were killed by a car bomb in the northern city of Tripoli, according to Beirut radio.

Syrian forces will not withdraw from Lebanon to leave it an easy prey for the Israelis and Bashir al-Jumayyil's government, the Syrian paper AL-BA'TH announced over the weekend in an editorial reported by Monte Carlo radio. Earlier, French sources cited by AFP said the entire multinational force in Lebanon will leave by 14 September. The Italian contingent left Beirut on 11 September, according to the Voice of Lebanon.

Political Situation -- President-elect Bashir al-Jumayyil held meetings over the weekend with former Prime Ministers Rashid as-Sulh and Sa'ib Salam, Beirut radio reported. Salam is willing to cooperate with Al-Jumayyil's regime if it pledges not to conclude a peace treaty with Israel, the radio noted. Earlier, former President Camille Sham'un said Lebanon should sign a security agreement with Israel if it cannot sign a peace treaty, according to the Voice of Lebanon.

Israel

Rejection of Fes Plan -- Israel totally rejects the Fes plan and regards it as worse than Saudi King Fahd's 1981 proposals, and Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman announced in a 10 September statement reported by Jerusalem radio. Foreign Minister Yitzhaq Shamir, in an interview with Jerusalem television, said the new Arab proposals are a repetition of previous recipes for the annihilation of the State of Israel. Even if the Fes proposals had covertly hinted at Arab recognition of Israel, the Israeli Government would have rejected them, he asserted. Any plan for a Middle East political settlement that does not obtain Israel's consent is worthless, Shamir declared in a speech reported by ITIM. The foreign minister subsequently stated in remarks broadcast by Jerusalem radio that Israel made its last concessions at Camp David and will not withdraw from any territory.

Peres Support for Reagan -- President Ronald Reagan's plan is the most realistic approach recently proposed for a solution to the Middle East conflict, Labor Party Chairman Shim'on Peres announced in remarks reported by ITIM. The government's path blocks the chance of peace, he contended.

Elections -- The chances of early elections have lessened because of the National Religious Party's opposition to an early poll, Jerusalem television noted on 11 September.

Aftermath of Fes Summit

The committee established by the Arab summit conference to explain the Arab position on the Arab-Israeli conflict to UN Security Council permanent member states will consist of representatives of Morocco, Saudi Arabia, Jordan, Syria, Algeria, Tunisia and the PLO, Rabat radio reported on 12 September. Earlier, in a press conference reported by MAP, Moroccan King Hassan II confirmed that PLO Executive Committee Chairman Yasir 'Arafat will be a member of the committee. If the United States refuses to receive 'Arafat, this will not prejudice the outcome of the mission, which could go to the White House without him, King Hassan added. Asked whether Article 7 of the Arab peace plan is an implicit recognition of Israel, he said Arab recognition of Israel would follow the achievement of a "state of nonbelligerence" guaranteed by the UN Security Council and operating within the framework of pre-1967 borders, according to live coverage of the press conference by Rabat radio.

Regarding Iraqi-Syrian relations, the king revealed that Presidents Saddam Husayn and Hafiz al-Asad have agreed to meet in the presence of Saudi King Fahd in the near future in an attempt to resolve their differences. Signs of a reconciliation are apparent, King Hassan added, and the two presidents held "frank and objective" discussions during the summit conference.

The Iraqi leader meanwhile confirmed that he does not object to meeting with Al-Asad to discuss Iraqi-Syrian differences, provided that a third party is present to witness and judge the discussions. Speaking in an interview with Kuwaiti journalists in Fes, broadcast by Baghdad's Voice of the Masses radio, Saddam Husayn nevertheless continued to criticize Syria's policies and indicated that his attitude toward Al-Asad has not changed.

A statement published by the Gulf paper Ash-Shariqah AL-KHALIJ confirmed that three members of the PLO delegation at Fes have rejected Article 7 of the Arab peace plan. Fatah Central Committee member Nimr Salih, PFLP-General Command deputy leader Talal Naji and PFLP Political Bureau member Ahmad al-Yamani said in the statement that Article 7 is a concession to Israel in return for "illusory hopes."

The summit conference disappointed Lebanon's hopes and did not attach sufficient importance to the Lebanese working paper, Lebanese Foreign Minister Fu'ad Butrus declared in remarks broadcast by Beirut radio on 11 September. Noting Lebanon's demand that a final end be put to all Palestinian military action from or in Lebanon and to the mandate of the Arab Deterrent Forces, Butrus said Lebanon will not accede to the PLO's demand, voiced at the summit, for a new PLO-Lebanese agreement on Palestinian military activity in Lebanon. He criticized the summit for indicating that Syria's withdrawal from Lebanon should occur after Israel's withdrawal. Such a stipulation could impede the withdrawal of all foreign forces and perpetuate the occupation, he pointed out.

A 10 September Riyadh radio commentary described the Fes summit as a "great turning point" because the Arabs now speak a common language regarding peace. The Arabs must wage a fierce "peace struggle" to strip Israel of the support it enjoys and to destroy the "wall of special relations" linking it with the United States, the radio added. While the U.S. peace plan falls short of the Arab proposals, a constructive Arab-U.S. dialogue is possible, another Saudi radio commentary affirmed.

Damascus radio credited Syria with achieving a comprehensive Arab stand at the summit and establishing the principles for struggle. A TISHRIN commentary carried by the radio said the eight principles of the Arab peace plan cannot be used as bargaining points or be modified as they constitute the minimum that the Arabs can accept. An Iranian Foreign Ministry statement broadcast by Tehran radio denounced Arab leaders participating in the summit for their "recognition" of Israel and asserted that the Palestinian issue will only be solved by the eradication of the "cancerous cell of Israel." Libya's Col Mu'ammar al-Qadhdhafi said the conference "failed terribly" and his Foreign Liaison Bureau issued a statement dissociating Libya from the summit resolutions, according to reports by Tripoli Voice of Arab Homeland radio. The bureau condemned the Arab leaders' decision to "recognize" Israel as "high treason." Following a telephone conversation between Syrian President al-Asad and Colonel al-Qadhdhafi, the Syrian foreign minister went to Libya to discuss the Fes summit, according to Damascus radio.

During a visit to France for talks with President Francois Mitterrand, Egyptian President Husni Mubarak said the Fes conference has defined good objectives for the Middle East problem but lacks the means to implement them, according to MENA. Mubarak stressed the need to encourage President Reagan's initiative.

"Informed" Arab sources cited by KUNA said that in an "extremely positive" meeting between King Hassan II and the Algerian foreign minister held in the wake of the summit conference, Algeria and Morocco agreed to find a solution to the Western Sahara problem.

Iran-Iraq War

An Iraqi military spokesman cited by INA announced early on 13 September that Iraqi fighters destroyed two Iranian naval vessels in the Persian Gulf. On 11 September, the spokesman claimed that Iraqi planes sunk an "enemy naval target" at the entrance to Khowr-e Musa, INA announced. Speaking after a 12 September Cabinet meeting, Iranian Prime Minister Mir-Hoseyn Musavi stressed that the situation in the Persian Gulf is very good and denied that Iraq had destroyed an Iranian ship, IRNA reported. Meanwhile, Athens radio confirmed that a Greek ship had been hit by Iraqi fire on 11 September.

Iranian Pilgrims in Saudi Arabia

On 10 September, a Saudi official met with Iranian Pilgrim Affairs Supervisor Musavi-Kho'ini and appealed for the cancellation of a march by Iranian pilgrims in Medina scheduled for that day, Tehran radio reported. Musavi-Kho'ini explained that such activities are an Islamic duty and that Saudi security would not be violated, adding that Iran had expected Saudi Arabia to lead the way against the enemies of Islam. The radio subsequently claimed that Saudi forces attacked 72 pilgrims in Medina on 11 September. Reacting to this, Musavi-Kho'ini sent a message, carried by the radio, to the Saudi interior minister, complaining that the "ugly actions" by Saudi security forces were a violation of Islamic behavior and that nothing can stop Iranian pilgrims from carrying out their "Islamic responsibilities." He alleged that Iranian pilgrims had gathered to ask for Islamic unity against the U.S., Soviet and Israeli enemy and that the Saudi police "disgraced" their position "for the benefit of the United States."

In the message he also claimed that Iranians had been wounded and demanded that those arrested by released. Earlier, Musavi-Kho'ini addressed a Medina ceremony where a resolution was read on Islamic unity and the need to condemn any plan recognizing Israel, Tehran radio asserted. In an interview reported by the radio, he said it is essential to discuss Muslim problems in front of Islamic gatherings.

Responding to Iranian claims, a Saudi Interior Ministry source cited by Riyadh radio confirmed that 21 Iranian demonstrators had been arrested because they carried slogans which had nothing to do with the pilgrimage, adding that no one was mistreated.

Iranian Security Situation

IRNA reported that a bomb exploded in Tehran on 12 September killing one person and wounding three; the Islamic revolution committees issued an announcement asking citizens to report suspicious objects to the authorities and to "maintain vigilance," Tehran radio said. According to the radio, the Revolution Guards Corps announced that in the first phase of an operation, 50 "counterrevolutionaries" were killed or wounded and that so far in the second phase, over 100 have been killed and large quantities of weapons seized. In another operation, the guards in Khuzestan announced over Ahvaz radio that they had arrested 11 members of a breakaway faction from Peykar. Citing a Tehran paper, AFP reported that six members of the Mojahedin-e Khalq were killed and four were wounded in clashes around Tehran. In another development, the revolutionary military tribunal held a session to debate the verdicts for former Foreign Minister Sadeq Qotbzadeh and 12 of his accomplices, IRNA reported.

AFP: FIERCE CLASHES CONTINUE IN PANJSHER VALLEY

BK111255 Hong Kong AFP in English 1233 GMT 11 Sep 82

[Text] Islamabad, Sept. 11 (AFP) -- Fierce clashes persisted in Afghanistan's northeast Panjsher Valley between Soviet troops and Moslem rebels, eyewitnesses said in reports reaching here.

Rebel sources said the mujahidin fighters had so far downed two Soviet MiG planes and six combat helicopters.

Western diplomatic sources here said "both sides" were using "heavy weaponry" to gain control of the strategic valley. They confirmed that at least three Soviet fighter planes had been shot down and at least 50 tanks and military vehicles destroyed by the Moslem fighters by last Tuesday.

The current Soviet autumn offensive against the rebels -- the sixth since Soviet troops moved into Afghanistan in December 1979 -- was launched early this month.

The rebel-run Afghan Islamic Press (AIP) today quoted an Afghan guerrilla who had just arrived in the border town of Peshawar from the war front as saying that the Soviets were resorting to "savage bombing" raids on the mujahidin valley stronghold. The raids and widespread shelling had left at least 500 civilians dead, the guerrilla said.

He added that the rebels had shot down two MiG planes and six MI-24 helicopters in the Ushadaba, Tarandi, Menjawar and Bazarak area of the valley.

The rebel said that civilian losses could be higher as 25 people had been killed and 45 "severely injured" on Sunday in the village of Mittha alone.

Quoting reports from Kabul, AIP said that the latest Soviet offensive in Panjsher had been "approved" by the Cabinet of the Afghan ruler Babrak Karmal.

The rebel-run agency said that during a special Cabinet session the regime "proposed" the use of chemical weapons against Moslem guerrillas in the strategic valley.

But some ministers opposed the plan, AIP said, charging that "if the government wants to do it in Panjsher, the same tactics should be applied in other troubled provinces also."

AGENTS SENT TO SOW DISCORD AMONG REBELS

BK120827 Hong Kong AFP in English 0756 GMT 12 Sep 82

[By Michel Martin-Roland]

[Text] Islamabad, Sep. 12 (AFP) -- The Soviet-Afghan forces battling Afghan rebels on the military front are reported to have launched a new "secret war of infiltration and destabilization" to spread discord within their ranks.

The pro-Soviet regime of President Babrak Karmal had sent 45,000 agents throughout Afghanistan, and among Afghan refugees in Pakistan and Iran, to break down their resistance and unity by playing on tribal rivalries, Habibullah Hidayat, until recently spokesman for the Afghan premier's office, said.

Mr Hidayat quietly left Kabul last week because the Afghan authorities suspected him of being a double agent and he feared arrest at any moment. He remained the premier's spokesman up to mid-August.

He said the Kabul agents' mission was to cause strife between refugees and frontier tribes, and to infiltrate mujahadin (rebel) movements, especially those based in the Pakistani city of Peshawar near the border.

Most of these agents -- whom he called "watan parast" (fatherland supporters) -- were paid 10 to 15 times more than the average civil servant.

He said one of their main tasks was to disturb and disorganise communications between various rebel groups by spreading documents with forged signatures.

Mr Hidayat said some of the agents were members of the Pakistani "Al Zulfiqar" movement based in Kabul and led by the two sons of former Pakistani Premier Zulfiqar Ali Bhutto who was executed in April 1979 for a "political crime."

This group, which opposes the Pakistani military regime of President Mohammad Ziaul Haq, has claimed responsibility for several terrorist attacks in Pakistan over the past two years.

Mr Hidayat said: "These people are giving precious aid to Kabul because of their knowledge of the frontier regions and their inhabitants."

There were about 100 of them in their headquarters in Kabul, with at least three commando training camps in Afghanistan, he said.

Last July, Pakistani opposition circles reported clashes between Moslem Sunnite and Shi'ite tribes in the Chitral region of north-west Pakistan, which caused 100 deaths.

Pakistani military authorities implicitly blamed the "Al Zulfiqar" movement for fomenting the fighting, but said that the terrorists had been wiped out.

According to Mr Hidayat, the Soviets were in total control of the Afghan intelligence service "KHAD", and had placed their own men at the head of each of its departments.

He named two of them as Mikhail Gritchko, responsible for Pakistani affairs, and a Mr Fekrat, from Soviet Azerbaijan, responsible for Iranian affairs.

About 30 Soviet intelligence officers were based at "KHAD headquarters" in Kabul and in general seven were based in each Afghan province. Their networks were most active along Afghan borders with Iran and Pakistan, he said.

Mr Hidayat said Kabul's main Pol-e Charki Prison, which was visited by a Red Cross delegation last month for the first time since the Soviet military intervention in Afghanistan in December 1979, had become a model jail.

Arrested mujahadin rebels, he added, were not held there but in secret underground prisons, notably in the basements of the Interior Ministry and at the Kabul military hospital.

FORMER OFFICIAL ON LEADERSHIP RIVALRY IN KABUL

BK101453 Hong Kong AFP in English 1347 GMT 10 Sep 82

[By Michel Martin-Roland]

[Text] Islamabad, Sept. 10 (AFP) -- A former high Afghan official who recently fled to Pakistan today confirmed reports of a shootout in the Presidential Palace in Kabul last month which, he said, left at least six dead and many wounded.

Habibullah Hidayat, 54, an Afghan Army colonel and a top civil servant since 1967, said here that he left his post as spokesman for Prime Minister Soltan 'Ali Keshtmand on August 18 after police became suspicious of him.

Mr. Hidayat, an underground member of the Afghan fundamentalist Hezb-e Eslami Party for a dozen years, reportedly entered Pakistan secretly on September 5.

The shootout in Kabul, he said, pitted Parcham faction supporters of President Babrak Karmal and Khalq faction backers of General Gol Aqa, who had just been dismissed as chief army political officer.

He cited the clash as evidence of continued Parcham-Khalq rivalry among the top leadership.

Mr. Hidayat denied reports that President Karmal had been wounded. He declined to confirm rumors that government ministers were among the casualties.

Afghan authorities have refused to say anything about the affair. The dead were reportedly buried in secret in the middle of the night, which prevented Afghan rebels from counting the coffins.

According to Mr. Hidayat, the prime minister was working to recruit the largest possible number of personal allies within government services, but President Karmal, who has held office since the December 1979 Soviet military intervention, retained Moscow's confidence.

The military situation in Kabul has deteriorated, with rebels and government forces exchanging fire "almost every night," he said, adding that this had led to stepped-up security for government ministers, including Soviet soldiers in Afghan uniforms in the premier's entourage.

Afghan rebels were bolstering their positions in Kabul, where they enjoyed growing support from the populace, Mr. Hidayat said.

However, he noted, while he personally had been able to implement orders from the Hezb-e Eslami leadership in his work, there had been setbacks to rebel attempts to infiltrate government departments in recent months, and many agents had defected or (?were) drafted into the army.

The former official decided to flee Kabul with his family after police found compromising documents at his home. If he had been arrested, he would have faced torture aimed at extracting names before being executed, he said.

One night, Mr. Hidayat said with a broad smile, a group of armed rebels burst into his home in central Kabul. They were unaware of his underground activities and, he said, "I had a hard time convincing them that I was on their side."

Mr. Hidayat said his family was safe in an Afghan village held by the resistance.

If the Hezb-e Eslami movement wanted him to, he was ready to play an active role in the combat against Soviet-Afghan troops.

[Text] The prime minister will be leaving for the Soviet Union on a state visit on the 20th of this month. She will be in that country for 5 or 6 days. The details of her program are being worked out.

A spokesman of the External Affairs Ministry told newsmen that besides Moscow, Mrs Gandhi will also pay a visit to Kiev, the capital of Ukraine, and Tallinn in the Republic of Estonia.

IRRIGATION COOPERATION PROTOCOL SIGNED WITH USSR

BK121343 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1230 GMT 12 Sep 82

[Text] India and the Soviet Union today signed a protocol on cooperation in irrigation, water conservation and some other connected fields. It was signed between Irrigation Minister Kedar Pandey and Soviet Minister for Water Conservation Vasilyev in Moscow. It envisages sharing Soviet experience in building urban dams with explosion blast methods and exchange of technical information on land reclamation.

Meanwhile, the seventh session of the Indo-Soviet joint commission opens in Moscow on Tuesday. Construction of a large refinery in India is to be discussed and final decision taken. Other projects to be considered include the 800,000-ton Andhra Pradesh aluminum plant and the expansion of the Visakhapatnam steel plant.

SPOKESMAN REBUTS GREEK CHARGE ON ATOMIC BOMB

BK121614 Karachi Domestic Service in Urdu 1500 GMT 12 Sep 82

[Text] A Foreign Office spokesman in Islamabad today strongly refuted the allegation of the Greek prime minister that Pakistan and Turkey are cooperating with each other in manufacturing an atomic bomb.

The spokesman described this allegation as totally baseless and said that Pakistan's position in this respect is clearly evident and its modest atomic program is solely for peaceful purposes and the question of Pakistan manufacturing an atomic bomb alone or with the cooperation of any other country does not arise.

The spokesman also drew attention to repeated high-level declarations by Pakistan that it has no intention of manufacturing or acquiring atomic weapons.

SPOKESMAN ON ARAB SUMMIT, REAGAN PEACE PLAN

BK111719 Karachi Domestic Service in Urdu 1500 GMT 11 Sep 82

[Text] A Foreign Office spokesman in Islamabad today expressed satisfaction over the outcome of the 12th Arab summit conference in Morocco. The spokesman said Pakistan understands that the eight-point peace plan unanimously adopted by the Arab summit conference will prove to be a positive and constructive step toward new peace efforts in the Middle East. The spokesman also said that the framework of the peace plan forwarded by President Reagan early this month contains several positive and constructive aspects, and Pakistan, while reserving its viewpoints on certain other aspects of this peace plan, has welcomed its positive and constructive aspects.

JOINT STAFF CHIEF DENIES IRAQ DESTROYED SHIP

GF111644 Tehran IRNA in English 1630 GMT 11 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept. 11, IRNA -- The recent Iraqi claim of having destroyed a ship or as they have also called it "a naval target", in the Persian Gulf was today denied by the chief of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran, Brigadier General Qasem 'Ali Zahirnezhad.

Talking to IRNA, General Zahirnezhad said, considering that Iraq's oil exports through the Persian Gulf have been halted, due to the destruction of the oil exporting installations of Al-Bakr, Al-Umayyah and Al-Faw, the Iraqi regime, from time to time, tried to portray the Persian Gulf as being insecure.

The chief of the Joint Staff further reiterated that Iranian naval forces have complete control over the Persian Gulf, thus exercising full sovereignty.

MUSAVI DENIES SHIP SUNK BY IRAQIS IN GULF

LD122040 Tehran IRNA in English 1915 GMT 12 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept. 12 IRNA -- All measures against U.S. lackeys and internal plots have been coordinated and the government's political sovereignty remains stronger than ever before, announced Prime Minister Mir-Hoseyn Musavi this morning after the Cabinet session.

The prime minister was elaborating on the measures enacted for the domestic security of the country when he said the MKO [Mojahedin-e Khalq] suffered a great blow after Musa Khiabani (man No 2 of the MKO) was killed and their organisation was destroyed and lost its balance, and when their contacts with provinces were cut.

He said Iran will face these cabals as long as the Islamic revolution treads its original path.

These groups target the people, continued the prime minister, for they are incapable of doing anything. [sentence as received] He added that this attested to their weakness. He went on to say that a group which claims to be dependent on the nation, had placed itself against the populace and now had reached the end of the line.

Speaking on the war, the prime minister said that Iranian forces were ready to inflict the last determining blows on the enemy and that Iran's readiness was greater than any time before in ideological, spiritual, and material aspects. He said these readinesses had given us the chance for the realisation of our terms.

He also said that Iran will resort to fulfilling its terms by arms, if other avenues are of no use.

He further refuted Saddam's claim Saturday of having destroyed an Iranian ship in Persian Gulf waters and said that Saddam had lost face because of his lies and that British insurance companies had announced the falsity of such a claim, and hence Iraq lost political face.

He also said that the situation in the Persian Gulf region was very good and that its forces were ready to inflict heavy blows on the enemy, and that it was natural for Iraq to threaten us with its sophisticated technology, but Iran has proven over the past two months the futility of Iraqi regime's threats.

The prime minister condemned the Iraqi regime's cabals in Mecca this year, printing an erroneous and distorted Koran with a picture of Imam Khomeyni and portraying it to be on behalf of Iran, and that other pilgrims who observed Iranians' behavior and their ideology were the best of judges.

He then said the enemy cannot do a thing, as it has proved to be a failure so far.

He said that the recognition by deprived nations of Iran has attested to this, such as the participation of the Bangladesh religious leader, who leads more than 40 million Sunni Muslims, well indicated that the message of our Islamic revolution has reached the downtrodden nations of the world and it will soon reach all corners of the globe.

BAGHDAD'S CLAIMS OF DAMAGE IN GULF REBUTTED

LD102042 Tehran IRNA in English 1930 GMT 10 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept 10, IRNA -- Political circles in Europe have openly expressed doubt about the authenticity of reports from Baghdad of having attacked and damaged foreign vessels in and near the Persian Gulf Island of Khark. Shipping companies in Europe are showing signs of disbelief of the Baghdad claims.

The Lloyds Company said in London Wednesday that on the basis of reports from their own agents, and despite the recent claim by Baghdad of having damaged the oil terminal of the island, the terminal continued its normal operation and that no vessel had been drowned or damaged.

The London TIMES said yesterday that many companies were willing to dispatch their vessels to Khark Island despite intimidating threats by Baghdad. It said also that until Tuesday a total of ten vessels were scheduled to dock at the island, and that none of them cancelled their journey. The paper added that Iraq's seemingly empty intimidation might bring in results contrary to that envisaged by the Iraqi regime.

Majlis Speaker Hashemi-Rafsanjani said last week that despite its threats, Baghdad had not conducted a single attack against the oil installations in the island or against approaching vessels. He said by publishing exaggerated claims, Iraq meant only to dissuade international vessels from approaching Khark.

MINISTER DISCUSSES INSURANCE FOR OIL TANKERS

NC111854 Paris AFP in English 1847 GMT 11 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept 11 (AFP) -- Iran has deposited 300 million dollars with foreign banks to guarantee oil tanker risk coverage by the insurance company of Iran, Oil Minister Mohammad Gharazi said today.

Iran had on September 2 proposed insuring, through its oil insurance company, tankers en route to its refinery on the gulf Island of Khark at a rate of one percent of the combined value of vessel and cargo.

Standard insurance rates on Khark-bound vessels have skyrocketed in recent weeks -- at one point reaching seven percent -- as a result of Iraqi bombings.

"The insurance at the one percent rate is working," Mr Gharazi said in a television address after a visit to Khark yesterday, during which he was filmed observing four tankers being loaded with oil.

"The plot aimed at preventing the sale of Iranian oil has failed," he said.

SUPREME DEFENSE COUNCIL HOLDS SESSION 9 SEP

LD092200 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 2030 GMT 9 Sep 82

[Text] According to a Central News Unit report, the Supreme Defense Council held a session tonight chaired by President Seyyed 'Ali Khamene'i.

In this session the following were present: Hashemi-Rafsanjani, the imam's representative on the Supreme Defense Council; Mir-Hoseyn Musavi, prime minister; Brigadier General Zahirnezhad, chief of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran; Colonel Salimi, defense minister; Mohsen Reza'i, commander of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps; Colonel Sayyad-Shirazi, commander of the ground forces; Sham'khani, deputy commander of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps; Dr Velayati, foreign affairs minister; and Kamal Gharazi, supervisor of the War Publicity Headquarters. The latest developments on the fronts of the war imposed by Iraq on Iran were studied.

At the conclusion of this session, our correspondent was given an interview by Hashemi-Rafsanjani, the imam's representative on the Supreme Defense Council. The details of this interview will be broadcast in later newscasts since they are not ready yet.

Rafsanjani on Meeting

LD101046 Tehran IRNA in English 0900 GMT 10 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran Sept. 10 IRNA -- The Supreme Defence Council [SDC] Thursday evening reviewed the general situation on the warfronts as well as recent successful mopping up operations in the Provinces of Kordestan and West Azarbayjan, where most of the illegally armed counterrevolutionaries are stationed.

Majlis Speaker and SDC spokesman Hojjat ol-Eslam Hashemi-Rafsanjani, speaking to reporters after the meeting, stated that plans in connection with purging operations in the two provinces were discussed and decisions were taken in that regard.

Asked about the recent propaganda by the Western mass media alleging that the Strait of Hormuz was not secure for shipping, the Majlis speaker pointed out that "they aim at halting our oil exports." Nevertheless, added Rafsanjani, with the timely reaction of the Iranian defence forces in the region as well as the appropriate announcement of the insurance company, "we could prove that there is complete security around the Khark oil terminal and that the ships loading oil there are live evidences that the security of the Persian Gulf is under our control.

Hojjat ol-Eslam Rafsanjani further stated that the Iraqi enemy's propaganda tricks would be disclosed during the "war week" (starting Sept 22nd coinciding with the major Iraqi invasion against Iran's oil rich Khuzestan Province in southern country) and that the Iranian people would be further informed of the war issues. He stressed that the war week must be held very actively and urged the people to prove during the week that they were not tired of the war and thus encourage the Islamic combatants.

Regarding the idea that Iraq has been backed by certain Arab leaders during the current Arab summit conference in Fes, Morocco, the Majlis speaker said most of the countries participating in the conference have practically backed the Iraqi regime by giving it financial aid and through supplying the Iraqi Army with arms. The propaganda machines of these countries, too, have been serving the tottering regime of Saddam Husayn, said Rafsanjani, and he added that arms loaded ships were still seen moving towards Iraq from Kuwait, Saudi Arabian, Jordanian and Egyptian ports. Jordan, he added, has even dispatched its troops to Iraq to fight against Iran. However, stressed the Majlis speaker, the Islamic Republic is confident that the steadfastness countries have adopted a common stand with Iran, which Rafsanjani said removed any worry by Iran in this regard.

The imam's representative also denied reports by foreign news agencies that the Islamic Republic had overlooked two of its conditions for ending the Iraqi imposed war. The rumour was spread by certain foreign press and news agencies, following the trip last week of the Algerian foreign minister, Ahmed Taleb Ibrahimi, to Iran. "No talks have been held in this regard at all," reiterated Rafsanjani.

He said the Islamic Republic would not seriously enter into negotiations unless "we really feel that the enemy is serious to end the war and surrender to rightfulness." The SEC spokesman once again emphasised that Iran would not decline from its peace conditions.

The Majlis speaker mocked at the Iraqi claim that it had downed, since the outbreak of the war some 23 months ago, 834 Iranian aircraft, destroyed over 4,000 tanks and martyred more than 200,000 of the Islamic combatants, but added that "when getting our war reparations, we will count on these words as evidence." However, he stressed, Iran would not get anything more than its legitimate rights and a compensation for the real damage which has been inflicted upon it by the enemy.

In conclusion of his statements, the Majlis speaker praised Iranian technicians for repairing spare parts of warplanes and said that the Americans did not even imagine that the Iranians could repair the spare parts even in the next ten years. He said that Iranian technicians have been very successful in repairing F-14 jet fighters.

ARMED FORCES JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUE NO 1,043

LD101726 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 10 Sep 82

[Communique No 1,043 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. During the past 24 hours, exchange of heavy- and light-weapon fire continued all along the western fronts between the combatants of the ground forces of the army of Islam and Saddam's forces, as a result of which the enemy sustained casualties.

The powerful combatants on the southern fronts returned artillery and mortar fire on enemy positions; in the operational regions of Khorramshahr and Abadan, a number of enemy soldiers were either killed or wounded. Sporadic exchange of fire continued along the southern fronts and it was more intense in (?one region).

Due to fire by the heroes of the navy on enemy fortifications and positions on the other side of the Arvand Rud, five trenches, one foxhole and an observation post of the Saddamists were destroyed.

The town of Abadan came under fire by long-range weapons, as a result of which 2 houses were destroyed, 3 others caught fire, and 16 people were injured.

Encroachments by Iraqi planes violating the airspace of our country were repeatedly foiled by the follow-up and tactical moves of the courageous pilots of the Air Force of the Islamic Republic of Iran and the brave personnel of the antiaircraft defense units.

ARMED FORCES JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUE NO 1,044

LD111730 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 11 Sep 82

[Communique No 1,044 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. The Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran, relying upon their faith and dedication and in a determined manner, are continuing with their righteous battle against the aggressive enemy.

In the past 24 hours on the country's western fronts, the combatants of Islam mounted heavy-artillery fire on the Iraqi forces' concentration points and positions, and silenced enemy fire while defending their positions. Our forces continued to clear minefields and defuse planted mines in the same region and are now consolidating their positions.

In the southern operational zone, engagements with enemy forces took place in the form of exchanges of fire; our units continued to defend their protective regions and had the Iraqi forces' activities under their control.

The combatants of Islam opened fire across the Arvand Rud on the enemy positions, preventing the enemy from digging new trenches and killing or wounding a number of Saddam's forces by destroying three of their bunkers.

The city of Abadan, as on previous days, was under heavy enemy shelling, which set fire to one school building and destroyed two houses.

Iraqi aircraft which violated the airspace of some of the southern and western frontier cities were driven off by our air defense units.

On 8 or 9 September one gendarmerie combatant personnel and five combatants of the Army of the Islamic Republic of Iran were martyred at Dezful operation zone. Greetings upon their souls and long live their memory.

[Signed] The Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran

ARMED FORCES JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUE NO 1,045

LD121742 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 12 Sep 82

[Communique No 1,045 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. In the past 24 hours the zealous combatants of the army of Islam, with faith in God, stabilized their positions and defense lines, had the aggressive enemy's situation under surveillance and stopped enemy reconnaissance and patrol operations by mortar and artillery fire. During this period, encroaching Iraqi aircraft repeatedly violated the airspace of the Islamic Republic but they were forced to leave by the vigilance of the combatants of the air defense units and tactical measures of the self-sacrificing pilots of the air force.

The self-sacrificing personnel of the ground forces are still discovering minefields and mopping up the western and northwestern operational areas.

Opening mortar and artillery fire on the enemy's positions and trenches in the (Helaleh) and Meymak areas, the brave combatants of the ground forces destroyed one of the Saddamists' guns and damaged several of their vehicles and inflicted effective losses on the enemy forces. In these operations the heavy fire of the Iraqi Army was silenced.

Sporadic exchanges of fire continued in the southern operational areas between our forces and those deceived by Saddam; as a result losses were inflicted upon the weapons and personnel of Saddam's army.

The resisting and heroic city of Abadan, as on previous days, occasionally came under the long-range and heavy-weapon fire of the mercenaries of the Ba'thist Iraqi Army. The enemy's shells set fire to two areas in the city and one person was injured.

On 10 September of this year the Ground Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran offered 10 martyrs and the gendarmerie one martyr to the imam and the Muslim Iranian nation.

May their souls rest in peace and their path be followed until the oppressed have gained their rights.

[Signed] The Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran

FOREIGN MINISTRY DENOUNCES FES RESOLUTION

LD101338 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 10 Sep 82

[Text] The Ministry of Foreign Affairs of our country has issued a statement in connection with the ending of the Arab summit in Morocco and the issuing of a resolution which recognizes the usurping Zionist regime:

"Israel should be obliterated from the face of the earth" -- Imam Khomeyni.

The Arab summit conference in Morocco ended its sessions and issued a resolution revolving around the issue of recognizing the usurping Zionist regime.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Islamic Republic of Iran, while condemning the conspiratorial plans of the United States and Israel in confronting the Palestinian aspirations, regards the resolution issued after the Arab summit conference as an important turning point in implementing these plans, whose basic goal is to end the struggles of the Palestinian nation against the aggression of imperialism and international Zionism, and announces: The recognition of the Zionist regime at the Fes conference is a seal of approval by the Arab leaders taking part in the conference of the occupation of Palestine and Jerusalem and the repeated aggressions of the criminal U.S. and usurping Zionism against Islamic lands and the scorning of the Islamic nation during 34 years of Israeli crimes and aggression. At the same time, this recognition would indicate complete disregard of the wrongs inflicted upon the homeless Palestinian nation and is a clear sign of the collaboration of some of the reactionary leaders of Arab countries with world arrogance and international Zionism toward the implementation of the Camp David process.

The solution of the Palestinian issue will not be possible except through the eradication of the cancerous cell of Israel from the region and through returning the lands of Palestine and Jerusalem to their original owners. The continuation of an uncompromising and armed struggle by the Islamic nation, relying upon God and making use of ideological methods of struggle, will be the guarantee for the liberation of Jerusalem and the occupied Palestinian lands.

Usurping Israel, enjoying the full support of the world-devouring United States, will not cease its efforts for a moment for the sake of implementing the satanical dream of occupying Islamic lands from the Nile to the Euphrates. To withdraw in the face of the ambitions of world arrogance and Zionism and to make such concessions will only further pave the way for future aggressions and will make the criminal Israel more bold and arrogant in continuing its coercive methods.

At the moment, at the height of the savage attacks of the Zionist regime against the Palestinian fighters, 1 billion world Muslims feel more sympathetic toward and more closely connected with the Palestinian aspirations. In fact, today every committed Muslim, in any corner of the world, feels like a wronged and self-sacrificing Palestinian.

Such compromises will certainly not be supported by the nations in those Islamic countries and doubtless will further strengthen the determination of the multimillion Muslim masses in their support for the Palestinian aspirations and final confrontation against world arrogance, Zionism and the dependent regimes.

The Islamic Republic of Iran regards comprehensive support for the Palestinian aspirations and struggling for the liberation of Palestine and Jerusalem as its Islamic duty and will always remain on the side of the Palestinian nation until the final victory.

KHAMENE'I SCORES ARAB LEADERS' SUPPORT FOR U.S.

LD121130 Tehran IRNA in English 1005 GMT 12 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept. 12, IRNA -- President Seyyed 'Ali Khamene'i said Saturday that the so-called Arab leaders paved the way for the enactment of a disgraceful plan in the region and a vicious plot in the history of Palestinians which the United States had, for long, failed to fulfill.

The U.S., President Khamene'i added, which considered the Camp David accords as a dead pact, was encouraged by these lackey rulers of the region to the extent that it dared to propose the present project which, as these same reactionary leaders stressed, was within the Camp David's framework.

The president, speaking to a gathering of personnel of the pilot training faculty of the air force and heads of political and ideological centres of the forces Saturday afternoon, noted that if these subservient elements in the region had not supported the U.S., it would have failed.

These same rulers had suppressed any revolutionary movement and their objective at present was to remove the Islamic revolution and Republic of Iran, the president added.

But, he remarked, they should know that the more they increased their opposition to the Islamic Republic, it will become more stable.

President Khamene'i called on the gathering to strive to cut any dependence to the U.S., especially in the field of their activity, adding that after their graduation they would have nothing less than U.S. or Soviet pilots.

ARABS WARNED AGAINST RECOGNIZING ISRAEL

GF101948 Tehran IRNA in English 1620 GMT 10 Sep 82

[Excerpt] Tehran Sept. 10 IRNA -- The temporary Friday prayers leader of Tehran, Hojjat ol-Eslam Emami-Kashani, today warned moderate Arab governments against adopting any resolution which might imply their recognition of the regime occupying Al-Quds.

"The Zionist regime must be obliterated from the face of the earth," said the hojjat ol-Eslam quoting a recent statement from Imam Khomeyni. "It (the Zionist regime) is sordid, and a sordid being is unlikely to do anything good."

He warned the moderate Arab governments of the "wrath" of the Muslim peoples and of their peoples eventual uprising against their governments, in the event they should proceed with conciliatory approaches towards recognising the regime occupying Al-Quds.

The hojjat ol-Eslam, who was addressing a multitudinous group of Tehranis at the Friday mass prayers at Tehran University compounds here, said elsewhere in his speech that the activities of the enemies of the Islamic revolution inside the country were apparently fully coordinated with the activities of the foreign enemies of the Islamic Republic.

He labelled U.S. President Ronald Reagan as "the most bloodthirsty of all bloodsuckers of the world" who had praised Philip Habib and "his criminal acts as efforts in the interest of freedom."

REPORTAGE ON IRANIAN PILGRIMS IN SAUDI ARABIA

Kho'ini Refuses To Cancel March

LD101306 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 0430 GMT 10 Sep 82

[Text] According to reports dispatched by correspondents of the Central News Unit and IRNA from the holy city of Medina, the Saudi Arabian minister of pilgrimage affairs and religious trusts met and conferred with Mr Musavi-Kho'ini, the imam's representative and supervisor of the Iranian pilgrims, at the site of the delegation of the Islamic Republic of Iran [IRI] yesterday afternoon. During this meeting, which took place following the invitation sent to the Iranian pilgrims by the imam's representative asking them to take part at the Friday union marches, the Saudi Arabian minister asked for the cancellation of today's march. In reply, the imam's representative said: Certainly you have been informed of Imam Khomeyni's decree by the Saudi Arabian Embassy in the IRI and by various mass media. This decree was issued to me and I cannot deviate from its content. We are dutybound to obey Imam Khomeyni, as our great political leader and a religious source.

The Saudi Arabian minister of pilgrimage affairs and religious trusts said: Any action which violates order and created discomfort to other pilgrims should not take place. In reply, the imam's representative said: Do slogans such as "Death to Israel" and "Death to the United States" create disorder? Do such slogans bring discomfort to Muslims? Today, by taking part in the Muslims' Friday prayers, we want to silence those voices which call us infidels [moshrekin].

In reply to other remarks by the Saudi Arabian minister, who said that other groups might take some action against you, the imam's representative said: We have ordered the Iranian pilgrims not to show any reaction if they are insulted or assaulted by the Saudi Arabian police or others. He added: We shall persevere until our last dying breath. But we shall (?endure) any action today so that the world can see that we are wronged. Of course, the Saudi Arabian Government will be responsible on this matter.

In reply to a claim made by the Saudi Arabian minister, who said that they are neutral in the war and would like to have good relations with Iran, the imam's representative said: In connection with the war, there is a lot we would like to talk about and if we meet with responsible Saudi Arabian authorities on this matter we shall talk about these things.

In connection with the Friday union day marches, the imam's representative emphasized: We do not intend to violate security; rather, we intend to invite the Muslims to unite against the United States, Israel and the Soviet Union. He added: We are surprised to see that you oppose this action; we expected you to lead the way.

In reply to another claim by the Saudi Arabian minister that the Fes summit has been insulted in the circular issued inviting Muslims to take part at today's unity marches, the imam's representative said: We have not insulted the Fes summit and we welcome any gatherings of heads of the Islamic countries for making decisions on struggling against the usurping Israel and on endeavoring to unify the Muslims.

He went on: We have condemned recognition of the usurping Zionist regime in our circular and this is the view of all Muslims in the world.

The imam's representative added: We do not intend to demonstrate against any Islamic government today. But do not expect us not to chant slogans against the United States, the usurping Zionism and the occupying Soviet Union.

Kho'ini Addresses Pilgrims

LD101912 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 10 Sep 82

[Central News Unit correspondent's report from Medina]

[Text] In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. Following the call by the imam's representative and the supervisor of the Iranian hajj pilgrims to the Muslims holding hajj ceremonies to take part in the unity march and to participate in the Friday prayers, this morning a ceremony was held in Abu Dhar Square in the city of Medina with the participation of throngs of Iranian pilgrim sisters and brothers within a Saudi police cordon.

In these ceremonies, attended by the imam's representative and the supervisor of the Iranian pilgrims and also a group of our country's officials and authorities, after the recitation of verses from the holy Koran, challenging slogans were chanted by the participants in the ceremonies, condemning the crimes committed by America, the usurping Israel's aggression against Lebanon and Palestine and the occupation of Afghanistan by the Soviet Union.

In continuation of these ceremonies Mr Musavi-Kho'ini made a speech, referring to the need for unity among the more than 1 billion Muslims in the world against the aggression of America, the Soviet Union and Israel, and addressed the leaders of Islamic countries, saying: Oh, leaders of Islamic countries, do not be afraid of America, Israel or the Soviet Union; we are all Muslims and we are only responsible to the Almighty, and He is our supporter. In another part of his speech he said: [recorded passage indistinct]

After the Arabic translation of Mr Musavi-Kho'ini's speech, the march's resolution, in 11 articles, was read. The resolution emphasized the criminal America's sinister designs in the region; the aggression of the usurping Zionist region against Lebanon; the homelessness of the oppressed people of Palestine; the Soviet Union's deathly silence in the face of these crimes; the invasion of Afghanistan by the Eastern superpower; the need for unity among the world's Muslims for opposing all the satanic powers and the elimination of ungodly and un-Islamic cultures throughout the Islamic countries; the need to end the domination of outsiders in these countries; the endeavor to materialize the slogan of "Neither East nor West, an Islamic regime"; and the need to remove the cancerous tumor of Israel.

Another part of the resolution expressed support for the struggling Muslim people of Africa, the struggle against the Soviet hegemony and the need for assistance to the Muslim Afghan mujahidin. Any plan sanctioned in [word indistinct] or in any other place aimed at recognizing the regime occupying Jerusalem was condemned and was considered as betraying Islam and the Palestinian Revolution and as service to the arch-Satan.

Then all the pilgrims taking part in the ceremonies, holding hands, chanted unity slogans. The invalids of the Islamic revolution, with the clergymen and the officials and authorities of our countries in front of the marchers, followed by the participants in the ceremonies, chanting challenging slogans, moved toward the An-Nabi Mosque to hold Friday prayers.

Kho'ini on Politics of Hajj

LD111810 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 11 Sep 82

[Text] This morning, in an interview, Mr Musavi-Kho'ini, the imam's representative and the supervisor of Iranian pilgrims, elaborated on the problems created for Iranian pilgrims and pilgrims from other countries.

Answering a question about the points raised at his meetings with Saudi officials, he said: All the discussions circle around one issue: The separation of religion from politics.

The Saudi officials said the hajj is a series of religious procedures that should be done in peace and quiet, and political issues should not be raised in the hajj. In our view, this opinion is against the behests of the Koran and the ways of the prophet of Islam.

The prophet chose the hajj to raise several very important political issues. He said: These officials do not intend to get the people involved and chant slogans like "Death to America," "Death to Israel," and "Death to Russia." They do not want the people to be present at the scene to make decisions. But, just as we consider the hajj procedures obligatory and go through them correctly, we consider it necessary, from a religious point of view, to discuss the problems of the Muslims in great Muslim gatherings. At present, the crimes of the United States, Israeli aggression and the occupation of Afghanistan by the USSR are these problems.

The imam's representative, referring to the number of pilgrims injured or arrested in these marches and the steps taken in this respect, said: We have taken measures to give the Saudi officials notice, to protest and to gain the release of the prisoners. But I feel that the Saudi officials are not willing to [words indistinct] over these principled acts. Therefore, in my meetings I tried to reason with the Saudi officials and prove to them that, according to the religion, we are responsible to adhere to the ways of the prophet and the word of the Koran and do these acts. But they did not have any answer and resorted to threats. Under the present circumstances they would not get anywhere.

At the end of this interview, he stressed the need for extended publicity campaigns to clarify issues for world Muslims and inform them of the crimes committed by America, Israel and Russia. They are oblivious to the danger presented by Israel, which threatened the [word indistinct] of Mecca and Medina. We should clarify these issues for world Muslims.

Police Break Up Gatherings

LD121214 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 12 Sep 82

[Text] Last night the Saudi Arabian police attacked a gathering of Koran chanters in Masjid an-Nabi. We have a report in this connection:

In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful.

At midnight last night Saudi and security forces attacked 72 Koran chanters who, honoring the martyrs of 27 June [anniversary of the explosion at the central headquarters of the Islamic Republican Party in which Ayatollah Beheshti and others were killed], travelled to Saudi Arabia to visit the house of God. The chanters were reading the Koran behind the closed doors of the shrine by the grave of the great prophet -- peace and God's benediction be upon him and his descendants -- when the police and security forces attacked them, broke their (?placards), sprayed them with water and insulted them in the worst possible way, thus disrupting the session. The Koran chanters and other brothers and sisters present at the gathering, being believers in [word indistinct], the Islamic ethics and respecting the sanctity of the shrine of the prophet -- peace be upon him -- left the place where they were chanting the Koran. But [words indistinct] followed them at high speed in their cars and sprayed them with water.

The attack began at a time when one of the Iranian clergymen began interpreting the Koran and delivering a sermon to the (?gathering) of Koran chanters. In his sermon he attacked Israel and America for their aggression against Islamic countries.

Today, after recitations from the holy Koran by one of the Koran chanters, while one of the clergymen was (?translating) the verse, the Saudi Arabian police disrupted the gathering. However, the calmness of the Koran chanters led the police to leave the gathering.

Release of Detainees Demanded

NC120826 Paris AFP in English 0804 GMT 12 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sep 12 (AFP) -- The religious leader responsible for an Iranian pilgrimage to Mecca, Hojjat ol-Eslam Musavi-Kho'ini, has formally demanded the release of pilgrims arrested by Saudi police after a demonstration Friday in Medina, Radio Tehran reported today.

In a protest note yesterday to Saudi Interior Minister Prince Nayif ibn 'Abd al-'Aziz, the hojjat ol-Eslam said that as the representative of Iranian spiritual leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeyni he condemned the arrests as "odious," adding that "nothing can stop us accomplishing our Islamic duties".

The note said the Iranian pilgrims' "march for unity", organized in defiance of a Saudi ban of demonstrations, had been orderly and a success. "The blows and insults of your police could not disrupt this order and discipline", he said.

The demonstrators carried banners with slogans against the United States and Israel. Saudi authorities have said they are opposed to the "exploitation of the pilgrimage for political ends".

Several pilgrims were reportedly hurt during the police intervention.

Treatment of Iranians Scored

GF121128 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 0430 GMT 12 Sep 82

[Text] Hojjat ol-Eslam Kho'ini, the imam's representative and the supervisor of Iranian pilgrims, in regard to the harsh and insulting treatment of Saudi security officials toward Iranian pilgrims, sent a complaint to the state minister of Saudi Arabia. The text of the message is as follows:

In the name of God, the merciful and the compassionate. Your Excellency Prince Nayif ibn 'Abd al-'Aziz, respected interior minister of Saudi Arabia, as I had said before, yesterday's demonstration and march of the pilgrims was carried out with maximum discipline and good order and was a complete success; the insults and harshness of the officials of your government could not change this discipline.

Mr Minister, we in the Islamic revolution, which ended with overthrowing the American-Zionist regime of the deposed shah and establishment of the Islamic Republic of Iran, have had many gatherings and have suffered many insults. You probably have been told that our people did not even answer the harshness of the shah's police with harshness, because they knew that our real enemy was the United States and its malicious agent, the Zionist regime, and nobody has been able to divert our anger from the main enemy and direct it to subordinate elements.

Mr Minister, the things that were said during yesterdays' ceremony showed that our goal for this gathering is to unite Muslims, and from the slogans carried by the people, it was clear that the enemies of the Muslims are the United States, the Soviet Union and the Zionist regime. The brave Muslim people of Iran suffered a great deal and made many sacrifices to reach this godly goal and in their fight against these enemies of Islam.

Mr Minister, it is very sad to see an official communique carried by Saudi Arabian news media which one-sidedly labels our actions as political and outside the realm of the hajj activities.

Is inviting Muslims to unite and encouraging them to fight the enemies of God and Islam and to hate the Zionist regime and its leaders not a truly religious activity, especially a part of the glorious hajj ceremonies? Our information and observations show that the Muslims of other countries welcome our position and activities. If you do not believe it, make arrangements for us to attend one Friday the Mecca or Medina mosques without having your officials first threatening the Muslims present. Then we will be able to tell our thoughts to all Muslims so that the truth of our words will be proven to you, too.

Mr Minister, the Iranian pilgrims in Medina, by following the sayings of the great prophet of Islam -- the one who taught the Muslims how to fight the crusades and the polytheists and the conceited -- were asking for unity and were showing their hatred to the enemies of Islam.

At that point, most regrettably the Saudi Arabia police disgraced their official position by showing their readiness to crush this godly movement by not only surrounding the entire group but at times to show their strength by breaking the orderly rows of the demonstrations. All this was done for the benefit of the United States, the same United States that was defeated in Iran. At the end, when the Islamic tranquillity and good order of our brave people could not be marred, your police then showed their harshness.

Mr Minister, your officials attacked and wounded a group of women who have given their husbands, brothers, sons or other relatives for the cause of Islam. It should be asked what kind of honor is there in this kind of action for the Government of Saudi Arabia? Do you know that your officials wounded the people who had given their arm, leg or health for Islam? Does pulling a courageous cripple from his wheelchair and hitting him show the power of your officials or something else? What kind of feelings do you think the numerous Muslims who have suffered a lot as a result of the calamitous acts perpetrated by the United States, the Soviet Union and Israel have toward your police and security officials? Mr Minister, does not the arrest of representatives of the Majlis and insulting them also not mean insulting 40 million brave Iranian Muslims?

The people who are known as the enemy -- the United States and Israel -- who will have peace with them? How can wounding Iranian Muslims in the Medina of [words indistinct] because of opposing the United States, the Soviet Union and Israel be explained by your officials in an Islamic and acceptable way?

Mr Minister, do you know that your officials most rudely attacked the restrooms used by Iranian pilgrims, and even entered the ladies restroom, and insulted people and their dignity. How long can the revolutionary Muslim people of Iran keep silent when such ugly actions are taking place?

Hojjat ol-Eslam Musavi-Kho'ini in this message also said: I, as the representative of Imam Khomeyni and the supervisor of the Iranian pilgrims, strongly condemn these very ugly actions that please the enemies of Islam and again announce decisively that nothing can stop us from carrying out our Islamic responsibilities. I ask you to order the release of the arrested people as soon as possible and do not hurt the feeling of the Muslim people of Iran more than you already have.

I also want you to order your officials to behave according to Islamic rules and in a way so as not to hurt the prestige of your government in the eyes of Muslims.

As I conclude, I want to make this point: You, according to the responsibilities you have, should take care of the interests of Saudi Arabia.

Message to Iranian Pilgrims

GF121430 Tehran International Service in Arabic 0700 GMT 12 Sep 82

[Text] Hojjat ol-Eslam Musavi-Kho'ini, the imam's representative and supervisor of Iranian pilgrims, sent a message to the Iranian pilgrims following the splendid demonstration that was held by the Iranian pilgrims in Medina in solidarity with all Muslims in the world. Expressing enmity to powers hostile to Islam, foremost of which are the criminal United States and the usurping Zionist entity, the message says:

Considering that you represent a committed people, your work yesterday was a divine duty. It aroused the anger of Islam's enemies. The Saudi officials must have been convinced of the incorrect method their security men used against you although the painful circumstances that you have faced are not heavier than the burdens you have borne due to the pressures and conspiracies of the United States or the many calamities you have experienced during the march of the Islamic revolution and thereafter.

Hojjat ol-Eslam Kho'ini expressed in his message his profound regret for the incorrect and inappropriate treatment by the Saudi police although Saudi Arabia is one of the Muslim nations that call for the unity of Muslims in order to struggle against the United States, the Zionist enemy and the Soviet Union. He also expressed gratitude for all brothers, sisters and clergymen who correctly performed their duties with revolutionary calmness and patience and in Islamic sobriety. He demanded the continuation of this conduct before the conduct of the Saudi security men.

Hojjat ol-Eslam Kho'ini stressed at the conclusion of his message that our primary enemy will continue to be international arrogance and the usurping Zionist entity.

The Central News Unit correspondent, who has been dispatched to Medina, reported that Hojjat ol-Eslam Musavi-Kho'ini together with Hojjat ol-Eslam (Jirawani), Jamarani and (Estiani), went to the residence of a group of 72 Koran readers who went on the pilgrimage on behalf of the martyrs of the Islamic Republican Party central headquarters. One of the delegation's officials spoke at meeting about the method of selecting these readers. The representative of Lorestan Province readers recited some verses from the glorious Koran. Then Hojjat ol-Eslam Kho'ini delivered a speech in which he noted the importance of reciting the glorious Koran. He said that the Koran is the only comprehensive and absolute document that has been left for us by the messenger of God, may peace be upon him and his family. He added that the Koran affirms and proves Islam's superiority over all schools of thought and ideologies. No other school, he added, has anything similar to this document.

Official, Saudi Charge Meet

LD121804 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 12 Sep 82

[Text] According to a Central News Unit report, the charge at the Saudi Embassy in Tehran, at a meeting with the political and social under secretary at the Interior Ministry this morning, handed over a letter from his country's interior minister. During the meeting talks ranged on the anti-U.S. and anti-Zionist demonstrations by Iranian pilgrims and other Muslims held in Medina last Friday and the protest by Saudi Arabia.

During these talks the Interior Ministry political and social under secretary stated that the Iranian pilgrims' demonstrations in Medina stemmed from the imam of the Islamic nation's upcompromising and exposing line. During these demonstrations, held in an orderly manner in closed ranks, the anti-Islamic and antihuman policy lines of the East, West and usurping Israel were exposed. It follows therefore that the demonstrations held by our brother and sister pilgrims in themselves constitute a manner of worship considered to be one of the major acts of worship.

SYRIAN PRESIDENT'S ENVOY ARRIVES IN TEHRAN

LD122114 Tehran IRNA in English 2004 GMT 12 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept. 12, IRNA -- Ahmad Iskandar Ahmad, the Syrian minister of information and special envoy of President Hafiz al-Asad, who is heading a delegation, arrived here at 20:00 hours (local time).

The Syrian delegation was welcomed by the political undersecretary of the Iranian Foreign Ministry, Hoseyn Sheykh ol-Eslam; head of the president's bureau, Mostafa Mir-Salim; and the Syrian ambassador to the Islamic Republic, Ibrahim Ahmad al-Yunis.

The first deputy of the Syrian Foreign Ministry, Naser Qodureh, is also accompanying the Syrian envoy.

IRANIANS TO FILL LIBYAN OIL INDUSTRY VACANCIES

GF101853 Tehran IRNA in English 1630 GMT 10 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept. 10 (IRNA) -- A group of 10 Iranian oil experts were the first group of about 200, who left Tehran for Tripoli yesterday. They are to fill the vacancies created in the Libyan oil industries by the departing U.S. experts. Deputy Oil Minister Kalhor said in Tehran yesterday that the group would stay in Libya for a year to train Libyans in exploration and refining operations. He added that the Libyan oil officials had admitted that Iranian experts were of higher caliber than the U.S. experts. He said the Islamic Republic of Iran would assist any friendly country which requested help in oil affairs. He said another group of 50 experts would follow this group and the rest of 200 experts would go to Libya later upon the request of the Libyan Government.

The Libyan ambassador in the Islamic Republic of Iran, Sa'd Mujbir, expressed his pleasure over the trip and said the common viewpoints of Iran and Libya towards Zionism and the Fes summit helped the two countries to become closer.

AFP: BOMB EXPLODES NEAR TEHRAN UNIVERSITY

NC121116 Paris AFP in English 1054 GMT 12 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept 12 (AFP) -- Several passers-by were injured by flying glass when a small bomb exploded in Enqelab Square near Tehran University today, causing light damage, witnesses said.

Last Monday a car bomb killed 20 and injured another 100 in the center of Tehran.

'Ali Sham'khani, assistant commander of the revolutionary guards, said in an interview with the newspaper ETTELA'AT that six bombs had been defused in the capital in recent weeks.

1 Person Killed

LD122006 Tehran IRNA in English 1900 GMT 12 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept. 12, IRNA -- One person was martyred and three others were wounded when a concussion bomb exploded at Enqelab Square, in the west-central section of Tehran, near noon.

A passer-by became suspicious of a package placed in a telephone booth, located northeast of the square and when he picked it up trying to defuse it, at the centre of the square, it exploded in his hands, martyring him and wounding three persons near-by.

This was the third bomb explosion in Tehran last Monday.

On the evening of Sept 6th, a strong bomb planted in a vehicle exploded in southern Tehran, at afternoon rush hour, martyring 20 and wounding 100 others.

Also another bomb explosed on Thursday afternoon at Lalehzar Street, downtown Tehran, wounding three people.

In all cases, mercenary groups, including monarchists and the monafeqin [hypocrites] (MKO) [Mojahedin-e Khalq] are prime suspects, according to revolutionary committee and police sources.

OPERATIONS IN W. AZARBAYJAN, KORDESTAN REPORTED

LD101710 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1730 GMT 10 Sep 82

[Text] The Central News Unit reports that, at the Friday prayers in Urumiyeh today, the governor general of West Azarbayjan made a speech before the sermons, announcing that as a result of the efforts of the combatants of Islam fighting blasphemy and under the supervision of the "Hamzeh, Lord of the Martyrs" garrison, 40 km of the Piranshah-Sar Dasht road, which was under the control of counterrevolutionary minigroups, last night was cleaned of the filthy presence of elements subservient to the East or West. The victorious progress of the forces of Islam continues on this axis.

The governor of West Azarbayjan also said that, following the joint operations of the "Hamzeh, Lord of the Martyrs" garrison to eliminate the last remnants of the counterrevolution in Kordestan, last night one of the main hideouts of the Komeleh group was captured by the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran in the Saqqez region of Kordestan Province. The selfless efforts of the combatants of Islam to liberate the Muslim Kurdish brothers from the evil domination of America's servants inside the country continues.

Further Details

LD110954 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 0430 GMT 11 Sep 82

[Text] The Islamic Revolution Guards Corps, in a statement issued at the central headquarters named after Hamzeh, lord of the martyrs, announced the results of the first phase of the heroic operations conducted by the zealous combatants of Islam. The first phase of the operation, which is codenamed Martyr (Naser Kazemi), was carried out under orders from the Hamzeh, Lord of the Martyrs headquarters with the following results:

During the first phase of the operation, which began 3 days ago, the fighters of Islam succeeded in killing or wounding at least 50 counterrevolutionaries along the Takab-Shahin Dezh axis. Considerable quantities of arms, including RPG-7 antitank missile launchers, G-3 rifles, Kalashnikov submachineguns, machineguns and handgrenades were seized and all the villages in the region were cleared of the counterrevolutonary filth.

In the second phase of the operation, the soldiers of Islam succeeded in liberating dozens of kilometers of Piranshah-Sar Dasht highway, which was under the occupation of the U.S.-mercenary elements in the region. During these operations, the Islamic fighters killed at least 100 counterrevolutionaries and wounded more than 150 of the despondent and defeated enemy. The warriors of Islam seized considerable quantities of arms and ammunition and two bulldozers.

The fighters of Islam cleansed the villages of (Jangabad), (Tarkeshush Bala) and (Tarkeshush Pa'in), the main centers of Muslim tribesmen of the region, from the counterrevolutionary filth.

The second phase of the operation is still continuing according to plans.

Lebanon

Military Situation -- The 13 September Israeli air attacks against targets in central Lebanon struck at "terrorist" headquarters, artillery, SAM-9 launchers, katyusha launchers and armored vehicles, the IDF spokesman announced in a statement reported by IDF radio. Although the spokesman said the raids ended in the early afternoon, Voice of Lebanon radio reported further Israeli raids later in the day. Noting that the IDF aircraft singled out "terrorist" targets for special treatment, Jerusalem radio said five "terrorist" centers were hit, mainly in the Shtawrah area. AFP cited reports from Shtawrah that 4 people were killed and 66 were wounded during 15 Israeli raids against Palestinian and leftist Lebanese positions in the area. A Syrian military spokesman's statement carried by Damascus radio said two Syrians were wounded while four guns and two air defense vehicles were hit in the course of 227 Israeli sorties. In the wake of the air attacks, the Israelis reinforced their positions in the Al-Biqa' area with about 40 Merkava tanks, according to Beirut radio.

Israeli officials said the political message of the raids is that Israel will not permit a war of attrition and continued cease-fire violations, Jerusalem radio reported. However, Israel has made it plain to the Syrians that it does not intend to launch an all-out military move against them and sources in Jerusalem have disclosed that Israel want to institutionalize the cease-fire, perhaps in a formal manner, so that clear-cut rules may be established which the Syrians will find difficult to violate, according to IDF radio. Meanwhile, Damascus radio accused the Israelis of intensifying provocations and threats against Syria and warned that further Israeli hostilities should be expected. Claiming that the Israeli and U.S. leaders know that the Arabs can rally round Syria to create a force capable of establishing a balance with Israel, the radio said Syria is not intimidated or frightened by the Israeli threats.

Security Situation — Lebanese Prime Minister Shafiq al-Wazzan announced that east Beirut will shortly be subject to the same security measures as applied to west Beirut so that the two halves of the city can be reunited by 15 September, according to Beirut radio. The western sector was calm, the radio noted, and security forces peacefully took over positions of the Independent Nasirite Movement-Al-Murabitun. However, six people were killed in renewed clashes between factions in Tripoli, the radio said.

Al-Jumayyil, Al-Wazzan on Foreign Forces -- Asserting that Lebanon is no place for private armies, President-elect Bashir al-Jumayyil told TIME magazine that the Lebanese Government will in the future ensure that none of its neighbors is exposed to military actions from Lebanese territory, Beirut radio reported. While Al-Jumayyil expressed understanding for Israel's desire to keep a close watch on Lebanon, Prime Minister al-Wazzan said in remarks reported by the radio that the Israelis must unconditionally leave Lebanon. The Syrian withdrawal should be placed in a completely different perspective from the Israeli withdrawal, Al-Wazzan stated.

Jordan

King Husayn declared that the peace initiative by U.S. President Ronald Reagan is the "most courageous" stand taken by a U.S. administration since 1956 and that the new proposals are "very positive and constructive." Interviewed on the BBC television "Panorama" program, Husayn also praised the Fes Arab summit plan for achieving an Arab consensus on a projected foundation for a lasting Middle East peace. Although he discounted the possibility of serious negotiations with the current Israeli Government, Husayn stated that recognition of the State of Israel is "inevitable" once negotiations have ended to establish peace in the area. Emphasizing that ties between the Jordanians and Palestinians are very strong, Husayn said he envisages a plan for a federation of Palestine and Jordan in which both peoples will have to decide. Asked about the Fes summit's definition of the territory for a Palestinian state, Husayn underscored that this state would consist of the West Bank, Gaza and Arab Jerusalem. On his relationship with the PLO, Husayn stressed that there is a continuing dialogue between Jordan and the PLO and there are no problems between them, though differences of opinion do exist. Husayn contended that the PLO is a liberation organization and will die out when peace is achieved.

PLO

In a statement to APS, PLO Executive Committee Chairman Yasir 'Arafat stressed that the results of the Fes Arab summit were "constructive and positive." On the Israeli presence in Lebanon, he alleged that the Israelis violated the agreement for the IDF to withdraw to over 5 miles from Beirut and that the Lebanese themselves have helped the Israeli forces to remain. Regarding the new U.S. proposals, he emphasized that the United States cannot impose its will on the Arabs and that the U.S. attitude is not a positive indicator. On the other hand, 'Arafat said that because of his realistic outlook he would welcome a meeting with U.S. President Reagan. Interviewed by the German magazine DER SPIEGEL, 'Arafat claimed that the Israeli invasion of Lebanon was expected and was an "American" attack, not really an Israeli one; he said Israeli Defense Minister Ari'el Sharon is just another "U.S. mercenary." On Soviet aid, he insisted that the Soviets have done all they can to help the PLO.

Meanwhile, Tunis radio reported that Fatah Central Committee members have arrived in Tunis to begin meetings chaired by 'Arafat.

Syria

Ahmad Iskandar Ahmad, information minister and special envoy of President Hafiz al-Asad, met with Iranian President 'Ali Khamene'i in Tehran and delivered a message on the Fes conference, on Middle East issues and on the Syrian situation in Lebanon, IRNA reported. According to Damascus radio, Iskandar Ahmad also met with the Majlis speaker and in a Tehran radio interview stressed that the Fes summit peace plan does not contain even implicit recognition of Israel.

Israel

By initiating its plan at this time, the United States saved the existence of the PLO, which will resume its acts of terror, Foreign Minister Yitzhaq Shamir asserted in remarks broadcast by IDF radio.

Saudi Arabia

After denying reports that Saudi and Omani forces will carry out joint exercises with the U.S. RDF in October, a Defense Ministry source cited by Riyadh radio reaffirmed that Saudi Arabia opposes the presence of foreign forces on its territory.

SARBOLAND, GOL DAD 'RELIEVED' OF MINISTRY DUTIES

LD121622 Kabul Domestic Service in Pashto 1430 GMT 12 Sep 82

[Text] Babrak Karmal, general secretary of the PDPA Central Committee and chairman of the DRA Revolutionary Council, chaired a session of the DRA Revolutionary Council Presidium this morning at the Revolutionary Council headquarters.

A number of addenda to laws were approved at the presidium meeting and the date on which the Revolutionary Council periodical session is to be held, and its working policy, was decided.

After discussing the law on the organization and activity of the DRA Revolutionary Council and its Presidium and matters related to the Law of the DRA Local Organs of State Power and Administration, it was decided that the draft of these laws be submitted to the DRA Revolutionary Council periodical session for final consideration and approval.

Similarly, the law of civil aviation was also approved.

Also in today's session of the DRA Revolutionary Council Presidium, in accordance with a proposal of the Council of Ministers to improve the affairs of government and enhance the effectiveness of state administration, approval was given to reforming the organization of the Ministry of Information and Culture creating four separate administrative units: the BAKHTAR information agency; the State Cultural Committee; the State Committee for Radio, Television and Cinematography; and the Department of Printing and Publication, which will work under the supervision of the Council of Ministers.

Similarly, in order to improve the affairs of the ministries and state departments, the deputy chairmen of the Council of Ministers, 'Abdolmajid Sarboland and Pohanmal Gol Dad, who were also in charge of the Ministries of Information and Culture and of Higher and Vocational Education, were relieved of their duties concerning these ministries and will continue their duties as deputy chairmen of the DRA Council of Ministers.

PARTY, MILITARY OFFICIALS ADDRESS ARMY SEMINAR

LD100938 Kabul Domestic Service in Dari 1600 GMT 9 Sep 82

[Text] Dr Saleh Mohammad Ziray and Nur Ahmad Nur, Politburo members and secretaries of the PDPA Central Committee, today attended the concluding session of a seminar composed of the political heads and deputies from units and large companies of the DRA Army battalions.

The BAKHTAR correspondent reports that, in accordance with the work of the seminar, Saleh Mohammad Ziray began the session with a review of the recent successes of the heroic Army of the DRA in eliminating counterrevolution and in restoring security and peace to the country. Dr Ziray also spoke about the duties of party members concerning the resolutions of the Ninth PDPA Central Committee Plenum. He emphasized their role in strengthening relations between the party and the masses and in explaining party policy and aspirations to the people.

Nur Ahmad Nur delivered a lengthy speech about the role of political organs and the duties of political workers in realizing the instructions of the PDPA Central Committee for consolidating the revolutionary army and for enhancing the role and value of the army's political organization in restoring a peaceful life to the country.

The BAKHTAR correspondent reports that Maj Gen 'Abdol Qader, acting minister of national defense, presented a comprehensive report to those attending the seminar on the state of combatant preparedness, on the selection and training of units and companies for the DRA Army and on the recent successes achieved by the army.

At the end of this 5-day seminar, Col (Mohammad Yasin Sadeqi), head of the Political Affairs Department of the DRA Army, drew conclusions from the seminar work, positively evaluating its effectiveness for enhancing and improving party work in the army.

The BAKHTAR correspondent reports that at the end of the session a number of political workers were promoted for their initiative and heroism in the struggle against the counterrevolution.

FARYAB GOVERNOR ORDERS MOSQUE DESTROYED

GF130856 Karachi NAWA-I-WAQT in Urdu 9 Sep 82 p 1, 10

[Text] London, 8 Sep (AAP) -- The governor of Faryab Province in Afghanistan, (Hashem Peykar), ordered that a mosque at Sorkh Ab be destroyed. This order was carried out on 17 August and the incident has caused widespread unrest in this area located along the Soviet border.

Several clashes between the mujahidin and the Soviet occupation army have followed the incident. The clashes have occurred in Qeysar, Almar, Shirin Tagab and Pashtun Kowt. Meanwhile, Interior Minister Golabzoy has also visited the provincial capital of Meymaneh.

AAP reported from Meymaneh that Governor (Hashem Peykar), appointed governor of Faryab only 3 months ago, visited the major mosque of the city on 13 August along with a number of foreigners. After the Friday prayers, he expressed his wish to speak to the people. In a lengthy speech, he listed the benefits of the April Revolution, introduced the foreigners as brother Muslims from the Soviet Union and said that the Muslims in the Soviet Union enjoy prosperity and freedom of religion. He asked the congregation to support the Karmal regime.

During his speech, a man called Said Qorban stood up and, addressing the governor, said that th people would readily accept his demands provided he expel the Russians from Afghanistan. Qorban further said that the foreigners the governor had introduced as free Muslims did not even know how to offer Muslim prayers. The people followed Said Qorban's address with the slogans: "Russians get out of Afghanistan" and "Death to Russians." They lifted Said Qorban and carried him around the city in a procession.

For the next 3 days the governor tried his best to arrest Said Qorban but he failed because no one was willing to disclose his whereabouts. On 17 August the governor was informed that Said Qorban was hiding in a mosque in Sorkh Ab village northwest of the city. The governor informed the Soviet officials, who sent a helicopter gunship and bombarded the mosque in Sorkh Ab. Some 12 bombs were dropped on the adobe mosque, turning it into rubble.

The bombing killed five citizens, including Mullah Said Sarwar and Mullah Said Abdol Wahab, on the spot. Of the 16 wounded in the incident 5 died the next day. Said Qorban was not among the dead or wounded.

FORCES ROUT 'TRAITORS' IN ZABOL PROVINCE

[Text] A group of traitors to the homeland, revolution and people, who for a long period had been stopping motor vehicles and robbing the passengers on the Kabul-Qandahar highway, were crushed yesterday in the (Tang-e Kheshm) region, Shawjow District, Zabol Province, by officers and men of the 7th Division. One of the group was captured.

A Zabol Province security force spokesman said that six assorted American and Chinese weapons and one rocket launcher were seized from the robbers, along with assorted ammunition.

NARASIMHA RAO LEAVES FOR USSR VISIT 14 SEP

BK140909 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0830 GMT 14 Sep 82

[Text] External Affairs Minister Narasimha Rao has said that efforts will be made to find new areas of India-Soviet cooperation. Talking to newsmen before leaving for Moscow, Rao said the seventh meeting of the India-Soviet joint commission will review the decisions of the last meeting held in New Delhi in 1981 and action taken since.

In reply to a question, Rao said certain areas of India-Soviet cooperation have been identified. Now we have to negotiate and proceed further. He said the details are being worked out. Narasimha Rao said he will have wide-ranging discussions with Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko on the 17th. Events of the past 1 year are likely to be discussed by them.

The external affairs minister was seen off by Minister of State A.A. Rahim, Soviet Ambassador Vorontsov and others.

AFP Report

BK140932 Hong Kong AFP in English 0903 GMT 14 Sep 82

[Text] New Delhi, Sept 14 (AFP) -- Indian External Affairs Minister P.V. Narasimha Rao left here today for Moscow to attend the Indo-Soviet joint commission meeting and prepare groundwork ahead of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's summit meeting with President Leonid Brezhnev slated for September 20.

Mr Rao told newsmen at Delhi's Palam Airport that he expected a "lot of forward movement" in Indo-Soviet bilateral cooperation and reiterated that new areas of cooperation would have to be "identified, negotiated and proceeded further".

Besides co-chairing the seventh session of the commission established in 1972, Mr Rao is scheduled to hold talks with his Soviet counterpart, Andrey Gromyko, on September 17 to prepare for the summit.

Mrs Gandhi is scheduled to arrive in Moscow on September 20 on a week-long visit to the Soviet Union, her second since she assumed leadership of India about a decade ago.

"We have not met for a long time. It is a year since I last met Mr Gromyko," Mr Rao said. "So much has happened during this period that we will have enough to discuss and exchange views."

Mr Rao parried a question on whether any new agreement would be signed during Mrs Gandhi's visit. "The details have to be worked out, it is not possible to say anything in advance...it depends on the talks taking place", he said without committing himself.

An Indian official spokesman said yesterday that Mrs Gandhi would not carry any shopping list for arms during her visit to Moscow. "The prime minister did not carry any shopping list for arms to the United States (where she visited last month).... The same applies to her visit to Moscow", he said.

"It is an official goodwill visit", he added.

However, diplomatic analysts recall the visit of Soviet Defence Minister Marshal Dimitriy Ustinov earlier this year during which extensive talks were held reviewing India's defence needs and the scope for Soviet help.

Though officially neither New Delhi nor Moscow came out with a public admission, it was widely believed that India's defence needs for the next decade were discussed in detail and tentative arrangements fixed.

Marshal Ustinov brought with him over 30 Soviet generals.

Only yesterday, Indian newspapers reported the arrival of a new Soviet-built missile-fitted destroyer of the "Kashin" class to join the Indian Navy. According to official statistics, Moscow alone meets at least 60 per cent of India's arms exports.

Meanwhile, Indian newspapers today carried front page reports on the scope of the summit. "Gandhi-Brezhnev talks to cover vital issues", said the NATIONAL HERALD, which is considered close to Mrs Gandhi.

SPOKESMAN VIEWS UPCOMING GANDHI VISIT TO USSR

BK131655 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1530 GMT 13 Sep 82

[Text] Prime Minister Mrs Gandhi and Soviet President Brezhnev will review the international situation with special reference to tension spots in the world during Mrs Gandhi's visit to the Soviet Union beginning on Monday next. The talks will cover the vital issues of disarmament and world peace.

An official spokesman told newsmen in New Delhi today that the two leaders will also focus their attention on giving a new dimension to the bilateral relations.

The spokesman said that the discussions between the two leaders on disarmament assumes special significance in view of the known Indian stand on the issue and in the awareness that the Soviet Government and the people want peace and disarmament. The prime minister herself has frequently given expression to our concern at arms race leading to various conflicts that beset the world.

Replying to questions, the spokesman said the prime minister's visit to the Soviet Union is in the nature of an official good-will visit. While there is no structured agenda for her talks with the Soviet leaders, the visit is designed to strengthen the already-close relations between the two countries with emphasis on greater economic cooperation and greater working together in matters of international concern.

The spokesman pointed out that before her visit to the United States, Mrs Gandhi had said that she was not taking with her a shopping list. The same applies in the case of this visit also, he added.

IRRIGATION MINISTER RETURNS FROM USSR VISIT

INFORMATION MINISTER SPEAKS ON PRESS FREEDOM

BK130423 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0240 GMT 13 Sep 82

[Text] Information and Broadcasting Minister N.K.P. Salve has said that the government fully values the freedom of the press and has no intention to curb it. Talking to newsmen at Kopargaon in Maharashtra, he said a meeting of representatives of the press will be called in New Delhi shortly to discuss the Bihar press bill. Addressing the All-India Film Producers Council in Bombay, Salve said that he has gone through the bill and also consulted lawyers and some editors. He said he has come to the conclusion that there is nothing wrong in protecting persons from scurrilous attacks by the newspapers.

Speaking at the state conference of the Bihar Pradesh Congress-I committee's legal cell in Patna, party General Secretary Mrs Rajendra Kumari Bajpai alleged that the opposition has been raising a hue and cry against the bill for its selfish motive and not for the freedom of the press.

State Chief Minister Dr Jagannath Mishra said that the bill has been brought forward as some of the newsmen refused to abide by the code of journalistic ethics. He said the bill is intended to curb yellow journalism.

FAROOQ ABDULLAH TO HEAD KASHMIR RULING PARTY

BK111329 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1230 GMT 11 Sep 82

[Text] In Jammu and Kashmir, Dr Farooq Abdullah was today unanimously elected leader of the legislative party of the ruling national conference. At the legislative party meeting his name was proposed by the chief whip. All the 46 members of the legislative assembly were present.

Dr Farooq Abdullah was inducted as health minister last month and was appointed chief minister on Wednesday following the death of Sheikh Abdullah.

Later, addressing the members, he said Sheikh Abdullah strengthened the bonds of Jammu and Kashmir with the rest of the country. He told them to work for further strengthening these bonds.

Dr Farooq Abdullah called on Mrs Gandhi at Raj Bhavan [Governor's House] before she left for New Delhi. He is understood to have apprised the prime minister of the political situation in the state.

FOREIGN SECRETARY ON OUTCOME OF MOSCOW TALKS

BK140327 Karachi Domestic Service in Urdu 1500 GMT 13 Sep 82

[Text] Foreign Secretary Niaz A. Naik has said that Pakistan and the Soviet Union have considerably similar views on various major international issues. He said both countries understand that the indirect talks held in Geneva on Afghanistan are the first constructive steps toward a political solution of this issue. The foreign secretary was talking to newsmen upon his return to Islamabad after leading the Pakistani delegation to the 2-day talks in Moscow.

During the talks they exchanged views on important matters on eve of the 37th session of the UN General Assembly. He said that the major international issues reviewed during the talks included the reduction of arms, the end of neocolonial rule in Namibia, the Middle East issue, the Iran-Iraq war and the Indian Ocean. He said that during the exchange of views on economic matters the North-South dialogue was reviewed.

The foreign secretary said that during the review of these international issues there was considerable similarity in both countries' respective positions and views. He said Pakistan belives that similarity and identity of views on various international issues can be the basis for further promoting bilateral relations between the two countries.

The foreign secretary said his Moscow visit was undertaken in the background of the Pakistani president's recent interview with a local journal to which the Soviet leaders attached special significance. The president said in his interview that Pakistan desires friendly relations with all its neighboring countries, including the Soviet Union, which is not only an important neighbor of Pakistan, but also a country with which Pakistan has no bilateral dispute. Pakistan has always remained aloof of great-power tensions by following the principles of nonalignment, and Pakistan wants to promote friendly relations with all countries, especially with both superpowers.

The foreign secretary said, however, that the similarity of views on a number of international issues did not imply that there were no differences of opinion between the two countries on certain problems. One such issue, he said, is the problem of Afghanistan. He said the Afghanistan problem was discussed in detail. During the talks the two sides stated their acknowledged positions.

The foreign secretary said Pakistan has consistently supported a negotiated solution to the Afghanistan crisis and has also supported every initiative for a political settlement. Pakistan's attitude on the recent indirect talks in Geneva is positive and constructive. The Geneva talks have made headway toward a satisfactory political settlement. He said, however, that, for any such future dialogue on a political settlement to the Afghanistan issue, the attitude of all sides concerned must be positive. So far as Pakistan's attitude is concerned, it has steadfastly maintained that the Afghan issue be settled in accordance with the principles of the resolutions of Islamic Conference Organization, the UN General Assembly and the Nonaligned Movement declarations. The final settlement of the issue must take into account the interests of all parties concerned.

He said Pakistan has consistently asserted that the return of Afghan refugees is the issue of primary importance and that this cannot be solved until the foreign troops are withdrawn from Afghanistan. Other than this, conditions should be created for the return of the Afghan refugees, acceptable to them and allowing them to return to their homes with safety, honor and dignity.

Another issue on which both countries have differences of opinion is the Kampuchean issue and both sides have their own stand on this.

Discussing bilateral matters, the foreign secretary said that both sides expressed satisfaction with the progress made in economics, trade and cultural fields.

In the economic sector, both countries reviewed the work being done in the Pakistan steel mills in Karachi, the third unit of the Guddu power station and the tractor plant in Lahore. The Soviet Union is providing assistance in the three projects. Both sides agreed that officials of both countries will jointly assess the possibility of future economic cooperation to identify new sectors of mutual cooperation.

The foreign secretary said both countries agreed to make efforts to promote bilateral trade and identify commodities to be exchanged between the two countries. The two sides expressed satisfaction with the implementation of the Pakistan-Soviet Union cultural program.

The foreign secretary said the Moscow talks were held in a spirit of friendliness and reflected both countries' desire to further promote bilateral relations in various fields for mutual benefit. He said that the Soviet side has been invited to visit Pakistan for the next round of talks, which will be held in Islamabad. It was also proposed that there should be frequent rounds of talks between the two countries.

SOCIAL REFORM COMMITTEES TO BE ESTABLISHED

GF112036 Islamabad THE MUSLIM in English 26 Aug 82 pp 1, 8

[By Azhar Masood]

[Text] Islamabad, Aug 25 -- A number of decisions were taken for the establishment of a true Islamic society and its complete reformation at an extraordinary inter-provincial meeting first of its kind ever held today. It was chaired by President Ziaul Haq. The meeting, lasting ten and a half hours, was attended by at least 150 important personalities, including federal ministers, presidential advisers, provincial governors, provincial ministers, federal secretaries, provincial chief secretaries, provincial inspector general, deputy martial law administrators and other high ranking officials.

The meeting decided to set up four different committees assigned to make speedy recommendations for the eradication of social evils, reforming and establishing a true society, making justice easily accessible and inexpensive, keeping a check on government functionaries and completely weeding out corruption from government departments.

Announcing the decisions of the highest level meeting, the federal information and broadcasting secretary told the press here tonight that the meeting began at 9.30 a.m.

The secretary said that at the outset of the meeting, President Zia said the basic purpose of the meeting was to find ways and means to eliminate social evils, corruption and to establish a true Islamic society.

Quoting the president, the federal information secretary said: "Our effort is to provide a model government to the nation and we have been making relentless efforts during the last five years to achieve our task -- we do not say our government is model but a qualitative change is apparent in the society and we will continue our efforts to make a real model government. In our efforts we require co-operation both from the government functionaries and the public as well. Though we have not been able to establish a true Islamic society, the Islamic colour in our social life is quite apparent".

The people, Gen. Mujib [federal information secretary] said, had more expectations from the martial law government and on "our part we are striving hard to fulfil the aspirations of the people. He said: "The complete reformation of the society has two aspects -- firstly, we have to reform the government functionaries and, secondly, the society. It was an obligation of the government itself, he said, to have a clean administrative machinery but for the reformation of the society the people's involvement was always needed.

The information secretary, quoting the president, said: "As far as the government is concerned it will continue to provide guidance to the public but the main job has to be done by the people themselves -- we will collectively have to work in the spirit of 'jihad' for the reformation of the society".

The secretary said the committees constituted today would have to make two kinds of recommendations -- long term and short term measures.

Referring to the committee assigned to reform the society in true Islamic spirit, the secretary said, would be headed by the federal information minister, Raja Zafarul Haq. This committee, he said, would also have provincial ministers as its members and it would furnish its recommendations within a period of three weeks. "The committee will [be] assigned with dual responsibility -- firstly, to induce the public towards religious duties and, secondly, to socially reform them".

The conference stressed that the people should actively participate in islah-muashara [reformation of society] campaign and wage jihad against the evils that plagued the society. President Zia said the efforts of the government had produced good results and the Islamic way of life was reflected more than ever in the society. He said "we believe in Islam and want it to be fully reflected in the society".

The country was created in the name of Islam and it was imperative that the Islamic spirit be infused in all spheres of life.

Gen. Mujib said the president was gratified to note that the present situation was much better than the one existed five years ago.

The government did not claim that the crimes had been rooted out but it was a fact that they had been considerably reduced. The situation of law and order was much better and the honour of the people was safe, he added.

The president said that a good amount of work had yet to be done as, despite improvement, the present society was still not fully in accordance with Islam.

President Zia appreciated the sentiments and spirit displayed by the people throughout the country in celebrating independence day with ever-greater enthusiasm, fervour and spirit of patriotism.

The conference decided that the campaign for reformation of society should pay immediate attention to eradication of corruption, bribery, narcotics trafficking, illegal acquisition of property.

With regard to adulteration, top priority would be given to deal sternly with adulteration in drugs and medicines. It would be decided whether it was necessary to make punishment more stringent and raise the number of courts.

All the cases pertaining to these matters would be tried by military courts. Gen. Mujib said it was under consideration to award death penalty for illegal trade of narcotics.

The secretary said the conference chose five areas: hospital, railways, customs, income tax (excise and taxation) and telephone department where immediate attention will be given, and concrete steps will be taken to eradicate corruption from these departments.

The 4 major committees set up by the meeting are 'committee for social reform', de-regulation committee, committee dealing with justice and the committee relating to the rules of efficiency and discipline.

The secretary said wherever there were flaws and lacunas in the laws dealing with social evils they would be removed by amending the laws. If the relevant law provided lesser punishment in any case, this would be enhanced.

The conference considered that persuasive measures should be adopted to create an environment for reformation and special emphasis be given on 'ibadaat' such as prayers fasting, hajj and zakat. It was also stressed that people should be persuaded to speak truth, avoid giving false evidence in a court, lead simple and autere life and keep good relations with neighbours.

The conference considered that the reformation of society would be an additional responsibility of the Federal Ministry of Information.

The president highly praised the performance of the ministry, television, radio and press for the role played during independence day celebrations.

The conference set up another committee called "deregulation committee" with Dr. Mehboobul Haq, deputy chairman Planning Commission, as its chairman.

The Committee will review the existing economic controls and regulations. It will also suggest a suitable framework to encourage fair competition to stimulate creative enterprise.

The rules on efficiency and discipline committee, dealing with the performance of the government employee, would be headed by the governor of Baluchistan, Lt. Gen. Rahimuddin Khan. Lt. Gen K.M. Arif and the establishment secretary would be its members.

The committees would give its report within two weeks. The committee would work on finalising recommendations as to how the working of the government employees could be improved. The committee would suggest ways and means to deal effectively with employees involved in corruption.

The committee on justice would be headed by the governor of NWFP, Lt Gen. Fazle Haq and its members would be the law minister, Sharifuddin Pirzada, the law ministers of the Punjab and Sind and the federal interior secretary. The committee would have to submit its report within eight weeks.

The committee would examine the evidence act and procedural laws and make recommendations of speedy and inexpensive justice.

[Text] Katmandu, Sept. 10 (AFP) -- Prime Minister Surya Bahadur Thapa reaffirmed Nepalese non-alignment today and said his country would support the new Cambodian coalition government under Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

Speaking in the National Panchayat (parliament), the prime minister said his government was continuing to seek support for Nepal's proposal to make the subcontinent into a zone of peace.

He said dialogue with India in this respect "continued".

Calling for the immediate withdrawal of foreign troops and termination of foreign interference in Afghanistan and Cambodia, Mr. Thapa said Nepal has recognised Democratic Kampuchea (the ex-Pol Pot government) from the very beginning and the policy has not changed as we believe the newly constituted joint Government of Democratic Kampuchea was only an extention of the provision."

Referring to the major powers of the world, Mr. Thapa said "Nepal's relations with the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union have been good and added that the Middle East crisis should be resolved on the basis of the relevant United Nations resolutions.

[Text] Tehran -- Hojjat ol-Eslam Hashemi-Rafsanjani, speaker of the Islamic Consultative Assembly, received in his house yesterday Ahmad Iskandar Ahmad, information minister and President Hafiz al-Asad's personal envoy. Dr 'Ali Akbar Velayati, Iranian minister of foreign affairs, Nasir Qaddur, assistant Syrian foreign minister, and the Syrian ambassador in Tehran attended the meeting.

Discussions dealt with the current Arab situation in light of the resolutions and results of the Arab summit conference in Fes. The talks also dealt with bilateral relations and the impact of international developments on the Middle East situation.

Ahmad Iskandar Ahmad stressed that the Arab peace plan approved by the Fes summit conference last Friday does not contain even an implicit recognition of the Zionist entity.

In an interview with Tehran radio, broadcast yesterday, Ahmad Iskandar Ahmad said that the Arab summit resolutions on the Arab-Zionist conflict do not contain anything at all that provides for the recognition of Israel. He pointed out that some clauses of these resolutions asked the UN Security Council to guarantee the implementation of these resolutions due to the presence of some members in the Security Council who support Arab rights and the Arab cause against the Zionist aggression and its supporters.

The information minister said that during his presence in Tehran he will hold talks with some Iranian officials on ways to bolster and develop bilateral relations.

ARMED FORCES JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUE NO 1,046

LD131722 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 13 Sep 82

[Communique No 1,046 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. Yesterday the combat personnel of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran, enjoying firepower superiority on all the battlefields, attacked the positions and personnel of Saddam's armed forces.

In the operations in the west of the country, in addition to defusing and collecting mines, our forces' artillery and mortars destroyed two enemy tanks and two vehicles, and silenced the enemy's artillery.

In Marivan and Paveh, the exchange of fire continued and some of the enemy's defensive positions were smashed by the forces of Islam.

In the operational zones in the south of the country our heroic forces opened heavy fire on enemy positions and put an end to the engineering and penetrating activities of the Iraqi forces.

Our forces opened fire on enemy tank and infantry concentrations. Our forces also stopped the movement of enemy personnel on the Al-Faw-Basra road and destroyed some of the Iraqi foxholes and trenches on the other side of the Arvand Rud.

During the past 24 hours, enemy air reconnaissance activities in the western and southern parts of the country were neutralized as a result of the fire of our antiaircraft units, and air violations over border towns were repulsed.

Yesterday, as a result of enemy fire, some residential parts of Abadan were set on fire and two of our compatriots were wounded in that city.

On 11 September, four of the fighting personnel of the Ground Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran were martyred in the operational zones and rushed to the presence of God.

[Signed] The Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran

TEHRAN WARNS AGAINST CURBING IRANIAN OIL EXPORTS

GF130414 Tehran International Service in Turkish 1830 GMT 11 Sep 82

[Unattributed commentary: "Conspiracies Hatched Over the Persian Gulf by International Oppressors"]

[Text] Dear listeners: The consecutive defeats the Zionist Iraqi Ba'thist regime has been suffering during the war it imposed on the Islamic Republic of Iran have made it clear that the said regime will fall in the very near future. When Iraq launched its offensive against the newly victorious Iranian Islamic revolution 2 years ago with the support and aid of its patrons, it was confident that it would be able to surmount any obstacle placed in its path, disperse the Iranian Army within a short period of time and occupy every city and town within a period of 3 days. However, when chants of "God is great" began to resound on the [words indistinct] of Khorramshahr, international oppressors realized that they had made a major blunder in their calculations regarding the Islamic revolution and the Muslims. In fact, they realized there existed no one who could succeed in besieging the Islamic revolution.

After the recovery of Khorramshahr from the aggressive Ba'thists, the imperialists moved to extend every kind of military and material aid to the mercenary Saddam forces in order to eliminate the effects of this major defeat on the Saddam regime. Within the framework of this move they resorted to every kind of inhuman action. In fact they used napalm bombs against defenseless and innocent people living in towns and villages. They also used 30-meter [as heard]-long SAM's to destroy [words indistinct] in Iran. Meanwhile, they totally destroyed the cities and towns they occupied.

However, irrespective of all their inhuman and treacherous moves, they failed in weakening the determination of the Islamic fighters to continue the war. In fact, the Islamic forces have been dealing hard blows on the Zionist Iraqi Ba'thist administration, weakening it further each time. [Words indistinct] the operations codenamed Jerusalem and Ramadan constitute an example of this fact. [sentence indistinct]

The visit paid to Iraq by a U.S. delegation recently and the secret talks Saddam has held with politicians from the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union have [words indistinct] conspiracies. The said conspiracies have been hatched in complete agreement and put into effect simultaneously with two goals in mind: the first being to achieve political victory. In this respect, the imperialist propaganda media raised a major clamor to the effect that the Persian Gulf was an insecure region and that oil tankers were unable to travel through it.

The second objective was to create favorable conditions for international cartels after the spreading of such reports to the world to achieve (?their goals) by raising insurance fees for the said tankers. Regardless of all this, however, the Zionist Iraqi Ba'thist administration and its patron, U.S. imperialism, failed to achieve any positive result from their concentrated efforts and conspiracies.

It must be recalled at this point that ever since the first day of the war, the Iraqi Ba'thist administration planned to bomb Khark Island with a view to destroying Iran's oil installations on it. However, the [word indistinct] and heroic Air Force of Iran did not give the Zionist Iraqi Ba'thist forces an opportunity to launch such an initiative.

Meanwhile, by claiming that the Persian Gulf and the Strait of Hormuz are insecure zones and that Iran intends to block the latter, they are trying to attract the usurper superpowers to the region. Irrespective of this fact, the Islamic Republic of Iran has stated that it is determined to safeguard the Persian Gulf's security. In fact, it has successfully safeguarded it to date. The travel of oil tankers to and from this region continues without any break at all.

Meanwhile, with a view to aborting the conspiracies of international cartels, the Islamic Republic of Iran (?is insuring) all oil tankers through the Iran insurance company which is renowned throughout the world. However, we warn those countries which run their [words indistinct] with the oil they purchase from the Persian Gulf that if international oppressors move to prevent the Persian Gulf as an insecure region in an attempt to curb Iran's oil exports, we will not allow even a handful of oil to be exported from the Persian Gulf to any country by the international oppressors. Undoubtedly, [words indistinct] will end in failure. And, suffering from this [words indistinct] blow will be the whole world, particularly Europe.

NVOI: U.S. WARSHIPS ON WAY TO PERSIAN GULF

TA090918 [Editorial Report] The clandestine National Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran at 1730 GMT on 9 September carried a commentary, entitled "America: Get Out of the Persian Gulf."

It said that another group of U.S. warships that are permanently deployed in the Indian Ocean have set sail for the Persian Gulf. These ships are scheduled to complement the U.S. naval force which is currently in Bahrain. It is said in the U.S. naval base in Bahrain that this decision was reportedly taken so that if necessary they would guard the docks at Khark Island.

As we are aware, the Islamic Republic of Iran has never requested nor will it request such assistance from the Reagan administration. However, the U.S. Government, particularly the Reagan administration, has declared the Persian Gulf, including the southern region of our Islamic Republic, as its so-called region of vital interests. On the basis of such a colonialist thesis the Reagan administration considers interference in the internal affairs of the countries of this region, including our Islamic Republic, as something normal and has never concealed this from anyone.

Currently scores of strategic regions have been established in Oman, Bahrain and Saudi Arabia by the United States in which more than 30,000 U.S. military personnel have been deployed. These bases are in fact intended for the U.S. interventionist Rapid Deployment Forces. U.S. military activity in the Persian Gulf poses a great danger to the independence and security of the nations and countries of the region, particularly our Islamic Republic.

DEPUTY COMMANDER ON GUARDS IN NAVY, AIR FORCE

LD122102 Tehran IRNA in English 1910 GMT 12 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept 12 IRNA -- Deputy Commander of the Islamic Revolutionary Guards Corps (IRGC) 'Ali Sham'khani, said in an interview published today that Iraq should be blamed for supplying explosive materials to terrorist organisations, which culminate in the maiming and murdering of innocent civilians, such as the recent bomb explosion in southern Tehran.

He made this comment in an interview with the daily ETTELA'AT, adding that the bomb attacks had been aimed at alienating the people from the Islamic revolution and its leaders, Imam Khomeyni.

"Just as the deposed shah took his ideas to the grave, Saddam, America, and Rajavi (fugitive MKO [Mohahedin-e Khalq] leader) would take their ideas to the grave as well...", Sham'khani said. He said that in the former regime the people faced guns and today they were facing bombs.

The deputy commander further said that during August the IRGC had discovered and defused more than five bombs, adding that the security forces would continue their operations against saboteurs.

Speaking about the activities of the Islamic revolutionary guards in the navy and air force, Sham'khani said that in the very near future navy units of the IRGC would be present in the waters of the Islamic Republic. He added that the IRGC had begun to train its first naval battalion and would "react seriously" to any acts of aggression against Iranian waters by the superpowers.

In relation to pilot training, he said that some members of the IRGC had been trained to fly aircraft. Sham'khani further said that the IRGC would certainly expand its activities in these fields.

FORCES CAPTURE REBEL POSITIONS, WEAPONS

LD131744 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 13 Sep 82

[Text] According to the Central News Unit from Sanandaj, during a successful operation luanched by combatants of Islam yesterday, the village of (Najmeh Pa'in) was cleansed of the filthy existence of American minigroups and 15 bandits and enemies of the Muslim Kurdish people were arrested.

The combative forces of Islam, comprising the heroic warriors of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran, the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps, the gendarmerie, police and the Muslim Kurdish peshmerga, carried out a series of successful operations on 11 September and liberated the village of (Darreh Jangar), in the vicinity of Saqqez.

During these operations, one of the main headquarters of the counterrevolutionaries was destroyed and a number of mercenaries of the East and West were killed. It is necessary to explain that, during these successful operations, the lion-heroes of Islam arrested several mercenaries and succeeded in seizing a large quantity of ammunition, including several missiles [mushak].

The same report indicates that four members of the treacherous and illegal Komeleh minigroups became aware of the filthy and inhumane nature of this minigroup and gave themselves up to the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps at Divandarreh and Baneh and asked for safe conduct.

OPPOSITION GROUP MEMBERS ARRESTED IN HAMEDAN

[Communique issued by the Hamedan Islamic Revolution Guards Corps -- date no given]

[Text] Today the brother Islamic revolution guards of Hamedan succeeded in identifying a number of the members of Cherikha-ye Feda'i-ye Khalq -- minority -- and dealt a severe blow to this weak body of hirelings of foreigners. In the operation a quantity of arms, ammunition, printed material and interorganizational documents were found and the leaders of the organization in Hamedan, Soltan 'Ali Oshtorani, alias J'afar -- in charge of the Hamedan and (Qaraveh) branch of the organization -- Akbar Moslem Khani, alias 'Ali -- in charge of the disciplinary and publication committee -- and Amir (Kabriai), alias 'Ali -- in charge of distribution of magazines -- together with a number of other members of this minigroup were arrested and turned over to the judicial authorities.

According to a report from Sume'eh Sara, four active supporters of the U.S. hypocrite minigroup were arrested by the brother revolution guards of the town.

SIX MOJAHEDIN KILLED IN TEHRAN CLASHES

NC121114 Paris AFP in English 1013 GMT 12 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept 12 (AFP) -- Six militants of the underground left-wing Mojahedin movement have been killed and four others wounded in clashes with revolutionary guards in and around Tehran, the ISLAMIC REPUBLIC, daily paper of the ruling party, reported today.

Quoting a revolutionary guards spokesman, the paper said the Mojahedin -- branded here officially as the "hypocrites" -- had attacked members of the Islamic militia in three of the clashes, in central and southern Tehran.

Two of the Mojahedin died when the militia discovered two caches at Karaj 45 kms (30 miles) west of here and seized a "large quantity of arms, documents and ammunition" it added. It did not say when the clashes took place.

CABINET BRIEFED ON HORMOZGAN SITUATION, POLICY

LD121214 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 12 Sep 82

[Text] The Central News Unit reports that the Cabinet met this morning in the presence of President Khamene'i. At this session, which began with recitations from the holy Koran, developments in the region and the country's affairs were discussed and reviewed. Reviewing the outcome of the Fes conference, any compromise with imperialism and Zionism was condemned. Messrs Parvaresh, Salimi and 'Asgar-Owladi, ministers of education and training, defense and commerce, who are members of the special commission investigating the problems of Hormozgan Province, then reported to the Cabinet on their trip and recent visit to this province.

After studying the problems of this province the prime minister commented on finding speedy solutions for these problems.

Islamic Republic of Iran's foreign policy was also discussed at the session and President Khamene'i made a speech in this connection, in which he classified foreign countries and commented on the (?suitable) policies to be adopted in relations with each of these countries. The reports made by the cultural, technological and political commissions were studied and a number of proposals ratified in today's session.

TRANSPORTATION OFFICIAL REPORTS ON USSR VISIT

GF111925 Tehran JOMHURI-YE ESLAMI in Persian 23 Aug 82 p 9

[Report on interview with Karbasian, under secretary of the Ministry of Roads and Transportation by JOMHURI-YE ESLAMI correspondent -- date and place not given]

[Excerpts] Karbasian noted that the purpose of the visit of the Iranian delegation to Moscow was to participate in the preliminary conference on transportation and in the meeting of the commission on economic cooperation between Iran and the Soviet Union. He said this commission was set up 11 years ago and its meetings are held in Iran and the Soviet Union alternately.

He added that the problem of the rail link and the problems regarding the transportation of goods by train was among the matters discussed with the Soviet officials. It was decided that a subcommittee consisting of representatives of Iran and the Soviet Union will meet in Baku in March next year to discuss the above matter. He said: During the course of our discussions, we asked the Soviet Union to provide us with descriptions and date of arrival of goods destined for Iran from Europe via the Soviet Union, so that the customs office may be prepared.

He said: The Government of the Islamic Republic of Iran declared during the session that it was willing to increase the capacity of loading and unloading cargo to 1.2 million tons at Bandar-e Anzali and Nowshahr with the cooperation of the employees of the port and customs organization and the coordination of the under secretaries of the transportation section of the Roads Ministry. He said that last year the capacity was 740,000 tons.

Continuing his conversation, Karbasian said: During the detailed discussions we had with the Soviet officials, we expressed our desire to have an Iranian shipping company operate in the Caspian Sea. This has been discussed by the two countries for over 2 years now but there have been no results. Furthermore, we are willing to increase the quantity of trade and barter with the Soviet Union so that 50 percent of the goods that are imported by Iran or exported from our country will travel in our vessels. We proposed that a joint shipping organization should be established by the Islamic Republic of Iran and the Soviet Union and we announced that Iran has every right to make use of the shared waters. He added: After in-depth talks and discussions with the first deputy ministers of the Soviet shipping minister [as published] and with permanent commission members, it was decided that the written recommendations of Iran may be submitted within 2 months. It was also decided that in the first quarter of 1983 Soviet and Iranian experts will meet in Iran and Moscow and complete the final arrangements.

Karbasian said: The Soviet Union has mentioned that an increase in Iran's imports from the Soviet Union would depend on an increase in the Soviet Union's imports, excluding oil, from the Islamic Republic of Iran regarding which a favorable answer was given by the deputy of the committee of Soviet foreign trade. [sentence as published]

Regarding the Soviet-Iranian transportation company, the under secretary of transportation said: This company is responsible for handling transport between Iran and the Soviet Union and has been set up by the Soviet Union and Iran on a basis of equality. We suggested that branch offices be opened in Baku, (Fati) and Soviet Jolfa.

He added: It was agreed that the necessary steps will be taken by the managing committee of the abovementioned company. Karbasian said: In talks with the Soviet delegation, he stated that the agreement on transit of goods between Iran and the Soviet Union should be revised so that Iran's interests may be included.

RAFSANJANI ADDRESSES NUCLEAR ENERGY OFFICIALS

LD122202 Tehran IRNA in English 2007 GMT 12 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept 12, IRNA -- Head of the Iranian nuclear energy organisation, Reza Amrollahi, together with 20 other officials of the same organisation, this morning met with Majlis Speaker Rafsanjani at the Majlis building.

Rafsanjani, while thanking them for their visit, remarked that he and all officials deemed it necessary for the country to enjoy this branch of science and would never neglect it.

He further expressed hope that there would be more investment on an academic and educational system in this field and utmost efforts would be exerted in acquiring this science.

Concerning the Bushehr power station, Rafsanjani said that Iran would defend this project and solve its problems.

He further urged them to consider future requirements and pursue the exalted level of science and in the event everyone worked diligently in these areas, Iran would attain technical independence soon.

Lebanon

Death of Al-Jumayyil -- President-elect Bashir al-Jumayyil was killed by a bomb explosion in the Phalangist Party headquarters in Al-Ashrafiyah, east Beirut, according to a Lebanese Government announcement broadcast by Beirut radio. Al-Jumayyil's funeral will be held on the afternoon of 15 September, the radio said, and a week-long official mourning period has been declared.

Immediately after the explosion, the radio reported that Al-Jumayyil had emerged safely from the collapsed building and was supervising rescue operations. However, Marj 'Uyun Voice of Hope radio subsequently broke the news of the president-elect's death, saying that Al-Jumayyil had "apparently" died in the hospital after being dug out from the rubble. Another rightist station, the clandestine Radio Free Lebanon, said 26 of Al-Jumayyil's Phalangist colleagues were killed in the blast and 37 others were injured. The "estimated 300 kg" bomb had been placed on the roof of the building and exploded when Al-Jumayyil began a speech on the security plan for east Beirut, Voice of Lebanon radio reported.

Security Situation -- In the wake of Al-Jumayyil's death, the IDF entered west Beirut "to prevent possible serious incidents and to guarantee calm there," the IDF spokesman announced in a statement reported by IDF radio. Although the spokesman said Israeli forces entered the area without resistance, the clandestine leftist Voice of Arab Lebanon radio said joint forces confronted the Israeli advance using light weapons and rockets. Voice of Lebanon radio spoke of limited battles in the Sports City area early on 15 September and said a whole Israeli brigade has moved toward southwest Beirut. Prime Minister Shafiq al-Wazzan denounced the Israeli move as "unjustified" and earlier delayed reopening the Fu'ad Shihab bridge linking east and west Beirut, according to Beirut radio. Radio Free Lebanon reported that Phalangist commanders have reminded their men not to carry weapons.

In the Al-Biqa' Valley, an Israeli tank column was seen advancing toward Syrian-held territory north of Rashayya, Radio Free Lebanon said.

Reaction to Assassination -- Announcing his reaction to Al-Jumayyil's killing over Voice of Lebanon radio, Prime Minister al-Wazzan expressed sadness at this "painful and criminal" incident which he said is part of the plotting against Lebanon. The Lebanese Government cautioned the people to be aware of the threat to national security, Beirut radio reported. The radio also said the chairman of the Amal movement Command Council expressed his condolences and called for caution and vigilance. In a statement carried by Voice of Hope radio, "Free Lebanon" Commander Maj Sa'd Haddad expressed sorrow at the death of Al-Jumayyil and called for Israel to increase the strength of its forces in Lebanon to help preserve security.

Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin sent a letter to Bashir al-Jumayyil's father, carried by IDF radio, expressing shock at this "criminal assassination." Israeli Foreign Minister Yitzhaq Shamir condemned the crime and said it was a "severe blow" to efforts to rebuild and reunite Lebanon, Jerusalem radio asserted. Israeli political sources alleged that the killing is a reminder that Syrian and PLO "terrorists" are still active in Lebanon, HA'ARETZ reported.

The Syrian paper AL-BA'TH asserted that Al-Jumayyil was assassinated "simply" because he was unacceptable to the Lebanese people and the "candidate of the Israeli tanks," Damascus radio reported. The Lebanese people know that Al-Jumayyil's presidency would have turned Lebanon into an obedient tool of Israel and they rejected him from the moment he won the Presidency, AL-BA'TH contended.

Egypt received the news of Al-Jumayyil's death with "great concern" and condemned "any attempt by any non-Lebanese party to exploit the current situation to achieve its goals," according to a Foreign Ministry statement carried by MENA.

Syria

Comment on Forces in Lebanon -- Explaining the motives behind Israel's cease-fire "violations" and continued threats against Syria, a Damascus radio commentary said Israel is replying to the Fes summit resolutions, is trying to weaken the Syrian role in Lebanon so the IDF can occupy the entire country, and is trying to pressure and isolate Syria from its role in the Arab struggle. The commentary stressed that Syria will never relinquish its responsibilities and will continue to defend itself and the Arabs.

Khaddam Receives Junblatt -- Foreign Minister 'Abd al-Halim Khaddam received Lebanese Progressive Socialist Party leader Walid Junblatt to discuss the Lebanese and Arab situations, Damascus radio reported.

Envoy in Tehran -- Before leaving Tehran for Damascus, Information Minister Ahmad Iskandar Ahmad said he had stressed to the Iranians that Syria firmly supports Iran's Islamic revolution and desires the development of Syrian-Iranian relations, SANA reported. Asserting that Syrian and Iranian views on the Fes summit proved to be identical, the Syrian envoy said Iran's criticism of the Fes resolutions was "justifiable." Reports of mediation between Syria and Iraq and of an imminent meeting between President Hafiz al-Asad and the Iraqi president are false, he added, and neither the time nor the conditions for a reconciliation are right. Syria is in conflict with the Saddam Husayn regime and hopes for its downfall, he stressed.

PLO

The Fatah Central Committee ended its meetings in Tunis with a decision to approve Fes Arab summit resolutions and a military plan for strengthening Palestinian forces, SPA reported.

Egypt

In an interview with the London paper ASH-SHARQ AL-AWSAT, Minister of State for Foreign Affairs Butrus Ghali said the Camp David process is diseased but that the proposals by U.S. President Ronald Reagan may be the remedy. He underscored that there is no alternative to the autonomy negotiations.

Meanwhile, Jerusalem radio reported that Egypt has canceled all joint activities with Israel because the time is not ripe for them.

Iran-Iraq War

An Iraqi military spokesman cited by INA announced that in retaliation for the Iranian attacks on Iraqi cities, Iraqi planes carried out raids on Khark Island oil installations. IRNA reported that Iranian forces hit Iraq's Al-Faw oil installations and killed a number of Iraqi soldiers on the other side of the Shatt al-'Arab.

Iranian Pilgrims in Saudi Arabia

According to IRNA, Saudi Arabia deported 18 Iranian pilgrims who were arrested during a march on 10 September in Mecca. The report claimed that 40 demonstrators had been arrested and 10 are still in detention.

PDRY

PDRY leader 'Ali Nasir Muhammad arrived in Moscow for an "official and friendly" visit to discuss bilateral cooperation and issues of mutual concern, Aden radio reported.

AFP: GOVERNMENT SETTING UP CIVIL DEFENSE BODY

BK141535 Hong Kong AFP in English 1449 GMT 14 Sep 82

[By Dilip Ganguly]

[Text] New Delhi, Sept. 14 (AFP) -- A secret document leaked in Kabul says the Soviet-backed government of Babrak Karmal is setting up a national civil defence organization to improve security in embattled Afghanistan and to lessen the burden on Soviet and government troops.

All males in the age group 16-55 years will be required to join the organization, which will nationwide [as received], by the beginning of the next Afghan year on March 21, 1983, said Western diplomatic sources quoting the leaks.

Boys in good health and in the age group 10-15 years will also be required to do military training at school and join the organization on coming of age.

The decision to form the organization came in the wake of reports, and an indirect admission by government that the latest conscription drive, launched in July, did not achieve its goal.

There was, however, no independent confirmation of the leaks. The Afghan Embassy here, which generally ignores the Western news media, refused to comment.

The diplomats here said the members of the organization would be given a preliminary training and then arms and uniforms.

They would then be deployed on guard duty to back up the estimated 100,000 Soviet and 30,000-40,000 government troops who now bear the brunt of fighting of the anti-communist, Moslem insurgents in the streets, the diplomats said.

The organization will be under the administrative control of the Afghan Ministry of National Defence, but it will be coordinated by the National Fatherland Front (NFF), set up in late 1980 to rope in support from the Moslem clergy, tribes and independent prominent Afghans, the diplomats said.

The diplomats said it would enable the government to bring into the regime's fold those Afghans who have so far evaded conscription due to the age limit.

Initially the members of the organization will be put on guard duty in Kabul, Herat, Qandahar and Nangarhar Provinces but eventually they will be deployed in all the provinces.

The leaks came in the wake of strong rumours in Kabul that the government was going to increase the conscription age from the existing 39-55 years [as received]. Panic gripped the city and eligible residents were seen fleeing.

The government was forced to make a public announcement over the state-owned television network denying the age limit was being increased. A senior official of the Ministry of National Defence appeared on TV and announced that the age remained at 39 years, the diplomats said.

The panic was stemmed but apprehension returned after the leaks on the proposed setting-up of the organization.

The diplomats said the move might be part of a mistaken government attempt to get information on eligible Afghans, who had so far evaded conscription.

In a campaign launched last July, the government had sought to recruit some 60,000 troops to make up the losses suffered during the previous three years of fighting Moslem insurgents and other opponents of communist rule.

But despite efforts that included a draft law revision on July 23 raising the maximum eligible age to 39, the drive only netted about one-tenth of the target, earlier reports quoting Western diplomats had said.

A secret document allegedly seized by Moslem insurgents in a recent attack on government troops near Kabul's army headquarters said the Soviet advisers "concerned over large defections" had taken control of all Afghan Army postings and transfers, according to a report from Pakistan quoting resistance sources.

Meanwhile, diplomats here said several residential districts of the Afghan capital had been subject to house-to-house searches, possibly for eligible conscripts and Moslem insurgents hiding there.

Insurgents are keeping up their resistance in Kabul and on September eight insurgents killed at least seven communist party members near the Soviet-built grain silo in Kabul.

For the first time in recent months, Soviet troops were seen patrolling Kabul streets one hour before the curfew started.

Diplomats had little information on the continuing fighting in the strategic Panjsher Valley, north-west of Kabul, where Soviet forces launched a major offensive last month.

The diplomats confirmed reports that over 1,500 new Soviet troops have arrived there to aid Soviet and government forces already stationed there and the valley, a traditional insurgent stronghold ever since the Marxist [as received] came to power in April 1978, has been heavily bombed.

The direction of the Soviet planes suggested that some of them might have taken off in Soviet Union and not from the Kabul International Airport or the Baghram air base near the Afghan capital, the sources said.

DEPUTY PRIME MINISTER DEPARTS FOR USSR

BRIEFS

SOVIET DELEGATION -- A delegation of the USSR Afro-Asian Solidarity Committee, led by Anatoliy Sofronov, deputy head of this committee, today arrived in Kabul at the invitation of the DRA Peace, Solidarity and Friendship Organization. The delegation was welcomed at Kabul International Airport by Dr Sara, deputy head, and some members of the above organization. [Text] [Kabul Domestic Service in Dari 1530 GMT 7 Sep 82 LD]

GAS, OIL PRODUCTION -- Kabul, Sept 5, BAKHTAR -- Over 15 billion afghanis were earned by the state from the sales of gas last Afghan year, ending March 20, 1981. This represents nearly half of the government budget in the DRA. The gas extraction and transportation department last year produced 2,761 million cubic metres of gas, which shows an increase of 121 million cubic metres over the plan targets. Also, during the same year the workers produced 8,545 thousand litres of oil condensates, which exceeds the planned target by 246 thousand litres. Next year it is planned to raise the production of the existing wells by well over 3 billion cubic metres. By exploiting the new gas wells it is envisaged to raise the production by 32 billion cubic metres annually. [Kabul BAKHTAR in English 0424 GMT 6 Sep 82 LD]

SPOKESMAN PRAISES 'UNITY' SHOWN AT FES SUMMIT

BK141339 Dacca Domestic Service in English 1205 GMT 14 Sep 82

[Text] Bangladesh has expressed great satisfaction at the highly successful outcome of the summit meeting of the heads of Arab states just concluded in Fes.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman said in Dacca today that the formal display of unity by the Arab leaders has ushered in a new era for the Muslim umma [nation]. Bangladesh warmly welcomed the Arab peace plan adopted in the summit meeting as an achievement for the 900 million Muslims of the world. Bangladesh believes that this initiative would lead to the permanent peace in the Middle East and achieve for the heroic people of Palestine their legitimate right, including an independent Palestinian state with Jerusalem as its capital.

The spokesman said Bangladesh also expects with sincere hope that peace and stability will soon prevail in Lebanon.

ERSHAD COMMISSIONS NEW SUBMARINE, NOTES PRC AID

BK111217 Dacca Domestic Service in English 0145 GMT 11 Sep 82

[Excerpt] Chief Martial Law Administrator [CMLA] Lt Gen H. M. Ershad has said an efficient navy is a necessity in view of the country's long coastal belt and for geographic and economic reasons. Speaking on the commissioning ceremony of the submarine treasure of the Bangladesh Navy, BNS "Durjoy", in Dacca yesterday, General Ershad said the nation must have a strong navy to ensure free movement within its maritime boundary to maintain the process of economic progress. He said the commissioning of this new ship would enable the naval force to play a stronger role in guarding the maritime boundary and the sovereignty of the country as a whole.

The CMLA pointed out that the maritime area of the country has great potentials from the economic point of view which, he observed, is as precious as that of the mainland.

Our marine resources must be exploited to make the country's overall economy more dynamic. General Ershad said every citizen, military and civilian, should work shoulder to shoulder for the materialization of the dream of building a new Bangladesh.

The CMLA conveyed his sincere thanks to the people and Government of China for extending the hands of cooperation and friendship and hoped that the submarine treasure will further strengthen the bonds of cooperation between Bangladesh and China.

FINANCE MINISTER VIEWS WORLD BANK, IMF MEETING

BK141613 Hong Kong AFP in English 1330 GMT 14 Sep 82

[Text] New Delhi, Sept 14 (AFP) -- The outcome of the just concluded meeting of the IMF and World Bank at Toronto was not "totally negative," Indian Finance Minister Pranab Mukherjee said here today.

Mr. Mukherjee, who returned Monday from the week-long meeting, told the press that despite the crisis that had overtaken the International Development Agency (IDA), the soft lending arm of the World Bank, most donor countries had agreed to make their full contributions to it for the fiscal year ending June 1983.

However, he did not minimise the uncertainties ahead over the scale of IDA's general operations after 1984 or India's share in it.

The World Bank has assured India total assistance of 2,200 million dollars for the fiscal year 1983.

Because of the U.S.'s staggered contribution to IDA, which ran short of funds in fiscal year 1982, India received more in bank loans than soft IDA credits last year.

Mr. Mukherjee said it was hoped that this "aberration" would be overcome now and that for the next two years the blend of bank and IDA assistance to India would change for the better.

Mr. Mukherjee said the Toronto meeting drew a blank on the developing countries demand for the new allocation of special drawing rights (SDRs) which would give them unconditional liquidity to enable them to meet their increased balance of payments needs.

Asked whether India's share of IDA assistance, which had come down from 40 percent to 34 percent in 1981, would decline further with China's claim, he said what India received would depend on the total resources of the IDA.

BANKING TIES WITH AFGHANISTAN TO BE IMPROVED

BK141642 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1530 GMT 14 Sep 82

[Text] India and Afghanistan are to have closer links in the field of banking. An Indian delegation is to visit Afghanistan shortly for this purpose. This has been indicated in the agreed minutes of the Indo-Afghan trade talks which concluded in New Delhi today. The two countries have also identified cities to facilitate flow of trade information.

SITUATION IN MEERUT IMPROVING; 450 ARRESTED

BK101612 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1530 GMT 10 Sep 82

[Text] The situation in Meerut is improving. An official spokesman told newsmen in Lucknow today that there was no incident in the curfew-bound areas in the city. However, one incident of stabbing in which one person died has been reported from the Naya bazaar locality which is a noncurfew area. Over 450 persons have been arrested so far.

[Text] The situation in Meerut is fast returning to normal. An official spokesman told our Lucknow correspondent a short while ago that no untoward incident has been reported from any part of the city. However, curfew continues as a precautionary measure.

INTERNAL SECURITY MEASURES TO BE REINFORCED

GF141203 Karachi DAWN in English 11 Sep 82 pp 1, 12

[Text] Lahore, Sept 10 -- In view of the increasing cases of sabotage and terrorism stringent measures are being considered for security reasons specially in the issuance of passports and national identity cards.

Well-placed official sources told DAWN here today that a decision to this effect was taken at a high-level meeting, recently held in the federal capital.

According to the decisions taken at the meeting, the entire network of detection and investigation would be reinforced and the areas for such activities would be widened. Services of the retired personnel would be acquired as full time employees.

Instructions have also been issued under special orders of the higher authorities to conduct enquiries against all such persons who, in one way or the other, tried to influence investigation proceedings in connection with the suspect saboteurs.

The investigation agencies and the departments concerned had disclosed the names of some very influential and authoritative officials for protecting certain elements who were required for interrogation for being allegedly involved in a very important case of forged identity cards. One of these cards was issued to a recognised saboteur against whom proceedings are in progress.

Under new arrangements, in future, the suspected applications for passport would be sent to the registration office of the area for necessary checking and would also be referred to the intelligence and investigation agency for scrutiny and clearance. Similarly such application for the issuance of identity cards would also be referred to the agencies concerned for necessary action. The councillors of the area attesting documents, the commission agents attesting forms would also be enquired if necessary.

According to a roughly calculated estimate, thousands of national identity cards and passports had been issued to the Afghan nationals now in Pakistan and to a number of other suspects required by the government in various cases.

These cards and passports also include the forged one as well.

Official agencies are busy to detect the exact number of forged cards and passports.

Recommendations have also been forwarded to the authorities concerned to declare as illegal the business of either the registered or unregistered vendors and commission agents presently dealing in the sales of official forms and stamps and also serving as middle men for the attestation of documents.

UN ENVOY TO VISIT ISLAMABAD, KABUL, TEHRAN

[Text] The UN secretary general's special envoy, Cordovez, is expected to visit Islamabad, Kabul and Tehran either before or after the debate on the Afghanistan issue at the UN General Assembly. This was stated by Foreign Secretary Niaz A. Naik while giving details of his Moscow visit to newsmen yesterday. He also expressed the hope that UN Secretary General Perez de Cuellar will give details of his talks with Soviet President Brezhnev on the Afghanistan issue when the foreign minister visits New York to attend the UN General Assembly session.

AL-ASAD ENVOY SPEAKS ON SYRIA-IRAQ RELATIONS

JN141044 Damascus SANA in Arabic 0840 GMT 14 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, 14 Sep (SANA) -- Ahmad Iskandar Ahmad, information minister and President Hafiz al-Asad's personal envoy, left Tehran for Damascus this morning, accompanied by Assistant Foreign Minister Nasir Qaddur, at the end of a 2-day visit to Iran.

He was seen off at Tehran airport by Gholam Reza Aqazadeh, minister of state for executive affairs, Hoseyn Sheykh ol-Eslam, political adviser to the foreign minister, and Mustapha Mi Mir-Salim, the president's representative.

In a statement before leaving Tehran, Ahmad Iskandar Ahmad said: I have conveyed a message from President Hafiz al-Asad to President 'Ali Khamene'i, dealing with the results of the recent Arab summit conference in Fes. We have also conveyed to the Islamic revolution leadership in Tehran our viewpoints regarding the work and results of the conference.

He added: During our meetings here we stressed our firm and principled stand in support of the Islamic revolution in Iran against all its reactionary enemies inside and outside Iran. We have also stressed our firm stand to work continuously for the development and enhancement of our strong good ties. Our relations are really good and the horizons of their development are broad and good. Together we will seek to quickly develop these relations in order to shorten the path of struggle and attain our objectives which serve our people and contribute to its development and protection.

Ahmad Iskandar Ahmad added: I have also met with Hojjat ol-Eslam Hashemi-Rafeanjani and held talks with him on the Arab and international situation and its impact on the situation in the region. The talks centered on the Fes summit and its agenda. At the end of the talks we found that our viewpoints are identical and that we have common aims and a common will to develop and consolidate relations between our two countries and peoples. During the two meetings I briefed His Excellency President Khamene'i and Hojjat ol-Eslam Rafsanjani on our principled and firm stands in commendation and support of this revolution. We have considered the Iranian revolution the most important event in the second half of the 20th century. We have also considered it a positive development in this age. This revolution has turned the Iranian people and capabilities from an alliance with Israel and the enemies into an alliance with the Arabs, struggling with against Zionism and U.S. imperialism for the sake of liberating holy Jerusalem.

In reply to a question, the information minister said: I am carrying very good and satisfactory impressions about the two fraternal meetings I held in Tehran. I am carrying a message for President Hafiz al-Asad inviting him again to visit his brothers in Iran in order to exchange ideas with them on issues of common interest. I am also carrying the sincere desire of the Iranian president and Hojjat ol-Eslam Rafsanjani to work together toward further development of relations. I am returning to Syria happy and satisfied with the mission I have accomplished in Tehran.

Asked about the Iranian Foreign Ministry statement which denounces the resolutions of the Fes summit conference, Ahmad Iskandar Ahmad said: The Iranian Foreign Ministry's attack on the Fes summit resolutions is justifiable.

Asked about a meeting that took place between President Hafiz al-Asad and Saddam Husayn at the Fes summit and about news agency reports that another meeting would take place between President al-Asad and Saddam, the Syrian minister said that no such meeting took place and that the reports on it were false. He asserted that President Hafiz al-Asad did not meet with Saddam Husayn for political talks but met him at a luncheon hosted by Moroccan King Hassan II, chairman of the conference, outside Fes.

He added that, at this luncheon held in Ifrane, some 60 km from Fes in the Atlas Mountains, protocol required that President Hafiz al-Asad sit at one table with King Hassan, King Fahd, the amir of Kuwait, King Husayn and Saddam Husayn. The reports about mediation were completely baseless, he asserted.

Ahmad Iskandar Ahmad added: Nobody in Syria would have welcomed such mediation if it had taken place, because the wounds created by the Iraqi regime through the crimes of sabotage and murder it committed in Syria are deep. These wounds will need a very long time to heal.

Ahmad Iskandar Ahmad said: We are in a conflict with the Iraqi regime. That regime hopes for our removal, and we certainly hope for its removal as soon as possible.

The Syrian minister said: The reports about mediation and an imminent meeting in Riyadh, or elsewhere, between President Hafiz al-Asad and the head of the Iraqi regime are absolutely false and baseless.

Asked about Saddam Husayn's statement to Kuwaiti journalists that he hopes to improve relations between Iraq and Syria, Ahmad Iskandar Ahmad said: I have read this, but I repeat that the time for reconciliation has not come and the conditions for such reconciliation are not available. The Syrian minister said that Syria insists on its stand.

Replying to another question, the Syrian minister said that the resolution the summit conference had adopted on the Arab-Israeli conflict does not call on the United Nations [presumably the General Assembly] but on the Security Council, to provide guarantees for peace in the Arab region. Such a call, he said, does not in any way imply recognition of the Zionist entity, although it does, in some aspects, end the state of war. Such matters are understandable in international law and world relations.

RAFSANJANI, JAPANESE ENVOY DISCUSS GULF SECURITY

LD141726 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 14 Sep 82

[Text] The Japanese ambassador to the Islamic Republic of Iran met and had talks with Mr Hashemi-Rafsanjani, speaker of the Islamic Consultative Assembly, this morning. According to an IRNA report, during that meeting the Japanese ambassador, while referring to the economic importance of the Persian Gulf and the Hormuz Strait, said: The Hormuz Strait is extremely important to the world from the economic standpoint, and we thank you for safeguarding the security of this vital region, because we attach tremendous importance to the security of the Persian Gulf.

Emphasizing the long-standing economic relations between the two countries, he expressed the hope that the talks between the two countries on the petrochemical complex in Bandar-e Imam Khomeyni would be crowned with positive results.

Referring to Iran's economic policy toward Japan during the meeting, the speaker of the Majlis emphasized the expansion of bilateral relations between the two countries. The Majlis speaker, referring to Iraq's war imposed on Iran, then said: Iraq is lying when it says it desires peace and that it has withdrawn from our country. Saddam's supporters do not allow him to submit to right. He has merely withdrawn to a safe zone. Of course, we should enter Iraq to force him to withdraw completely from our soil and give us our rights. The regime ruling Iraq should understand that we are serious. On the other hand, we think that it is in the interest of world peace for an aggressor, who has inflicted all these losses, to be punished.

In conclusion referring to Persian Gulf security, the Majlis speaker said: The security of the Persian Gulf is in our interest, and we will keep it safe unless some day people do not allow us to utilize this security. Should that security be denied us, then we would not allow it to remain secure for others, because we deem this to be logical.

The report concludes that the Islamic Republic of Iran's ambassadors to Somalia and the FRG also separately met and had talks with Mr Hashemi-Rafsanjani this afternoon.

OFFICIAL, SOVIET ENVOY DISCUSS RELATIONS

LD141122 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 14 Sep 82

[Text] Vil Boldyrev, the new Soviet ambassador to the Islamic Republic of Iran, went to the Foreign Ministry this morning and held talks with Mr Mansuri, consular and cultural under secretary of the Foreign Ministry, regarding the expansion of relations and cultural, national and artistic talks between the two countries.

During this meeting, Mansuri offered a few comments explaining the stands taken by the Islamic Republic of Iran regarding the expansion of the relations between the two countries and the imposed war. He expressed the hope that officials in other countries will bear in mind the facts and realities regarding the Islamic revolution in the course of all their policies, maintain a positive and constructive attitude in various fields toward the Islamic Republic of Iran and base their relations on just policies.

ECONOMY MINISTER RETURNS FROM IMF MEETING

GF111708 Tehran IRNA in English 1650 GMT 11 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept. 11, IRNA -- An Iranian economic mission headed by Minister of Economics and Finance Dr. Hoseyn Namazi, who had gone to Toronto, Canada, to attend the 37th joint session of the International Monetary Fund [IMF] and the World Bank, returned to Tehran this morning.

In this session, Dr Namazi criticised the present policies adopted by the IMF and the World Bank and called for the elimination of hegemony of superpowers over these two organisations.

NURBAKHSH VIEWS FOREIGN EXCHANGE SITUATION

LD111044 Tehran IRNA in English 0934 GMT 11 Sep 82

[Text] Bonn, Sept. 11 (IRNA) -- Iran's top bank official Friday declared that his country's foreign exchange reserves were increasing and said that Iran had no intention to sell its shares in foreign countries.

Central Bank of Iran (CBI) Governor Mohsen Nurbakhsh in an interview said that the Iranian investments in the Krupp and Babcock companies were giving profit and pointed out "there is no question of selling these shares."

He said that the foreign exchange reserves were in such a good shape that Iran could buy more shares and invest in more foreign companies or banks except those of the United States.

Nurbakhsh is here to attend the annual meeting of the board of directors of the Krupp.

He said that the foreign exchange reserves of Iran were in a good shape because of "the correct policies of the country."

Another reason for the increase in the Iranian reserves, he said, [is] the recovery of defunct shah's capital which had been transferred to the CBI.

Nurbakhsh denied alleged sale of gold by Iran and remarked: "We even have purchased more gold in order to improve our foreign exchange reserves."

Referring to the export of oil and recent fuss being made by the Iraqi regime, he said that the Iranian exports of oil stood at from 1.7 to 2 million barrels a day.

The CBI chief said no oil tanker so far was attacked by the Iraqi forces.

To facilitate the foreign oil tankers Iran introduced a new insurance system through which Iran insurance company would insure these tankers at the rate of one per cent which previously applied for cargo ships.

Moreover, he said, in case of the damage the Iran insurance company would pay the losses on the very day at the international official exchanges. He said that contacts with the British banks were underway in this connection.

Nurbakhsh refuted the reports [as received] and said that Iran did not sell oil to the U.S. but pointed out that the Iranian oil might find its way to that country through international oil agents.

TEHRAN CRITICIZES UK OFFICIALS' VISIT TO REGION

GF141712 Tehran International Service in Arabic 1730 GMT 13 Sep 82

[Excerpts] While the Thatcher government is facing the most difficult social and economic problems and while it is preparing for allout strikes, two British ministers are making intensive visits to the Islamic region.

Douglas Hurd, British minister of state for foreign and Commonwealth affairs, is making an intensive tour which includes Egypt and Abu Dhabi; and John Nott, British minister of defense, is shuttling from one capital to another signing arms transactions and military treaties with the regimes in the region. The question is: What are the goals of the new British diplomacy in the Islamic region?

From the identity of the two British ministers, we can deduce that the nature of the task assigned to them is political, military and economic all at once. When we link the timing of the visits with the recent events in the Islamic arena, an armed invasion of Lebanon and submissive plans for settlement, we can find a way to discuss the real British goals during the current phase of our troubled region.

Britain, like other imperialist countries, wants to get a piece of the action and will not get this piece unless it actually enters the arena. British policy has always adopted silence and observation during the fluctuation of events because the British mission usually begins after the fire of war dies down and the course of events ceases to run. In sedition, Britain is like the (?scavenger) looking for easy food. This has always been its policy during historical events in the Islamic region -- among which were recent events in Lebanon.

Britain has always been just a spectator waiting for the right opportunity to gather the spoils. This has always been the case. After the war had come to an end and the rulers sat in Fes seeking solutions, the British Government felt the time had come to reap the harvest. Therefore, it sent two of its ministers who shouldered the burdens of aggravating problems in Britain.

The general task of the two British ministers in the Middle East is to sign new arms transactions with the governments of the region. Foremost of these arms are reconnaissance planes whose military tasks are equal to the AWACS planes. Apparently one of the tasks assigned to the two British ministers is the safeguarding of the regime in Baghdad from its inevitable fall because the fall of this regime will cause Britain to lose more than $1 billion per year earned by British companies through various agreements with this oppressive regime in Iraq.

However, it is regrettable that our Islamic region remains as usual a foothold for the British ministers every time an economic crisis grips Britain. The region remains a foothold for those ministers who come to our countries looking for the medicine that cures the inherited British disease which finds no cure but in the blood of the sons of the oppressed Islamic nation. What matters after all is that old Great Britain remains healthy and sound. This is the logic of rulers who today receive the British ministers and yesterday received their princess and Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher.

ARMED FORCES JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUE NO 1,047

LD141756 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 14 Sep 82

[Communique No 1,047 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. Sporadic artillery and mortar exchanges between the combatants of the ground forces and Saddam's Ba'thist mercenaries continued during the past 24 hours in the Bakhtaran and Ilam regions. As a result of these fire exchanges, one enemy military vehicle was damaged and enemy forces were halted.

The powerful combatants of Islam stationed in the Paveh operational sector silenced the fire of the misguided Iraqi forces. Thanks to the fire of our brave gendarmerie forces in the Shur-e Shirin sector, Saddamist forces suffered some losses.

One Iraqi aircraft, which was trying to bomb the Musian region, was forced to flee by the timely fire of the air defense unit stationed in the region.

Sporadic artillery exchanges continued on all southern fronts between the heroes of our country's armed forces and Saddam's devotees. In the Kushk sector the enemy's desperate efforts were obvious.

The gendarmerie fired on enemy positions and fortifications on the other side of the Arvand Rud, destroying several slit trenches and foxholes of the Saddamists and killing or wounding several of the enemy.

The steadfast city of Abadan enjoyed relative calm. The sound of the enemy's long-range shells could be heard from time to time. Enemy mortar fire destroyed two houses and set fire to another.

Any violations of our airspace by Iraqi aircraft during the past 24 hours were repulsed by our fighter planes and the antiaircraft fire of the alert personnel of the air defense units.

On 12 September one of the brave warriors of the Ground Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran gained the exalted status of martyrdom.

[Signed] The Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran

IRAQI AL-FAW OIL INSTALLATIONS SHELLED

GF141722 Tehran IRNA in English 1700 GMT 14 Sep 82

[Text] Ahvaz, Sept 14, IRNA -- The Al-Faw oil installations, southern Iraq, were damaged over the past 24 hours as it came under the fire of the Islamic combatants which killed or wounded 29 Iraqi soldiers beyond the Arvand River.

In these operations, the Iranian artillery fire also demolished three machine gun positions, four group bunkers and three dug-outs.

Also, during this same time, the Gendarmerie forces of the Islamic Republic shelled the enemy's positions beyond the Arvand River, killing or wounding 25 Iraqi Ba'thists as well as halting the enemy's movements and pounding eight Iraqi trenches and rallying places.

REVOLUTION GUARDS CAPTURE REBEL COMMAND CENTER

LD141812 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 14 Sep 82

[Text] The Public Relations Office of the Central Headquarters of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps has announced:

According to a report from the Hamzeh Seyyed ash-Shohada central headquarters, following the successful operations by the combatants of Islam which resulted in the capture of one of the important command centers of the counterrevolutionary elements in the village of Turjan, situated 30 km inside the Bukan-Saqqez heights, more than 30 counterrevolutionaries were killed and 3 of them were arrested. The zealous warriors of Islam also seized 20 RPG-11 missiles.

REBELS KILL GUARDS IN PIRANSHAHR, TEHRAN

GF150443 (Clandestine) Free Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1500 GMT 14 Sep 82

[Text] According to the Free Voice of Iran correspondents, three bases of the mercenary guards in the hills in Piranshahr were destroyed. Numerous guards were killed in the clashes with the combatant Kurds.

Similarly, quite a few guards, including Hamid Behnud, one of the operations commanders of Tehran's District 2 committee, were killed in armed skirmishes in Tehran.

Meanwhile, the Mojahedin-e Khalq of Iran [MKO] issued a communique in Paris announcing that in operations in Piranshahr the day before yesterday, the Mojahedin destroyed three of Khomeyni's repressive bases using RPG-7's, and grenade launchers. This attack took place 2 days after Khomeyni's forces raided Piranshahr.

According to the same report, in a series of armed struggles last week, numerous Khomeyni guards were killed. Hamid Behnud, who was killed in these clashes, had survived nine attempts on his life up to that time, according to the MKO. The authorities of Khomeyni's regime have interred the lackey Behnud by Beheshti's side. Among the other merciless pawns of the regime identified so far who were killed in Tehran last week, are: Qasem Jaberzadeh, Asghar Shafa'i, Abol FAzl Khusheh and Mohammad Taqi Hajj Heydari.

NVOI CALLS FOR END TO 'ANTI-SOVIETISM'

TA141545 (Clandestine) National Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1730 GMT 13 Sep 82

[Unattributed commentary: "What Are Our Homeland's People Thinking About?"]

[Text] Dear compatriots: Our homeland's people, both in Tehran and in other towns, are talking most of all about the existing day-to-day difficulties and the lack of speed in the revolution's progress, and asking why the goals the imam set for the revolution have not been reached. This indicates what sort of issues the people and all those who believe and have faith in the revolution are focusing their attention on.

Our homeland's people are rightly concerned about the complex situation brought about in our homeland's economy due to the economic terrorism of the well-to-do and satanic strata, the increase in unemployment, the decrease in industrial production and the rise in inflation. There is no doubt that many of these difficulties facing our ever-on-the-scene nation are due to the conspiracy of the foes of the revolution within and abroad and to imperialist and counterrevolutionary elements who have changed color and infiltrated government organizations. Covert and overt plots, attempts to undermine Iran's economy and isolate our Islamic Republic in the international arena have deepened the onerous consequences of world-devouring America's piratic interventions in our homeland's internal affairs. The war imposed by imperialism and its agents on our homeland is a heavy burden on our country's economy.

In addition to all these serious problems a series of contradictory measures and decisions at the government level have [word indistinct] the country's economy.

The counterrevolution and the elements of imperialism are striving to sow discord among the true believers in the consistent struggle against imperialism. Resorting to various ploys, these elements are striving to place the true patriots under fire, and to increase restrictions against the revolutionary forces who truly had a noticeable role in the course of the revolution. All these activities are for the sake of satisfying and implementing the aims of the elements of the counterrevolution and world-devouring America, and for the sake of satisfying those who hope that the revolution will be stifled as a result of the intensification of differences and internal polarization. Reaction here and abroad is striving to exploit these difficulties to intensify domestic disputes and to force the various forces into an open clash and confrontation. The calculation of these foes is that as a result of attacks and disputes the Islamic Republic will be weakened, and inevitably it will be diverted from the course set by the imam.

Unfortunately, some of the authorities, either as a result of lack of understanding of the revolution's content, or due to other motives and thoughts, are preventing the revolution's progress and perpetuation on its anti-imperialist and popular course. They place world-devouring America -- the enemy of the Iranian revolution -- on the same level with the Soviet Union, which has always defended our Islamic Republic against various imperialist aggressions. These mischiefmakers are definitely not part of the true forces of the revolution and the sincere followers of the imam's line. Under various guises, those ignorant friends and wise enemies of the revolution are in the service of certain circles who by exploiting anti-Sovietism want to divert public opinion from the main enemy of our revolution and nation -- namely, world-devouring America -- and focus it on an imaginary enemy. Unfortunately, these elements still have influence in various echelons and enjoy the necessary facilities to carry out their subversive measures against our nation's glorious revolution and the Islamic Republic of Iran.

It must not be forgotten that anti-Sovietism is a part of the plots of imperialism against the revolution and the imam of the nation. From the very first days of the revolution the foes of the revolution have exerted all their efforts to strain Iran's relations with the Soviet Union in order to isolate revolutionary Iran against the United States. Our nation is aware of this and it is for this reason that it is concerned about the present situation. The nation rightly wants the realistic officials of the Islamic Republic of Iran to put an end to this policy of anti-Sovietism. On the basis of the previous bitter experiences and the difficulties arising from the struggle against imperialism and its agents, our nation is well aware who its friends and enemies are.

NVOI RAPS IRANIAN DEFENSE OF AFGHAN REBELS

TA131226 [Editorial Report] The clandestine National Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran at 1730 GMT on 12 September carried a commentary entitled "The Confessions of a Pakistani Officer."

It stated that although all documents and evidence confirm the close relations between the leaders of so-called Islamic organizations of Afghan fugitives with the espionage and intelligence organizations of the United States, Egypt and some Persian Gulf countries, some people in our country still continue to insist on defending these counterrevolutionaries.

Recently, at a press conference in Kabul, a captured Pakistani officer confessed that along with a group of saboteurs he was dispatched to Afghanistan on the direct orders of American and Chinese experts. The confessions of the Pakistani officer and other captured Afghan counterrevolutionaries are confirmation of the fact that what is of utmost importance to the American experts in training the Afghan fugitives in Pakistan is murder, terror, sabotage and the killing of innocent and defenseless people in Afghanistan -- namely, the very thing that the counterrevolution carries out in our own homeland, Iran.

What is surprising is that sometimes our mass media, under the influence of the intimation of imperialist news agencies wittingly, or unwittingly, feed the people precisely that which is fabricated by these news agencies about Afghanistan. If bomb explosions and sabotage are proof of a national resistance against the existing system, then what do you call the planting of bombs, assassinations and killings that take place in our own country? Is the mere explosion of bombs, sabotage, terror and murder proof of the existence of a resistance or a popular liberation movement? Can every incident of sabotage, planting of bombs, explosion and the killing of some unarmed and innocent people be considered an Islamic movement or a popular liberation movement? America and its allies support the Iranian counterrevolutionaries with the utmost power, they also support the Afghan counterrevolutionary dregs who commit murder and sabotage under the mask of the Islamic mujahid. The support of the United States, Israel and the reactionary regimes for these so-called Afghan mujahidin must open everyone's eyes and ears.

The Democratic Republic of Afghanistan has a popular and anti-imperialist system and inevitably is our ally in the struggle against imperialism and the counterrevolution. "Obstinacy and stubborness must be replaced with realism, and the hand of friendship that has been extended toward us by the fraternal nation and the government of the people's Democratic Republic of Afghanistan should be warmly and brotherly clasped."

SHIPPING CONTRACT WITH JAPAN -- Bandar 'Abbas, Sept 13 (IRNA) -- According to a Hormozgan Province public affairs official, an 80 billion yen ship manufacturing contract was signed with a Japanese company in order to restore the maritime plant of the Persian Gulf. This project was approved by members of the board of directors of Iran's organisation of expansion and renewal of industries. In the session, the representative of Japanese Fuji Bank and the deputies of the Japanese Embassy in Tehran were present. [Tehran IRNA in English 1631 GMT 13 Sep 82 GF]

AHVAZ STEEL COMPLEX -- Tehran, Sep 11, IRNA -- The Ahvaz steel complex is to start operation shortly. The complex will have an annual production rate of about 2.2 million tons of sponge iron, and about 1.9 million tons of pig steel. The pig steel to be produced by the complex will be transported to the Kavian rolling mills plant wherein it will be cut into steel bars and sheet iron in various sizes. The deputy minister of mines and metals and managing director of National Iranian Steel Company, Salehi Foruz, said here today that the machinery and parts needed for the Kavian rolling mills plant were being transported to Iran from West Germany. The products of the mill are mainly armatures in different sizes, iron bars, profile iron, seamless pipes, barbed wires, iron networks, and soldering electrodes. The unit for the manufacturing of seamless iron was left unfinished after the culmination of the Islamic revolution, but was later completed solely by Iranian technicians and workers. NEW ROCKET LAUNCHER -- Tehran, Sep 11, IRNA -- An Iranian artillery major has designed a katyusha rocket launcher consisting of sixty projectiles. The newly designed katyusha rocket launcher is mounted on a captured Iraqi tank. The artillery major in an interview with SAFF magazine, issued by the Army of the Islamic Republic of Iran, described the functions of his invention. Firstly, he said that the additional rocket designs, and equipment were from the battle front and the invention itself was also completed at the fronts. The tank is able to shoot singularly or all missiles can be fired simultaneously. It can fire [from] either a stationary or mobile position, and also traverse all types of terrains. The new invention also performs similar "katyusha" functions. The inventor concluded by saying that if approved by the [word indistinct] officials all parts and ammunitions can be produced in Iran. MIDDLE EAST AND SOUTH ASIA REVIEW

Lebanon

Military Situation -- After a cautious advance into west Beirut the IDF was ordered to cease fire unilaterally early on 16 September, according to IDF radio. However, the Israelis continued to react to fire and sporadic clashes continued. Beirut radio reported that the Israelis were advancing deep into west Beirut. While IDF radio said the IDF had used sparse artillery fire to soften nests of resistance, the clandestine leftist Voice of Arab Lebanon radio accused the Israelis of "indiscriminately" bombarding residential quarters. Al-Murabitun and other leftist militias continued to resist the renewed Israeli advance into the city, despite Al-Murabitun losses of five dead and seven wounded, the Voice of Arab Lebanon said. Jerusalem radio announced that the IDF sustained 2 dead and 42 wounded in the fighting while the Voice of Arab Lebanon claimed an Israeli tank was destroyed. Nevertheless, the militiamen are armed only with machineguns and rocket launchers and cannot curb the IDF's advance, Jerusalem radio pointed out.

Comment on Advance Into Beirut -- Israel decided to take control of key areas of west Beirut in order to prevent "terrorists" and leftists reorganizing in the area, the IDF spokesman announced in a statement reported by Jerusalem radio. Israel acted quickly to prevent a restoration of the status quo ante in the city, security sources cited by IDF radio stressed.

However, Lebanese Prime Minister Shafiq al-Wazzan rejected Israel's reasons for the operation, which were conveyed to him by Assistant Secretary of State for Near Eastern Affairs Morris Draper, Beirut radio noted. Al-Wazzan held the United States responsible for the Israeli advance because the Americans have guaranteed the agreements concluded by envoy Philip Habib, the radio said. Meanwhile, Damascus radio accused Israel of "exploiting" the death of Bashir al-Jumayyil to achieve its objective of occupying nationalist Beirut. The Israelis have thereby thrown overboard the agreements concluded between the Lebanese Government and Philip Habib and have slighted all the states which contributed to the multinational force, the radio contended.

A Cairo radio commentary rejected Israel's attempt to "exploit" the assassination of Al-Jumayyil by moving troops into west Beirut, saying this action indicates that Israel is persisting on the "wrong course."

Begin, Draper Discuss Lebanon -- Prime Minister Menahem Begin and U.S. Envoy Draper agreed during a meeting that great effort is needed to form a stable government in Lebanon, IDF radio affirmed. Begin proposed that the removal of foreign forces from Lebanon could begin with the "terrorists" in Tripoli and Al-Biqa' and afterward with the withdrawal of Syrians and the IDF. Explaining IDF activity in Beirut, Begin stressed that the forces are trying to ensure peace in the city and prevent "dangerous developments." According to Jerusalem radio, Begin also told Draper that Israel is in the Al-Biqa' in preparation for any Syrian military movements.

New Presidential Elections -- Former President Camille Sham'un said new presidential elections may be held within the coming week, Voice of Lebanon radio reported. Asked for his opinion about the identity of President-elect Bashir al-Jumayyil's assassins, Sham'un said "the foes are known" and "are the ones who have always been involved in assassination incidents."

Reaction to Al-Jumayyil's Death -- In a statement carried by Damascus television, an official Syrian source declared there is no doubt Israel killed Bashir al-Jumayyil because he began to see the need for the IDF to leave his country and appeared to have changed his mind about signing a peace treaty with Israel. Asserting that the movement of Israeli soldiers into west Beirut after the assassination was within the framework of a plan to murder Al-Jumayyil, the source said Israel's methods and designs for expansion have "no limits." According to Monte Carlo radio, Syrian officials received the news of Al-Jumayyil's assassination with surprise. The radio added that observers in Damascus believe only Israel and its agents were capable of reaching the Phalangist Party headquarters.

On his arrival in Rome, PLO Executive Committee Chairman Yasir 'Arafat expressed regret over the explosion that killed Al-Jumayyil, describing the deed as an attempt to impede intra-Lebanese conciliation efforts and to justify the Israeli occupation of Lebanon, ANSA reported. 'Arafat sent a cable of condolences to Pierre al-Jumayyil and his family, saying this "criminal act" against Lebanon only serves the Israelis, Monte Carlo radio revealed. Fatah Central Committee member Salah Khalaf likewise affirmed that the PLO had nothing to do with the assassination. Speaking to KUNA, he alleged that a Lebanese "element" which did not accept Al-Jumayyil's presidency committed the act.

In a speech delivered at Al-Jumayyil's funeral, carried by Beirut radio, Lebanese President Ilyas Sarkis expressed deep regret at the loss of the president-elect and called on the Lebanese people to consolidate unity and restore sovereignty to the country. The mufti of Lebanon and the Islamic Council also condemned the crime and called for national unity, according to reports by the radio.

Israeli Defense Minister Ari'el Sharon emphasized that despite the sad occurrence, relations between Israel and Lebanon should not suffer and there will be continuity in relations, Jerusalem radio reported. In remarks carried by the radio, Israeli Labor Party Chairman Shim'on Peres said that in the current situation, a multinational force should be brought into Beirut to secure the area and to facilitate the removal of the IDF.

In an interview reported by Tehran radio, Iranian Foreign Minister 'Ali Akbar Velayati asserted that the Lebanese and Palestinians had rejected the Al-Jumayyil presidency and that Al-Jumayyil had been "sent to hell" as a result of this "awakening."

Tripoli radio spoke of Arab jubilation over the liquidation of "a new As-Sadat," and said the killing of Al-Jumayyil confirms that the Arabs will destroy all "traitors."

Egypt

At a press conference cited by MENA, Foreign Minister Kamal Hasan 'Ali condemned the Israeli advance into west Beirut as an action which will escalate the situation further. He stressed that Egypt calls for the Israeli withdrawal from Lebanon regardless of the withdrawal of other forces such as Syria, which will negotiate withdrawal with the Lebanese as agreed on at the Fes summit. 'Ali pointed out that now is not the time for normalization between Israel and Egypt and that Israeli "aggression" must end before autonomy negotiations can resume. Peace can be established, he declared, if Israel withdraws from Lebanon according to a specific timetable, stops building settlements in the West Bank and Gaza and implements confidence-building measures in these territories.

Iran

Qotbzadeh Executed -- Former Foreign Minister Sadeq Qotbzadeh was executed on 15 September for attempting to overthrow the Islamic Republic and to assassinate Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeyni, IRNA reported.

Complaints on Algiers Accord -- The Iranian international law services supervisor told a press conference that Iran will send an envoy to the Netherlands to present U.S. violations of the Algiers agreement, Tehran radio reported. The supervisor revealed that the complaints deal with the nontransfer of assets and the refusal to terminate claims by U.S. citizens.

KYODO: SOVIETS LAUNCHING BOMBING RAIDS FROM USSR

OW150557 Tokyo KYODO in English 0521 GMT 15 Sep 82

[Text] Islamabad Sept 15 KYODO -- MiG bombers taking off from the Soviet Union are being used to bomb the Afghan mujahidin stronghold of Panjsher Valley, 100 kilometers northeast of Kabul, Western diplomatic sources today said.

Giving details of the on-going Soviet offensive aimed at crushing the Afghan mujahidin in Panjsher, diplomats told newsmen that as many as 150 sorties per day are made by Soviet bombers over the rugged valley in the Hindu Kush mountain ranges in Afghanistan.

The sorties from the north are raining death and havoc over the resistance stronghold that to date has defied half a dozen major attacks since the Soviet tanks rolled into Afghanistan through the Amu Darya to install a communist puppet regime in Kabul.

Diplomats said the Soviet bombers were using very large bombs in the Panjsher Valley.

The bombs are dropped now from high altitude because the mujahidin shot down several low-flying aircraft in late August and early September, sources said.

Most of the villages in the once rich and thriving Panjsher Valley have been reduced to rubble and rendered uninhabitable, diplomats said and added that civilians have fled into caves and mountains. A significant number of Panjsher residents have taken temporary shelter in Kabul and the eastern city of Jalalabad.

Diplomats said the major thrust of the present Soviet attacks in Panjsher was not from the ground to gain territory but continuous aerial bombardment. The bombardments start typically at eight in the morning and last until two in the afternoon.

They confirmed that some 3,500 Soviet troops entered the valley two weeks ago from the south. Earlier reports had said these troops were commandos freshly brought in from the Soviet Union.

Diplomats pointed out that the Soviet and Afghan forces employed in the present offensive in Panjsher were smaller than those in previous attacks, particularly the one launched in May-June this year.

A measure of Soviet failure in capturing the Panjsher Valley was evident from the fact that the mujahidin were still in command of all the villages north of Rukheh and Khunj. The Afghan resistance also continues to harass communist convoys in the south of the valley along the strategic highway that connects Afghanistan with the Soviet Union.

Unconfirmed reports from the mujahidin said that the Soviets were parachuting supplies into garrisons at Rukheh and Enaba.

KUWAITI DIPLOMAT SHOT, SLIGHTLY INJURED

LD160906 Kuwait KUNA in Arabic 0842 GMT 16 Sep 82

[Text] Karachi, 16 Sep (KUNA) -- Kuwaiti ambassador to Pakistan, Muhammad an-Najran, reports that the Kuwaiti deputy consul in Karachi, Muhammad aj-Jutayli, was shot in his arm at a gasoline station 100 meters from the consulate building while on his way to work. He said that the assailant, whose identity is not yet known, opened fire on the deputy consul from a speeding vehicle.

Aj-Jutayli took up his post at the consulate 30 months ago.

The ambassador, in a statement to KUNA, added that Aj-Jutayli's vehicle was hit by three bullets, one of which slightly injured the deputy consul's left arm. The deputy consul went to his office after receiving the necessary medical attention.

FOREIGN MINISTER LEAVES FOR UK, NEW YORK

BK160435 Karachi Domestic Service in Urdu 0200 GMT 16 Sep 82

[Text] Foreign Minister Sahabzada Yaqub Khan left Islamabad this morning for London on his way to New York, where he will lead the Pakistani delegation at the next session of the UN General Assembly. Talking to newsmen at the airport, he said the next UNGA session is very important from Pakistan's point of view because Afghanistan will be among the issues it will discuss.

He said he would also discuss the problem of Afghanistan during his meeting with the UN Secretary General Perez de Cuellar in New York, besides discussing the matter with the secretary general's representative in New York.

The foreign minister said that after the New York talks on Afghanistan special representative of the UN secretary general, Cordovez, will visit Islamabad, Kabul and Tehran in November.

He said the UNGA session will also discuss economic problems and the issue of arms reduction.

Replying to a question about Pakistan's candidacy for the Asian seat in the Security Council, he said that they were in touch with a large number of countries to secure further support.

About his visit to London, Sahabzada Yaqub Khan said that he would call on British Foreign Secretary Pym. There was no fixed agenda, but they would discuss Afghanistan and the Middle East.

DELHI: INTERIOR MINISTER ASKED TO RESIGN

BK151605 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1530 GMT 15 Sep 82

[Text] In Pakistan, two members of the Federal Advisory Council have demanded the resignation of Interior Minister Mahmud A. Haroon on the ground that the law and order situation is worsening. Their demand follows the murder of Zahurul Hassan Bhopali, a member of the council, and two other persons in Karachi last Monday.

The two councillors, Bhatt and Shakil, said the law and order situation has touched its lowest ebb and the police and other law enforcing agencies are failing in their duties.

FOREIGN POLICYMAKING PROCESS CRITICIZED

GF150823 Islamabad THE MUSLIM in English 5 Sep 82 p 4

[Editorial: "Academia and Foreign Policy"]

[Text] In a country where the government maintains a strict aura of secrecy on matters regarding the public, it was very refreshing to have the area study centre of Quaid-i-Azam University arrange a symposium on Pakistan-American relations. At the meeting, scholars read out papers on various facets of Pakistan's ties with the United States, which was followed by candid discussions free of the usual official constraints.

Such exercises are generally rare in this country, more so the domain of foreign policy which is considered a 'holy cow' not even to be touched with a pair of tongs. The result is that major issues are not really debated and the tendency is to curry favour with the government by toeing the official line or to simply give a contrary view just for the sake of opposition.

Debates and discussions on foreign policy matters are essential to generate public opinion with a view to bringing about a national consensus on any particular issue. The academic community and the media can play a significant role in this connection. This role needs to be an active one because nonbureaucratic intellectual input helps in nurturing a fresher perspective on issues.

Makers of foreign policy in Pakistan live in a world which is largely insulated and isolated from public opinion. In this busy hush-hush world of files whose hallmark is PUC (put up for consideration) and DFA (draft for approval), routineism remains supreme and there is little time for reflection or a detached view. This can be done with outside experts who could be periodically consulted on specific issues. On the contrary, non-government foreign policy specialists are shunned or ignored, and treated as if they were potential subversives. The unfortunate consequence of such an approach is that a balanced outside appraisal on our foreign policy is often lacking with half the views being those of government publicists and the other half playing a dissident role.

However, the government tends to follow a different approach towards foreign scholars. Whenever they visit the country on their own or as state guests, they are treated like royalty and after given the red-carpet treatment. A case in point is Selig Harrison who wrote the policy-oriented study on Baluchistan. His preface to the book, bearing grateful acknowledgements, sounds like a who's who of officialdom. Reportedly, Mr. Harrison also had access to classified documents on the Baluchistan insurgency. Another instance is that of Dr. Stephen Cohen, who has completed a well-researched study on the Pakistan Army. He too was provided with full official co-operation in his writing endeavour. Incidentally both these American writers testified against the sale of the F-16 aircraft to Pakistan before the American Congress.

All this duplicity in attitude is more a colonial hangover, when things -- and ideas -- foreign were held in high esteem and preferred over indigenous ideas.

A more institutionalised framework needs to be developed so that outside ideas can be incorporated into the policy-making process. Perhaps the government could consider the establishment of a foreign policy advisory committee, composed of public figures, academics and journalists, which should periodically meet with the foreign minister and other senior officials of the Foreign Office. Hopefully, this would invigorate the decision-making machinery and widen the horizons of the powers that be.

Given the success of the symposium on ties with the United States, the various area study centers should consider organising similar symposia on Pakistan's foreign policy, particularly on our relations with India and the Soviet Union.

FORMER FOREIGN MINISTER QOTBZADEH EXECUTED

LD160934 Tehran IRNA in English 0922 GMT 16 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept 16, IRNA -- Former Foreign Minister Sadeq Qotbzadeh was executed last night according to a verdict issued by the army revolutionary tribunal, approved by the high judicial court, it was announced this morning.

Qotbzadeh, arrested early April, went before a firing squad for masterminding a plot to overthrow the Islamic Republic and kill the leader of the revolution and founder of the Islamic Republic, Imam Khomeyni.

The first branch of the army revolutionary tribunal issued the text of the verdict, death sentence, for former Foreign Minister Sadeq Qotbzadeh, convicted of masterminding a plot to overthrow the Islamic Republic, as follows:

About one and half years ago Qotbzadeh was released after being held for a few days. Reports indicated that he was involved in activities against the Islamic Republic.

Asqar Mohajer, a member of "Pars" splinter group (Guardians of Monarchy), who was executed later, confessed during interrogations that he had some connections with Qotbzadeh.

Later, a member of the "Reza-Zadeh monarchist group," Col. Seirafi, who also went before a firing squad, quoted Qotbzadeh's co-conspirator that the former foreign minister, together with a number of military personnel, intended to form a military government in which Qotbzadeh would take the office of premiership.

With further pursuance of the subject, Qotbzadeh's sedition against the Islamic Republic became more obvious when a number of military and civilians, who had been paid by Qotbzadeh to collaborate [with] him in his plot to overthrow the Islamic Republic, reported the case to the officials.

Further inquiries revealed that Qotbzadeh had connection with some reactionary regimes in the region, such as Saudi Arabia, to a number of Western countries, on top of which stood (U.S.), and to some pseudoreligious persons including Seyyed Kazem Shariatmadari. He had also had some contacts with the local tribal chiefs.

At this point, since the case was at the stage of planning the plot, a number of responsible officials intended to summon Qotbzadeh and, by acquiring his internal and external collaborations, save him from his present fate.

The issue became critical when, simultaneously with the extensive victories of the Islamic combatants of Iran against Iraqi forces, Qotbzadeh proposed his co-conspirators to assassinate officials such as the commander of ground forces and members of the Supreme Defense Council.

Above all, according to available tapes of his conversations, he proposed for the assassination of Imam Khomeyni and insisted on it while promising to provide all facilities, such as money, in this connection.

At this point officials deemed it necessary to arrest Qotbzadeh, although if he was more under pursuance many of his co-conspirators would be arrested as well. Since the imam's assassination had been designed and any unexpected event in this case was inevitable, his arrest was considered necessary.

Upon his arrest he denied all charges but when he was told that officials were informed of the [word indistinct], he confessed, but what he confessed was perhaps one per cent of the present information about him. However, he confessed to two of his convictions, both receiving death penalty:

1 -- Masterminding the plot to overthrow the Islamic Republic, taking steps in this connection, distributing money among his collaborators, and dispatching envoys abroad to coordinate opposition wings and receive money from them.

Qotbzadeh's defiance that he did not intend to overthrow the Islamic Republic but to change officials in order to build up the real republic is rejected since:

A) This is an easy excuse and everyday everybody can resort to it to design a coup.

B) With a careful study of the file of his case and with regard to Qotbzadeh's moral corruption, not included in the indictment for some reasons, it was crystal clear for the court that his objective has been to overthrow the Islamic Republic.

C) From religious points of view any person who embarked on an armed revolt against the Islamic Republic would receive a death sentence which is true in the case of Qotbzadeh.

2 -- To design the plot for the assassination of high-ranking officials, on top of whom Imam Khomeyni, and making the provision of a house and sum of 7,500,000 rls (about 100,000 dollars) and the required personnel in this case.

His defiance that he wanted to oppose the imam's assassination in forthcoming sessions is also rejected since there is no reason to prove such a claim. Secondly, everybody knows that as long as the imam is within the nation, no plot could be performed. Thirdly, available tapes and information indicate that his plot for the imam's martyrdom was decisive and underway, but failed to be successful with God's mercy and awareness of the officials.

Therefore, the verdict concluded, Qotbzadeh was a seditious and a corrupt element who should receive a death penalty.

Sentences of other Qotbzadeh's co-conspirators would be announced soon.

Bani-Sadr, Others on Execution

NC161008 Paris AFP in English 0937 GMT 16 Sep 82

[Text] Paris, Sep 16 (AFP) -- Ousted Iranian President Abolhasan Bani-Sadr, commenting today on last night's execution of former Foreign Minister Sadeq Qotbzadeh, said here that it was more like a "settling of accounts" than the punishment of a man condemned to death by an impartial court.

He said that the very fact that the execution by firing-squad yesterday came one month after the end of his trial showed that his death had been decided only after a lengthy debate between Iranian leaders, and the hawks had finally won.

The emergence of the hawks was mainly a result of the "disintegration of the regime and growing internal resistance against it."

Mr Bani-Sadr believed that Syria had intervened in favour of Mr Qotbzadeh.

He noted also that the execution coincided with the "failure" of Iran's recent offensive against Iraq.

Mas'ud Rajavi, leader of the People's Mojahedin (Iranian leftist Moslems), said that the execution "clearly shows the cruelty of the Tehran regime, which will not hesitate sacrificing its closest supporters."

Mr Rajavi, a political refugee here, said that the Tehran regime "is incapable of preventing internal crises caused by its own inherent contradictions."

Ayatollah Mehdi Rohani, spiritual head of the Shi'ite community in Western Europe, criticised the execution as being contrary to the laws of Islam and against the teachings of the Koran.

He said that the Koran accepted the law of "an eye for an eye," and if a man killed another then he had to pay for this crime with his own life.

He pointed out that the former foreign minister had not been charged with murder but of planning to overthrow the government and assassinating Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeyni.

"The Qotbzadeh execution is 100 percent against Islam law," he added. No Koranic teachings could justify it.

U.S. CHARGED WITH ALGIERS ACCORD VIOLATIONS

LD151840 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 15 Sep 82

[Text] According to a Central News Unit report, the representative of the prime minister's international law services office will leave for the Netherlands tomorrow in order to demonstrate instances of U.S. violations of the Algiers accord to the international arbitration committee in The Hague. Mr Mohammadi, the supervisor of the international law services office, said in a press, radio and television conference this afternoon, attended by domestic and foreign newsmen:

Since the signing of the Algiers accord, the United States has desisted from carrying out its provisions and during this period 17 separate claims have been filed in connection with violations of the Algiers accord by the U.S. Government. These will be sent to the arbitration committee in The Hague. These claims may be divided into four major groups:

The first group concerns the nontransference of Iran's financial assets, including income from the sale of oil, Iran's bank deposits and the interest on Iran's deposits inside and outside the United States; the delay in transferring Iran's deposits outside the United States and obstructing the embassy and consular accounts and the remainder of the funds paid into the U.S. Federal Reserve Bank.

The second group concerns the nontransference of commodity assets, including the nontransference of material assets, and essential storage costs and the reduction in the value of assets because of neglect in centralizing [as heard] and safeguarding them.

The third group is connected with neglect in unfreezing Iran's diplomatic assets.

And the fourth group is connected with refusing to terminate cases of claims by U.S. citizens.

He added: The instances of U.S. violations are not confined to these and we are about to prepare further evidence; instances of violations will be sent to the Algerian Government.

VELAYATI HAILS DEATH OF LEBANON'S AL-JUMAYYIL

LD151142 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 15 Sep 82

[Text] According to the Central News Unit, Mr Velayati, our country's foreign minister, in an interview today after the Cabinet session, said regarding the explosion at Phalangist Party headquarters in Lebanon and the death of Bashir al-Jumayyil, leader of the Phalangists: Evil powers conspired to stage a play in Lebanon. First, through the military forces of the Zionist aggressors they killed innocent Lebanese and Palestinians. Then, through the disgraceful plot of the Fes conference, they intended to complete this crime from the political angle.

The outcome of this political-military plot was the bringing into power of Bashir al-Jumayyil, the leader of the Lebanese Phalange, whose hands are covered with the blood of the innocent people of Lebanon and Palestine, as an American and Zionist lackey in Lebanon.

He said: We witnessed how Lebanese Muslims expressed serious and forthright objections to the coming into power of that American and Zionist lackey. But, America and Israel and their puppets in the region were adamant in preserving Bashir al-Jumayyil as the president of Lebanon.

He added: It was foreseeable that the Muslim and combative people of Lebanon and Palestine would not sit still and accept this plot.

He added: The long-term consequences of the political-military plot by the superpowers to consolidate Israel and impose a puppet government in Lebanon is that the Muslim nations in the region will wake up and realize that many regional heads of state are puppets of the superpowers. The experience of the Islamic revolution of Iran during the fight against imperialism and in crushing mercenaries will be an example for nations that have witnessed their leaders' treacheries and have lost faith in all of them. The dispatch of Bashir al-Jumayyil to hell is a result of this awakening. We shall consider this matter as an omen and hope that we shall witness greater victories for Muslims in the region.

MUSAVI CALLS EXPLOSION 'WARNING' TO U.S., ISRAEL

LD151134 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 15 Sep 82

[Text] A Cabinet session was held this morning under the chairmanship of the prime minister, during which regional issues and the country's current affairs were discussed.

The Central News Unit reports that at the end of today's Cabinet session Mr Mir-Hoseyn Musavi, prime minister, had an interview with reporters and answered their questions about various issues.

Referring to the explosion at the Phalangists headquarters in Lebanon and to the destruction of Bashir al-Jumayyil, the prime minister said: This explosion is a reaction to the conspiracies of America and Zionism in Lebanon and is the prelude to a great storm. It demonstrates that imposed solutions cannot be forcibly implemented among oppressed nations. Naturally, after this we shall be faced with a complex situation in Lebanon and the region. This is sufficient to make us pay attention to the future elections in Lebanon.

The prime minister added: Of course, the previous elections were held under the influence of Israeli bayonets outside Beirut's gates. Naturally, this explosion is a heavy blow which has been delivered at the outcome of the Fes conference; at the same time it is a warning to Israel and America that the struggle of Muslim and captivated nations has not come to an end and that the victories which America has achieved are nothing but superficial and phoney victories. America and Zionism should certainly expect to suffer greater blows in future.

In answer to a question on his opinion as to which group carried out this explosion the prime minister said: We should look for the roots of this issue in the movement and struggle of the Muslim nation of Lebanon.

Answering the question as to why, although the Fes conference approved the plan to recognize Israel, Israel in appearance declared this resolution unacceptable, Mr Musavi said: Israel always tries to further increase its demands in response to the retreat of the Arabs and other countries of the world. Therefore, it is natural that the more the leaders of Islamic countries withdraw in the fact of Israeli demands, so Israel's demands and aggressive character will further increase.

Concerning the rites and rituals of this year's hajj pilgrimage in the exportation of Iran's Islamic revolution, the prime minister said: During this year's hajj pilgrimage our combative and heroic people have taken Islamic slogans, including the slogan about the indivisibility of politics from religion, to other Muslims of the world. Naturally during these ceremonies the truth of our Islamic revolution will be made clear to the Muslim nations and the conspiracies which have been hatched against the Islamic revolution of Iran will be neutralized.

SAUDIS ARREST 40 IRANIAN PILGRIMS, DEPORT 18

LD141026 Tehran IRNA in English 0940 GMT 14 Sep 82

[Text] Medina, Sept 14 IRNA -- Eighteen Iranian pilgrims in Mecca, arrested by the Saudi fascist police during Friday unity march, deported to Iran via Jidda on Monday. [sentence as received]

During the anti-U.S., Zionists demonstration by the Iranian pilgrims on Friday, 40 demonstrators were arrested, 30 of them were transferred to Jidda. The remainder are still under detention.

It should be noted that the Saudi officials have only announced the arrest of 21 Iranian pilgrims.

SAUDIS PROTEST OVER IRANIAN PILGRIMS' ACTIONS

LD151752 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 15 Sep 82

[Text] According to a Central News Unit report, this morning the Saudi charge d'affaires met with Deputy Foreign Minister Ahmad 'Azizi. During the meeting the Saudi charge handed a protest note to our country's deputy foreign minister with regard to the recent rally and demonstrations by Iranian pilgrims in Medina and described such actions as contrary to the agreement reached with the imam's representative and said they disrupt the tranquillity and security of pilgrims from other countries.

Our country's deputy foreign minister replied:

What you refer to as an "agreement" is obviously the result of a misunderstanding and misconception and cannot be correct. Indeed, in view of the sensitive circumstances in the region and the problems of Muslims in the present situation, silence and refraining from holding revelatory demonstrations would be tantamount to ignoring the edicts of Islam and the imam. The deputy foreign minister added: Our pilgrims deem it their religious duty to embark on exposing the crimes of the United States, Israel and the USSR; and when it comes to doing their religious duty concerning the plots of the enemies of God and His apostle, our pilgrims will not shrink from sacrificing their lives. They proved this during the Islamic revolution and have never retreated in the face of any threat or obstacle.

Mr 'Azizi emphasized: It is in the interest of Islam and of your country that our pilgrims be free to carry out the religious-political rite of pilgrimage as dictated by Islam and the Koran; and then you will see that this task is carried out in the heights of order and tranquillity. Nor should you be worried about the security and comfort of pilgrims from other countries. It would be sufficient to refrain from intimidating the pilgrims, then you would see how the pilgrims from other countries would join our pilgrims and their opinions.

In conclusion, the deputy foreign minister expressed hope that the problems of Iranian pilgrims will be solved in a desirable manner and that the existing obstacles and discriminations will be removed, thanks to complete coordination of efforts with the imam's representative and supervisor of Iranian pilgrims.

KHO'INI REBUTS SAUDI CLAIMS ON PILGRIMAGE

GF151025 Tehran International Service in Arabic 0700 GMT 15 Sep 82

[Text] Hojjat ol-Eslam Musavi-Kho'ini, the imam's representative and supervisor of Iranian pilgrim affairs, met with clergymen supervising the convoys of pilgrims in Medina yesterday. The imam's representative spoke of the role of the ulema in steering the society and referred to the plots aimed at isolating the Islamic Republic of Iran from the Third World. Kho'ini referred to the improper behavior of the Saudi officials toward the Iranian pilgrims. Addressing the Saudi officials, he said: Many a time you said through your information media that the actions of the Iranians annoy the pilgrims of all other countries, but we ask: What pilgrims are you talking about? Why do we then notice that after their rally, the Iranian pilgrims are respected by other pilgrims?

Regarding the Saudi minister's statement in which he said a number of Iranian visitors did not come to make pilgrimages and should be sent back Hojjat ol-Eslam Kho'ini said: Mecca and Medina are for all Muslims of the world. If you want to act like this, this matter should be presented to all Muslim countries.

The imam's representative further said the following point should be explained: Can a Saudi minister tell who came for pilgrimage and who came for something else? It is up to the Muslims to give their opinion about this matter, not the Saudi minister.

Asserting the need for cohesion among the masses, ulema, students and teachers in the Islamic countries, in explaining the Muslim issues and in countering biased information media, Hojjat ol-Eslam Kho'ini said: In such Islamic functions, the Muslims should become familiar with the contrast in belief in order to tell what is right and what is wrong.

In addition, the imam's representative and supervisor of Iranian pilgrim affairs explained the philosophy of pilgrimage and the role of the Iranian pilgrims in introducing the Islamic revolution during his meeting yesterday with the Majlis deputies who are currently making pilgrimages.

TELECOMMUNICATIONS TO BE CUT 16, 18 SEP

LD152002 Tehran IRNA in English 1920 GMT 15 Sep 82

[Text] Sept 15, IRNA -- Telecommunications between Iran and outside will be halted for a total of four hours on Thursday and Saturday, Sept 16 and 18.

This was announced by the telecommunications company of Iran. It further added that the stoppage would be due to final maintenance operations on the first and second telecommunications masts of Martyr Qandi ground station (former Assadabad station).

The Thursday's stoppage would only affect telecommunications between Iran and Canada, USA, Turkey, Saudi Arabia, Germany, Italy and France; while the Saturday's stoppage would affect any connection between the Islamic Republic of Iran and Japan, Spain, Belgium, the Netherlands, Kuwait, Bahrain, Switzerland, Dubai, Pakistan, Greece, India, Philippines, Australia, Libya and England.

GHARAZI ANNOUNCES INCREASE IN OIL EXPORTS

LD151054 Vienna OPECNA in English 0730 GMT 15 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, 14 Sept. 82 (OPECNA) -- Iran's daily exports of crude oil have increased from 1.5 million barrels to 1.7 million, Petroleum Minister Mohammad Gharazi said today.

He reaffirmed Iran's commitment to send oil experts to Libya to make up for the departure of American technicians. He said Iran, with 10,000 experts available, could place 300 of them at the disposal of the Libyan oil industry.

Gharazi said there were indications that Japan was now following economic policies independent of the United States.

'NORMAL' LOADING ACTIVITIES CONTINUE AT KHARK

LD151325 Tehran IRNA in English 1020 GMT 15 Sep 82

[Text] Khark, Sept 15, IRNA -- Contrary to all baseless rumours and propaganda of Western media, normal activities for loading and exporting of crude oil at southern Khark Island are continuing without any interruption what-so-ever, an IRNA field correspondent reported.

On Tuesday morning four giant oil tankers (VLCC) -- Sea Song, with a capacity of 375,000 tons; World Victoria, with a capacity of 225,000 tons; King Agamemnon, with a capacity of 100,000 tons; and Laconian, with a capacity of 104,000 tons -- left Khark Island's jetties after loading light and heavy crude oil.

Destinations of the four tankers are: Western Europe, North Korea, Turkey and Northwestern Europe respectively.

Meanwhile, two other oil tankers -- Golar Kanto, with a capacity of 220,000 tons; and Montana, with a capacity of 130,000 tons -- are currently busy in loading crude oil at the island.

Also, oil tanker Platrec, with a capacity of 164,000 tons, is waiting for loading in addition to 12 other tankers which are on the waiting list.

It should be noted that a number of the above mentioned oil tankers have for several times entered Khark and left it with crude oil for their destinations, since the beginning of the false allegations of Saddam Husayn of Iraq that he would bomb tankers which would try to call on the Iranian ports to export crude oil.

For example, tankers Sea Song, Golar Kanto, Laconian and Platrec have shipped Iran's crude oil to various destinations and are once again back to Khark.

These facts actually are enough to prove the futility of Saddam's allegations.

BRAZILIAN COMMERICAL DELEGATION ARRIVES IN TEHRAN

GF111714 Tehran IRNA in English 1655 GMT 11 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept. 11, IRNA -- Various representatives of a Brazilian oil-commercial delegation consisting of 40 persons arrived here this morning.

The trip of this delegation, following the trip of the Iranian commercial delegation to Brazil last April, will consist of discussions and concluding agreements related to crude oil, ironware, foodstuffs, as well as other commodities.

Dr. Movahedizadeh, the managing director of commerce company of the Islamic Republic of Iran, related to Commerce Ministry, is heading the Iranian delegation.

The announcement was made by Commerce Ministry.

ARMED FORCES JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUE NO 1,048

LD151752 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 15 Sep 82

[Communique No 1,048 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. In the past 24 hours, fighting has been going on between the forces of Islam and Saddam's forces, each side using heavy weapons.

In the western operational area of the country, our combatants set fire to part of the Banmil oil installations in Iraq.

Opening artillery fire on the enemy positions in the Biarreh, and (Hafta Vanan) areas, they also destroyed five trucks, a number of trenches, one gun and one 106-mm cannon of the Saddamists and killed a number of Iraqi soldiers.

As a result of our forces' fire on enemy positions in the Tutman area, at least 20 Iraqi troops were killed or wounded and 1 vehicle was set ablaze.

In the southern operational area of the country, our combatants continue to enjoy complete superiority. In the Abadan and Khorramshahr areas, as a result of the fire of the coastal combat units of the Gendarmerie of the Islamic Republic of Iran, five enemy trenches and foxholes were destroyed and a number of Iraqi servicemen were killed.

The heroes of the Navy of the Islamic Republic of Iran destroyed three Saddamist trenches together with their crews on the other side of the Arvand Rud.

Yesterday the city of Abadan came under sporadic heavy and long-range weapon fire of the enemy, which caused losses and casualties.

In the past 24 hours, the air defense units, maintaining a constant watch with total vigilance, forced several enemy aircraft which had violated the airspace of several western and border cities of the country to flee.

On 13 September, 16 of our combative brothers from the ground forces and 1 of the heroes of the gendarmerie achieved the honor of martyrdom in operational zones. May their memory be held dear.

[Signed] The Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran

IRAQI LOSSES IN VARIOUS BATTLES REPORTED

LD152020 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 15 Sep 82

[Text] According to an IRNA report, thanks to fire opened by the defenders of the Islamic revolution on the As-Sibah region, on the opposite bank of the Arvand Rud inside Iraqi territory, 25 of Saddam's mercenaries were killed and another 15 were wounded; 1 armored personnel carrier, 1 60-mm mortar, 4 assembly points and an ammunition-carrying vehicle were destroyed.

According to the same report, members of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps in Khorramshahr killed 35 enemy servicemen, wounded another 17 and destroyed part of the Saddamist equipment during the past 24 hours.

In the meantime, the mercenary forces of the Iraqi Ba'thist Army last night and today violated Abadan's airspace on several occasions with the intention of bombing the city's residential areas, but came face to face with our ever-vigilant defense fire and were forced to flee before carrying out any actions.

The report also says that a group of [word indistinct] made up of the self-sacrificing men of the Guards Corps and the tribal mobilization forces yesterday embarked on bold guerrilla operations and penetrated the very heart of enemy positions on the Meymak front and dealt deadly blows at the Ba'thist forces. During these operations 20 Ba'thist aggressors were killed and large numbers of their positions were destroyed and set ablaze.

JOINT OPERATIONS AGAINST REBELS 'SUCCESSFUL'

LD151832 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 15 Sep 82

[Text] The Public Relations Office of the Central Headquarters of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps has announced:

The heroic combatants of the Islamic nation, consisting of revolution guards devotees, the Mobilization of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps and the heroes of the Army of the Islamic Republic of Iran, together with Muslim Kurdish tribesmen, in a series of joint, coordinated operations carried out in the past 2 days, managed to cleanse more than 20 km of the strategic Mahabad-Paveh-Piranshah road of the filth of armed assailants attached to the East and the West, and killed or wounded a large number of them.

During these successful operations, the heroic combatants of the army of Islam, mopping up the villages of Ghiasabad and Deh Daq, captured two main bases of the outlawed armed counterrevolutionaries and seized considerable quantities of arms and ammunition.

Also, through the efforts of the self-sacrificing brothers of the Army of the Islamic Republic of Iran and the heroes of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps, the villages of Hajji Hasan, (Raha Banesh), (Tazibola), (Shazni Abad), (Balqoli), (Jomoleh) and (Bachehseyr), in the vicinity of Saqqez, were cleansed of the filth of armed counterrevolutionaries and were completely captured by the victorious defenders of the Islamic revolution.

NVOI: WRONG TACTICS USED IN COUNTERING REBELS

TA142058 (Clandestine) National Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1730 GMT 14 Sep 82

[Unattributed commentary: "Certain Points That Must Be Heeded in the Struggle Against Terrorism"]

[Text] Dear compatriots: In recent days, simultaneous with the intensification of economic terrorist waged by the Satans of the bazaar and their feudal accomplices, the campaign of assassination and sabotage by the counterrevolution has further peaked. As the responsible officials have declared, the government is determined to stamp out terrorism. This is a development that has the people's support and approval for, as we have stated, terrorism is a weapon in the hands of imperialism and the counterrevolution and frustrated and misled individuals, who in the final analysis can only benefit none other than the counterrevolution and imperialism. This reality has been confirmed by the experience of all the revolutions of the world. Therefore, the struggle against terrorism in all its forms is a necessity and cannot be deferred for the sake of the survival and existence of our Islamic Republic and the preservation of the revolution's gains.

However, in connection with this necessary struggle which cannot be deferred, there are certain points that must be heeded. First, one of the goals of the counterrevolution in unleashing terrorism and subversive activites, as Hojjat ol-Eslam Hashemi-Rafsanjani has rightly pointed out in one of his speeches, is to force the Islamic government to apply a harsh policy. It is very obvious that world-devouring America, by encouraging counterrevolutionary elements and all those who have been misled and deceived to pursue terrorism, wants by creating a tense climate and instability at the same time to force the Islamic government to pursue toughness in order that later hands of its writers and imperialist news agencies can unleash a tumult in the world that there is no freedom in Iran and that allegedly the despotism of the Islamic government has replaced the despotism of Mohammad Reza.

If you review the talks and commentaries of the mouthpieces of the propaganda organizations of the United States and its allies and the radios of the counterrevolution you will see that that same goal is pursued in all the talks and rumors that are disseminated by these propaganda and misleading agencies. It should not be forgotten that the masked Bani-Sadrs, the Qotbzadehs, the Marghe'is, the Keshmiris and the Kolahis are still not few in government organizations and institutions. These individuals, by adopting an Islamic and pitiable appearance, have exerted all their efforts to encourage the authorities to apply harshness. These masked foes of the revolution on the one hand encourage the counterrevolution and the misled and deceived to terrorism, and on the other by resorting to various ploys they urge the officials to apply harshness.

Another point that must be heeded is that normally after the occurence of every incident, explosion and assassination, some people wittingly and some others perhaps unwittingly, point their finger at a specific organization only. Here, too, those same SAVAKist elements and dregs of the former regime who have penetrated into the organizations have a specific role. Thus, by focusing the attention of public opinion and the authorities on the members of a single organization only they strive to save the main elements of sabotage from blows.

Some of our Islamic Republic's officials acknowledge the fact that the SAVAKists, the monarchists and other elements and dregs of the former regime are involved in many of these assassinations. For example, last December Hojjat ol-Eslam Khamene'i said: Do not think that all these explosions and assassinations are connected only to a specific group, rather the fugitives of the former regime and the SAVAKists have a share also. Those same persons who in the first days of the revolution used to assassinate and martyr members of the committees today, too, are responsible and we must not ignore their plots.

Yes, the president justly says to all the realistic officials that one must not ignore these criminal elements of the former regime and world-devouring America and these SAVAKist killers whose list of names has unfortunately not been published up to this day. Certain evil hands are at work in order to divert all opinions and minds toward a single point and to pave the way for the future activities of monarchist groups, the superficials, the liberals and the SAVAKists.

One of the hypocritical ploys and methods of the counterrevolution and the elements of the United States is that same diversion of public opinion from the main and principle danger. So far by using this approach the counterrevolution and the elements of the United States have in many instances been able to save the main persons responsible for crimes, explosions and assassinations.

Another point of extraordinary importance in the fight against terrorism is the selfsame guidance and persuasion of misled individuals and providing them with the possibility of studying their mistakes and reviewing their opinions and views. The simplest way that yields the least results in confronting these misled and deceived persons is putting them on trial and issuing harsh sentences against them. However, this cannot be called the best and only way to struggle against terrorism. Simultaneously with applying harshness against individuals who have been and are directly involved in this or that crime, one must allow misled and deceived individuals who did not participate directly in the assassinations and subversions to ponder and assess their previous deeds.

It is expected that the struggle against terrorism will take place in a well-considered course devoid of fanaticisms and snap decisions and with calculated programs so that the desired results, which are the eradication of terrorism, will be achieved.

BRIEFS

WHEAT PURCHASES -- According to an IRNA report the Public Relations Office of the country's grain organization announced: Since the purchase of wheat surplus to the needs of our farmers some 810,000 tons of wheat have been purchased by the rural cooperative organization, rural services centers, the agroindustrial organization and the reconstruction crusade and some 780,000 tons of the said wheat were carried and delivered to the country's silos. The report says: The volume of purchased wheat compared to a similar period last year has increased by over 100,000 tons. [Text] [Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 14 Sep 82 LD]

MIDDLE EAST AND SOUTH ASIA REVIEW

17 SEPTEMBER 1982

Lebanon

Israeli Position -- A statement by the special Israeli Cabinet session on 16 September, read over Jerusalem radio by Cabinet Secretary Dan Meridor, asserted that the IDF advanced into west Beirut to prevent violence following the assassination of Lebanese President-elect Bashir al-Jumayyil. The Cabinet alleged that although 2,000 "terrorists" remain in west Beirut in blatant violation of the evacuation agreement, the IDF prevented the danger of bloodshed. The Israeli Government will instruct the IDF to leave these positions when the Lebanese Army is ready to assume control of the area to ensure security, it concluded. According to Jerusalem radio, Meridor totally rejected claims made by the United States that the Israeli presence in west Beirut is a violation of the evacuation agreement. He added that it is the remaining "terrorists" who have violated the agreement. Another report by the radio on the Cabinet session asserted that the decision by the prime minister and defense minister to advance into west Beirut is unopposed by the ministers.

Earlier, Israeli Defense Minister Ari'el Sharon outlined the Israeli position to U.S. Assistant Secretary of State for Near Eastern Affairs Morris Draper, who conveyed the Lebanese Government's demand that the IDF withdraw from west Beirut, Jerusalem radio reported.

Israeli Ambassador to Washington Moshe Arens received a firm declaration from the U.S. Government, demanding immediate IDF withdrawal from west Beirut, Jerusalem radio affirmed. The United States accused Israel of breaking promises and committing an unjustified military act. Arens rejected the accusations and said Israel did not violate any promise to the United States. Meanwhile, HA'ARETZ revealed that Arens told U.S. Secretary of State George Shultz that Syria will suffer the consequences if it does not stop its cease-fire violations.

According to Jerusalem radio's Washington correspondent, the IDF advance into west Beirut was coordinated with the Lebanese Army. The radio asserted in another report that the United States was ready to show understanding toward a limited operation into Beirut, but firmly called for a withdrawal when it realized the IDF operation was not limited in scope.

Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin, speaking at the Liberal Party center in Tel Aviv, declared that the "terrorists" had deceived him and did not leave Beirut and Lebanon with their weapons as they had agreed, Jerusalem radio reported. He underscored that the friendship between Israel and the United States is strong and deep. An IDF radio report on the speech said he called on the Lebanese people to establish a sovereign government and asserted that Israel is not interested in occupying Lebanese territory.

Military Situation -- After further fighting on 16 September in which the IDF took control of key positions and intersections in west Beirut, the city was relatively calm the following morning, Jerusalem radio reported. However, the task of flushing out leftist militiamen from high-rise buildings is not yet complete, the radio added. The Al-Murabitun militia's clandestine Voice of Arab Lebanon radio confirmed that intermittent clashes were continuing early on 17 September. The radio was subsequently unheard. Earlier, the radio said Israeli artillery bombarded the Corniche al-Mazra'ah and Al-Murabitun's headquarters; Beirut radio said the fighting caused 153 casualties and extensive destruction. Al-Murabitun's losses in the fighting were 40 killed or wounded, the militia's command announced in a statement reported by the Voice of Arab Lebanon on 16 September. The Israelis have arrested over 1,000 people in newly-occupied areas, according to Beirut radio.

Israeli Chief of Staff Lt Gen Refa'el Eytan said in a YEDI'OT AHARONOT interview that the IDF will not enter encircled Palestinian refugee camps, but called on "terrorists" hiding in them to surrender, Jerusalem radio reported. The IDF will entrust the task of purging the Sabra and Shatila areas to the Phalangists, IDF radio announced. The Phalangists meanwhile killed two men who had violated the recently imposed curfew in southern Lebanon, according to Jerusalem radio.

Israeli and Syrian forces exchanged artillery fire near 'Ammiq in the Al-Biqa' Valley, the clandestine Radio Free Lebanon reported. IDF radio said the "terrorists" violated the cease-fire near 'Ammiq but it did not mention any firings by the Syrians.

Political Situation -- President Ilyas Sarkis informed U.S. officials of Lebanon's "concern, indignation and denunciation" of the Israeli action in west Beirut, Foreign Minister Fu'ad Butrus disclosed in a statement broadcast by Voice of Lebanon Radio. Sarkis has decided to send a personal message to President Ronald Reagan, Butrus said, and the Lebanese UN delegation has been instructed to lodge a complaint with the UN Security Council.

The Phalangist Party's Political Bureau announced that Amin al-Jumayyil, brother of the assassinated president-elect, will be its candidate for the Presidency, according to a statement carried by the Voice of Lebanon. Earlier, the Command Council of the Lebanese forces, the military wing of the Phalangist-controlled Lebanese front, affirmed in a statement carried by the radio that the council adheres to the principles for which Bashir al-Jumayyil lost his life and that it will continue the struggle to "liberate" all of Lebanon. Meanwhile, former President Sulayman Franjiyah's "Free and Unified Lebanon" radio claimed the Phalangists have arrested members of their militia trained in Israel.

Husayn on Beirut -- Jordanian King Husayn said the Israeli move into west Beirut is an attempt to exploit the assassination of Al-Jumayyil and to deal a new blow to Lebanese national unity, Amman radio reported. Husayn called on the United States to take steps to end the Israeli advance.

PLO

Addressing a press conference in Rome, reported by ANSA, PLO Executive Committee Chairman Yasir 'Arafat called for the return of U.S., French and Italian forces to Beirut to protect the Palestinians. He claimed that the honor of these three countries is at stake in view of the Israeli occupation of west Beirut. 'Arafat also said the formation of a Palestinian government-in-exile may be considered by an upcoming meeting of the Palestine National Council. ANSA reported earlier that 'Arafat spoke to an Interparliamentary Union meeting and affirmed that the PLO accepted the Fes Arab summit plan.

Egypt

The attorney general announced that the security forces foiled a "terrorist plot" aimed at freeing detained and accused prisoners and seizing power, MENA reported. He said the plot included members of the Al-Jihad organization supported by Arab and Egyptian "elements" living abroad, adding that the plotters were arrested and confessed to their plans.

Iran-Iraq War

An Iranian military communique carried by Tehran radio announced that Iran downed an Iraqi MiG-25 in the southern part of Iran. Meanwhile, Iraqi planes attacked Iranian positions in the northern battle sector, an Iraqi military communique carried by Baghdad radio asserted.

KARMAL PAYS VISIT TO BALKH PROVINCE 16 SEP

LD160640 Kabul BAKHTAR in English 0448 GMT 16 Sep 82

[Text] Kabul, Sept. 14, BAKHTAR -- Babrak Karmal, general secretary of the PDPA Central Committee, president of the Revolutionary Council of the DRA, arrived by plane in Mazar-e Sharif, capital of Balkh Province today and was welcomed by thousands of the toiling citizens of Mazar-e Sharif.

Babrak Karmal, accompanied by Dr. [name indistinct], member of Politburo of PDPA Central Committee, some members of the PDPA Central Committee, administrator of the north zone and a number of party cadres, visited the tomb of Hazrati Ali and prayed for his exalted soul.

A care taker of Hazrati Ali's tomb presented a chapans (a traditional garment of Mazar's people) to Babrak Karmal.

Later, Babrak Karmal visited the oil and gas technicum of Mazar-e Sharif where he was welcomed with arduous and standing ovation of the workers, officials and employees of the technicum.

In the meeting of the employees, workers and officials of the technicum Babrak Karmal said that our party, our popular state, the ideals of our revolution and the will of our toiling people is to see that in the revolutionary and high headed Afghanistan the living standard of our people is raised morally and materially, that the country is industrialised and that just and democratic land reform is realised in the country, their traditions are not only preserved but should develop and that our country as a nonaligned, free, independent country plays its very important role in the arena of peace, freedom, social progress, democracy and social justice together with the socialist world and the workers' international liberation movements headed by the great Soviet Union, the true and honest friend of the people of Afghanistan against all the evil forces of the dark international reaction.

Pointing to the plots and conspiracies of imperialism headed by the world notorious imperialism, China's hegemonism and reaction of the region, which shamelessly interfere in the internal affairs of our country, Babrak Karmal said, now the people of the revolutionary Afghanistan have reached to that degree of their political consciousness that they will never be deceived by the enemies of the revolution.

He said today the masks have fallen from the faces of yesterday's English and today's devils who hatch plots and conspiracies by misusing the sacred religion of Islam against the religious people of the revolutionary Afghanistan.

According to another report Babrak Karmal visited the new silo project, the construction work of which is nearing completion. He was warmly welcomed by the workers, engineers and the construction employees and officials.

Later he visited the 18th Division of Balkh Province and attended a grand meeting of the officers, soldiers and commissioned officers. He said that the construction of [word indistinct] life in the Democratic Republic of Afghanistan takes place under tense political and military conditions of the world. He said the aggressive forces of U.S. imperialism tries to derail the international relations from the path of relaxation of tension to the path of provoking fightings and the dangerous fluctuations of war and peace.

Karmal said the Central Committee of the PDPA and the Revolutionary's Council will consistently follow its principled policy for the total annihilation of the counter-revolution, for the further betterment of the [word indistinct] conditions of the toilers and for the all-sided development of all tribes and nationalities living in this country.

GANDHI INTERVIEWED ON UPCOMING USSR VISIT

BK161634 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1530 GMT 16 Sep 82

[Text] The prime minister has described the India-Soviet treaty of peace, friendship and cooperation as a symbol of dedication of the two countries to peace. In an interview to TASS on the occasion of the week-long visit to the Soviet Union beginning on Monday, Mrs Gandhi said that it is an important document signed at a serious moment in our history. The prime minister has noted that peace is essential to the world not only as a high ideal but for practical reasons also.

She said detente is an important step for ensuring peace. Therefore, we had welcomed it and worked for it. She regretted that it is now being pushed into the background.

GANDHI SENDS MESSAGE OF SUPPORT TO 'ARAFAT

BK161524 Delhi General Overseas Service in English 1330 GMT 16 Sep 82

[Text] Prime Minister Mrs Gandhi has sent a message to PLO leader Yasir 'Arafat reaffirming the unconditional support of the Indian people to the PLO. Mrs Gandhi added that the Palestinian movement enters a new phase after heroic resistance by the Palestinian people to the latest Israeli aggression in Lebanon. The prime minister said that the PLO could remain reassured that its cause enjoys unprecedented support throughout the world.

SPOKESMAN COMMENTS ON AL-JUMAYYIL KILLING

BK151353 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1230 GMT 15 Sep 82

[Text] India has once again demanded withdrawal of Israeli forces from Lebanon. A spokesman of the External Affairs Ministry told newsmen in New Delhi today that Israel should give a chance to different factions in Lebanon to bring about reconciliation.

Reacting to the killing of President-elect Bashir al-Jumayyil, the spokesman said even though he was a controversial figure, the continuing cycle of destruction and killings is most regrettable. He said we are all committed to a united, sovereign and nonaligned Lebanon.

The spokesman also said that India welcomed the proposals put forward by the Arab summit recently held in Morocco to bring about a comprehensive settlement of the West Asia problem.

ZAIL SINGH TO GO TO U.S. FOR MEDICAL CARE

BK160901 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0830 GMT 16 Sep 82

[Text] According to a Rashtrapati Bhavan [President House] release, a panel of medical experts who recently examined President Zail Singh has advised that he requires specialised investigation to ascertain the condition of his coronary (?aortae).

The panel is also of the view that the most appropriate center for the necessary investigation and followup treatment is the Texas Heart Institute at Houston in the United States.

In view of these recommendations, the government is making arrangements for the president to proceed to Houston by the end of this month.

FIRST BATCH OF F-16'S TO ARRIVE IN DECEMBER

BK110428 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1230 GMT 10 Sep 82

[Text] Pakistan is to get the first batch of 6 F-16 aircraft from the United States in December this year. In an interview with the Pakistani newspaper NAWA-I-WAQT, American Ambassador in Islamabad Ronald Spiers said that 44 American technicians will come to Pakistan for the maintenance of the planes. Pakistan is the third country after Israel and Egypt outside the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to get this highly sophisticated aircraft.

JANG: U.S. WITHHOLDING ARMS, ECONOMIC AID

GF151450 Lahore JANG in Urdu 10 Sep 82 p 2

[Editorial: "When You Are a Friend...!"]

[Text] At last, the very thing happened which was feared by some political circles. The U.S. ambassador in Pakistan, Mr Ronald Spiers, in a recent interview said that the United States has no money for the first installment of aid to Pakistan; that it was not possible to get approval from the U.S. Congress before March 1983. With this statement by the U.S. ambassador, we also read a report from the Washington correspondent of the Indian paper STATESMAN which says that it is expected that the supply of U.S. F-16 planes to Pakistan could be delayed as the Reagan administration had failed to get approval from the U.S. Congress for the first installment of a loan to Pakistan.

The United States since September has stopped arms sales for cash as well as other aid to Pakistan which would be due to Pakistan as a member of certain defense pacts. The U.S. reasoning for this halt is that during the 1965 war between India and Pakistan the United States could not supply arms to both the belligerent sides because it could increase tensions in Southeast Asia. The application of such a policy could be justified in the case of India; however, its application to Pakistan, who was a member of various defense pacts, was totally unjustified. Later, U.S. officials did not even adhere to this policy. They provided huge installments of telecommunications equipment to India for its northern border with China. They also supplied India with heavy water for its atomic reactors. The United States not only stopped its own arms supplies to Pakistan but it also put pressure on its friends to stop their arms supplies to Pakistan and so cut off other sources of arms purchases by Pakistan. Only France has remained free of this pressure.

When U.S. interests became threatened in the Middle East and throughout Southeast Asia after the Soviet aggression in Afghanistan, and when Pakistan became exposed to this danger, the United States, in order to dispel the fears of its European allies that the United States did not meet its commitments to its allies, decided to console Pakistan somewhat. It offered Pakistan a very insignificant amount of aid which President Ziaul Haq refused as "mere peanuts" and said that Pakistan could not hope to face the Soviet Union with that small amount of aid. At that time the U.S. administration said that as President Jimmy Carter was on his way out of office, the United States was unable to make any major commitment.

After Jimmy Carter, President Reagan took office and reassured his friends of the U.S. willingness to meet its commitments and made moves to re-establish confidence among U.S. allies. The U.S. officials, sensing the Pakistani needs in view of the changing situation in the region, recommended renewed aid to Pakistan consisting of arms sales and economic aid.

As a result, an agreement for $3.2-billion worth of arms sales and economic aid was signed between the two countries. Pakistan, before signing the agreement, made it clear that the aid will not affect its role as a member of the nonaligned group and member of the Islamic Conference. The U.S. officials accepted this position.

At the time when the agreement was signed between Pakistan and the United States doubts were expressed regarding its propriety in certain international circles as well as within Pakistan itself.

The basis of these doubts was the past coolness shown by the United States toward Pakistan which had become manifest during the Indian aggression in 1965; and was later seen during the Indian aggression in 1971. However, before the agreement was signed, the United States acquired complete assurances from Pakistan regarding the Pakistan atomic research program. Pakistan was supposed to receive this aid over a period of 5 years and the U.S. Congress was supposed to approve the installment annually.

Since the signing of the agreement both U.S. and Pakistani officials have been issuing assurances that no obstacles were likely to block the aid. The U.S. officials in fact went so far as to say that the United States will not deviate from the terms of the agreement even if it risked straining its relations with India. The Pakistani ambassador, General Azim, had also expressed this hope that the first installment of F-16 planes would reach Pakistan by the end of the year.

However, in the meantime, the American Jewish lobby and India had been very busy working to undermine the agreement. The sharp reaction in the Arab and Third World countries against the Israel aggression in Lebanon had surprised the United States and U.S. officials have been heard to say that the United States will in the future only consider aid to any other countries from the point of view of U.S. interests. When voices were raised for ousting Israel from the United Nations and for economic and commercial sanctions against it, certain countries were threatened through the U.S. Embassies abroad that countries with such policies could not expect any aid from the United States. It is no secret that Pakistan has always supported the Arab claims over Palestine more than the Arabs themselves have at certain times. Israel could not have mounted its aggression against Lebanon without the green light from the United States. The Jewish lobby's grip on industry, commerce and the mass media in the United States is so strong that no U.S. President dare oppose it without risking his office.

On the other hand, Mrs Indira Gandhi has been using all her strength to stop the U.S. arms supplies to Pakistan. And now if the "revelations" the U.S. President has made are looked at in conjunction with Indian efforts and the propaganda by the American Jewish lobby, it will not be very difficult to understand reality. Now, for the approval of the U.S. Congress. The hands of the U.S. President are not tied, he can provide aid to any country despite the U.S. Congress in arms and economic matters. For example, during the India-China conflict in 1962 and during the Arab-Israel war he had been using his very same powers to their full extent and as a result a huge quantity of arms were provided to India and Israel in exercise of those powers.

The U.S. arms and economic aid is being withheld at a time when the Soviet Army has spread its military installations along the Pakistani borders; and, after India, following the Israeli example, has been threatening to destroy the atomic installations in Pakistan. On the other hand, Indira Gandhi has been confident since her return from the United States. Therefore, there is no sense in repeating that in view of the past experiences, we should, without delay, take steps toward self-sufficiency along with finding alternate sources and friends who would prove their friendship in case of need.

NEW DEFENSE ORIENTATION, 'PEOPLE'S ARMY' URGED

GF150830 Islamabad THE MUSLIM in English 6 Sep 82 p 6

[Editorial: "Defence of Pakistan Day"]

[Text] The nation today observes the Defence of Pakistan Day with the solemnity warranted by the occasion.

It is a day to remind not the armed forces, who are well aware of their prime duty, but to make the people of the country realise that it is also their responsibility to contribute to the defence of their beloved homeland, which is their only asset of which they can legitimately feel proud. It is for them to reaffirm their faith in Pakistan and prepare themselves not to shrink from any sacrifice in their endeavour to preserve the independence and sovereignty of their motherland.

Pakistan, which has fought three wars since it emerged on the map of the world 35 years ago, with varying experiences and lessons from each armed conflict, will necessarily have to give a new orientation to its concept of defence. Inhibited by the existing resource constraints, it is in no position to raise a mammoth army, equipped with the latest in armaments, to make for a credible deterrent. Despite our earnest desire for peace it is obvious that peace cannot be had for the asking. A weak nation "invites aggression" as the quaid had observed on one occasion in his address to the armed forces of the incipient state. It should be remembered that during the past two years and more, there has been a palpable change in the geopolitical situation around the country which has its own forebodings. In the prevailing circumstances the answer seems to lie in the creation of a citizens' defence force at minimal cost to the national exchequer.

The concept of a people's army or a nation-at-arms is not new. It is old as Islam, which is the guiding light for the teeming millions of this land. It has also been in practice for long in many countries of the world. Switzerland, for instance, has a nucleus of 1,500 persons mainly to undertake training activities. In addition, it has 27,500 conscriptees receiving military training, and reserves of 526,500. Its total mobilisation takes 48 to 72 hours, and a force of 600,000 to 650,000 men is raised when the need arises. In Israel, military service is compulsory for all men and women up to the age of 55. A regular professional nucleus imparts training and constitutes the hard core of the Israel army. In Sweden, every physically fit male citizen between 19 and 47 years of age is required to serve in the armed forces. After ten months of initial training the conscripts are placed on indefinite leave, though in theory they are members of the armed forces to be mobilised into a 700,000 strong fighting force. Military service in the People's Republic of China is compulsory, and citizens are called up at the age of 18. China thus has a standing army of 2,550,000 with a five million strong front line militia. Lately, even Jordan has decided to establish a "peoples' army" to defend the country against aggression from outside.

Why then can we not emulate the example of these countries? Ours is a robust nation frittering away its reserves of energy in pursuit of a multitude of wasteful preoccupations after the working hours are over. And these idle pursuits have no reliance to the avocations and no bearing whatsoever on vital interests of the country. Nationals from among our people have made a name for their grit and valour whenever they have fought, first in the British Indian Army and later in the Pakistan forces. All that is needed is for us to make a common cause of that which the homeland needs most and selflessly accept a role in the defence of the country with a high degree of motivation. True, we have some para-military forces but, these do not embrace all our able-bodied men who should not shirk the responsibility they owe to the country.

It is also for the armed forces to keep an open house and not look askance at their civilian brethren. If the country has to be defended, it has to be defended by its entire population, for when a country is at war, a nation is at war. It is this irrefutable fact that has to be acknowledged by the masses of Pakistan and substantiated by the extent to which they contribute to the national effort, to defend the homeland as a trust to posterity from generation to generation. Let us on this day make a firm resolve that we shall not prove ourselves unequal to the task.

OVERSEAS WORKERS AGGRAVATING INFLATION AT HOME

GF101942 Islamabad THE MUSLIM in English 22 Aug 82 p 4

[Editorial: "Overseas Workers and Investment"]

[Text] The federal government is reported to be moving towards setting up investment advisory centres in OPEC states and other countries where Pakistanis are working in large numbers. Clearly, the government wants more of the earnings of Pakistanis to be brought home, and more of that invested in productive channels instead of being spent on current consumption, thereby aggravating the inflationary pressure at home. Two official studies made in recent months show that the rate of savings and investment in the over three billion dollars brought in by the Pakistanis as money and goods is only between 14 and 16 per cent, while about 62 per cent is spent on current consumption and about 22 per cent on acquiring land and building houses.

What such studies show is that the current consumption of the workers' families has taken a big leap within a short time. While the income of the workers jumped five to ten times abroad compared to what they were earning in Pakistan, their current consumption has also taken a somewhat similar leap. This can create serious problems for such families when the workers return home. Their hardships will be really acute if their savings are too small and the income from them negligible.

Official estimates appear to be that the demand for workers in OPEC and other labour-importing countries will be between 3.7 and 4.6 per cent until 1985. Clearly, this is an earlier estimate that does not hold good any longer. The oil glut in the world and fall in oil prices have sharly reduced the surplus funds of the oil states and they are slashing their ambitious development plans. In countries like Libya and Nigeria development outlays have been heavily slashed and large number of foreign workers forced to return home. The oil glut is forcing countries even like Saudi Arabia to cut down the output drastically, creating serious financial problems for the country. In such an unfavorable world context Pakistan will be wiser not to count on an increasing flow of workers to the oil states or elsewhere.

Even otherwise the nature of the demand for workers in those countries is changing rapidly. Instead of the unskilled building workers who can work in very high temperatures and lift heavy loads easily, those countries now need technical personnel. They want the men who will run the machines, manage the computers and do similar technical jobs. A certain number of such men are being produced in the country now and they are not adequate even to meet the country's needs. If more and more of such men are encouraged or forced by the conditions to go abroad the shortage of skilled and technical men in the country which it faces now will become even more acute and retard its industrial growth.

While the official notions about an escalating supply of labour to foreign countries needs to be corrected, earnest and determined efforts have to be made to ascertain why so much of the emigre workers' earnings are going into current consumption and so little towards savings and investment, and why the institutional investment is as low as two per cent of the overall earnings brought home. So much of their earnings is spent on current consumption because of the inflation at home and the social compulsion to keep up a high standard of living that is officially buttressed in practice while it is decried verbally. And the soaring prices in the country too make many to believe that it is wiser and more economic to invest their income on houses, lands, shops etc. among the fixed assets, and on consumer durables instead of paying far more for them later. If an economy reaches the stage when people think that buying is saving and spending is investment there will be little of real national savings in the country, as is happening in Pakistan. Because of inflation the real return on savings -- after adjusting for the real inflation -- from institutional investment is small even when the interest rate seems very attractive. And the stock exchange is largely paralysed for attracting such investors.

So, if more of the workers' remittances have to be saved and invested inflation within the country has to be checked, not merely by denying its extent or its adverse impact but through positive means which can be painful initially for some groups.

The workers have to be provided with better real returns on their savings and investment. And positive efforts have to be made to reduce the high material standard of living that is becoming common, including through stopping the official media like TV and radio from playing the role of over-active promoters of consumerism and conspicuous waste. Indisputably it would take far more than opening a few investment advisory centres in OPEC countries to channel the emigrants' earnings into investment and production channels at home.

While so much emphasis is being laid on getting hold of emigrants' earnings, not enough is being done to persuade the local capital to go into productive channels adequately. As a result, there has been considerable flight of capital from the country, although the considerable devaluation of the rupee might have checked it to an extent. If such capital is to stay home and go into real investment, the corporate sector has to be given tax relief as is being done in other advanced countries, while positive investment relief has to be given to small investors, particularly the fixed income groups.

Without such comprehensive and realistic measures savings and investment in the country cannot increase rapidly or substantially. Let the government hence not think of investment as a one horse race or as a simple problem with a single remedy that can be provided by our workers abroad.

IMMIGRATION CAUSING 'SERIOUS' LABOR DEFICIT

GF101955 Islamabad THE MUSLIM in English 29 Aug 82 p 3

[By Anwar Iqbal]

[Text] Islamabad, Aug 27 -- Large scale immigration of skilled and semi-skilled workers has created not only a serious shortage of labour force in the internal labour market but also the ancillary quality and skill, says a survey conducted by the Bureau of Immigration.

The skilled labour force required for Pakistan's construction and manufacturing sectors emigrated excessively as compared to the growth in their domestic supply. The transport sector is also found to be facing shortage of drivers.

An important factor generally observed is that the workers who are migrating are of better quality and have more experience in their field while those left behind are less skilled and less-experienced. This has affected the quality of production in the manufacturing sector and also led to increasing accidents on roads.

According to the estimate of manpower division, about 2,61,226 persons of various categories such as foremen/supervisors, technicians, masons, carpenters etc. have been in short supply for the fifth-five year plan (1978-83). [sentence as published] The total supply of the additional labour force during 1978-83 was expected to be 3.84 million, whereas the total additional requirement of manpower during the same period was expected to be 3.35 million for the internal market and 0.4 million for the overseas market. But, looking towards the occupational demand the country was expected to face the shortage of technical manpower, despite the fact that there was a surplus labour force in all the major occupational groups.

Besides the skilled workers, the migration of experienced engineers had also created the problem of a serious nature.

Most of the engineers, after graduating from the educational institutions, stayed in the country only for a period required to get a job abroad. Once they obtain the required experience they leave the country.

The immigration of teachers, clerical staff, businessmen and service-men, however, was not causing any alarm as the proportion of their demand was not yet very significant.

The migration of doctors and medical personnel was also not very significant due to the control of their emigration.

Another major impact was that the remittances made by the overseas workers had led the increased supply of currency and its circulation in the country on the one hand and increase in the demand of some professionals within the country on the other hand was contributing to inflationary trend in pushing the general wages/cost structure upward.

Due to higher wages and other benefits as compared to the local markets, the savings of emigrants have been much higher. Every departing worker from the country had pre-planned remittance of maximum amount of money out of his earnings to his family in Pakistan.

In addition to certain benefits, there are some adverse effects of emigration too such as loss of talent, shortage of skilled manpower, rise in local wage level, rise in price level and inflation, change in the pattern of production and techniques etc.

IRAN SHOWS WILLINGNESS TO PURCHASE MORE WHEAT

BK131115 Karachi Domestic Service in English 1005 GMT 13 Sep 82

[Text] Iran has shown a willingness to purchase another 50,000 metric tons of wheat from Pakistan. This was stated by a senior official of the Iranian Government, (Fariddin Afghani), in Lahore who is these days supervising the dispatch of 50,000 metric tons of wheat already purchased by his country. He said the wheat already purchased by Iran from Pakistan and being sent to his country was much better in quality than that produced by several other countries. His country is interested in buying more grain from Pakistan in view of the standard and quality of wheat already purchased.

MUSAVI ON WAR, FES SUMMIT, AL-JUMAYYIL DEATH

LD161406 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 16 Sep 82

[Text] Today Mr Mir-Hoseyn Musavi, prime minister, accompanied by Dr Manafi, minister of health, and a number of deputy ministers from the Roads and Transportation and Commerce Ministries, arrived in Bandar 'Abbas to study the difficulties of Hormozgan Province.

The president and those accompanying him left for the Bandar 'Abbas airbase to inspect it [words indistinct]. Before leaving for the Bandar 'Abbas airbase, Mr Musavi, prime minister, referring to the aims of his trip to Hormozgan Province said: The aim of this visit is to study the problems and difficulties of this region, following the trip of three respected government ministers [passage indistinct].

The prime minister referred to the continuation of the war until the achievement of a final solution and said: We have repeatedly announced that we will continue this war until we achieve our conditions. We will continue delivering our crushing blows upon the regime of Saddam. We have not given up this policy and our forces are fully prepared to deliver their decisive blows upon Saddam's regime.

Then, referring to Iranian position regarding the Fes conference, Mr Musavi, the prime minister, said: In the Fes conference certain issues were discussed which seem to include the implicit recognition of Israel. Certainly, we will not compromise with any such movement. We will oppose it. The officials of our country have repeatedly announced this.

Referring to the death of Bashir al-Jumayyil, the president imposed by the Israeli regime in Lebanon, and the steps taken by Israel after this defeat, the prime minister said: The main point is that the Israeli and American plan met with a clear defeat in this connection. This matter is very clear from the expressions of regret made by the American, Western and Israeli officials concerning this matter. We expect Israel to engage in fresh savagery. It will probably attack west Beirut or subject the Muslims (?in the border areas) to greater attacks. However, this is certainly a setback for America and will prepare the ground for an uncompromising movement against Zionism and imperialism in the region.

IRANIAN PRESS ON AL-JUMAYYIL ASSASSINATION

GF161251 Tehran International Service in Arabic 0800 GMT 16 Sep 82

[Press review]

[Text] The papers concentrate editorially on the death of Bashir al-Jumayyil, leader of the Lebanese Phalangist Party. SOBH-E AZADEGAN says: We said earlier that the Fes summit will awaken this nation. But even we did not believe that the reaction would be so swift, particularly what happened in Lebanon. Bashir al-Jumayyil moved toward occupying the post of treason, following the Fes summit, to practice corruption in Lebanon and injustice against the deprived. His imminent fate would have occurred without making such an aspiration. [sentence as heard] The paper adds: Our expectation was not based on knowledge of future events, but because this is God's way to all the unjust, and this does not change because if God delays punishment of the unjust he does not neglect them, and they will eventually receive their just punishment.

JOMHURI-YE ESLAMI says: It is a natural end for someone who is proud of initiating friendship with the enemy and goes in the direction of killing thousands of the deprived Palestinians and Lebanese in return for being rewarded by the United States and the Zionists, who are imposing him as president on the oppressed.

The killing of the traitors in Beirut indicates that this incident comes at the hands of the deprived, who a while ago witnessed in Beirut the mutilation and scattering of the bodies of their children, their women and fathers at the hands of the United States and the Zionists in support of the treacherous isolationist elements. They realized that instead of being punished, Al-Jumayyil was imposed on them as president. So they decided to [words indistinct] and let him have his just punishment.

JOMHURI-YE ESLAMI continues by saying that Shah Husayn, Shah Hassan and Husni Mubarak, in addition to other traitors of the nation and Islam, are now worried because the fire that burned Bashir al-Jumayyil will undoubtedly spread to burn up the injustice and treasonous thrones of the Satans. That is why the United States yesterday instructed the Zionist entity to put further military pressure on the Lebanese Muslims in order to create an atmosphere of panic and fear in their lines and, consequently, to make their surrogates in the region be at ease.

PARS [name of paper as heard] comments editorially on this subject and said it expects that the United States will soon have a new candidate who is deeply involved in agentry and killing the oppressed to impose on Lebanon as president. Sa'd Haddad, who is well-known by the oppressed people in southern Lebanon as a criminal and obedient stooge of the Zionist entity and the United States, is not ruled out as a candidate. His fate will be no better than that of Bashir al-Jumayyil since the killing of Bashir al-Jumayyil in the bomb blast at the Phalangist headquarters indicates a new stage of confrontation between the oppressed on one hand and the surrogates of the United States and the Zionist entity on the other. This is the first incident in the chain of confrontation which will, God willing, lead to the removal of the Zionist entity and all the treacherous regimes in the Arab world.

SAUDI POLICE ATTACK IRANIAN PILGRIMS IN MEDINA

GF160955 Tehran International Service in Arabic 0700 GMT 16 Sep 82

[Text] Saudi security officials and policemen yesterday attacked five convoys of the Iranian pilgrims in Medina. They also tore up photos of Imam Khomeyni, the leader of the revolution and founder of the Islamic Republic of Iran, belonging to the pilgrims.

Moreover, following the visit made by Hojjat ol-Eslam Kho'ini, the imam's representative at the pilgrimage, to the hoseyniyeh of the city the day before yesterday and his meeting with a number of the Muslim ulema, the Saudi security officials and policemen arrested these ulema on charges of meeting with Imam Khomeyni's representative and of taking coins on which Jerusalem is engraved. Among those arrested were a number of members of the committee that supervises the administration of the hoseyniyeh.

Hojjat ol-Eslam Musavi-Kho'ini also met yesterday with the members of the Jordanian pilgrimage committee in the Medina. He told them: We want to reinforce the unity of the brother Muslim Shi'ites and Sunnis during the ceremonies of pilgrimage this year, and for this reason we have taken part in all the Friday prayers of the Sunni Muslims. He also referred to the aggressive war of the Iraqi regime which is imposed on Iran and the Iranian conditions for ending this war. A Jordanian mullah said: You are right in this war.

KHO'INI CONDEMNS SAUDI TREATMENT OF IRANIANS

LD161322 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 16 Sep 82

[Text] Hojjat ol-Eslam Kho'ini, the representative of the imam and the supervisor of the Iranian pilgrims, made a statement protesting against the savage behavior of the Saudi officials and police, who do not even refrain from beating up and injuring the ulema and women. The text of the statement is as follows:

In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. On the basis of the teachings of the Koran and in obedience to the commands of God and the noble prophet, may God's peace and blessings be upon him and his kin, it is incumbent upon the Muslims to always express their hatred and revulsion toward the infidels, especially during the hajj. We, too, have resolved to carry out this great religious duty. However, do the Muslims know that some of the Iranian pilgrims have so far been subjected to insults for the offence of announcing their revolution? Do they know that some sisters and brothers have been beaten up, injured and subjected to all kinds of torture for expressing their revulsion toward world arrogance led by America and its illegitimate child Israel? Do the Muslims and the pilgrims to the holy shrines know that a large number of Iranian pilgrims have been imprisoned? So far nothing is known of the fate of some of them. We do not know whether they are still in prisons, hospitalized due to the wounds and injuries inflicted upon them by the agents of the Saudi regime or whether they have met with another fate.

Do the Muslims of the world know that hundreds of men and women, even great ulema, in holy Medina, have come under the blows of the Arabian police in various places and at various times? Do the Muslims know that on the eve of performing the hajj rites the Saudi Government has expelled a number of Iranian pilgrims for the offence of performing their Islamic duties, thus depriving them of the honor of pilgrimage to the house of God and performing their hajj rites?

Do the Muslims of the world know that an illustrious and aged clergyman of Medina, Mr Shaykh Muhammad 'Ali (Fajri), the Friday imam of the mosque of the Shi'ites of Medina, has been arrested and imprisoned because he was visited by someone from the Imam Khomeyni mission and because some Iranians attended his mosque? Do the Muslims know that by creating an atmosphere of fear and intimidation the Saudi police and security agents are trying to prevent any meetings between the anxious Muslims and pilgrims from other countries and Iranian pilgrims and that so far they have arrested a number of non-Iranian brothers taking part in the anti-imperialist and anti-Zionist demonstrations on Friday?

Do the Muslims know that the Saudi officials are preventing any contact between the pilgrims and the Imam Khomeyni mission? Do the Muslims know that the Imam Khomeyni mission is surrounded by Saudi police and security agents and that at every moment they are tightening up the encirclement? Do the Muslims know that Arabian agents, contrary to the explicit teachings of Islam, are trampling upon the honor of the Muslims and have confiscated the property of many arrested Iranians, which has not been returned? Do the Muslims know that the Arabian agents have arrested a number of people on charges of possessing portraits of his great eminence and are coercing them to hurl insults at the sacred name of the imam and that as they are met with the steadfastness of the Iranian pilgrims they subject them to torture and injury?

Do the Muslims know that following the holding of the Fes conference and the futile attempt to recognize the greatest enemy of Islam, the scourge of 100 million Arabs in the world, and in order to bring to power a government in Lebanon that is supported by the usurping regime which occupies Palestine, the Government of Saudi Arabia engages in such actions to harm and coerce those Muslims who call for the destruction of Israel, the occupier of Palestine, and Muslim unity to fight against world arrogance? The fact that these two calamities [the Fes conference and the harassment of Iranian pilgrims] coincide should provide food for thought to every Muslim.

As the representative of a great leader who, due to the grace of Islam and the heroic support of the Muslim Iranian nation, made the Islamic revolution victorious and transformed the greatest base of American aggression and collaboration with Israel in the region into a base for the propagation of Islam and struggle against arrogance and Zionism, and as the supervisor of the Iranian pilgrims, I strongly condemn these enemy-gratifying activities. Meanwhile, in this capacity I hold the Government of Saudi Arabia responsible for the protection of the lives and the health of the Muslim Iranian sisters and brothers who have been detained by the Saudi police. Once again I reiterate that nothing will prevent the Iranian Muslims from performing their hajj rites and carrying out that which Islam enjoins them to do.

In conclusion, I ask all Iranian pilgrims to continue performing their duties in accordance with regulations, observing order and calm, and bring their call for justice to the ears of all Muslims. I also ask all Muslims to have a correct and dignified approach, in keeping with Islamic dignity, toward the behavior of the Saudi agents. I also ask the officials of Saudi Arabia to consider the dignity of Islam and the pilgrims and refrain from hurting the pure sentiments of Iranian pilgrims, who are the representatives of the most powerful nation in the region and the greatest enemy of America and Israel. I take refuge from all this inhumane oppression and behavior in God and I take my complaints to the noble prophet, may God's peace and grace be upon him and his kin. I call the Muslim sisters and brothers to endure hardships by reminding them of the calamities that his holiness endured in the path of the advancement of the word of God and fighting against the blasphemous, infidels and all who ignore all that was inflicted upon him.

Greetings upon all the monotheists and Muslims of the world, and those who fight against world arrogance and blasphemy. Greetings to all the sisters and brothers who have been subjected to beating, injury and arrest by the Saudi police. Death to world arrogance and blasphemy. Death to the Zionist regime occupying Palestine.

IRAQI MUSLIMS DEMONSTRATE AGAINST SADDAM HUSAYN

LD161744 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 16 Sep 82

[Text] According to reports we have received, the Muslim and struggling people of Iraq continue to show their hatred and revulsion toward the Ba'thist-Zionist regime of Saddam. The same reports state that on 7 and 9 September the Muslim and heroic citizens of Basra staged some demonstrations and, while chanting slogans, threw stones and smashed the windows of a police station.

These reports indicate that the Ba'thist-Zionist regime of Iraq used special forces and helicopters to end the demonstrations. As a result, 2 policemen were wounded and 20 Muslims were arrested by Saddam's forces.

According to these reports, the opponents of Saddam's regime opened fire on the security centre of Kirkuk and set fire to two police vehicles. A number of Saddam's security forces were also killed.

The assembly center of the Ba'thist forces in As-Sulaymaniyah was also attacked by the opponents. Three policemen were killed and more than 15 others were wounded. During a clash on the (Khanqah) avenue of this city, three members of Saddam's special forces were killed.

ARMED FORCES JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUE NO 1,049

LD161736 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 16 Sep 82

[Communique No 1,049 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. At 1241 today, the heroes of the Air Force of the Islamic Republic of Iran, using antiaircraft guns, downed one of the intruding aircraft of the aggressive Iraqi Army, a MiG-25, in the southern part of the country.

Yesterday artillery and heavy-weapon fire continued to be exchanged on most of the western fronts of the country. In every region, the timely heavy-artillery fire of the Ground Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran answered the enemy fire. Silencing the Saddamist mercenaries' fire, they inflicted losses and casualties and set fire to one of the supply depots of the Saddamist forces. In the Musian area, the heroes of the gendarmerie returned the enemy fire for hours. They opened fire on the enemy's units and positions and inflicted losses on the Saddamist forces.

On the southern fronts of the country the heroes and combatants of Islam bravely guarded their defensive positions and fortifications and opened artillery and heavy-weapon fire on every front, foiling the operations and movements of the aggressive Iraqi forces and inflicting losses and casualties. By opening fire on the supply axes of the Saddamist forces, they disrupted their supply operations.

During the past 24 hours, the Saddamist criminals have continued to use their long-range artillery fire on the residential areas and installations of the city of Abadan, martyring nine of the beloved Abadan compatriots and wounding four others.

Yesterday a number of the intruding aircraft of the aggressive Iraqi Army tried to violate the airspace of several western and southern border cities of the country. However, the enemy's intruding aircraft were forced to flee by the antiaircraft fire of the armed forces and the tactical measures of the brave pilots of the Air Force of the Islamic Republic of Iran.

During the battle and exchanges of gun fire on 14 September, one of the heroes of the gendarmerie, while defending our Islamic homeland Iran, achieved the lofty honor of martyrdom.

[Signed] The Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran

More on Downing of MiG-25

LD162130 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 2030 GMT 16 Sep 82

[Text] IRNA has reported on the destruction of the advanced Iraqi MiG-25 by the fast pilots of the Air Force of the Islamic Republic of Iran today.

This intruding aircraft was hit by the missiles of the fast fighters of the Air Force of the Islamic Republic of Iran at 1240 and crashed into the Persian Gulf.

This aircraft's downing was recorded by the region's radar and our heroic and proud pilot also witnessed the pilot of the downed aricraft descending by parachute. The region's patrol forces are busy carrying out a search to find the pilot, dead or alive, in the Persian Gulf.

In this connection Colonel Mo'inpur, commander of the Air Force of the Islamic Republic of Iran, has told an IRNA correspondent: This aircraft flies at 70,000 ft with a speed approximately three times the speed of sound. It cannot be downed by conventional systems.

TEHRAN REPORTS ENEMY LOSSES INSIDE IRAQ

LD162112 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 2030 GMT 16 Sep 82

[Text] According to the Central News Unit, the combatant forces of Islam maintained their superiority along the entire Marivan front during the past 24 hours.

Following artillery fire mounted against the infidel Iraqi positions at Panjwin, Hargineh and [word indistinct] regions inside Iraq, our forces inflicted extensive losses and casualties on the Iraqi forces as well as silencing their fire. At Toveyleh, five Iraqi group bunkers were destroyed and a number of Iraqis were either killed or wounded.

At the center of Biarreh city where the enemy keeps its vehicles, one vehicle was destroyed and three were damaged by the fire of the forces of Islam.

According to an IRNA report, the forces of Islam fired on the enemy positions during the past 24 hours and destroyed 1 82-mm mortar post, 10 bunkers, 7 observation posts and 5 foxholes set up in the vicinity of Saybah across the Arvand Rud, inside Iraq. Some 42 Iraqis were killed and wounded. Our forces also prevented the Iraqis from setting up new trenches and halted Iraqi traffic on Al-Faw-Basra supply route.

FORCES ATTACK 'COUNTERREVOLUTIONARIES'

[Text] According to a report received from the Hamzeh Seyyed ash-Shohada headquarters yesterday, the brave warriors of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran, the self-sacrificing guards and Mobilization forces of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps, together with the Muslim Kurdish tribesmen, in a joint and coordinated operation, launched a surprise attack and mopped up another 10 km of the Piranshahr-Sar Dasht strategic highway and occupied it. During these operations, the counterrevolutionaries suffered heavy losses.

KOMELEH, KDP CLASH IN MAHABAD VILLAGES

GF150636 Tehran JOMHURI-YE ESLAMI in Persian 4 Sep 82 p 2

[Excerpt] Urumiyeh -- Col Sharif ol-Nasab, commander of Mahabad garrison, has reported: When the agents of the Democratic and Komeleh parties tried to blackmail the people of one of the villages, fighting broke out.

Furthermore, according to reports received after this incident, Komeleh agents attacked the disorganized Democratic Party and, as a result, eight members of the Democratic Party were taken prisoner by Komeleh members. One 150-mm cannon and one 50-caliber gun was seized by the Komeleh Party. The Urumiyeh army commander said: The clash between the minigroups around Mahabad was caused by deep disagreements between them. He said: the minigroups have many fights among themselves about who controls the western zone and many clashes have occurred over this.

VOICE OF IRAN REPORTS ON 'SECRET' EXECUTIONS

GF160646 (Clandestine) Voice of Iran in Persian 0330 GMT 15 Sep 82

[Text] The regime of mullahs took its first step in a desperate reaction to the recent bombings by executing four members of its opposition. According to reports reaching us, the four individuals were executed by firing squads on Monday morning, 13 September, in Rasht. So far, none of the news media of the regime has mentioned the executions.

On Saturday, the Islamic government secretly executed four opposition members who opposed Khomeyni in Kermanshah. Only the government-controlled KEYHAN newspaper -- after a 48-hour delay -- published the news, claiming that those executed were spying for Iraq. According to a claim by the same newspaper, Gholam 'Abbas Baba'i, who was mentioned as the person responsible for the attempted assassination of 'Ali Musavi-Khamene'i, the present president of Khomeyni and Tehran's Friday imam at the time, was one of those executed in Kermanshah.

The recent executions indicate the expansion of the regime's harshness and there is a great possibility that the number of executions, the majority of which are carried out secretly, will increase in the future.

ROADS MINISTER OUTLINES CONSTRUCTION PLANS

LD161920 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 16 Sep 82

[Excerpts] Mr Hadinezhad-Hoseyniyan, minister of roads and transportation, who is on a tour of inspection of Gilan Province and of the activities at Bandar Anzali, spoke to a correspondent in Rasht this morning and answered questions put to him.

In his remarks, the minister said that his ministry is currently supervising the construction of 20,000 km of rural road. He also said that, following the revolution, 20,000 km of rural road was constructed and opened to traffic.

The minister said that 58 billion rials in credit has been allocated for construction of roads in this year's budget [for period 21 March 1982-20 March 1983], of which 45 percent has already been spent.

Commenting on the reconstruction of the roads in the country's war-stricken regions, the minister said that reconstruction of the Tehran-Ahvaz railway has been started and the line will be ready for use within the next few days. He further added that the reconstruction of more than 100 bridges, destroyed by the infidel forces of Saddam, has started. The minister said 5 billion rials in credit have been allocated for this task.

During the interview, the minister also revealed that projects to equip the country's airports with technical equipment have been given priority in the 5-year plan [starting 21 March 1983] and the airports to be equipped include those at (Yasuj) and Ilam.

Commenting on the sea routes and the construction of new ports, the minister said that work on the construction of the port named after the martyr Raja'i near Bandar 'Abbas has been proceeding speedily and there are plans for the construction of new ports at Konaru and Chah Bahar.

Concluding his remarks, the roads and transportation minister called upon all truck owners and drivers to call at Bushehr and Bandar 'Abbas to help with the task of transporting essential goods.

USSR ENVOY REPORTEDLY COMPLAINS OF MEDIA TREATMENT

GF160636 (Clandestine) Voice of Iran in Persian 0330 GMT 15 Sep 82

[Text] The new Soviet ambassador in Tehran again met the officials of the mullahs' Foreign Ministry. The Soviet ambassador went to meet Javad Mansuri, the cultural under secretary of the Foreign Ministry of mullah's government, on Tuesday morning, and during the meeting expressed his unhappiness with the treatment of the Soviet role in Afghanistan by the mass media on the regime.

It has been reported that Mansuri in turn outlined the Soviet role in supporting Iraq and informed the Soviet ambassador: We hope you will consider the results of this war and give consideration to the facts and realities of the regime of the Islamic Republic in your policies.

Recent rumors indicate that the relations between the mullahs in Tehran and the Soviet Government have cooled. The ruling clique in the Islamic Republic has expressed its unhappiness with Soviet military aid to Iraq.

NVOI Assails Media Treatment

TA160454 (Clandestine) National Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1730 GMT 15 Sep 82

[Unattributed commentary: "One Must Not Remain Silent in the Face of the Distortion of Facts"]

[Text] Dear compatriots: During a meeting with the new Soviet ambassador, our homeland's deputy foreign minister expressed the hope that officials of other countries would bear in mind the facts and realities regarding the Islamic revolution in the course of all their policies, and maintain a positive and constructive attitude in various fields toward the Islamic Republic of Iran. This is a correct statement that enjoys the approval of everyone.

As shown by the realities, documents and statements of official authorities of the Soviet Union and the writings and commentaries by the mass media of this neighboring country, so far not even a single instance can be shown in which our northern neighbor did not have a constructive attitude in various fields toward our Islamic Republic. Moreover, whether prior to or on the eve of the revolution and during all the period of more than 3 years that has passed since our nation's glorious revolution, the Soviet Union in practice has always decisively and in a constructive manner unstintingly supported the Islamic Republic of Iran against all the plots -- from economic boycotts to threats of intervention -- by the counterrevolution and world-devouring America. Inevitably, in turn, the Soviet side as well has the right to reciprocally expect the Islamic Republic of Iran to adopt such an attitude. However, let us see what the attitude of some of the officials and particularly of some of the writers and irresponsible sloganeers in our homelands' mass media is toward the Soviet Union.

The fact is that not only do some of our homeland's officials and authorities and mass media not have a constructive attitude when facing the realities and facts pertaining to the life and policy of the Soviet Union, but rather their attitude is openly hostile and biased. We do not have to search very far. Let us consider the very issue of Israel's aggression against Lebanon and the Palestinian people which took place with the direct support of the United States. From the outset of this aggression we could see what a tumult was raised and the inauspicious role of forgers of history and realities played by some officials and by a number of unauthorized individuals who are the leaders of multifarious associations such as the Hojjatiyeh Association, and by some, mostly newly arrived, commentators from the West.

A commentary recently broadcast by the Voice and Vision of our Islamic Republic about the Lebanese events and the role of the Soviet Union and the United States in this event is another example of this biased attitude, and in fact is an attempt to seek a partner in crime for world-devouring America, and is actually tantamount to excusing this international super-criminal. In connection with the Lebanese events, the respectable commentator of this commentary carried by one of the three or four newspapers that currently have a publishing monopoly, openly places the Soviet Union at the side of the United States and writes that the Lebanese tragedy is the outcome of the collusion of these two superpowers. If no one else is aware, at least these gentlemen commentators -- who at present possess nothing from Islam and human and Islamic ethics except a pseudo-Muslim appearance and an address for insults, accusations and abuse -- must be well aware that since the start of the activity of the Palestine resistance movement, and not yesterday or today, the Soviet Union has supported this movement with all its might and with all its financial and military potential. The Soviet Union has not only consistently supported and continues to support the Palestine resistance movement, but also all the countries of the steadfastness front, both from the military and political standpoints. Yasir 'Arafat as well as the presidents of Syria, Libya, Algeria and Democratic Yemen have repeatedly acknowledged this fact.

In the last couple of days Yasir 'Arafat, in an interview with DER SPIEGEL, has said: The Soviet Union is our loyal friend, and it did everything possible to stop Israel's aggression against the Lebanese and Palestinian people. In this interview 'Arafat said that Israel, by utilizing America's support, had planned a major attack on Lebanon a long time ago, and that this attack and aggression in a sense was more by America than Israel.

Well, what can be done now? It is not clear why a number of persons who are connected with some Islamic American associations, news agencies and mass media have even become more Palestinian than Yasir 'Arafat and the leaders of the Palestine resistance movement, and more Arab and Muslim than the leaders of the Arab steadfastness front.

Some of these very respectable commentators, such as the journalistic Keshmiris and Kolahis, are agents and therefore excused, but others, under the impact of their intimations, are suffering from the disease of fanaticism, superficiality and mental prejudice, and say whatever their heart desires, and there is no one to ask these gentlemen: Where is the human and Islamic ethics about which you talk so much?

We have nothing to do with those newly arrived commentators from the West who for years spent time in the corners of the nightclubs of the capitals of Western countries and the United States. The account of these gentlemen, who have made the beard and bead a mask to strike at the Islamic Republic, is clear.

What is unfortunate is why those who expect other countries to be realistic toward the realities of our society and to have a constructive attitude are keeping silent in the face of all these distortions? By this expedient silence they are actually calling into question the principle that they themselves deem necessary to be observed in relations between the Islamic Republic of Iran and other countries.

NVOI CALLS FOR ELIMINATION OF QOTBZADEH'S LINE

TA162018 (Clandestine) National Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1730 GMT 16 Sep 82

[Unattributed commentary: "Let Us Identify the Qotbzadehs"]

[Excerpts] Dear compatriots: The first branch of the Revolution Court of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran, after constant review and consideration of the various aspects of the crimes and confessions of the traitor Qotbzadeh, came to the logical and legally just conclusion that this germ of corruption had in general committed two basic offenses, the penalty of each being execution.

One of these two offenses by Qotbzadeh which we believe should be noted foremost of all was the hatching of the plot to assassinate the high-ranking officials of the Islamic Republic, headed by the imam of the nation, the leader of the revolution and founder of the Islamic Republic of Iran. In implementing this satanic plan by America and the counterrevolution, Qotbzadeh placed large sums of money and houses at the disposal of his elements and had made them other promises also.

It is essential to devote attention to the point that one of the basic ploys and methods of the U.S. espionage and intelligence organizations in the struggle against progressive, anti-imperialist and popular systems is the assassination of their leaders.

Both America, the counterrevolution and their dregs are well aware what broad and extensive influence and moral power the imam of the nation enjoys among the million-strong masses of our homeland. They are well aware that as long as this moral influence of the imam for mobilizing the million-strong masses and joining all the revolutionary forces in battle for securing the rights of the oppressed and toilers and establishing social justice exists, the defeat of the revolution and the elimination of its gains is not possible. For this reason, too, in the plan that the U.S. CIA had drawn up to overthrow the Islamic Republic of Iran and whose implementation was assigned to the traitor Qotbzadeh, the killing of the imam of the nation had top priority.

The other offense of Qotbzadeh was masterminding the plot to overthrow the Islamic Republic of Iran, taking practical steps and distributing money among individuals and -- in order to implement his intentions -- dispatching envoys to coordinate foreign countries and domestic opposition wings, and receiving intelligence and financial assistance.

The proceedings of Qotbzadeh's trial showed that the boundaries of the plot against the Islamic Republic of Iran and the leaders of the revolution were outside the framework of a plot with purely domestic characteristics. The proceedings of the interrogations showed that the participants in this plot were in contact with a wide network of Western, particularly American, espionage and intelligence organizations, figures and rulers of reactionary regimes, international subversive organizations, and internal and external counterrevolutionary groups.

What is instructive for us in connection with Qotbzadeh's trial and his execution is that we must be aware that with Qotbzadeh's dispatch to hell the Qotbzadeh trend has not been eliminated. One must see how and under which mask and with what garb and appearance Qotzbadeh and other Qotbzadehs such as Bani-Sadr, Madani, Amir-Entezam, Bagheri, Nobari, Saddeq, Keshmiri, Kolahi and similar individuals were able to penetrate into the Islamic government. As long as we do not understand this, we must anticipate the rise of another Qotbzadeh.

World-devouring American and imperialist intelligence and espionage organizations have a great number of these colored snakes up their sleeves, and currently they are nestling in the various echelons of government organizations and the different institutions of our homeland. Above all, these foes of the revolution have wrapped themselves up in the doctrinaire and religious garb, and it is in this garb that they have dealt and continue to deal blows to the revolution and our Islamic Republic.

MIDDLE EAST AND SOUTH ASIA REVIEW

20 SEPTEMBER 1982

Lebanon

Massacre of Palestinians -- Hundreds of Palestinian refugees were massacred in their camps on the outskirts of Beirut between 17 and 18 September, AFP reported from Beirut, adding that when all the bodies are uncovered the number of victims could reach 1,000. Palestinian survivors and Lebanese soldiers accused Maj Sa'd Haddad's Christian militia of committing the murders, according to the report. In a detailed account of the incident, Jerusalem radio explained that the IDF had given the Phalangists the task of removing "terrorists" from refugee camps. On 17 September, Phalangist militias entered the Sabra and Shatila camps and massacred civilians; the next morning the IDF reacted to the discovery of the killings by removing the Phalangists and imposing a curfew on the area. Eventually, the IDF permitted journalists to enter the camps while insisting that the IDF had not entered and will not enter the camps themselves. Military sources cited by the radio stressed that the Israelis had intervened to stop the bloodshed and should be praised for doing so.

Before the massacre occurred, an Israeli officer cited by Marj 'Uyun Voice of Hope radio declared that his troops would not interfere in the Phalangist operation to have the area "cleaned out." Another Jerusalem radio report, citing an Israeli official in Jerusalem, revealed that when the Phalangists failed to stop their attack, the IDF used force to expel the militia and even killed one Phalangist. Officials further explained in a 20 September report carried by the radio that the Phalangists claimed they had encountered resistance inside the camps and that is when the killing started; the IDF soldiers who heard the shooting thought it was fighting with "terrorists." The Israelis never envisaged that the Phalangists would carry out a massacre, the official stressed.

A 'responsible Palestinian source' cited by Monte Carlo radio alleged that 1,500 Palestinians died in the massacre, which he said was caused by Israeli soldiers backed by Phalangists and Haddad's militia.

In the wake of the massacre, the Lebanese Army entered refugee camps in west Beirut after an agreement between the IDF and Lebanese Army, and the IDF began withdrawing from other sections of West Beirut, the IDF spokesman announced in a 19 September Jerusalem radio report.

Israeli Reaction to Massacre -- The Israeli Cabinet said all accusations that the IDF has any responsibility for the massacres in Palestinian camps are "groundless." Reading the resolutions adopted by the Israeli Cabinet on 19 September over Jerusalem radio, the Cabinet secretary asserted that if the IDF had not intervened, the number of deaths would have been even higher. The resolutions declared that in an area "distant" from an IDF position, a "Lebanese unit" entered a Palestinian refugee camp and attacked civilians; immediately after learning of the killings, the IDF forced the unit to leave. The Cabinet expressed "deep regret" over the incident. According to radio reports, a "deep chasm" opened inside the Cabinet, though one Israeli source claimed there was no criticism of Defense Minister Ari'el Sharon at the Cabinet meeting.

Speaking at the Cabinet session, Prime Minister Menahem Begin revealed that the ministers knew about the plan for Phalangists to enter the camps and "purge" the "terrorists," but the outcome had not been expected, the radio said. In remarks reported by IDF radio, Begin stressed at the Cabinet meeting that the main issue now is to fight against the "libel" being waged against Israel. The radio revealed that the Cabinet also decided to allow UN observers into Beirut as per a Security Council resolution, although the Cabinet advised that it would be better to concentrate authority in the hands of the Lebanese Army instead of UNIFIL battalions. Jerusalem radio confirmed that the foreign minister will send a letter to his U.S. counterpart expressing agreement with the stationing of 40 UN observers.

In a meeting with the Israeli ambassador in Washington reported by Jerusalem radio, President Ronald Reagan expressed "horror" at the Beirut massacre and demanded the immediate withdrawal of the IDF from west Beirut and the rest of the city. The United States also urged the dispatch of UN observers to the area to prevent further tragedies. Reagan asserted that the Israelis claimed they would prevent such incidents, the radio said, and he emphasized that the IDF's presence prevented the Lebanese Army from establishing control over the city.

Israeli Chief of Staff Lt Gen Rafa'el Eytan accused "foreign elements" of preventing the IDF from conducting direct contacts with the Lebanese Army to coordinate military moves in west Beirut, Jerusalem radio reported. Military sources cited by the radio revealed that these elements are U.S. envoy Morris Draper and Lebanese Prime Minister Shafiq al-Wazzan, who held up these talks. Eytan opined that Haddad's militia was not involved in the massacre, and claimed that the IDF was not stationed at the camps so it was "impossible" to oversee Phalangist actions. He stated that the IDF will leave west Beirut when it has collected all the arms found there, and that no "terrorists" are left in west Beirut. Meanwhile, the IDF commander of the northern front asserted that responsibility for the camps rested with the Lebanese Government and that there were no incidents where Israeli soldiers were stationed, the radio reported.

Alignment members of the Knesset Foreign Affairs and Defense Committee announced in a resolution carried by ITIM that the prime minister and defense minister should resign immediately due to their responsibility for the events in Lebanon and for allowing the IDF into west Beirut. The Alignment expressed" outrage" at the massacre and called for the formation of a commission to investigate its causes.

Israeli police used tear gas to disperse a demonstration near Begin's residence in Jerusalem, which was organized because of the Beirut events by the Alignment, Knesset members and other groups, Jerusalem radio reported. The radio said another demonstration in Tel Aviv was also dispersed by the police.

Lebanese Christians on Massacre -- Phalangist Party Presidential candidate Amin al-Jumayyil, in a statement broadcast by Monte Carlo radio, denounced the massacre in west Beirut and claimed that the Phalangist and Lebanese forces had no connection whatsoever with these acts. The Lebanese Forces Command and the Phalangist Security Council likewise denied that their forces were responsible for the murders in the Palestinian camps, according to Voice of Lebanon radio. Meanwhile, in any address to the Lebanese people carried by Voice of Hope radio, Christian militia leader Major Haddad emphasized that none of his forces had been present in west Beirut, thus denying that his forces had any involvement in the massacre of Palestinians. He stressed that his forces do not kill Palestinians and alleged that the people who assassinated President-elect Bashir al-Jumayyil are also responsible for the massacre -- namely Lebanese "hands" instigated by Syria.

The Front for the Liberation of Lebanon From Foreigners claimed responsibility for the killings at Sabra and Shatila and said it will continue to fight against the presence of all foreigners in Lebanon, AFP reported. The announcement was made by an anonymous telephone caller.

Arab Reaction to Massacre -- Egypt urgently recalled its ambassador from Israel on 20 September, MENA reported. Earlier, Egyptian Foreign Minister Kamal Hasan 'Ali said Israel bears responsibility for the Beirut massacre and warned that Egypt might consider recalling its ambassador from Tel Aviv, according to MENA. Egypt also called on the United States to effect an immediate Israeli withdrawal from Beirut, return multinational forces to Beirut to supervise the transfer of power to the Lebanese authorities and prevent any exacerbation of the situation in the Al-Biqa' Valley and Tripoli, Cairo radio reported.

After discussing the killings during an 18 September meeting in Damascus, the PLO Executive Committee issued a statement calling for Israel's expulsion from the United Nations, the immediate withdrawal of Israeli troops from west Beirut and Lebanon and the return of the multinational force until a full Israeli withdrawal is achieved, according to San'a' Voice of Palestine radio. PLO Executive Committee Chairman Yasir 'Arafat met with Syrian President Hafiz al-Asad and also announced that in light of Israel's actions, "there is no peaceful settlement in the Middle East," KUNA reported.

Condemning the massacre, Lebanese Prime Minister al-Wazzan reiterated his request that the United States ensure the return of the multinational forces and take measures to obtain Israel's withdrawal from west Beirut and Lebanon, according to remarks broadcast by Beirut radio.

A 19 September Saudi Royal Court statement transmitted by SPA denounced the massacre "carried out by the Israeli forces and those who helped them." Saudi officials have called on the United States to shoulder its responsibilities and guarantee the safety of Palestinians in Lebanon, the statement noted. The Jordanian Council of Ministers likewise held Israel responsible for the killings and urged the U.S. Government to honor its pledges to protect the lives of Palestinian refugees in Lebanon, Amman radio reported.

Arab foreign ministers will discuss the massacre in a 21 September emergency meeting, according to INA.

Military Situation -- Israeli forces continued their advance into west Beirut on 17 September and succeeded in taking over the city despite resistance in some quarters, according to Beirut radio reports. Jerusalem radio said that the IDF took over Al-Murabitun's main headquarters and that the militia had agreed to stop fighting. Other reports by the radio on that day affirmed that Israeli forces had inadvertently penetrated into the Soviet Embassy compound on 15 September and that Israel apologized to the United States for shooting at a marine at the U.S. Embassy. On 18 September the IDF began collecting arms from Lebanese citizens and imposed a curfew on a number of quarters in west Beirut, Beirut radio announced. Another radio report asserted that the IDF broke into houses in search of weapons and killed one person when shooting at a crowd of demonstrators in Al-Bastah. The clandestine Radio Free Lebanon said the IDF is in complete control of west Beirut. Beirut radio reported that on 19 September Israeli soldiers continued to besiege quarters of west Beirut and entered Palestinian refugee camps; the radio also claimed that over 1,500 persons have been arrested by the IDF.

Clashes near Tripoli intensified after Palestinians attacked Lebanese Army positions and other targets in 'Araman, Radio Free Lebanon asserted. Ihdin "Free and Unified Lebanon" radio reported that a Higher Coordination Committee meeting on the incident called for an immediate end to the "siege."

Al-Wazzan on Security -- Lebanese Prime Minister al-Wazzan said in remarks reported by Beirut radio on 17 September that the IDF must withdraw from west Beirut to enable the Lebanese Army to perform its duties. He asserted that the IDF entry into Beirut has hindered the restoration of stability by internal security forces.

Presidential Elections -- Beirut radio reported that both former Lebanese President Camille Sham'un and Raymond Iddih, head of the Lebanese National Bloc in Paris, have announced their candidacy for president, with Iddih calling for the withdrawal of Syrian and Israeli forces. According to the radio, Iddih called for a postponement of the elections until the Israeli forces leave Beirut and for the convening of an Arab summit to discuss the massacre. According to the radio, former President Camille Sham'un also had announced his candidacy but the clandestine Radio Free Lebanon later reported that he had decided not to run. Amin al-Jumyyil has received support for his candidacy from the Amal movement, the mufti of Lebanon and from the deputy chairman of the Higher Shi'ite Council, according to Voice of Lebanon radio reports. Meanwhile, AFP reported that Lebanese National Movement leader Walid Junblatt has decided to support Iddih for president. The Voice of Lebanon radio announced that the Chamber of Deputies will meet on 21 September to elect a new president.

Israeli Denial of Al-Jumayyil Killing -- An Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman labeled any person who claims that Israel was responsible for the assassination of Lebanese President-elect Bashir al-Jumayyil as "mentally ill and malicious," Jerusalem television reported.

Sharon on Lebanon, Syria -- Israeli Defense Minister Sharon told correspondents in an 18 September interview carried by Jerusalem radio that the IDF entered west Beirut because it had information that the 2,000 remaining "terrorists" might have been preparing to repartition the city and recreate a new "terrorist" infrastructure. He asserted that although Israel is not Lebanon's policeman, the IDF had already saved Beirut twice. Sharon insisted that Israel's ability to interfere in Lebanese politics is limited but that it is interested in a Lebanese Government that would insist on Syria's withdrawal from Lebanon. He also stressed the importance of a peace treaty between Lebanon and Israel and indicated that he did not foresee a war with Syria in view of the threat to Damascus by Israeli guns.

Egypt

The paper AL-JUMHURIYAH revealed that 58 people have been arrested in accordance with the Emergency Law on charges of attempting to overthrow the government and establish a secret opposition organization, MENA reported.

Iran-Iraq War

The Iranian Guards Corps, in a statement carried by Tehran radio on 18 September, announced that 16 guerrilla groups attacked enemy positions inside Iraq, killing over 300 Iraqi troops and wounding over 380. An Iraqi military communique carried by INA that day reported that shelling of Iranian positions in the central sector resulted in 48 Iranians dead. Meanwhile, an Iraqi military spokesman cited by INA denied that an Iraqi MiG-25 had been shot down on 16 September as claimed by the Iranians, adding that there was no air activity in the southern sector that day.

AFP: SOVIET FORCES USE LETHAL GAS IN LOWGAR

OW191825 Hong Kong AFP in English 1810 GMT 19 Sep 82

[Text] Peshawar, Pakistan, Sept. 19 (AFP) -- Up to 60 Afghans reportedly died last week when Soviet forces injected lethal gas into a water reservoir where Moslem rebels had taken refuge in Lowgar Province, south of Kabul, resistance sources here said today.

According to two versions of the incident, Soviet forces attempting to round up Afghans suspected of evading the draft surrounded Padkhwabe village with armored vehicles last Tuesday.

Some 30 mujahidin fighters who were short of munitions and some of the villagers, including women and children, had fled into the reservoir when the Soviets began pumping in poison gas, the sources said.

According to one of the mujahidin, a witness to the incident who arrived here yesterday, the bodies removed from the reservoir were decomposed to the point that they fell apart if touched.

KARMAL SPEECH TO MILITARY IN BALKH PROVINCE

LD181628 Kabul Domestic Service in Dari 1630 GMT 17 Sep 82

[Speech delivered by Babrak Karmal, general secretary of the PDPA Central Committee and chairman of the Revolutionary Council, during his visit to the 18th Infantry Division of Mazar-e Sharif, Balkh Province, on 15 September -- recorded]

[Excerpts] Comrades, officers and commanders, NCO's and also the heroic, courageous and devout troops of the proud 18th Division of Afghanistan's Armed Forces: [applause]

First allow me to convey the military and revolutionary greetings of the government and party leadership authorities, as well as the warm, profound, fraternal greetings of your cofighter -- that is to say myself -- to you and through you to all men and NCO's of the heroic 18th Division. [applause]

The heroic honor of our 18th Division is such that Comrade Col (Abdol Qodus Rashid), commander of the division, has been promoted to the rank of brigadier general by the DRA Presidium authorities. [applause]

It is a great pleasure for me to meet the troops, NCO's and courageous and heroic officers of the 18th Infantry Division of Mazar-e Sharif.

The troops of the 18th Division, as other personnel of the heroic and devout armed forces, have taken an active and heroic part in the combatant operations against the counterrevolutionary bands. By inflicting crushing blows, the troops have provided suitable conditions for the consolidation of the national government and the confident defense of the gains of the April Revolution. Hence, with the help of officers, NCO's and courageous troops, in honor of bravery, courage and self-sacrifice displayed during the difficult struggle against the filthy forces of the rebels, you will be receiving state medals.

[Word indistinct] and all the noble and brave people of Afghanistan are proud of your unprecedented heroism.

The construction of a new life in the DRA is taking place in tense international political and military conditions.

The occupation forces of U.S. imperialism are trying to divert international relations from the true path of reducing tension, in order to fan [words indistinct].

At the present time the actual combatant power of NATO has been increased. Japan, China and Pakistan [words indistinct] are arming themselves.

The demonic Israeli aggressors are committing barbarous actions in Lebanon. International imperialism does not give up its efforts to use the so-called Afghanistan issue for the intensification of international tensions.

The imperialist forces, led by U.S. imperialism in collusion with its henchmen, have unleashed an undeclared war against Afghanistan. [Words indistinct] with the backing of evil forces, are arming and training the evil (?band) of counterrevolution and are making them terrorize and murder our noble people. By committing numerous crimes, such as killing innocent people, annoyance and torture, setting fire to mosques and schools, these evildoers are trampling on the principles of the sacred religion of Islam.

At present, under the crimes of the ringleaders of the counterrevolutionary bands, the warm blood of the martyred sons of our freedom-loving and toiling people is shed. Members of the counterrevolutionary organizations have already destroyed many schools, causing 235 million afghanis worth of damage. They have removed the possibility of education for approximately 150,000 students. They have burned down 30 hospitals, while much need is felt in the country for hospitals, doctors and an improvement of the public health. They kill teachers, whose only fault is making the sons of the country literate. The robbers are killing the clergy, whose only fault is that they have properly perceived the gains of the April Revolution and have supported the national government.

The counterrevolutionary elements are trying to create an atmosphere of terror and panic. They are trying to topple the revolutionary government and to bring back the regime of feudal lords, oppressors, exploitors and despotism.

The PDPA Central Committee and the Revolutionary Council, despite these conditions, is unflinchingly following its principled policy for the total elimination of the counterrevolution, for improving the material conditions of the toilers' life and for the all-round development of [words indistinct] the inhabitants of this country.

It must be added that all the noble people of Afghanistan have accepted the resolutions of their heroic and revolutionary party as their [word indistinct] program.

We are satisfied by the fact that despite the destructive actions of the enemies, the conspiracies and intrigues of the enemies, the positions and prestige of the DRA are strengthening in both the national and international arena.

We have improved our fraternal relations with our great neighbor, the USSR, this earnest and reliable friend, and with all socialist countries in new qualitative stages.

Comrades, troops, NCO's and noble, patriotic, heroic and revolutionary officers: The consolidation of the country's defensive powers and its armed forces is one of the main aspects of the PDPA Central Committee and Politburo activities. As a result of the continuous attention of the party, revolutionary and popular government, the country's armed forces have been improved. They are equipped with modern and [word indistinct]. They have every material means available and they make a crushing power against the enemies of the revolution.

The decree of the Revolutionary Council regarding the changes in the conscription period and also concerning the additional privileges for the personnel and [words indistinct] is new evidence of the continuous attention of the party and government toward the armed defenders of the country. As you know, according to the abovementioned decree, the service period in the armed forces has been extended to 3 years. This step has a temporary [word indistinct] and an unbreakable relation with the desire, will and demand of the people for the further severe crushing of the counterrevolutionary bands and for maintaining a peaceful life. In the meantime, the government will provide privileges to military personnel.

The troops of the armed forces have welcomed and supported the efforts and measures of the party and government. Realizing the attention of the party and government, they unsparingly place themselves in the service of the fatherland and its noble and toiling people. They are fighting, with [word indistinct] and sacrifice, for the honor, independence, territorial integrity and prosperity of Afghanistan. Since the imperialist and reactionary forces are continuing the undeclared war against the DRA and the counterrevolutionary bands have not (?yet) laid down their arms, the consolidation of the country's defensive power and the strengthening of the combat abilities of the large units and companies of the army is and will be one of the first duties of the party, people and the armed forces.

As you know, improving the combat abilities of the army must not be of a temporary or (?slow) nature. The combat abilities of the armed forces should be continuously improved. Today we live in a situation and under conditions of the counterrevolutionary forces, international reaction, imperialism and Chinese hegemonism striving together to eliminate our national democratic liberation revolution -- this anti-imperialism and antifeudal revolution. So Afghanistan, with the help of the great Soviet Union, our true friend, must have a ready, liberating, crushing and strong armed forces to fight against external aggressors. [applause]

The mastering and effective use of weapons and other accessories comprises one of the most important duties of the troops of the armed forces. The weapon and combat technique is [words indistinct] of the combat abilities of the large units and companies. The weapons will only be effective when used by a skilled and experienced hand. The weapon must be cared for with honor, pride and conscience. [applause]

Let me, on behalf of the PDPA Central Committee, hope that the brave and heroic troops of the 18th Infantry Division will also in the future fulfill the sacred duties toward their revolutionary homeland, will bravely defend the historic gains of the April Revolution and will pave the [word indistinct] for the construction of the new society and a new Afghanistan.

Long live the victorious April Revolution.

Long live the PDPA, this force of our [word indistinct] victories, this political vanguard of the toiling and free people of our beloved Afghanistan.

Eternal pride to our heroic armed forces and also to our heroic 18th Division. [applause]

We will pay special attention to the consolidation of friendship between the USSR and Afghanistan. The USSR provides us with all-round and dinsinterested assistance. As a result of this assistance the country's economy, science, art and education are developing. The military and technical ability of the armed forces is being increasingly (?strengthened) as well as their combatant and defensive capability.

This fraternal friendship is the guarantor of the final victory of the April Revolution, the international security of the DRA, its freedom and independence and the construction of a new life in the new and proud Afghanistan.

KARMAL PRAISES SOVIET SUPPORT IN BALKH SPEECH

LD190014 Kabul Domestic Service in Dari 1620 GMT 18 Sep 82

[Speech by President Babrak Karmal during his visit to Mazar-e Sharif -- date not given -- recorded]

[Excerpts] Dear compatriots, sisters, brothers and comrades: First of all I convey to you the warm, revolutionary and patriotic greetings from the party leadership authorities, PDPA Politburo, Revolutionary Council Presidium, the DRA Government, and also from myself to you and through you to all compatriots and to all inhabitants of the proud and historic Balkh Province, citizens of Mazar-e Sharif, all tribes and nationalities of Afghanistan. [applause]

Comrade and friends: Under the leadership of the PDPA and in accordance with the real and historic will of the people of Afghanistan, with the assistance of the heroic and liberating Armed Forces of Afghanistan, for the first time, during the history of the country, a resurrection took place under the name of the April Revolution. [applause]

Counterrevolutionary forces -- the enemies of progress, freedom and independence of proud Afghanistan -- reaction, imperialism -- led by world-devouring U.S. imperialism -- Chinese hegemonism and the world's reactionaries are endeavoring to distort and overturn the real nature of the proud April Revolution, that is the national and democratic revolution of Afghanistan, through accusations and slanderous propaganda. But now the people of Afghanistan have reached that stage of political, class and patriotic conscientiousness that no longer will they be deceived by the slanderous propaganda of the enemies and counterrevolution. [applause]

Dear compatriots and comrades: Today black reaction, that old enemy of Afghanistan -- yesterday in the feature of the British, today in the satanic mask and misuse of the sacred religion of Islam -- wants to struggle against the revolution of Afghanistan with all possibilities and power. But now that their masks have been removed, how can U.S. imperialism be the defender of Islam? This defender of Islam, with the backing and encouragement of the Government of Israel's Zionists, has taken a position against all the tenets of Islam, in the Middle East, in Lebanon, Palestine and the holy places. How can they claim that in Afghanistan they are the defender of Islam?

I am saying it clearly and with a loud voice, on behalf of the party, government and state, and also on behalf of the toiling, religious and Muslim people of Afghanistan, that Islam in Afghanistan is stronger, more proud and more confident than anywhere else in the world. [applause]

The last point that I want to emphasize is this: That our liberating revolution will become victorious. Despite the fact that by its nature it is invincible, we are temporarily facing difficulties and problems. We admit here that the party, government have still not been completely successful in accomplishing their sacred national and patriotic duties and obligations [words indistinct]. Crushing the rebels, the elimination of the last remnant of the counterrevolution, rebels and terrorists, under the present circumstances, is regarded as the first, immediate and major duty. We must, in the first stage, secure peace and calm in the country by understanding and talks and conciliation, or if the rebels are not prepared for this, by the power and ability of the heroic armed forces of the country [word indistinct] party activists, by the will of the people of Afghanistan and by the might of the force, we must eliminate these traitors. [applause]

Why compatriots? Because the road that we follow and our revolution is just. As a Muslim, this is the will of God that our revolution should become victorious. [applause]

Now a strong, determined and united party is the vanguard of the heroic and toiling people of Afghanistan. The other main and decisive factor in the victory of our revolution, the aspiration of our people, our party and our National Fatherland Front [NFF] is that we have a great and strong friend in the world and that is the Soviet Union which until now. [sentence as heard] This place, where we are, is the symbol of aid and friendship of the Soviet Union. The Soviet Union has always been with the people of Afghanistan and has been always the guarantor and defender of the freedom, independence, prosperity and progress of Afghanistan. [applause]

Friends, comrades, compatriots, sisters and brothers, the residents of Balkh Province and Mazar-e Sharif: One of the other secrets of the victory is the slogan with which I will end my speech: Long live the unity of the party with the toiling people of Afghanistan; long live the unity of the party, social organizations and all people of Afghanistan under the banner of the NFF, long live [as heard].

KARMAL ADDRESSES PAKTIA PROVINCE ELDERS

LD192336 Kabul Domestic Service in Dari 1600 GMT 19 Sep 82

[Excerpts] Babrak Karmal, general secretary of the PDPA Central Committee and chairman of the DRA Revolutionary Council today received elders and representatives of the Mangal, Zazi, Chamkani, Tuta Khel, Khosti, Gardezi, Moqbel, Zormat, Sayd Karam and Ahmadzai tribes of the Paktia Province in the Revolutionary Council headquarters ground.

Addressing them, Babrak Karmal said:

Dear brothers, esteemed compatriots and representatives of the courageous tribes and clans of Paktia Province: First, I welcome you to Kabul, and in particular to the Revolutionary Council headquarters, on behalf of the PDPA Central Committee, the Revolutionary Council Presidium, the Government and the DRA state, and on my own behalf.

Babrak Karmal added: The convention of tribal assemblies is one of the laudable and historical traditions, customs and principles of our people by which they settle issues and problems. Ours and yours today is in fact a tribal assembly for exchanging views and for putting forward our demands and wishes for discussions.

He added: You are aware that kings and despotic sultans lived here and a great distance existed between them and the people. But this gulf, following the April Revolution, with the will of the Almighty God, has been eliminated forever. Babrak Karmal added: Your party, your government, your National Fatherland Front [NFF] and your revolutionary government have sworn before their great and Almighty God that they should be the true and sincere servants of their people and their homeland, not to ignore, even for a moment, the interests and prosperity of the persecuted and oppressed people of this land.

Your state and government have very clear aspirations: We want oppression, atrocities, injustice and unfairness, which were inflicted upon all of us in the past, to be eradicated. And such a society can be created, based on the foundations of the sacred religion of Islam, with all tribes, clans and nationalities enjoying complete freedom in performing their traditions, customs and beliefs. It is the duty of the party and government to provide these conditions, as a result of which all people of Afghanistan will live in a prosperous, progressive and developed society.

After pointing out the courageous and heroic struggles of the heroic people of Afghanistan, in particular the courageous and brave people of Paktia Province, against British colonialism, Babrak Karmal said: Those who with unity and solidarity have driven out the British colonialist from their sacred land are undoubtedly able, with firm solidarity and unity, to deal shattering blows to the American and Chinese aggressors who, through mercenary servants, encroach upon our sacred lands.

Babrak Karmal added: The state and government is capable of eliminating within a very short time, with the force of guns, the servants and agents of imperialism, headed by U.S. imperialism, Chinese hegemonism and other reactionaries. But the government desires that innocent people should not be harmed and that issues should be settled through tribal assemblies, conciliation and an atmosphere of peace and tranquillity.

Babrak Karmal said: The foreign policy of the DRA is based on peace. We want peace. We desire that all disputes with Pakistan and Iran should be settled through talks and peace.

Clearly explaining the need for urgent assistance of the USSR toward safeguarding the territorial integrity, national independence and national sovereignty of our country, Babrak Karmal said: The plan of imperialism, through its special agent and representative, Hafizollah Amin, who had weakened the party and government, was to dismember Afghanistan and an atmosphere was created by which they could have easily implemented their plan. But it was the true and sincere friend of Afghanistan, the Soviet Union, which complied with the request of the legal Government of Afghanistan and put at our disposal military assistance to safeguard independence, national sovereignty and the territorial integrity of Afghanistan.

Babrak Karmal added: Every individual of this land wishes for a secure and peaceful atmosphere and a prosperous society in which to live; for agricultural produce to increase; for peasants to have land; for the people to have bread and clothing; these are all aspirations of your party and government. Thus, now our major and important task is to create, first in Afghanistan, complete peace and security.

In conclusion, Babrak Karmal asked the elders and representatives of the people of Paktia Province to put forward their views, proposals and criticisms.

A BAKHTAR correspondent reports that Haji Qandahari, chairman of the Paktia NFF; Solayman Khel and Mawlawi Gola Jan, on behalf of the others, put forward a series of proposals and views. They expressed complete and resolute support for the aims and aspirations of the party, state and DRA Government, under the leadership of Babrak Karmal, general secretary of the PDPA Central Committee and chairman of the DRA Revolutionary Council. In their speeches, they said that the people of Paktia now realize that the DRA state and government truly serve the interests of the people; they said they will defend the gains of the national democratic revolution with complete unity, solidarity and any sacrifice.

AFP: CASTRO SENDS MESSAGE TO GANDHI ON SUMMIT

BK180712 Hong Kong AFP in English 0554 GMT 18 Sep 82

[Text] New Delhi, Sept. 18 (AFP) -- Cuban leader Fidel Castro, current chairman of the Non-aligned Movement, has informed India that member nations have agreed to hold their seventh summit in New Delhi, Indian news agencies reported today.

The message was addressed to Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and delivered yesterday to the Indian ambassador in Havana, the Press Trust of India (PTI) said. The United News of India [UNI] said a formal announcement would be made in Havana on Monday.

Mr. Castro had sought the opinion of the 97 Non-aligned Movement member nations on the proposal to shift the summit venue from the Iraqi capital Baghdad to New Delhi.

Iran, currently at war with its neighbour Iraq, had vehemently opposed Baghdad as the venue for the summit, which informed sources here said is likely to be held the first week of March.

India announced it would hold the summit provided there was consensus among the member nations. That prompted Mr. Castro to ask individual countries to express their opinion.

UNI, quoting diplomatic sources in New York, said the non-aligned countries unanimously approved the choice of New Delhi for the summit.

According to a tentative programme, foreign ministers of the member nations will meet here on October 4-5 to discuss the summit agenda and complete formalities, the reports said.

COMMENTATOR VIEWS ECONOMIC RELATIONS WITH USSR

BK171445 Delhi General Overseas Service in English 1340 GMT 17 Sep 82

[Commentary by Girish Mathur]

[Text] Nothing brings out the depth of the Indo-Soviet relationship more than the cooperation extended by the Soviet Union to build the base for industrialization in India. Soviet economic cooperation with India began with the second 5-year plan; in the 27 years since then, nearly 85 projects in ferrous and nonferrous metallurgy, oil, oil processing, coal, pharmaceuticals, machine building, agriculture and science and education have been completed or are being completed. They have helped strengthen the economic independence of India. They have also enabled the country to weather many a storm so that today it has now installed capacity to produce up to 13.5 million tons of steel, 100,000 tons of aluminum, 65 million tons of iron ore, 13 million tons of oil, about 47 million tons of coal and 125,000 tons of metallurgical, mining and other industrial equipment; manufacture electrical equipment for 2.7 million kilowatts of total power generation; produce medicines, instruments and other products; and provide employment to a large number of people.

In the field of trade, too, India is today the biggest partner of the Soviet Union among the developing countries. The first trade agreement was signed in 1953. Since then the total turnover has increased from 13 million rupees to over 23 billion rupees in 1981, and Indo-Soviet trade has kept pace with the change in character of the Indian economy so that industrial products, both finished and intermediate, now constitute 70 percent of India's exports to the Soviet Union.

Based on this rich and fruitful experience of nearly 2 and 1/2 decades of economic and technical cooperation, India and the Soviet Union adopted a long-term program of economic, trade, scientific and technical cooperation on 14 March 1979 which has no parallel in the relations between a developed and a developing country. This itself signifies a new stage in the Indo-Soviet relationship.

Apart from traditional areas, the program covers cooperation in light industries, including food processing, pulp and paper, construction materials, irrigation and the like. New technology is to be introduced, metallurgy and scientific research is to be expanded and trade is to be diversified and increased in quantitative terms. Already, 40 Soviet and 26 Indian research organizations are at work on 53 projects, and India will supply 500-million-rupees worth of finished products from the Soviet-aided machine-building projects between 1982 and 1984 for use both in the Soviet Union and Soviet-aided projects in third countries. India's high-yielding variety of wheat, kalyansona, and castor seed plant are being cultivated in the Soviet Union.

There are no outstanding problems between India and the Soviet Union, and problems of bilateral cooperation would have been thrashed out at the meeting of the joint commission at Moscow before Prime Minister Mrs Indira Gandhi reaches there. Thus, Mrs Gandhi and the Soviet leadership will be able to devote themselves to a review of the situation in the world and in the immediate neighborhood of the two countries. Despite divergence of views on Afghanistan, there is hardly any difference between India and Soviet position on any international or regional problem. The visit, therefore, will further strengthen the historical bonds between the two nations.

AFP: 'PARALLEL GOVERNMENT' FORMED IN TRIPURA

BK180943 Hong Kong AFP in English 0848 GMT 18 Sep 82

[By Dilip Ganguly]

[Excerpt] New Delhi, Sept 18 (AFP) -- Tribal insurgents in India's communist-ruled Tripura state in the strategic northeast have formed a parallel government and are gearing up for showdown with the state administration and the federal army, the insurgents said in a statement mailed to journalists today. The statement, issued by the "government of the people's republic of Tripura," claimed support of extremist organizations in the six other northeastern states which are also troubled by autonomy demand and insurgency, and vouched that "we have decided to fight to the end for an independent Tripura."

The Federal Interior Ministry, which yesterday declared part of the 10,000 square kilometre Tripura state as a disturbed area and endowed the army with sweeping powers to maintain law and order there, refused to comment on the statement. The formation of the "government" comes in the wake of reports of violence in the state, culminating in last month's looting of police armoury and attacks on government officials. Tripura's 600,000 tribals have been demanding more autonomy and less domination by the 1.2 million non-tribals, mostly Hindu migrants from erstwhile East Pakistan, now Bangladesh.

Independent analysts preferred not to comment on the seriousness of the situation following the formation of the "parallel government." "It is a little early to comment. We have to see how serious the insurgents are and what support they enjoy," said an analyst who helps the federal government in policy making and asked not to be identified.

ARMY EMPOWERED TO COUNTER INSURGENCY IN TRIPURA

BK171730 Hong Kong AFP in English 1642 GMT 17 Sep 82

[Excerpt] New Delhi, Sept. 17 (AFP) -- The federal Indian Government today empowered the army with special authorities to move into parts of the communist-ruled Tripura state in the strategic north-east to counter growing tribal insurgency and maintain law and order. In a notification issued here today, Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's administration declared parts of the 10,000 square kms state as "disturbed area" and said "the areas are in such a dangerous condition that the use of armed forces in aid of the civil power has become necessary."

The army now has the power to conduct house-to-house searches, arrest people without warrant or assigning any reason, keep suspects in prison wihtout trial for six months and demolish any houses or structure considered dangerous.

FOREIGN MINISTRY STATEMENT ON BEIRUT MASSACRE

LD182220 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 2030 GMT 18 Sep 82

[Text] The Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Islamic Republic of Iran, condemning the savage operations of the Zionist regime in bombing west Beirut, issued a statement tonight. The text of the statement, which was put at IRNA's disposal, is as follows:

In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. "Israel should be annihilated" -- Imam Khomeyni.

The Zionist criminals, after several months of their savageries in southern Lebanon and in spite of their false promises that they would not occupy western Beirut, once they saw the anger of the Muslim nations and the revolutionary execution of their puppet Bashir al-Jumayyil, and carried away with the outcome and the disgraceful result of the Arab summit conference in Fes, Morocco, carried out another aggression and another crime.

America and the regime occupying Al-Quds, weak and desperate because of their efforts to resist the demands of the millions-strong masses of the Arabs and Muslims, having lost hope of imposing complete acceptance of a mercenary pawn like Bashir al-Jumayyil and angered because of this revolutionary act, which was a blow to the corpse of the disgraceful and shameful resolutions of Fes and a [word indistinct] answer to the subservient Arab leaders, savagely attacked west Beirut and, with the help of Phalangist mercenaries, slaughtered hundreds of defenseless and unarmed women, men and children of Palestine and Lebanon.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Islamic Republic of Iran, while condemning the continuation of Zionist aggression and the occupation of west Beirut and the merciless slaughter of the innocent Muslim Palestinian and Lebanese people announces that:

1. The Zionist regime, following its strategy to occupy the lands between the Nile and the Euphrates, will not stop for a moment; and compromising efforts like the Fes conference will always be answered with such replies by Zionism.

2. The annihilation of As-Sadats and Al-Jumayyils will never end the revolutionary anger of the struggling community of Islam, and no doubt the continuation of aggression and crimes by the Zionist regime and treacherous acts of the reactionary allies of imperialism and Zionism in the region will intensify such vengeful acts.

KHOMEYNI LINKS BEIRUT MASSACRE TO FES SUMMIT

LD191704 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 19 Sep 82

[Speech by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeyni to officials of the Ministries of Education and Training and Culture and Higher Education, university lecturers, and Hoseyniyeh Jamaran staff in Tehran on 19 September -- recorded, duration 57 minutes]

[Excerpts] In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. Today we see the faces of honorable theologians, lecturers from universities and seminaries.

I hope that you gentlemen, university lecturers, theologians and seminarians maintain your links. One of the treasons committed against this country was to separate seminaries from universities. Lecturers were afraid of theologians and thought them to be [word indistinct] and emptyheaded and know nothing. Theologians were afraid of university staff in turn and believed that they were all atheists. When there is understanding, I think that today it is not true anymore. When the theologians are admitted to universities and the university lecturers go to seminaries, it is then that they understand the crime that has been committed in this country.

Today we are suffering from the thinkers of the two superpowers because they are corrupt and [evil] thinkers. This is our grievance against the Islamic countries. You are aware of what happened in Fes and what Israel did afterward. There has been too much talk about it, and I do not wish to repeat it here. I would like to say something about the seventh article, which some of these countries claim does not recognize Israel. Is Israel not recognized? Or has Israel just been recognized superficially?

When Islamic countries get together and ask the UN Security Council to come and restore security in all the countries of the region, is Israel not one of the countries of the region? Yes, it is. If so, is it exempted here? The Fes conference [words indistinct] and it is one of the countries of the region. When you said that Israel, just like Hijaz and Lebanon and all other places, should be protected and its security guarded so that if one country attacks another the Security Council would stop it, this means that if one country tries to deal a blow to Israel, if one country tries to act against Israel, then the Security Council, sanctioned by all these gentlemen who gathered at Fes, should stop it. This is like insuring Israel in addition to recognizing it. To recognize it would be to accept it as another country, and no one would have anything to do with you. Not only did they recognize it, they also insured Israel.

What did Israel do afterward? Afterward, at the Israeli Knesset it was said that this plan is not even worth studying; it is not even worth reading. Then following this Israel committed two crimes in Beirut -- one of them just recently. According to these gentlemen, America has referred to these crimes as butchery. You should realize that if America says this is butchery, if the leader of the butchers says it is butchery, what is there to say about what has happened? This innocent nation of Lebanon, in Beirut, what have they done to these people? What is going on? Those gentlemen insured the country which [word indistinct].

I would like to say that if Israel has made one true statement in all its lifetime it is that this agreement is not even worth reading. [shouts of "God is great"] These gentlement who gathered together insured Israel [words indistinct]. They insured Israel and recognized it. Whether the claims made by Israel are false or true, the claim that this agreement is not worth glancing at is true.

Why is it not worth glancing at? Because those who signed it are not worthy people. If they were, could Israel say such a thing, such an insult, which, if said by one person to another -- what you say is not worth listening to, or the points you are making are not worth bothering about -- would make the other an enemy for the rest of his life. These gentlemen took the side of the people who have thus insulted them and have thus set Beirut and southern Lebanon ablaze.

Even now, it is not allowed to say "Death to Israel" in Hijaz. Pilgrims who want to complain to God in His house complain to the prophet of Islam, but they are told to keep quiet. Oh, you (?people) of God, you are beaten up, you are killed, but you are not allowed to breathe. Is this not like insuring Israel? But Israel does not consider you worthy. God Almighty does not place any value on this agreement, and does not consider this agreement worth mentioning.

Now, in support of America and Israel, the police of Hijaz have arrested our youths, our old men, women and children and have returned some of them. What is it all about? Are they not Muslims? What did they say? They just said "Death to America," "Death to Soviet" [Khomeyni does not complete the name], "Death to Israel." They do not know how to carry God's justice. Have they not gone there to pray to God? What have they done which is not a prayer to God? They say "Death to Israel." What is Israel? Is it our friend? Is it a friend when it says that your words are not worth listening to? Is this a friend or a boss? Even America has never said such a thing to you. With all its might, America has never said that the words of a group who all claim to be [word indistinct] is not worth listening to, that their plan is not worth anything, not worth listening to. Even America has never said anything like that. How have you come to accept it from Israel? Now you should expect disgrace in this world and the next.

Our nation should be steadfast. Our universities, our seminaries, our armed forces and the rest should be steadfast. Steadfastness will ensure the continuation of our revolution, this movement, and will help it to penetrate other countries. [shouts of "God is great" and other slogans]

If you see that there is loss of hope in this movement among people, and in the masses of the people, then you should realize that steadfastness is disappearing, or that there is no steadfastness at all. You should try to help the masses remain steadfast in this movement they have started. But you should not be a disloyal companion. You should not abandon the cause halfway. It is imperative that we should continue this divine mission. Our nation has stood by its revolution up to now; and, by the grace of God, it has been victorious up to now. You are victorious in the world. You are taken into account by the world. In all corners of the world the governments of the world fear you; they are frightened that their nations might become like you. You have been victorious up to now. Remain steadfast until the final victory is achieved.

God Almighty is with you and you should remain with Him. May God Almighty grant health to our nation, to the government, to this Majlis, this president and to these ministers so that they can serve the nation. You students and you professors who educate the students, the teachers of the seminaries who teach others, may God save you all for the nation. May God grant prosperity and success to our nation and provide for them in this world and the next. Peace be upon you all.

MUSAVI DECLARES PUBLIC MOURNING FOR BEIRUT

LD191236 Tehran Domestic Services in Persian 1030 GMT 19 Sep 82

[Text] The Central News Unit reports that following the savage inhuman slaughter of Lebanese Muslims by the occupying regime of Jerusalem, which was aimed at crushing and annihilating the Muslims in their ceaseless fight against America, criminal Zionism and their reactionary allies in the region, a statement was issued by Prime Minister Mir-Hoseyn Musavi, in which he declares tomorrow as a day of public mourning for the entire country.

The statement says: The merciless slaughter of the deprived and innocent people of Lebanon by the terrorists ruling over the occupied land of Palestine has assumed new dimensions. Criminal U.S. imperialism and its rightful descendant, the usurping Zionists, have created a terrifying crime in Beirut where the tragedies of (Dayr Yasin) and (Kufr Qasim) are repeated on a far larger scale right in the center of an Arab Islamic country. If the slaughter of innocent Palestinians in outlying villages like (Dayr Yasin) remained unheard-of for a time and nobody was informed about it, this time criminal Zionism has attempted a mass slaughter of defenseless children, men and women before the eyes of the world. The reports received talk of a terrifying tragedy unrivaled in history. Menahem Begin, that criminal terrorist who until recently used to kill innocent people in the occupied lands, today, relying on the arch-Satan and world-devouring America, is boldly encouraged by the abject silence of the leaders of the Islamic and Arab countries to do as he wishes in Beirut. The Islamic governments' ghostly silence is the best (?approval) for America and the usurping Zionist regime to slaughter the people who are guilty of only believing in Islam.

The depth of this tragedy is only realized when we consider that today the Arab countries could end all these disgraceful incidents by turning off their oil taps to America and the West. We are sure that if treacherous and subservient governments did not try to block the way of the Muslim nations by weapons bought with the wealth of Muslims, this corrupt tumor called Israel would have been uprooted from this region of the world a long time ago. The Government of the Islamic Republic of Iran wishes to express its condolences to the presence of the hidden imam, may our souls be sacrificed for him, to our esteemed imam and to the Muslims of the world. On the same occasion tomorrow, Monday, 20 September, is announced as a day of public mourning.

[Signed] Mir-Hoseyn Musavi, prime minister of the Islamic Republic of Iran

MONTAZERI VIEWS LEBANON SITUATION, IRAQ WAR

LD181322 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 18 Sep 82

[Text] The Central News Unit reports that Colonel Sayyad-Shirazi, commander of the Ground Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran, together with one of his deputies and the responsible head of the political-ideological department of the ground forces, met and talked with His Great Eminence Ayatollah Montazeri. Referring to the explosion of the Phalangist's building in Lebanon and the killing of Bashir al-Jumayyil, he said: That incident should serve as a lesson for the world-devouring superpowers and should show them that they cannot chain nations by force and imposition. So long as a government lacks a popular base, sooner or later, willingly or otherwise, it will be toppled by the nation.

His Great Eminence Ayatollah Montazeri added: The fate of As-Sadats and Al-Jumayyils should be an instructive lesson for the reactionary heads of the Arab countries who have stood against their nations and are silencing and crushing them with the force of bayonets in order to secure the interests of their colonialist masters.

In connection with the Zionists' entry into Lebanon, His Great Eminence Ayatollah Montazeri said: Since the Zionist enemy has physically entered the Islamic state of Lebanon, it behoves the Muslims to take the opportunity to encircle them and deliver the coup de grace. This is because the Muslims would never have believed that the Zionists would violate their homes and create all that devastation and killing while the Islamic nation remains quiet, not saying a word.

Continuing his speech, His Great Eminence Ayatollah Montazeri, referring to the self-sacrificing and zealous young men welcoming their dispatch to the fronts, said: We should utilize these faithful forces and, relying on Almighty God, deliver the final blow to the Zionist, Ba'thist regime of Iraq. Negligence in war is in the enemy's interests and to the Muslims' detriment and causes the enemy to add to its armaments and military capabilities and expand the scope of its aggression.

This morning Mr Gharazi, minister of oil, also met and had talks with His Great Eminence Ayatollah Montazeri. During this meeting His Great Eminence Ayatollah Montazeri gave guidelines about the need to expand and secure fuels, particularly the fuels farmers need to improve agriculture.

Referring to the war imposed by Iraq on Iran, His Great Eminence Ayatollah Montazeri said: So long as our primary conditions regarding pushing the aggressive forces out, the payment of indemnities and the trial of the aggressor have not been realized, we should continue the war.

KHOMEYNI SPEAKS ON TELECOMMUNICATIONS TASKS

LD181256 Terhan Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 18 Sep 82

[Text] Imam Khomeyni, leader of the revolution and founder of the Islamic Republic of Iran, received this morning Mr Morteza Nabavi, post, telegraph and telephone minister, accompanied by the managing director and the managing council of the telecommunications company. During this audience, Mr Nabavi first offered his condolences of the martyrdom of Imam Mohammad Taqi, may peace be upon him, and presented a report to the imam of the Islamic nation concerning the achievements of the telecommunications company. Afterward Imam Khomeyni made a speech. He said:

In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. I also offer my condolences to you on the occasion of the martyrdom of Imam Mohammad Taqi, may peace be upon him. In your remarks, there was a point indicating that the gentlemen in the telecommunications company are now carrying out the tasks which foreigners have previously done.

We should be very distressed at the damages inflicted upon us during the reign of these two criminals [the shah and his father]. If they had allowed the people and scholars to run affairs and encouraged people, our country would have not been in this state. We should now seize the opportunity to work for Islam and the Islamic country, and we should not waste our lives.

Today the people are aware of the government's situation, and you need the people to support you. Without the people's backing, the government cannot work. Every ministry and office should bear this issue in mind, and they should keep the people happy for the sake of God. If you go through the 50 years history of the [Pahlavi] reign you will understand what it means to have the nation's support, and what it means if the nation does not support you; you will know your duty. We all must strive to serve the masses which have been deprived through history. The government must give priority to these masses, it should encourage talented brains, and should take the opportunity to encourage those individuals who are able to carry out expert tasks. Then gradually we shall reach a stage where we will not need foreign assistance, God willing. Certainly they require encouragement. You should think of ways to serve God, then the outcome of your work will remain forever. You should realize that anything you do which brings cultural and Islamic benefit to the nation will benefit you even if you are no longer alive.

You should identify various people that you choose to employ, particularly those you choose for telecommunications services. You must make sure that they are committed to Islam; it is not enough that they claim to be committed to Islam because everyone now claims to be committed to Islam. You should realize that at a time when everyone is searching to identify opponents, hypocrites and leftist strata, there might be some individuals who will try to disrupt the state of affairs through their influence. Such individuals might foment sedition against the nation and the government, or try to smuggle out the country's secrets and eavesdrop in the telecommunication services.

I hope that God will assist you in serving this deprived people, and I hope that God will keep this government, this Majlis and people for you and for us. May God's peace, mercy and blessings be upon you all.

Imam Khomeyni, leader of the revolution and founder of the Islamic Republic of Iran, also received Hojjat ol-Eslam (Nurmofidi), Friday imam of Gorgan.

GUARDS COMMANDER ON U.S., USSR, WAR'S PROGRESS

LD171648 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 17 Sep 82

[Text] Speaking at Tehran's Friday prayer ceremonies today, Mr Mohsen Reza'i, the commander in chief of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps, referred to the impending war week and spoke about Iran's Islamic revolution and the imposed war, saying that prior to the victory of Iran's Islamic revolution the world passed the time in a deep sleep and in deadly silence. After the blossoming of our Islamic revolution, that sleep turned into a nightmare and various events took place in the world, which were either directly or indirectly connected with the Islamic revolution. These include the events of Lebanon, which happened as a result of Iran's Islamic revolution and which demonstrated the fear and terror the United States has of Iran.

If you were to analyze these events you would see that Iran's Islamic revolution has created a turning point in history whereby the United States and the united Western front have turned their attention from Soviet Russia to our Islamic revolution and Iran and its Islamic revolution which, on a regional level, posed a threat to the interests of the United States and imperialism.

A cursory glance at the threats to the United States posed by the Soviet regime and the threats posed by the Islamic revolution show why the United States only feels danger from the Islamic revolution.

Continuing his speech, the commander in chief of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps added that at one time Soviet Russia supported the movements of the nations and used to portray itself as the friend of revolutions of the nations, but for some time now the nations have come to the conclusion that Soviet Russia not only no longer gives its support to these revolutions but when its own interests are involved it also forgets the revolutionary peoples of various countries.

For a long time now the United States has felt no threat from the Soviet Union in instigating the nations, while Soviet Russia has been beset with problems even with regard to keeping control of its own bloc. If at one time working class revolutions constituted a cause of pride to the Soviet Union, we now see how they pour out onto the streets in Poland and demonstrate against the Soviet Union. The Soviet Union is even stuck with the problem of Afghanistan, a neighboring country, and already most Afghan cities are held by the Muslims and the Soviet Union has not been able to resolve this issue. We have also seen how Soviet bases in Egypt, Iraq and other places have fallen into the hands of the United States.

The United States truly knows that the Soviet Union is already like a dead body which cannot move, but it already senses immense danger from the Islamic revolution, to which it did not attach any significance at the beginning.

The speaker then referred to the dangers posed by the Islamic revolution to the United States and its allies in the region.

In another part of his speech, referring to the genuine nature of the war, he said: What should be placed at the very tip of the spearhead of revolution in Iran is, first, the war, and, second, the purging of the whole of Iran from the evil of counterrevolution. If we were to succeed in these tasks, we would succeed in destroying the United States without dispatching troops. While we are fighting Iraq at the fronts we are dealing a direct blow against the United States.

Recounting the enemy plans in attacking and committing aggression against the territory of the Islamic homeland, he said that Iraq launched an attack against us on three fronts -- the northern, central and southern fronts -- and, during the first year, because of a lack of military preparedness and the problems with which we were beset, we carried out the war as an exercise [as heard].

During that phase we experienced guerrilla operations and because that phase became prolonged and the Iranian nation expected the war to end in victory as soon as possible, that was the reason why a number of people carried out classical operations; but, since at that phase Bani-Sadr and a number of liberals were controlling affairs, we were not able to achieve anything.

Afterward we reached the phase of attack and of taking prisoners. We began the second year of the war with the alliance and unity of the forces of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps and the armed forces and we succeeded in carrying out all the various operations with total victory and in driving the enemy from our soil, thus capturing more than 40,000 POW's and an incalculable amount of war booty.

Continuing his speech, the commander in chief of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps said that we are beginning the third year of the war in a state of affairs whereby we should give our original and final response to the superpowers. We are already in circumstances whereby we can speak confidently and decisively and adopt a clear stance and our combatants have already proved that we do not merely chant slogans, rather we have proved that the United States cannot do a thing.

Concluding his speech, he referred to the importance which our (?people attach) to the imposed war and the need to continue their struggles, saying (?we should not allow) the United States and other superpowers to have hegemony over the meek in the Islamic world and, with God's succor, we should wipe out this destructive arch-Satan as soon as possible by mobilizing all our efforts.

MUSAVI ADDRESSES GUARDS IN HORMOZGAN PROVINCE

LD171550 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 17 Sep 82

[Text] The Central News Unit reports that last night Mr Mir-Hoseyn Musavi, the prime minister, went to the headquarters of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps of Hormozgan Province and talked about the war, the foreign policy of the government and the economic situation of the country. In one part of his speech he said:

Some new developments have taken place in the world of politics and an extensive movement has started for the destruction of the Palestinian Resistance in Lebanon. It seemed that the United States and Israel -- with their prearranged agreement -- had achieved victory in Lebanon as the result of their aggression. However, with the death of Bashir al-Jumayyil the political equations have once again been destroyed.

On the one hand, military pacts are made in the region, seemingly for the security of the region. However, we knew that in reality it was another conspiracy in order to deliver a blow at our revolution. On the other hand, the Fes conference is convened.

We continue our fight against world arrogance under such conditions. You see that the two blocs with all their might are assisting Saddam's regime. However, despite all the calculations of the world arrogance, the revolution raises its head and gains such victories. Saddam's regime turns to the nonaligned conference in order to regain its lost prestige. However, when this conference is not held in Baghdad another heavy blow will be delivered at their political prestige. We will continue the war until we achieve our demands.

Mr Musavi added: The war enhanced the power of our fighters. Had this imposed war not taken place, only God knows what would have been the condition of the counterrevolutionaries vis-a-vis the Islamic revolution.

At the moment, our system is manifesting itself as a superior force in the region. Therefore, bearing in mind that the electronic eyes of world arrogance are photographing our slightest military movements, we should think more about the war than before because it has a great significance. This war will determine the fate of the region. Victory in this war is victory over America. This war will increase Islam's influence in the world. When Khuninshahr was turned to Khorramshahr, the voice of the oppressed people of the world was strengthened. This would not have come about except for the self-sacrifices demonstrated by our believing and committed fighters at the fronts and by our people behind the front lines. Today, our united and firm nation is confronting the forces opposing the revolution to its last breath. The strength of the revolution is due to the presence of the people in the revolution. (?The strength) lies with the people who are upon the scene. Our strength is such that American, French, Russian and British navies are each watching us through a different window. However, we will continue the war despite all these calculations.

The prime minister added: As the imam has said, our country did not start the war. Our order thinks of Islamic peace and security. This war was imposed on us. We will fight to the end, and we will not accept an imposed peace. We do not wish to have American security. We will not accept a security in which America will plunder us. We desire a peace in which the people can return to their pure human nature and worship none other but God in a flourishing Islamic society. We will rise against the peace and security which has been imposed by world arrogance. We will remain steadfast. This war will continue until the achievement of the just conditions which we have announced; they should be achieved.

According to the Central News Unit report, Friday imams and the clergymen of Hormozgan Province also met with Mr Mir-Hoseyn Musavi in Bandar 'Abbas last night. During this meeting, the problems and difficulties of that province were discussed.

MUSAVI COMMENTS ON 'DEPRIVED PROVINCES' POLICY

LD180926 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 0430 GMT 18 Sep 82

[Text] Prime Minister Mir-Hoseyn ended his visit to Hormozgan Province and returned to Tehran yesterday afternoon. On arrival in Tehran he said in an interview with our correspondent on the results of his visit to Hormozgan Province: During this visit, which took place in accordance with the guidelines of the imam of the Islamic nation with regard to the earliest investigation of the deprived regions, we were able to acquaint ourselves at close quarters with the important problems of Hormozgan Province in order to be able, God willing, with help from other Cabinet members, to bring about some action in that province as speedily as possible.

Replying to a question concerning overall government policy for investigating the deprived regions, Mr Mir-Hoseyn Musavi said: As I have already said, we have certain privileges in mind for the deprived provinces and the Cabinet gives priority to these provinces' problems. In this connection, in order to investigate the problems of each deprived province, three responsible ministers have been selected to voice the problems and difficulties of each province at Cabinet sessions. This step has produced good results to date.

The prime minister then said: Hormozgan Province, apart from the fact that as a section of our Islamic homeland it should receive attention since during the previous regime it was kept in a state of extreme penury and deprivation, is also important to us from a strategic point of view considering the significance of the Strait of Hormuz and the islands that lie within the boundaries of this province.

Referring to the selfless spirit displayed by the personnel of the air base and naval force in Bandar 'Abbas, the prime minister said in the interview: During the useful visit which I paid to the naval force in Bandar 'Abbas, I felt that our entire combatant navy is in a state of complete readiness and that our destroyers, also in a state of complete preparedness, are ready to crush any conspiratorial move in the region. I also feel that in future we must pay greater attention to this force.

Referring to the extreme penury of the people of the deprived regions and the tremendous affection displayed by the same people to the Islamic revolution, the prime minister then emphasized the need to take rapid steps toward dealing with the problems of the people of such regions, saying: There are various things that are tying us down hand and foot, which do not allow us to make good moves in this direction. In conclusion the prime minister expressed the hope that in future this problem will also be dealt with as speedily as possible.

ARMED FORCES JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUES ON FIGHTING

1,050: 17 Sep Report

LD171730 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 17 Sep 82

[Communique No 1,050 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. Yesterday sporadic exchanges of fire continued in the western region of our country. The fire was more intense in the Musian region. Our courageous forces stationed in this region returned the fire of the enemy, silenced their heavy weapons and destroyed some of their positions and fortifications.

In exchanges of fire on other fronts in the western parts of our country, the combatants of Islam succeeded in destroying an ammunition dump, a number of entrenchments and a vehicle carrying enemy personnel. Our forces killed or wounded a number of the Iraqi forces and restricted their mobility. On one of the fronts in the west of the country, two Iraqi soldiers surrendered to Iranian officials and asked for asylum.

In the operational regions in the south of the country, our forces stationed along the shores of the Arvand Rud opened fire on enemy forces and stopped the movement of Iraqi vehicles on the Al-Faw-Basra road and halted all enemy activities and movements.

Yesterday, mortar fire on Abadan's residential districts resulted in the destruction of two houses and part of a government office building.

During the past 24 hours, the enemy's violations of our country's airspace in the southern and western regions were countered by our antiaircraft defense fire.

Exchanges of heavy-weapon fire continued throughout the southern operational regions with our forces maintaining the upper hand. The combative units of Islam carried out combat, patrol, infiltration and surveillance operations, opened artillery and mortar fire on enemy positions and defense lines, disrupted the activities of the Saddamists digging entrenchments and earthworks and inflicted casualties and damages on them.

[Communique No 1,051 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. The Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran, on behalf of all personnel and especially the victorious combatants of Islam, wishes to express condolences on the anniversary of the martyrdom of the ninth bright star of the imams, Imam Mohammad Taqi, peace be upon him, to all the Muslim compatriots and the martyr-nurturing nation of Iran. The situation at the fronts of the imposed war during the past 24 hours is hereby brought to your attention:

During the past 24 hours, fighting continued on most of the western fronts between the combatants of Islam and the aggressive Iraqi Ba'th mercenaries with exchanges of artillery and heavy-weapon fire. The selfless combatants of the ground forces, preventing enemy activities and movements, succeeded in inflicting damage to several vehicles belonging to the Saddamist forces and destroyed one of their tanks. There is no exact information available on the number of enemy casualties.

Yesterday on southern fronts there were sporadic exchanges of artillery and heavy-weapon fire and the powerful and victorious combatants of Islam, backed by the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran, defended their positions and defensive fortifications. Our forces consolidated their positions and returned the fire of Saddamist forces, thus silencing their fire and inflicting casualties on the Ba'thist Iraqi forces.

On the Abadan fronts, the brave gendarmerie personnel returned the fire of Saddamist mercenaries and crushed enemy positions and entrenchments beyond the Arvand Rud, preventing the movements of the Ba'thist Iraqi forces and destroying seven heavy- and light-weapon emplacements and observation posts. Seven Iraqi personnel were killed.

The residential district of the city of Abadan came under fire from a battery of Iraqi Ba'thist mercenaries. Several houses and a school were destroyed; two of our dear compatriots were killed and three others were wounded.

In the fighting on 16 and 17 September, 36 of the selfless personnel of the ground forces and 5 gendarmerie personnel were martyred. May peace be upon their souls; their memories will be dear to us forever.

[Signed] The Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran

[Communique No 1,052 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. Yesterday, during a (?limited offensive) by the combatants of Islam from 0500 to 0630 in the Meymak sector, heavy losses and casualties were inflicted on the enemy. The Saddamites were crushed in that sector.

In the Dehloran and Musian sectors, there were exchanges of fire and our combatants defended their positions.

On other western fronts, while crushing enemy bunkers and staging areas, the forces of Islam destroyed three tanks and vehicles and killed several Iraqis.

During the past 2 days, a total of 11 Iraqi soldiers crossed over the western border regions, surrendered to the authorities, sought asylum in Iran and were welcomed like brothers.

In the Khorramshahr sector, the combatants of the navy fired on enemy positions, hitting an ammunition dump, three slit trenches and some foxholes.

Also, our forces fired on enemy positions on the other side of the Arvand Rud, destroying six slit trenches and killing or injuring several Iraqis.

Yesterday Saddam's forces fired on the residential areas of Abadan, wrecking three houses and injuring two of our compatriots.

On 17 September six gendarmerie and three ground forces combatants were martyred in the operational sectors. May their souls be merry.

GUARDS LAUNCH OPERATION IN MEYMAK REGION

LD181800 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 18 Sep 82

[Excerpts] According to the Central News Unit, the following statement was released by the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps in connection with the triumphant operations codenamed Hasan ibn 'Ali, peace be upon him, conducted in the west of the country.

Dear Muslim and martyr-nurturing people of Iran: Following the latest blows inflicted on the rotten body of the aggressor and dying Iraqi Army by the self-sacrificing combatants of Islam, the combatants of the Islamic army, including the selfless personnel of the guards and the Mobilization, the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps, valiants of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran and the Muslim tribesmen, launched a joint operation early today. The third phase of the Hasan ibn 'Ali, peace be upon him, operations, codenamed "Ya Javad al-A'meh, 'Alayheh as-Salam" ["The Most Generous of the Imams, Peace Be Upon Him"] was launched with 16 guerrilla groups infiltrating the heart of the enemy inside Iraq in the Meymak region. The combatants of Islam completed this phase of the operation with complete success and victory.

During this triumphant operation, the valiants of Islam sought God's hidden assistance and destroyed 6 enemy ammunition-carrying vehicles, 2 tanks, 57 bunkers and their occupants, 14 medium-weapons positions, 83 foxholes and 6 observation posts. More than 300 Ba'thist mercenaries were killed and more than 380 injured in this operation.

During this operation, one aircraft belonging to the American Saddam army, trying to make up for the defeat sustained by the Iraqi infantry, flew over the Meymak region to bomb positions of the triumphant combatants of Islam but was driven off by the ever-vigilant air-defense units.

The artillery of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps stationed in Dehloran's (Bayat) region destroyed one enemy 106-mm field gun and killed at least five soldiers of Saddam's army.

OPERATIONS IN W. AZARBAYJAN, KORDESTAN REPORTED

GF171736 Tehran IRNA in English 1630 GMT 17 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept. 17, (IRNA) -- Another 10 kms of the strategic Piranshahr-Sar Dasht highway in West Azarbayjan Province was mopped-up of enemy forces on Wednesday. The region was completely cleared of outlaws in a surprise attack which resulted in heavy losses and casualties being inflicted upon the counterrevolutionaries.

During Wednesday and Tuesday, more than 20 kms of the Mahabad-Paveh-Piranshaur strategic axis, in the same province, was purged of insurgents and several villages of Saqqez, in Kordestan Province, were recaptured by the Islamic forces.

QASHQA'I TRIBAL LEADER SENTENCED TO DEATH

NC181329 Paris AFP in English 1251 GMT 18 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept 18 (AFP) -- The chief of a nomadic tribe in southern Iran has been sentenced to death by the Shiraz Islamic Revolutionary Court in connection with clashes between tribesmen and security forces last April, it was reported today.

Khosrow Qashqa'i, head of the Qashqa'i tribe, would be publicly executed shortly at Firuzabad in Fars Province, the daily KEYHAN said.

In the April incidents, about 30 people were killed, including a religious dignitary, according to official figures.

Chief Khosrow was accused of fomenting trouble in his province and of being in contact with "American spies."

The Qashqa'i are one of the biggest tribes of nomads in southern Iran. They rose in a rebellion against the central government in 1980.

170 AFGHAN SOLDIERS SURRENDER TO MUJAHIDIN

GF171620 Tehran IRNA in English 1543 GMT 17 Sep 82

[Text] Mashhad, Sept. 17, (IRNA) -- More than 170 Afghan soldiers and officers with their weapons surrendered to Afghan Muslim mujahidin during the last two weeks.

These defectors had recently been dispatched to border outpost to bolster security there.

An Afghani officer and a government driver from Cheshmeh Dam, in the border vicinity of Islam Qal'eh, surrendered with 9 weapons to Afghan Muslim mujahidin Wednesday.

21 SEPTEMBER 1982

Lebanon

Election of Al-Jumayyil -- Phalangist Party candidate Amin al-Jumayyil was elected president of Lebanon by the Chamber of Deputies on 21 September, according to a live Beirut radio broadcast of the proceedings at the Al-Fayyadiyah Military Academy. Al-Jumayyil won 77 votes out of 80 cast. Earlier, former President Camille Sham'un announced his withdrawal as a candidate for the election in a statement carried by the clandestine Radio Free Lebanon. He said the country is being robbed of its freedom and is occupied by foreign forces, and "unilateral peace" will be imposed on any future president. However, in a meeting with Amin al-Jumayyil after his announcement, Sham'un stated he would support a new president as long as he is "strong and capable," the radio reported. In other remarks cited by the radio, Al-Jumayyil praised Sham'un for his stand on national unity and said he will strive for a consultative government.

Multinational Force Request, Response -- The Lebanese Cabinet called for the return of multinational forces to Beirut for a period of not less than 20 days, Beirut radio announced. In a television speech reported by AFP, French President Francois Mitterrand declared that France will again send troops to Lebanon along with U.S. and Italian forces. The Italian Foreign Ministry confirmed that Italian troops will participate in the multinational force in Beirut, ANSA reported. IDF radio reported the Israeli Cabinet agreed to the reentry of the multinational forces to Beirut. In another development, Israeli Foreign Minister Yitzhaq Shamir sent a message to his U.S. counterpart expressing Israel's readiness to leave west Beirut as long as this is coordinated with the Lebanese Army, IDF radio reported.

In a related issue, 40 UN observers arrived in Beirut in accordance with a UN Security Council resolution, Beirut radio reported.

Military, Security Situation -- The Lebanese Army took up positions in west Beirut where IDF soldiers had withdrawn, Beirut radio reported. The Lebanese Army has been deployed around the Sabra and Shatila Palestinian refugee camps, and has reinforced its presence at the Burj al-Barajinah camp. Jerusalem radio affirmed that the IDF accelerated its withdrawal from Beirut, and that heavy Israeli equipment was seen moving southward. The IDF continued to uncover weapons depots and Syrian equipment in west Beirut, the radio added.

Thousands of Palestinian refugees fled their camps in west Beirut following rumors that Maj Sa'd Haddad's Christian militia had returned to resume the killings, Jerusalem radio reported. A Lebanese military spokesman cited by Beirut radio denied that Haddad's men had entered the area and, according to the Voice of Lebanon, the Lebanese Army command appealed to citizens to ignore the rumors and to contact the army if necessary.

In a related development, the paper AN-NAHAR revealed that Lebanese Army soldiers arrested four members of Haddad's militia in the west Beirut area, AFP reported.

More on Palestinian Massacre

Further Israeli Reaction -- Those who want to hold Israel responsible for the "horrendous acts perpetrated by Lebanese elements" are launching "unrestrained incitement and unprecedented calumny" against Israel in order to "make it capitulate and accept plans designed to reduce its stature and its borders," Israeli Foreign Minister Shamir asserted in remarks broadcast by IDF radio. Earlier, Jerusalem radio reported that Communications Minister Mordekhay Tzipori told the 19 September Cabinet session that he informed Shamir about rumors of a massacre early 17 September but that the foreign minister did nothing with the information. Shamir said he checked with IDF sources, who could not confirm the rumors.

In a statement broadcast by Jerusalem radio, Israeli President Yitzhaq Navon called for an independent inquiry into the massacre. The Cabinet will discuss the matter at its 21 September meeting, according to Jerusalem television. The television also carried an account of the massacre by its Beirut correspondent who admitted that the murderers may have included some of Major Haddad's men but claimed most of them were Phalangists who may have posed as "Free Lebanon" militia in order to put the blame on Haddad. HA'ARETZ correspondent Ze'ev Schiff reported that Defense Minister Ari'el Sharon authorized the entry of the Phalangists into the refugee camps in spite of the fact that several senior officers advised against this. Earlier, the paper called on Prime Minister Menahem Begin to suspend both Sharon and the chief of staff from their duties pending the outcome of a commission of inquiry.

Further Lebanese Comment -- Lebanese security sources expect the final count of massacre victims to reach 1,500, Beirut radio reported. Meanwhile, former Prime Minister Sa'ib Salam told correspondents that Major Haddad's men committed the massacre of Palestinians and that the Phalangists "have nothing to do with" west Beirut, according to the radio. Haddad issued a statement, carried by Voice of Hope radio, reminding his militia that they are forbidden to move around in uniform and with arms unless they are under orders, and that they are prohibited from moving north of the Al-Awwali River without his personal orders.

PLO Threat, Accusations -- The PLO will "avenge the blood of thousands of innocent civilians massacred in the Palestinian camps and in West Beirut by Israeli forces and their allies," the PLO's Central Council announced in a communique reported by AFP. During a visit to Saudi Arabia, PLO Executive Committee Chairman Yasir 'Arafat claimed that Israeli commando units were responsible for the massacre and that over 3,200 people were killed in Sabra, Shatila and two hospitals. Speaking in a Riyadh television interview, 'Arafat said that by allowing the multinational force to leave Beirut without notifying the PLO, the United States has "deceived" the Palestinians and has "lost all credibility." He also condemned U.S. "complicity" in the killings and accused the United States and Israel of planning the liquidation of the Palestinians and Lebanese leftists, according to a LE MONDE interview with 'Arafat reported by AFP.

Israeli-Egyptian Relations

Israeli officials expressed "sorrow" over Egypt's decision to recall its ambassador and asserted that Egypt is diverging from the Camp David accords, IDF radio reported. Meanwhile, Egyptian Foreign Minister Kamal Hasan 'Ali, in a statement to a National Democratic Party meeting reported by MENA, warned that Israel's policies in Lebanon are leading to the "destruction of the bridge of confidence" which Egypt has strived to establish between the Arabs and Israel.

Jordan

Addressing officials in Amman on 20 September, King Husayn asserted that the massacre in Beirut was aimed at the credibility of the United States, since it had promised to protect the Palestinians still in Beirut after the PLO fighters left. In the speech, carried by Amman radio, he called for an appropriate U.S. response. Husayn also announced that it may be time to begin a dialogue with the PLO to formulate a concept of Jordanian-Palestinian relations leading to the formation of a federation.

Iran-Iraq War

Iranian Ground Forces Commander Col 'Ali Sayyad-Shirazi told a press conference that Iraq used Exocet missiles fired from helicopters against vessels entering Iranian ports, AFP reported; a Tehran radio report on his press conference was not heard to mention this accusation. Meanwhile, IRNA claimed that Iranian artillery killed over 250 Iraqi troops on the western battlefront.

AFGHAN OFFICIAL REBUTS CHEMICAL WEAPONS CHARGE

LD192022 Prague CTK in English 1742 GMT 19 Sep 82

[Text] Kabul (CETEKA correspondent) -- "The Afghan Army has no chemical weapons, it has only means of protection against a chemical attack and devices to detect the presence of chemical substances," Lieutenant Colonel Muhammad Nazim of the Afghan Defence Ministry has said in an interview to CETEKA.

"Assertions of the Western propaganda that the Afghan Army uses chemical weapons against counter-revolutionaries are ridiculous and totally fabricated. On the contrary, we have ample evidence that the bandits used chemical means against our people," he stressed.

The latest case reported by the Afghan press occurred in the area of Shahrez, eight kilometers from the town of Bamian, on August 25. The bandits used against the Afghan a grenade filled with CS gas. The grenade was shown by the Afghan television and papers, and bore the inscription "Made in Great Britain to U.S. Order.

Muhammad Nazim, head of the Defence Ministry department for protection against chemical warfare and fire, said that other grenades with the poisonous CS gas have been found before the bandits could use them.

He gave several other examples of the use of chemical weapons by bandits, the most revolting being an attempt to poison school-children in the capital.

REBELS DISCOVER SOVIET 'PLOT' AGAINST ALLIANCE

GF190810 Jidda AL-MADINAH in Arabic 14 Sep 82 p 1

[Text] London -- Engineer (Hikmat Yarkhan), deputy leader of the Islamic Alliance of the Afghan Mujahidin and leader of one of the largest of the seven parties that constitute the alliance, the Islamic Party, has disclosed that the Soviets plotted a sinister conspiracy to destroy unity among the ranks of the mujahidin. He said that Karmal's intelligence unit [Khidmat Ittila'ati Dawlati] which is known in brief as KHAD prepared a message with a forged signature and sent it to the leaders of the Islamic alliance in an attempt to stir disagreement between them.

Mr (Hikmat Yarkhan) explained that information was sent through this forged message to the officers of the Islamic Party on various battlefronts instructing them to seize more arms depots and financial resources and not to allow any other party to have any authority in a region liberated by the mujahidin of the Islamic Party and already under their control.

The engineer added that when the Soviet advisers forged this message 9 months ago in December 1981, our sources told us about the forgery at that time. He added: These sources warned us that as soon as the mujahidin wanted to unite their ranks the Soviet authorities would issue a message of that sort. The message has now arrived in Pakistan through some Afghans who distributed copies of the message secretly among diplomatic circles in Pakistan.

Mr (Hikmat Yarkhan) also said: The forged nature of the message is evident and is apparent not only from the signature but also from some of its extraneous phrases not used by the mujahidin. What is even funnier is the manner in which the message addresses the mujahidin -- calling them jarikahani, meaning terrorist, whereas it is obvious that we only call them mujahidin. The message was concluded with the expression -- "Victory be with you" -- whereas we use "May God preserve you and grant you victory." We also call the local fronts the front whereas the message uses the word committee to describe them.

He added that in addition to the other facts, which prove that this message was forged, the language of the message indicates that it was written by the Soviets who don't know the terms used by the mujahidin and who don't know Persian well.

Engineer (Hikmat Yarkhan) stated that the Russians want to exploit the Western media in order to spread false propaganda through them to crush the Islamic alliance, which is the only representative of the Afghans.

AFP REPORTS ON FIGHTING IN QANDAHAR, PANJSHER

BK181559 Hong Kong AFP in English 1534 GMT 18 Sep 82

[Text] Peshawar, Pakistan, Sept 18 (AFP) -- Afghan rebels overran a government stronghold, killed more than 40 regular soldiers and made off with a stash of weapons in a surprise attack on a southern Afghan city, a rebel source said here today.

The source, whose reports are considered reliable, said rebels launched a three-hour operation on Arghastan, in southern Qandhaar Province, around dusk on Tuesday and took control of the locality, which has been under the control of the Soviet-backed government for a year.

The rebels captured scores of Kalashnikov rifles, 25 mortars and a large quantity of munitions, the source said.

Meanwhile, the Soviets recently launched their sixth offensive in the strategic Panjsher Valley north of Kabul, the capital, another Afghan rebel source reported today.

The source, who claimed to have just left the combat zone, said Soviet aircraft, including MiG-27's, carried out massive bombing operations, but Soviet and Afghan ground forces had not advanced beyond Bazarak, in the southern end of the valley.

Rebel sources also reported that resistance leader Yunis Khalis survived a bombardment on his campaign headquarters in east Afghanistan. Mr Khalis, who is a member of the Hezbe-e Eslami resistance faction, has gained great notoriety because he is one of the few rebel leaders to personally take part in combat.

MASSACRE OF PALESTINIANS IN BEIRUT CONDEMNED

BK201607 Delhi Domestic Service in English 1530 GMT 20 Sep 82

[Text] India has strongly condemned the coldblooded, barbaric and criminal massacre of the innocent Palestinian men, women and children in Beirut by Israel. A spokesman of the Ministry of External Affairs told newsmen in New Delhi today that no words are too strong to condemn this act of genocide. The massacre was the inevitable consequence of Israel having flagrantly extended its aggression in Lebanon by occupying parts of west Beirut. This was in violation of the agreement on the evacuation of the PLO from Lebanon.

The spokesman added that those directly involved in this agreement on PLO evacuation from Beirut had special responsibility in insuring the immediate cessation of Israeli aggression. He reiterated India's commitment to a united, sovereign and nonaligned Lebanon.

COMMENTATOR ON INDIAN OCEAN CONFERENCE

BK191357 Delhi General Overseas Service in English 1340 GMT 19 Sep 82

[Commentary by M.R. Verma of All-India Radio]

[Text] An international conference on the Indian Ocean as a zone of peace is currently in session in New Delhi. Thirty-seven delegates representing different countries of Asia, Africa, Europe and America are attending the 3-day conference.

Prime Minister Mrs Gandhi set the tone in her message on the occasion. She said that survival of life on earth was more important that the survival of ideologies and notions of national prestige. Mrs Gandhi said without an atmosphere of peace humankind could not eradicate the old continuing scourge of hunger and want. Dilating on the imperative need of maintaining the Indian Ocean as a zone of peace she said if this ocean was to become a zone of peace, it would be a wonderful example before the world. The countries around it would then be free to concentrate on their economic development. The militarization of the Indian Ocean by outside powers inevitably drags the peaceful nations on its periphery to the vortex of international tension.

It was, therefore, quite natural for the participants at the conference, which included judges, lawyers and jurists of international repute, to voice their concern over the militarization of the Indian Ocean. They also demanded that this situation must end and the Indian Ocean be declared a zone of peace. Former Chief Justice of the Supreme Court [of India] Justice V.R. Krishna Iyer, who is also the president of the Indian Association of Lawyers, in his inaugural address said the Indian Ocean could not be reduced to an American lake where the presence of the U.S. 7th Fleet would cause tension and pose a threat to the sovereign independence of small nations.

He said this had forced these nations to spend on defense, thus diverting the badly needed developmental expenditure to security needs. He asked the superpowers to keep their hands off the Indian Ocean so that the littoral states may use the waters for their legitimate nonmilitary and peaceful purposes without intimidation from anybody.

President of International Lawyers Association (Joe Norman), who presided over the conference, said that the conference was attached to the principles of sovereignty of Mauritius on Diego Garcia and the dismantling of U.S. bases there. Nobel Laureate (Sam Bright) exhorted the world leaders to work for a long-lasting peace and disarmament in the larger interest of the humanity. The Mauritian delegate said his country had never given its consent for the acquisition of Diego Garcia. He said his country would continue to make efforts for the return of the island.

India had all along supported the concept of transforming the Indian Ocean into a zone of peace from which great power military presence and rivalry would be eliminated. Obviously, the onus for implementing the 1971 UN General Assembly declaration on maintaining the Indian Ocean as a zone of peace is on the great powers. India has repeatedly called for dismantling of foreign military bases like Diego Garcia. India has also all along resisted attempts to distort the concept of the Indian Ocean as a zone of peace. It is, therefore, regrettable that the great powers' military presence, instead of decreasing, has escalated in the region over the past few years. The present deterioration in international relations and also superpower rivalries in the Indian Ocean underline the necessity for the speedy implementation of the UN declaration of 1971.

TIBETAN CONGRESS LEADER INTERVIEWED IN DELHI

BK171225 Hong Kong AFP in English 0712 GMT 17 Sep 82

[By Dilip Ganguly]

[Excerpt] New Delhi, Sept. 17 (AFP) -- The radical Tibetan Youth Congress, which claims a membership of 10,000 in India and abroad, said today it would take up arms against the Chinese if the present "non-violent means to liberate" their motherland failed. "We are fighting for an independent Tibet....and in this connection we welcome any assistance in any form from any quarter of the world", Losang Jinpa, president of the congress, said in an interview published here today.

Mr. Jinpa, who toured Tibet as a member of the second Tibetan refugee delegation, said he was unable to comment at this stage on reported Soviet military assistance to the exiled Tibetans, but said Soviet attitudes towards the Tibetans had changed considerably in recent years.

Mr. Jinpa's statement comes at a time when the spiritual and temporal leader of the Tibetans, the Dalai Lama, is currently touring the Soviet Union. The 48-year-old Tibetan god king left Saturday on a six-nation tour that includes Moscow and Paris. His visit to Moscow has irritated his already unsettled relations with the Chinese. Beijing's irritation was made public last Wednesday when in a short despatch from Moscow, the New China News Agency quoted unidentified observers as saying that "people cannot but consider the political intention of the Soviet Government" (in receiving the Dalai Lama).

Mr. Jinpa said relations between the exiled Tibetans and the Soviet Union were growing. He said at least three Tibetan refugee delegations had visited the Soviet Union to attend Buddhist conferences and inter-faith services during the last three years. "Nationalist China should now recognise the independent status of Tibet and acknowledge that the Tibetan government-in-exile (in India) under the supreme leadership of His Holiness the Dalai Lama is the one and only rightful government of Tibet," Mr. Jinpa said.

NOMINATIONS MADE FOR PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION

BK181138 Colombo International Service in English 1045 GMT 18 Sep 82

[Text] Six [as heard] candidates are in the field for the 20 October presidential election. Nominations were received yesterday at the Colombo town hall by the commissioner of elections. The candidates contesting are: H.S.R.B. Kobbekaduwa, Sri Lanka Freedom Party; J.R. Jayewardene, United National Party; Colvin R. de Silva, Lanka Sama Samaja Party; (G.G. Ponnabalam), All-Ceylon Tamil Congress; and Rohan Wijeweera, Janatha Vimukthi Peramuna.

Nomination papers of three others were rejected by the election commissioner as they did not conform to the election regulations. The three who unsuccessfully sought nominations were: N.H. Kirtirantne, (Udhian Tennakul), and (S.C. Wejeyshuria), who wanted to contest as independents.

The election commissioner later briefed the candidates on the law pertaining to the election. According to the Presidential Elections Act, candidates are entitled to use the radio and television. They are expected to make their applications within 1 week of the date of nomination.

ELECTION COMMISSIONER RULES FOR BANDARANAIKE

BK181632 Colombo SUN in English 10 Sep 82 p 1

[By SUN political correspondent]

[Text] Elections Commissioner Chandrananda de Silva yesterday granted formal recognition to Mrs Sirimavo Bandaranaike's Sri Lanka Freedom Party -- SLFP (S). His ruling ended a year long feud, in which a break away faction led by Mrs Bandarananaike's erstwhile colleague, Maithripala Senanayake, staked claims, but immediately set another serious poser.

Mr Senanayake's faction, which included four other MPs, had only two months ago won recognition from a parliamentary select committee headed by Trade and Shipping Minister Lalith Athulathmudali. The five-member committee refused to uphold their expulsion from the SLFP. Their sacking was communicated to the secretary general of Parliament by the SLFP secretary, Ratnasiri Wickremanayake.

Yesterday's ruling has posed serious questions on Mr Senanayake and MPs supporting him in Parliament.

The elections commissioner's ruling was announced by the Sri Lanka Broadcasting Corporation in its evening news bulletin yesterday. It was however, not made available to the national press. The announcement said: "The commissioner of elections, Chandrananda de Silva, after hearing representations from rival factions in the SLFP and LSSP [Lanka Sama Samaja Party] has given his determination under section 10 (1) of the Presidential Elections Act, regarding these claims.

The SLFP faction on whose behalf representations were made by Ratnasiri Wickremanayake has been accepted as the recognised Sri Lanka Freedom Party.

The official recognition for Mrs Bandaranaike's Freedom Party came yesterday amidst a serious crisis within the party ranks. It was only yesterday that Mrs Bandaranaike asked Mr Wickremanayake to summon a meeting of the party's Samastha Lanka Karaka Sabhawa [general body meeting] to decide on a presidential candidate. The Politburo has already picked on Hector Kobbekaduwa and Mr Wickremanayake has officially announced his candidature. Mrs Bandaranaike and an influential section of the Freedom Party, however, want the Karaka Sabhawa to discuss the Politburo decision. They are in favour of the candidature of Anura Bandaranaike.

["Text" of "very important message" issued by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeyni to "all Muslims and especially to the pilgrims to the house of God" on the occasion of the Qorban 'Id -- read by announcer]

[Text] In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. On the eve of the blessed 'Id of Qorban, all the Muslims of the world and especially the pilgrims to the house of God, wayfarers going to the great sacrificial altar of the father of all prophets -- Ibrahim, the friend of God, peace be upon him and his -- should be congratulated. Unfortunately, this year Muslims have suffered tragedies which force me to express my commiseration instead of congratulations.

I express my commiseration not only because of the aggressions on the sanctity of the Muslims by the criminal America, and the attack by the terrorist and criminal rulers of Israel on the dear Islamic country of Lebanon; and not only for the crimes committed by 'Aflaqist Saddam -- this weak-willed servant of America and Israel -- against the Arab and non-Arab Muslims of the south and west of our country; not even for the happy jestures made by the leaders of Egypt, Jordan, Sudan, Morocco, and the rest because of the victory of the enemies of Islam and humanity over the oppressed people of Lebanon and Beirut, dragging thousands of innocent youths, children, men and women, in their blood.

All these are tragedies and an expression of condolences is needed for all of them. But the great tragedy and the huge catastrophe which makes all other tragedies and catastrophes seem inconsequential is that a group of terrorists, disgraced Zionists, attacked the Muslims in the worst possible way -- Muslims who enjoy all material and spiritual resources necessary for them to throw America out of the region with one blow, let alone Israel.

We not only mourn the homeless wanderings of a group of oppressed people who have been driven from their lands and have no refuge; the great tragedy is that these crimes were committed by the hands of Israel in the presence and before the eyes of governments claiming to be Muslims. The great tragedy is that these governments, which claim to be Islamic, are trying hard to earn the praises of America and Israel by implementing the Camp David accord, or plans similar to it, to the letter. Following this great crime, they are clearly trying to recognize Israel and accept its sovereignty. The catastrophe for the Muslims is that some of the so-called Muslim countries, having witnessed such great tragedies, are preventing the oppressed from even moaning because of the oppressors. The great catastrophe is that America has oppressed the Muslims of the world as much as it wished during the past half century and has plundered their resources. Now these governments, fearing America, do not even dare to listen to the cries of the oppressed in their own countries.

As we have seen, they treat the plundered nation of Iran so badly, which wants to express this suppression through its Islamic movement and inform the oppressed nations of the world of its grievances. In their efforts to oppose Iran, they have surpassed America and Israel. In order to get closer to the oppressors, they used all their propaganda and military might to help the aggressor against Iran. Instead of extending the hand of fraternity and unity to their brother nation and government, they have extended the hand of abjectness and slavery to America and Israel and have begun conspiring against the Iranian nation. We have lost faith in many of the so-called Islamic countries, and we do not have any hope of being able to guide them unless God Almighty graces them with His blessing and brings about a change in them, so that they can study the issues properly and save themselves and their country from the claws of world-devouring wolves.

Now, it is necessary to mention certain points to the pilgrims to the house of God and those who are going to be present at the sacrificial altar of the friend of God, peace be upon him.

1. It is necessary for the pilgrims to learn the hajj ceremonies, obligations and prohibitions from the great theologian so that, God forbid, there would not be any violations of these rules which might render the results of their efforts wasted or prevent them from completing their pilgrimage and create problems for them.

2. It is necessary that the honorable Iranian pilgrims pay attention to the fact that they have gone on hajj pilgrimage from a revolutionary Islamic country, which is committed to the behests of Islam. The eyes of the friends and the enemies of Islam are fixed on them. The friends want to see the honorable pilgrims committed to their Islamic undertakings: that in their behavior and speech and dealings with other Muslims, they protect the honor of their glorious Islamic revolution; that during the hardships, shortages and discomforts which are unavoidable in this holy trip, they remain patient and composed; that they believe God Almighty is omnipresent and watching all their affairs; that they return to their country with their heads held high and make their country and their revolution proud among the Muslims of the world and other Islamic countries. They should not, God forbid, act contrary to Islamic ethics and morality in the presence and before the eyes of the Islamic brothers, no matter how small and unimportant it might be, because this will disgrace Islam and the Islamic Republic and is one of the great unforgivable sins.

Our enemies try to distort their behavior and speech and take any action, no matter how small, as a pretext to blow it out of all proportion through their propaganda machinery. They misrepresent Islam and the revolution in the eyes of foreigners and the world and introduce the Iranian Muslims to other Muslims as undisciplined people. They present Islam as an ideology far from high human values and present the esteemed Iranian nation as a corrupt nation unfamiliar with civilization and progress.

It should be known that the responsibility of the honorable pilgrims before Almighty God and the Iranian nation, which is fighting for Islam and its humane teachings, is very grave and great. This year, when we are aware that the claws of the superpowers and their allies are imbedded in the Islamic countries and the world is oppressed more than ever before and the blood of the oppressed Muslim youths is dripping from their claws more than at other times, is not like other years. Now the great powers of the world are frightened of Islam and its programs to wipe out the East and the West. The arch-Satan has summoned small devils and has resorted to all kinds of conspiracies to darken the light of God.

3. It is necessary for the pilgrims to the house of God, from whatever nationality or sect, to follow the behests of the holy Koran and extend the hand of Islamic fraternity toward each other to confront the satanic and demolishing flood -- such as the efforts of the East and the West and their weak-willed allies to eradicate Islam -- and pay attention to the divine verse which calls them to grasp the rope of God and orders them to keep away from division and differences and take spiritual and political advantage of this meditative and political obligatory procedure of Islam in those holy places rightfully built for the benefit of Islamic experts and Muslims. It is necessary for them to pay attention to the secrets of the sacrificial altar of Ibrahim and Isma'il, which directs Muslims to sacrifice the most dear fruit of their own blood to Almighty God and the holy goal of Islam in defending the divine objective.

The arch-Satan and medium-sized and small Satans, should be pushed out of the holy limits of Islam and the ka'bah and other shrines; the hands of the Satans should be cut from the ka'bah, other shrines and the Islamic countries. The invitation of God Almighty should be accepted and the honorable pilgrims of the Islamic Republic of Iran should take the shouts of the brave and selfless mojahedin of this esteemed and fighting nation to the ears of the Muslims of the world in that gathering of Muslims and should hold them responsible for carrying the message of the nation of Iran to all the oppressed nations of the world.

They should take the shouts of "Oh, ye Muslims" of this revolutionary nation to the ears of all the world and make them understand that the Iranian nation pleads with all the Muslims not for its own problems or those of the region but for Islam.

4. The Muslims should know that after the Islamic revolution, seeing the outstanding power of Islam, the plots and plans of America for creating rifts among the Shi'ite and Sunni brothers and invading Iran, which is the center of gravity of the Islamic movement, and the extensive plan to invade Lebanon -- those great crimes were meant to erase Islam and weaken this divine power. They should know that America's plan -- which is being carried out by the evil Israel -- will not stop at Beirut and Lebanon.

Islam is the target everywhere, in all Islamic countries, especially the Persian Gulf region and Hijaz -- the center of divine unity. The first aim is to make the regional leaders absolutely subserviant to America and, more painfully, Israel; and to make them accept the shame of servitude. Under these catastrophic circumstances the Islamic nations should not be indifferent and should not begrudge any efforts to preserve Islam and Islamic countries.

How painful it is to see the usurper Israel audaciously and decisively commit aggression against the oppressed people of Lebanon -- the dear Beiruti brothers and sisters -- in front of the Muslims and so-called Islamic governments. Instead of defending, which is a humane and divine instinct, the governments of Islamic countries have shown softness and have even been active in the evil aims of America and Israel. Instead of attacking the oppressor Israel, they have attacked Islamic Iran and Islam in Iran.

Even if they could find excuses for their silence and for their assistance to these evil aims, could they corrupt history? Could they fool free nations? Could they convince God with their excuses? Those who are playing with Islam, is their sin forgivable? Could they answer for the blood of the innocent men, women and children of Beirut?

5. Since it is necessary for full coordination to exist among all groups and caravans during this holy trip, in Islamic and political issues, so that chaotic behavior contrary to Islamic ethics can be avoided, it is necessary for the honorable pilgrims and the hajj caravans to follow the suggestions of the honorable supervisor of hajj affairs, Hojjat ol-Eslam Musavi-Kho'ini, because if, God forbid, any caravan or group were to act independently and without considering coordination, tragedy and deviations may occur which may distort the Islamic nature of the Islamic revolutionary republic. That would be a great sin, which would bear a grave responsibility in front of the Creator and mankind.

I hope that the dear pilgrims, God bless them, watch themselves and their friends, lest this great holy worship is blemished with sin and wrongdoing; and that in God's holy house, God's respect is held. I hope that the dear pilgrims are free of all dependence on ungodliness and unfriendliness and shine with God's glory, so that obligations and prohibitions of this [word indistinct] would be decorated with its contents of Ibrahim's pilgrimage and after that, Mohammad's pilgrimage; so that everyone will come back home safely after unburdening natural burdens and bring eternal presents for friends instead of perishable material ones. I hope that with fists full of Islamic, humane precepts -- which great prophets like Ibrahim to Mohammad have sought -- they will join their martyrdom-loving friends. It is these instincts and standards that free mankind from the bondage of temptation [nafse emareh] and dependence on the East and the West and take him to the holy tree of [words indistinct].

If the Muslims of the world were to understand the motive of the prophets, God's peace be upon them, whose essence was manifest in the last human constructive book, the holy Koran -- that guiding book which begins from the holy light of Heaven and earth and ends in the place of shining hearts and lights the heart of the messenger of God in order to free the hearts of the humans from darkness and fill the world with light -- and join the ocean of light, they would never be in the bondage of the Satan and his sons; and would not accept shame and degradation for the sake of a few days on an imaginary throne and would not jump up and down to please the great Satan and the enslaving Camp David plan and its kind.

Oh you drops who are separate from the ocean of Islam, wake up and join this divine ocean and this absolute light; so that all the world devourers will lose hope in you and their aggression and plunders will cease; so that you can attain an honorable life and humane standards; so that you can be free of this disgraceful life in which a bunch of roving Israelis rule over you and trample on oppressed Muslims in front of you.

Oh God, awaken those who are asleep and make the rulers of Islamic countries aware, so that they can rule the Muslims in accordance with Islamic precepts and crush satanic idols.

6. It is necessary for the honorable clergy and the committed writers and announcers to defend Islam and the Islamic revolution of Iran before the Muslims -- given suitable opportunities -- to compensate for the poisonous propaganda by the mass media affiliated with America and Israel, which is spreading rumors and telling lies about Islam and the Islamic Republic of Iran; and to show its true nature to the world. It is necessary for them to point out the Islamic achievements through the incessant crusade of the committed nation of Iran, in spite of all the problems and obstacles created by the enemies of Islam inside and outside the country, and make the nations aware. They must expose the accusations of the propaganda machinery against this nation and the plots by America and its agents and must tell the world of the invasion by the army of Saddam the 'Aflaqist, on America's orders and with the support of countries affiliated with it. They must inform the Muslims of what some of their American rulers are doing against Islam and the Muslims, the worst of which is the formal recognition of Israel, followed by the savage attack on the Islamic country of Lebanon and the martyring and maiming of tens of thousands of innocent and homeless people.

Perhaps by trusting God Almighty, the nations can prevent this great historic tragedy, which might disgrace the Muslims in front of the world and future generations, God forbid, and free dear Islam and the Muslims from this great shame and themselves from this enormous degradation, whose memory would shake any strong Muslim.

7. Finally, I warn the governments of the region, who gather together and oppose Islam and the Koran's teachings, not to rise against Islam and Islamic nations. If you do so, the Iranian Government and nation -- which is the greatest power in the region -- would not, in God's name, forgive you, and you would be responsible for the consequences. You who hold the jugular vein of the world economy in your hands, none of your excuses will be accepted by God and man.

I hope, God willing, that dear Islam will attain its goal with the support of Islamic nations, especially in the region, and that the world Muslims will triumph over the oppressors.

Greetings to God's righteous servants.

SAUDI POLICE 'DISTURB' MEDINA PRAYER CEREMONIES

LD171704 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 17 Sep 82

[Text] The Central News Unit reports that last night special weekly prayers were said in front of the Baqi' cemetery [Medina, where most of the early disciples of the prophet are buried], with the participation of thousands of Iranian and other pilgrims, in a most glorious fashion. Due to the preponderance of non-Iranian pilgrims, the prayers were said in Arabic. During the prayers, the Saudi police had surrounded the large crowd and police cars repeatedly passed through it with their sirens blaring in order to disturb the orderliness of the crowd. Throughout the prayers, a Saudi police loudspeaker recited parts of the Koran at a high volume. At the same time, the police attacked the premises in order to confiscate a loudspeaker through which the special weekly prayers were being said.

According to the report, after the prayers some ceremonies were held to honor the martyrs of the Islamic revolution and the imposed war, as well as the 18 martyrs who had died as the result of a car accident involving Iranian pilgrims from convoy (?No 2409) on the road between Jidda and (?Jufayr). These ceremonies ended at about midnight in complete order.

According to the same report, yesterday afternoon Hojjat ol-Eslam Musavi-Kho'ini, accompanied by some clergymen, visited a number of mosques in the holy city of Medina.

TEHRAN BLAMES ARAB RULERS FOR BEIRUT MASSACRE

GF200950 Tehran International Service in Arabic 1730 GMT 19 Sep 82

[Unattributed commentary]

[Text] Only 10 days have elapsed since the end of the Fes conference and the first fruit of the conference is evident: diabolical massacres that shake the conscience. More than 1,500 unarmed civilian refugees in Palestinian refugee camps -- children, women and the elderly -- were massacred. They were lined up outside their homes and shot.

The Fes conference shares primary responsibility for all these massacres. It has opened the door wide open to the Zionist enemy, allowing him to do what he pleases without being deterred or called to task. The conference's capitulation to the enemy, and its indirect acceptance of the illegal occupation has revived in the enemy a new spirit of aggression and increased its thirst for blood. The enemy understands only the language of force. Capitulation to such an enemy only makes it bolder in committing further massacres.

The Fes conference was a green light to Israel to perpetrate new crimes and to persist in its violent aggression. Israel has realized that the [Arab] rulers do not care about what is happening in Lebanon and Palestine, and that they want the elimination of any Palestinian force. In short, they want Israel to impose the peace it wants on the Palestinian and Lebanese people.

It is not the Phalangists, Sa'd Haddad or Israel who is responsible for the massacre, for all of them are well-known for their aggression and they have a record of killing and terrorism. Israel and its massacres in Dayr Yasin and Beersheba are well-known. The Phalangist gangs and their black record in the Tall az-Za'tar camp are well-known. Sa'd Haddad continues to kill whomever he pleases without any qualms. These are not the only parties responsible for the massacres in Sabra and Shatila because they are not the only ones who are full of aggression. Other groups that have contributed in one way or another in grinding the Israeli mill of death are also full of aggression.

The primary responsibility falls on the rulers, those who have close relations with Washington. Those who stand responsible are those who supported the Phalangists and Bashir al-Jumayyil's election and shed tears at his funeral because by doing so they have given a weapon to this terrorist and isolationist gang to use in killing women and children. The parties responsible for the Sabra and Shatila massacre are Philip Habib and everyone who supported him and met with him. His is the brain that engineered the Israeli aggression and opened the way to the invading forces to enter west Beirut and to commit the massacre. Those who are responsible for the massacre are all those who compelled the Palestinian fighters to leave Beirut and leave an unarmed people to hungry wolves.

The presence of the Palestinian fighters would have deprived the enemy of the opportunity, or at least we would have met resistance to this ugly aggression. However, the fedayeen's departure from west Beirut has opened the way to the enemies to do what they please. The mouse became a lion in the lion's absence.

Those who stand responsible for the Palestinians' departure from Beirut are, of course, some of the Arab rulers who insisted that the PLO accept the situation -- an insistence embodied at the Jidda conference which officially asked the Palestinian command to remove its forces from west Beirut. Those who are also responsible for the massacre are some of the regimes that helped Bashir al-Jumayyil to climb the walls of B'abda Palace and which gave the Phalangist Party political and military importance in Beirut. These rulers sent messages of congratulations and blessings to Al-Jumayyil, and then sent condolences messages to his family on his death. All those who supported Bashir al-Jumayyil today stand responsible for the Sabra and Shatila massacre.

We now hear their words of blessings and support through the Phalangists' bullets fired at innocent women and children. These, and not only the Phalangists, are responbible for the massacre, because it is they who have given the gun to this agent party and paved the way for it to the entrance of the Palestinian refugee camps and then said to it: Go ahead with the blessing of the cross and kill Muslims whose only guilt is that they are an oppressed Muslim people who have been dispersed from their homeland.

It is the silence, cowardice, capitulation and also agentry that is responsible for the massacre. Had it not been for the silence of the regimes, Israel, the Phalangists and Sa'd Haddad would not have been so bold. Had it not been for the rulers' cowardice, their defeatism at Fes and at previous conferences, Israel would not have been able to do what it pleased; it would not have been able to cross into Lebanon or remain in Lebanon all this time.

These are the parties that are responsible for the crime. They are partners with the enemy, the Phalangists and Sa'd Haddad. However hard these tyrants and defeatists try to escape the shame of participating with the Israeli enemy in his aggression through eloquent statements and fiery speeches, they only increase the belief of the Muslim peoples that the main enemy does not lie outside the borders but within them -- in the luxurious palaces and in the radios which call themselves Arab and Islamic. This is the principal enemy who has been found out by our Muslim peoples a long time ago. It is this enemy first, and Israel second, who stand condemned for this crime -- because Israel is the instrument that receives orders. The principal party that stands condemned for the Sabra and Shatila massacres is that which gives its orders to Israel, the White House, and those who make way for it -- the reactionary Arab rulers -- and those who cover up for its crimes by various means -- the sultans' trumpets in the radio and press.

IRAQ USING EXOCETS AGAINST IRAN-BOUND VESSELS

NC202118 Paris AFP in English 2102 GMT 20 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept. 20 (AFP) -- The Iranian Army commander today charged that Iraq was using French-made Exocet missiles to attack vessels entering Iranian ports.

The statement was made by Colonel Sayyad-Shirazi at a press conference and it was the first time an Iranian military chief has explicitly charged that Iraq was using the air-to-sea Exocet missiles.

He said they had been delivered "recently" and were being launched from helicopters against commercial vessels and to "endanger the security of sea routes towards Iran".

SAYYAD-SHIRAZI INTERVIEWED ON WAR'S PROGRESS

LD202224 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 2030 GMT 20 Sep 82

[Text] The Central News Unit reports that Colonel 'Ali Sayyad-Shirazi, the commander of the Ground Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran, today took part in a radio, television and press conference.

At the beginning, he referred to the war week and the renewal of the covenant of the nation with the beloved martyrs and fighters of Islam.

In answer to a question about the number of casualties suffered by the Iraqi forces since the beginning of the imposed war, he said: One cannot give an exact figure for it. However, the fact that we hold 43,000 POW's, as well as the official admission of the Ba'thist, Zionist Iraqi regime about the shortage of armored forces, are clear indications about the number of their casualties.

Then, the commander of the ground forces referred to the three stages of the war against the aggressive Iraqi regime and the liberation of our cities from the occupation of the Ba'thist, Zionist enemy and said: Our final goal is to topple Saddam's regime. He then announced: We should regard this victory to be due to the role of the leadership and the guidance and cooperation of the nation.

In another part of this interview Colonel Sayyad-Shirazi, referring to the issue of Kordestan and the reason for establishing the Hamzeh base, said: This base is a center for coordinating the forces in order to eradicate the counterrevolutionaries and to take care of the deprived people of that region. God willing, in the near future the counterrevolutionaries will be eradicated in Kordestan and the benefits of the Islamic revolution will be made clear there.

At the end, referring to the future of the war, the commander of the ground forces said: In the future we will present a set of the methods and techniques which we have learned and which will be very useful.

ARMED FORCES JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUE NO 1,053

LD201810 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 20 Sep 82

[Communique No 1,053 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] Yesterday fighting continued along the western fronts with exchanges of artillery and other heavy-weapon fire. The fighters from the ground forces opened artillery fire on enemy positions and supply routes, silencing the fire of the Iraqi Ba'thists, smashing their supply routes and positions, inflicting losses and casualties on the forces of Saddam and preventing their activities. In these battles, the fighters from the irregular tribal warfare units bravely protected their defensive positions and by opening fire on enemy positions and units inflicted some losses upon the forces of Saddam.

In the southern fronts, sporadic exchanges of fire continued. In Ramadan Operation areas, the exchange of fire was more intense. On these fronts the fighters of Islam bravely protected and continued consolidating their defensive positions by neutralizing the activities and operations of the forces of Saddam. The brave gendarmerie forces on the Abadan and Khorramshahr fronts returned the fire of the forces of Saddam, destroying two observation posts and a number of slit trenches and killing a number of the mercenaries of Saddam.

Yesterday the tactics of the air force personnel and the antiaircraft fire of the Islamic Republic's Armed Forces neutralized the airspace violations of the Ba'thist mercenaries in western and southern areas. The aggressive enemy aircraft were forced to flee.

During the battles on 18 September, 1 gendarmerie member and 52 fighters from the Ground Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran were martyred on the path of the defense of the sacred boundaries of our Islamic homeland. May their souls be bathed in God's grace.

250 IRAQIS KILLED BY IRANIAN ARTILLERY FIRE

LD202350 Tehran IRNA in English 1938 GMT 20 Sep 82

[Text] Bakhtaran, Sep. 20 IRNA -- More than 250 aggressor Iraqi troops were killed in the western fronts over the past 24 hours when the enemy's positions came under the accurate artillery fire of the Islamic defenders.

In these operations, the Iranian forces, silencing the enemy's artillery fire, destroyed two Iraqi tanks, 57 group bunkders with their occupants, 14 machine gun positions, six munitions depots, one 75 mm machine gun and five watch posts.

Meanwhile, some Iraqi fighter planes, which violated Ilam's air space during Sunday night and Monday morning, were all repulsed by the air defence units of the Islamic forces.

These aggressor aircraft were immediately forced to flee without carrying out any mission.

TEHRAN BOMB BLAST KILLS 1, DAMAGES BUS TERMINAL

LD202144 Tehran IRNA in English 2033 GMT 20 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept. 20, IRNA -- At least one person was martyred and another 20 wounded as a concussion bomb went off in a bus terminal in downtown Tehran at 11.00 today.

As a result of the explosion, several buildings of the terminal were damaged.

The explosion was the fourth in a series of terroristic acts in Tehran since early September.

The majority of the wounded people are workers, and also include women and small children.

The bomb had been placed in the storeroom of the cooperative bus company Number Five.

On Sept. 6th a powerful bomb exploded in downtown Tehran, which resulted in the martyrdom of 20 people and wounding of over 100 others.

'HYPOCRITES' ARRESTED IN MASHHAD, SABZEVAR

GF201950 Tehran JOMHURI-YE ESLAMI in Persian 7 Sep 82 p 4

[By IRNA correspondent]

[Text] Mashhad -- During the past week, the self-sacrificing Islamic Revolution Guards Corps personnel succeeded in discovering five communal dens of the counterrevolutionary and warring minigroups in the cities of Mashhad and Sabzevar. They killed 3 of these individuals and arrested over 51 others. A quantity of serahis [homemade bombs], arms, ammunition and interorganizational documents were discovered in these dens.

According to an IRNA report, and also according to a communique issued by the Public Relations Office of the District 4 Islamic Revolution Guards Corps, following the recent armed clashes in Sabzevar, the self-sacrificing guards discovered two communal dens of the hypocrites in the city and captured 45 of them. Farhad Nejati, alias Sa'id, the military commander of the hypocrites in Sabzevar, who actively participated in all the assassinations in this city, was annihilated in the course of this operation.

A very powerful bomb, a number of serahis made inside fruit cans, some arms and inter-organization documents were discovered in these communal dens. During the operations, one of the members of the organization, who had cooperated extensively with the brother guards, was wounded.

According to the same report, the self-sacrificers of Mashhad Islamic Revolution Guards Corps succeeded in discovering two spider dens of the hypocrites. They arrested some of them and annihilated two. A quantity of arms and ammunition together with interorganizational documents were discovered in these dens.

According to this report, in the course of the discovery of another communal house, six members of the Ashraf Dehqan minigroup were arrested and the brother guards confiscated some arms and ammunition.

108 ARRESTED WHILE ATTEMPTING TO LEAVE COUNTRY

GF181446 Bushehr Domestic Service in Persian 1330 GMT 18 Sep 82

[Text] Around 108 Iranians who intended to leave the country illegally were arrested by the members of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps and gendarmerie personnel in the ports of Bushehr and Dayyer.

According to an IRNA report, these people, who were going to secretly leave for neighboring Arab countries in the Persian Gulf by sea, were handed over to the Bushehr Islamic Revolution Court following arrest and preliminary investigations. An official of the Bushehr Islamic revolution prosecutor's office, while confirming this report, said:

Four vessels were taken from these people and investigation to find the agents conducting this illegal travel continues.

NVOI: CONSTITUTION'S PRINCIPLES VIOLATED

TA201152 (Clandestine) National Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1730 GMT 19 Sep 82

[Unattributed commentary: "Correct Implementation of the Constitution's Principles Is to the Benefit of the Revolution"]

[Excerpt] The three branches of the country and their officials all believe in the implementation of the explicit principles of the Constitution in connection with maintaining and guaranteeing the freedom of activity of parties, associations and political societies and trade unions that support the revolution and the Islamic Republic. Thus far they have repeatedly promised our homeland's people the correct implementation of the Constitution's principles.

Yet, more than 3 and 1/2 years after our nation's glorious revolution, there still is no sign of the total and untampered implementation of the Constitution's principles with respect to the nation's basic rights. In some of our homeland's regions, in many cases the personal and social freedoms of individuals committed and faithful to the revolution are being trampled upon in the worst manner.

Most of the offices and headquarters of the true parties of the revolution are still under occupation. In some of our country's towns and regions, widespread pressure and threats toward the members and followers of parties loyal to the Constitution, but who have different views, has been transformed into the daily task of the superficial and monopolistic local officials. Some of the members and followers of the true parties of the revolution are still in prison, and there is no news about the fate of a number of them.

In this very Tehran, the capital of our liberated homeland, some fanatic and superficial persons and the ignorant friends of the revolution, with an amazing vengeance, are prepared to annihilate all the members of the true revolutionary parties and organizations, and some of them do not even refrain from expressing this wish openly.

The continuation of such a situation, which is contrary in every respect to the guidelines of the imam of the nation and which violates the explicit principles of the Constitution and all the promises of the highest-ranking officials of the country, is to the benefit of the counterrevolution and the enemies and opponents of the Islamic Republic's system.

Preventing the activity of parties, organizations and groups that are faithful to the revolution but who have different views is a great victory for the great Satan and its multifarious satellites such as the liberals, the dregs of the former regime, the Hojjatis, the Maoists and others. By tying the hands and tongues of the true friends of the revolution, while depriving the Islamic Republic's system of the unsparing support of active and effective forces, we have also confronted our society with the committed, organized and unchallenged force of the front of destruction.

It is the true forces of the revolution who by exposing the plots, ruses and ploys of the foes and opponents of the revolution have so far dealt the biggest blow to the front of destruction. In broadly exploiting the situation to their own benefit, the foes and opponents of the revolution at the same time make extensive use of the reality of the nonimplementation of the Constitution's principles to discredit our Islamic Republic, portraying it as a country in which the law of the jungle rules. An end must be put to this damaging situation for the revolution's gains by exact and untampered implementation of the Constitution's principles.

ECONOMIC DELEGATION DEPARTS FOR TALKS IN CSSR

GF201705 Tehran IRNA in English 1615 GMT 20 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept. 20, IRNA -- The minister of state and head of the Plan and Budget Organization, Dr. Mohammad Taqi Banki, left here, heading an economic delegation, for an official visit to Czechoslovakia this afternoon.

The delegation comprised representatives from the Ministries of Industries, Heavy Industries, Mines and Metals, Energy, Foreign Affairs, Oil, Commerce, Agriculture and Rural Development, as well as Central Bank of Iran and the Plan and Budget Organisation.

The Iranian delegation's trip followed a trip of Czechoslovakia Foreign Trade Minister Bohumil Urban to Iran in February.

According to a contract signed at that time between the two countries, the volume of mutual exchanges increased considerably and the exports of oil and non-oil products of Iran to that country also increased and the imports of main products during the past Iranian year (March 21, 1982-March 20, 1983) grow in number.

During this trip, said Dr. Banki before his departure, the Iranian delegation will investigate the problems and evaluate the performed undertakings thereby enabling it decide to draw the future levels of economic relations between the two countries.

The Iranian delegation is to inspect various industrial and manufacturing centres, including the electricity-producing factories there, he said. Also an agreement on economic and commercial cooperation for next year is expected to be signed. Dr. Banki said that mutual relations between the two countries were friendly and that Czechoslovakia was one of the countries which had carried out its undertakings with Iran very well.

In conclusion, he said that the trip would surely lead to the expansion of relations and exchanges between the two countries.

RAFSANJANI, SOVIET ENVOY DISCUSS COOPERATION

LD201006 Tehran IRNA in English 0900 GMT 20 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sep 20 (IRNA) -- Soviet Union Ambassador to the Islamic Republic of Iran V.K. Boldyrev met and conferred with Majlis Speaker Hojjat ol-Eslam Akbar Hashemi-Rafsanjani in Majlis yesterday.

The Soviet envoy during the meeting said that he conveyed the good wishes to Imam Khomeyni and high officials of Iran on behalf of the Soviet leaders.

Boldyrev expressed his country's intention for the expansion of reciprocal ties, especially in the field of commerce.

Hashemi-Rafsanjani hoped that the two countries could cooperate in trade and industries particularly for the construction of silos.

[Excerpt] At the invitation of our minister of foreign affairs, Alex Sceberra Trigona, the minister of foreign affairs of Malta, arrived in Tehran for a 3-day official visit and was welcomed by Foreign Minister Velayati. The managing director of economic affairs at the Maltese Foreign Ministry is accompanying the foreign minister on this trip.

The Maltese minister of foreign affairs, in an interview at Mehrabad Airport, referred to his meeting with our minister of foreign affairs during the gathering of the ministers of foreign affairs in Cyprus and called that meeting a start in the relations between the two countries.

He said: Our objective in this trip is to establish and expand relations between the two countries. In this trip we will have talks and discussions to establish extensive cooperation between the two countries.

Meeting With Velayati

LD192108 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 19 Sep 82

[Text] According to a Central News Unit report, the Maltese foreign minister, who arrived in Tehran last night, this morning held talks with our country's foreign minister, Mr 'Ali Akbar Velayati. At the meeting, which was held at the Foreign Ministry and which lasted nearly 90 minutes, discussions were held on current problems concerning Iran and Malta.

The Maltese foreign minister called for an expansion of political and economic ties between his country and the Islamic Republic of Iran in the oil, technology, commercial and shipping fields.

After the meeting, our country's foreign minister, in an interview with the Central News Unit, said Malta is a country which has had a prolonged struggle against Britain, which has recently achieved independence, and which plays a part in the Nonaligned Movement.

The foreign minister added Zionism and the onslaught against Lebanon by the regime occupying Jerusalem were the leading topics of discussion.

The Maltese foreign minister wants coordination between his country and ourselves in the Nonaligned Movement. He also wants the Islamic Republic of Iran to open a political bureau in his country.

The Maltese foreign minister was later interviewed by IRNA. He said the two country's prospects for expanding political, economic and commercial relations were explored at the meeting.

In answer to a question as to what his views were regarding the Islamic revolution, he said: At the 1978 European summit meeting our country's then prime minister openly supported the Iranian Islamic revolution. He added: We today more than ever feel the need for expanding our relations with the Islamic Republic of Iran.

Meeting With Commerce Minister

LD202322 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 20 Sep 82

[Text] The Central News Unit reports that the Maltese foreign minister met this afternoon with Commerce Minister 'Asgar-Owladi-Mosalman at the Ministry of Commerce. At this meeting, which was held with the participation of a few officials from the Ministry of Commerce, discussions were held about the expansion of commercial exchanges between the two countries. It was decided that during the next month some delegations should visit Iran and Malta [as heard].

According to the same report, Mr 'Asgar-Owladi, while expressing his pleasure at the expansion of relations with Malta, expressed the hope that our country will develop cooperation with Malta in the fields of ships repair and maintenance, and the purchase of industrial goods, foodstuffs, metals, chemicals, plastics, timber, paper, textiles and machinery.

The Maltese foreign minister, in a speech, said: I foresee a good future for your revolution. In our view the stability and [word indistinct] of Iran is very important for the region, because the stability of Iran is an important element for the stability of the small countries of the region.

During these discussions it was decided that during the coming month an Iranian delegation should visit Malta and make preparations for the signing of some agreements in commercial fields. It was also decided that another delegation should be sent to Malta in order to inspect the ship-building industry in that country, and that some representatives be sent from Malta to Iran to repair Iranian ships.

At the end of the meeting, the Maltese foreign minister invited the Islamic Republic of Iran to purchase a percentage of a Maltese ship-building company in which Libya and Algeria also have shares.

Meeting With Oil Ministers

GF201722 Tehran IRNA in English 1610 GMT 20 Sep 82

[Excerpt] Tehran, Sept 20, IRNA -- The Maltese foreign minister, Dr Trigona, said after his meetings with Iranian officials that he hoped that an agreement of mutual cooperation, in various economic fields, including exchange of goods as well as industrial manufactured commodities between the two countries, would be signed.

Dr Trigona, who is currently touring Iran, today met with the Iranian oil minister, Mohammad Gharazi, and held discussions on the (?expansion) of trade and economic relations between the two countries.

[Text] Tehran, Sept. 21, IRNA -- The Maltese foreign minister, Alex Trigona, left Tehran this morning at the conclusion of a three-day official visit here. Foreign Minister Trigona was seen off at Tehran's Mehrabad Airport by his Iranian counterpart, 'Ali Akbar Velayati.

During his stay in Tehran, Trigona met and conferred with Prime Minister Mir-Hoseyn Musavi, Velayati, Minister of Oil Mohammad Gharazi and Commerce Minister Habibollah 'Asgar-Owladi. He discussed expansion of political, economic and commercial ties between the two states.

KHAMENE'I ADDRESSES INTERNATIONAL TRADE FAIR

LD201352 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 20 Sep 82

[Excerpts] Tehran's eighth international trade fair was inaugurated this morning by our country's president in a ceremony in which a number of officials, ambassadors, and diplomats to the Islamic Republic of Iran from 23 countries participated.

The Ministry of Commerce export under secretary presented the audience with a report on aspects of the fair. He said that the current fair is the second international trade fair to be held in Iran following the victory of the revolution. The fair is being held in accordance with the Islamic Republic's commercial, industrial and agricultural policies, and our economic and industrial needs.

Twenty-three countries from Asia, East and West Europe, and Australia are participating at the fair: Albania, the German Democratic Republic, the Federal Republic of Germany, Austria, Australia, England, Italy, Ireland, Bulgaria, Pakistan, Turkey, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Romania, Japan, Sweden, Syria, Switzerland, the Soviet Union, South Korea, Hungary, Holland and Yugoslavia. Albania and Ireland are participating in the Tehran international fair for the first time.

In his opening remarks, President Khamene'i thanked the participant countries and said that to hold such a fair proves to all supporters of the revolution that this nation is able to show its revolutionary spirit in the context of economic activities even under the most difficult circumstances, at a time of war, at a time when various [word indistinct] are being imposed on us, and at a time when our best people are fighting the war.

Continuing his remarks, Mr Khamene'i said we have not only been victorious on the battlefronts and will achieve full victory in the near future, but also in the economic and other areas, which could end our dependence on our arrogant enemies and pave the way for assistance to the oppressed people. We will continue to advance, make progress, and will achieve victory.

The eighth Tehran international trade fair will remain open to the public until 1 October.

BRIEFS

OIL AGREEMENT WITH BRAZIL -- A 44-man Brazilian delegation held talks with Iranian counterparts in the fields of metals, foodstuffs, paper and timber, fabrics and railway equipment. The outcome of the talks was extremely useful. Agreements were signed involving goods worth some $130 million. Talks were also held with the National Iranian Oil Company which culminated in a big oil agreement whereby the delivery of oil to Brazil will begin in 2 weeks. Israel: Aftermath of Beirut Massacre

The Israeli Cabinet rejects the proposal for a judicial inquiry commission into the "monstrous act perpetrated by a unit of the Lebanese forces in Beirut" but will discuss a way to conduct a "proper investigation" into the massacre, Israel's Cabinet secretary announced after the Cabinet meeting in a statement broadcast by Jerusalem radio. Prime Minister Menahem Begin told the Cabinet that the establishment of an inquiry commission might seem like an admission of guilt on Israel's part and he reemphasized that Israel bears no responsibility for the murders, the radio reported. Begin's demand for no Cabinet discussion of the proposal for a judicial inquiry was sharply opposed by four ministers, the radio said, and Energy Minister Yitzhaq Berman insisted that his support for the establishment of an inquiry be recorded in the minutes. Berman will vote against the Cabinet during the 22 September Knesset session and will later resign, the radio disclosed. The radio also noted that the chairman of the Knesset's Foreign Affairs and Defense Committee has complained to Begin about the failure of Defense Minister Ari'el Sharon, the chief of staff, the commander of the Northern Command and the IDF commander in Beirut to attend a committee meeting at which they were expected to answer questions on the massacre.

Meanwhile, the IDF spokesman denied reports that IDF officers warned Sharon not to allow the Phalangists to enter the refugee camps, according to IDF radio. The spokesman also denied that the Israelis flew Maj Sa'd Haddad's Christian militia to Beirut to participate in the massacre and claimed that Haddad's forces were not in Beirut.

Arabs in Galilee villages and West Bank towns demonstrated against the massacre, according to Jerusalem radio reports.

Lebanon

IDF Leaving Beirut, Multinational Forces To Arrive -- Lebanese Army and IDF officers agreed that the IDF will hand all of west Beirut over to the Lebanese Army by 26 September, Jerusalem radio announced. The officers agreed that the area still to be evacuated will be divided into five parts, and the IDF will leave one part each day. Meanwhile, Beirut radio reported that although Israeli forces are still deployed in various axes and intersections, they are continuing to leave west Beirut. Citing security sources, the radio said the Lebanese Army controls 60 percent of the city.

The Israeli Cabinet agreed to the proposal by U.S. President Ronald Reagan to reintroduce the multinational forces into Beirut. The Cabinet statement, read over Jerusalem radio by the Cabinet secretary, also proposed the formation of a committee composed of Lebanese, Israeli and multinational force participants to discuss ways to guarantee Beirut's future security. According to Paris radio reports, French troops are on their way to Lebanon and the French Ministry of External Relations has warned Israel that Beirut must be cleared of foreign soldiers before the multinational forces arrive.

Al-Jumayyil Election Congratulations -- Israeli Prime Minister Begin wished Amin al-Jumayyil success as the new Lebanese president in a congratulatory message carried by Jerusalem radio. Militia Commander Haddad said he hopes for cooperation with Al-Jumayyil despite the fact that Amin is considered a Syrian "sympathizer," ITIM reported. Haddad noted that fears were expressed in villages in southern Lebanon about revenge or restrictive measures which may be implemented against them for being pro-Israeli. The Central Information Bureau of the Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine wished Al-Jumayyil success and requested that he improve Palestinian-Lebanese relations, dissolve the militias and reject a peace treaty with Israel, Monte Carlo radio reported.

Arab Ministers Meeting

Arab foreign ministers from 13 countries were present at the opening of the Arab League foreign ministers conference in Tunis, held at the request of the PLO in the aftermath of the Beirut Massacre, Tunis radio reported. The radio noted that Libya's head of the Peoples Bureau for Foreign Liaison 'Abd al-'Ati al-'Ubaydi chaired the opening session; Beirut radio reported that Lebanon was represented by the ambassador in Tunis, who is also a delegate to the Arab League. Speaking at the opening session, Arab League Secretary General Chedli Klibi stressed that what Israel fears most is a unified Arab stand, adding that this stand would be just as effective if it took on a political character instead of a military one, Tunis radio said. Klibi emphasized the need to convince the U.S. Government to talk directly with the PLO to prove it is a neutral superpower. According to Tripoli Voice of Arab Homeland radio, Al-'Ubaydi spoke at the meeting and called for a unified militant Arab stand.

The PLO position paper submitted at the conference called for political and economic measures against the United States to show the Arabs' revulsion for the Beirut tragedies, Tunis radio reported. The PLO also called for economic sanctions against Israel.

According to the radio, a conference source disclosed that the ministers decided to have Arab ambassadors in Washington protest to the U.S. Government over the massacres. It was also decided to extend financial support to the PLO and Syria, the source said.

PLO

PLO Executive Committee Chairman Yasir 'Arafat met in Jidda with Saudi King Fahd ibn 'Abd al-'Aziz, SPA reported. 'Arafat will shortly visit Khartoum for talks with Sudanese President Ja'far Numayri, according to SUNA. Egyptian Foreign Minister Kamal Hasan 'Ali said 'Arafat may visit Egypt; though not during the PLO leader's current tour, MENA reported. SANA noted that the PLO's Higher Military Council met in Damascus.

Egypt

AL-AHRAM reported that Egypt's ambassador to Israel will not return to his post until after the withdrawal of Israeli forces from Beirut and Lebanon, according to MENA. The decision to recall the ambassador is a "practical expression" of the Egyptian people's "indignation at and denunciation of the savage acts and massacres which the Israeli forces continue to commit against the Palestinians in Lebanon," according to a related editorial by the newspaper cited by Cairo radio. Another Cairo paper, AL-AKHBAR, accused Israel of planning the Beirut massacre, MENA reported.

Iran-Iraq War

An Iraqi military spokesman announced on 22 September that Iraqi planes made direct hits on five western Iranian cities, spreading panic among the Iranian forces, INA reported. The spokesman added that warning flights by Iraqi aircraft were carried out over Hamadan, Kermanshah and Qom. On 21 September, an Iraqi military communique carried by Baghdad radio claimed Iraqi planes scored effective hits on Iranian positions in the central battle sector and inflicted "massive losses" on the enemy. An Iranian military communique carried by Tehran radio on that day said Iraqi overflights were countered in the south and west of the country by Iranian air defenses. Meanwhile, INA reported that Iraq is working on production of a supersonic pilotless drone.

AFP: SOVIETS SHIFT HELICOPTERS NORTH OF KABUL

BK211629 Hong Kong AFP in English 1400 GMT 21 Sep 82

[Excerpt] New Delhi, Sept 21 (AFP) -- The Soviet military command in Afghanistan has shifted half of its helicopter gunships from the Kabul International Airport to Baghram Air Base, north of the Afghan capital, for a new assault on the strategic Panjsher Valley, Western diplomatic sources said here today.

The reports were confirmed by at least two independent diplomatic sources, who monitor developments in embattled Afghanistan.

Western analysts said the military command had apparently changed its strategy on Panjsher where the government offensive to dislodge Moslem insurgents fighting the Soviet-backed government of Babrak Karmal has suffered a number of setbacks.

The emphasis is now to shift from ground fighting to air attack, the analysts said and this was linked to the movement of aerial forces from Kabul to Baghram, a military airport about 40 kms north of Kabul.

Western diplomats said reports on the present fighting in Panjsher were undetailed but they confirmed that fighting was still continuing in many places in the valley.

There was, however, no independent confirmation of the reports and Afghan diplomats here refused to comment.

Western diplomats said an unspecified number of Soviet-Afghan troops, earlier sent to fight the insurgents in Panjsher, had since returned to Kabul, supporting the analysts observations that there would now be less ground fighting and more air attack.

JASARAT REPORTS REBEL ATTACK ON PAKTIA FORT

GF211855 Karachi JASARAT in Urdu 16 Sep 82 p 1

[Text] Peshawar, 15 Sep (PPI) -- Afghan mujahidin have surrounded and attacked a military fort in Paktia and have killed several Soviet and Karmal soldiers. The dead include three Soviet advisers. The mujahidin also gunned down two Soviet transport helicopters.

News reaching from across the border indicates that on 8 September, 200 Afghan guerrillas under the command of Mohammad Na'im attacked the 'Ali Khel military fort in Paktia using Soviet-made "Hon" cannon, antiaircraft guns and rocket launchers. During the attack, which lasted 2 days, the Afghan guerrillas killed 25 Soviet and Karmal soldiers, including 3 Soviet advisers, and destroyed several armored cars and military vehicles. On the third day the Soviets brought in supplies and help for the soldiers remaining at the fort by helicopter. The mujahidin gunned down two Soviet transport helicopters. The siege continues around the fort, which is believed to contain 600 Soviet and Karmal soldiers.

BBC CITES REPORTS OF HEAVY SOVIET, AFGHAN LOSSES

TA211641 London BBC World Service in English 1600 GMT 21 Sep 82

[Text] Western diplomatic reports reaching Delhi say that both Afghan rebel forces and government and Soviet troops have suffered heavy losses in continuing fighting in the strategic Panjsher Valley. The reports say that the town of Bazare in the main valley and its surrounding villages appear to have suffered most from Soviet air attacks. Roads leading from the entrance to the valley to the garrison town of Rokheh appear to be strewn with the wreckage of armored personnel carriers, tanks and helicopters.

COUNCIL DISCUSSES DEVELOPMENT OF KABUL

LD210630 Kabul BAKHTAR in English 0448 GMT 21 Sep 82

[Text] Kabul, September 20, BAKHTAR -- A session of the Council of Ministers of the DRA was held here today under the chairmanship of Soltan 'Ali Keshtmand, member of the Politburo of the PDPA CC and chairman of the Council of Ministers of the DRA. The meeting discussed a number of important issues related to different aspects of the socio-economic and cultural life of the country.

Speaking at the session, Soltan 'Ali Keshtmand reviewed the participation of ministries and government departments in implementing the general plan for the development of Kabul city. The party, government and Babrak Karmal, general secretary of the PDPA CC and president of the Revolutionary Council of the DRA, personally attached extraordinary importance to the development and prosperity of Kabul city, added Soltan 'Ali Keshtmand.

In the general plan of the development of Kabul city, he added, harmonising the outward appearance of Kabul city with the tasks of its future economic growth and the solution of important social and cultural problems have been taken into account.

The chairman of the Council of Ministers, dwelling on the report of the State Planning Committee regarding the designing and layout of major projects and measures for improving affairs connected to project construction, said: "The expansion of the construction of industrial, residential and cultural projects and general services enterprises demands a new approach towards the designing of these projects and enterprises".

He said that all necessary conditions had been provided for the centralisation of planning different projects and improving coordination between the project planning and construction enterprises.

The mayor of Kabul presented a report to the session on the active participation of the ministries, government departments and other enterprises in the implementation of the master plan of Kabul city.

The session of the Council of Ministers discussed a number of laws and regulations and approved them. These included the law of application of penalties during imprisonment in the prisons, supplement No 12 to the law of income tax, regulation on the scientific personnel of the Academy of Sciences of the DRA and the regulation for instituting health commissions for certifying disability.

AGRICULTURAL COOPERATION ACCORD SIGNED WITH USSR

LD212220 Kabul Domestic Service in Dari 1600 GMT 21 Sep 82

[Text] An economic cooperation agreement in agriculture has been concluded today in the Ministry of Agriculture between the DRA and the Soviet Union.

The agreement was signed by Dr 'Abdol Ghafar Lakanwal, minister of agriculture and land reform, and [name indistinct], the economic attache of the Soviet Embassy in Kabul, and its documents were exchanged.

According to this agreement, between 1982-1984, the Soviet Union will provide assistance for the construction of six soil and agricultural chemistry laboratories, eight laboratories in the capital and some provinces for control and propagation of cereals and cotton seeds, the extension of an artificial insemination station, the provision of mobile veterinary centers in the border areas, the establishment of a poultry station and the construction of an agricultural technical school. This assistance will be funded by the R200-million loan provided in the Afghan-Soviet agreement signed on 24 December 1980.

In addition to economic, technical and research assistance, help will be provided for projects, material and machinery will be supplied, and specialists and advisers to train Afghan personnel will be sent.

EXPRESS URGES STRONGER TRADE TIES WITH JAPAN

BK1080418 Delhi INDIAN EXPRESS in English 7 Sep 82 p 6

[Editorial: "Mutual Rediscovery"]

[Text] The visit of Japan's foreign minister, Mr Yoshio Sakurauchi, to India marks another step towards enhanced mutual cooperation following Mrs Gandhi's brief stopover in Tokyo on her way back from the United States. Indo-Japanese relations in the past have essentially been of a peripheral nature. By and large, the association was confined to Japan's contributions to the Aid-India consortium and some trade in a few commodities. During its post-war reconstruction phase, Japan's export interest was mostly confined to South-East Asian markets, for which India might have seemed a likely rival. To meet its rapidly growing raw material requirements, Japan relied on Australia and Latin America. Later, its phenomenal industrial recovery and then its pre-eminence in sophisticated technologies impelled it to concentrate more on markets in the advanced countries.

On the other hand, India's widening technological association with the socialist countries and its restrictive policies on know-how imports and foreign investment did not encourage close ties with Japan. The situation has, however, changed dramatically in recent years. As Mr Sakurauchi aptly put it, the time has indeed come for India and Japan to rediscover each other. The recession-hit advanced countries are putting increasing pressure on Japan to moderate its export thrust. At one stage, China's ambitious modernisation programme seemed to offer an answer and there was a flurry of massive investment and technology-transfer deals between the two countries. But the Japanese were soon disillusioned when several of these contracts were cancelled by China. The prospect of large Japanese investments in Siberia has receded. Meanwhile, shrinking multilateral aid and the widening technological gap have compelled India to open its doors to foreign know-how and investments.

The change in India's development strategy is reflected in the joint ventures the private and public sector companies have entered into with foreign firms including some from Japan. Suzuki and Toyota are investing in Indian companies. India may not be an affluent market, but it is a sizable one. Politically, too, India and Japan have a common interest in global disarmament and peace and stability in Asia. The Japanese connection must be cultivated.

HAQ ON AFGHANISTAN, NUCLEAR ARMS, ELECTIONS

BK220819 Karachi Domestic Service in Urdu 0200 GMT 22 Sep 82

[Text] President Mohammad Ziaul Haq has said that the Afghan issue is inherently a political problem and it must be solved through political means. He was talking to media representatives from foreign countries who have been sent to Pakistan by the UN high commissioner for refugees to visit Afghan refugees' tented villages.

The president said a great deal of progress has been made during the recent indirect talks in Geneva with representatives of the political party in power in Afghanistan. Although there was no breakthrough, the very fact that there had been a beginning of indirect talks under the auspices of the UN secretary general was a good beginning.

The president said the first principle on which we are trying to settle the Afghan issue is that the Soviet troops should withdraw. He said the foreign military intervention in Afghanistan has disturbed the stability and the massive foreign military presence in Afghanistan has caused the impact of instability to be felt beyond its borders.

The president said until the Afghan refugees return to their homes, Pakistan would continue to share its meager resources with the Afghan refugees. He said the number of refugees in Pakistan is the greatest in the world. So far 2.7 million Afghan people have taken shelter and the number of Afghan refugees coming to Pakistan has varied from 25,000 to 100,000 a month. Despite all this we have continued to extend our hospitality to our Afghan brothers. The president said looking after such a great number of refugees is also an economic burden for a country like Pakistan. Assistance rendered by friendly countries and internal agencies meets only 50 percent of the needs of the Afghan refugees. The remaining needs are met through Pakistan's own resources. The president said that Pakistan is spending about $1 million every day to look after the Afghan refugees. The president said Pakistan definitely hoped the Afghan refugees would return to their homes some day.

Replying to a question on nuclear energy, the president said that Pakistan has neither the intention nor the capability of acquiring nuclear weapons. He said Pakistan is trying to acquire nuclear technology to meet its energy needs. He stressed the call on developed nations to help developing nations in solving their energy problems.

Replying to a question on elections, the president said the government is committed to holding elections and it will not take long to hold elections. The government is trying to find a system of government fully in accordance with Islam. The president emphasized that the present government is much more democratic than the past government.

The present government has held local elections after a period of 16 years because it was necessary to begin the work at grass root-level to restore democracy. The so-called democratic government of the past did not take any such step.

The president said he had tried to hold general elections twice, but they were postponed at the insistence of political parties whichwere not prepared to fight elections. The president said positive results would not have been possible under those circumstances and the same situation as that in July 1977 would have arisen, in which case he would have been forced to intervene. The president emphatically declared that the government is making all possible efforts to create a conducive and favorable environment in which people can exercise their right to vote.

Gen Mohammad Ziaul Haq said his government is trying its best to introduce a complete Islamic system in the country.

Replying to a question on the smuggling of narcotics, the president said Pakistan was not producing this banned commodity. The fact is that these drugs come from other places and are sent to Western countries through Pakistan.

HAQ ON KAMPUCHEA, REJOINING COMMONWEALTH

BK200229 Bangkok BANGKOK POST in English 20 Sep 82 pp 1, 3

[By The Chongkhadikit]

[Excerpt] Islamabad -- Pakistan will support a plan to allow Prince Sihanouk to address next year's non-aligned summit meeting in New Delhi, President Ziaul Haq said in an exclusive interview yesterday.

"We believe that Democratic Kampuchea should be allowed to reoccupy its rightful place in the meetings of the movement," President Zia said.

The Kampuchean seat in the movement has been vacant since 1980, but the issue is certain to come up at the New Delhi meeting, which is scheduled for next February or March.

Zia told me that his delegation would support a plan to allow Sihanouk to speak to the meeting, as well as restoring the Kampuchean seat to what has become a coalition resistance led by the prince.

"But for the positive role played by the Non-aligned Movement, superpower rivalry would have been far more acute and the threat to world peace would have increased correspondingly," Zia said.

Expressing support for ASEAN aims and objectives, Zia said: "Our views on key issues such as Afghanistan and Kampuchea coincide. There is considerable scope for developing closer economic cooperation and increasing trade between Pakistan and the ASEAN countries."

In a wide-ranging interview, the first exclusive meeting he has held with a newsman, Zia also discussed Thai-Pakistani relations.

"The burden imposed on us by the influx of Afghan refugees has, among other things, helped us better understand the problems faced by your country," he said.

"We admire the courage and sagacity of the Thai leadership and the people of Thailand who have successfully continued their march on the road to progress and prosperity in spite of compulsions generated by a tense politico-strategic environment."

Zia praised the work which his majesty the king has done for the people, including Thai Muslims in the south.

Zia said during the interview that Pakistan would like to rejoin the British Commonwealth.

"Pakistan is a member of the Organisation of Islamic Conference and the Non-aligned Movement," he said. "The Commonwealth would provide us with another forum to make our contribution, however small, for a maintenance of peace and stability in the world. We would, therefore, be happy to resume our membership if invited to do so." Former Prime Minister 'Ali Bhutto took Pakistan out of the Commonwealth.

Zia said: "We believe that the Commonwealth is a useful organisation at whose gatherings subjects of overall concern to its members and the world community are discussed, which lead to a better appreciation of one another's viewpoint.

"Personal rapport which leaders of the Commonwealth develop on such occasions is a positive factor in easing tension in the world."

MILITARY GOVERNOR WARNS OF 'ENEMIES ABROAD'

BK171207 Hong Kong AFP in English 0204 GMT 17 Sep 82

[Text] Islamabad, Sept 17 (AFP) -- The military governor of the North West Frontier (NWF) Province, which shares a frontier with Afghanistan, charged on Thursday that "enemies across the border" were infiltrating explosives, arms and saboteurs into Pakistan.

Reacting to recent violent incidents in the country's two biggest cities, Karachi and Lahore, Lieutenant General Fazle Haq said elements abroad wanted to harm Pakistan by fanning political violence.

The general said a terrorist group, Al-Zulfiqar, based at Kabul, was planning to overthrow military President Ziaul Haq, who came to power in July 1977 after toppling the civilian regime of executed former Premier Zulfiqar 'Ali Bhutto.

In the past three days, two of President Zia's political supporters have been killed in Karachi. One was murdered and another died in an unexplained road accident.

Threatening letters have been received by other Zia backers, including Home Minister Mahmud Haroon and Chairman of the Federal Advisory Council (nominated parliament) Khwaja Safdar, whose house in the Punjab town of Sialkot was bombed early this week.

In an implicit reference to the banned National Democratic Party led by pro-Moscow Pathan leader Abdul Wali Khan, the provincial governor said in border town of Peshawar that besides "enemies abroad," certain political parties which were still unreconciled to the creation of Pakistan were creating disruptive conditions.

(Wali Khan's father, Abdul Ghaffar Khan, 90, opposed the Pakistan movement which led to the division of the Indian sub-continent in 1947.)

The governor warned that the regime would never allow such elements to succeed in their "heinous designs to harm Pakistan."

He called on the people to guard against the "machinations of disruptive elements and their mischief against national unity and solidarity."

Similar views were expressed by Labour Minister Ghulam Dastagir Khan, who said subversives were directed from outside Pakistan.

With the renewed wave of terrorism, over 1,000 supporters of left-wing parties, along with students and known cirminals, have been rounded up. Police have also stepped up a search for suspected arsonists, thieves and saboteurs.

President Zia has ordered issuance of gun licenses to some citizens for personal protection, following a demand by Majlis-i-Shoora (Advisory Council) members for stepped up security for themselves. He has also sought public cooperation to combat terrorism, which he said had become a common phenomenon even in the advanced world.

MURTAZA BHUTTO WANTS TO LEAD OPPOSITION PARTY

GF211817 Karachi JASARAT in Urdu 17 Sep 82 p 1, 10

[Text] Rawalpindi, 16 Sep (PPI) -- It has been learned that Murtaza Bhutto wants to take over the leadership of the Pakistan People's Party from Nusrat Bhutto. For this purpose he has called a conference of all the People's Party workers now residing in foreign countries. The conference is to be held in Libya and will discuss increasing party activities within Pakistan in view of the present-day political situation. The activities of the terrorist organization Al-Murtaza will also be discussed.

According to THE TIMES OF INDIA, the conference will be attended by 250 followers of Murtaza Bhutto. According to the paper, the party is now divided into several factions. Also according to THE TIMES OF INDIA, the reason for the conference could be that the Soviet Union wants Murtaza Bhutto to be out of Afghanistan while the upcoming talks are held with Pakistan. This way the Soviet Union can create the impression that now it is well-disposed toward having talks with Pakistan on acceptable terms. With this background it is being speculated that the Al-Murtaza terrorist organization may set up its new headquarters in Libya.

TWO MAJOR BALUCHISTAN TRIBES RECONCILE

ARMED FORCES JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUE NO 1,054

LD211736 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 21 Sep 82

[Communique No 1,054 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. During the past 24 hours, the forces of Islam opened fire over the concentrations, supply axes and fortifications of Iraqi forces in the southern and western parts of the country and disrupted enemy land operations.

In the western part of the country, in a clash with enemy forces who were planning to infiltrate Mehran, our forces forced them to retreat and inflicted casualties upon them.

In the Paveh region, exchanges of fire continued, with the fire of the fighters of Islam enjoying superiority. The fire of artillery units of the Ground Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran on the Toveyleh-Shushkin road destroyed two vehicles carrying Iraqi personnel.

In the Musian region, as the result of mortar fire opened over enemy positions, three observation posts and slit trenches were destroyed and the activities of the aggressive forces were stopped.

In the Ilam, Shur-e Shirin, and Salehabad regions, our fighters returned enemy fire and defended their positions.

In the operational zones in the south of the country, our heroic forces maintained their superiority, firing on enemy tank and infantry positions, thus stopping the activities of the Iraqi units and silencing their intense artillery fire.

The heroic fighters of the Gendarmerie of the Islamic Republic of Iran smashed some positions of the aggressive forces on the other side of the Arvand Rud and destroyed a number of enemy slit trenches and heavy and light weapons, killing some of the Iraqi forces.

Yesterday Saddam's blasphemous forces opened heavy, long-range artillery fire on the residential parts of Abadan and destroyed 13 houses and part of a hospital in that city. Meanwhile, five of our compatriots from Abadan were injured.

During the past 24 hours enemy aggression and aerial reconnaissance in the operational areas and border towns in the south and west of the country were neutralized as a result of the tactical operations of the fighter planes of the Air Force of the Islamic Republic of Iran and the fire of the air defense units.

On 19 September three fighters of the ground forces, two fighters from the gendarmerie and two brave personnel of the police were martyred in the operational areas. May their souls be blessed.

[Signed] The Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran

MONTAZERI URGES MUSLIMS TO 'RESORT TO ISLAM'

LD212328 Tehran IRNA in English 1935 GMT 21 Sep 82

[Text] Qom, Sep 21 IRNA -- Ayatollah Montazeri, the highly revered theologian of the country, addressed a message to the hajj pilgrims, in which he assured Muslims throughout the world that "if you nations resort to Islam and dash your hopes in all the materialistic powers of West and East," and that "if you rise up for the cause of Allah only, then be confident that the Almighty will grant you victory and you will succeed in putting an end to the domination of despotic rulers over the destiny of your peoples."

The message stressed that contrary to the treacherous propaganda being launched by agents of colonialism and other enemies, Islam has proved that the great hajj ceremonies, in addition to spiritual and moral aspects, enjoy social and political dimensions as well, which, the ayatollah pointed out, dealt with relations between human beings and directing the dictates of the masses against the arrogants of the time.

Nevertheless, said the message, world Muslims, because of their being kept away from genuine Islamic realities and due to the separation of religion from politics, caused by colonialist propaganda of the enemies of Islam, including Western colonialists, for long years failed to take proper advantage of this divine duty.

Ayatollah Montazeri emphasised that if the Muslims of the world had given proper attention to the power and broad dimensions of the hajj ceremonies and gatherings and if they had prepared in advance to revive and properly exploit it, then undoubtedly their general status would be much better than what it is presently.

And principally, stressed the message, if the Muslims had proper knowledge about the values and sublime goals of Islam, their religious and national sacraments would not become a plaything at the hands of Western and Eastern colonialists and of their illegitimate child, that is, international Zionism.

If the Muslim nations, as it has been greatly emphasized in Islam, had joined ranks against the enemies of Islam, the two world-devouring superpowers of East and West would not be able to dominate them, said the message.

And it went on to say that in that case the servants of the superpower in many of the Arab and non Arab Islamic states would not dare to enslave their nations and keep them dependent on the superpowers and in cultural and economic poverty, despite all the spiritual wealth and God-given resources the nations were enjoying.

Ayatollah Montazeri remarked in his message that all the tyrannies being committed by the criminal Zionism and the usurper communism in Lebanon, Palestine and Afghanistan and elsewhere, as well as the massacre of Muslim Palestinian, Lebanese and Afghan women, children and aged men, were all due to the discord existing among the Muslims.

He continued by reiterating that as long as these discords, irresponsibilities and incoordinations existed, the general situation of the Muslims would not change, and the first qibla of the Muslims would remain under the occupation of Zionism, and the Islamic Middle East would continue to be the arena for the great Satan (U.S.) and its mercenaries.

In another part of the message it was pointed out that the recent crime in Lebanon, which was in fact one of the ominous objectives of the Camp David [words indistinct] warning and a good lesson for the world of Islam.

Those governments which kept reticence towards the massacre of the Palestinians and Lebanese Muslim masses and approved of the submission of an Islamic-Arabic state to Zionism in reality committed the greatest treason against Islam and the Muslims, said the message adding that "may God disgrace them."

It was stressed in conclusion of the message, that Islamic associations and organisations as well as liberation movements [words indistinct] "Neither East, nor West" in their activities, and they must make sure that Islam and its sublime teachings were the best ideology and the most powerful backing to attain full independence in all the spiritual and material stages of life.

JURISTS CONSULT KHOMEYNI ON 'UN-ISLAMIC' LAWS

LD211328 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 21 Sep 82

[Text] The theologians and legal experts of the Council of Guardians were received by Imam Khomeyni, the great leader of the revolution and founder of the Islamic Republic of Iran, this morning and held talks with him.

At the end of the meeting, in reply to a question as to what had been discussed with the imam, Mr Mahdavi-Kani told our correspondent: There were problems about which the Council of Guardians sought the imam's guidance.

One of the problems concerned un-Islamic laws, which are numerous. In this connection, we are faced with two problems. One is that their appraisal requires time. The second is: What will happen to the officials and judges if these laws are abrogated? And what would replace the old laws?

Of course, laws concerning retribution and the penal code were approved by the Majlis and the Council of Guardians expressed its views on them. But laws concerning other issues, like retribution laws and Islamic penal laws and civil laws and also laws concerning banks and the rights of workers and employers could not be settled at once without appraisal.

Regarding this matter we consulted the imam. If he saw fit, the Council of Guardians and the Supreme Judicial Council could review such laws, and those laws clearly contrary to Islamic precepts could be set aside and those laws not clearly contrary to Islam would remain in force so that the Majlis and the Council of Guardians could review them in future.

The imam said: That which is clearly contrary to Islam should be repealed. The rest of the laws that are not clearly contrary to Islam should be abrogated if the system is not disrupted by this.

The imam said: The Majlis, the Council of Guardians and the Supreme Judicial Council should act to replace such laws as soon as possible. If in doubt, judges should refer to the Supreme Judicial Council and to the Council of Guardians.

Mr Mahdavi-Kani added: Another issue discussed with the imam concerned the penal code. Cases may occur where there is no mention of an offence in the actual code, yet the judge might find that it is an offence. The imam was asked if the judge could act according to his finding in this case.

The imam said: Since one cannot do nothing in such cases, the judges should act after consulting the Supreme Judicial Council.

ARDABILI CALLS FOR PURGES IN JUDICIAL SYSTEM

LD182150 Tehran IRNA in English 2001 GMT 18 Sep 82

[Text] Sari, Sept. 18, IRNA -- Chief Justice Ayatollah Musavi-Ardabili said here today that the Iranian justice system should be purged of corrupt and unqualified people in order that it might regain its wonted reputation.

He said that judges representing Islam should possess knowledge and faith and that the task could not be fulfilled by merely putting on the attire.

The ayatollah, who was talking to Islamic judges at the compounds of the Islamic Revolutionary Guards Corps, expressed hope that with the creation of the college of law in Tehran the country would have another 300 judges in three years' time.

NVOI SCORES 'UN-ISLAMIC' ATTITUDE OF OFFICIALS

TA180604 (Clandestine) National Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1730 GMT 17 Sep 82

[Unattributed commentary: "Insult to the Blood of the Martyrs Is One of the Greatest Sins"]

[Excerpt] Dear compatriots: At one time the JOMHURI-YE ESLAMI newspaper, in an article entitled "That Which Must Remain," rightly wrote: Those who currently bear the responsibility of running the country and continuing the revolution should now more than at any other time pay heed to the point that in the course of Islam's history this is the only opportunity that has become available for the establishment of an Islamic government and the introduction of the true face of Islam.

Unfortunately, some of the authorities and many of the newly arrived writers in the mass media and also in government organizations and institutions not only do not pay heed to this serious item from the JOMHURI-YE ESLAMI newspaper, but rather by their improper and incorrect deeds actually alter the face of the Islamic Republic. As this same JOMHURI-YE ESLAMI newspaper has written, these gentlemen, by their improper acts, which are devoid of Islamic standards and mores, present an ugly face of Islam and the revolution to the people.

Numerous examples of the deeds of this group of individuals who hold sensitive posts in institutions, in government, security and judicial organizations can be shown, and instances of these deeds have even been published in our own newspapers.

We do not have to search very far. Let us consider this very imposed war and the self-sacrifice and heroism of the patriotic people of our homeland who are faithful to the revolution. From the war's outset, all the people and all the true revolutionary forces loyal to the imam's line mobilized all their power and might to defend the homeland and the gains of the revolution. Despite all difficulties and restrictions, the dissenting revolutionary parties and organizations called upon all their members, individuals and followers and the entire nation to repell the aggression and defend independence and the Islamic Republic of Iran. In accordance with the appeal of these parties and organizations, many of the revolutionary and patriotic youth, whether religious or nonreligious, voluntarily put on the sacred military garb and headed for the front.

In the terror of struggle, all soldiers and military personnel, having different religious and philosophical views, had and continue to have only one goal in mind -- namely, forcing the enemy from the homeland's soil and defending the revolution and independence of the Islamic Republic of Iran.

In the course of about 2 years of war we have repeatedly witnessed the list of the names of martyrs and the wills of heroes who selflessly went to the fronts and were martyred. However, at the same time we have also witnessed the bitter reality that many times some of the officials, with an insulting attitude, prevented the burial of these martyrs in the cemetery of the martyrs just because of their revolutionary opinions and philosophical views. Such an attitude toward issues connected with the pure patriotic feelings and self-sacrifice of the people is neither human nor Islamic.

NEW ALGERIAN ENVOY MEETS WITH VELAYATI

GF211749 Tehran IRNA in English 1615 GMT 21 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sep 21, IRNA -- The new Algerian ambassador to the Islamic Republic, Abdelhamid Adjali, in a meeting today submitted copies of his credentials to Foreign Minister Velayati.

During the meeting, Adjali said that being an ambassador to the Islamic Republic was a heavy duty and hoped that with regard to the friendly and close relations existing between the two countries, he would succeed in carrying out his mission.

Dr Velayati replied that the two nations of Iran and Algeria launched their revolutions on the basis of Islam. The Algerian Muslim nation expelled the French colonialists while relying on Islam and the Iranian Muslim nation, inspired by Islam, expelled the U.S. and cut off the hands of imperialism.

The foreign minister continued that Algeria was considered as one of the closest countries to the Islamic Republic and hoped that the ambassador would succeed in expanding the friendly relations.

OFFICIAL COMMENTS ON TRADE AGREEMENT WITH BRAZIL

LD211804 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 21 Sep 82

[Text] According to an IRNA report, the managing director of our country's government trading company held a press conference today at which he announced:

An agreement for the purchase of goods worth $160 million from Brazil has been signed by Iran and Brazil, in accordance with which Brazil will purchase more oil from the Islamic Republic of Iran than the goods it would sell to Iran.

He said: During last Ordibehesht [month beginning 21 April 1982] an Iranian trade and economic delegation visited Brazil to study the possible expansion of economic and trade relations between the two countries. He added: Brazil could become a good source of such goods as industrial machinery, plastics, electric refrigerators, wheat, soya, maize and vegetable oil.

We have also held talks on the preliminaries for the export of such goods as dates, pistachios, dried fruit and mineral ores to Brazil. The results of these talks will be subsequently announced.

Pertaining to the purchase of goods and the elimination of intermediaries, he said: In the past, most of Iran's commercial purchases were conducted through multinational companies, but after the victory of the Islamic revolution an attempt was made to eliminate these intermediaries and our policy now is to carry out all our purchases directly from governments or cooperative companies controlled by governments.

On the other hand, the Islamic Republic of Iran, in its trade and economic relations with various countries, does not conduct transactions with countries which either harbor enmity toward or have no harmony with our Islamic revolution. In this connection we give priority to trading with the fraternal, friendly and nonaligned countries.

He added: The Iranian Government trading company annually imports 6-7 million tons of goods, resulting in one ship being unloaded per day.

COMMUNIQUE ON MALTESE FOREIGN MINISTER'S VISIT

LD211250 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 21 Sep 82

["Text" of joint communique released simultaneously in Tehran and Malta at the conclusion of the Maltese foreign minister's visit to Iran]

[Text] In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. At the invitation of Dr 'Ali Akbar Velayati, the minister of foreign affairs of the Islamic Republic of Iran, Dr Alex Sceberra Trigona, the minister of foreign affairs of Malta, and Mr [name indistinct], minister plenipotentiary of this country, paid an official visit to Iran from 18 to 20 September 1982.

During his stay in Iran, the Maltese minister of foreign affairs was received by the prime minister of the Islamic Republic of Iran, Mr Mir-Hoseyn Musavi, and met with the ministers of foreign affairs, commerce and petroleum and had talks with them on political, economic and cultural relations and other important international issues.

The two sides expressed mutual interest in expanding relations and cooperation and exchanged views on possible fields of cooperation and steps to be taken in order to fulfill these objectives.

Both sides seriously condemned the occupation of Islamic lands and the savage slaughter of the Palestinian Muslims in Lebanon by the Zionist forces of the regime occupying Jerusalem and termed these acts as the climax of Zionist and imperialist savagery.

The Maltese side praised the Islamic Republic of Iran's foreign policy based on the prinicple of "Neither East nor West" and the Iranian side announced its support for the stance of Malta, which is based on the policy of nonalignment. Both sides stated their decision to strengthen the Nonaligned Movement and expand all-round cooperation between the countries of the Third World.

The ministers of foreign affairs of the two countries expressed concern over the worsening situation in the Middle East and emphasized that it is necessary to put an end to the military presence and interference of colonialist countries in the Persian Gulf, the Indian Ocean and the Mediterranean Sea and that the security of this region should be maintained by the countries of the region. In connection with the occupation of Afghanistan by foreign forces, both sides once again demanded the immediate and unconditional withdrawal of these forces from Afghanistan and an end to interference in the internal affairs of this country. In addition, both sides stressed that the future of Afghanistan should be determined by the people of that country.

Both sides expressed their interest in expanding economic and trade relations between the two countries to the advantage of both parties. In this connection and with due consideration to the available facilities for cooperation between the two countries, both sides agreed that delegations dealing with shipbuilding and repairs, trade, joint investments in industries and health be exchanged.

The Maltese minister of foreign affairs expressed his sincere gratitude for the warm hospitality extended by the Islamic Republic of Iran during his stay in Iran.

The Maltese minister of foreign affairs invited the minister of foreign affairs of the Islamic Republic of Iran to pay an official visit to Malta. This invitation was accepted with pleasure.

MIDDLE EAST AND SOUTH ASIA REVIEW

23 SEPTEMBER 1982

Israel

Knesset Session -- The Knesset rejected by 48 to 42 the proposal to set up a national inquiry commission to investigate the circumstances surrounding the Beirut massacre and also rejected by 47 to 40 the Alignment's demand for a debate on the results of the IDF's entry into west Beirut, according to Jerusalem radio reports. Despite Yitzhaq Berman's support for the inquiry commission and his resignation as energy minister, the government weathered the crisis by satisfying National Religious Party and TAMI members of the coalition with a promise that it will decide on a way to examine the Beirut massacre within 2 to 3 weeks, the radio said.

In their speeches to the Knesset, which were broadcast live by Jerusalem radio, Prime Minister Menahem Begin and Defense Minister Ari'el Sharon said the government and IDF bear no blame for the massacre while Labor Party Chairman Shim'on Peres called on the government to resign. Sharon confirmed that the IDF authorized the Phalangists to enter the Shatila refugee camp to search and purge it of "terrorists," but he added that IDF officers had stressed to the Phalangists that the civilian population should not be harmed, especially not women, children and the elderly. The moment doubts arose about what was happening in the camps, the IDF took measures to end Phalange operations in Shatila, Sharon claimed. The IDF prevented them reinforcing their units in the camps on 17 September and the Phalangists left the refugee camps early the next morning. He asserted that when the IDF chief of staff met with Phalangist commanders on the afternoon of 17 September, the Israeli side was still ignorant of the events inside Shatila. After the massacre became known, the Israelis attempted to question the Phalange commanders but they have refused to talk and to admit responsibility. Since the Phalangists had appeared like a regular army and had promised to fight only against "terrorists," he said, the Israelis never imagined that the Phalangists would "do the worst."

Criticizing the opposition, Sharon claimed that its attempt to topple the government over the Beirut massacre is "pouring oil on the fire of anti-Semitism and is fostering a blood libel." Linking "putschists" in Israel with elements in the U.S. administration who are trying to impose the Reagan plan on Israel or to bring down the Begin government, Sharon warned that "this is Jerusalem, not Saigon."

Milson Resignation; Protests -- Prof Menahem Milson resigned his post as head of the civilian administration in Judaea and Samaria, IDF radio reported. Although the radio said sources associated with the defense minister attributed Milson's resignation to policy differences between Milson and Sharon over the civilian administration, civilian administration sources cited by Jerusalem radio disclosed that Milson resigned because of the government's decision not to establish a judicial inquiry into the Beirut massacre.

Meanwhile, 49 inhabitants of Nazareth and 38 policemen were injured in clashes that erupted when the authorities dispersed protests against the massacre, Jerusalem radio reported. Peace Now and MAPAM activists demonstrated against the government in and outside the Knesset, according to the radio.

Lebanon

Security Situation -- The Lebanese Army extended its deployment in new areas of west Beirut after the continuing IDF withdrawal, Beirut radio reported. According to Jerusalem radio, the IDF spokesman announced that four IDF soldiers were wounded in west Beirut after a bazooka attack on a roadblock position. In the eastern sector of Lebanon, IDF radio claimed that Syrians and "terrorists" violated the cease-fire and caused the IDF to return the fire.

Support for Al-Jumayyil -- Syrian President Hafiz al-Asad sent a cable, carried by Damascus television, congratulating Amin al-Jumayyil on his election as Lebanese president. The message said Syria will always support Lebanon in opposing the Israeli invasion and expressed support for Lebanese national sovereignty. PLO Executive Committee Chairman Yasir 'Arafat stated that he also supported the election of Al-Jumayyil, SUNA reported. The Islamic Council stressed that Al-Jumayyil's election is a sign of the need for strong national unity, Beirut radio said.

Syrian Warning on Massacre -- Speaking at an ambassador's reception reported by Damascus radio, Syrian President al-Asad warned that Israel will be punished for the massacre of Palestinians in Beirut. Al-Asad alleged that Israel is completely responsible for the crimes and that no Lebanese faction or other group was involved.

PLO

"Informed sources" cited by Monte Carlo radio revealed that the visit by PLO Chairman 'Arafat to Saudi Arabia resulted in a Saudi-Palestinian agreement to exert intensive pressure on UN Security Council members to achieve Palestinian aims. The sources claim the Saudis will use all their capabilities to influence the United States to force Israel to leave Beirut and Lebanon. According to the radio, Palestinian sources stressed that the PLO will retaliate for the Beirut massacre, possibly with a suicide squad aimed against Israeli leaders.

Meanwhile, 'Arafat told the press on his arrival in Sudan that he supported Egypt's decision to withdraw its ambassador from Israel, SUNA reported. Later, 'Arafat met with Sudanese President Ja'far Numayri to discuss the Beirut massacre, Fes summit conference results and possible Arab action against Israel, SUNA said.

Fatah Central Committee member Salah Khalaf criticized Arabs for holding the Fes summit meeting after the Palestinian fighters had already left Beirut. In an interview with a Kuwaiti weekly reported by KUNA, he asserted that the Fes summit should have drawn up a war plan as well as a peace plan in case the peace plan failed, adding that he has some objections to the peace plan. Khalaf expressed astonishment that some PLO leaders sent condolences on the death of Lebanese President-elect Bashir al-Jumayyil, and criticized these leaders for "flexibility."

Egypt

President Husni Mubarak held Israel responsible for the massacre of Palestinians in Beirut. In a speech to the NDP Congress on 22 September, carried by Cairo radio, he asserted that the crimes were committed under Israeli occupation and within sight of its forces, which also supplied the arms and equipment used in the killing. Mubarak said events have confirmed that Egypt was correct in saying it was wrong for the PLO to evacuate Beirut and be dispersed without a comprehensive Middle East solution. He pointed out that Egypt took action after the massacre by condemning it and withdrawing its ambassador from Israel.

GOVERNMENT CONSIDERING SEALING PAKISTAN BORDER

PM221349 Stockholm SVENSKA DAGBLADET in Swedish 18 Sep 82 p 5

[Interview with PDPA Politburo member Anahita Ratebzad in Kabul -- date not given]

[Text] Kabul -- The Soviet-backed Afghan Government has worked out a detailed plan for an attempt to seal its more than 2,000-km-long border with Pakistan on the East German model.

The government is planning to seal off long border stretches, which are of vital importance in the current war, with barbed wire fences, further mining and armed observation towers. This would strangle the "counterrevolutionaries'" freedom of movement and their supplies of arms coming into Afghanistan. Unofficial sources also say that Kabul has sent several delegations to East Germany to study the country's special "security system" along its border with West Germany.

"Even though it could be very expensive, we could be forced to carry out these plans," Politburo member Anahita Ratebzad said in an interview with SVENSKA DAGBLADET. Mrs Ratebzad, one of Afghan President Babrak Karmal's closest confidantes and the only woman with a top government post, spoke indignantly of the revolutionary government's right to defend itself against imperialism and attacks from, it is claimed, 80 different training camps for Muslim rebels along the Pakistani border. The Afghan-Pakistani border, which is over 2,100-km long, snakes its way through countless mountains over which no government in either country has ever had full control. Tribal groups on both sides have always moved unhindered back and forth across the border, and the same is true of the Afghan guerrillas who have succeeded in getting into Afghanistan without being stopped by military patrols.

"If we cannot reach a political solution with Pakistan through negotiation soon, there will be no other course for us than to close the border," Anahita Ratebzad said. "But of course we hope that we will not need to resort to this somewhat desperate solution and that Pakistan will instead sit down at the negotiating table in earnest."

It should now be clear to the rest of the world, Mrs Ratebzad said, that the "counterrevolutionaries" are unable to organize themselves. They are, she said, far too busy with internal conflicts and violence -- something to which they have increasingly been subjecting the civilian population.

"The major part of the enemy has been eliminated," she claimed. "Of course, they could continue to shoot and terrorize in small groups, or rob, butcher and murder. They have already lost the battle. And there is one thing they should know: Even if it turns out that only one of us survives, the revolution in Afghanistan will go on."

Anahita Ratebzad, who became Afghanistan's first woman doctor in the fifties, went as far as to say that the major part of the Russian troops will have left Afghanistan in the course of 3 to 5 years. However, she reserved the right to retain a smaller limited contingent of Russian troops in the country in the future -- primarily for security reasons.

It takes time, Anahita said, to win over the population to the side of the revolution. So many are illiterate, suspicious and neglected. "But we," the high-level Afghan politician said, "have found a way of winning their souls." The first group of pilgrims -- 600 people -- have recently been transported on an Afghan state jet to Mecca. A large number of new mosques have been built in the country and the mullahs' monthly wages are paid for from state funds.

The statements about an "Afghan Berlin wall" on the border with Pakistan were confirmed in another interview with party secretary Mahmud Barialay, brother of President Babrak Karmal.

"It is one of our ideas," he said. "You could perhaps say that this is a reserve solution in case the indirect UN negotiations which began in Geneva this summer between Kabul and Islamabad do not lead to new progress."

Politburo member Barialay, who is also responsible for the Afghan communist party's foreign relations, takes an optimistic view of the chances of reaching a political solution satisfactory to Afghanistan in the next year. The UN mediator appointed to deal with the Afghanistan question, Diego Cordovez, will engage in shuttle diplomacy between Kabul and Islamabad and also Tehran before the UN assembly meeting in New York in November. Even Moscow, which is represented in Afghanistan by the new chief adviser, Gavrilov, considers that "a step has been taken in the right direction" through the mediation attempts which are now taking place behind closed doors.

At the end of last year, when SVENSKA DAGBLADET's special correspondent was also in Kabul, Mahmud Barialay caused major international headlines by declaring that the Afghan Government was considering asking the Soviet Union to send further troop reinforcements to Afghanistan. Today he says:

"At present we are not contemplating asking Moscow to send in more troops. In the last few months we have succeeded in stabilizing the situation and in the last few weeks alone the 'bandit hordes' have suffered defeats in the Paghman mountains, the Lowgar and Panjsher Valleys, the three pockets of final resistance in the country."

Barialay said that it is U.S., Pakistani and Iranian policy which determines how long a "limited Soviet troop contingent" will have to stay in Afghanistan.

"If the other side is prepared to negotiate and stops interfering in Afghanistan's internal affairs by giving solid international guarantees, all Soviet troops will leave Afghanistan. I repeat: all."

He added, however, that such a troop withdrawal will not affect Afghanistan's friendly relationship with the Soviet Union.

"We will keep the Russian advisers in the country, as did previous Afghan governments."

During the 2 weeks when SVENSKA DAGBLADET was visiting Afghanistan from the end of August to the middle of September the capital or at least its central sectors made a relatively calm impression, although there were explosions, shots and artillery fire during the night and occasionally during the day. There was nothing to indicate that the Babrak Karmal regime is not firmly in the saddle. However, it seems as if the Muslim rebels have become more daring and more selective in their sporadic attacks and, for example, two Soviet garrisons in the capital were attacked during August. The Soviet troops are keeping a lower profile than ever. The military machine -- at least to outward appearances -- is kept going mainly by Afghan Government troops. Unlike last year, the revolutionary regime's various ministers are now making trips outside the capital and are even visiting villages, although they do have armed escorts.

So-called civilian self-defense groups among the civilian population against the rebels' often ruthless demands for money, shelter and food are said to have been formed throughout the country. Large sections of tribal groups have obviously been bought by the government, which pays reasonable monthly wages, gives additional money for food and provides free arms and ammunition. A general view -- also among Westerners stationed in Kabul -- is that criminal behavior by guerrilla groups has increased considerably in recent months. Attacks, violence and robberies are everyday occurrences.

As the first Western journalists since the Soviet invasion at the end of 1979 we were granted the Kabul government's permission to visit the city of Herat near the Iranian border. Herat has long been thought to be a dangerous, troubled place, one of the most important bases of the Muslim guerrillas. During the day things were fairly calm in Herat, but early in the evenings wild uncontrolled bouts of firing broke out. Heavy-artillery fire went on throughout the night.

SUPERPOWER RIVALRY IN INDIAN OCEAN VIEWED

[Article by M.V. Pradhan: "Indian Ocean and the Superpowers"]

[Text] Politics is the fruit of history and history is the root of politics. This is true of international politics as much as of internal politics. In order, therefore, to comprehend the present superpower rivalry in the Indian Ocean region, it would be essential to trace the development of this conflict at least over a span of two decades. 1960 is the crucial year to the understanding of this issue which involves an impending threat to the peaceful existence of hundreds of millions of people of the littoral and hinterland states.

Generally in discussions on the subject, the blame for the escalation of tension in the Indian Ocean region is placed at the door of one of the superpowers. But as Prime Minister Indira Gandhi in her characteristically discreet manner rightly pointed out "what is happening now is that one power increases its presence and others feel that they have to go one more step and this is where the danger lies."

Shift in Emphasis

So it would be fair to understand the actions and strategies of both the superpowers as both are making their presence felt and taking steps to build up their naval and nuclear strike capacity in the region. The Soviet Union, though a late-comer here, is also strengthening its presence with the avowed objective of acting as a deterrent to the U.S. build-up, but this could also serve other purposes. It is, therefore, appropriate to bring out the relevant issues of the altered capabilities of the superpowers. The Soviet naval policy has been reoriented since the early sixties basically as a response to the programme announced by President Kennedy in January 1960, whereby the UN shifted the emphasis of its military policy from land-based to sea-based strategic nuclear strike system.

In pursuit of its objective of deterrence, the Soviet Union aimed at developing matching sea-based strategic strike capability. Taking into account U.S. press reports that the American Navy was developing two new classes of submarines, one very fast and the other very silent, the Soviet strategists decided that they should pay greater attention to the security of their SSBN force and evolved the concept of deploying the submarines in the defended ocean bastions in the Greenland and Barents Seas and in the Sea of Okhotsk. The Soviet naval experts were also influenced by the increasing possibility of war with China and felt that they must develop their supply line to the Far Eastern front by sea, in case the trans-Siberian railway was disrupted. They calculated the possibilities of joint naval action by Chinese submarines and the U.S. forces as well as by regional navies.

Soviet Strategy

Thanks in the main to the series of articles in "MORSKOJ SHORNIK" [as published], which brought to fame the new naval strategy of Admiral Gorshkov, it was decided to give to the new battle cruiser class the capability for long range at high speed by appropriate propulsion plants earmarked for the SSBN programme. The book by Admiral Gorshkov. "Sea-power of the state" (1976) revolutionised Soviet thinking on naval strategy. It led to the new surface ship programme involving considerable increase in the number of ocean-going warships to be delivered each year and in the size of various types.

The nineties will usher in a new era of Soviet naval power. There would be four main sizes of ships, with the type-designator indicating a general role: A battle cruiser size, a cruiser size of about 4,000 [tons]. By 1995, allowing a 25-year life cycle, it is estimated that there would be about 15 cruiser size ships, 65 destroyer size and 55 frigate size ships.

There would also be 5 battle cruisers command ships and perhaps 7 or 8 air-capable ships. Every three years, the Soviet Navy will acquire a powerful new battle group comprising a heavily armed battle cruiser, 3 cruisers and about 10 large destroyers.

SSBN production is reported to be running at three a year and as new SSBN join the fleet, the Yankees are being converted to attack-submarines. By 1987 the force could stand at some 60 submarines carrying 950-1,050 missiles. By 1992, the Soviets are expected to possess 1,200 missiles carried by 60-75 SSBN. Besides, seven attack units would join the fleet each year. A very large submarine of perhaps 16,000 tons surface displacement has been fitted at Sverodvinsk.

The Soviets are out to challenge the Western technological lead in the submarine field. The Soviets are well advanced in the technical deployment of ballistic missiles in the U.S. offshore-based systems. They have also done considerable research in nonacoustic and space-based detection system.

In assessing the overall implication of the superpower rivalry in the Indian Ocean region, the littoral states of the Third World must be aware of the combined effects of the Soviet naval programme. The navy's political standing has increased, resulting in a more assertive Soviet policy and increasing use of Soviet military presence in support of overseas objectives.

Soviet naval power had arrived in the Gulf region as early as in 1968 shortly after Britain announced its plans to reduce its military commitments east of Suez and the vacation of its Aden base in November 1967. Some of the flag-showing visits may have been the Soviet response to the visits by task forces of the U.S. Seventh Fleet. It is reported that Iraq has developed a new port at Umm Qasr with Soviet assistance. The port facilities there are beyond the requirements of Iraq's own navy. The Soviet Union is asserting its naval presence as a symbol of its global power and political influence to support friendly regimes and counter U.S. and Chinese moves in the area. The moving away of Iran from the Western camp has altered fundamentally the intra-regional balance of forces in the area. Western bloc's hope that Iran and Saudi Arabia would jointly maintain the conservative character of the Gulf regimes and would subserve Western economic and strategic interests in the region have been shattered. The Soviet Union has also beefed up its capability in the Gulf region as it maintains that the Gulf region lies in Soviet backyard and reinforcement can be swiftly airlifted from nearby bases by Antonov heavy freighters.

Soviet Warships

The Soviet Navy stepped up the deployment of its warships in the region in the first half of 1979. The aircraft carrier Minsk, accompanied by a missile cruiser, a 13,000 ton amphibious ship and a tanker arrived in the Indian Ocean in 1979 via the Cape of Good Hope. It sailed out the Pacific in mid-June. Further, five naval vessels led by guided missile cruiser Petropavlovsk arrived in the region in January 1980. A Soviet submarine support ship accompanied by a number of submarines arrives in February.

The Soviet ships docked in Colombo in mid-February. The 13,000-ton Ivan Rogov, the largest troop landing ship of the Soviet Navy, carrying 400 naval infantry men (marines), escorted by a destroyer, is reported to have arrived in Aden in February. The 40,000-ton supply ship Berezine, a floating warehouse, arrived in March 1980. The strength of the Soviets was estimated between 15 to 29 ships, out of which 10 or 11 were combatants.

The Soviet intervention in Afghanistan, in the wake of its naval build-up is considered a threat to American supremacy by the United States, as also a danger to "free" regimes.

An imminent theatre of war cannot become a zone of peace all of a sudden, whatever may be the hopes and aspirations of the free peoples of the littoral and hinterland states.

U.S. Armada

The United States has all along been making vigorous efforts to build up its military presence in the Indian Ocean regio.. . The U.S. Navy had been sent to secure naval bases in the Indian Ocean islands as early as 1948. It based its Middle East force in Bahrain as a guest of the British Navy since 1948. It comprised two destroyers and a command ship, a converted sea plane tender Valcour. The command and communication ship La Salle (13,900 tons) replaced the aging Valcour in July 1974. The United States signed agreement with Bahrain in 1971 to use the former British naval base for its Middle East fleet. It was explained that the base was needed to manifest U.S. interest in the area. The tiny permanent three-ship task force provided a constant show of the U.S. flag in the Arabian Sea and the Western half of the Indian Ocean.

Bahrain treated the U.S. base as protection against the Soviet Union which was moving into the region. Some analysts had thought the U.S. agreement with Bahrain was a sequel to the Pakistani debacle in its war against India in December 1971 and the threat of emerging Soviet fleet in the Indian Ocean.

The agreement between the United States and Bahrain was kept secret because Bahrain was sensitive to Arab reaction against leasing the only base in the Gulf. In 1973, Bahrain unilaterally asked the United States to withdraw the base. There was a change in Bahrain's attitude to foreign bases in the heart of the oil-rich region as there was pressure from Afro-Asian nations to eliminate foreign bases and make the Indian Ocean a zone of peace. The United States pulled out from Bahrain in June 1977, but in November 1979 Bahrain provided harbor facilities to United States warships.

The island of Masirah belonging to Oman was also secured by the United States. It is reported that Oman had agreed to an American request for the combined use of Masirah airport to refuel its Indian Ocean fighters based on Diego Garcia.

Oman's cooperation has enabled the United States to sustain its permanent naval presence in the region. This has paved the way to the stationing of Gulf strike force of the U.S. multi-service Rapid Deployment Force. The United States was also building up its military presence mainly in the ports of Matra, Salalah and the island of Masirah.

The U.S. Somali [as published] port of Berbera is situated in the Gulf of Aden -- close to the island of Socotra, and the U.S. Defense Department is reported to have earmarked 400 million dollars to modernize its runway on Diego Garcia to cope with B-52 strategic bombers with nuclear weapons.

The United States and its allies are building new airfields, barracks, radar stations from the Horn of Africa to the Cape of Good Hope, from Gibraltar to Suez and Gulf of Aden. Naval squadrons of the U.S. and its allies are sailing in the coastal waters from Alexandria, Berbera, Simonstown, Diego Garcia.

The Pentagon has already gone ahead with its plan of setting up an independent command of U.S. Rapid Deployment Force possible with its headquarters and some combat troops in the Gulf region. The force would continue to have a potential for worldwide deployment but its major focus would remain on South West Asia. The U.S. has landed three ships from the Seventh Fleet in the Indian Ocean region.

From this account of the increasing naval build-up of the two superpowers in the Indian Ocean, it is clear that the ocean is becoming a flash-point of tension. Some have gone to the extent of accusing the U.S. of the political motive of dominating over the littoral and hinterland states with the object of security the rich mineral wealth of these states.

Dangerous Rivalry

In the Rajya Sabha debate on June 9, 1980, the prime minister stated that the countries of the Indian Ocean region were having a raw deal. The big powers wanted to play their rivalry away from their own shores. The destablising events and competitive build-up of naval and nuclear strength have brought dangers to India's shores, changing fundamentally the security environment of the subcontinent. Indian Ocean has ceased to be a zone of peace but it has become an arena of superpower confrontation.

There are some powerful lobbyists who have been passing resolutions on making the Indian Ocean a zone of pea e. If their conscience had been stirred by the imminent danger to the millions of human beings living in the littoral states, there would be no objection to supporting them as apostles of peace. But their target is only the United States and its armada. They only point the accusing finger at the bases in Diego Garcia, in Oman, Bahrain, Somalia, Egypt, Saudi Arabia, etc. They draw attention to the attempt of the United States to threaten independent peoples in the islands of the Indian Ocean and charge it with violating the United Nations resolution on the Indian Ocean, but they fail to understand that the Indian Ocean zone of peace movement should not support the substitution of one superpower by another superpower. We have already noted reorientation in the naval strategy adopted by the Soviet Union, and the efforts the Soviet Union has been making to build up its naval presence in the Indian Ocean.

Real apostles of peace should do well to bear in mind the following facts and suggestions. They must first realise that militarily the nations of Indian Ocean region do not possess strong navies. On the contrary they only have token forces. Therefore, they are at the mercy of the big powers with strong navies inclined to interfere in the international affairs of these states.

Real Solution

The object of security, the Indian Ocean as a zone of peace can be secured only by containing the military build-up activities of all foreign powers. These powers must be debarred from making our part of the world and in particular the Indian Ocean a battleground for global power politics. We should aim at eliminating the military presence and military bases of all superpowers from the Indian Ocean region.

Further, we should aim at demilitarising Indian Ocean by seeking the removal of all nuclear bases whether of the U.S. or the Soviet Union, or any other nation. We cannot subscribe to the theory that the Gulf region is the backyard of the Soviet Union.

We should also aim at prohibiting nuclear tests in the Indian Ocean region. Our aim should be to ensure that the region will not acquire nuclear weapons or allow their induction by an external power. We should aim at bringing about greater interstate and inter-regional cooperation and solve all controversial issues by peaceful discussion. We should allow the nations of the Indian Ocean to utilise the ocean's wealth in a cooperative manner so as to remove the limits to economic growth caused by land-based natural resources.

It is within the framework of these objectives that we can achieve the object of making the Indian Ocean a zone of peace, and not by calling upon only one superpower to dismantle its bases. Further, there is no rationale in the suggestion that the naval forces of the two superpowers be maintained in reasonable balance at as low a level as possible. Once the presence of the superpower bases is allowed, a competitive build-up cannot be avoided, the dangerous escalation by both superpowers would seriously threaten the peace and tranquillity of the region.

KHOMEYNI MESSAGE TO NATION ON WAR ANNIVERSARY

LD221422 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 22 Sep 82

[Message to the nation by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeyni on the second anniversary of the war with Iraq -- read by Ahmad Khomeyni at a mass rally at Tehran's Azadi Square on 22 September -- recorded]

[Text] In the name of God, the compassionate, the merciful. Two years have elapsed since the onslaught launched by the world-devouring America through its hirelings, the 'Aflaqi Saddam, against the Iranian Islamic state and, indeed, against Islam. Thanks to the most exalted God, at every stage in this uncalled-for and imposed war the might of Islam and that of the Islamic Republic and of the armed and security forces, as well as the steadfastness of the crusading nation has become more manifest and enhanced, while the ignominy of the world devourers and those associated with or attached to them becomes more evident and greater and the hands of the subversive and [word indistinct] hypocrites has become increasingly exposed.

Praise be to the most exalted God and thanks for the Almighty's special blessings and for the attention granted by his holiness the remnant of God [the hidden imam of the Shi'ites], may all our lives be sacrificed at his feet; the Iranian state and nation has this year had conspicuous achievements compared with previous years.

In previous years the duped army of Saddam continued its crimes in our dear country. Saddam at-Tikriti and his masters had hoped that they would be able to continue with their crimes and acts of sabotage inside the country. They were harboring dreams of becoming generals of Al-Qadisiyah [650 A.D. battle between Muslims and Iranians]. They were nursing in their empty heads the dreams of separating Iran from its oil-rich regions.

However, this most blessed year has proved to us and to you that their ivory towers have collapsed and that the brave and faithful Iranian Armed Forces have driven them out of our country with the utmost ignominy. Now, like highwaymen, they have built themselves hideouts in the Iranian heights and have crept inside them, having lost their ability to confront the Iranian forces. From inside Iraq they are now pounding Arab-inhabited areas with their long-range artillery and rockets, martyring the resistant people of the border towns. The ambitious Saddam of Al-Qadisiyah has degenerated into taking his begging bowl to this or that government, comforting himself with a bunch of lies and proving himself with artificial face-saving solace. He imagines he is duping his army and he is trying to engage in an act of revenge against the innocent Iraqi people and the commanders of his army for his own ignominous defeat. Above all, he has declared Khark Island a war zone and his defeated supporters are whipping up the lie in the hope that this trick might persuade oil tankers not to come to Khark Island and thus force Iran to seek a peace. This evil trick has also been nipped in the bud and neutralized.

The reason for this is that Iranian combatants are courageously defending Iranian territory and ports and that the government, by providing insurance for oil tankers, has neutralized this plot. Today, the might of the Iranian Armed Forces, including the army, the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps, the Mobilization of the corps, the security forces and the popular tribal forces, is such that they can easily smash Iraqi cities. However, adherence to the commands of dear Islam has prevented the Iranian Armed Forces from violating the sanctity of residential cities. Had, God forbid, our commanders and armed forces been like Saddam and the forces under him -- disregarding Islam and its commandments and being devoid of human values -- Iraqi cities, the size of Khuzestan and others, would have been razed to the ground.

During the past year, plotters in the press and media associated with America and Zionism have, with the utmost impudence, accused Iran of importing arms from Israel, of being a supporter of criminal Israel. It has now become clear and manifest at the Fes conference that Israel's supporters are the criminal Saddam and the majority of the governments in the region -- support for a criminal who, with the utmost temerity and despite all its crimes and services rendered by the region's [words indistinct].

Israel has made a laughing stock of them and has humiliated them, which brings shame to any man except the aforementioned ones. It is a humiliation not for the leaders of these countries but because of their association with Islam and because, unfortunately, the affairs of Muslims are in their hands. [sentence as heard]

The result of these services to that murderer was the mass slaughter of the innocent people of Beirut, a crime whose depth we do not know. The extent of the crime was such that, according to reports by news agencies, it evoked the anger of the people of the world. It even forced, as it were, international criminals like Reagan and Husni Mubarak to condemn it. The extent of the crime was such that even pro-Israeli news agencies and papers condemned it and called it the biggest crime since World War II. Its gravity was such that even the foremost criminals of the world, like Israel, the Phalangists and their other collaborators, are blaming it on each other. The greatest tragedy for the Muslims is that not a word is heard from the heads of state in the region. More tragic and shameful than that is the unconditional support of some of the rulers in the region. Even, so the crime committed by Israel and its great father, America, is unspeakable.

Thanks to the God of the world, we are still receiving divine assistance from Islam and the Islamic Republic. And God redirected the deception of those who accused Iran of supporting Israel, and disgraced them in front of the nations. The 'Aflaqi Saddam, who kept finding excuses for confronting Israel, who intended to save himself from the combative defenders of Iran with these excuses, was very active in supporting and recognizing Israel and stressing its vindictiveness and valor [as heard]. And they plotted and God plotted; verily, God is the best plotter.

Now that the glorification of the week of the imposed war has started -- and thank God Almighty the brave Iranian Armed Forces are proudly going through the final stages of victory for Islam and the great nation -- it is necessary for the honorable nation of Iran in general, and government officials, announcers, writers, poets and artists in particular, to thank these self-sacrificing classes and express, in their words, thoughts and actions, the various stages of victory of these heroes, and recount these results and achievements during the ceremonies of the war week, and raise the morale of these great combatants as much as possible.

It is necessary for the committed and (?active) nation to show its presence on the scene of the war this week and punch those liars hard in the mouth. Today, the superpowers accuse our present-on-the-scene nation of turning its back on the Islamic Republic and of tiring of this war, which is truly in defense of Islam. They do not know the Iranian nation. Therefore, they are forced to tell lies. By making various accusations against the armed forces and the nation of Iran they intend to repeat their crimes in Iran at any cost. But the brave and resisting nation of Iran has stood against them and will never permit this. They intend to oppose the Islamic Republic, but such opposition will make our dear people more adamant and unite them for a longer struggle to defend Iran, dear Islam, their independence and honor.

Therefore, the merchants, dear students, the self-sacrificing combatants and other honorable classes -- should, during this war week and in gratitude for the victory of Islam, demonstrate their support for the Islamic Republic and the armed forces who engage in self-sacrifice on the path toward their goal, which is Islam and Iran; keep alive the memory of those self-sacrificing martyrs to whom the Islamic Republic and the victories owe a debt of gratitude; be grateful and honor the dear disabled, those who suffered losses for the establishment of the rule of God; and sympathize with and help the families of the martyrs.

Words are not enough in praise of those young and old ones who sacrificed their lives and health to keep Islam alive and the country eternal and free of blood-sucking enemies. Words cannot console those brave fathers and mothers who brought up such children and gave them to Islam, and those brothers and sisters who were near them.

They will be immersed in God's endless blessings alongside the great saints, and will enjoy felicity in this world and in the world to come. May God bless them.

Endless greetings to the martyrs on the path of righteousness and those disabled and made homeless in the defense of Islam and Islamic Iran, and to the families of the martyrs and the disabled. God's greetings and those of the saints and prophets to the remnant of God, may our lives be sacrificed at his feet.

DEFENSE MINISTRY ISSUES STATEMENT ON ANNIVERSARY

LD222328 Tehran IRNA in English 1941 GMT 22 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sep. 22, IRNA -- A period of two years has passed since the failure of the superpowers entirely, in their efforts to subjugate the Iranian Muslim nation by means of the Iraqi imposed war upon the Islamic Republic of Iran, said the Iranian Defence Ministry in a statement issued here today.

In this statement, which was issued on the occasion of the second anniversary of the Iraqi imposed war, the Defence Ministry added that the world oppressors imposed the war through their most savage puppet, Saddam Husayn and the Iraqi Ba'thist regime, against the Islamic Republic two years ago.

Saddam's regime, said the statement, began the war by sudden air raids against Iranian cities and residential areas, occupying hundreds of kms of the Iranian territory and martyring or capturing defenceless civilians.

But, added the statement, the Muslim nation of Iran bravely confronted this imposed war and other plots of global imperialism.

KHAMENE'I LAUDS PROGRESS OF MILITARY, GUARDS

GF221751 Tehran IRNA in English 1710 GMT 22 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept. 22, ITNA -- The Islamic Republic will [not] relinquish its just demands against the Iraqi regime until this aggressor regime is punished.

In an interview with the Persian daily ETTELA'AT today, President Khamene'i added that what the Islamic Republic is demanding today is precisely what it demanded in the beginning of the Iraqi imposed war.

"On the first day of the Iraqi imposed war we said that we would defeat Iraq, but many did not believe this," he said.

Speaking on the anniversary of the Iraqi aggression into Iranian territory (Sept 22, 1980). the paper printed the views of the president on the history and aftermath of this aggression.

"Although the aggression began on Sept. 22, 1980, it must be said that the war of the Iraqi regime against Iran started after the victory of the revolution," Khamene'i said. He added that since last March 1979 up to Sept. 22, 1980, Iranians had been victims of Iraqi aggression some 289 times.

Concerning the reasons for this aggression, the president said that in general Saddam's motivation in respect to his war was a mixture of his personal lust and ambition for power and his knowledge of the counterrevolutionary intentions of other countries in the region which were opposed to the Islamic revolution.

Khamene'i said Saddam and his collaborators believed that Iran would be taken by surprise since it was preoccupied with its own internal political matters.

The president blamed ousted President Bani-Sadr and "some of the military leaders of that time" for their heeedless reaction to the threatening signs of an Iraqi aggression. He said that the Islamic revolutionary guards [words indistinct] Khamene'i added, he would deny such a threat.

The head of the Supreme Defence Council said that at the start of the war the country was not in a position to counter the Iraqi forces. "The government officials neither knew the militarymen and their fighting abilities, nor had they knowledge of logistics and furthermore they did not even know how a war was fought," he said. "Everyone was in a state [words indistinct] even have precise information on exactly who were the military commanders."

The president added that the military commanders after the victory of the revolution did not even have correct data on the numbers of weapons or personnel.

He furthermore said that until 10 or 11 months after the beginning of the war they did not even possess knowledge about the existence of some weapons.

The Islamic revolutionary guards, Khamene'i said, had not been properly organized at that time either.

He said that he and other officials were exasperated when they tried to transfer one 106 mm gun for the IRGC [Islamic Revolution Guards Corps] during Bani-Sadr's commandership of the army. But he added that one of the reasons for the chain of victories at the battlefields was that the Islamic revolutionary guards were not seriously recognised as a force." In my view a key element leading to victory in the past year was that the commanders of the army understood the great power of the (Islamic revolutionary) guards and that greater force which was the people and the popular Mobilisation which is in the hands of the guards...the guards today are not comparable to the guards of two years ago. Today the guards are a skillful and very competent military force," he said.

On the blessings of the Iraqi imposed war, President Khamene'i said that now the Islamic Republic was serious about its enemies, adding "this is a damaging and dangerous thing that a government and a revolution does not take the existence of its enemies seriously."

One other blessing, he said, was that the army had become experienced, something it was not before the war, making the army "unequalled in the Middle East with its two years of war experience." Khamene'i also said that the Iranian military personnel had learned much about their equipment, which they had little choice but service it themselves, "which in the past we did not have the courage to do so, and never learned."

Other blessings he said were the training and experience of the Islamic revolutionary guards and the people's awareness of that difficulties of war, although he added, "the truth is that during the period of war we did not allow the time to pass too harshly on the people."

AFP REPORTS ON 22 SEP PARADE IN TEHRAN

NC221329 Paris AFP in English 1321 GMT 22 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sep 21 (AFP) -- Several thousand "combatants of Islam" marched through the streets of Tehran today in a parade marking the second anniversary of the start of the Iran-Iraq war.

As Prime Minister Mir-Hoseyn Musavi looked on, Ahmad Khomeyni, the son of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeyni, read a message from the revolutionary guide thanking "all the forces who have participated in this war, as we now reach its final stage."

Despite Iraq's "ruses to prevent maritime traffic" in the zone around the strategic Iranian oil terminal on Khark Island, the message said, "the Iranian fighters are courageously defending Khark and the Iranian ports, and the government, by proposing to insure the ships, has cancelled this attempt."

The parade went off as scheduled despite a 15-minute air raid alert earlier today. According to the newspaper KEYHAN, the alert was set off by an Iraqi MiG-25 which flew over the capital at an altitude of 2,100 meters (6,900 feet) and was pursued by Iranian fighters.

There was little military materiel on view at the parade, with just nine trucks supplied by West Germany and the socialist countries winding through the streets.

A group of 300 Iraqi prisoners, carrying portraits of Ayatollah Khomeyni, participated in the march flanked by Iranian Army troops, revolutionary guards and recruits from "movement of the disinherited."

ARMED FORCES JOINT STAFF COMMUNIQUE NO 1,055

LD221848 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 22 Sep 82

[Communique No 1,055 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. With wishes for the final victory of the combatants of Islam on the fronts of the war between truth and falsehood, on the eve of the second anniversary of the imposed war, the situation at the fronts and the results of the efforts and self-sacrifices of the combatants of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran are brought to the attention of the Muslim nation and the beloved and thankful Iranian compatriots:

In exchange of fire on the western fronts of the country, the heavy-artillery fire of the Ground Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran pounded the positions and units of the Iraqi Ba'thist mercenaries in the Tutman and Hargineh areas, destroying a large number of their individual and group positions and also destroying 2 130-mm guns, 2 trucks and 1 construction vehicle of the Saddamist forces and killing about 30 of the forces of blasphemy.

On one of the Gilan-e Gharb border fronts, the combatants of the ground forces set fire to a truck carrying enemy personnel, killing at least 10 of the Iraqi Ba'thist mercenaries and wounding some others and also inflicting heavy damage on 2 other vehicles of the Iraqi forces.

In the past 24 hours fighting continued on all the southern fronts in the form of exchanges of artillery and heavy-weapon fire. The victorious combatants of Islam, consolidating their defensive positions, returned the enemy fire and inflicted losses and casualties on the Saddamist forces.

In the exchanges of fire on the Abadan and Khorramshahr fronts, the heroes of the gendarmerie, opening fire on the positions and units of the enemy on the other side of the Arvand Rud, silenced the Saddamist mercenaries' fire and stopped the movement of Saddam's force of blasphemy, destroying several of their slit trenches and foxholes and killing a number of the enemy.

In the past 24 hours, the residential areas and installations of Abadan continued to come under the long-range artillery fire of Saddam's criminal mercenaries, which resulted in the destruction of several houses, some damage to the installations and the injury of one person.

IRAQI MIG-25 ATTEMPTS ATTACK ON TEHRAN

LD221122 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 22 Sep 82

[Text] According to IRNA, at 0858 today, an extremely advanced Iraqi MiG-25, flying at three times the speech of sound [as heard], tried to bombard the residential areas of Tehran, but was confronted with prompt reaction by the fast-flyers of the Air Force of the Islamic Republic of Iran, and before appearing in the skies of Tehran it was forced to flee. Only when escaping did it break the sound barrier.

NVOI: U.S. PREVENTING END TO IRAN-IRAQ

[Unattributed commentary: "Two Years Have Passed Since World-Devouring America's Assault on Iran"]

[Text] Dear compatriots: In his message on the occasion of the anniversary of the start of the imposed war and the beginning of war week, Imam Khomeyni, the leader of the revolution and commander in chief of the army, said the following: At every stage in this uncalled-for and imposed war. the might of Islam and that of the Islamic Republic and of the armed and security forces, as well as the steadfastness of the committed nation, has become more manifest and enhanced, while the ignominy of the world devourers and those associated with or attached to them becomes more evident and greater, and the hands of the saboteurs, the hypocrites and the deviants have become increasingly exposed. This is a completely correct and just statement.

Two years have passed since the imposition of the destructive war on our liberated homeland by the supercriminal of the era, the great Satan. It has been 2 full years now since world-devouring America, using the hands of Iraq and its other puppets in the region, has been shedding the blood of the peace-loving people of Iran and Iraq. The selfless Iranian families have been sacrificing their best sons for 2 years now in defense of their country, prestige and honor. For 2 years the great Satan has been taking revenge on the epic-making Iranian nation by bombing production centers, towns and villages and by razing to the ground the homes of innocent and independence-seeking people.

According to the figures presented by our homeland's president about 6 months ago, as a result of the imposed war Iran has suffered $150 billion in damages. The damage of the Iraqi nation also from this destructive war is definitely not less than $100 billion. Thus, as we are observing, the criminal America has delivered an extremely heavy blow from the economic, military and human standpoints to the two peace-seeking nations of the region.

As the imam of the nation has said: Actually it has been 2 years now since the sworn enemy of the independence and freedom of nations, the criminal America, began openly fighting against the Islamic Republic of Iran with the hope of possibly retrieving emancipated Iran; a hope which without the slightest doubt it will carry to the grave.

Our homeland, Iran, not only because of its immense natural wealth, but because of its geographic -- that is, strategic -- position, is the [word indistinct] of the so-called vital interests of the great Satan. Therefore, this supercriminal does not spare one moment in his efforts to crush the Islamic Government of Iran.

In view of the consistent defeat of the plots of the criminal America within the country, the hope of the great Satan is in particular more than ever pinned on the continuation of the imposed war of attrition. In this respect the calculation of the great Satan is very clear and obvious.

By continuously arming Iraq, by increasing large-scale assistance to this country through its puppets and associates in the region, and by sending so-called military volunteers from Arab countries to Iraq -- who now come from eight countries -- world-devouring America is trying by all means to prevent Iraq's military defeat and to prolong the imposed war as a means for wearing out the Islamic government.

Frightening the region's countries with the imaginary danger of the Islamic revolution in order to prepare the ground for the establishment of a military alliance or pact comprising the region's reactionary countries under the supervision of the Pentagon, and the gradual and creeping military occupation of the region under the pretext of assistance to remove the so-called danger of the Islamic revolution from the region, are among the other aims of the great Satan in continuing the imposed war and transforming it into a long war of attrition.

Thus, a very dangerous and large-scale plot is in the process of being hatched in front of us. One must confront this reality with a complete sense of historical responsibility. Some time ago we brought to the attention of our dear compatriots some portions of the report by Georgetown University's International Center for Strategic Studies about the Iran-Iraq war which is precisely the view of the CIA and the Reagan administration. When our sworn enemies declare openly that the Iran-Iraq war is in the interest of Saudi Arabia, Israel and the United States, that this war has caused further rapprochement between Iraq and the reactionary regimes of the Gulf and that it prepares the ground for the establishment of the Jordan-Iraq-Saudi Arabia axis; when we read in this report that the Iran-Iraq war and its continuation has preserved and will preserve further Israel's security interests, that it will cause the expansion of Iraq-U.S. relations, and that because of the non-shipment of arms by Moscow to Iraq Washington's relations with Baghdad will become warmer, can the conclusion drawn by the sincere followers of the imam's popular and anti-imperialist line be other than an immediate end to the imposed long war of attrition -- whose daily prolongation is only to the benefit of the great Satan, Israel and the region's reaction and in every respect to the detriment of the Iranian and Iraqi nations and other nations of the region -- is a vital necessity that cannot be delayed?

The member countries of the Arab steadfastness front and the progressive forces of the Arab countries and the world as well all demand the termination of a war which while dealing blows to the gains of the Iranian revolution assists in maintaining the interests of America and Israel, and are ready to exert their efforts toward ending this long war of attrition by complying with the main conditions of the Islamic government for terminating the war. One must end this long war of attrition as soon as possible by considering all aspects of the problem and all the current realities of the region and the world.

Lebanon

Political Situation -- All the wars of others in Lebanon at Lebanon's expense must end, President Amin al-Jumayyil declared in a speech at his swearing-in ceremony, which was braodcast live by Beirut radio. He said Lebanon will seek the evacuation of all foreign armies from its soil and will deploy an army "from all Lebanon and for all Lebanon" throughout all its territory. He also expressed determination to consolidate friendly and cordial relations with all the world, "starting with those closest to us, our Arab brothers."

Prime Minister Shafiq al-Wazzan spoke after Al-Jumayyil, telling the assembled deputies that all should rally round the president, who has sincerely committed himself to be above parties and sects. The prime minister subsequently submitted a letter of resignation to Al-Jumayyil, Beirut radio reported. The new president's first step will be to declare greater Beirut unified and demilitarized, Voice of Lebanon radio reported.

In other developments both Progressive Socialist Party leader Walid Junblatt and Arab League Secretary General Chedli Klibi congratulated Al-Jumayyil on his election as president, according to Beirut radio and AFP. In remarks broadcast by Ihdin Radio of Free and Unified Lebanon, former Prime Minister Rashid Karami expressed hope that Al-Jumayyil will be able to achieve the goals defined in his inauguration speech and stressed that the leaders of the north are prepared to "extend our hands to every hand extended to us in order to restore Lebanon's unity."

Security Situation -- The Lebanese Army continued to expand its control over west Beirut, deploying in positions evacuated by the Israelis, Beirut radio reported. Meanwhile, three IDF soldiers were wounded in southwest Beirut by bazooka fire, the IDF spokesman announced in a statement reported by Jerusalem radio. In east Beirut an ammunition dump exploded, injuring 18 Lebanese Army men, according to an army command statement broadcast by Beirut radio. While the official statement attributed the explosion to an accident in the unloading of ammunition, an anonymous phone caller told AFP that the "Front for the Liberation of Lebanon from Foreigners" holds Israel responsible. Another arms dump exploded near the Bristol Hotel in west Beirut, according to Beirut radio. A third ammunition depot -- belonging to the Al-Murabitun militia -- exploded early on 24 September, the Voice of Lebanon reported.

Multinational Force -- French troops disembarked at Beirut port early on 24 September, AFP reported. France believes that the multinational force should not leave Beirut before the end of its mandate without prior agreement among the participating countries and the Lebanese authorities, AFP noted. The clandestine Radio Free Lebanon said President al-Jumayyil has informed the U.S., Italian and French ambassadors that the multinational force will be under his command through an operations room at the Presidential Palace.

In a lengthy discussion with Philip Habib on the multinational force's entry into Beirut, Israeli Defense Minister Ari'el Sharon expressed opposition to the U.S. envoy's call for the IDF to evacuate Beirut within 2 to 3 days, Jerusalem radio reported.

Aftermath of Beirut Massacre

The Israeli Cabinet decided in a special meeting on 24 September to appeal to the Supreme Court president, Justice Yitzhaq Kahan, to investigate the Beirut massacre, IDF radio reported. Cabinet ministers consider that the investigation will be independent, the radio said, although it will not be able to compel witnesses to give evidence. Defense Minister Ari'el Sharon had earlier promised that Israel will thoroughly investigate the massacre and will conceal nothing, according to remarks broadcast by Jerusalem radio.

The radio also broadcast a statement by Israeli President Yitzhaq Navon urging Lebanese President al-Jumayyil to apprehend the assassins who carried out the massacre in Shatila refugee camp. Beirut radio subsequently reported that Lebanon's military judiciary has begun an investigation of the massacre. Noting that evidence is being gathered from witnesses and medical reports, the radio said President al-Jumayyil has requested that the investigations continue to the end and that their results be announced after accurate information has been obtained.

In other developments related to the massacre, THE JERUSALEM POST reported that the IDF's senior command knew late on 16 September that civilians were being killed in Shatila because the Phalange commander in the camp sent a report to the IDF commander in Beirut at 2300 stating that "until now 300 civilians and terrorists have been killed." The report was immediately transmitted to IDF headquarters, the POST affirmed. The paper noted that this information directly contradicts claims by Sharon and the chief of staff that the IDF was still unaware of the killings the following day. However, MA'ARIV provided a different account of the affair: While confirming that the Phalangists reported the killing of civilians to the IDF on the night of 16 September, MA'ARIV said the report was passed on through intelligence channels but was not forwarded to the chief of staff. In a statement reported by HA'ARETZ, an Israeli soldier disclosed that Palestinian women from Shatila approached his post on the evening of 15 September, telling the Israelis that the Phalangists were shooting their children and putting the men on trucks. The soldier said he reported this to his commander who replied: "It is okay, do not worry."

In the wake of the controversy over the massacre, strikes and domonstrations continued in the West Bank and Gaza, Peace Now demonstrators protested in Jerusalem and the IDF staff college commander resigned, according to reports by HA'ARETZ and Jerusalem radio.

Saudi Arabia

Reaction, Comment on Beirut Massacre -- The day will come when the Islamic and Arab nation will impose its rights on those who committed the massacres in Beirut, King Fahd declared in a speech broadcast by Riyadh radio. Muslims want peace, he said, but when their dignity is humiliated, they have to react. "I cannot say when this will take place but it will come," he added.

Relations With Jordan -- Saudi Foreign Minister Prince Sa'ud al-Faysal arrived in Jordan and delivered a message from King Fahd to King Husayn dealing with a number of issues, including Saudi-Jordanian coordination in the field of joint Arab action, Amman radio reported.

PLO

PLO Executive Committee Chairman Yasir 'Arafat arrived in Aden, where he was received by PDRY Politburo member Col 'Ali Ahmad Nasir Antar, Aden radio reported.

Arab League

The Arab League council called on the United States to abrogate the U.S.-Israeli strategic alliance and to stop nuclear cooperation with Israel, SPA reported.

Egypt

Egypt has informed Israel that its commitment to the peace treaty and the peace process remains unchanged, IDF radio reported. Meanwhile, an article in AL-AHRAM on 21 September called for Israel's expulsion from the United Nations and said the Israeli leaders should be tried as "war criminals."

Iran-Iraq War

Artillery exchanges continued with the Iranians reporting Iraqi shelling of Abadan and the Iraqis saying the Iranians shelled Basra, according to military communiques carried by Tehran radio and INA. Meanwhile, in an AL-WATAN AL-'ARABI interview reported by INA, Iraqi Foreign Minister Sa'dun Hammadi spoke of reports that the Iranians are massing huge forces for another offensive. He also noted that Iraq is continuing negotiations with France over the rebuilding of its nuclear reactor.

RAO RETURNS, COMMENTS ON GANDHI'S USSR VISIT

BK230840 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0830 GMT 23 Sep 82

[Text] External Affairs Minister P.V. Narasimha Rao has said that Mrs Gandhi's visit to Moscow is yet another milestone in the growing Indo-Soviet friendship and economic cooperation. Rao was speaking to newsmen in New Delhi today on his return from Moscow.

In reply to a question about the reaction of Soviet leaders to Mrs Gandhi's visit to the United States, Rao said he does not think there has been any reaction of any kind. In fact, the Soviet people understand that India's relations with one country are not at the expense of our relations with any other country.

PRESS VIEWS RESULTS OF GANDHI'S SOVIET VISIT

BK230950 Delhi ISI Diplomatic Information Service in English 0907 GMT 23 Sep 82

["Selected Extracts From Editorials" -- ISI headline]

[Text] Under the caption "A Fruitful Visit" the HINDUSTAN TIMES writes: If Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's recent trip to the United States was intended to repair ruptured relations, her current visit to the Soviet Union is aimed at strengthening ties which have been traditionally warm and singularly problem-free. Except for the Russian move into Afghanistan, on which the two countries hold divergent views, there is not a single bilateral or global issue on which New Delhi and Moscow do not find a large measure of agreement. It is therefore natural that such commendable rapport should be reflected in the joint declaration signed by Mrs Gandhi and Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev....

All in all Mrs Gandhi's visit has been a success and has achieved all that it set out to do.

Under the heading "Red Carpet in Moscow" the INDIAN EXPRESS remarked: Indo-Soviet friendship has stood test of time and was not in need of repair. Mrs Gandhi's current visit to the USSR has therefore to be seen primarily in terms of reiteration and reinforcement of the close and comprehensive bonds between the two countries at a time when India is not turning to the West....

The Soviet offer of assisting in setting up of a 1,000-mw nuclear powerplant, coming as it does in the midst of the Tarapur impasse, has political overtones as much as signifying Soviet anxiety to support India's critical energy sector....

The close identity of views between the two countries on global issues is reflected in the joint declaration signed -- but not yet released -- by Mrs Gandhi and Mr Brezhnev....

The divergence of views on India's attempts to normalise relations with Pakistan attracts attention. The two sides also agreed to disagree on Afghanistan. Soviet nervousness over the matter of Indo-Pakistan relations would seem to stem from known and unknown fears about the implications of a rapprochement between India and Pakistan on India's need for Soviet support and assistance. These fears may have been reinforced by Mrs Gandhi's recent visit to the United States and what the Soviets see as a shift to the right in India's economic and commercial policies.

Under the caption "Stronger Economic Links" TRIBUNE writes: Even before the full results of Mrs Gandhi's visit to Moscow have become clear it is obvious that India's economic relations with the Soviet Union are being strengthened.... The Soviet Union provides a refreshing contrast with the protectionist and other restrictive policies of the West....

However, any hasty conclusion that the Soviet Union has shown undue generosity to India without ensuring gains for itself would be unwarranted....

Like the Japanese, the Russians are hard bargainers and there have been instances of initial terms being stiffened with the passage of time on various counts.

COMMERCE MINISTER ON TRADE PROSPECTS WITH USSR

BK221357 Delhi General Overseas Service in English 1330 GMT 22 Sep 82

[Text] The trade turnover between India and the Soviet Union will reach the 120-billion-rupee mark by the end of the Indo-Soviet long-term plan 1981-85. In a message to a Soviet magazine, Commerce Minister Shivraj Patil said the trade turnover will be double of the level achieved during 1976-80.

Patil said that during the last 3 years India's trade with the Soviet Union has gone up by 140 percent. The Soviet Union's share in India's total trade increased from 7 percent in 1978-79 to 11 percent in 1980-81.

Nott, now on a visit to this country, was talking to newsmen in New Delhi before leaving for Bangalore this morning. He described his visit as symbolizing the growing cooperation between the two countries.

INDIAN, FRENCH OFFICIALS DISCUSS URANIUM SUPPLY

BK231006 Delhi Domestic Service in English 0830 GMT 23 Sep 82

[Text] Chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission Dr H.N. Sethna has had talks with Dr (Michel Biocaire) of France on the supply of enriched uranium to the Tarapur powerplant. Press Trust of India, quoting the atomic energy sources of France, says that their talks in Vienna were held without any of their aides.

'GROSS MISMANAGEMENT' OF NUCLEAR POLICY CHARGED

BK231553 Delhi INDIAN EXPRESS in English 18 Sep 82 p 6

[Article by Ajit Bhattacharjea]

[Text] Developments after Mrs Gandhi's visit to Washington have only heightened the impression that our atomic energy programme no longer gets the high quality of supervision and management that made it the envy of the developing world in the 50's and 60's. They have shown that she endorsed the much-publicised agreement for France to replace the United States as the supplier of enriched uranium for the Tarapur power station without advance study of whether this would in fact resolve the problems that curtailed the supplies from the U.S. under the agreement signed in 1963.

Obviously, the prime minister had not done her homework (atomic energy is her portfolio) and was taken in by the desire to make an easy headline. This recalls the far bigger blunder made in 1974, when she pressed ahead with the underground nuclear explosion at Pokharan without anticipating how heavily our nuclear programme would suffer as a result.

The loss in terms of withdrawal of international cooperation, especially by Canada, could have been justified if Pokharan had in fact been a major step in the development of nuclear explosive capability, whether for peaceful or military purposes, and if it had been taken after taking into account the suspicions that would be aroused and how the programme would have to be redesigned to go it alone, if necessary. But nothing that has happened since suggests that Pokharan was anything more than a one-time blast undertaken for political purposes rather than to attain specific scientific objectives.

That India was building the facilities required to explode an atomic device was known in the late 50's. The preparations were described in detail in books and papers written abroad. India, rather than China, was regarded as the first of the countries on the threshold of entering the nuclear club consisting of the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France. The planning had been undertaken by the late Dr Homi Bhabha. The intention was to provide India with the military option, in addition to the other advantages of nuclear development, for use if regarded as essential for defence.

But even though Jawaharlal Nehru was aware that China was making similar preparations, he turned his face against it. When China actually staged its first nuclear test at Lop Nor in 1964, many foreign observers felt that India could and would follow suit within two years. But the decision was not taken in view of the importance Nehru had laid on the moral lead given by India and its place in the non-aligned world. Ten years later, it was even less justified. China had forged so far ahead in developing nuclear warheads as well as missile delivery systems, that it was virtually impossible to catch up.

Even so, if Mrs Gandhi was determined to achieve the status of a member of the nuclear club, Pokharan would have been part of a continuing programme whatever the reactions from abroad. This would have required the kind of political will and national determination required to go it alone if need be to achieve nuclear status -- as shown by the Chinese. But Pokharan proved to be an empty gesture staged primarily to impress domestic opinion, though it resulted in international complications.

Thus India ended up with having the worst of both worlds: It had antagonised the nuclear haves enough to make them cut back on their scientific assistance and insist on stronger safeguards against further explosions without attaining the status of a nuclear power that could continue testing while insisting that those not in the club should be prevented from doing so.

The Washington blunder is not comparable to Pokharan, but it reflects the same lack of homework and forward planning, especially after the problems India has already had with France in procuring highly enriched uranium for the reactor research centre at Kalpakkam. It is hard to imagine Jawaharlal Nehru approving a new agreement without his technical advisers studying the implications in advance. They would never have allowed him to appear so gullible.

One reason now being given for allowing Washington to renege on its responsibility to supply Tarapur with enriched uranium is that Mrs Gandhi did not wish to antagonise President Reagan at a time when India is trying its best to woo American investment, as made clear by Finance Minister Pranab Mukherjee's speeches in that country. Even earlier, she had indicated that the tough U.S. response to an Indian abrogation of the 1963 agreement might extend to economic sanctions as well. This was clearly the substance of a message conveyed to New Delhi after Foreign Minister Narasimha Rao's statement in Parliament that the Tarapur agreement was virtually dead.

If this is the low condition of New Delhi's morale today, it will be in no condition to protest at all if Mr Mukherjee's efforts are successful. It may then just as well accept the full-scope safeguards on which Washington insists, though this will mean giving up Dr Bhabha's strategy for self-reliance and accepting the diktat of the nuclear haves. In any case, it is becoming increasingly clear that self-reliance in any field no longer has first priority in Mrs Gandhi's policies.

India's nuclear programme has already been gravely delayed and distorted by gross mismanagement. The strategy was to interlock the construction of reactors and fuel facilities so closely that the new generation of power reactors would need neither equipment nor fuel from abroad. Except for Tarapur, the reactors would use natural uranium and pressurised heavy water. The second state power reactors would be fuelled by the plutonium produced in them. This would lead to the third stage reactors which would be fuelled by what is described as the self-sustaining thorium-uranium-235 cycle. Since India has large deposits of monasite sands, from which thorium is produced, it would become totally self-reliant in nuclear energy and its by-products without international interference.

But the programme required large quantities of heavy water. It was to be produced at four plants -- in Baroda, Talcher, Tuticorin and Kota. All have been plagued by difficulties and bad management.

As a result, India is having to import heavy water from the Soviet Union, which also insists on safeguards. Instead of only one of Rajasthan atomic power stations using imported heavy water, both units have been obliged to do so and accept the required safeguards. Both have also been delayed and are functioning intermittently. Nevertheless, the Department of Atomic Energy is going ahead with two more power stations near Madras and two more at Narora in Uttar Pradesh.

The annual report of the department does not mention these problems, nor the delays. It also gives us no idea of the costs involved. But it claims to have drawn up plans to install 10,000 megawatts of nuclear power capacity by the end of the century. The present capacity is said to be 860 megawatts, though the reactors are running far below capacity.

Judging from the manner in which agreements that have come to public notice have been mishandled, a far closer look is required at this ambitious programme if the country is not to pay heavily for it in monetary as well as political terms.

EXPRESS VIEWS OPENING OF KHUNJERAB PASS

BK171717 Delhi INDIAN EXPRESS in English 9 Sep 82 p 6

[Editorial: "Exaggerated Fear"]

[Text] India's protest to Pakistan and China regarding the opening of the Khunjerab pass on the newly-constructed Karakoram highway has been rejected by both countries. A pro forma protest on the ground that all of J & K [Jammu and Kashimir] belongs to India until the Kashmir question is finally settled is a legitimate and understandable proposition. But it hardly serves India's interest to press the matter further. On the other hand, everything that goes to integrate POK [Pakistan-occupied Kashmir] in Pakistan, and international recognition of that fact, will help increasingly to define the line of actual control in J & K, as in international frontier subject only to such rectification and adjustment as may be necessary in order to secure a rational boundary when a final settlement is struck.

To read a threat from China or Pakistan following the mere linking of the Khunjerab pass with the Karakoram highway, which is already connected to Xinjiang through the Mintaka pass, is to raise a bogey at a time when efforts would be better concentrated on getting on with the process of normalising relations with Pakistan and China. The panic that manifests itself in official and semi-official quarters from time to time when developments such as the Khunjerab pass road-link are reported essentially betrays a lack of depth in Indian foreign policy. It is this that should worry right-thinking people.

HAQ TO BEGIN 6-DAY VISIT TO PRC 17 OCT

[Text] President Mohammad Ziaul Haq will pay a 6-day official visit to People's Republic of China at the invitation of Chinese Prime Minister Zhao Ziyang beginning on the 17th of next month.

During his stay in China, the president will hold talks with Chinese Prime Minister Zhao Ziyang and other Chinese leaders on bilateral matters, major international issues and the regional situation.

HAQ SAYS ARMY EQUIPPED WITH NECESSARY WEAPONS

BK230043 Karachi Domestic Service in Urdu 1500 GMT 22 Sep 82

[Text] President Gen Mohammad Ziaul Haq has said that Pakistan's Armed Forces are equipped with necessary sophisticated weapons and possess the professional capability to effectively defend the geographical and ideological frontiers of the country. The president, who is also the chief of the army staff, said this at Baluch regimental center, Abbottabad, in his address at a function on the occasion of the assumption of office of the new colonel commandant, Lt Gen Rahimuddin Khan.

The president said our efforts to acquire sophisticated weapons do not imply that we possess any kind of aggressive ambitions. We are making these efforts solely for our defense, and they do not pose a threat to any other country. He said we love our independence while also respecting the independence of others.

He said reports published in certain sections of the press about the U.S. arms supply to Pakistan are baseless and thanked the Governments of China and Saudi Arabia for their liberal assistance to Pakistan. He also appreciated the roles of other Islamic nations in this regard.

Referring to elections in the country, the president reiterated that elections will definitely be held.

About past performances of the Baluch regiment, the president said the Baluch regiment is the senior regiment of the Pakistan Army, and it has century-old tales of courage and valor. Also, on account of its military achievements, it enjoys an eminent position throughout the world.

DELEGATE TO IPU REJECTS PEACE PROPOSAL

LD231058 Tehran IRNA in English 0930 GMT 23 Sep 82

[Text] Rome, Sept. 22, IRNA -- The Iranian delegation to the IPU conference in Rome rejected Australian envoy's proposal concerning ending the Iraqi imposed war.

One of the Iranian delegates in the Interparliamentary Union conference, Mohammad Zanganeh, said the reason for the rejection was its similarity with Iraqi proposed resolution.

Iran in its suggested proposal called for condemnation of Iraq for unilaterally cancelling the 1975 accord and for its aggression and occupation of Iranian territory, its violation of human rights in massacring innocent people particularly bombing of a demonstration in Hamadan, western Iran to mark the Jerusalem Day as well as schools, hospitals, and Iranian cities.

Iran in its proposed resolution also requested the secretary general of the union to send a parliamentary mission to inspect Saddam's crimes in Iran.

Iran's demands in the proposed resolution also include the return of Iraqi deportees to their own lands, a return of their confiscated properties, also putting pressure on Iraq to accept the humanitarian POWs relatives visit exchange.

Meanwhile, the Iranian delegation participating in the 69th Interparliamentary Union conference also met with several Italian officials yesterday.

They discussed matters of mutual interest and studied mutual industrial and economic cooperation.

MAHALLATI ON WAR, 'COUNTERREVOLUTIONARIES'

GF231750 Tehran IRNA in English 1720 GMT 23 Sep 82

[Text] Rasht, Sept 23, IRNA -- The representative of Imam Khomeyni in the Islamic Revolutionary Guards Corps (IRGC), Hojjat ol-Eslam Mahallati, in an interview here today said that the Iraq-imposed war has further consolidated the unity among the armed forces. The hojjat ol-Eslam, who is also the deputy from Rasht in the Majlis, and is currently here on the occasion of "war week", further added that the unity between the Iranian Muslim forces had frightened the world and as a result of the war more than one million youths have gone under military training and a powerful Islamic army has been established.

At present the IRGC enjoying good organizational structure, has various brigades and the IRGC high school has already been established and preparations are underway for the opening of an academy for the IRGC, he said.

Hojjat ol-Eslam Mahallati further told IRNA that the key to the victory of the Iranian forces in the Iraqi-imposed war was Islamic morale and human power.

Commenting on the desperate moves of the monafeqin [hypocrites] (MKO) [Mojahedin-e Khalq] and their present situation, he said that in his view the activities of the counterrevolutionary grouplets were over and now they had taken up an attitude of vengeance through entering into an alliance with Qashqa'i tribes and the defunct Kurdish Democratic Party (KDP). He pointed out that these grouplets could not prove anything.

The counterrevolutionaries were in the last days of their disgraceful life, as shown in their terrorist activities, he said.

With the help of the United States and other superpowers, the counterrevolutionary groups aimed at overthrowing the Islamic Republic. However, he went on to say, the Iranian people who have defeated the Iraqi forces, could easily wipe out the counterrevolutionaries.

As for the poisonous propaganda of the world imperialists led by the U.S. in the region, Mahallati said that the reactionary regimes of the region by their vicious propaganda were trying to prevent dissemination of news related to the Islamic revolution in the region and in the world.

However, he added, with the help of God and leadership of Imam Khomeyni all these plots have been thwarted.

[Communique No 1,056 of the Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran]

[Text] In His exalted name. The faithful combatants of God continue their sacred aims of defending Islam and protecting their Islamic homeland and work day and night with self-service, steadfastness and resistance.

Part of the Islam combatants' activities and a summary of operations carried out on the battlefronts over the past 24 hours are as follows:

On the country's western front, exchanges of heavy-weapon fire continued. Our forces on all those fronts answered enemy fire, inflicting losses and casualties. The artillery of the Islamic Republic of Iran Army was brought against the enemy positions on the country's western fronts yesterday and opened defensive fire on the enemy artillery. This resulted in silencing enemy artillery, as well as destroying one aggressor's fieldgun and several bunkers. Exchanges of fire continued with greater intensity at Salehabad, Qasr-e Shirin and Meymak. Our forces opened fire on the enemy at the (?north).

On the country's southern front, our forces defended their positions and opened fire on enemy concentrations. Our forces used mortar and artillery fire to halt enemy activities.

The infidel enemy continued its inhuman actions, destroying defenseless people's houses, and yesterday brought the city of Abadan's residential sector under its heavy artillery once again. As a result of this, three houses were destroyed, two mosques were damaged and several areas gutted.

Enemy aircraft violated Iranian airspace during the past 24 hours but were foiled by tactical maneuvers of the air force's fighter planes and the fire of the antiaircraft units. The aggressor enemy aircraft were driven off.

[Signed] The Joint Staff of the Armed Forces of the Islamic Republic of Iran

MUSAVI STRESSES NEED FOR GOVERNMENT COORDINATION

LD232240 Tehran IRNA in English 1934 GMT 23 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept. 23 IRNA -- Prime Minister Mir-Hoseyn Musavi Wednesday urged coordination between Cabinet ministers and the council for the coordination of revolutionary institutions, adding that such a cooperation was necessary since people regarded the government and the council as popular bodies.

He said that to speed up compilation of the regulations based on Islamic codes the council could present proposals to the government on various current issues.

Prime Minister Musavi presided over a joint meeting of Cabinet ministers and the council here Wednesday afternoon.

KHOMEYNI WARNS STUDENTS AGAINST EAST, WEST

LD232232 Tehran IRNA in English 0951 GMT 23 Sep 82

[Text] Tehran, Sept 23, IRNA -- Millions of students throughout the country attended school classes this morning on the first day of the new academic year, [which] started with a message from the leader of the Islamic revolution, Imam Khomeyni.

The imam urged all education officials to make efforts for the further improvement in educational activities stressing that Iran today could no more tolerate pro-Western or Eastern thoughts. He also emphasised that all educational officials should be selected from among committed people believing in the Islamic Republic.

Noting that it was only Iran's culture which was based on Islamic principles, the message said that students should be educated in a way that when graduated, they would deeply believe that the main source of all miseries was the superpowers of the East and the West.

Imam Khomeyni warned teachers of penetration of left wing Soviet-backed or pro-U.S. groups among the students, calling on the students to report to school officials in case they faced with students who, disguised as friends, attempted to deceive their class-mates.

Addressing the students, the message urged them to step on the path of truth adding that any deviation from this path would not only destroy them, but would affect others in the long run.

"You should be careful that penetration of monafeqin [hypocrites] (MKO) [Mohahedin-e Khalq] and other saboteurs and groups in high schools and other education centres would cause annihilation of Islam for which all those involved in educational affairs, especially Hezbollahi high school teachers and students, will be responsible," the message remarked.

Any negligence in educational affairs was a treason to Islam, Islamic Republic and cultural independence of the country and should seriously be avoided, the message read.

It stressed that the fate of a country and a nation was in the hands of the intellectual stratum, adding that the objectives of neo-colonialism was to exploit this group in its own interest.

The imam noted that due to the failure of the ruling system during the former regime, in every field the country was in need of foreign assistance which hindered the country and Islam from any promotion.

He called on all strata to embark on overall round-the-clock efforts to compensate past deficiencies.

The message also urged parents to carefully watch their children's contacts not to be deceived by U.S. monafeqin or misled Soviet-backed elements.

The message hoped that students would guarantee cultural, political and military independence of the country in future, to save Iran from conspiracies of superpowers and found true Third World realm [as received].

CLANDESTINE: REGIME USING CHEMICAL WEAPONS

GF221809 (Clandestine) Free Voice of Iran in Persian to Iran 1500 GMT 22 Sep 82

[Text] The Free Voice of Iran correspondent in Paris reports that the office of the Mojahedin-e Khalq in France has issued a statement which says that on 14 September a group of the personnel at the military base at (Qalat), connected with the Hamzeh garrison in Reza'iyeh, which was one of the centers of the crushing forces of Khomeyni in Kordestan, during a series of operations destroyed a major portion of this base and then rejoined the resistance groups in Kordestan.

During the operation of the patriotic nationalist forces personnel in (Qalat), 20 commanders and mercenaries of Khomeyni were killed and 1 120-mm gun, 1 tank, 5 mortar launchers, several ground-to-air missiles and an ammunition dump at the base were destroyed.

The Mojahedin-e Khalq statement also adds that during a recent air attack by Khomeyni's air force around Piranshahr villages, the regime used incendiary and chemical bombs.

DEPUTY VISITS SOVIET POW'S IN AFGHAN CAMPS

GF231748 Tehran IRNA in English 1710 GMT 23 Sep 82

[Text] Islamabad, Sept 23 IRNA -- Ms A'zam Taleqani, the Tehran deputy in Majlis who is currently here, visited the camp of the Afghan mujahidin near Peshawar and met and talked with the Soviet POWs in the camp.

During the meeting the Soviet captives said that they were forced to go to Afghanistan and added that they were not willing to fight against the Afghan Muslim mujahidin who are fighting against Afghanistan's Soviet-backed regime.

Ms Taleqani also met with a number of Moro militants who are fighting against the current regime in Philippines. The Moro combatants are undergoing military training in the mujahidin's camp.

She told the Moro freedomfighters that the committed Muslim forces will ultimately win and the lackey regimes were doomed.

In a press conference in Peshawar, commenting on the attitude of the Islamic countries towards the issue of Palestine, she said that regimes such as that of Saudi Arabia only pretended to support the Palestinians. Such regimes were telling lies and in fact were on the side of the Zionist regime, she said to reporters.

IRNA REPORTS ON AFGHAN REBEL SUCCESSES

LD231354 Tehran IRNA in English 1001 GMT 23 Sep 82

[Text] Islamabad, Sept. 23, IRNA -- The leader of Afghanistan Islamic Alliance, Burhanuddin Rabbani, said Wednesday that so far the Soviets had embarked on seven intensive attacks against Panjsher Valley and in the last of the series, mujahidin had killed over 6,000 Afghan and Soviet soldiers and commandos, also destroying 30 helicopters and planes in their bases.

Speaking to IRNA in Peshawar, the Afghan Muslim leader added that mujahidin seized 1,200 rifles and 21 tanks during the attack launched by joint Afghan and Soviet forces with 20,000 troops and 1,000 tanks.

In this last intrusion, lasting for three months, the Soviets bombed the area for 40 days during which a 1,000-man battalion of the Soviet-backed Afghan forces surrendered to mujahidin.

Speaking about the alliance which was earlier formed by seven different groups who are active in their struggle against the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan, he stressed that Shi'a brothers should joint the united front, adding that if they could not come under a united leadership, their alliance would not be successful.

Referring to the fate of Soviet POWs, Rabbani said that they would be exchanged for mujahidin but so far the Soviet Union had committed treason and had not handed over mujahidin resisters. Also, he added, a number of Soviet captives had been converted to Islam and were teaching mujahidin how to use arms they had seized from the occuping forces.

While commenting on recent Pak-Afghan talks under the supervision of the United Nations, Rabbani emphasised that they did not accept such negotiations with absence of the two belligerent parties.

LATE REPORT: KHO'INI ARRESTED IN MECCA

LD241150 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1036 GMT 24 Sep 82

[Text] On the occasion of the second anniversary of the imposed war and during the war week, and at the invitation of Hojjat ol-Eslam Musavi-Kho'ini, the imam's representative and the supervisor of the Iranian pilgrims, this morning at 0900 a glorious gathering of pilgrims to the house of God assembled in a vast area in front of the (?congregational) mosque; pilgrims from other countries could also be seen in their midst.

The pilgrims carried portraits of Imam Khomeyni and placards saying: "There is no god but God, and Muhammad is the prophet of God." Although they were chanting unity slogans and slogans such as "Death to Israel" and "Death to America," they maintained order and tried not to provoke the Saudi police, special guards and other Saudi officials carrying clubs and shields, who had surrounded them.

After reciting the Friday passage from the Koran, the Iranian pilgrims started chanting unity slogans and were preparing to continue the rest of the program when heavy and light vehicles and ambulances, blowing their horns and sounding their sirens, penetrated the solid ranks of those who had taken part in the gathering and started to confiscate pamphlets and placards.

At this time, the imam's representative issued the order for a quiet march without any slogans and the vast crowd began moving in solid ranks toward Masjid al-Haram [the mosque where the pilgrimage takes place]. The Saudi police set up a barrier in front of the marchers, began beating and injuring a number of them and arrested a number of others.

The marchers refrained from reacting so as not to provoke the police, and continued their march toward Masjid al-Haram in an orderly fashion to take part in the Friday prayers.

While chanting slogans such as "Death to Israel" and "Death to America" in front of the mosque, they started entering Masjid al-Haram.

The Saudi officials stationed as many police and security guards as they could on the marchers' route and had helicopters in the air. When a large part of the crowd passed the podium where speeches were being delivered and where the relief headquarters was based, members of the police rushed into the relief headquarters, tore up the placards, confiscated portraits of the imam and pamphlets, and arrested Hojjat ol-Eslam Musavi-Kho'ini, the imam's representative; Hojjat ol-Eslam Jannati, a member of the Council of Guardians; and a number of other people who were present.

FBIS DAILY REPORT

MIDDLE EAST AND SOUTH ASIA REVIEW

27 SEPTEMBER 1982

Lebanon

Security Situation -- The Lebanese Army has taken control of all west Beirut and the southern suburb apart from the airport, which the Israelis are expected to evacuate shortly, Beirut radio reported early on 27 September, citing Lebanese military sources. The previous day, Voice of Lebanon radio said the Israelis continued to evacuate west Beirut but were maintaining a symbolic presence in the harbor and Al-Awza'i. The IDF spokesman announced in a statement reported by IDF radio that Israel will complete the evacuation of its forces from west Beirut by 29 September. Jerusalem radio said the United States, France and Italy informed Israel that they will not deploy the multinational force in Beirut until the IDF leaves the city. Nevertheless, the French had landed 670 men by 25 September, although the Italians delayed their disembarkation until the following day when the Israelis agreed to withdraw from the port, according to Beirut radio and AFP. Meanwhile, sources cited by AFP revealed that President Amin al-Jumayyil has urged the French and Italians to protect the Palestinian refugee camps.

Israeli forces in Beirut, sustained casualties in several incidents over the weekend. An IDF soldier was killed and two others were wounded by gunfire on 24 September while three more Israelis were wounded by a mine the following day, according to Jerusalem television and radio reports. In other incidents on 25 September, three Israelis disappeared and another was wounded by gunfire, AFP reported.

In the mountains east of Beirut four UNIFIL officers -- including two Americans -- were killed by a landmine on 25 September, Voice of Lebanon radio reported. The radio also said the Syrians have reduced the number of tanks deployed in the Al-Biqa' Valley but have brought antitank missiles into the area.

Al-Jumayyil Statements, Activities -- President al-Jumayyil again denied that the Phalangists and their supporters were involved in the massacre of Palestinians in Beirut, according to a KUNA report of an interview given by Al-Jumayyil to the Austrian paper KRONEN ZEITUNG. However, THE JERUSALEM POST said that in contacts with the United Nations Al-Jumayyil has admitted that a few Phalangists were involved but has charged that the bulk of the troops in the camps were Israelis.

Over the weekend the president participated in working meetings on security, administrative and judicial matters with Prime Minister Shafiq al-Wazzan, Voice of Lebanon radio noted. Despite the prime minister's submission of his resignation on 24 September, Al-Jumayyil has requested that Al-Wazzan continue in his post until a new government is formed, the clandestine Radio Free Lebanon reported. The radio also reported that in an interview with U.S. television, Al-Jumayyil said the Lebanese Government and legislature will decide whether Lebanon should sign a peace treaty with Israel. He said Lebanon will not support a "false" peace treaty, but wants real peace with all countries in the area, according to a related Voice of Lebanon radio report. Diplomatic sources cited by Radio Free Lebanon said President al-Jumayyil will deliver Lebanon's speech at the UN General Assembly on 7 October and that he may also meet President Ronald Reagan in Washington.

Junblatt on Al-Jumayyil, Dialogue -- President al-Jumayyil's inaugural policy statement was useful and positive but if the Lebanese Front continues its relations with Israel the Lebanese National Movement will be unable to start any dialogue with the front's Walid Junblatt, Progressive Socialist Party and National Movement leader, stated in a Monte Carlo radio interview during his current visit to France.

Habib Mission

Jordan's King Husayn received U.S. envoy Philip Habib for talks on the Lebanese situation, Amman radio reported on 26 September. Morte Carlo radio said the talks may have also touched on President Reagan's Middle East peace plan. Habib is expected to visit Damascus and Cairo next, the radio said.

Israel

The Cabinet will decide on 28 September to set up a national judicial inquiry commission into the Beirut massacre, Jerusalem radio reported on 26 September. The radio had earlier reported Supreme Court Justice Yitzhaq Kahan's decision not to consider at present the Cabinet's request that he investigate the massacre. Kahan explained that the Cabinet's appeal is sub judice until the Supreme Court has dealt with appeals it has received for the establishment of a state commission of inquiry.

Meanwhile, Defense Minister Ari'el Sharon said in a 24 September Jerusalem television interview that he will accept any kind of inquiry into the Beirut massacre that the Cabinet decides to establish. Denying the charge that Israel was responsible for the massacre because it had entered west Beirut in order to guarantee law and order, Sharon said Israel's declared aim of entering west Beirut to prevent violence concealed its true objective, which was to eliminate the infrastructure left by the PLO in Beirut, including 2,000 armed men and vast quantities of arms, and to ensure that Beirut could not again become a "terrorist center." Claiming that the public argument in Israel about the Lebanon war is endangering Israel's existence, Sharon disclosed that on one occasion he was forced to provoke a decision to mobilize an IDF reserves brigade because opposition to the war had made the unit's mobilization impossible.

THE JERUSALEM POST said Sharon's disclosures have weakened his position in the Cabinet. The POST called for Sharon's resignation and, according to Jerusalem radio, an IDF division commander also has demanded the resignation of either Sharon or Prime Minister Menahem Begin. Meanwhile, 400,000 people participated in a 25 September rally in Tel Aviv calling for a state commission of inquiry into the Beirut massacre, the radio reported citing police estimates of the size of the demonstration. Labor Party Chairman Shim'on Peres told the crowd that a different Israel exists, which lives by its conscience not just its sword, according to remarks broadcast by Jerusalem television.

Chief of Staff Lt Gen Refa'el Eytan told IDF soldiers in a message broadcast by IDF radio that the anguish expressed over the massacre by the nations of the world is "insincere."

PLO

The PLO leadership has decided to unite all its forces outside Syria under one command, PLO Executive Committee Chairman Yasir 'Arafat announced in a speech to Palestinian combatants in the PDRY, broadcast by Aden Voice of Palestine radio. He again blamed President Reagan, as well as the Israeli Government, for the massacre in Beirut.
